No. 311 which was included in the mortgage In 1905 survey No. 311 was sold by public auction for the arrears of tagavi and was purchased by defendant No. 1 through his gumasta, defendant No. 2. On the 4th August 1909 defendant No. 1 assigned his mortgage rights to defendant No. 3 and on the same day defendant No. 2 sold survey No. 311 to defendant No. 3. In 1912 the plaintiff sued to redeem the survey number along with the other mortgaged property under the provisions of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act 1879. The defendant No. 3 contended that since the sale the plaintiff had no right left in survey No. 311 and was not entitled to redeem it. On these pleadings the question arose for consideration whether the tagavi dues were a charge of a public nature which the mortgagee was bound to pay and whether the sale having taken place the provisions of s. 56 of the Land Revenue Code would apply so as to leave no room for the application of s. 90 of the Indian Trusts Act with reference to the conduct of the mortgagee: Held, that the tagavi advance was a charge of a public nature within the meaning of clause (c) of s. 76 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. It was a Government demand accruing due in respect of the land while it was in possession of the mortgagee: Held, also, that the sale having taken place owing to the default of the mortgagee, s. 90 of the Indian Trusts Act applied: Held, further, that s. 56 of the Land Revenue Code did not apply as it was held as a fact that there had been no forfeiture such as would be a necessary condition precedent under s. 153 of the Land Revenue Code to the application of the provisions of s. 56 for the purposes of recovering dues as arrears of land revenue. CHHITA BHULA v. BAI JAMNI (1916) . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 483

——— Owner deprived of property by fraud—Suit to recover, brought in the form of a redemption suit, if lies. A suit which, although in form a suit for redemption, was really a suit to recover property of which the rightful owner had been deprived by fraud, was not one in which special relief could be granted under the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act. BACHI v. BICKCHAND JOIMAL (1910) . 15 C. W. N. 297

——— s. 2—

1. ——— Agriculturist — Definition — Estate of agriculturist in charge of Court of Wards—The Court of Wards is an agriculturist—Court of Wards Act (Bom. Act I of 1905). A Court of Wards constituted under the Court of Wards Act (Bom. Act I of 1905) and representing the estate of a minor agriculturist is entitled to bring a suit under the provisions of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879). The Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act countenances no distinction based upon the comparative riches or poverty of the person whose status is being investigated. MANOHAR RAMCHANDRA v. COLLECTOR OF NASIK (1912) . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 97

2. ——— Person engaging himself personally in agricultural labour is an agriculturist irrespective of his income from other sources—Bharwad or shepherd—Pastoral income. A person who ordinarily engages personally in agricultural labour within certain specified limits is an agriculturist as defined by s. 2 of the Dekkhan

DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF ACT (BOM. XVII OF 1879)—contd.

——— s. 2—contd.

Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879, irrespective of the proportion which his strictly agricultural income may bear to any other income accruing to him. A bharuad (shepherd) who engages personally in agricultural labour is an agriculturist although his income from non-agricultural (i.e., pastoral) sources may be greater than his other income. BHIKHA FAKIRA v. RAICHAND MANJI (1912)

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 398

3. ——— Assignee of Government revenue, not an agriculturist The income derived from tenants by an Inamdar which is to a certain extent attributable to the fact that he is the assignee of Government revenue and, therefore, does not have to pay over a portion of that income to Government but may keep it for himself, cannot be taken into consideration in

(1911) . . . . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 266

4. ——— Sources of income —Agriculture—Scholarship or stipend received by a student is not income from non-agricultural sources The income from agricultural sources of two brothers was R250 a year. They had two houses which yielded as rent R30 a year. One of the brothers held a scholarship of R15 a month; and the other received a stipend of R7 a month at a received to R294.

ey were

Dekkha

1879):

for the money they received either as scholarship or stipend were more bounties. PARVATIBAI v. YESHVANT KRISHNA (1911)

I. L. R. 36 Bom. 199

5. ——— Son of agriculturist is not an agriculturist The minor son of an agriculturist who is depending for his support on his father is not an agriculturist within the meaning of s. 2. Dependence for livelihood upon another who is an agriculturist is not the same thing as earning livelihood for oneself by agriculture. To earn livelihood by agriculture is to obtain means of livelihood by it DAGDU v. MIRASHEB (1912) . . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 496

6. ——— Gosavis—Earning livelihood by mendicancy and also from agriculture. The plaintiffs who were Gosavis had no lands of their own at the date of the suit, but purchased some thereafter. They were following two occupations, one that of Gosavis, and the other that of agriculture. On a claim made by them to be agriculturists within the meaning of the term as defined in the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879: Held, that the plaintiffs were not agriculturists, for they adduced no proof to bring themselves under the first part of the definition, and they could not take advantage of the second branch inasmuch as they being Gosavis, the presumption would be that their ordinary occupation was that of mendicancy. SAVALPURI v. BALAVALAD YADAOSHET (1912)

I. L. R. 36 Bom. 543

DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF ACT (BOM. XVII OF 1879)—contd.

——— s. 2—contd.

7. ——— Grant of a village as service vatan —Construction—Grant of revenue and not of soil—Holders not agriculturists Where a Sanad evidencing grant of a village as service vatan did not go the length of granting anything more than a share of the revenue and provided that in certain cases the grant may be converted into private property, which had not been done, and a question having arisen as to whether the grant was one of soil and whether the holders were agriculturists within the meaning of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879): Held, that the grant was a grant of a share of the revenue and not a grant of the soil and did not entitle the holders to be considered agriculturists in view of explanation (b) to s. 2 of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879). CHUNILAL JAMNADAS v. BHANUMATI (1911) . . . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 151

8. ——— Interpretation. S. 2 of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879) gives two definitions of the term "agriculturist," one in cl. 1 and the other in cl. 2. The former applies where a party to a suit is an agriculturist at the time the suit is filed by or against him The second clause, which gives a special definition of the term "agriculturist" for the purposes of Chapters II, III, IV and VI and s. 69 of the Act, is not exhaustive but is merely inclusive and is intended for a special purpose The decision in Mahadev Narayan Lokhande v. Vinyak Gangadhar Purandhare, I. L. R. 33 Bom. 504, does not lay down the proposition of law that a party to a suit is not entitled to the privileges of an agriculturist under the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879, if he was not an agriculturist at the time the liability in question was incurred even though it may be that he was an agriculturist within the meaning of the first clause of s. 2 at the time of the suit. DAMODAR NANDRAM v. MANBAI (1909) . . . . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 65

9. ——— Amending Act (XXIII of 1881)—Ratnagiri District—Mortgage of 1881—Suit or account—Agriculturist. The plaintiff whose land and residence was in Ratnágiri District executed a mortgage in the year 1881. The Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879) which extended to the districts of Poona, Sátára, Sholápur and Ahmednagar was not applicable to the Ratnágiri District in the year 1881. In the year 1896 the plaintiff brought a suit for an account of what was due on the mortgage under the provisions of s. 15D of the Act (XVII of 1879) and contended that he was an agriculturist in 1881, that is, when the liability under the mortgage was incurred: Held that the plaintiff could not sue under s. 15D of the Act (XVII of 1879) as he was not an agriculturist within the meaning of the Amending Act (XXIII of 1881). The expression "then defined by law" in s. 2, cl. 2 of the Act (XVII of 1879) relates to the time when any part of the liability was incurred. SHANKAR RAMKRISHNA v. KRISHNAJI GANESH (1909)

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 161

——— ss. 2 (2), 10A—Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 92—Agriculturist—Mortgage in form of sale—Redemption suit—Intention of the parties

DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF ACT (BOM. XVII OF 1879)—contd.

——— ss. 2 (2), 10A—contd.

at the time of the transaction. The object of s. 10A of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879) is not to enable a party to the suit to prove, notwithstanding the words of the document, what the real intention was at the time when the document was executed. Regard must be paid to the date of the transaction and an agriculturist can only be allowed, according to the provisions of s. 10A, to enjoy the special benefit of the favoured class in disregarding the provisions of s. 92 of the Evidence Act (I of 1872), if he belonged to the favoured class as defined by the statute at the date of the transaction. SAWANTRAVA v. GIRIAPPA FAKIRAPPA (1913) I. L. R. 38 Bom. 18

——— Agriculturist at time of transaction—Sale or mortgage—Oral evidence prove which—Defendant conveyed his land to plaintiff by document in form of sale deed—sometime before ss. 2 and 20 of Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879 was extended to District in which defendant lived. The plaintiff having sued to recover possession of the land, the defendant sought to prove by oral evidence that the transaction was a mortgage under s. 10A of the Act: Held, that the defendant could not take the advantage of s. 10A of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879, since he could not prove that he was an agriculturist at the date of the transaction, as at that time it could not be said that the Act was extended to the District merely because ss. 2 and 20 had been extended. CHANBASAYYA v. CHENNAPGAVADA . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 217

——— ss. 3, cl. (y) and 10 A—Suit for possession under a sale-deed—Contemporaneous lease—Nature of suit—Intention of parties. The plaintiff relying on his sale-deed of 1887 sued to recover possession of the land in suit alleging that the defendant held it as his tenant under a lease of even date with the sale-deed. The defendant pleaded that his father and not the plaintiff was the purchaser under the deed of 1887, that the plaintiff was the savkar (creditor) who advanced money and the payment of interest was secured by the contemporaneous lease. Both the lower Courts went into the question of intention of the parties under s. 10A of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act and found the defendant's case established on facts. On appeal to the High Court: Held, that the case was rightly disposed of under s. 10A of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act. The nature of the suit under cl. (y) of s. 3 of the Act should not be determined by the frame of the plaint, but by the allegations of the parties which raised the question of mortgage or no mortgage. GANTAM JAYACHAND v. MALHARI (1916) I. L. R. 40 Bom. 397

——— ss. 3 (w), 12 and 13—Suit for redemption—Mortgage superseded by consent-decree—Allegation of fraud—Form and reality of the suit. The plaintiff's father executed a mortgage in 1894. In 1899, the mortgagee sued the mortgagor for the recovery of the mortgage debt and for sale of the property. In 1900, there was a consent-decree by which a new sum was taken as capitalized principal and provision was made for payment of money by instalments. The security under this arrangement differed in some particulars from the security of the earlier mortgage. On the same day as this consent-decree was obtained, Survey No. 50, which was included in the older mortgage but was excluded from the purview of the consent-decree, was sold by the mortgagor to the mortgagee. In 1903, the mortgagee obtained possession of the property and since then remained in possession. In 1911, the plaintiffs brought a suit to redeem the mortgage of 1894 by setting aside the consent-decree and the sale deed alleging that they were obtained by fraud, coercion and misrepresentation: Held, that the suit though in form a redemption suit was in reality a suit to set aside a sale deed and a Court's decree and then to recover property of which the plaintiffs had been fraudulently deprived. Such a suit is outside the provisions of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879. Bachi v. Bikhchand, 13 Bom. L. R. 56, applied. S. 3, cl. (u) of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879, contemplates either simpliciter or primarily and substantially a mortgage suit. VINAYAKRAO BALASHEB v. SHAMRAO VITHAL (1916) . . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 655

——— ss. 3 (w), 10 and 53—Suit falling under s. 3 (w)—Decision not appealable—Revision by District Judge. The decision in a suit falling under s. 3 (w) of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879) is not appealable according to the provisions of s. 10 of the Act. Under s. 53 of the Act, the District Judge alone and not the Subordinate Judge of the First Class is authorized in such a case, to pass an order in revision. SITARAM MORAPPA v. VISHVANATH SERI KHANDOBA (1914) . . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 165

——— s. 10A—

See S. 2 . I. L. R. 38 Bom. 18
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 217

See S. 3 . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 397

——— Written instrument—Oral evidence to vary the terms—Enactment relating to procedure—Retrospective effect—pending proceedings—Suit—Appeal. The law embodied in s. 10A of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879) is one of procedure, and being retrospective in effect applies to pending proceedings whether in a suit or an appeal. GOPAL GHELA v. RAJARAM AMTHA (1911) I. L. R. 36 Bom. 305

——— Redemption suit—Sale in reality a mortgage—Evidence of oral agreement varying the written document—Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 92, pro. I. The plaintiff brought a redemption suit under the provisions of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879) alleging that the deed which he had executed to the defendant, though on its face a deed of sale, was in reality only a deed of mortgage, the defendant having promised at the time of the execution of the deed that he would allow redemption on payment of the money advanced. The defendant replied that the transaction was sale. The First Class Subordinate Judge of the Dharwar District to which s. 10A of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879) was not extended found on the evidence that the deed passed by the plaintiff was not proved to be really a mortgage and dismissed the suit. The plaintiff appealed urging that the proper issue in the case was as to whether the sale-deed was not obtained or induced by the defendant by means of fraud or misrepresentation within the meaning of proviso I of s. 92 of the Evidence Act (I of 1872) and prayed for a remand: Held, confirming the decree, that the plaintiff sought to make a new case in appeal in so far as he endeavoured to base his case, not upon a separate oral agreement, but upon some fraud which would invite the application of proviso I of s. 92 of the Evidence Act (I of 1872): Held, further, that in the districts to which s. 10A of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879) was not extended, it was not open to the Court to enter upon a defence which consisted of an allegation of an oral agreement varying the written contract. Dagdu v. Nana, I. L. R. 35 Bom. 93, and Sangira Malappa v Ramappa, I. L. R. 34 Bom. 59, followed. Balkishen Das v. W. F. Legge, I. L. R. 22 All. 149, referred to. SOMANA BASAPPA v. GADIGEYA KORNAYA (1910) . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 231

DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF ACT (BOM. XVII OF 1879)—contd.

———— s. 10A—contd.

————Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 41—Sale-deed in the nature of mortgage—Bonâ fide transferee for value without notice of mortgage—Transfer executed less than twelve years before the institution of suit—Whether transferee protected. The second proviso to s. 10A of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act does not protect a bond fide transferee for value without notice of the real nature of the transaction if he holds under a registered deed executed less than twelve years before the institution of the suit. Per MACLEOD, C. J.:—The object of the Legislature in enacting s. 10A of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act was to protect the mortgagor and not the transferee, if the mortgagor was sufficiently diligent in seeking to redeem the property. Per HEATON, J.:—Where s. 10A of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act applies, s. 41 of the Transfer of Property Act ceases to have any application and is replaced by the 2nd proviso to s. 10A (of the former Act). PRANJIVANDAS v. MIA CHAND . . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 87

———— s. 12—Compromise by pleader—Court's duty to record the compromise and pass decree in its terms—Pleader's compromising without authority from his client—Client to apply to cancel the compromise. There is nothing in the provisions of s. 12 or in any other section of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879, which expressly deprives the parties to a suit of the power of entering into a compromise and having that compromise recorded under s 375 of the Civil Procedure Code of 1882 which is the same as order XXIII, rule 3 of the Code of 1908. A compromise means the settlement of a disputed claim. Where a party complains that a compromise effected in his name by his pleader was unauthorised, he must move the Court to cancel all that has been done and to revive the suit. Basangowda v. Churchigirigowda, I. L. R. 34 Bom. 408, followed. PIRAJI v. GANAPATI (1910) I. L. R. 34 Bom. 502

cf. I. L. R. 35 Bom. 190

———— ss. 12, 13—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), s. 11, EXPL. IV; O. II, R. 2. I. L. R. 39 Bom. 138

DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF ACT (BOM. XVII OF 1879)—contd.

———— ss. 12, 13—contd.

———— Retrospective effect—Indebtedness existing at the date of the passing of the Act, as well as future indebtedness. The plaintiff sued to recover from the defendant a certain sum due on a money bond, dated the 17th May 1904. The suit was cognizable by the Court in its Small Cause jurisdiction. The bond sued on was passed in adjustment of an existing debt which itself was the balance due on previous advances. Some of the provisions including ss. 12 and 13 of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879) were made applicable to the district on the 15th August 1905 and the present suit was filed on the 26th March 1909. As the several advances which led to the bond were prior in date to the application of the provisions of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879) to the district, the following question arose:—"Whether s. 13 of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879) is retrospective so as to apply to the case of transactions entered into before the date of its extension to the district but the suit in respect of which is instituted after that date?" Held, in the affirmative, that s. 13 of the Act is retrospective. Ss. 12 and 13 of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879) show that it was the intention of the Legislature to open up all transactions between the parties having a bearing upon the claim out of which the suit arises from the very commencement. This is one of the means adopted by the Legislature to carry out the intention expressed in the preamble of relieving the agricultural classes from indebtedness existing at the date of the passing of the Act as well as future indebtedness. SIVLAL JETHABHAI v. BHIKA RAMJAN (1909) I. L. R. 34 Bom. 220

———— Several mortgages as part of the same transaction over the same property—Splitting up of security—Suit on one mortgage—Sale in execution of decree free from any incumbrance—Sale proceeds applied in paying off the mortgage in suit—Balance of sale proceeds—Second suit on remaining mortgages—Attachment of balance of sale proceeds—Second suit barred.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, (ACT V OF 1908), O. II, R. 2. I. L. R. 45 Bom. 55

———— s. 13—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), ss. 2, 97 I. L. R. 39 Bom. 422

See STATUTE, CONSTRUCTION OF. I. L. R. 35 Bom. 307

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 66. I. L. R. 45 Bom. 117

1. [illegible]
dar– [illegible] sessi[illegible] Act [illegible]
date [illegible]
the [illegible] mortgaged with possession certain Vatan Inam lands to Babaji Anant, an ancestor of the defendants. Madhavrao died, 1873, and in 1909

DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF ACT (BOM. XVII OF 1879)—contd.

———— s. 13—contd.

plaintiff sued to redeem the mortgage under the provisions of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879. The defendants contended that by reason of the provisions of s. 5 of the Vatan Act, the mortgage became void on the death of Madhavrao and that they had been in possession adversely since that date. The Court of first instance disallowed the contention on the ground that the mortgagee claimed to hold the property as such and not as owner, and after taking accounts passed a decree in favour of the plaintiff awarding mesne profits from the date of suit till possession at Rupees four hundred a year. This decree was confirmed by the lower appellate Court. On appeal to the High Court: Held, that the mortgagee remained a mortgagee for the purpose of the redemption suit, even assuming that he had been in possession for more than twelve years since the death of the original mortgagor. Unless there was some definite indication on the part of the person in possession that he would from a certain date claim as absolute owner, and not as mortgagee, he could only acquire by adverse possession the limited interest to which he was entitled at the mortgagor's death, namely, that of a mortgagee: Held, further, that mesne profits from the date of suit could not be awarded as the enforcement of the provisions of s. 13 of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879, placed the mortgagor in a much more favourable position than he would be in, if he relied upon the terms of the contract, and no presumption could arise that the mortgagee was, apart from the provisions of the Act, not entitled to retain possession after the date of the institution of the suit. Janoji v. Janoji, I. L. R. 7 Bom. 185, applied. RAMCHANDRA VENKAJI NAIK v. KALLO DEVJI DESHPANDE (1915)

I. L. R. 39 Bom. 587

2.———— Mortgage—Several mortgages connected together and involving the same security—One suit for account and redemption—Mode of taking account. Where there are several mortgages in favour of the same mortgagee, all connected with and involving the same security, the provisions of s. 13 of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879, should not be held to isolate the account of each mortgage when there is one suit filed by the mortgagor for the redemption of all the mortgages. DHONDI BIN RANOJI v. REVAPPA SATAPPA (1917)

I. L. R. 41 Bom. 453

3.———— Suit for accounts—Original mortgage transaction merged in a decree—Subsequent mortgage in satisfaction of part of the decretal debt—Whether the amount of the mortgage be regarded as principal sum in taking accounts—Court's power to go behind the decree. The defendant mortgagee had obtained a decree against the plaintiffs and other mortgagors for a certain amount. In satisfaction of their share of the decretal debt, the plaintiffs passed a mortgage bond in favour of the defendant for R1,480. The plaintiffs having sued for accounts on the mortgage under the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879, the lower Courts treated R866 out of the mortgage amount as representing the original principal under the earlier decree and allowed interest only on that sum. On appeal to the High Court: Held, that R1,480 should be regarded as the principal amount for the purpose of taking accounts. S. 13 of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879, allowed the Court to go behind the private settlement or a private contract but it did not empower the Court to go behind a civil Court's decree in which any preceding contract between the parties was merged. MAREPPA v. GUNDO ANNAJI (1918)

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 1

4.———— Accounts—No data showing exact amount of principal sum—Court can form reasonable estimate of the amount from the amount of consideration stated in the deed. In taking accounts under s. 13 of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, in the absence of data showing exactly how much principal has been received, the Court can form a reasonable estimate from the amount of consideration stated in the bond as to the probable amount of actual principal, and there is no legal objection to that estimate being accepted and acted on. Dhondi v. Lakshman (1894) 19 Bom. 553, explained. KONDAN v. INDARCHAND . . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 323

5.———— Accounts—Series of transactions—Second transaction entered into before the first transaction had come to an end—Accounts could be taken as if the transactions were one entire transaction. In 1885 there was a mortgage between the parties under which the mortgagee was to remain in possession of the mortgaged property and to receive profits in lieu of interest on a part of the principal amount and the remaining amount was to carry interest. In 1891 and 1895 fresh advances were made on bonds secured on the same property. The lower Courts found that when the last advance of 1895 was made the original mortgage transaction had not come to an end but was still open between the parties. Accordingly an account of all the transactions under the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act was taken and it was found that nothing was due to the mortgagee. In second appeal it was contended that the accounts were taken according to a wrong method. Held, that the series of transactions between the parties were exactly the kind of series of transactions contemplated by s. 13 of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act and accounts could be taken of the whole series as if they were one entire transaction. Vishnu Keshav Joshi v. Satwaji valad Tulsaji Navale (1897) P. J. 87, distinguished. GURUNATH KESHAV v. SADASHIV BALKRISHNA . . I. L R. 45 Bom. 216

———— ss. 13, 15D and 16—Momentary dealings, mortgages and promissory notes—Suit for general account and redemption—One general account of mortgage and promissory note transactions—Mortgages found to be satisfied—Surplus profits under mortgage transactions applied in reduction of the claim on promissory notes—Provision of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879) for two different classes of suits for account by agriculturists—s. 15 D and 16 of the Act—Mortgage account entirely separate from the promissory note account—Mortgagee not accountable for surplus profits under mortgage transactions. In a suit for general account under the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879) and for redemption of mortgaged property, the plaintiff combined his claim for account of the mortgage transactions with his claim for an account of moneys lent upon promissory notes. In taking an account the Court made up one general account of the mortgage transactions and the promissory note transactions and having found that the mortgages were satisfied, applied the profits subsequent to the date of the satisfaction of the mortgage debts in the account in reduction of the amount due to the defendant on the promissory notes: Held, that the account could not be accepted. The Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879) has made provision for two different classes of suits for account by agriculturists. S. 15D of the Act relates purely and exclusively to mortgage transactions. Under that section the plaintiff agriculturist may have either a declaration of the amount due or he may combine a declaration of the amount due with a decree for redemption. S. 16 of the Act entitles the plaintiff to sue for a general account of money dealings between him and the lender and for a bare declaration of the amount due without any relief being claimed. Thus the two sections where accounts are contemplated stand on a different footing. Under the Act the mortgage account must be treated as entirely separate from the promissory note account so that the lender mortgagee would not be accountable for surplus profits received by him after the date when the mortgage claims were satisfied. Janoji v. Janoji, I. L. R. 7 Bom. 185 and Ramchandra Baba Sathe v. Janardan Apaji, I. L. R. 14 Bom. 19, referred to. LAXMANDAS HARAKCHAND v. BABAN (1914)

DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF ACT (BOM. XVII OF 1879)—contd.

——— ss. 13, 15 D and 16—contd.

I. L. R. 39 Bom. 73

——— s. 15B—.

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), SCH. I, ARTS. 181, 182.

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 689

1.——— Mortgage decree—Decree nisi. A decree in a redemption suit under the provisions of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act provided that on mortgagor paying a certain amount within twelve months he would be entitled to redeem or in default the mortgagee should recover the amount by sale of the mortgaged property: Held, that on the terms of the decree, it was substantially a decree nisi and was not one of the variants permitted by s. 15B of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879. RAMJI v. PANDHARINATH (1918)

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 477

2.——— Mortgage account—Redemption—Mortagee allowed interest—Mortgagee's liability to account for mesne profits from the date of suit till restoration of possession—Practice. Plaintiffs sued for accounts and for redemption of a mortgage under the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act and obtained an instalment decree for redemption in their favour. By the terms of the decree, the plaintiffs were directed to pay certain amount with interest at 6 per cent. per annum from the date of suit and were held entitled to recover possession of the property mortgaged at once, the mortgagee being liable to account for profits received from the date of suit till restoration of possession to the plaintiffs. The mortgagee having objected to that part of the decree which gave him interest and directed him to account for mesne profits: Held, overruling the objection, that under s. 15B (1) of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act the Court had power to allow interest to the mortgagee and to direct him to account for mesne profits from the date of suit till restoration of possession. Ramchandra Venkaji Naik v Kallo Deuj Deshpande (1915), 39 Bom. 587, distinguished. MAHAMAD EBRAHIM v. SHAIKH MAHOMAD.

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 372

3.——— Power to order payment by instalments—Decree—Award on arbitration out of Court. A decree was passed in terms of an award, which was arrived at on arbitration out of Court. On proceedings being taken to execute the decree, the judgment-debtor applied to the Court for an order to make the decretal amount payable by instalments under s. 15B of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879: Held, that the Court had no power to make any order as to instalments under s. 15B of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879, which did not apply, inasmuch as the application to file the award was not a suit of the description mentioned in s. 3, cl. (y), of the Act. Mohan v. Tukaram, I. L. R. 2 Bom. 63, and Ghulam Jilani v. Muhammad Hassan, L. R. 29 I. A. 58, commented on GOVINDRAO NARHAR v. AMBALAL MOHANLAL (1911) . . . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 310

4.——— Compromise—Decree in terms of the compromise—Application for decree—Terms of the compromise opposed to law—Public policy—Instalments—Default—Payment of whole sum. A suit brought against an agriculturist-defendant to recover money by sale of mortgaged property was compromised on the terms that the defendant should pay the amount in equal annual instalments, and that on failure to pay any two instalments the plaintiff should be at liberty to realise the whole of the balance by sale of the entire mortgaged property through the Court The compromise was brought before the Court with a view to obtain a decree in its terms. The defendant when examined by the court agreed to be bound by its terms which were explained to him. The Subordinate Judge, however, felt doubt as to the validity of the compromise; and referred for opinion the following two questions to the High Court: (i) whether the compromise was lawful although it provided that in default of the payment of two instalments the plaintiff should realize the whole balance due by sale of the entire mortgaged property, such provision having been opposed to s. 15B, cl. (2) of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879; and (ii) whether the Court was bound to pass a decree on a compromise of this character: Held, that the term "that in default of payment of two instalments the whole mortgaged property shall be liable to sale" was contrary to the public policy as declared in s. 15B, cl. (2) of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879; and that, therefore, it was not competent to the Court to pass a decree which would be in conflict with the statutory provision: Held, further, that the mere fact that the defendant though apprised of the terms of the compromise agreed to it, did not invest the Court with jurisdiction to pass a decree to carry out the compromise. KISHANDAS SHIVRAM MARWARDI v. NAMA RAMA VIR (1910)

DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF ACT (BOM. XVII OF 1879)—contd.

——— s. 15B—contd.

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 190

5. ——— Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. XXIII, r. 3—Agriculturist mortgagor—Suit for account of principal and interest—Decree in terms of compromise—Compromise made without compliance with the special provisions of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act—Compromise valid : Held by the Full Bench that a compromise in a suit which came under the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879) was not bad in law because it was made without compliance with the special provision (s. 15B) of that Act. SHIVAYAGAPPA v. GOVINDAPPA (1913) . . . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 614

6. ——— Payment by instalments—Default in payment—Order for sale of necessary portion of property under s. 15B (2)—Application to make the decree final under Order XXXIV, rule 5 (2) of the Civil Procedure Code, not necessary. A decree-holder for sale upon a mortgage, in default of payment of instalments order under s. 15B (1) of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879), need not apply under Order XXXIV, rule 5 (2) of the Civil Procedure Code to make the decree final before he can apply for sale of the necessary portion of the property under s. 15B (2) of the Act. KASHINATH VINAYAK v. RAMA DAJI (1916) . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 492

7. ——— s. 15(d)—Suit by mortgagor for account—Application for redemption decree in appeal—Redemption decree passed by Court in Appeal—Interpretation. In a suit for an account brought by a mortgagor under the provisions of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879) the Court found that a sum of R100 was due by the plaintiff to the defendant. The defendant appealed. The Appellate Court, on the plaintiff's application that his suit should be treated as one for redemption, passed a decree for redemption on payment of R49-2-0 by the plaintiff to the defendant. The defendant preferred a second appeal contending that the words "the decree in the suit" in s.15D. cl. (3) of the Act meant decree in the original Court and not of the Court of Appeal: Held dismissing the second appeal, that when the decree of the lower Court is reversed or varied in appeal, the decree of the Appellate Court becomes the decree in the suit which is to be executed in execution proceedings. NAVLAJI SARDARMAL v. RAMA DHONDI (1909) I. L. R. 34 Bom. 158

——— s. 20—Court—Instalments, power to grant—Status of agriculturist not at the date of decree, but in execution proceedings. The Court has no power to grant instalments, under s. 20 of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879), in the case of a judgment-debtor who was not an agriculturist when the decree was obtained, but who becomes one at the time of the execution by limiting himself exclusively to profits in land. BALCHAND CHATURCHAND v. CHUNILAL JAGJIVANDAS (1913).
I. L. R. 37 Bom. 486

——— s. 22—Decree—Execution—Agriculturist—Exemption from liability to attachment of

DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF ACT (BOM. XVII OF 1879)—contd.

——— s. 22—contd.

sale—Absence of proof of exemption—Jurisdiction of the Court to order sale—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 60. S. 60 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) lays down the general rule that property liable to attachment and sale in execution of a decree is lands, houses, etc., belonging to the judgment debtor. An agriculturist, in order to resist the application of that general rule, must prove that he belongs to the privileged class so as to render s. 22 of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879) applicable to his case. In the absence of such proof the exemption from liability to attachment or sale does not exist for the purpose of execution proceedings and the executing Court has, therefore, complete jurisdiction to make the order for sale. NARAYAN ANAND RAM v. GOWBAI (1912)
. I. L. R. 37 Bom. 415

——— House of agriculturist—Exemption from sale—Exemption not confined to cases of contractual debts but extends to restitution proceedings—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 144. The defendants paid into Court a sum which they had to pay under a decree, and at the same time preferred an appeal against the decree. The sum paid into Court was taken away by the plaintiff. The appeal filed by the defendants was successful: the decree was reversed and the suit ordered to be retried. The defendants thereupon applied under the provisions of s. 144 of the Civil Procedure Code, for restitution of money paid by them; and prayed for an order to sell the plaintiff's house in case he failed to make the restitution. The plaintiff contended that he being an agriculturist his house could not be sold, by virtue of the provisions of s. 22 of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879. The lower Courts negatived the contention on the ground that the provisions of s. 22 applied only in cases of contractual debts and not to restitution proceedings. The plaintiff having appealed: Held, that if the plaintiff was an agriculturist, his house was immune from sale under s. 22 of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879). The true construction of s. 22 of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879) is, first, a general provision that immoveable property belonging to an agriculturist shall always be immune from sale, and, secondly, a proviso directing that this immunity is subject to exception where the two following conditions are both satisfied, that is to say, (a) where the decree or order in question relates to the repayment of a debt, and (b) where the agriculturist's property has been specially mortgaged for the payment of that debt. The limiting words referring to a debt occur only in the proviso and cannot be imported into the main rule so as to restrict its express generality. MAHADEO RANGNATH v. RAMA TUKARAM (1915).
I. L. R. 40 Bom. 194

——— ss. 39, 48—Conciliation—Time taken up in conciliation proceedings—Exclusion of time—Limitation. The plaintiff sued on a promissory note dated the 12th of June 1905. He first applied on the 23rd May 1908 for a conciliator's certificate under s. 39 of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879, and obtained it on the 31st August 1908. Then, on the 10th September 1908, both he and the defendant made a joint application for conciliation. The conciliator held that the first certificate that he had granted had become useless, and gave a fresh certificate on the 3rd December 1908. The suit was brought on the 11th December 1908. It was contended that the suit was barred by limitation: Held, that the suit was within time, inasmuch as the whole proceeding from the 23rd of May 1908 to the 3rd of December 1908, was one and continuous, and that period should be excluded under s. 48 of the Act. DEVIDAS v. VITHALDAS (1911) I. L. R. 36 Bom. 183 ———— ss. 47 and 48—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s 85—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), s. 11, Art. 11—Agriculturist mortgagor—Suit—Conciliator's certificate—Mortgagor necessary party along with other persons interested—Exclusion of time spent in obtaining Conciliator's certificate—Limitation. Defendants 1 and 2 brought a suit on a mortgage against defendant 3 and while the suit was pending, defendant 3 mortgaged the same property, namely, a house along with other properties to the plaintiffs. Defendants 1 and 2 having obtained a decree, they applied for execution and sought to recover the decretal debt by sale of the house. Thereupon, the plaintiffs intervened and applied that the house should be sold subject to their mortgage lien. The disallowed they

DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF ACT (BOM. XVII OF 1879)—contd.

———— ss. 39, 48—contd.

1, 2 and 3 to est
mortgage. The suit was brought within one year of the order rejecting their application after the exclusion of the time taken up in obtaining the Conciliator's certificate under ss. 47 and 48 of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879), defendant 3 being described in their mortgage as an agriculturist Defendants 1 and 2 contended that defendant 3 being not a necessary party, the Conciliator's certificate was unnecessary and the suit was time-barred: Held, that under the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) defendant 3 was a necessary party to the suit which was brought on the strength of the mortgage and he being an agriculturist, the Conciliator's certificate was necessary and the suit was, therefore, not time-barred. EKNATH PANDOBA v. DAGADURAM (1912) I. L. R. 36 Bom. 624

———— s. 48—

See LIMITATION I. L. R. 38 Bom. 656

———————— The "words period of limitation prescribed" in the section, construction of—Whether the words refer only to the period expressly provided in the Limitation Act—Decree—Execution—Conciliator's certificate—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 48—Limitation. A decree was obtained on October 28th, 1899, and was followed by three darkhast which had been made within the time allowed. The fourth darkhast was presented on August 23rd, 1913, that is, more than twelve years after the decree. In July 1911, the judgment-creditor applied for a conciliator's certificate, the suit being governed by the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879. The certificate was obtained on March 29th, 1913. A question being raised whether under s. 48 of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879, the judgment-creditor was entitled to exclude the interval of time occupied in obtaining the certificate in computing the period of limitation prescribed by s. 48 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908: Held, answering the question in the affirmative, that the words "the period of limitation prescribed for any suit or application" in s. 48 of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879, were general and comprehensive and referred to the limitation prescribed in any law for the time being in force. They could, therefore, control or modify the period of time allowed not only in the statute of limitation but also that in s. 48 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908. Dayaram v. Laxman, 13 Bom L. R. 284, distinguished. SHIDAYA VIRBHADRAYA v. SATAPPA BHARMAPPA (1918) . . . I. L. R. 42 Bom. 367

DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF ACT (BOM. XVII OF 1879)—contd.

———— s. 71—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. XXI, r. 20, O. XXXII, r. 7—Decree in favour of minor—Compromise of the decree with minor's mother—Compromise neither certified to nor sanctioned by the Court—Payment made under compromise to be taken into account under the decree. A decree passed on a mortgage provided for payment of Rs 662-15-0 in annual instalments of Rs. 60 each commencing from the 15th April ment of which was endorsed on the decree though not certified to the Court. Nor did the Court sanction the compromise. Later the widow and the Nazir of the Court were appointed guardians of the property of the minor. Early in 1907 they applied to recover the amount of the first instalment whicl s 71 the

O. XXI, r.

paid. CHHOGANLAL KALIDAS v FARASRAM KURNASHANKAR. . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1128

———— s. 72—Agriculturist—Status at the time when the cause of action arises—Sons of original debtor, not in existence at the date of the cause of action, are yet within the statute—"Person," meaning of. The defendants' father passed a registered bond to the plaintiff in 1900, the cause of action under which accrued in 1901. In 1912, the plaintiff filed a suit to recover moneys due unde time the 1879, did not apply, for at the time the cause of action arose in 1901, they were not only not agriculturists but were not in existence at all. The lower Court negatived the contention and decreed the suit. The defendants having appealed: Held, that the suit fell within the scope of s. [illegible] of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, and that the plaintiff was entitled to the [illegible] limitation. The word "person" in s. [illegible] Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act [illegible] 1879) is equivalent to the word "[illegible]" which occurs in s. 2, cl. (w) of the Act [illegible] v. A[illegible] (1915) I. L. R. [illegible]

DELAY.

See Bail . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 412

See Divorce . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 1068

See Limitation Act (XV of 1877) ss. 5 and 7 . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 589

See Limitation Act (IX of 1908) ss. 5 and 14 . I. L. R. 42 Bom. 295

See Petition . I. L. R. 41 Bom. 36

See Probate . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 480

See Sanction for Prosecution. I. L. R. 47 Calc. 741

See Stay of Execution. I. L. R. 48 Calc. 796

——— caused by closing of Court—

See General Clauses Act (X of 1897), s. 10 . . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 35

——— effect of—

See Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), ss. 15 and 17 I. L. R. 37 Mad. 403

——— excuse of—

See Limitation I. L. R. 38 Bom. 653

——— in filing appeal—

See Limitation Act (IX of 1908) s, 5. I. L. R. 41 Bom. 15

See Amended Letters Patent, cl. 15. I. L. R. 42 Bom. 260

——— in investigation of claim.

See Civil Procedure Code (Act VIII of 1859), s. 15 . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 676

DELEGATION OF AUTHORITIES, POWERS OR FUNCTIONS.

See Local Government, powers of. I. L. R. 37 Calc. 467

See Probate . 14 C. W. N. 1068

——— by Chairman—

See Demolition of Building. I. L. R. 37 Calc. 585

——— by Collector—

See Revenue Jurisdiction Act, Bombay (X of 1876), ss. 4 (c), 5 and 6 I. L. R. 37 Bom. 542

——— by Trustee—

See Trustee of a Temple. I. L. R. 44 Mad. 636

——— District Magistrates, powers of—

See Criminal Procedure Code, s. 17 I. L. R. 36 All. 468

——— nazir's power of—

See Attachment I. L. R. 40 Calc. 849

DELHI.

——— Pahar Ganj—Whether Custom of Pre-emption prevails—

See Custom (Pre-emption). I. L. R. 2 Lah. 83

DELHI LAW ACT (XIII OF 1912).

See Forfeiture. I. L. R. 42 Calc. 730

DELIVERY.

See Carriers . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 311

See Sale of Goods. I. L. R. 40 Calc. 523

——— taking of—

Dishonestly receiving stolen property . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 990

DELIVERY OF INSTRUMENT.

See Registration Act 1908, s. 17. 25 C. W. N. 985

DELIVERY OF POSSESSION.

See Rioting . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 43

——— resistance to—

See Possession I. L. R. 47 Calc. 907

DELIVERY ORDER.

See Carriers . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 703

See Vendor and Sub-vendee. I. L. R. 38 Calc. 127

DEMANDS.

See Mahomedan Law—Pre-emption. I. L. R. 37 All. 522

DEMISE.

——— absence of actual—

See Registration of Documents. L. R. 46 I. A. 240

DEMOLITION OF BUILDING.

See Acquiescence. I. L. R. 37 Calc. 833

——— Calcutta Municipal Act (Beng. Act III of 1899), ss. 18, 102 (1) (c), 391, 449—Sanction by District Building Surveyor of additions to contemplated building —Delegation of power by Chairman—Legality of sanction—Sanction of General Committee—Proceeding under s. 449—Application thereunder to Magistrate, signed for the Chairman by the Secretary to the Corporation and the General Committee—Irregularity. An addition to a contemplated building sanctioned by a District Building Surveyor, to whom the power of sanction has been delegated by the Chairman under s. 18 of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, is a duly authorized erection, and the sanction of the General Committee under s. 391 is not necessary. S. 391 applies only to alterations of, and additions to, existing buildings. Where the General Committee approved of the suggestion of the Building Sub-Committee that certain additions to a building were unauthorized, and that an application should be made to the Magistrate under s. 449 of the Act, and directed the Chairman to make it, whereupon an application was made, purporting to come from the Chairman, but signed by the Secretary to the Corporation, who was also Secretary to the General Committee :—Held, that the irregularity, if any, was cured by s. 102 (1) (c) of the Act. Kissori Lal Jaini v. The Corporation of Calcutta (1910) . . . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 585

DEMONSTRATIVE LEGACY.

See Will . I. L. R. 43 Cal. 201

DEMURRAGE.

See RAILWAY COMPANY.
I. L. R. 42 All. 655

DENATURED SPIRIT.

See EXCISE . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 694

DENIAL OF JUSTICE.

See DISPUTE CONCERNING LAND.
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 24

DE NOVO TRIAL.

See REMAND . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 929

DEPENDENT RELATIVE REVOCATION.

——— doctrine of—

See HINDU LAW—WILL.
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 107

DEPORTATION.

See LIBEL . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 760

DEPOSIT.

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT, s. 153-A.
15 C. W. N. 760

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1878), ss. 39, 55, 64, 65, 73, 74 AND 75.
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 178

See PATNI SALE . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 337

——— by co-tenant, under s. 310A, Civil Procedure Code, 1882—

See CONTRIBUTION . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 1

——— by judgment-debtor—

See RATEABLE DISTRIBUTION.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 619

——— forfeiture of—

See CONTRACT. I. L. R. 33 All. 166
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 801
I. L. R. 41 All. 324
24 C. W. N. 40

See CONTRACT ACT, 1872, s. 55.
I. L. R. 33 Mad. 375

——— in Court—

See MORTGAGE . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 282

——— of earnest money, forfeiture of—

See CONTRACT, BREACH OF.
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 801

——— of money—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), s. 17.
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 175

——— order to make—

See PRESS ACT (I OF 1910), s. 3.
I. L. R. 37 Bom. 555

——— right to on insolvency—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O. XXXVIII, R. 5.
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 903

——— Contract Act (IX of 1872), ss. 43, 70—Deposit by co-tenant not made party in co-sharer landlord's suit for share of rent to set aside sale—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 310A—Sale set aside—Liability of other co-tenants to contribute. A co-sharer landlord brought a suit for his share of the rent against all except one of several co-tenants, and sold the holding in execution of the decree obtained therein. A purchaser of the interest of the remaining co-tenant applied under s. 310A, Civil Procedure Code, and the sale was set aside on his making the required deposit: Held, Per JENKINS, C. J.; that on the findings of fact of the lower Appellate Court, that the plaintiff did not intend to make the deposit gratuitously and that the defendants enjoyed the benefits thereof and the deposit having moreover been made lawfully in that it was done with the approval of the Court, s 70 of the Contract Act applied. That the plaintiff was entitled to sue the defendants in contribution but only in respect of their share of the decretal debt and not in respect of the penalty of 5 per cent on the purchase-money payable under s 310A, Civil Procedure Code. Per DOSS, J.—That the plaintiff was entitled to recover the defendant's share of the decretal debt, not under s. 70, as being a co-tenant, he was himself liable to the landlord for the whole debt, but under s 43, his obligation to pay remaining notwithstanding that the decree was passed against the other co-tenants only. That the sale not having been confirmed and the sale-proceeds withdrawn when the deposit was made, the decree remained undischarged and was only satisfied when the money deposited by plaintiff was withdrawn MOHENDRA GHOSHAL v BHUBAN MARDANA (1910) . . 14 C. W. N. 945

1. ——— Husband depositing money in wife's name in his shop—Interest allowed over the amount—Depositee allowed to withdraw—Husband acknowledging trust—Creation of trust—Trusts Act (II of 1882), ss. 5 and 6—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), ss 5 and 54 D made a credit entry of R20,000 in his books in the name of his wife H carrying interest at 4½ per cent The entry was made on the 1st November 1891 as of the 30th November 1890. The amount of R20,000 was treated as belonging to H in the sarvaya (balance sheet) in the samadaskat book (account book of deposits, etc.) and in the vyajavahi (interest account book) In November 1895 H, on the occasion of her going on pilgrimage, withdrew some money from the account. H died on the 2nd March 1901. On the 29th July 1901 D wrote a letter to his four daughters by H saying that the money above referred to was given by him to H as a gift, that the four daughters had equal right to take the money but that it was to be divided after his death. In February 1903 D debited the whole amount to H's account and credited the same to the sons of M, one of the daughters of D and H. This he confirmed by his will which he made shortly afterwards wherein he stated that the money was always his own and never belonged to his wife H. After D's death, which took place in March of the same year, the three remaining daughters of D and H sued to recover their share of the money:—Held, that the plaintiffs were entitled to recover their share in the amount. Held, by CHANDAVARKAR, J., that the circumstances proved showed that D intended a trust in favour of his wife H, and that that trust was carried into effect legally by him. Held, by HEATON, J., that there was no trust, but that, in the circumstances of the case, D conferred on H a right to the money though he did not actually give her money, and this right he by his own acts and words made perfect by those means which were appropriate to the purpose. BAI MAHAKORE v. BAI MANGLA (1911)

DEPOSIT—contd.

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 403

2. ———— Stakeholder—Valid assignment by depositor to his creditor—Neglect of the creditor to recover—Creditor chargeable with the amount. Where money deposited with a stakeholder was validly assigned by the depositor to his creditor in satisfaction of his debt and the creditor, being able to recover the amount so assigned, neglected to do so, he was chargeable with the amount. GANPATRAO BALKRISHNA BHIDE v. MAHARAJA MADHAVRAO SINDE (1910) I. L. R. 35 Bom. 1

3. ———— Contract for purchase of land—Every payment by a purchaser to the vendor is not in the nature of a deposit liable to be forfeited if the purchaser violates his Contract. It is incumbent on the Court in each case to ascertain the real intention of the parties from all the terms of the Contract. NAWAB KHAJA HABIBULLAH v. ARMEN DEWAN.

24 C. W. N. 40

DEPOSIT IN COURT.

See MORTGAGE . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 282

See SALE. I. L. R. 48 Calc. 811

———— time for—

See EXPARTE DECREE

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 583

———— Putni rent—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), ss. 54, 61, 62 (2), 125 (e)—Putni Regulation (VIII of 1819). S. 61 of the Bengal Tenancy Act is applicable to a putnidar, as it does not in any way affect the Regulation VIII of 1819 relating to putni tenures, and it is open to him to deposit the putni rent in Court. BATA KRISHNA RANO v. JANKI NATH PANDE (1914) . . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 1000

———— Judgment debtor—Transferee of the judgment-debtor—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), s. 174—Sale, setting aside of. An application under s. 174 of the Bengal Tenancy Act can be made by the judgment-debtor alone and by no other person. Ranjit Kumar Ghosh v. Jogendra Nath Ray, 16 C. L. J. 546, referred to. SURENDRA NARAYAN SINGH v. LACHMI KOER (1915) I. L. R. 43 Calc. 100 ———— Money paid under compulsion of Law—Want of bonâ fides—Action for recovery of money—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. XXI, r. 46, cl. (1)—Attachment of debt due to a stranger on the allegation that the granishee's creditor was benamidar of the judgment-debtor—Deposit by garnishee, conditional on enquiry—Withdrawal of the money from Court by the attaching creditor without notice to the garnishee —Court's power of enquiry. Where debt due to a stranger was attached on the allegation that he was benamidar of the judgment-debtor and the attaching creditor withdrew the money by leave of the Court without notice to the garnishee in a suit by the latter for the recovery of the money deposited, it being found that there was no benami transaction as alleged: Held, that the rule that money paid under compulsion of a legal process was irrecoverable can only be pleaded where the party who has got the benefit of his opponent's payments, acts bonâ fide. Marriot v. Hampton, 7 T. R. 269, distinguished. Ward and Co. v. Wallis, (1900) 1 Q. B. 675, followed. Cl. (3) r. 46 of O. XXI of the Civil Procedure Code does not contemplate of cases where the deposit was purely conditional on enquiry being held as to judgment-debtor's rights and a withdrawal by the attaching creditor of the money so conditionally deposited, without notice to the garnishee, even though made with the leave of the Court, is a grave abuse of judicial process. It is true that O. XLVI does not expressly contemplate of an enquiry as is enjoined by O. V, rule 45 of the Rules of the Supreme Court in England, but the Court has inherent power to enquire. HARINATH CHOWDHURY v. HARADAS ACHARJYA CHOWDHURY (1915) . . . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 269

DEPOSIT IN COURT—contd.

DEPOSIT OF TITLE-DEEDS.

See TITLE . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 239

DEPOSITION.

See INSOLVENT . I. L. R. 46 Calc. 996

See PERJURY—WITNESS.

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 240

———— corroboration of—

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), ss. 21, 157

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 599

———— reading over of—

See CHARGE . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 957

———— taken in absence of accused—

See HABEAS CORPUS.

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 164

———— under compulsion—

See FALSE EVIDENCE.

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 878

———— Criminal Procedure Code, s. 360—Deposition of witnesses to be read out to them in presence of accused. The disregard at trials in the mofussil of the provision of s. 360 of the Criminal Procedure Code which requires that deposition of a witness should be read over to him in the presence of the accused or his pleader, condemned. JYOTISH CHANDRA MUKHERJEE v. EMPEROR (1909) I. L. R. 36 Calc. 955
14 C. W. N. 82

———— Witness reading over his deposition in Court—Admissibility of same on subsequent trial for perjury—Misdirection—Material evidence recorded in anticipation of the examination of a witness not ultimately called—Direction to Jury to exclude such evidence—Power of High Court to substitute its own finding for verdict of Jury—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. XVIII, r. 5—Evidence Act (I of 1872), ss. 80, 167—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 423. The persual of his deposition by a witness is a substantial compliance with r. 5, O. XVIII of the Civil Procedure Code, and such deposition, when duly signed by the Judge, is admissible under s. 80 of the Evidence Act, without proof, on a subsequent trial of the deponent for giving false evidence. Elahi Baksh Kazi v. Emperor, I. L. R. 45 Calc. 825, referred to. Empress v. Mayadeb Gossami, I. L. R. 6 Calc. 762, Mohendra Nath Misser v. Emperor, 12 C. W. N.

DEPOSITION—contd.

845, Rakhal Chandra Laha v. Emperor, I. L. R. 36 Calc. 808, Jyotish Chandra Mukerjee v. Emperor, I. L. R. 36 Calc. 955, and Emperor v. Jogendra Nath Ghose, I. L. R 42 Calc. 240, distinguished. Kamatchinathan Chetty v. Emperor, I. L. R. 28 Mad. 308, Bogra v. Emperor, I. L. R. 34 Mad. 141, and Meango v. Bamah, (1918 Mad. W. N. 237, referred to. The essential requirements of s. 80 are that the witness should be duly sworn and examined, and that his deposition should be signed by the Judge. A certificate at the end of the deposition that it was read over to or by the witness is not required by r. 5, O. XVIII, and its omission does not affect the admissibility of the deposition under s. 80 of the Evidence Act on the presumption arising thereunder. Where certain material evidence was admitted at the trial, in anticipation of the examination of a witness who was not, however, called, and the Judge directed the jury to put it out of their minds —Held, that such evidence might have had considerable influence on their minds, and that its admission was a misdirection notwithstanding the Judge's direction to exclude it from consideration. Rex v. Norton, [1910] 2 K. B. 500, referred to. It is always dangerous to give in advance evidence the admissibility of which depends on what other witnesses may say when and if examined, and the Court should be very cautious in allowing such evidence to be given especially in jury trials. Under s. 167 of the Evidence Act if, in the opinion of the Appellate Court, there is sufficient legal evidence to justify the decision, the improper admission of other evidence is not in itself a ground for interference. But in jury trials the Appellate Court ought not to substitute its own verdict on the legal evidence for that of the jury. Wafadar Khan v. Queen Empress I. L. R. 21 Calc. 955, Sadhu Shaikh v. Empress, 4 C. W. N. 576, followed. In such cases the Court should not confirm the conviction on the legal evidence as sufficient unless satisfied that the verdict would have been the same if no evidence had been wrongly admitted, and this principle applies as well to cases of improper admission of evidence as to cases of misdirection. Conviction and sentence set aside, but no retrial ordered in the circumstances. RAMESH CHANDRA DAS v. EMPEROR (1919) . I. L. R. 46 Calc. 895

——————— Admissibility of deposition when not taken in accordance with law on subsequent trial for abetment of forgery and of user—Deposition signed by Judge and witness—No cross-examination on the point at the trial—Presumption of compliance with the law—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908)—O. XVIII, rr. 5, 6—Evidence Act (I. of 1872), ss. 80, 91. The provisions of O. XVIII, rr. 5 and 6 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) are directory, and non-compliance therewith does not render the deposition inadmissible on a subsequent trial of the deponent either for giving false evidence or for abetment of forgery and of dishonest user of a bond proved by him in the course of a civil suit. Empress v. Jayadeb Gossami, I. L. R. 6 Calc. 762, Kamatchinathan Chitty v. Emperor, I. L. R. 28 Mad. 308, and Emperor v. Jogendra Nath Ghose, I. L. R. 42 Calc. 240, commented on Bogra v. Emperor, I. L. R. 34 Mad. 141, approved. If a deposition has not been read over to the witness, in the presence of the presiding Judge, it does not prove itself under s. 80 of the Evidence Act, but it may still be proved in some other way, e g, by the Judge who recorded it or by the admission of the deponent. S. 91 of the Evidence Act, even if it covers deposition, merely excludes oral evidence of its contents, but does not make the document inadmissible in evidence, nor does it deal with the question of its mode of proof otherwise. Where the deposition bore the signatures of the presiding Judge and of the deponent in his own vernacular, and the Judge and a pleader for the defendant, on whose behalf the appellant had deposed, were examined at the Sessions trial, but not cross-examined by the latter to show that the deposition had not been read over to him in the presence of the presiding officer, and there was nothing to the contrary on record of the Sessions trial. Held, that the infergnce was that the deposi- [illegible] Per [illegible] from [illegible] in it merely because the contents may not in fact be correct. Failure to ensure the accuracy of the record may create doubt as to the correctness of its contents, but does not affect its admissibility when it is otherwise proved. ELAHI BAKSH KAZI v. EMPEROR (1918) I. L. R. 45 Calc. 825

DEPUTY COLLECTOR.

See COLLECTOR.

——— procedure by, under the Rent Recovery Act—

See JURISDICTION OF HIGH COURT.
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 832

DEPUTY COMMISSIONER.

See PATNI LEASE.
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 1029

——— order of—

See HIGH COURT, JURISDICTION OF.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 518

DEPUTY MAGISTRATE.

See PUNITIVE POLICE.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 452

——— in charge of the district—

See MAGISTRATE, JURISDICTION OF.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 1041

DERAILMENT OF TRAIN.

See NEGLIGENCE. I. L. R. 48 Calc. 757

DESAI IN BELGAUM DISTRICT.

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), SCH. 1, ART. 152. I. L. R. 43 Bom. 376

DESAIGIRI ALLOWANCE.

——————— Surat District. In [illegible] is alien- [illegible] L. R. 26 [illegible] . DULLABHBHAI . . . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 948

DESCRIPTION OF PROPERTY.

See SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE.
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 590

DESERTION.

See DIVORCE . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 1091
I. L. R. 47 Calc. 1068

DESHGAT INAM.

See FORFEITURE I. L. R. 36 Bom. 539

DESHGAT VATAN.

See GRANT . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 68

See GRANT OF LAND.
I. L. R. 43 Bom. 37

DESHMUKHI VATAN.

See HEREDITARY OFFICES ACT (BOM. ACT III OF 1874), ss. 11, 11A.
I. L. R. 37 Bom. 37

DESHPANDE KULKARNI VATAN.

See PENSIONS ACT (XXIII OF 1871), s. 4.
I. L. R. 37 Bom. 91

DESHPANDEGIRI CASH ALLOWANCE.

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), s. 7.
I. L. R. 42 Bom. 277

DESIGN.

——————— Wrist-watch band—Registration—Application by outside party to expunge—Cancellation of registration by Controller—Jurisdiction of Controller—New and original design—Shape and configuration—Ornamentation and utility—Analogous designs—Different purposes and dissimilar use—Motion to the High Court by registered proprietor—Other specific and adequate legal remedy available—Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), s. 45—Patents and Designs Act (II of 1911), ss. 62, 64, 67. G registered a design for a wrist-watch band, which he called the "Novelty" band. Subsequently Messrs. B. & Co. copied the design and on threat of legal proceedings by G, applied to the Controller of Patents and Designs under s. 62 of the Patents and Designs Act for an order to remove the design from the register. This the Controller did after having issued notice on G and having heard both parties. G then in an application, entitled "In the matter of s. 45 of the Specific Relief Act and in the matter of the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911," moved the High Court for an order that the Controller had no jurisdiction to remove the registration of the design and that he should be required to restore the design to the register on the ground that the design was new and original. The Court dealt with the matter under s. 64 of the Indian Patents and Designs Act and discharged the Rule, Messrs. B. & Co. contending that the design in question had been anticipated by a bracelet produced by Messrs. C. & K. On appeal by the petitioner. Held, that the Controller had no jurisdiction to cancel the registration, and under the Act the proper and ordinary way of expunging the registration of a design was to apply to this Court under s. 64 of the Patents and Designs Act. Held, also, that s. 62 of the Patents and Designs Act was limited to applications by the registered proprietor, or by some person in whom his interest was vested, and the action of the Controller was not justified by that section. Held, also, that the Court had no power to revise the Controller's decision under s. 64. Held, also, that this application, which was made under s. 45 of the Specific Relief Act, was not barred by s. 64 of the Patents and Designs Act. Held, also, that the application of the shape of the "Novelty" band to a watch to be worn on the wrist was for a purpose so different from and for a use so dissimilar to the purpose of the bracelet, that the design in question might be said to be original. Per SANDERSON, C. J. The shape and configuration of the metal band taken by itself cannot be said to be new or original. Per WOODROFFE, J. A wrist band used to carry an ornament such as that produced by Messrs. Cooke and Kelvey and a wrist band to carry a watch do not appear to me to be so analogous as to deprive the applicant of his claim to novelty. Further, the band is original and differs from the other band produced, by its circular shape, according to which it passes at the back of the watch, and as a consequence of that produces a flattening. GAMMETER v. THE CONTROLLER OF PATENTS AND DESIGNS (1917)
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 606

DESTINATION.

See TRADING WITH THE ENEMY.
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 1094

DESTRUCTION OF IMAGE.

See IMAGE . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 57

DETECTIVE.

See ACCOMPLICE . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 96

——————— privilege of—

See CHARGE . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 957

DETENTION IN CUSTODY.

See POLICE OFFICER.
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 581

DEVOLUTION OF INTEREST.

See LIMITATION I. L. R. 43 I. A. 113

DEUR, RAJAH OF.

See SANAD . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 639

DEVASTANAM COMMITTEE MEMBER.

See HINDU LAW—DEBT.
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 458

DEVOLUTION, SCHEME OF.

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE.
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 603

——————— difference of opinion—

See REVISION . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 438

DHOLI TENURE.

See CUSTOM (RELIGIOUS INSTITUTIONS.)
I. L. R. 2 Lah. 313

DIGWARS.

——————— appointment of—

See DIGWARI TENURE.
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 743

DIGWARS—contd.

———— position of—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 696

DIGWARI TENURE.

See LANDLORD AND TENANT.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 696

———— Digwars of Ghat Bharra in district Bankura—Appointments made by Government—Whether any relief thereto could be given by the Civil Courts—Declaratory decree, but the Commissioner cancelled it on a misreading of the law, as to his title, and on appeal to the Government the plaintiff was directed to go to the Civil Court for relief: Held, that the Digwars of Ghat Bharra in Bankura were the holders of an office remunerated by the enjoyment of land, and the history of the office established a general usage on the death of a Digwar holding office to appoint his heir in his place as the successor to his office. That here the usage of the heir taking his predecessor's place could be traced back to the seventeenth century and so long a usage could not be disregarded as an exponent of the Digwari right. On the contrary the force of law could safely be ascribed to it, subject to the qualification that the heir's claim and tenure of office was dependent on the approval of the Government. That the Civil Court could do no more than express its conclusion that the plaintiff was the heir of one of the last incumbents and his claim to succeed was subject to the approval of the Government, and that the ground on which the Commissioner cancelled the Magistrate's sanction was erroneous in law. Jogendra Nath Singh v. Kalicharan Roy, 9 C. W. N. 663, distinguished. That in view of all the circumstances of the case, a declaratory decree could be made defining the plaintiff's position, though it may be that it was not really necessary, for having regard to the Government's reply referring the plaintiff to the Civil Court, it would probably be prepared to give or withhold its approval in accordance with the view expressed by the Civil Court, seeing that it invited recourse thereto. That in doing this "it was necessary" for the High Court "out of a wreckage of procedure to construct the material for a just decision" as the plaint was not happily drafted. Cockerell v. Dickens, 2 Moo, I. A. 353, Durga Prasad Sureka v. Bhagan Lal, I. L. R. 31 Calc. 614 ; I. L. R. 31 I. A. 122, Gopi Narain Khanna v. Bansidhar, I. L. R. 27 All. 325 , L. R. 32, I. A. 123, referred to. HEMENDRA NATH ROY v. UPENDRA NARAIN ROY AND SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1915)

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 743

DILUTION OF SPIRIT.

See EXCISE . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 694

DILUVION.

See LANDLORD AND TENANT.
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 683

See LIMITATION I. L. R. 44 Calc. 858

———— Reformation in situ —Land settled with raiyat, submergence of, followed by non-payment of rent—Abandonment—Accretion.

DILUVION—contd.

The Plaintiff sued to recover possession of newly formed char lands as accretion to his raiyatijote. The defence was that the land was reformation in situ of land held by the Defendant in a Government Khas Mahal and which had been submerged in the river. It appeared that the lands diluviated in the same year that the Defendant obtained a lease of the land and remained under water for thirty years during which period no rent for it was paid by the Plaintiff, and since re-appearance the land was in the possession of the Defendant without any objection on the part of Government: Held,—That the land being reformation in situ could not be claimed by the Plaintiff as accretion to his estate. The only person entitled to object to the Defendant's possession was the Government, the owner of the Khas Mahal The land could not be held to be accretion to the Plaintiff's estate merely because the Defendant's rights under the lease might have been extinguished. AMINADDI alias AMIRADDI v. TARINI CHARAN MONDAL.
24 C. W. N. 211

———— Abatement of rent on ground of —Rent, suit for —Abatement on ground of diluvion—Shifting of onus of proof on landlord to prove amount recoverable, on proof by tenant of fact of diluvion—Finding as to length of unit of measurement if can be assailed in second appeal. Where there is no express agreement to the contrary as soon as the fact of diluvion is established by the tenant in a suit for rent he is entitled to abatement and the burden is shifted to the landlord to prove the reduced amount of rent justly recoverable by him which can be done only by proof of the extent of the diluvion. The finding of the lower Court on evidence as to the length of the unit of measurement cannot be assailed in second appeal. KRISTA DAS LAW v. ABDUL KARIM 25 C. W. N. 325

DIRECTION.

See THIRD PARTY.
I. L. R. 34 Bom. 423

———— to administrator (High Court can give)—

See SUCCESSION ACT X OF 1865, ss. 264 AND 239.
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 682

DIRECTOR.

See COMPANIES ACT (IV OF 1882), ss. 137 AND 141 . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 706

See COMPANIES ACT (VII OF 1913), s. 38.
I. L. R. 41 Bom. 76

———— liability of—

See COMPANY.
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 486, 490

———— of a Bank—

See PRESIDENCY BANKS ACT. ss. 36, 37. I. L. R. 39 Mad. 101

———— of a Company—

See COMPANY . I. L. R. 42 Bom. 264

———— personal interest of—

See COMPANY . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 991

———— powers of—

See COMPANY . I. L. R. 36 All. 412

DIRHAM.

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—DOWER.
I. L. R. 32 All. 167

DISABILITY.

—— to guardianship—

See GURDIANS AND WARDS ACT (VIII OF 1890), ss. 17, 19.
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 473

DISBARMENT.

See MUKTEAR . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 309

DISBELIEF.

See EVIDENCE . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 784

DISCHARGE.

See CONSPIRACY TO WAGE WAR.
15 C. W. N. 593

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, ss. 119, 437 . . I. L. R. 36 All. 147

s. 437 . . I. L. R. 40 All. 416
I. L. R. 36 All. 53
I. L. R. 42 All. 128

See INSOLVENCY I. L. R. 44 Calc. 374

See PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1909) ss. 38 AND 52.
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 555

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION. .
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 970

—— application for—

See INSOLVENCY I. L. R. 44 Calc. 899

—— effect of—

See CONSPIRACY TO WAGE WAR.
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 559

—— order of—

See ADMINISTRATOR PENDENTE LITE.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 587

See JURISDICTION OF CRIMINAL COURT.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 71

—— Surety discharged if there be variation in terms of contract without his consent or knowledge, although he has agreed that he would not claim his legal rights as surety.

See CONTRACT ACT, s. 133.
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 157

DISCHARGE BY ATTORNEY.

See ATTORNEY AND CLIENT.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 386

DISCHARGE OF ACCUSED.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 437.
I. L. R. 36 All. 53

DISCIPLINARY JURISDICTION.

See ATTORNEY . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 113

See BOMBAY REGULATION (II OF 1827), s. 56 . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 354

See INSTRUCTIONS TO COUNSEL.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 898

See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS' ACT, 1879.

See PLEADER . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 1115

See PROFESSIONAL MISCONDUCT.
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 113

—— proceedings under clause (10) Letters Patent—

See APPEAL TO PRIVY COUNCIL.
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 128

DISCIPLINARY JURISDICTION—contd.

—— Signing of a pledge to civilly disobey certain laws to be fixed thereafter—Satyagraha movement—Lawyers taking the pledge are amenable to the Disciplinary Jurisdiction—Amended Letters Patent, clause 10. The respondents who were lawyers practising in the Courts of the Ahmedabad District, joined a movement called the Satyagraha Sabha which was started as a protest against the enactment of the Anarchical and Revolutionary Crimes Act (XI of 1919), and signed a pledge whereby they bound themselves "to refuse civilly to obey these laws, (viz. the Anarchical and Revolutionary Crimes Act) and such other laws as a Committee to be hereafter appointed may think fit." Held, that action of respondents brought them within the disciplinary jurisdiction of the High Court but that in circumstances a warning was sufficient. In re JIVANLAL VARAJRAJ DESAI . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 448

DISCLAIMER.

See LANDLORD AND TENANT.
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 878

DISCOVERY.

See ARBITRATION . 4 Pat. L. J. 394

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O. XI.

See EVIDENCE ACT, 1872, s. 27.
25 C. W. N. 788

See INTERROGATORIES.

See MISDIRECTION
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 557

See REVIEW . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 830
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 60

—— right to—

See LAND ACQUISITION.
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 230

—— production of documents relied on—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, O. VII R. 14
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 625

—— Inspection—Affidavit of documents—Practice—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. XI. rr. 13, 18 (2). The filing of an affidavit of documents under O. XI, r. 13 of the Civil Procedure Code, by one party, does not preclude the other party from subsequently applying under O. XI, r. 18, para. (2), for further discovery and inspection. BASANTA COOMAR GOSWAMI v. KUMUDINI DASEE (1911)
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 428

—— Interrogatories—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908), O. XI—Practice. A party is entitled to interrogate on facts directly in issue on the pleadings. In a suit for the recovery of the amount of a hundi, alleged to have been drawn and accepted by the defendant in consideration of a loan: Held, that the defendant was entitled to discovery of the form in which the loan was alleged to have been made, and of the time and place the hundi was drawn and accepted, and the time and place and the names and addresses of the persons by whom it was presented. Ali Kader Synd Hossain Ali v. Gobind Dass, I. L. R. 17 Calc. 840, distinguished. BAIJNATH KEDIA v. RAGHUNATH PRASAD (1913).
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 6

DISCRETION OF COURT.

See APPELLATE COURT . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 386

See ARBITRATION I. L. R. 47 Calc. 849

See COMPANY . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 16

See CONTRACT ACT s. 65. I. L. R. 40 All. 558

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908), O. XXIII, R. 1; s. 115. I. L. R. 40 All. 612

O. XXV R. 1 I. L. R. 35 Bom. 421

See COSTS . . 21 C. W. N. 339
I. L. R. 42 Bom. 327
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 476

See DIVORCE ACT, 1869, s 14. I. L. R. 41 Bom. 36

See ELECTION . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 384

See FALSE INFORMATION I. L. R. 43 Calc. 173

See FRAUD . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 203

See LIMITATION . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 326

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 5. I. L. R. 37 All. 267

See MAHOMEDAN LAW ENDOWMENT. I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1085

See PARTNERSHIP I. L. R. 42 Bom. 380

See PLEADERSHIP EXAMINATION. I. L. R. 40 Calc. 588

See PRE-EMPTION (MISC.) I. L. R. 36 All. 573

See PRESIDENCY TOWNS INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1909), s. 25. I. L. R. 35 Bom. 47

ss. 15 (2) AND 21 (1). I. L. R. 38 Bom. 200

s. 18 (3) . I. L. R. 41 Bom. 312

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION. I. L. R. 41 Calc. 446

See SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE. I. L. R. 38 Calc. 805

See SURETY . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 737

———— of municipalities—

See BOMBAY DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES' ACT III OF 1901, s. 151. I. L. R. 44 Bom. 738

———— of trustee—

See RELIGIOUS TRUST I. L. R. 40 Calc. 232

DISHONEST INTENTION.

See CRIMINAL BREACH OF TRUST. I. L. R. 41 Calc. 844

See THEFT . . 14 C. W. N. 936
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 66

DISHONESTLY RECEIVING STOLEN PROPERTY.

———— Receipt of property—Production of the railway receipt, payment of freight and taking of formal delivery—Property not actually removed, or attempted to be removed, from railway premises—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), s. 411. Where the consignee presented a railway receipt for certain stolen goods to the station-master, paid the freight and received formal delivery of the package from the latter: Held, that the goods had come to be not merely in the potential possession of the consignee, but actually within his power and unrestricted control, though he had not removed them from the station where they were then lying, nor made any attempt to do so, and that he had received them within s. 411 of the Penal Code. Reg. v. Hill, 3 Cox C. C. 533, 1 Den C. C 453, distinguished. SHEWDHAR SUKUL v. EMPEROR (1913) I. L. R. 40 Calc. 990

DISLOYAL DOCTRINES.

See SECURITY FOR GOOD BEHAVIOUR. I. L. R. 46 Calc. 215

DISMISSAL.

See MUNICIPAL OFFICER. I. L. R. 39 Bom. 600

See SCHOOL-MASTER. I. L. R. 44 Calc. 917

See WRONGFUL DISMISSAL

———— of an editor of a newspaper—

See COMPANY . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 991

DISMISSAL FOR DEFAULT.

See APPEAL . I. L. R. 45 Calc. 638

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1882, ss. 10, 102 AND 103 I. L. R. 33 All. 560

s. 311. 14 C. W. N. 573

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908.

See s. 115 3 Pat. L. J. 250

ss. 141, 151 AND O. IX, R. 9. I. L. R. 1 Lah. 339

ss. 148, O. IX, R 89 AND 43. 4 Pat. L. J. 428

O. XVII, R. 3. 6 Pat. L. J. 650

O. IX, R. 8. I. L. R. 34 All. 426

O. XVIII, R. 3; O. XLI, R. 27. I. L. R. 33 All. 690

See DECREE . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 954

See EXECUTION OF DECREE (48). 4 Pat. L. J. 330

See SMALL CAUSE COURT SUIT. I. L. R. 44 Calc. 950

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 10 . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 867

———— without notice or opportunity for defence—

See MUTT . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 177

———— Unless the facts indicate that there has in fact been an adjudication an order for dismissal whether for want of evidence or not should be treated as an order under O. IX. SHEIKH MD. BAHAR ALI v. CHALHAI MAHTO. L., ~19

DISMISSAL FOR DEFAULT—contd.

——————— Where an adjournment had been granted at the request of Plaintiff in order to enable latter to amend his plaint and on the date fixed the plaintiff's pleader again applied for time and the Court recorded following order "no step taken for prosecution. Suit dismissed thereon." Held that the Court acted without authority and without applying its mind to any provision of law it amounted to a refusal to exercise jurisdiction and therefore s. 115 of Civil Procedure Code and s. 107 of Government of India Act applied. NAURANG RAM SAHU v. BHAKHORI MANDAR 4 Pat. L. J. 277

——————— When a Plaintiff is appearing through Pleader but pleader is absent the mere presence of Plaintiff is not sufficient appearance within O. XLI, r. 17. RAMDHAN TEWARI v. BISHUN PARGASH NARAIN SINGH 5 Pat. L. J. 17

——————— Appearance of plaintiff but refusal to prosecute, whether amounts to non-appearance. Where the plaintiff is not appearing in person, and his Pleader is absent, the presence of the plaintiff in Court is not an appearance. LALJI SAHU v. LACHMI NARAIN SINGH 5 Pat. L. J. 355

——————— Pleader instructed to apply for time only—Whether presence of Pleader in Court amounts to appearance—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908), O. IX, r. 13, O. XVII, rs. 2 and 3. Where a Pleader has only been instructed to ask for time his sitting in the Court room is not an apperance. RAM KISHUN LALL v. JATADHARI LAL 3 Pat. L. J. 481

DISMISSAL FROM ROLLS.

See MUKTEAR . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 309

DISMISSAL OF COMPLAINT.

See FURTHER INQUIRY. 5 Pat. L. J. 47

——————— reason for—

See CRIMINAL REVISIONAL JURISDICTION I. L. R. 40 Calc. 41

DISMISSAL OF SUIT.

See ATTACHMENT BEFORE JUDGMENT. I. L. R. 45 Calc. 780

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1882, s. 311. 14 C. W. N. 573

See DISMISSAL FOR DEFAULT.

See PRACTICE I. L. R. 48 Calc. 902

See RES JUDICATA. I. L. R. 35 Bom. 38

——————— application to set aside an order of—

See APPEAL . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 857

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, O. IX, R. 8 AND 9 . I L. R. 44 Bom. 82

——————— improper proceudre in—

See APPEAL . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 426

DISOBEDIENCE OF ORDER.

See JOINT PENALTY. I. L. R. 37 Calc. 895

DISOBEDIENCE OF ORDER—contd.

See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860), SS. 188 AND 269. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 602

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION.. 14 C. W. N. 234

DISOBEDIENCE OF REQUISITION.

See CALCUTTA MUNICIPAL ACT (BENG. ACT III OF 1899), SS. 341 (1), ETC. I. L. R. 37 Calc. 384

DISORDERLY HOUSES ACT (II OF 1907, E. B. AND ASSAM).

——————— ss. 2, 7—House, use of, as brothel or for habitual prostitution—S. 7, object of—Order under cl. (b) of s. 2, effect of—Proceedings under, how instituted—Criminal Procedure Code, s. 190. S. 7 of Act II of 1907 (E. B and Assam) is an enabling section and is not a necessary part of the procedure of the Act prior to the prosecution being instituted. It is not necessary to have recourse to that section if the Magistrate can be satisfied in other ways that the nuisance complained of is continuing. S. 6 of the Act creates an offence under a local law and proceedings relating to such offence should be taken under s. 190 of the Criminal Procedure Code. Where a Magistrate authorised an Inspector of Police to enter and inspect the houses and the Inspector asked the Sub-Inspector to make the enquiry: Held, that the Magistrate had no jurisdiction to take cognizance of the case on the Sub-Inspector's report. The Magistrate could either treat the Sub-Inspector's report as a complaint under s. 190 (a), in which case he would have to call upon the Sub-Inspector to appear and substantiate the report on oath; or under s. 155 direct the Police to investigate the case and submit a charge-sheet if they thought proper. Where the Sub-Inspector stated in his report that he was satisfied that a woman "was going on with her profession of prostitution" but did not say that she was using her house to the annoyance of the inhabitants of the vicinity: Held, that although the report might furnish a basis to the Magistrate to call upon the Sub-Inspector to depose on oath as complainant, the report itself did not disclose a complete case under s. 2 of the Act. FEROJA PESHAKAR v. AMIRUDDIN (1912) 16 C. W. N. 1049

DISPOSSESSION.

See CIRMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, S. 145 25 C. W. N. 601

See DILUVION . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 858

See LIMITATION ACT (XV OF 1887), SCH. II, ARTS. 142, 144 I. L. R. 35 Bom. 79

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), SCH. I, ARTS. 62 AND 97. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 887

See MORTGAGE . I. L. R. 46 Calc. 448

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, S. 9. 14 C. W. N. 403
15 C. W. N. 294; 715

DISPUTE.

See ARBITRATION. I. L. R. 46 Calc. 534

DISPUTE CONCERNING EASEMENT.

———————— Right of passage of surplus water through an ál—Jurisdiction of Magistrate to direct an opening in the ál to be made by a party, and; on failure, by the Police—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 147. The Magistrate has Jurisdiction, under s. 147 of the Criminal Procedure Code, on being satisfied that a party has a right to have an opening in an ál, for the purpose of draining off the surplus water from his lands, and that he has exercised the right for several years, and also on the last occasion, when it was exercisable, to pass an order requiring the opposite party to make the opening within a reasonable time from its date, and, on his failure to do so, directing the Police to make the same: Dowlat Koer v. Siva Pershad Pandit, 12 Ind. Cas. 615: Pashupati Nath Bose v. Nando Lal Bose, 5 C. W. N. 67, and Lalit Chandra Neogi v. Tarini Pershad Gupta, 5 C. W. N. 335, followed. Dalmir Puri v. Khodadad Khan, I. L. R. 36 Calc. 923, distinguished. In re Lindsay, I. L. R. 4 Mad 121, not followed. AMBICA PRASAD SINGH v. GUR SAHAY SINGH (1912)

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 360

DISPUTE CONCERNING LAND.

See OFFERINGS . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 387

1. ———— Jurisdiction—Order based on local inquiry without taking evidence—Legality of the order—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 145. An order under s. 145 of the Criminal Procedure Code made only on local inspection and inquiry from persons present at the time, without taking any evidence in the case, is without jurisdiction. SAHADAT KHAN v. TAIJUDDI SHEIKH (1919)

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 1056

2. ———— Attachment of subject of dispute—Order of Settlement Court in a proceeding between the same parties and relating to the attached lands—Effect of such order—Release of attachment by Magistrate—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 146—Bengal Survey Act (Beng. Act V of 1875), s. 41. An order of the Survey and Settlement Courts, under the Bengal Survey Act, 1875, s. 41, is a determination by a competent Court of the rights of the parties entitled to possession of the land within the meaning of s. 146 of the Criminal Procedure Code. Where the Magistrate attached certain lands under s. 146 of the Code, and in a proceeding under s. 41 of the Bengal Survey Act, 1875, between the same parties, the same lands were found to be in the possession of the petitioner:—Held, that the Magistrate was bound to follow such order and to release the lands from attachment. AMBLER v. SAMI AHMED (1910)

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 331

3. ———— Tenant interested in the subject of dispute—Addition of the tenant to the proceedings to show that there is no dispute likely to cause a breach of the peace—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 145, cl. (5). A person claiming to be interested in the subject of dispute as a tenant, who was not required to attend as a party, should be heard under s. 145 (5), of the Criminal Procedure Code in order to show that no dispute likely to cause a breach of the peace exists. HARAN MANDAL v. MOHIM CHANDRA PRAMANICK (1910) I. L. R. 37 Calc. 285

DISPUTE CONCERNING LAND—contd.

4. ———— Joint Estate—Dispute concerning land—Joint-owners—Claim of exclusive possession to subject of dispute, by each party—Jurisdiction of Magistrate—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 145. A dispute between two sets of joint-owners, each claiming exclusive possession of the land forming part of the joint estate, through their respective tenants, is within the scope of s. 145 of the Criminal Procedure Code. An order declaring the exclusive possession of a tenant of diction.

. W. N.

CHOW-

DHURY v. KEDAR NATH KUNDU CHOWDHURY (1911) . . . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 889

5. ———— Duty of Magistrate to summon Witnesses at the instance of the parties—Dispute relating to land—Witnesses—Failure of witnesses summoned to attend—Denial of justice—Interference by High Court—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 145 (4) S. 145 of the Criminal Procedure Code does not render it obligatory on the Magistrate to summon witnesses at the instance of the parties, or to compel their attendance after they have been summoned but failed to appear. Tarapada Biswas v. Nurul Huq, I. L. R. 32 Calc. 1093, followed. Where a Magistrate has acted in accordance with law, it would be necessary to show the High Court very clearly, in order to warrant its interference, that the procedure adopted, though right in law, has in fact amounted to an absolute denial of justice. Where it did not appear what evidence the absent witnesses would be able to give regarding the question of actual possession, and there was nothing to show what efforts the party had made to procure their attendance, the High Court refused to interfere. HARENDRA KUMAR BOSE v. GIRISH CHANDRA MITRA (1910) . . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 24

6. ———— Evidence not recorded according to law, but memorandum taken down and signed by the Magistrate personally—Legality of final order—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), ss. 145, 356 (1) and (3). The provisions of sub-s. (1) of s 356 are mandatory. Sub-s. (3) applies only where evidence has been recorded in accordance with sub-s. (1) but not personally by the Magistrate. Where the Magistrate did not take down the evidence himself nor was it taken down in his presence and hearing and under his personal direction and superintendence nor signed by him, but he made a memorandum thereof and signed the same.—Held, that the provisions of s. 356 had not been complied with, and that the order declaring the opposite party to be in possession was bad in law. SADANANDA MANDAL v. KRISHNA MANDAL (1914)

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 381

7. ———— Likelihood of breach of the peace—Jurisdiction of Magistrates—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), ss. 107, 145. There is no conflict between ss. 107 and 145 of the Criminal Procedure Code. The fact that there is a dispute concerning land, likely to cause a breach of the peace, does not deprive a Magistrate of jurisdiction under s. 107 of the Criminal Pro-

[illegible]

may probably occasion a breach of the peace or disturb the public tranquillity. Whether, after proceeding under s. 107 of the Criminal Procedure Code, it will be proper for Magistrate to act under s. 145 of the Code, must depend on the circumstances of each case as it arises, viz., whether likelihood of a breach of the peace continues or not. The competence of the Magistrate to proceed under s. 107 of the Code against persons not in possession must depend upon whether as against those persons the conditions specified in the section have been established. EMPEROR v. ABBAS (1911) . . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 150

DISPUTE CONCERNING LAND—contd.

8. ———— Ijmali property—Claim by co-sharers to exclusive possession of specific plots—Jurisdiction of Magistrate—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 145. A Magistrate has jurisdiction, under s. 145 of the Criminal Procedure Code in the case of ijmali land, where each party claims to be in exculsive possession of specific portions of the same. Under s. 145 the question for the Magistrate's decision is not whether the parties have a title to possession jointly, or a title to possession separately, but whether either of them is in actual possession. Co-sharers in an ijmali estate may, by express or tacit arrangement, be each separately in actual possession of specific or demarcated portions of the same, and s. 145 applies to such a case. When, however, the parties are found to be not constructively but actually in joint possession, the section has no application. Makhan Lal Roy v. Barada Kanta Roy, 11 C. W. N. 512, explained and distinguished. Per HARINGTON, J. Where a party alleges exclusive possession and acquiesces in the hearing of the case on that footing, he cannot afterwards be heard to say that the whole proceedings are bad because the land is ijmali. BASANTA KUMARI DASI v. MAHESH CHANDRA LAHA (1913) . . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 982

DISQUALIFICATION.

See PLEADER . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 290

DISQUALIFIED PROPRIETOR.

See LIMITATION I. L. R. 46 Calc. 694

See NORTH-WEST PROVINCES LAND REVENUE ACT, 1873.
I. L. R. 42 All. 509

See OUDH LAND REVENUE ACT (XVII OF 1876), SS. 173, 174.
I. L. R. 38 All. 271

See UNITED PROVINCES COURT OF WARDS ACT, 1902, SS. 8 AND 11.
I. L. R. 43 All. 478

———— manager of—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—PRE-EMPTION.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 915

DISSOLUTION.

See COMPANY . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 620

DISSOLUTION OF MARRIAGE.

———— suit for—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—MARRIAGE.
I. L. R. 41 All. 278

DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP.

See APPEAL (MISC.) I. L. R. 42 Calc. 914

See MINOR . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 225

See PARTNERSHIP.
I. L. R. 42 Bom. 380

DISTRAINT OR DISTRESS.

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901), S. 124 . . I. L. R. 38 All. 40

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF 1908) . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 1018

s. 53 (2) . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1140

s. 77. I. L. R. 37 Mad. 319

ss. 189, ETC. I. L. R. 39 Mad. 239

s. 192 . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 655

DISTRIBUTION.

———— by Liquidation—

See LIQUIDATOR I. L. R. 43 Calc. 586 ———— period of, under a will—

See WILL . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 274

DISTRICT BOARD.

———— sale by—

See SALE . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 790

DISTRICT BUILDING-SURVEYOR.

———— sanction by—

See DEMOLITION OF BUILDING.
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 585

DISTRICT COLLECTOR.

See MAMLATDARS' COURTS ACT (BOM. ACT II OF 1906), S. 23.
I. L. R. 37 Bom. 595
I. L. R. 39 Bom. 552

DISTRICT COURT.

———— jurisdiction of—

See GUARDIANS AND WARDS ACT (VIII OF 1890), SS. 12, 13, 17, 19, 24, 25.
I. L. R. 40 Bom. 600

———— power of giving directions to an administrator—

See SUCCESSION ACT X OF 1865, SS. 264 AND 239 . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 682

———— right of, to recall a case sent to a subordinate Court for execution—

See CIVIL RULES OF PRACTICE, S. 161 (a)
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 485

DISTRICT GAZETTEER.

See ITMAM . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 979

DISTRICT JUDGE.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, S. 195.
I. L. R. 39 All. 657

See RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT ACT (XX OF 1863), S. 10.
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 594

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION.
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 13

DISTRICT JUDGE—contd.

——— jurisdiction of—

See WAKF . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 467

——— powers of—

See BENGAL, N.-W. P., AND ASSAM CIVIL COURTS ACT (XII OF 1887), ss 8, 21. I. L. R. 34 All. 205

See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907), s. 36 I. L. R. 36 All. 549

See TRANSFER . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 146

——— transfer by—

See TRANSFER I. L. R. 42 Calc. 842

DISTRICT MAGISTRATE.

See BOMBAY DISTRICT POLICE ACT, s. 42 I. L. R. 36 Bom. 504

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 17. I. L. R. 36 All. 468

See CRIMINAL TRIBES I. L. R. 47 Calc. 843

——— power of—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 520. I. L. R. 35 Bom. 253

See FURTHER INQUIRY. I. L. R. 39 Calc. 238

See MAGISTRATE, POWERS OF. I. L. R. 37 Calc. 72

See BOMBAY VILLAGE POLICE ACT, 1867, s. 9 . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 377

——— reference to High Court by—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), ss. 435, 438. I. L. R. 41 Bom. 47 ——— service of notice of appeal on—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), ss. 439, 422, 423. I. L. R. 39 Mad. 505

[illegible] galore [illegible] Pro- [illegible] ent of [illegible] leprive [illegible] 'lilitary [illegible] cogni- zance of offences committed by European British subjects within the station. PUBLIC PROSECUTOR, BANGALORE v. PRIVATE J. MARCHANT (1911) I. L. R. 34 Mad. 346

DISTRICT MUNICIPAL ACT.

See BOMBAY DISTRICT MUNICIPAL ACT.

DIVESTING OF PROPERTY.

——— by adoption—

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 119
I. L. R. 40 Bom. 429

DIVISION.

See PALA OR TURN OF WORSHIP. I. L. R. 47 Calc. 993

DIVISION BENCH.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), ss. 421, 233, 537. I. L. R. 39 Mad. 527

DIVISION BENCH—contd.

——— jurisdiction of—

See PRACTICE . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 173

——— power of—

See REVIEW IN CRIMINAL CASES. I. L. R. 38 Calc. 828

DIVORCE.

See DIVORCE ACT (IV OF 1869).

See HINDU LAW—MARRIAGE. I. L. R. 37 Bom. 295
I. L. R. 39 Bom. 538

See HUSBAND AND WIFE. I. L. R. 38 Calc. 629

See JEWISH LAW I. L. R. 38 Calc. 708

See KIDNAPPING I. L. R. 41 Calc. 714

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—DIVORCE.

See MARRIAGE.

——— concealment of pregnancy—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—DOWER I. L. R. 45 Bom. 151

——— for consideration—

See MAHOMMEDAN LAW—DIVORCE. I. L. R. 1 Lah. 402

——— Attachment before judg-m [illegible] P [illegible] 5, [illegible] ju[illegible] Attachment before judgment being a matter of relief and not of procedure, is governed by s. 7 of the Divorce Act and the principles and rules of the English Divorce Court and not by s. 45 of the Divorce Act and the Civil Procedure Code. Order XXXVIII, rules 5 and 6, have no application in divorce proceedings. PHILLIPS, v. PHILLIPS (1910) I. L. R. 37 Calc. 613

——— Wife's petition—. Admission by respondent—Effect of husband's admission of adultery and cruelty, supported by confirmatory evidence. In a suit for dissolution of marriage, in the absence of collusion, an admission of guilt by one of the parties is cogent evidence which the Court will act on, especially if the admission is corroborated by other evidence. Robinson v. Robinson and Lane, 1 Sw. and Tr. 362, followed. ARNOLD v. ARNOLD (1911) I. L. R. 38 Calc. 907

——— Condonation of incestuous adultery—Cruelty, decree of, necessary to revive condoned adultery—Subsequent conduct, without physical violence, causing injury to health. Where a husband had committed incestuous adultery which the wife had condoned, and subsequently the husband, without actually using physical violence, was guilty of such treatment and conduct as caused his wife's health to suffer: Held, that such treatment amounted to cruelty, and the incestuous adultery had been revived. A lesser degree of cruelty is necessary to revive a condoned offence than to found an original charge. Durant v. Durant, 1 Hag. Eccl. Reg. 733, Bramwell v. Bramwell, 3 Hag. Eccl. Rep. 618, Cooke v. Cooke, 3 Sw. and Tr. 126, Ridgway v. Ridgway, 29 W. R. (Eng.) 612, approved and followed. THOMPSON v. THOMPSON (1911) I. L. [illegible] Calc. [illegible]

DIVORCE—contd.

——— Husband's petition—Foreign domicile—Divorce Act (IV of 1869)—Territorial jurisdiction. The husband, who was an Italian subject with an Italian domicile, instituted proceedings for divorce on the ground of his wife's adultery. The marriage had been solemnized in India, and the parties were residing in British India : Held, that, under the provisions of the Indian Divorce Act, the Court was bound to grant a divorce on proof of adultery, although the divorce would have no effect outside India. LeMesurier v. LeMesurier, [1895] A. C. 517, and Shaw v. Gould, L. R. 3 E. and I. App. 55, referred to. GIORDANO v. GIORDANO (1912)

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 215

——— Husband's petition—Security for wife's costs—Practice. In a husband's petition for dissolution of marriage, where both parties are subject to s. 4 of the Indian Succession Act (X of 1865), and the wife has no means of her own, the Court has a discretion to order the petitioner to furnish security for the respondent's costs. Proby v. Proby, I. L. R. 5 Calc. 357, Young v. Young, I. L. R. 23 Calc. 916n, Thomas v. Thomas I. L. R. 23 Calc. 913, Thomson v. Thomson, I. L. R. 14 Calc. 580, Watling v. Watling, (1910) April 22 (unreported), Jahans v. Jahans, 6 C. W. N. 414, and Mayhew v. Mayhew, I. L. R. 19 Bom. 293, considered. BATEMAN v. BATEMAN AND NICACHI (1914)

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 963

——— Evidence Act (I of 1872), ss. 60, 112, 118 and 120—Non-access, competency of parties to testify to—Legitimacy of child—Expert opinion on legitimacy, relevancy of. When in a suit for divorce the petitioner (husband) did not make any person a co-respondent but simply averred that his wife was generally leading an immoral life, a judge would be wrong in adding a person as co-respondent suo motu without calling on the petitioner to amend the petition by making the necessary allegations against him. In the absence of the adoption of such a course the proper order to make is to strike out the co-respondent's name from the proceedings. Whatever might be the English common law on the subject, under ss. 118 and 120 of the Indian Evidence Act both the parties to proceedings for divorce are competent to give evidence as to non-access and illegitimacy of the child: Held on the evidence in the case that a child born 11 months after the cessation of marital intercourse was illegitimate and that the petitioner was entitled to a divorce. Rosario v. Ingles, I. L. R. 18 Bom. 468, referred to. Under s. 60 of the Evidence Act a Court can consider and act upon the opinions of experts contained in treatises as regards the question whether a particular child could or could not have been begotten just before the period of non-access. JOHN HOWE v. CHARLOTTE HOWE (1913) . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 466

——— Co-respondent, absence of—Leave of Judge for dispensing with co-respondent, when to be obtained—Jurisdiction of Court, in case of want of such leave—Matrimonial Causes Act of 1857 (20 and 21 Vict. c. 85), s. 28—Divorce Court Rules (English) 4, 5 and 6—Indian Divorce Act (IV of 1869), ss. 7, 11. Where the husband was petitioner for divorce but could not name

DIVORCE—contd.

the alleged co-respondents (the Master having issued citation), and at the hearing applied for leave to dispense with the co-respondents: Held, that the direction for such leave must be by application to the Judge on motion founded on affidavit before the hearing of the petition: Held, further, that the Court had no jurisdiction to entertain the petition where such leave had not been obtained. COX v. COX (1910)

I. L. R. 15 Calc. 525

——— Petition for divorce by wife—Husband and wife not living together but separately from each other at the date of the petition—High Court's jurisdiction to hear the petition—Indian Divorce Act (IV of 1869), s. 3 (1)—Practice of Bombay High Court—Under the Indian Divorce Act the High Court has jurisdiction to hear a petition if both parties are resident within its jursdiction at time of presentation notwithstanding they were living separately. Durand v. Durand, 1870, 14 W. R. 416, referred to. Xavier v. Xavier, 1892 P. J. 153 not followed. BORGANHA v. BORGANHA (1920) . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 924 ——— Petition by wife—Husband and wife not having permanent residence· "Last resided together" in Bombay—Jurisdiction—Indian Divorce Act (IV of 1869), s. 3 (1)—Practice. In a petition for divorce by wife, the Court found (1) that the husband and wife had no permanent residence they having lived at several places since their marriage, (2) that they last lived together at an Hotel in Bombay for a greater portion of a month, the husband being then on leave from war service in Mesopotamia and (3) that both the parties were within the jurisdiction when the petition was filed and served on the respondent: Held, that there was a sufficient reason within the meaning of the Indian Divorce Act, 1869, to give the Court jurisdiction to entertain the petition. Bright v. Bright (1909) 36 Calc. 964, followed. Flowers v. Flowers (1910) 32 All. 203 and Wadia v. Wadia (1913) 38 Bom. 125, distinguished. MURPHY v. MURPHY (1920)

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 547

——— Husband and wife —Petition by husband—Adultery—Condonation—Collusion—Conduct conducing to adultery—Desertion—Divorce Act (IV of 1869), ss. 12, 13, 14. Condonation is a conclusion of fact, not of law, and means the complete forgiveness and blotting out of a conjugal offence followed by cohabitation, the whole being done with full knowledge of all the circumstances of the particular offence forgiven. The forgiveness which is to take away the husband's right to a divorce must not fall short of reconciliation and this must be shown by a re-instatement of the wife in her former position which renders proof of conjugal cohabitation with restitution of conjugal rights necessary. Collusion is held to exist where the initiation of the proceeding for dissolution of marriage is procured and its conduct (especially if abstention from defence be a term) provided for by agreement or bargain between the spouses or their agents, although it does not appear that any specific fact has been falsely dealt with or withheld. The mere fact that the husband refused marital intercourse to the wife by itself is not such wilful neglect or misconduct as conduced to the adultery; nor can the fact that the parties went their own way, in the sense that they had their own friends and interests, be said to be conduct conducing to adultery, even when coupled with the abstinence by the husband from marital intercourse. The fact that the husband had abstained from marital intercourse without reasonable cause and that the parties went their own way in the sense that they had their own friends and interests would not justify a finding of desertion on the part of the petitioner. STE. CROIX v. STE. CROIX (1917) . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 1091

DIVORCE—contd.

——— Suit against wife—Wife found guilty of adultery—Decree nisi on husband's petition—Appeal—Wife's costs, application for—Liability of husband—Practice and procedure. Where the wife has been herself found guilty of adultery by the Court of first instance and then actively brings the matter before the Court on appeal, the husband cannot be justly called upon by her as a matter of right to provide for her costs. Robertson v. Robertson, 6 P. D. 119, Otway v. Otway, 13 P. D. 141. Holt v. Holt, 28 L. J. (P. and M.) 12, referred to. Per MOOKERJEE, J. It is plain, however, that the doctrine in question is an encroachment upon the ordinary rule that costs follow the event, and, speaking for myself, I am of opinion that every attempt to extend its operation should be cautiously scrutinised. STE. CROIX v. STE. CROIX (1916) . . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 35

——— Adultery—Condonation—Desertion—Unreasonable delay—Indian Divorce Act (IV of 1869), ss. 12, 13 and 14. Condonation of past matrimonial offences is impliedly conditioned upon the future good behaviour of the offending spouse, so that if after condonation the offences are repeated, the right to make the condoned offences a ground for divorce revives. To constitute a revival of condoned offences, the offending spouse need not be guilty of offences of the same character as those condoned. Peacock v. Peacock, 1 Sw. and Tr. 183, Keats v. Keats, 1 Sw. and Tr. 334, Ellis v. Ellis, 4 Sw. and Tr. 154, Ste. Croix v. Ste Croix, I. L. R. 44 Calc. 1091, Windham v. Windham 32 L. J. P. M. and A. 89 ; 9 Jurist N. S. 82, Thompson v. Thompson, I. L. R. 39 Calc. 395, Price v. Price, [1911] P. 201, Moss v. Moss, [1916] P. 135, Roberts v. Roberts, 117 L. T. 157, Blandford v. Blandford, 8 P. D. 19, referred to. Although poverty is almost always a sufficient excuse for delay, it is not to be supposed that there is no lapse of time where a line may be drawn. Mortimer v. Mortimer 2 Hag Con. 310, Coode v. Coode, 1 Curt. 755, Short v. Short, L. R. 3 P. and D. 193, Harrison v. Harrison, 3 Sw. and Tr. 362, Nicholson v. Nicholson, L. R. 3 P. and D. 53, Mason v. Mason, 7 P. and D. 233 ; 8 P. and D. 21, Edwards v. Edwards, 17 T. L. R. 38, Pears v. Pears, 107 L. T. 505, Hughes v. Hughes, 32 T. L. R. 62, Coppinger v. Coppinger, 34 T. L. R. 588, and Mitter v. Mitter, 12 C. W. N. 1009, referred to. MORENO v. MORENO (1920) . . . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 1068

——— Nullity of marriage—Impotency—Syphilis—Fraud—Indian Divorce Act (IV of 1869), ss. 18, 19. On a husband's petition for a declaration of nullity of marriage

[illegible]

obtained by fraud : Held, that permanent and incurable impotency, existing at such time and of such nature as to render complete and natural sexual intercourse between the parties practically impossible, was a good ground for annulment of marriage. Impotency has been taken to mean physical and incurable incapacity from entering into the marriage, that is, incapacity to consummate the marriage. Allen v. Baker, 41 Am. Rep. 444, A. B. v. C. B., 8 F. 603 , 43 Scot. L. R. 441 Ryder v. Ryder, 44 Am. St. Rep. 833, referred to. BIRENDRA KUMAR BISWAS v. HEMLATA BISWAS, (1920) . . I. L. R. 48 Calc. 283

——— Re-marriage, validity of—Indian Divorce Act (IV of 1869), ss. 7, 57—Alimony. A successful petitioner in a suit for dissolution of marriage entered into a second marriage, within six months from the decree for dissolution [illegible] Held, that the [illegible] ond. Warer v. [illegible] to. Held, also, [illegible] to any permanent alimony. TURNER v. TURNER (1921) . . . . I. L. R. 48 Calc. 636
25 C. W. N. 710

DIVORCE ACT (IV OF 1869).

See DIVORCE . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 215

——— ss. 2, 4, 7, 45—High Courts Act 24 and 25 Vict, c. 104, s. 9—Amended Letters Patent of the Bombay High Court, cl. 35—Restitution of conjugal rights—Jurisdiction of the Bombay High Court to entertain a suit for the restitution of conjugal rights as against (a) a non-Christian respondent and (b) a respondent not residing within the Presidency—Principles and Rules of English Court for Divorce and Matrimonial Causes acted on in India—Refusal of Court to grant relief by restitution of conjugal rights when the respondent is absent from the jurisdiction when the suit is instituted and remains absent —Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908, s. 20 (corresponding to Act XIV of 1882, s. 17), applicability of to matrimonial suits—Residence, what amounts to, in order to give the Bombay High Court jurisdiction to pronounce a decree for the restitution of conjugal rights—Costs of unsuccessful petition by wife, rights of the petitioner's solicitors over monies deposited in Court by the respondent as security for the petitioner's costs and over monies deposited by a respondent-appellant as security for the costs of the appeal. The respondent, in London, at Victoria Railway Station, the respondent deserted the petitioner and never [illegible] the respondent [illegible] that time that [illegible]. The respondent remained in England but the petitioner returned to Bombay with the intention of taking legal proceedings against the respondent there and did sue the respondent in the Bombay High Court claiming restitution of her conjugal rights : Held that under s. 9 of the High Court's Act and cl. 35 of the Amended Letters Patent of the Bombay High Court, the jurisdiction exercised by the High Court in matrimonial matters previous to the coming into force of the Indian Divorce

[illegible]

DIVORCE ACT (IV OF 1869)—contd.

——— ss. 2,4,7,45—contd.

Act had been confined to matters between British subjects professing the Christian religion: Held, further, that as regards the jurisdiction confirmed to the Bombay High Court by s. 4 of the Indian Divorce Act (which included jurisdiction to entertain suits for the restitution of conjugal rights) the powers of the Bombay High Court were still limited to Christian subjects within the Presidency so that the High Court had no jurisdiction to grant a decree of restitution either against a Parsi respondent or against any respondent not within the Presidency: Held, further, that following the principles on which the Courts for Divorce and Matrimonial Causes in England have acted and given relief, which principles are made applicable in India under s. 7 of the Indian Divorce Act, the Bombay High Court could not give relief by way of restitution of conjugal rights if the respondent named in the petition were absent from the jurisdiction at the time the suit was instituted and remained absent, although residence at the date of the suit of both spouses, whatever their domicile might be, would be sufficient to give jurisdiction in suits of this nature. Firebrace v. Firebrace, 4 P. D. 63, Chichester v. Chichester, 10 P. D. 186, and Armytage v. Armytage, [1898] P, 178, followed. Semble: In the case of matrimonial offences including those other than adultery, the application of the Civil Procedure Code, s. 20 (corresponding to s. 17 of Act XIV of 1882), under s. 45 of the Indian Divorce Act involves the necessity of either residence on the part of the defendant or the accrual of the cause of action within the jurisdiction in order to enable the Court to entertain the suit. Thornton v. Thornton, I. L. R. 10 Bom. 422, referred to. Semble: Also, that mere residence in India at the time of the institution of a suit is not residence within the meaning of s. 2 of the Indian Divorce Act and that the residence of the petitioner should be bonâ fide and not casual or as a traveller: Held, however, that moneys deposited by a husband respondent as security for his wife's costs of a petition constituted a fund paid in for the benefit of her attorney who was entitled to have it applied for his benefit whatever the result of the petition, provided that he had been in no way to blame and that that rule applied to moneys deposited by a respondent appealing from the decision of the lower Court as security for the costs of the appeal in accordance with the rules of the Bombay High Court. NUSSERWANJEE WADIA v. ELEONORA WADIA (1913)

I. L. R. 38 Bom. 125

——— s. 3—

See DIVORCE. I. L. R. 45 Bom. 547

——— Residence—Divorce—Jurisdiction—"Reside." Held, that a mere temporary sojourn in a place, there being no intention of remaining there, will not amount to residence in that place within the meaning of s. 3 of the Indian Divorce Act, 1869, so as to give jurisdiction under the Act to the court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction such place is situated. FLOWERS v. FLOWERS (1910) . I. L. R. 32 All. 203

——— Political Resident at Aden—District Judge—Jurisdiction to try suits under Indian Divorce Act—Aden Courts Act (II of 1864), s. 3. The Political Resident at Aden, not having been appointed "a Commissioner of a Division" is not a District Judge as defined in s. 3, sub-s. (2), of the Indian Divorce Act, 1869, and has no jurisdiction to try suits under the Act. MOUNA v. MOUNA (1912) I. L. R. 37 Bom. 57

——— ss. 3, 16, 37 and 44—Dissolution of marriage—Alimony—Jurisdiction—Nature of High Court's jurisdiction—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 24 (1) (a)—Transfer of proceedings. In a suit for dissolution of marriage under the Divorce Act (IV of 1869) a decree was passed in favour of the petitioner by the Divisional Judge, Nagpur Division. The said decree was confirmed by the High Court on the 20th November 1914. The successful petitioner, thereupon, having applied to the High Court, praying that the opponent may be ordered to pay her proper sums by way of alimony: Held, that the Court which was empowered to make the order either for alimony or for the maintenance and education of the children was the Court of the Divisional Judge and not the High Court: Held, further, that having regard to the nature of the personal jurisdiction which the High Court possessed over European British subjects under s. 3 of the Divorce Act, 1869, the Court of the Divisional Judge was not a Subordinate Court in the sense in which that expression was used in s. 24 (1) (a) of the Civil Procedure Code, so as to enable the High Court to transfer the proceedings of which notice had been served upon the respondent to the Divisional Court for disposal. WALLACE v. WALLACE (1915) . . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 109

——— s. 3, 7—Practice—Alimony—Discretion of Court. Held, that the power to make an order for alimony in favour of the wife after a decree for divorce obtained by the husband on the ground of adultery is discretionary. In a case where there was no suggestion that the husband's conduct had led to the wife's misconduct and the wife was in fact under the roof of the co-respondent, the Court refused to exercise its discretion. Kelly v. Kelly, 5 B. L. R. 71, referred to. McGOWAN v. McGOWAN (1916)

I. L. R. 38 All. 688

——— ss. 4, 6, 7, 8 and 15—

See BOMBAY CIVIL COURTS ACT (XIV OF 1869), s. 16 . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 136

——— ss. 7, 45—

See DIVORCE . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 613

——— ss. 7, 11—

See DIVORCE . I. L. R. 45 Calc. 525

——— ss. 12, 13, 14—

See DIVORCE . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 1091
I. L. R. 49 Calc. 1068

——— s. 14—Husband and Wife—Dissolution of marriage—Misconduct of husband petitioner—Grave and unexplained delay in filing petition—Discretion of the District Judge—High Court's power to interfere with the discretion. The petitioner, who was the husband, prayed for a dissolution of the marriage on the ground of his wife's adultery. The District Judge, exercising the discretion confided to him under s. 14 of the Indian Divorce Act, 1869, refused to grant a decree nisi in view of the following circumstances: (i) that there was grave and unexplained delay before any complaint was made by the husband as regards his wife's abandonment of him; (ii) that both husband and wife had combined to withhold facts from the Court; (iii) that husband had been guilty not of an isolated act, but of a persistent course of adultery: Held, that it was impossible for the High Court as a Court of Appeal to say that the District Judge's discretion was wrongly or improperly exercised adversely to the petitioner. PALMER v. PALMER (1916) . . . I. L. R. 41 Bom. 36

DIVORCE ACT (IV OF 1869)—contd.

——— s. 14—contd.

——— ss. 16, 17—Decree of dissolution of marriage—Recision of, by High Court—Withdrawal of petition on coming up for confirmation—English Procedure. A decree of dissolution of marriage passed by a District Court under s. 14 of the Indian Divorce Act may be rescinded by the High Court at the request of the decree-holder when it comes up for confirmation under s. 17. The High Court has jurisdiction to rescind the decree of the District Court and allow the petition to be withdrawn. There is nothing in the Divorce Act which requires a distinction to be drawn between ss. 16 and 17 with reference to the power of the Court to rescind a decree where the relations of husband and wife have been resumed before the decree has been confirmed. The power "to make such order as to the Court seems fit" is not limited to cases where further enquiry has been ordered. The analogy of English procedure whereby on a petitioner withdrawing his petition the Court may set aside the decree nisi may be invoked in construing the Indian Divorce Act. WILLIAM DARE v. BELLE DARE (1910) . I. L. R. 34 Mad. 339

——— ss. 17, 43, 57—

See KIDNAPPING I. L. R. 41 Calc. 714

——— ss. 18, 19, 20 and 57—

See DIVORCE . I. L. R. 48 Calc. 283

——— s. 19—Consummation of marriage when practically impossible—Syphilis in one of the parties, if it amounts to impotency—Syphilis as a ground for refusing performance of a promise to marry or a ground for nullity or divorce—Fraudulent concealment—Incurability of the disease—Physical examination—Inference when such examination is not allowed. Where syphilis was contracted prior to, but was not known to exist at, the time that the contract to marry was entered into, or where such disease was contracted subsequent to the making of the contract to marry but through no wrongful act of the Defendant, its existence furnished a good defence to an action for breach of promise. Atchison v. Baker, 2 Peake 103 (1796), Allen v. Baker, 41 Am. Rep. 444: 86 N. C. 91 (1882), Hall v. Wright. E. B. and E. 746; 113 R. R. 861 (1858), Boast v. Firth, L. R. 4 C. P. 1 (1868), and Robinson v. Davison, L. R. 6 Exch. 267 (1871), referred to. Capacity for sexual intercourse must exist at least in posse, at the time that the marriage is entered into. It is for this reason that permanent and incurable impotency existing at such time and of such nature as to render complete and natural sexual intercourse between the parties practically impossible is recognised as a ground for the annulment of the marriage. A. B. v C. B., 8 F. 603; 43 Scot. L. R. 411 (1906) and A. B. v. C .B., 12 Rettie 36; 22 Scot. L. R. 461 (1885), referred to. Impotency means physical and incurable incapacity to consummate the marriage. The capacity for sexual intercourse is not necessarily affected by the existence of syphilis, and yet such disease may render coition practically impossible. Ryder v. Ryder, 44 Am. St. Rep. 833, 66 Vermont 158 (1894), and Smith v. Smith, 171 Mass. 404; 68 m. St. Rep. 440, 41 L. R. A. 800 (1898). The existence of syphilis in one of the parties to the marriage may furnish good ground for divorce to the other on the ground of cruelty. To constitute such a ground of cruelty it is usually required that the disease should have been actually communicated to the complainant, that the complainant should have been ignorant of the existence or nature of the Defendant's disease at the time of its communication, and that the Defendant should have infected the Petitioner knowingly and wilfully. Popkin v. Popkin, 1 Hagg. Eccl. 733 (note) (1794), Collect v. Collect, 1 Curt. 678 (1837), Jones v. Jones, [1860] Searle and Smith 138 Brown v. Brown L. R. 1 P. and D. 46 (1865), Strain v. Strain, 13 Rettie 132 (136); 23 Scot L. R. 90 (1885) and R. v. Clarence, 22 Q. B. D. 23 (1888), referred to. Concealment of a loathsome and incurable form of syphilis is recognised as a fraud sufficient to warrant divorce or annulment, specially where the existence of the disease is discovered by the other party before the marriage is consummated and the parties immediately separate. Such disease must be actually and probably incurable but annulment has been granted notwithstanding a mere remote possibility of a cure. Smith v. Smith, 171 Mass. 404; 68 Am. St. Rep. 440; 41 L. R. A. 800 (1898), Vondal v Vondal, 175 Mass. 383, 78 Am. St. Rep. 502 (1900), State v. Lowell, 79 Am. St. Rep. 358 at p. 373 (1899), Lyon v. Lyon, 230 Ill, 366; 13 L. R. A. (N. S) 996; 12 Am. St. Rep. 25 (28) (1907) and Bunger v Bunger, 85 Kan. 564; 26 Am. St. Rep. 126 (134) (1911). The Courts have a wide discretion in ordering physical examination of the party suffering from the disease and always do so, subject to such conditions as will afford protection from violence to natural delicacy and sensibility. Briggs v. Morgan, 3 Phill 325; 2 Hag Con. 324 (1820) and Harrison v. Harrison, 4 Moo. P. C. 96. Where a party refuses to attend for medical inspection, the Court may probably draw an unfavourable inference, F. v. P., 75 L. T. 192 (1896), B. v. B. [1901] P. 39 and W. v. S. [1905] P. 231. BIRENDRA KUMAR BISWAS v. HEMLATA BISWAS

24 C. W. N. 914
25 C. W. N. 706

——— s. 20—

See DIVORCE. 25 C. W. N. 710

——— s. 23—Discretion of Court—Petitioner's adultery a ground for refusing a decree for judicial separation. Where the petitioner (the wife) in a suit for divorce or in the alternative for a judicial separation was found to have herself committed adultery, to which the conduct of the respondent had in no way conduced, it was held that this was a good ground for the refusal of a decree for judicial separation. Otway v. Otway, L. R. 13 P. D. 141, followed. Cons-

DIVORCE ACT (IV OF 1869)—contd.

——————— s. 23—contd.

tantinidi v. Constantinidi, [1903] P. D. 248, distinguished. RHINE v. RHINE (1911)
I. L. R. 33 All. 500

——————— s. 37—Decree for divorce—Permanent maintenance—Award of a lump sum—Payment. In a suit for divorce brought by the wife, the District Judge has, under s. 37 of the Indian Divorce Act (IV of 1869), power to make the order for payment of a lump sum for the permanent maintenance of the wife. Per HAYWARD J.:—The plain meaning of the words of s. 37 of the Indian Divorce Act (IV of 1869) is that the gross sum of the money should be paid absolutely to the wife and that the annual sum of money should be limited for the period of her life. TAYLOR (MISS) v. CHARLES BLEACH (1914).
I. L. R. 39 Bom. 182

——————— Decree absolute dissolving marriage—Petition for alimony, 15 years after decree—Power of Court to grant after such delay—Delay, whether reasonable, how determined—"On any decree absolute" in s. 37, meaning of. A wife whose marriage was dissolved by a decree absolute passed in 1905, petitioned to the Court in 1920 for grant of permanent alimony; Held, that the Court had no power to pass an order in her favour under s. 37 of the Indian Divorce Act after such unreasonable delay after the passing of the decree absolute. The words "on any decree" in s. 37 of the Act should be construed as meaning "at the same time as or after a reasonable time after the passing of the decree." "What is reasonable time" must be determined upon all the circumstances of each case. Scott. v. Scott (1921) P., 197, followed. LLOYD v. LLOYD, (1921)
I. L. R. 44 Mad. 989

——————— Held, that the power to make an order for alimony after decree obtained by husband for adultery is discretionary. W. E. MCGOWAN v. JOHN GEORGE MCGOWAN
I. L. R. 38 All. 688

——————— s. 57—Marriage—Remarriage petitioner in divorce proceedings within six months of the decree becoming absolute. Where the successful petitioner in a suit for dissolution of marriage entered into a second marriage within six months of the decree for dissolution of marriage becoming absolute, it was held that the second marriage was void. Warter v. Warter, L. R. 15 P. D. 152 ; 59 L. J. P. & M. 87, followed. JACKSON v. JACKSON (1911) . . . I. L. R. 34 All. 203

——————— Marriage solemnized before the expiry of six months as required by, validity of. S. 57 of the Divorce Act (IV of 1869) expressly prohibits remarriage within six months of the making of the decree-absolute; the Indian Law does not completely dissolve the tie of marriage until the lapse of a specified time after a decree of dissolution and the marriage is still in force within the meaning of s. 19 (4), so as to give the Court jurisdiction under s. 19 to pronounce a decree of nullity regarding such prohibited marriage. Jackson v. Jackson, I. L. R. 34 All. 203, followed. Chichester v. Mure, 32 L. J. 146, and Warter v. Warter, L. R. 15 P. D. 152, referred to. BATTIE v. BROWN (1913) . . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 452

DIVORCE COURT RULES (ENGLISH).

——————— rr, 4, 5, 6—

See DIVORCE . I. L. R. 45 Calc. 525

DOCTRINE OF PROTECTION.

See OCCUPANCY HOLDING.
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 745

DOCTRINE OF SATISFACTION.

——————— Inapplicability in India of doctrine of satisfaction—Indian Succession Act (X of 1865), s. 164—General applicability in India of the principles of the Indian Succession Act in so far as they are not overriden by some special provision of local law or usage—Khojas—Law applicable to Khoja wills—The Indian Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 92. The plaintiff claimed to be entitled to a sum of money deposited by him with one Karmali Moledina, deceased, a Khoja Mahomedan, and also to a legacy under the will of Karmali Moledina. He therefore sued the executors of the will of Karmali Moledina for a declaration to that effect and for the administration, if necessary, of the estate of Karmali Moledina. The defendants maintained, inter alia that the legacy must be taken as intended as payment of the balance due on the deposit by the plaintiff from Karmali Moledina and that the plaintiff could not claim both the legacy and the debt. Held, that, inasmuch as the principles of interpretation announced in the Indian Succession Act were intended by the Legislature to be universally applicable unless overriden by some special provision of local law or usage, the doctrine of satisfaction which is abolished by s. 164 of the Indian Succession Act, must be considered as exploded in India. Held, further, that if it be considered that the wills of Khojas are governed by Hindu Law, the will of Karmali Moledina would be governed by s. 164 of the Indian Succession Act, but if such wills are governed by Mahomedan Law, the will would have to be interpreted in accordance with the provisions of the general law of evidence, and, in particular, would be governed by the provisions of s. 92 of the Indian Evidence Act, and that in either case the defence set up under the doctrine of satisfaction would be defeated. Quære: Whether the wills of Khojas are governed by Hindu or Mahomedan Law. HASSONALLY MOLEDINA v. POPATLAL PARBHUDAS (1912) . . . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 211

DOCUMENT.

See CONSTRUCTION OF DOCUMENT.

See DISCOVERY.

See DOCUMENTS, CONSTRUCTION OF.

See EVIDENCE ACT,
s. 92 I. L. R. 35 Bom. 231
I. L. R. 42 Bom. 512

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION.
I. L. R. 39 Bom. 441

See REGISTRATION OF DOCUMENTS.
L. R. 46 I. A. 240

See SANAD, CONSTRUCTION OF.
I. L. R. 36 Bom. 639

See SEARCH BY POLICE OFFICERS.
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 261

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 54
I. L. R. 41 Bom. 550

DOCUMENT—contd.

——— admissibility of—

See Civil Procedure Code (1908), Sch. II, cl. 11 . I. L. R. 38 Bom. 60

See Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 68. I. L. R. 40 All. 256

——— attested by one witness only—

See Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 59 I. L. R. 38 All. 461

——— alteration of—

See Forgery . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 75

——— bearing forged signature—

See Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), ss. 30, 467 I. L. R. 38 All. 430.

——— construction of—

See Construction of Document.

——— execution of—

See Attestation. I. L. R. 37 Calc. 526

——— exhibiting during cross-examination—

See Right of Reply. I. L. R. 43 Calc. 426

——— granting exemption from assessment of rent—

See Transfer of Property Act, ss. 55, 123 . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 287

——— of title—

See Vendor and Sub-Vendor. I. L. R. 38 Calc. 127

——— production of in Court—

See Sanction for Prosecution. I. L. R. 44 Calc. 1002

——— proof of—

See Evidence Act (I of 1872), ss. 68, 69 . I. L. R. 39 All. 109, 112

——— secondary evidence of—

See Evidence Act (I of 1872), ss. 65, 66, 90 . I. L. R. 41 All. 592

——— Non-production of, where not called upon by opponent, if matter for comment. It is open to a litigant to refrain from producing any documents, not forming part of his case, that he considers irrelevant; if the other litigant is dissatisfied it is for him to apply for an affidavit of documents and he can obtain inspection and production of all that appears to him in such affidavit to be relevant and proper. If he fails to do so neither he nor the Court at his suggestion is entitled to draw any inference as to the contents of any such documents. Bilas Kunwar v. Desraj Ranjit Singh (1915) I. L. R. 37 All. 557 19 C. W. N. 1207

——— Release, document written but not signed by executant if operates as —Name written at the commencement of document, if sufficient. The place and manner of signature of a document is immaterial provided that the signature is inserted in such a manner as to authenticate the document, and where the instrument is in the handwriting of the party to be charged, it is sufficient if his name is inserted at the commencement. Where this was the case: Held, that the document was operative as a release though not signed by the executant. Gangaram Agarwala v. Lachiram Kishen Dyal (1914) 19 C. W. N. 611

DOCUMENT—concld.

——— Disclosure of, duty of an attorney with regard to—Discovery—Affidavit of documents—Duty of the attorney to disclose—Non-disclosure when amounts to a breach of duty—Documents subsequently discovered, when to be disclosed It is the duty of an attorney to be extremely careful in ascertaining from his client who has to make an affidavit of documents, exactly what materials and documents are in his possession. It is further his duty, the moment he finds that there are other documents which have not been disclosed, at the very earliest moment to bring those documents to the notice of his opponent and give him an opportunity of inspecting them. Held, that though in this case the attorney was wrong in not disclosing the documents subsequently when they came to his knowledge his conduct was not such as to justify any further investigation by a Special Bench. In the matter of an Attorney 25 C. W. N. 99

DOCUMENTS, CONSTRUCTION OF.

See Construction of Documents.

See Hindu Law—Adoption. I. L. R. 40 Bom. 668

——— mortgage by conditional sale—

See Sale Deed I. L. R. 44 Bom. 964

DOCUMENTS, INSPECTION OF.

——— Caste—Trustee of caste funds—Extent of right to inspect documents—Demand and refusal—Jurisdiction of Civil Courts in caste question—Application of Indian Trusts Act (II of 1882), ss. 5 and 6, to creation of trusts of caste funds—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 151. As a result of dissensions in a Hindu caste a suit was filed by the plaintiff, a trustee of certain caste funds and member of the Managing Committee, against the defendant, a co-trustee and the President of that Committee. The plaintiff prayed for a declaration that he had the right to inspect all books and documents of the Mahajan Managing Committee, Sub-Committee and Trustees, and for an injunction res- [illegible]

[illegible] correspondence-file of the Mahajan. Held, that as trustee of the Deraser and Sadharan funds, the plaintiff had no right, either in law or by virtue of any caste rules, to the roving inspection claimed. Bank of Bombay v. Suleman, I. L. R. 32 Bom. 466, 474, referred to. Held, further, that the Mahajan fund of this caste being a purely secular fund the Indian Trust Act applied, and the plaintiff could not claim to have been made a trustee of that fund merely by virtue of a caste resolution and his own letter of acceptance. Held, further, on the evidence, that there has been no express demand addressed by the plaintiff to the proper quarter, and no refusal by the defendant such as would be necessary to [illegible] suit of this character to succeed. [illegible]

DOCUMENTS, INSPECTION OF—contd.

where rights to property are not involved, all matters of internal management must be left to the decision of the caste. The question in dispute was in reality a question between the caste and a section, apparently a small section, of the caste led by the plaintiff, and as such it was outside the Court's jurisdiction in accordance with the decision in Nemchand v. Savaichand, I. L. R. 5 Bom. 84 note. Lalji Shamji v. Walji Wardhman, I. L. R. 19 Bom. 507, referred to and distinguished. Held, lastly, that when according to well established principles certain questions have been removed from the jurisdiction of the Court, they cannot be brought within the jurisdiction under s. 151 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908). JETHABHAI NARSAY, v. CHAPSEY COOVERJI (1909)

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 467

DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE.

See EVIDENCE.

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—MARRIAGE.

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 878

————————, proof of—Documents admitted in evidence without objection, if can be objected to in the appellate stage—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 100, findings of fact, when can be challenged in second appeal—Res judicata, necessity of specifically raising the plea. In a suit for Khas possession the Defendants pleaded that they held under a lease. The Court of Appeal below found that the lease required to be proved, that there was no document evidencing settlement, nor in fact any evidence of settlement at all, and that though there were two rent receipts they were not properly proved. In the Court of first instance the said rent receipts were admitted in evidence without objection by the Plaintiffs. Further, as a matter of fact there was evidence both oral and documentary about the settlement: Held, that the rent receipts having been admitted in evidence without objection in the Court of first instance, no objection could be taken in the Appellate Court that they were not properly proved. Held, further, that when there was evidence of the settlement in question, the finding of fact arrived at by the lower Appellate Court on the point could be successfully challenged in second appeal. The question of res judicata, though not specifically raised by the parties, may be gone into by the Court. RAJESWARI DASI v. PULIN BEHARI MITTER

25 C. W. N. 881

DOMICILE.

See DIVORCE . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 215

See GUARDIANS AND WARDS ACT, 1890, 8, 9 . . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 121

See MEMONS . I. L. R. 43 Bom. 647

See PRIZE COURT I. L. R. 44 Bom. 61

See SUCCESSION ACT (X OF 1865), ss. 7, 9, 10 . . I. L. R. 41 Bom. 687

DONEE.

———————— Donee, alienation by—Gift burdened with an obligation—Restrictions on alienation. When it is doubtful, whether a deed embodies a complete dedication of property to a religious trust or merely creates a gift of that property, subject to an obligation to perform certain services, the question should be decided by reference to the deed itself. In the former case the property would be inalienable and in the latter alienable, subject to the obligation, and notwithstanding restrictions as to selling or mortgaging the said property. DASSA RAMCHANDRA v. NARSINHA (1910) . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 156

DONEE—contd.

DONORS FAMILY.

———— benefit to—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WAKF.

L. R. 44 I. A. 21

DOWER.

See COURT FEES ACT (VII OF 1870) SCH. I, ART. I I. L. R. 36 All. 32

See LIMITATION ACT 1908, s. 4.

I. L. R. 44 Mad. 817

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—DOWER.

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—GIFT.

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 36

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—MARRIAGE.

I. L. R. 32 All. 477

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—PRE-EMPTION.

I. L. R. 37 All. 522

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WIDOW.

I. L. R. 32 All. 551, 563

See SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE ACT (VII OF 1889), ss. 2, 4 AND 7.

I. L. R. 32 All. 335
I. L. R. 33 All. 327

s. 4 . I. L. R. 43 All. 341, 498

———— payment of (discretion of Court)—

See MUHAMMADAN LAW.

I. L. R. 1 Lah. 597

———— possession in lieu of—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW.

I. L. R. 36 All. 558

———— relinquishment of—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW.

24 C. W. N. 335

———— Marriage of a Sunni with a pregnant woman—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW.

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 151

DOWL BANDOBUST.

See NAVIGABLE RIVER.

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 390

DOWL KABULIAT.

See KHOD KAST JOTES.

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 359

———————— The mere fact that a document is called a dowl Kabuliyat does not decide its nature. The document should be looked at as a whole and any evidence designed to shew customary incidents of tenure as attaching to the jotes must be rejected if and so far as it conflicts with what is contained in the dowls themselves. Evidence of custom of transferability is thus excluded by an express statement in the dowl, that is no

DOWL KABULIAT—contd.

right of sale, etc., without the landlord's consent. MAHOMED AYEJUDDIN MIA v. PRODOYOT KUMAR 25 C. W. N. 13

DOWRY.

See CONSTRUCTION OF DOCUMENT. I. L. R. 41 Bom. 5

DRAINS.

———— right of municipality to—

See MUNICIPAL COUNCIL. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 6

———— Calcutta Municipal Act (Bengal III of 1899), ss. 299 and 574—Place lawfully set apart for the discharge of drainage—Private common drain belonging to the landlord not subject to right of user as public drain by the Corporation—Liability of tenant. A place lawfully set apart for the discharge of drainage, by the Corporation within the meaning of s. 299 of Calcutta Municipal Act, must be a place over which the Corporation have acquired by some procedure under the Act a right to make use of private property as a public drain. A tenant of premises is not bound, under s. 299, to convey the drainage therefrom into a drain belonging to his landlord over which the Corporation have no such right. GOBIND CHANDRA ADDY v. CORPORATION OF CALCUTTA (1910) . . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 268

DRAWER.

———— right of—

See BILLS OF EXCHANGE. I. L. R. 46 Calc. 584

DRINK.

———— unwholesome, exposing for sale—

See MADRAS CITY MUNICIPAL ACT (II OF 1904), BY-LAW 169. I. L. R. 39 Mad. 362

DRUGS.

See EXCISABLE ARTICLES. I. L. R. 39 Calc. 1053

DRUNKENNESS.

See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860), s. 86 . . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 479

DUNNAGE.

See CHARTER-PARTY. I. L. R. 41 Bom. 119

DUPLICITY.

See CHARGE . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 66

DVYAMUSHYAYANA ADOPTION.

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION. I. L. R. 41 Bom. 315
I. L. R. 42 Bom. 277

DWELLING.

See JURISDICTION I. L. R. 34 Mad. 257

DWIRAGAMAN CEREMONY.

———— gift at—

See HINDU LAW—GIFT. I. L. R. 37 Calc. 1

E

EARNEST MONEY.

———— credited on recovery of damages—

See CONTRACT, BREACH OF. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 801

———— forfeiture of—

See AGREEMENT TO SELL. 24 C. W. N. 967

See CONTRACT I. L. R. 33 All. 166
I. L. R. 41 All. 324

———— receipt of—

See CONTRACT . I. L. R. 46 Calc. 771

———— A deposit unless paid on any special terms is prima facie by way of earnest money but in each case the intention of the parties must be gathered from all the terms of the contract. NAWAB KHAJA HABIBULLAH v. ASMAN DEWAN . . . 24 C. W. N. 40

EASEMENT.

See BENGAL FERRIES ACT, 1888, s. 11. 5 Pat. L. J. 500

See EASEMENTS ACT.

See INCORPORATE RIGHTS.

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), s. 20; SCH. I, ART. 144. I. L. R. 40 All. 461

See LIGHT AND AIR.

See MADRAS IRRIGATION CESS. L. R. 46 I. A. 302

See PROFIT a prendre 2 Pat. L. J. 323

See WATER FLOW. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 149

———— adverse Possession—

See BENGAL FIRMS ACT, 1885. 5 Pat. L. J. 500

———— dedication of Road—

See PUNJAB MUNICIPAL ACT, 1911. I. L. R. 1 Lah. 117

———— infringement of—

See EASEMENT. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 280

———— of necessity—

See EASEMENTS ACT (V OF 1882), s. 13 I. L. R. 33 All. 467

———— over Land forfeited to Government—

See MADRAS IRRIGATION CESS ACT, 1865. I. L. R. 43 Mad. 529

———— Suit relating to—Easement—Servient owners, if all must be parties. A decree based on an easement cannot be passed when all the servient owners are not parties. MADAN MOHAN CHATTOPADHYA v. AKSHOY KUMAR BARUR (1909) 14 C. W. N. 15 easement under s. 38 or 47 of the Act. A drain from one land to another is a continuous easement within the Easement Act. Where such a right of easement by drainage has been granted but was not possessed or enjoyed for more than twenty years from the date of but no obstruction to such use existed more than three years prior to the institution of the suit, such non-user without anything more, does not extinguish the right under s. 38 or s. 47 of the Easement Act. The non-user without anything more, is not an implied release or abandonment of the right. The period of twenty years of non-enjoyment which will extinguish the right under s. 47 begins when the enjoyment was obstructed by the servient owner or rendered impossible by the dominant owner. CHINTAKINDY PARVATAMMA v. LANKA SANYASI (1910) [I. L. R. 34 Mad. 487

EASEMENT—contd.

——— Prescription—Continuous user for irrigation purposes of water of bundh—Annual user if to be proved—Water taken from bundh at different points in different years—User, if indefinite—Permissive user. Where it was proved that the defendant had been taking water from plaintiff's bundh for irrigating his paddy lands, whenever occasion required, for more than twenty years:—Held, that the defendant had acquired the right to the easement by prescription. That it was not necessary for him to prove an annual user, the statute only requiring enjoyment without interruption for twenty years and not actual user. Hollings v. Verney, L. R. 13 Q. B. D. 304, not followed. Budhu Mandal v. Maliat Mandal, I. L. R. 30 Calc. 1077, and Krista Das Chowdhry v. Joy Narain Panja, 8 C. W. N. 158, relied on. The mode of user of the water by the defendant was not indefinite merely because openings were made by him at different points in the embankment in different years according to the height of the water in the bundh. The fact that the defendant had years ago paid Rs. 50 for repair of the bundh did not prove the user to be permissive. GHASIRAM MANDAL v. ASIRBAD MAHTO (1910) . . . . 15 C. W. N. 259

——— Natural channel—Flow of water—Duty of owner of land through which a natural channel runs. The owner of land through which a river or other natural channel flows is bound within certain limits, as between himself and other riparian owners, not to do anything which shall obstruct the flow of the water or materially interfere with their rights. But such owner is not bound to keep the channel clear so that the amount of water that can pass down it may not be diminished. BALDEO SINGH v. JUGAL KISHORE (1911) . . . I. L. R. 33 All. 619 ——— Flow of water—Over servient tenement in a definite channel, if necessary for acquiring right of easement. The fact that water flows over the surface of the servient tenement without a definite channel for its carriage, cannot prevent the acquisition of an easement. Bidhu Bhusan Palit v. Beny Madhab Mazumdar, 8 C. W. N. 244, overruled. MUNSHI MISSER v. BHIMRAJ RAM (1913) . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 458

——— Overhanging eaves—for discharge of water—Easement and not tresspass. The possession of a panch or eaves for discharge of water overhanging the defendant's land is an easement and not an occupation of defendant's property. CHOTALAL HIRACHAND v. MANILAL GAGALBHAI (1913) . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 491 ——— Discharge of water—Stopped by owner of dominant tenement—Servient owner if may complain—Defined channel on dominant tenement, effect of. An easement exists for the benefit of the dominant tenement alone, and the servient owner acquires no right to insist on its continuance or to ask for damages on its abandonment. The principle does not cease to be applicable where water has flowed in a defined channel on the dominant tenement before it reaches the servient tenement. AFTAB CHOWDHURY v. ASOKHADEM (1913) . . . 17 C. W. N. 1066 ——— Ancient Lights—Actionable Interference—Principle to be applied —Nuisance. The owner or occupier of a tenement in respect of which an easement of light has been acquired by prescription, is entitled to a quantity of light the measure of which is what is required for the ordinary purposes of inhabitancy or business of the tenement, according to the ordinary notions of mankind. The actual user will neither increase nor diminish the right. The question, in an action for obstruction, is whether the obstruction amounts to a nuisance. The effect of Jolly v. Kine, [1907] A. C. 1, is to establish that the law laid down in Colls v. Home and Colonial Stores, [1904] A. C. 179, is as formulated by Lord Davey in that case at p. 204, and as above stated. PAUL v. ROBSON (1914) . . . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 46

L. R. 41 I. A. 180

——— Light and Air—Damages for infringement. A mandatory injunction will be granted to remove an obstruction of an easement of light and air where the consequence is to darken the Plaintiff's house so as to make it uncomfortable and partly useless. In such a case damages are not an adequate remedy. MUTHU KRISHNA AYYAR v. SOMALINGA MUNINAGANDREIN
I. L. R. 36 Mad. 11

——— Water rights—Distinction between surface water, and water flowing in a definite channel. No claim can be made either as a natural right or as an easement by prescription, to water which does not flow in a definite course, but which should be regarded as surface water or surface drainage, The right to the water of a stream does not cease, when it ceases to flow in a confined water-course unless it exhausts itself as a stream, and merely soaks into the ground. The chief characteristic of surface water is its inability to maintain its identity and existence as a water body. When the flow of water on one person's land can be identified with that on another, a right to such flow can arise, although the water may flow along an intervening piece of land. Water flowing into a field from a known channel and passing along the field onwards into another field though not over a confined track in the former field, but along its whole area, is not surface water. Well-defined existence arising from an ascertained course is the real test in coming to a conclusion against any body of water being regarded as surface water. The question whether or not particular water is surface water is one of fact to be determined by the circumstances attending its origin and continued existence. The right to the water of a stream is sustainable notwithstanding the fact that the water in the stream is not always sufficient for the purpose for which the right is claimed, or that it reaches the plaintiff's land not directly but indirectly by flowing into another channel. A river channel supplied the means of irrigation for the lands of the parties to the suit, and the other ryots of the village. A branch leading from the main channel passed through the lands of defendants Nos. 1, 2 and 3 in a definite water-course, up to the fourth defendant's lands when it entered the fourth defendant's field, and after irrigating it, flowed, over its bunds, and joined another channel which irrigated the plaintiff's lands. Defendants Nos. 1, 2 and 3 blocked up the channel at a point higher than the fourth defendant's lands. In a suit by plaintiff for declaration of his right to the customary supply of water through the channel, and for an injunction restraining the defendants from obstructing the water-course: Held, that the water of the channel when it entered the fourth defendant's field could not be regarded *as surface water, but continued in a definite water-*course, and plaintiff was entitled to the usual supply of water unobstructed. ADINARAYANA v. RAMUDU (1914) . I. L. R. 37 Mad. 304 ———— Right of support—Disturbance—Actual damage when necessary, to support action—Temporary structure, whether an easement of support acquirable in respect of. No actual damage is necessary to support an action for the disturbance of an easement of support for a building. Contra where the disturbance is of a natural right. Backhouse v. Bonomi, 9 H. L. C. 503, referred to. The rule requiring actual damage is applicable only to an action for damages, but actual damage is not necessary to entitle a person having a right of support, to relief by way of injunction: Corporation of Birmingham v. Allen, 6 Ch. D., 284, followed. The question whether a right of support can be claimed for a temporary structure, which has been in existence for the statutory period, was not decided. Maberley v. Dowson, 5. L. J. K. B. 261, referred to. RAMAKRISHNA v. SEETHARAMA (1914) . I. L. R. 37 Mad. 527

EASEMENT—contd.

———— Right to discharge surplus water across a public way.—If may be acquired by prescription—Right acquired before dedication of way to

tion acqui surplus wa

through a

between the two tenements. To establish such a right he must prove that the public way was formerly private property, and the easement claimed had been acquired while it was still private property. KAILASH CHANDRA NANDY v. SURENDRA NATH SAMANTA (1913) . 18 C. W. N. 378

———— Light and Air—An action for the infringement of the easement of light and air is founded not on trespass but on nuisance. To amount to an actionable nuisance the interference in the case of a house suitable for residence and business purposes been

f light of the ee less ion for enjoyment of the dominant tenement must be taken into consideration but it does not furnish the decisive measure of the "unlawful hurt or annoyance" To determine whether a nuisance has right has not been acquired by grant or prescription ought not to be taken into account. PAUL v. ROBSON I. L. R. 39 Calc. 59

EASEMENT—contd.

———— Prescriptive right to take water—By means of definite mode of access—Whether owner of servient tenement may substitute some other means of access. When the owner of a dominant tenement has acquired a prescriptive right to take water from a tank on the servient tenement, and has for this purpose used a particular means of access for the statutory period, he has acquired a right to reach the water by means of such definite mode of access: the servient owner, at his own discretion, may not substitute for his use some other means of access. JIBANANDA CHAKRABARTY v. KALIDAS MALIK (1914) I. L. R. 42 Calc. 164

———— User of easement—For less than the prescriptive period—No right to sue for infringement. Incorporeal rights such as easements are not capable in an exact sense of being possessed; and unless an easement had ripened into a prescriptive one, mere enjoyment of the easement for any length of time short of the full period of prescription maintain an such a user.

possession of

to ma, 5 Mad.

L. v. Devara-

kon Mad. 173,

dis reviewed.

NA 913)

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 280

———— Right to discharge water—Not claimed as easement but as ancillary to ownership of land. The plaintiffs were the owners of dants who built a bund on their land so as to obstruct the water accumulated on the plaintiff's land from flowing towards the north through the defendants' land. The plaintiffs alleged that they were entitled to have the water on their land discharged through the defendants' land; but they did not claim it as an easement but as a right ancillary to their property which they had not parted with: Held, that there was such a right as that claimed by the plaintiffs, although the plaintiffs did not claim the right to discharge their water and did not in fact discharge their water on to the defendants' land by any definite channel. That the duty of the defendants was to allow the water from the plaintiffs' land to pass on through their land. It was then opened to them to dispose of it in the way they thought best. RAMADHIN SINGH v. JADUNANDAN SINGH (1914) . . . . 19 C. W. N. 54

———— Right of way—Permanent tenures held under same landlord—One, if may acquire right by prescription against the other—Prescription by tenant in possession inuring to owner's in cases of ment, rig n of tenement—Grant inferred from long user alone—Easement of necessity—Grant if may be presumed upon severance—Suit for declaration of right of easement—All servient owners, if necessary parties—Cause of action. A dominant owner has no cause of action against servient owners who have *neither caused obstruction nor raised any objec*tion to the exercise of his right of easement. In a suit for a declaration of his sight of way he is not bound to make parties any servient owners other than those who have so obstructed or challenged his right. Madan Mohan Chattopadhya v. Akshoy Kumar Baruri, 14 C. W. N. 15, explained. The enjoyment by the tenant in possession of the dominant tenement under a claim of right in respect of the dominant heritage may give the owner a prescriptive right. Quære : Whether the holder of a permanent tenure can acquire by prescription in respect of his tenure a right of easement against another permanent tenure held by another tenant under the same landlord. Held, however, upon the facts proved in the case which showed that the two tenements had at one time belonged to the same person, that the Court was justified in presuming an implied grant, and this notwithstanding that the right claimed was a right of way along a path which was a formed road though neither paved nor metalled, but which otherwise appear to have been intended to be permanently attached to and for the use of the dominant tenement. That assuming that the path came into existence after the severance, the fact that for about sixty years since, the tenant in possession of the dominant tenement had been using the path was sufficient to justify the Court in inferring that the user had its origin in a grant, not as a matter of legal presumption, but as an inference of fact. On a severance of property a grant by the owner of one of the severed portions to the owner of the other can be presumed, and where the easement appears to be one of absolute necessity, such a presumption legitimately arises in the case. MADAN MOHAN CHAKRAVARTY v. SASHI BHUSAN MUKERJI (1915)

EASEMENT—contd.

19 C. W. N. 1211

———— Unknown to law—Right to use another's land as latrine, if may be acquired by prescription. Where plaintiff alleged that he along with the defendants erected latrines on land which did not belong to them and used them for a long series of years and thus acquired a right of easement : Held, that an easement of this description was unknown to law and the Court will not create a new species of easement. HIRALAL RAY CHAUDHURI v. LOKENATH SAHA (1915)

19 C. W. N. 864

———— creation of—If must be in writing registered—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882)—Preamble, ss. 3, 6 (c), 54, 123—Easement, if immoveable property—General Clauses Act (X of 1897), s. 3, cl. (25)—Registration Act (XVI of 1908), s. 2 (6). The provisions of the Transfer of Property Act have no application to the creation of easements. No writing was necessary for the imposition of an easement before the Transfer of Property Act was passed; and ss. 54 and 123 of that Act were not intended to change and did not change the pre-existing law regarding easements so as to require a writing for their creation or imposition where no writing was previously necessary. Where a right of way is created in writing, s. 2 (6) of the Registration Act may require registration but not if the value of the right is less than one hundred rupees : Held, therefore, that the Courts below were right in decreeing the plaintiff's claim of a right of way by grant upon parol evidence only. Bhagawan v. Narsingh, I. L. R. 31 All. 612, referred to. Though a right of way over other lands of the landlord cannot be acquired by prescription under s. 26, Limitation Act, it can be created by grant. Madan Mohan v. Sashi Bhusan, 19 C. W. N. 1211, 1214, followed. It is extremely doubtful whether a tenant who uses a pathway by the mere leave and license of the landlord is invested with anything in the nature of a right enforcible by suit. SITAL CHANDRA CHOWDHURY v. A. J. DELANNEY (1916) . . 20 C. W. N. 1158

———— Right of privacy—Customary right of privacy in Gujarat—Invasion of privacy an actionable wrong—Injunction. The plaintiff, a resident of Ahmedabad, sued for an injunction to restrain the defendant from invading the privacy of his bed room by opening a window in the additional storeys erected by him. The District Judge found that the plaintiff had a right of privacy to the particular room and granted the injunction prayed for. On appeal to the High Court. Held, that in the province of Gujarat the customary right of privacy must be taken to have been proved and the invasion of the right was an actionable wrong. Manishankar Hargovan v. Trikam Narsi (1867), 5 Bom. H. C. (A. C. J.) 42, relied on. MANEKLAL MOTILAL v. MOHANLAL NAROTUMDAS (1919) . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 496

———— Tree growing on the boundary—Between two fields—Right of one proprietor to cut off projecting branches and roots—Injunction. Where a tree belonging to the defendant has been growing partly on his land and partly on plaintiff's land for a number of years past, it is not permissible to the plaintiff to cut off the overhanging branches or the penetrating roots of the tree. Vishnu Jagannath v. Vasudeo Raghunath (1918), 43 Bom. 164 and Hari Krishna Joshi v. Shankar Vithal (1894), 19 Bom. 420, distinguished. SOMESHWAR JETHALAL v. CHUNILAL NAGESHWAR (1919) . . . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 605

———— Water flowing and carrying fish—From higher to lower paddy-land—Owner of lower land, if after 20 years' user, can prevent owner of higher land from intercepting fish when on his own land. By catching fish in paddy-land belonging to himself peaceably and uninterruptedly for over 20 years, a plaintiff does not acquire a right of easement which entitles him to restrain the defendant, the owner of paddy-land on a higher level, from catching on his land fish which by reason of the water on plaintiff's land being fed by water flowing down from defendant's land would have come with the water into plaintiff's land. KALANDAR MANDAL v. AJIMODDI MANDAL (1917)

21 C. W. N. 599

———— Right of way—Presumption of right from user—Indian Limitation Act, IX of 1908, s. 26—error in law in not making the presumption—Second Appeal. The plaintiff and defendants are co-sharers in a well. In order to gain access to this well from the road it is necessary for the plaintiffs to go across certain fields belonging to some of the defendants. It was found that plaintiff had used this road without let or hindrance for a period of 20 years and that this road was the only road they could use to gain access to the well. The lower Appellate Court however held that the plaintiffs had not proved user "as of right." Held, that having regard to the habits of the people of this country the enjoyment of the road "as of right" within the meaning of s. 26 of the Limitation Act should have been presumed. Rana Ganpat Singh v. Kangra Valley State Company (62 P. R. 1898), Kyinan v. Set Lan (8 Indian Cases 1196) and Sahib Ditta v. Daya Singh (3 Indian Cases 271), referred to, also Galé on Easement. Baroda Kant Karmakar v. Sreenath (18 Indian Cases 211), Shaikh Khuda Bakhsh v. Shaikh Taj-ud-din (8 Cal. W. N. 359), Meser Mullick v. Hafizuddi Mullick (13 Cal. L. J. 316) and Muhammad Ali v. Jogal Ram (14 W. R. 124), distinguished. Held also, that in not making the presumption the lower Appellate Court had committed an error in law and a second appeal was competent. DIWAN v. JAGTA

EASEMENT—contd.

I. L. R. 1 Lah. 206

———— Prescription—Right of way—Easement not admissible if its use as claimed prescribed and definite route, but generally and [illegible] ds. Held, [illegible] inasmuch [illegible] e of all the ordinary uses of the servient property. Joy Doorga Dossia v. Juggernath Roy, 15 W. R., C. R., 295, followed. LAL BAHADUR v. RAMESHWAR DAYAL I. L. R. 43 All. 345

[illegible]

———— Increased burden—Right of—Dominant owner whether can increase the burden upon servient owner by altering his dominant tenement. It is well-settled that no man can impose a new or increased restriction or burden on his neighbour by his own act and for this reason an owner of an easement cannot, by altering his dominant tenement, increase his right. Harvey v. Walters, L. R. 8 C. P. 162 (1873) and Thomas v. Thomas, 2 C. M. & R. 34, followed. The Defendant had a hut on the disputed land which had been replaced by a two-storied building. The Defendant made the cornice and the string course at two places, one at a distance of 12 feet and the other of 22 feet from the ground while the eaves of the tiled hut stood at a distance of only 8 feet from the ground and hung over the Plaintiff's land along one line. The accumulated water therefore trickled down from the cornice with greater force than the water which formerly came down: Held, that the cornice had created additional burden on the Plaintiff's land. SURESH CHANDRA BISWA v. JOGENDRA NATH SEN 24 C. W. N. 896

[illegible]

dant's field. The defendant prevented the plaintiff in June 1 [illegible] shorter way; 1912 to restra[illegible] obstructing him in his user. Held, that the [illegible] by immemorial [illegible] did not rest on [illegible] Indian Easements Act, 1882, it was unaffected by the defendant's obstruction in 1909. RAMBHAI DAPHAI v. VALLABHBHAI JHAVERBHAI I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1027

EASEMENT—concld.

———— Right of Way—Prescription. The plaintiffs claimed a right of way by prescription to drive their cattle through the waste lands of an adjoining village not by any prescribed or definite route but generally and promiscuously all over the waste lands: Held, that such a right could not be admitted as its recognition would be destructive of all ordinary uses of the servient property. LAL BAHADUR v. RAMESHWAR DAYAL

I. L. R. 33 All. 347

EASEMENTS ACT (V OF 1882).

———— scope of—

See EASEMENTS. 20 C. W. N. 1158

———— ss. 2 (c), 17 (c)—Non-riparian owner—Right to the flow of river water over another's lands—Ancient and uninterrupted user—Presumption of a lost grant—Prescription. The plaintiff sued for a declaration that he had a right to take the water of a river for cultivating his lands by making it flow over the paddy lands of the defendants. The facts proved showed that from time immemorial the plaintiff and his ancestors as owners of certain non-riparian lands had been taking water from the river at or about a certain spot on the river banks, and thence over the lands of the defendants successively till the plaintiff's lands were reached. The defendants' objection was that the right claimed was really one "to surface water not flowing in a stream" and hence could not be acquired as an easement under s. 17 (c) of the Indian Easements Act, 1882, nor be the subject of a presumed lost grant. Held (per BEAMAN, J.), that the plaintiff having acquired the right claimed by him before the Indian Easements Act came into force, and having enjoyed such right from time immemorial, the case was saved by s. 2, cl. (c) of the Act. Held (per MARTIN, J.), (i) that s. 17 (c) of the Act did not apply as the plaintiff's claim was to river water and not to mere surface water on the defendant's lands; (ii) alternatively, that the plaintiff was protected by s. 2 (c) if he could show that he had acquired any legal right before the Act came into force; (iii) that the right he claimed could have been the subject of a grant and had a lawful origin, notwithstanding that such grant involved the passage of river water over the defendants' lands in no definite channel and that the plaintiff was a non-riparian owner; (iv) that consequently a lost grant could be presumed, and that having regard to the immemorial user it ought to be presumed, and therefore the plaintiff was legally entitled to the right he claimed. Per MARTIN, J. "The presumption of a lost grant is one which may be made in India as well as in England. The presumption arises out of the strong desire of the Courts to find a legal origin for an ancient and uninterrupted user. The presumption may be rebutted like other presumptions. It also requires certain conditions and one is that the right could have been the subject of a grant." JANARDAN GANESH v. RAVJI BHIKAJI (1917)

I. L. R. 42 Bom. 288

———— s. 4—

———— Eaves overhanging—The possession of a pankh or eaves overhanging another's land is an easement and not an occupation of his property. CHOTALAL HIRACHAND v. MANILAL JAGALBHAI

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 491

EASEMENT—contd.

—— s. 7—

See WATERFLOW I. L. R. 33 Mad. 149

—— The owner of land through which a natural channel flows is bound within certain limits and as between himself and other riparian owners not to do anything to obstruct the flow of water or which would materially affect their rights. BALDEO SINGH AND OTHERS v. JUGAL KISHORE DASS

I. L. R. 33 All. 619

—— The fact that water discharged from a dominant tenement flows over the servient tenement in a definite channel cannot prevent the acquisition of an easement. MUNSHI MISSER v. BHIMRAJMAN I. L. R. 40 Calc. 458

—— s. 8—

See MADRAS IRRIGATION CESS ACT, 1865, SS. 1 AND 4. L. R. 46 I. A. 302

—— s. 12—

—— Tenant's enjoyment as of right enures for the benefit of the Landlord. MAHAN MOHUN v. SASHI BHUSAN

19 C. W. N. 1211

—— s. 13—Channel—Right to channel cut subsequent to severance of tenements. Land belonging to Government was granted to A, who dug and used a channel across other Government land. The lands across which the channel was dug was subsequently granted to B. B thereupon filled up the channel, which had been in existence for 16 years. In a suit by A to establish his right to such channel: Held, that A had no claim to an apparent and continuous easement under s. 13 of the Easements Act, and had not acquired a prescriptive right by user of the channel. KUTTATH KRISHNAN v. CHATHU MENON (1909)

I. L. R. 33 Mad. 207

—— Easement of necessity—Definition. An easement of necessity is an easement without which a property cannot be used at all, and not one merely necessary to the reasonable enjoyment of the property. Wheeldon v. Burrows, L. R. 12 Ch. D. 31, followed. Union Lighterage Company v. London Graving Dock Company, (1902) 2 Ch. D. 557, and Ray v. Hazeldine (1904), 2 Ch. D. 17, referred to. SUKHDEI v. KEDAR NATH (1911)

I. L. R. 33 All. 467

—— Easement of taking water from a well—Easement of necessity—Discontinuance of easement —Extinguishment of easement —Right to take the water is not an interest in immoveable property within the meaning of Article 144 of the Indian Limitation Act (IX of 1908)—Rebuilding the well with permission of the owner—Fresh grant of easement—Estoppel against the owner from denying the right to take the water—Indian Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 115. On the plaintiff's land was a well from which the defendants had a right to take half of the water for irrigating their land; but by non-user for a period of more than twenty years the easement had been extinguished. Subsequently, the defendants rebuilt the well at their own expense, with the permission of the plaintiff, with a view to the irrigation of their land and proceeded to use the water for the purpose. The plaintiff having sued to restrain the defendants from so using the water, the lower Court held that the easement being one of necessity was not extinguished by non-user, and that the defendants' right was an interest in immoveable property which would only be lost by adverse possession of more than twelve years under Article 144 of the Indian Limitation Act. On appeal. Held, that the easement in question was not an easement of necessity but was an ordinary easement liable to be extinguished by non-user for more than twenty years under s. 47 of the Indian Easements Act. Held, also, that the right in question was not an interest in immoveable property which would only be liable to be lost by proof of twelve years' adverse possession against the defendants, under Article 144 of the Indian Limitation Act. Held, however, that the plaintiff had by his conduct permitted the defendants to believe that they would have the right of easement upon the repair of the well and that the plaintiff was accordingly estopped from denying the said right of the defendants by the provisions of s. 115 of the Indian Evidence Act. ANANTA v. GANU (1920)

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 80

—— ss. 13, 28, 33—Light and Air—Right of way not apparent and continuous easement —Air and light, extent of prescriptive ight acquired in—When action for compensation for obstruction will lie—What relief appropriate to be granted. A right of way is not an apparent and continuous easement within the meaning of s. 13 of the Indian Easements Act. The extent of prescriptive right to the passage of light or air to a certain window is the quantity of light or air which has been accustomed to enter that opening during the prescriptive period under s. 28 of the Easements Act; no invasion of such right will give a right to compensation unless substantial damage is caused within the meaning of s. 33 of the Act. Where the injury caused by the invasion of the right is not small and a mandatory injunction will not cause serious loss or damage to the defendant, an injunction and not merely compensation will be the appropriate relief to be granted. The fact that the owner of the dominant tenement has acquired light from other sources will not justify an interference with the prescriptive right acquired by him. Dyers Company v. King, L. R. 9 Eq. 438, 442, referred to. ESA ABBAS SAIT v. JACOB HAROON SAIT (1909)

I. L. R. 33 Mad. 327

—— s. 15—

See EASEMENT I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1027

See NUISANCE . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 401

—— Essentials for the acquisition of an easement—Adverse enjoyment in assertion of ownership can create a right of easement. If a person walks along the land of another for the beneficial enjoyment of other land, and if the enjoyment of the other's land does not amount to exclusive possession, there is no reason why his walking along the land without the permission of the true owner and in the assertion of a right to walk should not create in favour of the enjoyer a prescriptive right of easement, simply because he mistakenly supposes that he is the owner of the land or asserts that his act of enjoyment is sufficient to give him the ownership by prescription. The mere claim of the higher right of ownership would not prevent a person from acquiring the lesser right of easement provided he could show that he asserted certain rights of enjoyment over the land in question for the benefit of another land belonging to him. S. 15 of the Easements Act does not require that the title should be claimed as an easement, but only requires that the enjoyment should possess two properties, viz., (i) that it must be as of right without interruption and (ii) that it must be as an easement. The first quality is intended to show that enjoyment by license or under a contract which would not amount to a grant of an easement, would be ineffectual to create a right by prescription. The other quality is that the enjoyment should be as an easement, and not that it should be in the assertion of a claim of an easement. Narendra Nath Barari v. Abhoy Charan Chattopadhya, I. L. R. 34 Calc. 51, referred to. Chunilal Fulchand v. Mangaldas Goverdhandas, I. L. R. 16 Bom. 592, commented on. KONDA v. RAMASAMI (1912)

EASEMENT—contd.

———— s. 15—contd.

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1

———— Prescriptive user, period necessary for—Indian Evidence Act (I of 1872), ss. 123, 124 and 163—Confidential communications, test of. In a suit to establish right of user by prescription against Government, the plaintiff is bound to prove under the last clause of s. 15 of the Indian Easements Act, sixty years' user. The Secretary of State for India v. Kota Bapanamma Garu, I. L. R. 19 Mad. 165, distinguished. The object of s. 124 of the Evidence Act is to prevent disclosures to the detriment of public interests and the decision as to such detriment rests with the officer to whom the communication is made and does not depend on the special use of the word "confidential." Venkatachella Chettiar v. Sampathu Chettiar, I. L. R. 32 Mad. 62, followed. NAGARAJA PILLAI v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE (1914) . . . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 304

———— Easements—Prescription against Government—Right of way, and to surface water over land belonging to Government—Enjoyment for thirty or forty years against Government—Assignment, by Government to private person—Suit against latter within two years of assignment—Right of easement against assignee, whether acquired by prescription—"Belongs to Government" in s. 15 of the Easements Act, meaning of. Where an easement had been exercised by the plaintiff over land belonging to Government for thirty or forty years before the land was assigned by the Government to the defendant, and the plaintiff sued within two years of the assignment to enforce the right of easement against the defendant. Held, that the plaintiff had not acquired a right to the easement by prescription against the defendant. The words "belongs to Government" in the last paragraph of s. 15 of the Indian Easements Act (V of 1882), must refer not to the time of suit but to the time during which the easement is enjoyed. SRINIVASA UPADYA v. RANGANNA BHATTA (1917) I. L. R. 41 Mad. 622

———— ss. 15, 16, 19—Easement of lights and air—Acquisition by prescription—Easement for a limited period, whether can be acquired by prescription under the Act—English Common Law and English Prescription Act (2 & 3, Will. 4, c. 71)—Grant of land for maintenance to a tavazhi, whether an interest for life—Demise on kanom—No resistance to easement within three years after expiry of kanom, effect of—Acquisition by prescrip- tion of absolute right against owner—Prescription for an easement for a limited period against a tenant, whether possible in law. Where a tarwad, which was the absolute owner of the suit land, granted it for maintenance to a tavazhi in 1877, and the latter demised it on kanom in 1887 to the defendants who held over possession after its expiry in 1899 and subsequently obtained from the tavazhi a fresh lease for twelve years commencing from 1905, and where the plaintiffs, the owners and occupiers of adjacent lands claimed to have acquired a right of easement of light and air over the suit land by prescriptive enjoyment since 1877 till a few months before they instituted the present suit in 1913 for an injunction restraining the defendants from interfering with their right of easement. Held, that the plaintiffs had acquired in law an absolute right of easement of light and air by prescription for over the statutory period, as under s. 16 of the Indian Easements Act, the plaintiffs' enjoyment of the easement from 1877 was not resisted by the tarward or the tavazhi within three years after the expiry of the kanom in 1899, and the grant for maintenance to a tavazhi was not in law a grant of an interest for life; and that consequently the plaintiffs were entitled to an injunction against the defendants. Per ABDUR RAHIM, J.—There

EASEMENT—contd.

———— ss. 15, 16, 19—contd.

Law and the English Prescription Act (2 & 3 Will. IV, cap. 71), in this respect. Wheaton v. Maples & Co. (1893), 3 Ch. 48, referred to. Per PHILLIPS, J., contra. There can be an acquisition by prescription of an easement for a limited period under the Indian Easements Act, and that consequently the plaintiffs in this case were in any event entitled to a right of easement as against the defendants during the period of the latter's interest in the property. KOYYAMMU v. KUTSTIAMMOO (1919) . I. L. R. 42 Mad. 567

——

eave

the [illegible] easement—Privacy—Invasion The term "easement" as defined in the Easement Act (V of 1882) applied just as much to a projection of eaves in a dry country where there is no discharge of water as in a country where there is abundant rainfall and there is discharge of water. If a man has acquired an easement from a projection of his eaves to a fixed extent over his neighbour's land, he can raise the height of those eaves so long as he does not throw an increased burden on the servient tenement. The defendant constructed a window and apertures (jalis) in the back wall of his house and they commanded the plaintiff's khadki or courtyard which could be used for females to bathe and similar purposes of privacy. From the defendant's window the people sleeping in the plaintiff's house could be seen and from the apertures, though above a man's height, a person, if he was so inclined, could ing the defendant from making any openings in his wall: Held, that though it was doubtful whether the plaintiff was entitled to relief on the ground of the invasion of his privacy, still as there was a written agreement between the parties in the year 1870 whereby the defendant's father agreed that he would not make any opening in his back wall, the plaintiff had the right to require the defendant to close the said apertures and window. MULIA BHANA v. SUNDAR DANA (1913) . . . I. L. R. 38 Bom. 1

EASEMENT—contd.

——— ss. 18, 23—contd.

See also EASEMENT . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 496

——— s. 24—Accessory easement—Extension of the doctrine of accessory easement. The plaintiff and the defendant owned neighbouring houses. The wall of the plaintiff's house abutted on the defendant's land. The plaintiff had acquired an easement of discharging rain water from eaves of his roof on to the defendant's land. On the strength of the easement the plaintiff sued for an injunction to restrain the defendant from making any use of his land which would prevent the plaintiff from going upon it for the purpose of repairing the wall of his house. The trial Court refused to grant the injunction. The lower appellate Court found that the case fell under s. 24 of the Easements Act, 1882, and that the repair of the wall was an accessory easement to the admitted easement of discharging the water through the eaves. On appeal to the High Court. Held, that the right to enter upon the defendant's land to repair the wall which would preclude the defendant from making any use of his land, was not such an easement as the plaintiff was entitled to or was contemplated by s. 24 of the Easements Act, 1882. HIMATLAL MAGANLAL v. BHIKABHAI AMRITLAL (1918) . . . I. L. R. 42 Bom. 529

——— s. 28—

See EASEMENT. I. L. R. 42 Calc. 46

——— s. 33—

See DAMAGES IN ACTIONS ON TORT. I. L. R. 36 Mad. 580

——— s. 47—

See s. 13 . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 80

———ss. 59, 60—License—Revocation—Rights of transferee of property in respect of which a license has been given. Held, that the rule laid down by s. 59 of the Indian Easements Act, 1882, is not independent of that laid down by s. 60, and does not confer upon the transferee any higher rights than those possessed by the transferror. RAS BEHARI LAL v. AKHAI KUNWAR (1914)

I. L. R. 37 All. 91

——— s. 60—License—Denial by licensee of licensor's title. Held, that a licensee in possession does not, like a tenant, by denying the title of the grantor of the licence, forfeit the license and become liable to immediate ejectment. Dharam Kunwar v. Fakira, All. Weekly Notes, 1901, p. 157, followed. MALIK AKBAR ALI KHAN v. SHAH MUHAMMAD (1917) I. L. R. 39 All. 621

EASTERN BENGAL AND ASSAM DISORDERLY HOUSES ACT (II OF 1907).

——— ss. 2, 3—

See BROTHEL . I. L. R. 45 Calc. 301

EASTERN BENGAL AND ASSAM DISORDERLY HOUSES ACT (II OF 1907)—contd.

——— ss. 2 to 6—

See HIGH COURT, JURISDICTION OF. I. L. R. 37 Calc. 287

——— ss. 2 and 7—

See DISORDERLY HOUSES ACT. 16 C. W. N. 1049

——— ss. 3 and 5 (e)—The District Magistrate, power of, to interfere with order by a Criminal Court under s. 3 of the Act. The District Magistrate has no power either under the E. B. and Assam Disorderly Houses Act or any other law to interfere with an order passed by a Criminal Court in the exercise of its jurisdiction under s. 3 of the Act. LOLIT MOHUN CHAKRAVARTY v. HARENDRO KUMAR DEY (1917)

21 C. W. N. 1135

——— ss. 6 and 7— Inquiry—Authority if can be delegated. S. 7 does not authorise any one to enter the house, if Magistrate can be satisfied in other ways that the nuisance still exists. FEROJA PESHKAR v. KING-EMPEROR

16 C. W. N. 1049

EASTERN BENGAL AND ASSAM TENANCY ACT (I OF 1908).

———In a suit for rent a decree was made on compromise and the tenant took some extra land, a new rent being fixed when an execution was sought and objection was taken that s. 147 had not been complied with. Held, that objections raised to the validity of the decree could not be raised in execution proceedings. HEM CH. CHOUDHUY v. CHANDRA MOHAN NAMODAS

24 C. W. N. 1070

EAST INDIA COMPANY.

See SECRETARY OF STATE.

——— non-liability of—

See TORT . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 351

——— rights of—

See HABEAS CORPUS. I. L. R. 44 Calc. 459

EAVES.

See EASEMENT I. L. R. 37 Bom. 491

See EASEMENTS ACT (V OF 1882), ss. 18, 23 . . I. L. R. 38 Bom. 1

EDITOR, PRINTER AND PUBLISHER.

See CONTEMPT . 15 C. W. N. 771

——— duties of Editor—

See COMPANY. . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 991

——— registration and liabilities of—

See CONTEMPT OF COURT. I. L. R. 45 Calc. 169

EJECTMENT.

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901),
ss. 19 AND 58 . I. L. R. 42 All. 36
ss. 58, 167 . I. L. R. 41 All. 28
s. 194 . I. L. R. 36 All. 441

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT, s. 106. 15 C. W. N. 974

See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE, 1879, s. 83 . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 303, 350

See CANTONMENT PROPERTY. I. L. R. 36 Bom. 1

EJECTMENT—contd.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1882, s. 539.
I. L. R. 35 Bom. 470
I. L. R. 36 Bom. 29

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, s. 11, EXPL. IV . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 507

O. XXXIII, R. 1.
I. L. R. 42 Bom. 155

See FAZENDARI TENURE.
I. L. R. 39 Bom. 316

See LAMBARDER.
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 694

See JURISDICTION.
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 915
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 795

See LANDLORD AND TENANT.
14 C. W. N. 339
I. L. R. 34 Mad. 161
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 903
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 164
I. L. R. 41 All. 654
I. L. R. 43 Bom. 795
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 403
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 950

See LIMITATION. I. L. R. 48 Calc. 65

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908.
ART. 44 . . I. L. R. 41 Mad. 102
ART. 142 . . 5 Pat. L. J. 724

See MADRAS ESTATE LAND ACT (I OF 1908) I. L. R. 38 Mad. 163, 608, 843

See OCCUPANCY HOLDING.
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 272

See OCCUPANCY RIGHT.
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 43

See SUB-LEASE I. L. R. 48 Calc. 783

See TENANTS IN COMMON.
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 1049

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 111 I. L. R. 35 All. 145

See UNDER-RAIYAT.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 278

See WAIVER . . 2 Pat. L. J 595

———— conversion of suit for, into one for partition—

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 529

———— from "old waste" grounds—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 111, CL. (g).
I. L. R. 35 All. 145
I. L. R. 42 Bom. 195

See UNDER RAIYAT. 23 C. W. N. 437

———— property acquired by wife trading with husband—

See HINDU LAW.
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1036

———— suit for, subsequent to alienation—

See MADRAS PROPRIETARY ESTATES VILLAGE SERVICE ACT (II OF 1894), ss. 5 AND 10, CL. (12).
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 930

EJECTMENT—contd.

———— suit in, against trespasser—

See RIGHT OF SUIT.
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 501

———— tenant on sufference—

See LAND ACQUISITION.
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 725

———— By Inamdar—Right of, to eject tenants —Presumption of such right. There is no presumption that an inamdar has a right to eject persons in possession of inam lands. He must prove such a right. MADDU YERRAYYA v. YADULLA KANGALI NAIDU (1910)
I. L. R. 34 Mad. 246

———— Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act—(Beng. VI of 1908,) ss. 4 (3), 41—Non-occupancy raiyats —Under-raiyats, ejectment of—Transfer of property Act (IV of 1882), s. 106—Incidents of tendency created by contract or custom—Verbal notice, sufficiency of. Where a raiyat sued an under-raiyat in ejectment and got a decree but, on appeal, the Judicial Commissioner of Chota Nagpur dismissed rights of a non-occupancy raiyat: Held, that the view taken by the Judicial Commissioner was erroneous. An under-raiyat must, for the purposes of that Act, be treated as belonging to a class of tenants quite distinct from the class of non-occupancy raiyats. Those portions of that Act which dealt with tenants generally could be applied to under-raiyats. In a suit for ejectment of an under-raiyat, by a raiyat the Court can have regard only to the relations established between the parties either by contract or custom. Where there is no evidence of a lease, the tenancy would no doubt be ordinarily held to be a tenancy from year to year. There is no statutory provision that the tenancy of an under-raiyat in Chota Nagpur can be terminated only by a notice in writing. GURU CHARAN HAJAM v. SUKLAL HAJAM (1913)
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 858

———— Previous suit for compensation —For use and occupation without prayer for ejectment, effect of—Acquiescence—Limitation. That the effect of the plaintiff's predecessor bringing a suit for compensation for use and occupation without a prayer for ejectment was not a waiver of the right to eject and a recognition of the defendants as tenants. It is open to an owner of land first to sue a trespasser for compensation and then to bring a suit for ejectment to assert his right to the land. RAJ KRISHNA RUDRA v. PHAKIR DOME (1913) . . . 19 C. W. N. 478

———— Plaintiff to prove title—In order to succeed in an action of ejectment the plaintiff must strictly prove his title. RAMCHANDRA MARTAND WALKER v. VINAYAK VENKATESH KOTHEKAR (1914) I. L. R. 42 Calc. 384
18 C. W. N. 1154

———— Landlord and Tenant—Right of lessee after expiry of lease, to eject a trespasser. Where a lessee whose lease had expired prior to suit, sued for possession of the land leased to him from a trespasser: Held, that the expiration of the lease did not necessarily imply the expiration of the lessee's right of possession, and the lessee was entitled to a decree for possession as against trespassers a fortiori where the landlord

EJECTMENT—contd.

acquiesced in plaintiff getting a decree. Gibbins v. Buckland, L. J. 32 Exch. 156 and Knight v. Clarke, 15 Q. B. D. 294, referred to. VENKAYYA v. SATTEYYA (1914) . . I. L. R. 37 Mad. 281

—————— Non-transferable holding—Transfer—Ejectment by landlord—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), s. 18. A landlord suing in ejectment a purchaser of a non-transferable holding cannot succeed unless he makes out a case under s. 18 of the Indian Limitation Act, where the purchase took place more than 12 years before the suit. Probhabati Dassi v. Tiabatunnessa, 17 C. W. N. 1088, followed. PANCHKARI CHATTERJI v. MAHARAJ BAHADUR SING (1914)

19 C. W. N. 136

—————— By landlord—Notice to quit, sufficiency of—Inaccurate statement in notice—Service on one member of a joint family, if service on all—Service by registered post—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 106. The plaintiffs, landlords, sued for ejectment on the ground that the tenancy had been determined by an effective notice to quit duly served. The notice correctly mentioned the amount of rent of the land in question as also the name of the tenant recorded in the landlord's books and stated that the entire holding was to be vacated but wrongly gave the quantity of land to be much less than what it actually was : Held, that notices to quit though not strictly accurate or consistent in the statements embodied in them may still be good and effective in law. The test of their sufficiency is not what they would mean to a stranger ignorant of all the facts and circumstances touching the holding to which they purport to refer but what they would mean to tenants presumably conversant with all those facts and circumstances. They are to be construed not with a desire to find faults in them which would render them defective but to be construed ut res magis valeat quam pereat. S. 106 of the Transfer of Property Act only requires that a notice to quit should be tendered or delivered to the party intended to be bound by it either personally or to one of his family or servants at his residence or if such a tender or delivery be not practicable affixed to a conspicuous part of the property. The personal tender or delivery may take place anywhere : the vicarious tender or delivery must take place at the residence of the person intended to be bound by the notice. In the case of joint tenants each is intended to be bound and service of a notice to quit upon one joint tenant is primâ facie evidence that it has reached the other joint tenants. If a letter properly directed containing a notice to quit is proved to have been put into the Post Office, it is presumed that the letter reached its destination at the proper time, according to the regular course of business of the Post Office and was received by the person to whom it was addressed. That presumption would apply with greater force to registered letters. Service of a notice upon or delivery to an agent would be good service or delivery to the principal though in fact the notice was destroyed by the agent and never was seen or heard of by the principal. It is an entire mistake to suppose that the addressee must sign the receipt for a registered letter himself or that he cannot do so by the hand of another person or that if another does sign it on the addressee's behalf, the presumption is that it never was delivered to the addressee himself mediately or immediately. HARIHAR BANNERJI v. RAMSOSHI ROY (1918) . 23 C. W. N. 77

—————— Suit for ejectment by tenant, effect of landlord's support of trespasser. Plaintiff sued for a declaration of title to possession as against the defendant of a tank of which a third party was the admitted landlord. He based his claim on 12 years' possession and that his predecessors had excavated the tank and held same rent free and the fact that defendants were trespassers. Defendants pleaded that he was in possession of the tank with the permission of the landlord. It was found as a fact that the landlord had made no settlement with defendants but that he was supporting the latter in resisting the plaintiff's claim. Held, that the fact that the landlord was assisting the defendants in their defence did not give the latter a right to retain the tank as against the plaintiff. KARTIC REWANI v. THE CENTRAL KARKEND COAL COMPANY, LTD.

1. Pat. L. J. 430

—————— Onus—Plaintiff's title proved—Held, by a Full Bench (JWALA PRASAD, J. dissentient) that in a suit for ejectment the plaintiff must not only prove his title but also that he has been in possession within 12 years, form the date of the institution of the suit. If it is found that the evidence produced both by plaintiff and defendant as to possession is unworthy of credit the plaintiff's suit must fail inasmuch as the presumption which arises upon proof of title cannot be called in aid to give weight to evidence unworthy of credit any more than if no evidence at all had been given. Authorities reviewed. Bhikhad Bhunjan Narain Tewari v. Upendra Nath Roy, 4 Pat. L. J. 463, overruled. RAJA SHIVA PRASAD SINGH v. HIRA SINGH. . . . . 6 Pat. L. J. 479 —————— Homestead within Municipal limits forming part of non-transferable occupancy holding sold to a pleader for residential and professional purposes—Recognition by landlord on receipt of salami, rent previously paid being quadrupled—Settlement whether fresh or in continuation of the old tenancy—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) or Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), which applicable. Where a raiyat occupying his homestead within the residential suburb of the Narayingunj Municipality as part of his non-transferable occupancy holding first sold the rest of the holding to a certain person, and next sold his homestead to the defendant a pleader who purchased it for the purpose of residence and for carrying on his profession as a pleader in the local Civil Courts, was recognized by the plaintiffs, landlords, on payment of salami and was granted rent receipts in the forms prescribed in the Bengal Tenancy Act as for a karsha holding, while the rent previously paid was now quadrupled. Held, in a suit brought by the plaintiffs for ejectment of the defendant after service of six months' notice to quit terminating with the end of a year of the tenancy—That the defendant's contention that his tenancy was in continuation of the old tenancy of the outgoing raiyat was not maintainable, that the tenancy originated in a fresh settlement with the plaintiffs and that in view of the purpose for which the new tenancy was created it was governed by the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act. HARENDRA KUMAR ROY CHOWDHURY v. HARA KISHORE PAL

26 C. W. N. 389

EJECTMENT—contd.

f—Transfer of cl. (g)—Breach , overt act necessary for—Waiver. Where the rights and obligations of the parties are regulated by s. 111, cl. (g), of the Transfer of Property Act, there is no determination of a lease by forfeiture immediately on breach of covenant, but such breach must be followed by an overt act on the part of the lessor before the tenancy can be deemed to have determined in the eye of the law. Anandamoyee v. Lakhi Chandra Mitra, I. L. R. 33 Calc. 339; 3 C. L. J. 274, Kadir Bakhsh v. Prag Narain, 9 All. L. J. 794, followed. Held, further, that the institution of a suit for ejectment cannot be rightly regarded as the requisite act to show the intention of the landlord to determine the lease within the meaning of s. 111, cl. (g). The forfeiture must be completed and the lease determined before the commencement of the action for ejectment. Deo Nandan Pershad v. Meghu Mahton, I. L. R. 34 Calc. 57, referred to. NOWRANG SINGH v. JANARDAN KISHORE LAL SINGH 1917) . . . I. L. R. 45 Calc. 469

———— Decree directing payment of compensation—Decree allowed to be barred by limitation—Subsequent suit on title to recover the property, maintainability of. The plaintiff's father sued the defendant on a lease deed and obtained a decree in ejectment directing payment of compensation under the Malabar Compensation for Tenants' Improvements Act. He allowed the decree to become barred. Plaintiff then sued on his jenm title. Held, that the plaintiff was not entitled to maintain another suit to recover the property. Kutti Ali v. Chindan, I. L. R. 23 Mad. 629, dissented from and Vedapuratti v. Vallabha Vallia Raja, I. L. R. 25 Mad. 300, approved. MAYAN KUTTI v. KUNHAMMAD (1917) I. L. R. 41 Mad. 641

———— Suit for— Onus of proof—Proof of title. Where in a suit in ejectment, the plaintiff fails to prove title, but succeeds in proving that he was in possession of the lands in dispute for a brief period within twelve years of suit, the onus of proving title is not thereby shifted to the defendant. BAPUJI NARAYAN v. BHAGWANT BALWANT (1918) . . I. L. R. 42 Bom. 357

———— Suit based on title to recover possession—Presumption of right arising from possession applies as much to defendant as tiff and the fact of possession within twelve years of suit will not avail the plaintiff unless it is shown to be such a possession as gives a better title to the land than the defendant can show. To succeed in ejectment it is only necessary for the plaintiff to establish such title as carries a present right to possession. Ordinarily, unless there is an express agreement for the expiry of a tenancy on right as yearly tenant for eight years, he must be taken to have abandoned the tenancy or to have

EJECTMENT—contd.

relinquisl might ha present maintain ejectmen[illegible] defendant is entitled to rely on the jus tertii appearing from the facts adduced by the plaintiff to defeat his claim. SITARAM BHIMAJI v. SADHU (1913) . . . I. L. R. 38 Bom. 240

———— Family Settlement—Parties. Although the plaintiff in a suit for ejectment must prove his title he is not bound to do so in the presence of the person interested in denying his title so can sue the person in possession without impleading the person from whom the latter claims. When a dispute with regard to the rights of members of a family has been settled by fair compromise it will be upheld although perhaps resting on grounds, which would not have been considered satisfactory if the transaction had been between strangers but it must be proved that the right compromised could have formed the subject matter of a claim even though a doubtful one. So a reversionary heir cannot compromise as regards a mere spes successionis. MUSSAMMAT BHAGWATI KUER v. JAGDAM SAHAY 6 Pat. L. J. 604

EKRARNAMA.

———— Construction—Stipulation to pay a pension to manager on retirement from service—Clause in ekrarnama that the principal's heirs should continue pension after principal's death whether a recommendation or a binding promise. B, after appointing S as manager of her estate, by ekrarnama stipulated to provide B with a certain pensionary allowance in the event to the two parties respectively named to pay the pension and not a binding promise that they should pay it after her death. The successful appellant was deprived of the cost of printing in the paper-book documents which were irrelevant for the disposal of the appeal. MAHARAJA KESHO PRASAD SINGH v. SIV SARAN LAL (P. C.). 26 C. W. N. 690

ELDEST SON.

See BURMESE LAW—INHERITANCE. I. L. R. 44 Calc. 379

ELECTION.

See MUNICIPAL COUNCILLORS. I. L. R. 34 Bom. 659

See MUNICIPALITY. I. L. R. 34 All. 649

See NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES AND OUDH MUNICIPALITIES ACT (XV OF 1883), s. 10. . I. L. R. 35 All. 308

See SALE OF GOODS. I. L. R. 40 Calc. 523

———— irregularity in recording notes—

See BENGAL MUNICIPAL ACT, 1884, ss. 15, 69 AND R. 17 . 24 C. W. N. 189

ELECTION—contd.

—— of mahant of temple—

See HINDU LAW—ENDOWMENT.

I. L. R. 37 All. 298

—— petition—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), s. 195.

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 365

See UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES ACT (II OF 1916), ss. 19 TO 26.

I. L. R. 41 All. 646

—— right of—

See BURMESE LAW.

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 379

—— roll—

See MUNICIPAL ELECTION.

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 950
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 132

—— Calcutta Municipal Act—Beng. III of 1899, s. 56—Corrupt Practices—Impersonation—Coercion—Intimidation—Free election—Interference by the candidate or his agent. The election of a candidate as a Municipal Commissioner was challenged under s. 56 of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, on the following grounds, viz. :—(i) That five persons were impersonated, four of them being dead and one absent from Calcutta. (ii) That a voter was coerced to vote for the elected candidate. (iii) That certain grogshop owners had been dissuaded by Hem Chandra Lahiry, Inspector of Police, and did not vote through fear. (iv) That the said Inspector of Police interfered with the election, intimidated voters and freely canvassed for the elected candidate. Held, that the election must stand inasmuch as the charges were not substantiated. The Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, contains no provision regarding corrupt practices in elections. Mens rea is an essential ingredient to constitute impersonation. In this case there was nothing to show that the elected candidate or his agent fraudulently and wrongfully caused improper personification and so the charge of impersonation could not stand. In order to avoid an election on the ground of intimidation and undue influence it must be shown either that (i) the rioting or violence was instigated by the candidate or his agents, for whom he is responsible. or that (ii) it prevailed to such an extent as to prevent the election from being an entirely free election. MONORANJAN MUKHERJI v. BROJO GOPAL GOSWAMI (1918) . . 22 C. W. N. 678

—— Public body—Vacancy—Election to fill up vacancy by less than a majority of voters, validity of—Appointment of a minor as Muthawalli of a mosque, validity of. According to a scheme framed by the High Court, a mosque in Madras was governed by a managing committee of five members, including the President, and three Muthawallis working under them, and vacancies in the committee were to be filled by election by an electoral body consisting of the remaining committee members and the three Muthawallis and the committee was to appoint "competent men" as Muthawallis for the mosque. In 1906, one M.M. who was then eleven years of age was appointed by the committee as one of the Muthawallis. In 1914 the electoral body consisted of the president, three other members of the committee and two Muthawallis excluding M.M. Notice of a meeting to fill up a vacancy in the committee in 1914 was served on all the members of the electoral body except M.M. Three members of the electoral body attended the meeting at which the plaintiff was elected. There was no rule or practice fixing the quorum for meetings of the electoral body : Held, (i) that plaintiff having been elected at a meeting attended by less than a majority of those entitled to vote, his election was invalid, (ii) that the election of M.M. as Muthawalli while he was a minor was invalid ab initio, and (iii) that M.M. even though a major at the time of plaintiff's election, was not entitled to vote, and want, of notice to him of the meeting was immaterial. RAZA v. ALI (1916) . . . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 941 —— Specific Relief Act—I of 1877, s. 42—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 9—Discretionary Relief, principles on which granted—Delay—Indian Councils Act, 1909 (9 Edw. VII, c. 4), s. 6—Power of Governor-General in Council to make Regulations—Civil Court, jurisdiction of. When a plaintiff seeking to impugn the validity of an election held on February 14, 1913, first made an application to the Governor-General in Council in accordance with Regulations framed under s. 6 of the Indian Councils Act, 1909, which Regulations provided that the decision of the Governor-General in Council on the intention, construction or application of the Regulations should be final ; and afterwards, when the election of the defendants had been declared to be valid by the Governor-General in Council, filed a suit on June 19, 1913, praying for a declaration that the election was invalid, and for an injunction restraining the defendants from exercising the function of the office to which they had been elected, Held, without deciding the question as to the jurisdiction of the Court and the power of the Governor-General in Council to make Regulations excluding that jurisdiction, that in the circumstances the Court should not exercise its discretionary jurisdiction under s. 42 of the Specific Relief Act in favour of the plaintiff. The Court in interfering in cases of disputed elections, should apply the principles followed by the Courts of Common Law in granting or refusing prerogative writs. BHUPENDRA NATH BASU v. RANJIT SINGH, (1913) . . . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 384

ELECTRICITY ACT (IX OF 1910).

—— ss. 14, 19—Responsibility of licensee to make full compensation for any damage, detriment or inconvenience caused by him or by any one employed by him—Damage, whether caused in the exercise of the powers granted to the licensee. A gas company laid a 3-inch main in a street in Bombay. Subsequently an electric supply company caused cables contained in troughing to be laid over this main in such a manner that the main for the distance of some 36 feet was rendered inaccessible for the purpose of removing the same except by slinging the electric company's cables, by reason of the position of the cables. It was found that the work of laying the cables had not been executed, nor must it be deemed to have been executed, to the reasonable satisfaction of the gas company. Subsequently the gas company desired to replace their 3-inch main with a 4-inch main and for this purpose opened up the street in question, when they discovered the position of the cables. On account of the position of these cables the gas company were compelled to make a diversion in the route taken by their 4-inch main and claimed that the electric supply company should pay the cost thereof; the latter company refused to do so. Held, that the damages, if any, suffered by the gas company were damages recoverable under s. 19 of the Indian Electricity Act of 1910 as the damage alleged lay in the gas company being deprived of access to its own property (the main) which was inflicted once and for all when the electric supply company laid their cables over the main, and that it was a question of fact whether such damage had been committed. Held, further, that the gas company were not compelled to proceed under s. 14 of the Act and did not lose their remedies against the electric supply company by ... emselves of ... : whether ..., detriment and inconvenience as may be is liable for damages under s. 19 of the Indian Electricity Act (IX of 1910). In re BOMBAY GAS COMPANY, LTD. AND BOMBAY ELECTRIC SUPPLY AND TRAMWAYS COMPANY, LTD. (1914) . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 124

ELECTRICITY ACT (IX OF 1910)—contd.

———— ss. 14, 19—contd.

———— s. 33—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE.
s. 432 . . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 686

ELEPHANT.

———— Nature and extent of liability for damage done by elephant—An elephant belongs to a dangerous class of animals. Liability of owner and person in possession. It may be laid down as a rule of law that in India the elephant belongs to a dangerous class of animals A person who keeps an animal belonging to a class that is dangerous takes the risk of any damage it may do. The absolute liability of a person for any harm done by his animal independently of any intent or negligence on his part does not depend on the manner or extent to which such animals are employed, but upon the nature of the class to which such animal belongs or the particular kind of mischief committed. Liability for damage done by an elephant attaches to the owner of the elephant as well as to a person in whose possession the elephant happens to be when it commits such damage. VEDAPURATTI v. KAPPAN NAIR (1912)
I. L. R. 35 Mad. 708

EMBANKMENT.

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE.
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 765

———— Bengal Embankment Act (II of 1882), s. 76, cls. (a), (b)—" Addition to existing embankment," meaning of—Increasing height of embankment—Essentials of offence under s. 76 (b). The words "existing embankment" in s. 76 (b) of Beng. Act II of 1882 mean an embankment existing at the time the addition is made. Ajodhya Nath Koila v. Raj Krishto Bhar, I. L. R. 30 Calc. 481, followed. Goverdhan Sinha v. Queen-Empress, I. L. R. 11 Calc. 570, explained as overruled. The only offence constituted by cl. (b), as distinguished from cl. (a) of s. 76, is the omission to obtain the sanction of the Collector to the addition to an existing embankment within a prohibited area irrespective of the question whether such act is likely to interfere with, counteract, or impede any public embankment and public watercourse. RAMNATH PANDIT v. EMPEROR (1911) . . . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 413 ———— Poolbundi charges— ...

... of 1855 and Beng. Act, VII of 1866) were in force, that the putnidar was to be exempt from all charges to which the term poolbundi could be reasonably applied, is operative even after those Acts were superseded by the Bengal Embankment Act of 1882. There is nothing in the Act of 1882 to render such an agreement contrary to the policy of the law or void for any other reason. The putnidar is entitled to come to Court for the ... rights vindi- ... apprehend the ... relies. SHIBA PROSAD SAMANTA v. RAKHALMANI DASEE (1913)
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 130

———— Addition to embankment—Proof of notification and due publication thereof—Failure to comply with the prescribed mode of publication—Effect of failure—" Existing embank- ...

... one existing when the addition is made Ramnath, Pandit v. Emperor, I L. R. 38 Calc. 413, followed. The provisions of s. 76 (b) apply to, and supersede, the terms of a lease granted by the Collector, before the passing of the Act, giving the lessee the power to erect and repair embankments. LAKSHMI KANTA HAZRA v. EMPEROR (1919).
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 825

EMBARRASSMENT.

———— of debtor—

See INTEREST I. L. R. 42 Calc. 652

EMBEZZLEMENT.

See PENAL CODE ACT (XLV OF 1860),
s. 408 . I. L. R. 40 All. 565

EMERGENCY LEGISLATION.

See COMMERCIAL INTERCOURSE WITH ENEMY.

See HABEAS CORPUS.
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 459

EMERGENCY LEGISLATION CONTINUANCE ACT (I OF 1915).

See HABEAS CORPUS.
I. L. R. 44 Ca[illegible]

EMERGENCY LEGISLATION CONTINUANCE ACT (I OF 1915)—contd.

————————, if ultra vires Ordinances III and V of 1914—Power of Governor-General in Council to pass Act embodying provisions of ordinances—Ordinance III of 1914, s. 11, effect of—Jurisdiction of Courts to question orders of internment passed under Emergency Legislation Continuance Act—Indian Councils Act, 1861 (24, 25 Vict. c. 67), ss. 22, 23. Under s. 23 of the Indian Councils Act, 1861 (24, 25 Vict., c. 67), no ordinance can have any force of law for more than six months from its promulgation but the power of the Governor-General in Council to pass an Act embodying the provisions of an ordinance is in no matter controlled or taken away by that section. It is clear that the Governor-General in Council has power to pass an Act like the Emergency Legislation Continuance Act (I of 1915) which embodies the provisions of Ordinances III and V of 1914: 1914 which is embodied in the Emergency as s. 11 of the Ordinance No. III of 1914 which is embodied in the Emergency Legislation Continuance Act of 1915 seeks to oust the jurisdiction of the Courts it offends against s. 22 of the Indian Councils Act, 1861, that the Emergency Legislation Continuance Act of 1915 is not ultra vires of the Governor-General in Council and the High Court has not power to call in question orders passed thereunder. It is for the Governor-General in Council to be satisfied on the materials before them and the Court cannot call for the materials or examine them. In England the common law rule that when an Act is repealed and the repealing Act is repealed by another which manifests no intention that the first shall continue repealed the repeal of the second Act revives the first does not apply to repealing Acts passed since 1850 and the last repeal does not now revive the Act or provisions before repealed unless words be added reviving them. The same principle, or rule of law applies to this country. S. 3 of the General Clauses Act (I of 1868) expressly provided that for the purpose of reviving either wholly or partially a Statute, Act or Regulation repealed, it shall be necessary expressly to state such purpose, and the same is the effect of ss. 6 and 7 of the General Clauses Act (X of 1897). In the matter of JEWA NATHOO (1916)
20 C. W. N. 1327

EMIGRATION.

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE.
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 30

———— inducing—

See ASSAM LABOUR AND EMIGRATION ACT, 1901. ss. 20, 164 1 Pat. L. J. 388

———— Unlawful recruitment—Assam Labour and Emigration Act (VI of 1901), s. 164—"Emigrate," meaning of—Inducement to go from a place in British India to Fiji—Subsequent inducement at another place to proceed to Sylhet—Locus delicti—Jurisdiction of Criminal Court—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 177. A recruiter, who induces a person at Cawnpore to go to Fiji, but on the way takes him to a cooly depôt at Arrah and induces him to proceed to Sylhet, in contravention of the Assam Labour and Emigration Act, commits no offence under s. 164 of Act VI of 1901 at Cawnpore, but only at Arrah, and a Magistrate of the latter place has jurisdiction to try such offence. FAIZ ALI v. EMPEROR (1909) . . . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 27

EMOLUMENTS.

———— partition of—

See MADRAS PROPRIETARY ESTATES VILLAGE SERVICE ACT (II OF 1894), SS. 5 AND 10, CL. (2).
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 930

ENCROACHMENT.

See BOMBAY DISTRICT MUNICIPAL ACT (III OF 1901), SS. 113, 122.
I. L. R. 38 Bom. 152

See BUILDING . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 84

See MADRAS DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES ACT (IV OF 1884), S. 168.
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 456

See MUNICIPAL COUNCIL.
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 6

See PUBLIC NUISANCE.
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 702

———— on public street.

See PROSECUTION.
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 545

———— Bengal Local Self-government Act (Beng. Act III of 1885), s. 140—Infringement of bye-law—Erection of fence on the slope and edge of a road without impeding the passage along it—Continuing Offence—Daily Fine. Where a bye-law passed by the District Board prohibited encroachment on any part of a road maintained by it, or its slopes or side-ditches, by the placing of fences thereon: Held, that the erection of a fence along the slope and the edge of such road, without impeding the passage over it, is an infringement of the bye-law; though the Board has no proprietary right in the road, or in the land on which its slopes or side-ditches stand. A sentence of a daily fine in anticipation, in the case of a continuing offence which may be committed after the date of the proceeding in which it was passed, is illegal. NILMANI GHATAK v. EMPEROR (1910) . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 671

———— Municipal Act, (Bengal III of 1884), s. 217—Encroaching on a public road—Materials sufficient to determine road to be public. Where the petitioner was convicted under s. 217, Bengal Municipal Act, of encroaching on a public road, upon a finding that the road in question, which was given a name by the Municipality, was made over the petitioner's land to a trenching ground and so used for some time and was subsequently given up with the closing of the trenching ground. Held, that this alone was not sufficient for the conclusion that the road was a public one. NANDO LAL NEOGY v. GORALIA MUNICIPALITY (1910) . . 22 C. W. N. 599

ENCUMBRANCE.

See EXECUTION OF DECREE.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 623

See GUARDIANS AND WARDS ACT (VIII OF 1890), SS. 7 (2), 29, 30.
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 38

See SALE . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 263

———— by co-sharer—

See JOINT ESTATE.
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 103

ENCUMBRANCE—contd.

——— discharge of—

See MADRAS REVENUE RECOVERY ACT (II OF 1864), ss. 1, 42.
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 49

——— Transfer of portion of non-transferable occupancy holding if encumbrance—Exchange, if for all purposes a sale—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), s. 161. The transfer of a portion of a non-transferable occupancy holding is not an encumbrance within the meaning of s. 161 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. Abdul Rahaman Chowdhuri v. Ahmadar Rahman, I. L. R. 43 Calc. 558, followed. Rameshwar Singh v. Raghunandan Khabas, 1 Pat. L. J. 403, and Tamizuddin Khan v. Khoda Nawaz Khan, 14 C. W. N. 229, referred to Chundra Sakai v. Kalli Prasanna Chuckerbutty, I. L. R 23 Calc. 251, distinguished. An exchange is not for all purposes a sale. BIJOY KRISHNA MUKHERJI v SURENDRA NATH BANERJI (1919) I. L. R. 46 Calc. 891

ENDORSEMENT.

See RAILWAY RECEIPT
I. L. R. 38 Bom. 659

See VAKALATNAMA.
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 884

——— fraudulently obtained, suit on—

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877), ss. 39, 40, 45 .
I. L. R. 39 All. 103

——— of document (admitted as evidence)—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—GIFT.
I. L. R. 38 All. 627

——— of payments by mortgagor—

See MORTGAGE. I. L. R. 37 Calc. 589

See MORTGAGE BY MINOR.
I. L. R 38 Mad. 1071

ENDOWMENT.

See CONSTRUCTION OF DOCUMENT.
I. L. R. 39 All. 311

See COURT-FEE . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 245

See HINDU LAW—ENDOWMENT.

See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION.
I. L. R. 32 All. 461

See LIMITATION I. L. R. 37 Bom. 231

See MAHOMEDAN LAW.
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 263

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—ENDOWMENT.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 297

See RELIGIOUS TRUST.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 251

——— Conditions of valid endowment—Hindu Law—woman's estate—dedication to idol, whether valid—Occupancy right, acquisition of by firm. Where it is sought to establish that certain lands are the subject of a valid endowment, it must be shewn (i) that an absolute grant of the lands was made with the intention that t [illegible] poses [illegible] have [illegible] the m[illegible] treated the property as one the profits of which were mainly intended to be applied for their own

ENDOWMENT—contd.

benefit. The dedication must be held to be nominal when there is no proof of the application of the income of the property for the purposes of the endowment and when the whole conduct of the parties is inconsistent with the hypothesis of a valid trust. A woman having the estate of a Hindu mother cannot create a valid title in favour of an idol. The members of a firm are capable of acquiring rights of occupancy in land. SIRI THAKUR PARMOD BANABIHARI v. C G. ATKINS . . . 4 Pat. L. J. 533

——— property—Alienation by trustee (Acharjya), to wife—Property claimed to be acquisition of Acharjya out of perquisites, claim not proved The head of an endowment having conveyed some properties to his wife his successor brought this suit for recovery on the allegation that the property was part of the endowed property. The donee failed to prove that the property was acquired by the Acharjya with funds which belonged exclusively to him or which might be regarded as his official perquisites and the other evidence pointed to the property being part of the endowed property · Held, that the suit was rightly decreed. MUSAMMAT KAMLA LACHMI v. MAHANT BASDEO PRASAD (P. C.)
25 C. W. N. 217

See COMMERCIAL INTERCOURSE WITH THE ENEMY

ENEMY.

See SALE OF GOODS.
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 28

——— attempting to trade with—

See TRADING WITH THE ENEMY.
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 34

——— ship—

See CARGO . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 334

ENEMY TRADING ACT (X OF 1916).

See CONTRACT WITH ENEMY.
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 631

See ENEMY . .

See WAR LEGISLATION.

ENFORCEMENT OF RIGHT.

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—PRE-EMPTION.
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 47

ENFRANCHISEMENT.

——— and resumption—distinction between—

See CHARITABLE INAMS.
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 939

——— of Shrotriyam villages, effect of—

See INAM . . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 268

ENGAGEMENTS.

——— construction of—

See MADRAS IRRIGATION CESS ACT (VII OF 1868), s. 1.
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 997

ENGLISH LAW.

——— applicability of—

See DEFAMATION.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 433

ENGLISH LAW—contd.

——— applicability of—contd.

See FISHERY. I. L. R. 42 Calc. 489

See LIBEL . . 15 C. W. N. 995

See PUBLIC NUISANCE.
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 515

See STANDARD OF PROOF.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 898

——— Decisions under—How far applicable in India. Courts in this country are not bound by isolated dicta in English cases not directly in point. Their applicability will depend upon their being consistent with principles of justice, equity and good conscience. MANJHOORI BIBI v. AKEL MAHUMED (1913) . . . 17 C. W. N. 889

ENHANCEMENT OF PUNISHMENT.

——— Power of High Court—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, 1898, s. 439 . I. L. R. 1 Lah. 453

ENHANCEMENT OF RENT.

See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE 1879, s. 216.
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 994

See CHOTA NAGPUR TENANCY ACT, 1908 s. 27 . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 518

See LANDLORD AND TENANT.
I. L. R. 47 Calc. 280

See LAND TENURE IN BENGAL.
L. R. 46 I. A. 279

See LESSOR AND LESSEE.
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 86

See MADRAS RENT RECOVERY ACT, 1865, s. 11 . . L. R. 45 I. A. 195

See OCCUPANCY RAIYAT.
5 Pat. L. J. 406

See SUIT . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 428

——— ground for—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT.
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 930

——— suit for—

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT, s. 188.
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 270

See LANDLORD AND TENANT.
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 449, 610, 742

——— Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), s. 30—Landlord of a holding, meaning of—Res judicata—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882) s. 13—Matter directly and substantially in issue what constitutes. The plaintiff and the defendants were howladers of a property. The defendants took a raiyat, lease from the plaintiff of his undivided share of the howla. Upon a suit brought by the plaintiff under s. 30 of the Bengal Tenancy Act for enhancement of rent against the defendant: Held, that the plaintiff was not the landlord of a "holding" within the meaning of s. 30 of the Act, and as such the suit was liable to be dismissed. Haribole Brohmo v. Tasimuddin Mondal, 2 C. W. N. 680, followed. In a previous suit between the parties for enhancement of rent, it was decided that the plaintiff had the right to enhance the rent of the defendants; but the suit was dismissed on the ground that the rent paid by the defendants, was not lower than the rate at which rent was paid by tenants of adjoining lands. In a subsequent suit between the same parties, the question was raised by the plaintiff that his right to enhance the rent of the defendants was res judicata: Held, that inasmuch as the decision upon the question of the right of the plaintiff to enhance the rent was not the basis of the decree ultimately made in the previous suit, it was not res judicata between the parties. PARBATI DEBI v. MATHURA NATH BANERJEE (1912) . . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 29

——— Bengal Tenancy Act s. 52—Admeasurement—Onus of proof. In a proceeding for enhancement of rent under this section, if the landlord shows that by a contract between himself and the tenants, it was agreed that a certain rental at a certain rate per bigha was to be paid for a certain area, then he is entitled to an enhancement of the rent even if that area was agreed upon without any actual measurement or even though there is no practice of measurement within the pargana within which the land is situated. It is not incumbent upon landlord to prove that there was an actual measurement or that there is a practice of measurement. A second appeal lies in a proceeding to enhance rent under s. 52. MAHARAJA KESHO PRASAD SINGH v. TRIBHUAN (1917) . . . . 2 Pat. L. J. 276

——— Bengal Tenancy Act ss. 30, 52 and 109 (a)—Enhancement given for a rise in price when applied for on account of area. No second appeal lies from an order under s. 3 (b) of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, enhancing the rent of a holding by reason of a rise in the price of staple food crops, even though such order was passed on an application for enhancement of rent under s. 52. JALDHARI SINGH v. SHAM LAL MAHTO (1917) . . . 2 Pat. L. J. 574

——— Undivided share—Of holding, maintainability of suit to enhance rent of. A suit does not lie to enhance the rent of an undivided share in a holding. HARNANDAN RAI v. MAHARAJA KESHO PRASAD SINGH (1917) . 2 Pat. L. J. 553 ——— Practice—Form of suit. It is not necessary to sue for a declaration that an entry in the Record-of-Rights that the defendants are raiyats at fixed rates is wrong, before instituting a proceeding for enhancement of rent under the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885. Such record constitutes merely a rebuttable piece of evidence. A claim to enhanced rent is a recurring cause of action and is governed by article 131 of the Limitation Act, 1908, and not by article 120. Limitation runs from the date of refusal to pay rent at the enhanced rate. BRIJ BEHARI SINGH v. SHEO SANKAR JHA (1917) . 2 Pat. L. J. 124 ——— Illegal agreement to enhance—whether a bar to false and rent enhancement. An illegal or invalid contract does not come within the provisions of the s. 37 of Bengal Tenancy Act, so as to operate as a bar to the institution of a suit for enhancement of rent although a valid contract would. BUDHAN MAHTO v. MUSAMMAT WAZIHUNNISSA BEGUM

4 Pat. L. J. 106

——— suit for—Tenant shown to have asserted right to hold at unalterable rent more than 12 years before suit—Title by adverse possession, if arises. Where the rent of a tenancy is enhancible, an assertion by the tenant that his rent cannot be enhanced not followed within 12 years by a suit for enhancement does not confer on the tenant a right to hold the land at a permanent rent. BIRENDRA KISHORE MANIKYA v. DOULAT KHAN (1917) . . . 22 C. W. N. 856

ENHANCEMENT OF RENT—contd.

———————— Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885) ss. 105, 109—Case under s. 105 dismissed for non-prosecution—Subsequent civil suit for same matter, if barred under s. 109. An application made under s. 105 whether it is withdrawn or whether it is dismissed for non-prosecution, is nevertheless an application made within the meaning of the provisions of s. 109 of the Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885). The provisions of s. 109 of the Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885) should be strictly enforced and

tion. ABEDA KHATUN v. MAJUBALI CHOWDHURY (1920) I. L. R. 48 Calc. 157

ENHANCEMENT OF SENTENCE.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, S. 423 I. L. R. 36 All. 485

See RAILWAY PASSENGER. I. L. R. 44 Calc. 279

See SENTENCE, ENHANCEMENT OF.

ENJOYMENT.

———— adverse—

See EASEMENTS ACT (V OF 1882), S. 15. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1

ENMITY OR HATRED.

———— dissemination of—

See SECURITY FOR GOOD BEHAVIOUR. I. L. R. 43 Calc. 591

ENQUIRY.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, SS. 117 242. . I. L. R. 34 Mad. 139

ENTICING AWAY MARRIED WOMEN.

See PENAL CODE, S. 498. I. L. R. 42 All. 401

EPIDEMIC DISEASES ACT (III OF 1897).

———— ss. 2, 3—

See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860), SS. 188 AND 269. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 602

EQUITABLE ASSIGNMENT.

See ADMINISTRATOR-GENERAL'S ACT (II OF 1874), SS. 28, 34 AND 35. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 500

EQUITABLE ESTOPPEL.

See ESTOPPEL BY JUDGMENT. I. L. R. 37 Mad. 270

EQUITABLE ESTOPPEL—contd.

See LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION. 3 Pat. L. J. 415

See WILL. . . 24 C. W. N. 529

EQUITABLE LIEN.

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, SS. 82, 100. . I. L. R. 33 All. 708

EQUITABLE MORTGAGE.

See MORTGAGE. I. L. R. 43 Calc. 895

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), S. 59 I. L. R. 38 Bom. 372

———————— Transfer for Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 59—One of several joint-mortgagors possessing no property comprised in the title-deeds deposited, of properties within Ordinary Original Civil Jurisdiction of the High Court—Jurisdiction—Letters Patent, cl. 12—Mortgage-decree. Where several joint-mortgagors had effected an equitable mortgage by deposit of title-deeds, one of them having no interest in any of the properties covered by the deposited title-deeds, within the Ordinary Original Jurisdiction of the High Court:—Held, that the defendants having incurred a joint debt and that debt having been secured by them by a deposit of title-deeds, they were jointly responsible, and the question whether one of the defendants was interested or not in any of no properties covered by the deposited deeds in the way affected the question of jurisdiction of the Court. It is not relevant in such a suit to enquire what interest each one of the mortgagors had in the properties comprised in the title-deeds jointly deposited by them. MATIGARA COAL CO. LD. v. SHRAGERS, LD. (1911) I. L. R. 38 Calc. 824 ———————— Deposit of title deeds—whether all title deeds should be deposited—what interest passes on for closure. The Transfer of Property Act, 1882, is not exhaustive. There are many mortgages known to English Law, which it is difficult or impossible to bring within the terms of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. There is no technical rule that in an equitable mortgage all the title deeds should be deposited. It is merely a question of intention. Where a share in an indigo concern is mortgaged the parties must be taken to intend that when foreclosure or sale takes place at some subsequent date, the share shall pass to the purchaser as it stands at the date of foreclosure or sale. This would include not only what strictly could be held to be accessions but also changes in good will, rights under contracts, etc. West v. Lawday, 11 H. L. C. 375 approved. BHUPENDRA NATH BASU v. MUSSAMMAT WAJIHUNNISSA BEGAM 2 Pat. L. J. 293

EQUITABLE RELIEF.

See CONSENT DECREE. I. L. R. 44 Bom. 544

EQUITABLE SECURITY.

See MORTGAGE. I. L. R. 39 Calc. 810

EQUITABLE SET-OFF.

See CONTRACT . I. L. R 37 Calc. 334

———————— Order disallowing plea before remand, if may be reviewed at final hearing. Held, that in the circumstances of the case the Court of the Judicial Commissioner was right in allowing the defendant's plea of equitable set-off at the final hearing after a remand it had ordered for certain inquiries, although at the previous hearing it had upheld the decision of the lower Court rejecting the plea. SHEO NARAIN SINGH v. BISHUNATH SINGH (1913) . 18 C. W. N. 426

EQUITABLE SET-OFF.—contd.

EQUITIES ON PARTITION.

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), SS. 60 AND 91.
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 310

EQUITY, JUSTICE AND GOOD CONSCIENCE.

———— rule of—

See HINDU LAW—MAINTENANCE.
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 396

EQUITY OF REDEMPTION.

See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 34 Mad. 115
I. L. R. 39 Bom. 55
I. L. R. 38 All. 411
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 723

See MORTGAGOR AND MORTGAGEE.
I. L. R. 41 Bom. 357

See REDEMPTION.

See TITLE . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 239

———— acquisition of, by trespassers—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), S. 65 (c).
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 959

———— assignment of, to sureties—

See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 45 Calc. 702

———— clog on—

See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 32 All. 651

See MORTGAGE . . 5 Pat. L. J. 423

———— sold and pre-empted—

See BUNDELKHAND ALIENATION ACT (II OF 1903), S. 3. I. L. R. 37 All. 467

———— suit by Transferer of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, O. XXXIV, RR. 2, 3, 4 AND 5. 5 Pat. L. J. 595

———— Transferee of part of—

See MORTGAGE.
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 22

———— Entry in Revenue records more than 12 years old—whether sufficient for acquisition of title—adverse possession. In 1888, on the death of Mussammat Bhuri, the surviving widow of Kasam Shah, plaintiff, succeeded in having his name entered in the Revenue records as owner of the land originally owned by Kasam Shah and mortgaged by Mussammat Tajo, one of his widows, in 1868, with possession to the defendants 1 to 3's predecessors. Plaintiff sued in 1911 for redemption of the mortgage and the question was whether he had acquired a title to the equity of redemption by reason of the entries in the Revenue records in his favour since 1868. Held, that the plaintiff could not and did not acquire ownership of the equity of redemption by merely having an entry in his favour in the Revenue records. Kanwar Sen v. Darbari Lal (34 Indian Cases 171), followed. Kanhoo Lal v. Mussammat Manki Bibi (6 C. W. N. 601) and Hubdar Khan v. Gajadhar Chaube (25 Indian Cases 600), distinguished. SHAH NAWAZ v. SHEIKH AHMAD
I. L. R. 1 Lah. 549

———— Purchase of, by mortgagee—Right of mortgagor to redeem. A purchase of mortgaged property by a mortgagee at a sale held in contravention of s. 99 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, voidable not void. The mortgagor must therefore have the sale set aside before he can redeem the property. PANDIT SHEO NARAIN OJHA v. RAM JATAN OJHA (1917)
2 Pat. L. J. 587

———— Extinguishment—Mortgagor passing a rajinama to mortgagee for the land—Mortgagee executing kabuliyat to pay Government assessment. In 1876, the plaintiff mortgaged the land in dispute to the defendants; and in 1879 passed a rajinama relinquishing all his occupancy rights in the said land in favour of the defendants. The latter at the same time gave a complementary kabuliyat agreeing to pay Government assessment on the land. The plaintiff having sued to redeem the mortgage. Held, dismissing the suit, that the rajinama and kabuliyat effectually extinguished the plaintiff's equity of redemption. VENKAJI NARAYAN v. GOPAL RAMCHANDRA (1914)
I. L. R. 39 Bom. 55

ERRONEOUS DECISIONS AND ORDERS.

———— on a question of law—

See LIMITATION ACT (XV OF 1877), SCH. II, ARTS. 178 AND 179.
I. L. R. 36 Mad. 553

See RES JUDICATA.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 848

ERROR.

———— of fact—

See SALE BY GOVERNMENT.
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 328

———— of Law—

See CHARGE . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 168

ERROR, OMISSION OR IRREGULARITY.

See CHARGE . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 16

———— correction of—

See REMAND . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 929

ESCAPE FROM CUSTODY.

See ARREST BY PRIVATE PERSON.
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 17

See PENAL CODE, S. 225B.
I. L. R. 32 All. 116
I. L. R. 43 All. 185

ESCHEAT.

See MAHOMEDAN LAW.
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 947

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), S. 91 I. L. R. 33 All. 111

———— failure of Husband's heirs on widow's death—

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW.
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1106

ESTATE.

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF 1908) s. 3 I. L. R. 38 Mad. 33

———— absolute or limited—

See HINDU LAW—WILL.
I. L. R. 38 All. 446

———— falling into possession—

See EXPECTANCIES.
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 554

———— In common Tenancy—

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 353

———— of deceased person (Liability of)—

See MAINTENANCE.
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 88

———— Tanjore Palace—

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF 1908), s. 3 (2), (d).
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 389

ESTATE LAND ACT.

See MADRAS, ACT I OF 1908.

ESTATES PARTITION ACT (BENG. VIII OF 1876).

tenancies without the consent of the tenants. RAMLOCHAN KUER v. AGERNATH MISSER
1 Pat. L. J. 270

———— ss. 7, 111, 149—

See TITLE, SUIT FOR.
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 662

———— ss. 23, 25, 29, 45, 46-119—525 does not bar a suit for a declaration that a 3rd person passing as a tenant is in reality not a tenant. LAKHI CHOWDHRANI v. AKLOO JHA
16 C. W. N. 639

———— s. 7—Previous partition, when a bar to fresh

the

if been a previous partition—Civil Court, jurisdiction of to declare estate unfit for partition by Collector. S. 7 of the Estates Partion Act contemplates a formal division of the lands of an estate by metes and bounds agreed to by all co-owners and a possession an ijmali share was retained and some co-owners who were ignored in that partition subsequently as would bar partition under the Act. Semble: If a complete partition is once effected, no subsequent partition under the Act can take place except on a joint application by all the proprietors, even though after such partition each of the separate be perty at the time of application under the Act.

ESTATES PARTITION ACT (BENG. VIII OF 1876)—contd.

———— s. 7—contd.

———— ss. 11, 113 and 114—

———— Revisional Powers of the Board of Revenue discussed. BIRABHADRA RUTH AND ORS v. JANARDAN PROHERAJ NOHAPALIA . . . . . 1 Pat. L. J. 491

———— s. 12—

See PARTITION 4 Pat. L. J. 29

———— ss. 23, 24, 26, 77, 94 and 99—Private partition of bakasht lands, effect of—sale of separated plot by proprietor in possession—rights of purchaser. Ss. 23, 24, 26 and 77 show that a Civil Court has jurisdiction to decide a question of title or extent of interest not only between the proprietor and a stranger but also between the proprietors themselves, after a partition has been completed. BAHURIA KANAKKULARI KUER v. BINDESHWARI GIR . . . 5 Pat. L. J. 456

———— ss. 25 and 29—

See LIMITATION. 6 Pat. L. J. 41

See PARTITION . . 3 Pat. L. J. 188

course of partition proceedings before the Collector that there was no tenancy right of the defendants was not barred. LAKHI CHOUDHRY v. AKLOO JHA (1911) . . . 16 C. W. N. 639

———— ss. 26, 29 and 94—

See ORDER-IN-COUNCIL. 2 Pat. L. J. 496

———— s. 99—

See JOINT ESTATE.
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 103

———— ss. 82 and 119—Where a Revenue Court has passed an order under s. 82 refusing a partition on the ground that the land is rent free property s. 119 does not bar a suit for partition in the Civil Court. JITABANDHAN SINGH v. MUSAMMAT SUDHA KUER 6 Pat. L. J 689

———— ss. 111, 149—Decision of title in proceedings under, if bars civil suit—Miras tenure, cir-

if proof

, of the rmanent

by the tenure-holders and has no application where this is denied by any of them. S. 149 of the Estates Partition Act does not bar a separate suit for the establishment of a miras title found against by the revenue officer even though the

ESTATES PARTITION ACT (BENG. VIII OF 1876)—contd.

——— ss. 111, 149—contd

happens to be a part proprietor. The object of s. 149 is only to exclude the jurisdiction of Civil Courts in cases where the question relates to the determination of Government Revenue or to the details of partition; it does not oust the jurisdiction of the Civil Court in matters which involve a question of title. Ananda Kishore v. Daije Thakurain, I. L. R. 36 Calc. 726, relied on. Where it was found that a tenure had been in existence for at least 75 years, that the origin of the tenancy was unknown, that substantial structures were erected on the land, that the conveyance of the tenure referred to the tenure as miras tenure, that while the transferable character of a jote purchased along with the tenure was disputed, the purchasers were left in undisturbed possession of the tenure :—Held, that from these circumstances it could be legitimately inferred that the tenure was of a permanent character. Upendra Krishna Mandal v. Ismail Khan I. L. R. 32 Calc. 41 ; s. c. 8 C. W. N. 889 ; Nilratan Mandal v. Ismail Khan, I. L. R. 32 Calc. 51 : s. c. 8 C. W. N. 895 ; Naba Kumari Debi v. Behari Lal Sen, I. L. R. 34 Calc. 902 : s. c. 11 C. W. N. 865, relied upon. Abdul Wahid v. Shaluka Bibi, I. L. R. 21 Calc. 496 ; distinguished. JANOKI NATH CHOWDHURY v. KALI NARAIN RAY CHOWDHURY (1910)

15 C. W. N. 45
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 662

——— ss. 119, 88—Suit against order of Revenue Court, when lies. On the application of defendant, a co-sharer, for the partition of his share in a tauzi proceedings under the Estates Partition Act were taken. Throughout the proceedings no question was raised under s. 88 and no order was passed under that section. The plaintiff, another co-sharer, objected only to the mode in which the common lands were divided but never took the objection that more land was allotted to the estate under partition than that estate was entitled to. The plaintiff's objection was rejected by all the revenue authorities up to the Board of Revenue and the final order for partition was made. The plaintiff then brought a suit for declaration of title to and possession of certain land alleging that by reason of fraud practised by one of the defendants in connection with the preparation of the record-of-rights on which the partition proceedings were based, land belonging exclusively to him had been partitioned as joint land : Held, that under s. 119 of the Estates Partition Act the plaintiffs not being persons aggrieved by an order under s. 88 had no right of suit in the Civil Court. FLETCHER, J.—That the plaintiff could not be allowed to recover land allotted to defendant, whilst retaining lands allotted to him by the same partition. RICHARDSON, J.—Where there is no dispute as to the quantum of interest each co-sharer has in joint lands but the question is as to whether a particular piece of land is part of the joint lands or is the exclusive property of a co-sharer, the question is not one under proviso (i) to s. 119 of the Act. GURBUKSH PROSAD TEWARI v. KALI PROSAD NARAIN SINGH (1914)

19 C. W. N. 1322

ESTOPPEL.

See ADMINISTRATOR PENDENTE LITE.
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 771

See ADOPTION I. L. R. 34 All. 8

ESTOPPEL—contd.

See ADVERSE POSSESSION.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 173
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 373

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901) s. 16 . I. L. R. 41 All. 223

See ARBITRATION ACT. 1998.
I. L. R. 43 All. 456

See BENAMI
I. L. R. 37 All. 557
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 566

See BOMBAY CITY LAND REVENUE ACT (BOM. II OF 1876), ss. 30, 35, 39, 40.
I. L. R. 39 Bom. 664

See BOMBAY CITY IMPROVEMENT ACT (BOM. ACT IV OF 1898), s. 48 (11).
I. L. R. 42 Bom. 54

See CHARITABLE TRUSTS.
I. L. R. 34 Mad. 406

See CHAUKIDARI CHAKARAN LANDS.
15 C. W. N. 976

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1882
s. 13. I. L. R. 33 Mad. 459
s. 43. I. L. R. 34 All. 172
s. 287 . I. L. R. 35 All. 257

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908 s. 60 O. XXI, R. 92.
I. L. R. 40 All. 680

O. XLI, R. 5 (3).
I. L. R. 41 Mad. 327

See COMPANIES ACT (VI OF 1882) ss. 76, 77 . I. L. R. 36 All. 416

See COMPANY I. L. R. 42 Bom. 215

See CUSTOM . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 418

See EASEMENT ACT, s. 13.
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 80

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), ss. 115, 116 . I. L. R. 38 All. 226
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 561
1 Pat. L. J. 16
I. L. R. 41 Bom. 480

See EXECUTION OF DECREE.
3 Pat. L. J. 454

See EXECUTION SALE.
24 C. W. N. 269

See FRAUD . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 185

See HINDU LAW ADOPTION.
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 529
I. L. R. 40 All. 593

See HINDU LAW JOINT FAMILY.
I. L. R. 43 All. 703
26 C. W. N. 201

See HINDU LAW PARTITION.
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 587
L. R. 41 I. A. 247
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 1059

See HINDU LAW REVERSIONERS
I. L. R. 40 All. 487

See JURISDICTION.
I. L. R. 34 Mad. 257

See LANDLORD AND TENANT.
I. L. R. 36 Mad. 53
I. L. R. 32 All. 213
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 1079

ESTOPPEL—contd.

See LAND REGISTRATION.
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 512

See LEASE . I. L. R. 42 Bom. 103

See LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION.
3 Pat. L. J. 415

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) s. 19.
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 701

See MAHOMEDAN LAW. 24 C. W. N. 321

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—DOWER.
I. L. R. 33 All. 291

See MINOR . . 15 C. W. N. 239

See MORTGAGE. . 15 C. W. N. 572
22 C. W. N. 641
I. L. R. 34 All. 640
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 534
I. L. R. 35 All. 353
I. L. R. 36 All. 141
I. L. R. 47 Calc. 446

See MUNICIPAL ELECTION.
I. L. R. 47 Calc. 524

See NOTICE . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 503

See OCCUPANCY HOLDING.
24 C. W. N. 818

See PRINCIPAL AND AGENT.
14 C. W. N. 381

See RES JUDICATA.
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 69
I. L. R. 2 Lah. 88

See SALE OF GOODS.
I. L. R. 42 Bom. 16

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT 1877, s. 41.
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 175

See SUB LEASE.
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 783

See TITLE . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 771

See TRADE MARK.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 814
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 262

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, s. 107.
I. L. R. 36 Bom. 500

See VENDOR AND SUB-VENDOR.
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 127

See WAIVER I. L. R. 44 Calc. 10

See WAKF . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 447

See WILL . . 3 Pat. L. J. 199

———— doctrine of feeding the—

See EXPECTANCIES.
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 554

———— non user of right to take water from a well—

See EASEMENT ACT 1882, ss. 13 AND 47
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 80

———— standing by while building operations are going on—

See ACQUIESCENCE.
I. L. R. 2 Lah. 258

1. DENIAL OF TITLE . .
2. ESTOPPEL BY CONDUCT .
3. ESTOPPEL BY JUDGMENT .

ESTOPPEL—contd.

I. DENIAL OF TITLE

———— Sarajam—Inam—Mir as (permanent tenancy)—Denial of Saranjamdar's title—Attornment to successive Saranjamdars. In an ejectment suit brought by an Inamdar against persons claiming to hold as mirasi or permanent tenants, it was conceded that the inam rights in the land in suit appertained to a saranjam held on political tenure and that the present incumbent of the saranjam was the plaintiff. The defendants saranjamdars approved by Government. The defendants had, however, been continuosly paying rent for their holding to the successive saranjamdars including the plaintiff. They were thus estopped by attornment from disputing the plaintiff's title. Vasudev Daji v. Babaji Ranu, 8 Bom. H. C. R. (A. C.) 175, and Dœ dem. Marlow v. Wiggins, 4 Q. B. 367, referred to. TRIMBAK RAMCHANDRA v. SHEKH GULAM ZILANI (1909)

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 329

tained by the Judge by questioning their legal advisers as to what is exactly their position in the matter. Where both parties to a suit are equally conversant with the true state of facts, it is absurd to refer to the doctrine of estoppel In the year 1871 Government granted to the defendants' predecessor-in-title a certain plot of land situate at Dhandhuka. The grant expressly stated that a strip of land belonging to Government was the southern boundary of the plot so granted. This statement was repeated in the mortgage-deed executed by the defendants' predecessor-in-title to the defendants themselves in the year 1893. In the year 1895 the defendants purchased the said plot and encroached on the strip by extending their defendants' encroachment. The suit was brought in the year 1908 The defendants' plea was that defendants' title-deeds having brought to their knowledge the title of the Government, the doctrines

CHODLAL VANDRAVANDAS v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1910). I. L. R. 35 Bom. 182

ESTOPPEL—contd.

I. DENIAL OF TITLE—contd.

————————— Unpaid vendor—Appropriation—Jute trade, usage of—Pucca delivery orders—Negotiability—Documents of title—Indian Contract Act (IX of 1872), s. 108—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 137—Damages. A delivery order is recognised as a document of title under s. 108 of the Contract Act and s. 137 of the Transfer of Property Act, and under a delivery order the transferee acquires a title to the goods to which it relates. By the usage of the jute trade in Calcutta, pucca delivery orders are issued only on cash payment, are passed from hand to hand by endorsement, and are sold and dealt with in the market as absolutely representing the goods to which they relate. On the 1st March, 1909, the defendant company sold to J. & Co.'s principals certain Hessian cloth on the terms that "payments were to be made in cash in exchange for delivery order on sellers, and delivery of the goods was to be given and taken ready payment against pucca delivery order." A pucca delivery order was issued on the 2nd March by the defendant company in favour of J. & Co.'s principals or order, embodying the term "ready shipment." On the 3rd March J. & Co. requested the plaintiffs to advance money on the security of the delivery order. The plaintiffs on making enquiries at the mills were informed the delivery order was "all right." On the 4th March J. & Co. obtained an advance of money from the plaintiffs on the pledge of the delivery order and duly endorsed the delivery order to the plaintiffs. On the same date J. & Co. handed the defendant company a cheque in payment of the goods comprised in the delivery order. On the 8th March the defendant company presented the cheque for payment, but it was dishonoured. The defendant company thereupon refused to give delivery of the goods to the plaintiffs under the delivery order. The plaintiffs obtained an absolute release of all J. & Co.'s interest in the delivery order, and brought an action against the defendant company for delivery of the goods or their value or damages for conversion. Held, that the defendant company were estopped from denying that cash had been paid for the goods to which the delivery order related and they could not claim to be entitled to a lien as against the plaintiffs. The defendant company were further estopped from denying that they had appropriated goods of the required quantity and description to the delivery order, and that they held these goods for the plaintiffs. Goodwin v. Roberts. L. R. 1 A. C. 476, referred to. ANGLO-INDIA JUTE MILLS CO. v OMADEMULL (1910) . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 127

————————— Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 115—Sale to plaintiff by B, of land as his—Attestation by A with knowledge of the contents, when he was the owner, effect of—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 317—'Fraudulently.' If A, with the knowledge that the recital in a sale-deed that the land thereby conveyed belongs to B and is in his (B's) enjoyment as owner, attests the sale-deed executed by B in favour of the plaintiff he is estopped from setting up thereafter his title to the land, even though he (A) might be the certified purchaser of the same in Court auction. Sarat Chander Dey v. Gopal Chunder Laha, L. R. 19 I. A. 203, 215, 216 followed. Cairncross v. Lorimer 3 Macq. 289, and Carr v. London and North-Western Railway Company, L. R. 10 C. P. 307, 317, referred to. Per SUNDARA AYYAR, J.—No actual or verbal representation is necessary to give rise to estoppel. It is no contravention of the rule enacted in section 317, Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), to hold that A is estopped in such a case as even a title acquired by a statute may be waived just like a title under a private conveyance. It is fraudulent within the meaning of s. 317, Civil Procedure Code, on A's part to have obtained a sale certificate in his name after his attestation. Abdul Aziz v. Kanthu Mullick, I. L. R. 38 Calc. 512, Krishnaswami Chetty v. Vellaichami Thevan, 21 Mad. L. J. 1077, Madras Hindu Mutual Benefit Permanent Fund v. Ragava Chetti, I. L. R. 19 Mad. 200, Bishan Dial v. Ghazi-ud-din, I. L. R. 23 All. 175, and Monappa v. Surappa, I. L. R. 11 Mad. 234, distinguished. Per SADASIVA AYYAR, J.—Obiter: S. 317, Civil Procedure Code, will be a bar only if the plaintiff is obliged to set up as part of his case for relief the plea that A purchased in Court auction as benamidar for B. After the transfer of Property Act no waiver or transfer of rights can be recognised in the case of immoveable property in the absence of a registered instrument. Having regard to the ordinary course of conduct of Indians in this presidency, attestation by a person who has or claims any interest in the property covered by the document must be treated primâ facie as a representation by him that the title and other facts relating to title recited in the document are true and will not be disputed by him in favour of the oblige under the document. KANDASAMI v. NAGALINGA, (1913)

I. L. R. 36 Mad. 564

————————— Mortgage—Registration—Property not in existence, inclusion of—Indian Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 115—Estoppel, if could be invoked to defeat the provisions of the Registration Act—Fraud on the Registration Law—Onus to prove the existence of property mentioned in mortgage deed. The predecessors of defendants-respondents executed a mortgage in favour of the plaintiffs-appellants on 15th April 1902. The mortgaged properties included a plot of rent-free land in the District of Burdwan about 1 bigha in area, and butted and bounded as described in the mortgage deed. The said deed of mortgage was registered at Burdwan. One of the defendants contended that the mortgagors never possessed the said plot of land nor did such a plot of land ever exist, that it was a fictitious plot mentioned in the said deed of mortgage in fraud of the law of registration and that the registration was thus invalid and so the plaintiffs could not get any relief in respect of the same: Held, that the onus lay on the defendants to disprove the existence of the plot of land in 1902. Held, further, that the defendants failed to discharge the onus and therefore the suit should be decreed with costs. There can be no doubt about the general rule that the principle of estoppel cannot be invoked to defeat the plain provisions of a statute. Quære: Whether the plaintiffs in the present case were invoking an estoppel to defeat the provisions of the Registration Act. SUDHIR CHANDRA SET v. SYED ABDULLA-UL-MUSAVI (1907)

22 C. W. N. 894

————————— Parties in part delicto. Held, that in the case of a contract where both the parties were in pari delicto the plaintiff was not entitled to estop the defendant from showing

ESTOPPEL—contd.

I. DENIAL OF TITLE—contd.

v. BABAJI MULA (1914) I. L. R. 38 Bom. 709

———— Assignee of right enjoying it, if can question assignor's right to transfer. The rule of estoppel which binds landlords and tenants, mortgagors and mortgagees, bailors and bailees, applies to employees and contracting parties generally who cannot accept the benefits of the contract and yet, when called upon to perform their duties under it, repudiate it as made without right or as otherwise wanting in force, provided the contract is not actually in violation of law or wholly void. The assignee or the licensee of any right accepted and acted under is accordingly estopped to deny the authority from which the right proceeds. LAKHAN JENA v. ARJUN NAIK (1914) . . . . 18 C. W. N. 1194

———— As between donor and donee—Estoppel in favour of executor or legatee as against testator. The doctrine of estoppel cannot be applied as between donor and donee in every case. There is no estoppel in favour of the executor or legatee as against the testator There is no estoppel in favour of the executor or the legatee as against the heir-at-law of an occupancy raiyat so as to deprive him of what he is entitled to take by statute. AMULYA RATAN SIRKAR v. TARINI NATH DEY (1914) . . 18 C. W. N. 1290
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 254

———— Lessee inducted on land by a void lease, if may plead lease void and created no rights—Lease registered in contravention of the law—Suit for damages for breach of covenant—Estoppel. In a suit for damages by a lessor against a lessee for breach of a covenant contained in a registered lease purporting to have been granted by the lessor as tenure-holder to the lessee as undertenure-holder, it was found that in fact the lessor was an occupancy raiyat, and the lessee urged that the lease, having been granted and registered in contravention of s. 85 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, was void and inoperative: Held, that the lessee was estopped from showing that the lease was void and that no interest passed to him. Bhaignta Bewah v. Himmat Badyakar, 20 C. W. N. 1335, followed. That the Court was not precluded from so holding by the previous decisions of the High Court. BAMANDAS BHATTACHARYYA v. NILMADHAB SAHA (1916) . . . . 20 C. W. N. 1340

———— Mortgage, suit for redemption of—Mortgagee if can deny mortgagor's title. A mortgagee cannot resist a claim for redemption on the ground that the mortgagor had no title to the property included in the mortgage although he may establish that the title of the mortgagor has expired since the creation of the mortgage, it not being open to him to prove that the mortgagor lost his rights before the mortgage was executed. ABHURAM SIL v. HARA CHANDRA DAS (1915) 20 C. W. N. 1231

———— Will, by Hindu

ESTOPPEL—contd.

I. DENIAL OF TITLE—contd.

children should be born to her (testatrix's) son (who survived her) they should succeed to the whole estate, and the daughter entered into possession under the will and carried out all its provisions. In a suit brought by the purchaser from the son's son against the purchaser from the daughter's son: Held, (i) that the will was invalid because the testatrix had no interest of which she could dispose by will, and it further contained an ineffectual bequest to unborn grandsons; (ii) that the daughter (legatee) and her successor in title by her acceptance of the will were estopped from disputing the title of the son's son (remainderman), and (iii) that the principle that a person who accepts a position conferred on him or her by a will cannot at the same time repudiate so much of the will as conveys an interest to another person, governed the case. Board v. Board, L. R. 9 Q. B. 48, and Rupchand Ghose v. Sarbessur Chandra Chander, 3 C. L. J. 629, referred to. DURGA DAS KHAN v. ISHAN CHANDRA DEY (1916)
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 145

———— Mortgage including sir land—Decree for sale—Form of decree at instance of mortgagor—Sale—Subsequent claim by mortgagor that decree invalid. By the Central Provinces Tenancy Act (IX of 1883), s. 42, every person whose proprietary rights in land comprising sir lands are sold in execution of any decree which does not expressly direct the sale of his rights in the sir lands shall become an occupancy-tenant of that sir land at a rent to be fixed by the revenue officer. In a suit for the sale of land in the Central Provinces under a registered mortgage made in 1891 a sale decree was made, an indorsement stating that the property to be sold included the cultivating right of sir lands, which lands were expressly comprised in the mortgage Upon appeal, the mortgagor contended that under the terms of the mortgage he could not be excluded from the cultivating rights. The parties agreed that the determination of that question should be left over, and that the sale decree should be altered by ating ng and rep The respondent bought the property at the sale, but that in the circumstances in which the original decree was modified, the appellants were precluded from asserting that under its terms so modified the rights of the mortgagee under the original decree were taken away, and that the respondent was accordingly entitled to possession. In their Lordships' opinion the rights under the mortgage should have been determined upon the appeal in the suit for sale. Judgment of the Court of Judicial Commissioner affirmed. GULAB SINGH v. BALLABH DAS (1921) I. L. R. 48 Calc. 591

II. ESTOPPEL BY CONDUCT.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT XIV OF 1882), s. 258. I. L. R. 34 Bom. 575

See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 40 Calc. 378

———— after attaining majority—

See COMPANY . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 331

ESTOPPEL—contd.

II. ESTOPPEL BY CONDUCT—contd.

——— Non-transferable occupancy holding—Mortgage of the holding—Purchaser of the holding at private sale—Subsequent lease by landlord to purchaser—Evidence (Act I of 1872), s. 115. A person, having a raiyati interest in certain lands, mortgaged the same to the plaintiff without the landlord's consent. Subsequently various transfers of portions of the lands mortgaged were effected to different persons by the widow of the mortgagor. Finally, the widow sold a portion of the mortgaged lands with the consent of the landlord to one Radha Kanta Chakravarti, who after his purchase took a fresh lease of the same from the landlord at an enhanced rent on payment of a premium. A suit having been instituted by the mortgagee for recovery of the mortgage money, the widow and all the subsequent transferees, including the purchaser, were made parties. The purchaser pleaded that he was not a necessary party to the suit, and that the mortgage was invalid on the ground that the raiyati right was not transferable. The District Judge having decided against him on these points, the purchaser appealed to the High Court: Held (COXE, J. dissenting), that the purchaser claiming under a title party, at least created by the mortgagor, was estopped from raising the plea of non-transferability of the holding. Krishna Lal Shaha v. Bhairab Chandra Rahat 9 C. W. N. ccxlviii, Asmatunnessa Khatun Saheba v. Harendra Lal Biswas, I. L. R. 35 Calc. 904; 12 C. W. N. 721, Doe v. Stone, 3 C. B. 176, Doe v. Vickers, 4 Ad. & E. 782, Hughes v. Howard 25 Beav, 575, Debendra Nath Sen v. Mirza Abdul Samed Seraji, 10 C. L. J. 150, referred to. RADHA KANTA CHAKRAVARTI v. RAMANANDA SHAHA (1912)
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 513

——— Rent free tank—Sanad—No mention of rent in the sanad—Tenants making improvement by re-excavating tanks, effect of—Inference of landlord's intention to grant rent-free right. In a suit brought by the landlord to recover possession of a tank with its banks, and in the alternative to have the lands assessed with fair rent, the defendant pleaded that the tank had been nishkar (rent free) from a long time by virtue of a sanad granted by the predecessor of the plaintiff. The sanad was granted in the year 1850 to re-excavate an unclaimed silted-up tank, by which the grantee was required to excavate the tank by employing earth-cutters, and the only restriction imposed was that the limits of the ancient tank were not to be exceeded. There was no provision for the payment of any rent in the present or future, and nothing was said as to the duration of the grant. The ancestor of the defendant re-excavated the tank at considerable expense, and it has been in the exclusive possession of the family of the defendant from father to son, and still supplies good drinking water: Held, that under the circumstances, the plaintiff was estopped from asserting that the tank with its banks should come under a new liability of which there was no indication in the previous history of the tank and that, therefore, it could not be assessed with any rent. Held, per CHATTERJEE, J., that according to Hindu shastras, digging new tanks and re-excavation of old ones being supremely meritorious, the ancestor of the plaintiff could never have meant that the grant made by the sanad was a mere license; and that the defendant was entitled to hold the tank with its banks without payment of rent as long as the tank served the purpose for which the grant was made. The possession of a party basing his title on a grant, and not on adverse possession as an alternative source of title, cannot be used for any purpose other than for explaining the grant on which he relies. BIRENDRA KISHORE MANIKYA v. AKRAM ALI (1912)
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 439

——— Estoppel by conduct—Hindu Law—Adoption by Hindu widow under authority of her husband—Subsequent suit to set aside adoption as invalid—Denial of any valid authority to adopt—Adopted son having on faith of representations by widow married, performed shradh of adoptive father and incurred heavy liabilities in maintaining his change of status and privileges. In this case, which was an appeal from the decision of the High Court in Dharam Kunwar v. Balwant Singh, I. L. R. 30 All. 549, their Lordships of the Judicial Committee, while expressing their opinion that the question in the case might well be decided as one of fact on the appellant's own statements without recourse to the doctrine of estoppel, did not differ from the view of the High Court as to the applicability of that doctrine. The appellant, they held, had asserted her authority to adopt in the most solemn manner under her hand and seal, and her conduct both before and after that assertion had been of a like unequivocal character. She could not now be allowed to change her story without grave injustice ensuing to the respondent, who had acted in reliance upon her deliberate and repeated representations. The estoppel, however, their Lordships said, must be taken as being purely personal, and did not bind any one claiming by an independent title. DHARAM KUNWAR v. BALWANT SINGH (1912) . . I. L. R. 34 All. 398

——— Occupancy holding mortgaged to zamindar and sold in execution of a decree on the mortgage as a fixed-rate holding—Ejectment of purchaser—Right of purchaser to recover possession—Possessory title. An occupancy holding was mortgaged to the zamindar as a fixed-rate holding; was sold as such in execution of a decree on the mortgage and purchased by a stranger, who remained in possession thereof for some eleven years, paying rent to the zamindar. Subsequently the purchaser was disposed by the judgment debtor: Held, on suit by the purchaser to recover possession that the defendant was estopped from setting up the plea that the holding was an occupancy holding and that, the defendant having no title at all, the plaintiff was entitled to regain possession on the strength of his possessory title. ASGHAR HUSAIN v. PAL AHIR (1912) . . I. L. R. 34 All. 538

——— Person not in fact misled, if may urge. The doctrine of estoppel by conduct does not apply in a case in which the party claiming that the other side is bound by the estoppel had express notice of the fact which he says was not represented to him by the other side as the true fact. SARAT CHANDRA MUKHOPADHYAY v. RAJENDRA LAL MITRA (1913)
18 C. W. N. 420

——— Unregistered deed of exchange of two plots each worth more than Rs. 100

ESTOPPEL—contd.

II. ESTOPPEL BY CONDUCT—concld.

—Conduct confirming the exchange, whether an estoppel in a suit to recover possession—Transfer of Property Act IV of 1882, ss. 51, 54 and 118—Compensation. The plaintiff and the defendant exchanged adjacent plots of land each worth more than a hundred rupees by means of an unregistered deed on 4th March, 1908, both believing that they had effected a valid transfer. Possession was taken by each party and defendant began to erect a very costly building placing a wall thereof on the land he had acquired in exchange. While the building was in progress, the plaintiff demanded and obtained Rs. 525 from the defendant on the ground that the plot he parted with was found to be more in extent than the defendant's. After the completion of the building, the plaintiff brought this suit in 1911 for recovery of his plot after removal of the defendant's building on it. The defendant pleaded inter alia that he had acquired a valid title to the plot, that the plaintiff was estopped by his conduct from recovering the plot and that if the plaintiff was to get a decree, he must pay compensation as a condition of recovery: Held to the absence of a registered deed of exchange as required by ss. 54 and 118 of the Transfer of Property Act, and (ii) that the plaintiff must pay sufficient compensation before recovery, under s. 51 of the Transfer of Property Act. Kurri Veerareddi v. Kurri Bapireddi, I. L. R. 29 Mad. 336, followed. Mahomed Musa v. Aghore Kumar Ganguli, I. L. R. 42 Calc. 801, and Venkayyamma Rao v. Appa Rao, I. L. R. 39 Mad. 509, explained and distinguished. Per ABDUR RAHIM, J.—Plaintiff was estopped by his conduct from recovering his lot in spite of the want of a registered deed of exchange. Per SADASIVA AYYAR and NAPIER, JJ. The word 'transferee' in s. 51 of the Transfer of Property Act, includes also a transferee under an invalid transfer and the words 'the person causing the eviction' include a transferor under an invalid transfer. RAMANATHAN v. RANGANATHAN (1917)

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 1134

———— Erection of building on another's land—acquiescence of owner's manager. A stranger who constructs a building on the land of another without the latter's consent is liable to be ejected. In such a case the trespasser is not entitled to claim compensation for the building erected even though an agent of the owner of the exclude conveyance of land. Per CHAPMAN, J.—In India the power to dispose of the landed property of a company does not usually lie in the hands of the local Manager. Per Atkinson, J.—A person who deals with a known agent endowed with limited authority and powers is bound to ascertain the scope of the agent's authority and he neglects to do so at his peril. The description of a person, in a power-of attorney, as a general agent and manager cannot override the express limitation in the deed. STOKING v THE TATA IRON AND STEEL COMPANY (1917) . 2 Pat. L. J. 600

ESTOPPEL—contd.

III ESTOPPEL BY JUDGMENT.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1882, ss. 13, 44 (b) . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 297

———— Settlement—Suit by after-born son to set aside settlement—Difference between estoppel and res judicata. Estoppel and res judicata are entirely different. Res judicata

I. L. R. 36 Bom. 214

———— Res judicata and estoppel distinguished. Res judicata ousts the jurisdiction of the Court while estoppel does no more than shut the mouth of a party. Estoppel never means anything more than that a person shall not be allowed to say one thing at one time

BHAISHANKER NANABHAI v. MORARJI KESHAVJI & Co. (1911) . . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 283

———— Equitable estoppel—Res judicata—Indemnity, contract of—Breach—Decree against promisee is binding on promisor. The second defendant undertook to pay interest on certain debt of the plaintiff, and in default, agreed to iniff and second defendant were parties, the court finding that second defendant's plea of payment of interest was false. In a suit by the plaintiff for recovery of damages against the second defendant, on account of the latter's default in payment of the stipulated interest, the second defendant again pleaded payment: Held, that whether the technical rule of res judicata was applicable or not, the second defendant was equitably estopped, by reason of the finding in the previous suit from raising the contention that he had really paid the interest due to the creditor. Where there is a contract to indemnify, a decree passed against the promisee cannot be impeached by the promisor when the Court finds in a suit honestly defended by the promise, that there has been a violation of duty by the promisor, which has entitled a third party to the damage for which the indemnity has been given. Parker v. Lewis, L. R. 8 Ch. A. 1035, 1058, Mercantile Investment and General Trust Company v. River Plate Trust Loan, and Agency Company, [1894] 1 Ch. 578, and Krishnan Nambiar v. Kannan, I. L. R. 21 Mad. 8, referred to. NALLAPPA v. VRIDHACHALA (1914)

I. L. R. 37 Mad. 270

———— Judgment affirmed on Appeal—Second Appeal not decided on merits—"Finally decided"—British Baluchistan Regulation IX of 1896, s. 10. The appellant, in pursuance of a deed of dissolution of partnership, executed a bond for the payment of a sum of money to the respondent. ' t- -aside

ESTOPPEL—concld.

III. ESTOPPEL BY JUDGMENT—contd.

the bond on the ground of fraudulent misrepresentation as to the amount due. The trial judge and, on appeal, the District Judge held that the alleged fraud was not established, and dismissed the suit. Upon a further appeal to the Judicial Commissioner it was held, without entering into the merits, that the appellant could not avoid the bond as he did not claim to avoid the deed. In a subsequent suit by the respondent upon the bond the appellant raised as a defence the same case of fraud: Held, that the issue raised by the defence was not res judicata, since the matter had not been "finally decided" within the meaning of s. 10 of the British Baluchistan Regulation IX of 1896. ASHGAR ALI KHAN v. GANESH DASS (1917) . . . L. R. 44 I. A. 213

ETIQUETTE AFFECTING COUNSEL.

See BAR COUNCIL, RESOLUTION OF.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 898

See BARRISTER I. L. R. 44 Calc. 741

ETMAM.

———————— Etmam in temporarily settled area, if a tenure—Enhancement of rent—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), ss. 7, 9. 20, 37, 191 and 192—One suit for enhancement of rent of two etmams held by same tenant—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 99. The plaintiff landlord brought one suit for enhancement in respect of two etmans in a temporarily settled area twenty years after the last proceedings for increasing the rent. In the record-of-rights the defendants were recorded as settled raiyats: Held, that the plaintiffs and defendants being the landlords and tenants of both etmams and having the same interest in each the misjoinder in bringing one suit was merely technical and did not affect the merits of the case. A temporary settlement-holder is not, by virtue of ss. 191 and 192 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, precluded from exercising the ordinary powers of a landlord under s. 7 or s. 30 of the Act. Etmams are tenures and therefore s. 7 applied to the enhancement. The rent of a tenure is always liable to enhancement unless the landlord has precluded himself by contract or estopped by law and the mere fact that the parties have agreed that resort may be had to the putni regulation to recover arrears of rent cannot mean that the rent is permanently fixed. MAKBUL ALI CHOWDHURY v. JOGESH CHANDRA ROY (1919) . . 13 C. W. N. 945

EUROPEAN BRITISH SUBJECT.

———— rights of—

See JURY, RIGHT OF TRIAL BY.
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 467

———————— Summary trial outside British India by Justice of Peace—Jurisdiction—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 530. The orders of the Governor-General in Council regulating the powers of the Justice of Peace beyond the limits of British India confer no power on a District Magistrate to try offenders summarily under s. 260 of the Code of Criminal Procedure (Act V of 1898). Re JEREMIAH (1915)
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 942

EVICTION.

See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE, 1879 s. 68. . . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 920

EVIDENCE.

See ACKNOWLEDGMENT.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 789

See ADMISSION AND CONFESSIONS TO POLICE OFFICERS.
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 601

See ADOPTION . I. L. R. 32 All. 104

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901)—
ss. 166, 201 . I. L. R. 34 All. 250
s. 201 . . I. L. R. 33 All. 799
s. 201 (3) . I. L. R. 32 All. 427
APPELLATE COURT.
I. L. R. 39 Bom. 386

See CASUAL DEATH BY RASH OR NEGLIGENT ACT . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 855

See CHARGE . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 154

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT XIV OF 1882) s. 568 . I. L. R. 36 Mad. 477

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, ss. 100 O. XLV, R. 27.
I. L. R. 33 All. 379
XXVI, RS. 9, 16, 17, 18.
I. L. R. 39 All. 694
O. XLI, R. 27 I. L. R. 38 Bom. 665

See CONSTRUCTION OF DOCUMENT.
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 480

See CONTEMPT OF COURT.
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 173

See CRIMINAL CASE.
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 374

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE—
s. 107 . . I. L. R. 37 All. 33
ss. 107 AND 117
I. L. R. 37 All. 30
ss. 110 (f), 117
I. L. R. 40 All. 372
I. L. R. 41 All. 231
s. 268 AND 537. I. L. R. 43 All. 125
s. 512 . . I. L. R. 38 All. 29
I. L. R. 41 All. 60

See CUSTOM . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 418
I. L. R. 33 All. 257
I. L. R. 39 All. 574
I. L. R. 2 Lah. 83

See DEKHAN AGRICULTURISTS RELIEF ACT 1877, ss. 2, 10A.
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 217

See DISPUTE CONCERNING LAND.
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 381

See DIVORCE . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 907

See ENDORSEMENT OF DOCUMENT.
I. L. R. 38 All. 627

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—

See EXTRINSIC EVIDENCE.
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1105

See FORFEITURE I. L. R. 47 Calc. 190

See GUARANTEE I. L. R. 36 Bom. 387

See GUARDIAN AND WARD ACT (VIII OF 1890), ss. 5 to 20, Ch. II.
I. L. R. 36 All. 282

See HABEAS CORPUS.
I. L. R. 39 Cal. 194

EVIDENCE—contd.

See HINDU LAW—CUSTOM.
I. L. R. 32 All. 363

See HINDU LAW—RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT . . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 536

See HUNDI. . I. L. R. 46 Calc. 663

See INSOLVENT I. L. R. 46 Calc. 996
I. L. R. 47 Calc. 254

See JURY, TRIAL BY.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 367

See KABULIYAT.
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 342, 493

See LAND ACQUISITION.
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 967

See LANDLORD AND TENANT.
I. L. R. 32 All. 125
I. L. R. 47 Calc. 1

See LEASE . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 293

See LEGAL PRACTITIONER ACT XVIII OF 1879, s. 36 . I. L. R. 40 All. 153

See LIMITATION . L. R. 46 I. A. 285
I. L. R. 32 All. 345

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—DIVORCE.
I. L. R. 36 All. 458

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—MARRIAGE
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 878

See MARKET FRANCHISE.
I. L. R. 47 Calc. 1079

See MORTGAGE . I. L. R. 35 All. 353
I. L. R. 41 All. 250

See OATHS ACT (X OF 1873), ss. 5, 6 AND 13. . I. L. R. 38 All. 49

See ORAL EVIDENCE.
I. L. R. 41 Bom. 466

See PARDA-NASHIN LADY.
I. L. R. 34 All. 455

See PAUPER SUIT.
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 651

See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860)—
s. 76 . . I. L. R. 32 All. 451
s. 409 . I. L. R. 33 All. 249
ss. 361, 363, 366 AND 368.
4 Pat. L. J. 74
s. 498 . . I. L. R. 36 All. 1

See PRACTICE . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 317
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 119

See PRE-EMPTION.
I. L. R. 33 All. 605
I. L. R. 35 All. 472
I. L. R. 36 All. 464, 471
I. L. R. 37 All. 524

See PRIVATE DEFENCE 3 Pat. L. J. 419

See PRIVY COUNCIL.
I. L. R. 36 Mad. 501

See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907), s. 43 (2). I. L. R. 32 All. 547

See PUBLIC PROSECUTOR, DUTY OF.
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 423

See RECEIPT . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 546

See REGISTER OF DEATHS.
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 152

EVIDENCE—contd.

See REGISTRATION ACT (III OF 1877)—
ss. 3, 17, 40 . I. L. R. 25 Mad. 63
ss. 17, 49 . I. L. R. 33 All. 475
ss. 32, 33 . I. L. R. 34 All. 331
ss. 32, 60, 75 . I. L. R. 34 All. 253

See RENT DECREE.
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 170

See REVIEW . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 568

See ROAD-CESS RETURNS.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 1005

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION.
I. L. R. 47 Calc. 741

See SECURITY FOR GOOD BEHAVIOUR.
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 806

See SECURITY FOR KEEPING THE PEACE
I. L. R. 38 All. 468

See TEISHKHANA PAPER.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 995

See THUMB-IMPRESSION.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 348

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 54 . I. L. R. 41 Bom. 550

See WAZIB-UL-ARZ.
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 793

See WILL. . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 1

———— additional—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O. XLI, R. 27.
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 414

See WILL. . I. L. R. 36 All. 93

———— admissibility of—

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—
ss. 11, 32. I. L. R. 34 All. 341
ss. 21, 157 . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 599
s. 68 . . I. L. R. 40 All. 256

See SECURITY FOR GOOD BEHAVIOUR
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 215

———— appeal court interfering with findings on—

See APPELLATE COURT
I. L. R. 39 Bom. 386

———— character of—

See REVIEW . I. L. R. 45 Calc. 60

———— hearing and recording of—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), s. 263.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 931

———— in a previous proceeding—

See EVIDENCE ACT, ss. 33 AND 168.
I. L. R. 43 Mad. 609

———— In proof of Custom—
I. L. R. 2 Lah. 33

———— nature of—

See LIMITATION ACT (XV OF 1877), SCH. II, ART. 91 . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 321

———— of intention—

See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION.
I. L. R. 37 All. 369

EVIDENCE—contd.

———— of value of the subject matter—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), s. 110 . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 477

———— onus of proof of, necessity

See HINDU LAW—ENDOWMENT.
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 402

———— recording of—

See SUMMARY TRIAL.
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 288

———— regarding property transactions—

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, s. 27.
1 Pat. L. J. 455

———— sufficiency of, to prove necessity—

See HINDU LAW—ENDOWMENT.
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 402

———— unregistered deed re property—

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT 1877, s. 115.

———— where witness not sworn—

See OATHS ACT (III OF 1873), ss. 5, 13.
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 550

———— Admissibility of evidence—Family settlement—Evidence of settlement consisting of a joint application by the parties for mutation in respect of the property in dispute. The brother and widow of a deceased Hindu settled a dispute between them as to the ownership of the property of the deceased by means of a joint application in the Revenue Court asking that the property should be recorded half in the name of each. This was done, and subsequently each sold the share of which he or she was recorded as owner. Thereafter, the widow sued to recover the share which had gone to her husband's brother: Held, that it must be presumed from the application in the mutation proceedings the recording of names by the Revenue Court in accordance with that application and the subsequent sales on the strength of that record, that the parties entered into a family arrangement, and the application presented to the Revenue Court was, therefore, not compulsorily registrable and was admissible in evidence. KOKLA v. PIARI LAL (1913)
I. L. R. 35 All. 502

———— Expert in handwriting,—Value to be attached to evidence of—Corroboration of such evidence. An accused should not ordinarily be convicted of forgery upon the uncorroborated testimony of a handwriting expert. The value to be attached to the evidence of handwriting experts discussed. In re VENKATA ROW (1913)
I. L. R. 36 Mad. 159

———— Private knowledge of facts by Judge,—How far may be relied on by him—Savaram lands—Meaning of Savaram—Madras Estates Land Act (I of 1908), s. 185, construction of. Where the Judge used knowledge gained by him from his own experience as to scarcity of land for cultivation (although his knowledge was partly derived from facts relating generally to the lands in the zamindari of Nuzvid in which the lands in suit were situated): Held, that the fact of which he had such knowledge was merely a fact of economical history and that he had not acted illegally in relying upon it. Per SUNDARA AYYAR, J.—A Judge is not entitled to rely on specific facts not proved by the evidence in the case but known to him personally or otherwise but he may use his general knowledge and experience in determining the credibility of evidence adduced before him and applying it to the decision of the specific facts in dispute in the case. Per SADASIVA AYYAR, J.—I think the only practical rule which can be laid down in these cases is that if a Judge knows of his own knowledge as an individual observer of a past relevent concrete, private incident, and that fact cannot be subjected to ocular proof at the time of trial (such as a person's colour, resemblance of features, appearance, behaviour, chemical experiments on the present condition of the object), and if the truth of such incidents is contested between the parties, he should mention his private knowledge of such incidents to the parties and he should refuse to be the Judge in that case, unless both the parties after he so mentions to them his said personal knowledge of that particular incident, state that they have no objection to his continuing as Judge. In the present case, the learned Judge has not gone further than to use the general knowledge which he has acquired as a past revenue officer and as a revenue Court of experience in the course of the performance of his duties in zamindari tracts; and I hold that he was entitled to use such knowledge in coming to conclusion on the facts after the consideration of the evidence let in in this case." Per CURIAM: The word savaram as applied to lands does not necessarily convey the idea of full proprietary right in the zamindar. All that is clear is that savaram was compensation granted to a Zamindar or Revenue officer under the Mahomedan Government. Per CURIAM: Where pattas entered into in 1897 evidenced agreements to lease operating from 1st 1898: Held, that s. 185 of the (Madras) Estates Lands Act I of 1908 (does not preclude the Court from taking such *pattas*into consideration, it being the date of the contract that is material in deciding whether the evidence is admissible. Per SUNDARA AYYAR, J.: The Act does not lay down any rule as to all the kinds of evidence that may be produced to prove that the land in question is private land and it cannot be held that all evidence as to leases subsequent to 1st July, 1898, is shut out altogether. Per SADASIVA AYYAR, J.—Evidence as to leases granted after 1st July, 1898, is shut out by s. 185 if the leases are sought to be used for the purpose of proving the character of the tenure of the land. LAKSHMAYYA v. VARADARAJA APPAROW (1913) . . . I. L. R. 36 Mad. 168

———— Documentary evidence—Reversal by appellate Court of decision as to genuineness of documents—Evidence taken on commission so that first Court had not the usual advantage of seeing and hearing witness—Suit by head of family and owner of impartible raj to recover immoveable property reverting to raj on failure of objects for which it was given as maintenance. In this appeal from the decision of the High Court in Pateshari Partab Narain Singh v. Rudra Narain, I. L. R. 26 All. 528, their Lordships of the Judicial Committee agreed with the view of the High Court that the plaintiff (respondent) was entitled to succeed so far as his claim was based on the sipurdnama, which, if genuine, was decisive of the case; and without dissenting from their opinion on the point of law as to the competency of the Appeallate Court under the circumstances to add a party after the period of limitation for the suit had expired, affirm-

EVIDENCE—contd.

the supurd- the appeal. RAIN SINGH (1910) . . . . I. L. R. 32 All. 241

——— Usufructuary mortgage—Burden of proof—Suit for possession of mortgaged property not brought for nearly twelve years—Presumption that no consideration passed. Where the plaintiffs, who were usufructuary mortgagees, were on plea raised by the defendants, that no consideration had passed, that the burden of proving that consideration had passed was rightly shifted to the plaintiffs. Achobandil v. Mahabir, I. L. R. 8 All. 641, followed Mahabir Prasad v. Bishan Dayal. All. Weekly Notes (1904), 163, distinguished. BIHARI v. RAM CHANDRA (1911)

I. L. R. 33 All. 483

——— Prosecution of witness for perjury on deposition irregularly taken—Evidence, irregularity in taking, under s. 360, Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898)—Effect of irregularity. Where a deposition has been read to a witness over in Court and has been admitted by him to be correct in the presence of the Judge, the fact that another witness was being examined at the time is no defence to a prosecution of the deponent for giving false evidence in the deposition so read over. Kamatchinathan Chetty v. Emperor I. L. R. 28 Mad. 308, commented on. Though deposition so recorded might invalidate the conviction of the accused in the case in which the deposition was so recorded, the deponent having admitted its correctness may be properly convicted of perjury thereon. Singiri Eradu v. Empress, Cr R. C. No. 453 of 1894 (unreported), (II Weir's Cr Rul. 135), distinguished. BOGRA v. EMPEROR

I. L. R. 34 Mad. 141

——— Unstamped promissory note executed in Rampur in favour of the Nawab of Rampur—Suit on such note in British India—Lex loci contractus—Rampur Stamp Law, ss. 52, prov. (c), and 53. Certain moneys having been advanced by the Nawab of Rampur, a promissory note was accepted as security in favour of "the Nawab of Rampur" and bearing no stamp. The Nawab, being examined on commission, stated:—"This debt is due to me personally, and, ordinarily speaking, a debt which is due to me is due to the State, and a debt which is due to the State is due to me: but the said amount I advanced from my own funds." According to the Stamp Law of Rampur a document executed in favour of the State did not require to be stamped: Held, that the lex loci contractus had to be applied and that the note in question not being drawn in favour of the Nawab in his private capacity did not require to be stamped. AMINA BEGAM v. THE NAWAB OF RAMPUR (1911)

I. L. R. 33 All. 571

be cited as a witness—Non-production of account books with ... Unsatisfact ... which the ... tion had ta... plaintiff (respondent) to prove that he had been adopted, the Judicial Committee held that he had not discharged the onus upon him and reversed the decision of the High Court mainly on the ground that due weight did not appear to have been given to the conduct of the plaintiff, the improbability and inconsistency of the story told on his behalf, his absence from the witness box, and the non-production of all books and documents. Having connected with this ceremony (of adoption) was entered covered the plaintiff's case with suspicion. No effort was shown to have been made by either side to procure their production; no search for them or loss of them was proved; no explanation why they were not forthcoming The species of advocacy tolerated by the Courts of Law in the United Provinces of India in which the unworthy effort of the advocate on each side is to force his opponent to produce his own client in order that he himself may have the opportunity of cross-examining that client, with the result that should the opponent refuse to be led into this trap, the parties, the principal witnesses, are never examined at all, condemned by the Judicial Committee as a vicious practice unworthy of a high toned or reputable system of advocacy, as embarrassing and perplexing judicial investigation, and, it was to be feared, too often enabling fraud, falsehood, or chicane to baffle justice. Quære Whether the existence of such a system formed a ground for not drawing the ordinary presumption to the detriment of the plaintiff from his failure to go into the witness box and support his case Semble It does not. LAL KUNWAR v CHIRANJI LAL (1909)

I. L. R. 32 All. 104

——— Representative in interest—Evidence Act, s. 122. Where there is no "representative in interest" who can consent under s 122 of the Evidence Act to the disclosure of communications made by a deceased husband to

"Representative in interest" for the purpose of giving such consent. NAWAB HOWLADAR v. EMPEROR . . . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 891

——— Birth-day books, entries in—If admissible to prove age—Husband's evidence as to wife's age, admissibility and value of—Affidavit by husband, before question litigated, as to wife's age how far admissible. Where the evidence showed a practice to make entries of dates of births in books kept for the purpose of obtaining the opinion of astrologers as to good or ill fortune: Held, that under the Straits Settlements Ordinance No. 3 of 1893, the provisions of which in this respect are showed that he had sworn to the same date before the question arose was for that purpose admissible in evidence. CHUAH HOOI GNOH NEOH v. KHAW SIM BEE (1915) . . . 19 C. W. N. 787

——— Disbelief of greater part of the evidence of the prosecution witnesses—Convic- tion on the residue—Propriety of the conviction—Practice. When the prosecution witnesses are found to be untruthful as to the greater part of their evidence, it would be dangerous to convict the accused on the residue without corroboration. HARI KRISHNA v. EMPEROR (1914).

EVIDENCE—contd.

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 784

———— Evidence taken by a Court without jurisdiction—Effect of consent to treat it as evidence, if relevant. Consent or want of objection to the reception of evidence which is irrelevant cannot make the evidence relevant, but consent or want of objection to the wrong manner in which relevant evidence should be brought on record of the suit disentitles parties from objecting to such evidence in a Court of Appeal. Miller v. Madho Dass, I. L. R. 19 All. 76, 92, followed. The fact that it was evidence taken previously by a Court which was held to have had no jurisdiction to try the case and take the evidence and that it was consented to be treated as evidence does not affect the validity of the consent. Quære: Whether in a case falling under s. 33 of the Evidence Act, evidence recorded by a Court can be regarded as not given in a judicial proceeding on the mere ground that the decree of the Court was subsequently set aside for defect of jurisdiction. SRI RAJAH PRAKASARAYANIM GARU v. VENKATA RAO (1912) . . . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 160

———— Mortgage—Recital of Receipt of consideration—Recital admissible as against representatives of original mortgagor. Held, that the admission of the receipt of consideration contained in a mortgage deed is admissible in evidence against the representatives in interest of the original mortgagors. Brajesware Peshakar v. Budhanuddi, I. L. R. 6 Calc. 268, Nawal Kunwar v. Bakhtawar Singh, 10 All. L. J. 390, and Abdul Majid v. Mahbub Ali, F. A. No. 129 of 1911, followed. Manohar Singh v. Sumirta Kuar, I. L. R. 17 All. 428, not followed. Bisheshwar Dayal v. Harbans Sahoy, 6 C. L. J. 659, Ghurphekni v. Permeshwar Dayal, 5 C. L. J. 653, and Rahim Jan Bibi v. Iman Jan, 14 C. L. J. 173, doubted. BIHARI LAL v. MAKHDUM BAKSH (1913) . . . . I. L. R. 35 All. 194

———— Handwriting, comparison of—Admissibility of intercepted letter written by the accused relating to the importation of contraband cocaine, the subject of the charge—Admissibility of intercepted letters addressed to the accused in order to prove identity with the sender of a telegram relevant to the charge—"Import into Bengal," meaning of—Seizure of cocaine in the Custom House before clearance—Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 11—Bengal Excise Act (Ben. V of 1909), ss. 2 (12), 46 (a) and 61. A letter written by an accused, when self-disserving, is primâ facie evidence against him if it relates distinctly to a relevant point. It is not necessary that it should be signed; it is enough if it is traced to the writer, and it is admissible though it may have been intercepted or surreptitiously detained and opened. Rex v. Derrington, 2 C. & P. 418, referred to. An unsigned letter, proved to have been written by the accused addressed to a firm in London, which had shipped certain contraband cocaine which the accused was charged with importing into Bengal, is admissible in evidence, though intercepted under the order of the Magistrate at the Post Office during the course of transit. A letter written by the exporter of certain contraband cocaine, the subject of the charge against the accused, containing a reference to a telegram signed in a different name but bearing the same business address as that of the accused, is relevant under s. 11 of the Evidence Act as showing that the accused was the sender of the telegram, though the letter was intercepted at the Post Office under an order of the Magistrate before delivery. Queen v. Cooper, 1 Q. B. D. 19, approved. Although an excisable article may be actually within the geographical limits of Bengal, it cannot be said to have been brought into Bengal, within the meaning of s. 2 (12) of the Bengal Excise Act if it is intercepted at the Custom House, and the offence in such a case is not one of importing but of attempting to import under s. 61 of the Act read with s. 46(a). BOOTH v. EMPEROR (1913)

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 545

———— Date of Birth—Family Record—Admissibiliy—Illustrations to Statue—Straits Settlements Ordnance III, of 1893, and Indian Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 32, sub-s. (5) and Illustration (l). In an action in the Straits Settlements to recover the amount due upon certain mortgages the defendant pleaded that he was an infant when he executed them. As evidence in support of this plea there was tendered at the trial an entry recording the date of the defendant's birth made by the defendant's deceased father in a book in which he made similar entries with regard to his family: Held, that under the Straits Settlements Evidence Ordinance, 1893, s. 32, sub-s. (5), and having regard to illustration (l) to that section, the entry was admissible in evidence. Illustrations appended to sections of a Statute should be accepted, if that can be done, as being of relevance and value in construing the text; they should be rejected as repugnant to the section only as the last resort of construction. MAHOMED SYEDOL ARIFFIN v. YEOH OOI GARK.

L. R. 43 I. A. 256

———— Secondary evidence—Certified copy of petition of compromise made in 1857—Record of proceedings destroyed in the Mutiny—Evidence to establish mortgage in suit for redemption of mortgage not made in writing—Stamp—Bengal Regulation X of 1829—Objection that certified copy is insuficiently stamped—Petition treated as document creating mortgage. In a suit for the redemption of a usufructuary mortgage alleged to have been created in 1857, the document on which the plaintiffs relied to establish the mortgage was a certified copy of a petition of compromise filed in Court on the 1st of April, 1857. The record of the proceedings was admittedly destroyed in the Mutiny of that year. The document, which was admitted in evidence by the Subordinate Judge, recited the terms on which the dispute was settled, amongst them being the agreement relating to the mortgage and an endorsement on it, after reciting that "the pleaders for the parties filed the compromise in the presence of their respective clients, and verified and admitted all the conditions laid down therein" ordered that "the compromise be placed on the record, and the case be put up to-morrow for final disposal." Then followed the date and the signature of the Zillah Judge in English. The certified copy was on the 28th of April, 1857, issued to the pleader acting for the predecessors of the plaintiffs. It bore a stamp of one rupee. The defence was that the contract was not enforceable as the document was not properly stamped. The Subordinate Judge overruled the objection and decreed the suit The District Judge held that the copy was required by article 20 of Regulation X of 1829, to bear a stamp of the same value as the original compromise; that the original bore a stamp of one rupee only, but require a stamp of ten rupees, and as it was (affirming that decision), that the mortgage was made verbally and was valid according to the law then in force, and it was notified to the Court as part of the settlement. The present suit was not based on any agreement contained in the petition, but on a contract made outside and recited in it to enable the Court to make a decree in accordance with the settlement. If the Judge did so, the defendants' objections fell to the ground, and, whether he did or not, the suit based on the agreement made independently of and before the petition was filed in Court was clearly maintainable. If, however, the petition was treated as the document creating the mortgage it might rightly be presumed that the officer before whom it was presented satisfied himself that it was properly stamped. No inference could be drawn from the fact that the copy bore

EVIDENCE—contd.

I. L. R. 38 All. 494

———— Conversation between defendant and plaintiff's pleader—When suit in contemplation, if admissible in evidence—Admission made by one defendant evidence against all others—Evidence Act (I of 1872), ss. 18, 23. In a suit for rent, there was a talk of settlement between the plaintiff's pleader and one of the defendants when the suit was about to be instituted. Held, that the mere fact of the conversation taking place when the parties were contemplating a suit

Lawson, (1830) Moo. & M. 447n, Nicholson v. Smith, 3 Starkie 128, Harding v. Jones, (1835) T. & G. 135, and Jorden v. Money, 5 H. L. C. 185, relied on. Mohabeer Singh v. Dhujjoo Singh, 20 W. R. 172, discussed. When several persons the other defendants, whether they be all jointly suing or sued, provided that the admission relates to the subject-matter in dispute and be made by the declarant in his character of a person jointly interested with the party against whom the evidence is tendered. Kowsulliah Sundari Dasi v. Mukta Sundari Dasi, I. L. R. 11 Calc. 588, Chalho Singh v. Jharo Singh, I. L. R. 39 Calc. 995, and Ahimsa Bibi v. Abdul Kader Saheb I. L. R. 25 Mad. 26, referred to. Kali Kishore Chowdhury v. Gopi Mohan Roy Chowdhury, 2 C. W. N. 166, distinguished. MEAJAN MATBAR v. ALIMUDDI MIA (1916) . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 130

EVIDENCE—contd.

———— Conveyance—Intention to Mortgage—Third-party owner—Notice—Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 92. As between the parties to an absolute conveyance, s. 92 of the Evidence Act (subject to its provisos) precludes the giving of oral evidence to prove that the transaction was the transaction. Semble: that a claim by the

v. Subbaraju, I. L. R. 25 Mad 7, Maung Bin v. Ma Hlaing, 3 L. B. R. 100, and Datloo valad Tataram v. Chandra Tataram, I. L. R. 30 Bom 119, approved. Baksu Lakshman v. Govinda Kanji, I. L R. 4 Bom. 594, and other decisions, disapproved. MAUNG KYIN v. SHWE LA (1917)

L. R. 44 I. A. 236
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 892

———— Mortgage-deed—Form of proof of—Evidence Act (I of 1892), ss. 68 to 71. In a suit on a mortgage bond, the admission of execution by the sole mortgagor does not dispense with the necessity of complying with the provisions of s. 68 of the Evidence Act in order to prove the execution of the document as against other parties in the suit who do not admit such execution. Such a document must be proved as against them in accordance with the provisions of ss. 68, 69 and 71 of the Evidence Act. Jogendra Nath Mukhopadhya v. Nitai Charan Bundopadhya, 7 C. W. N. 384, distinguished. SATISH CHANDRA MITRA v. JOGENDRA NATH MAHALANABIS (1916) I. L. R. 44 Calc. 345

———— A party in possession of written evidence on a material issue is not justified in withholding it on the plea of onus of proof being on his opponent. T. S. MURUGESAM v. MANIKAVASAKA (1917) . 21 C. W. N. 761

———— Relevancy of judgment—Trial of accused for criminal breach of trust of certain amounts—Judgment in a civil case between the parties as to the amounts—Admissibility of the judgment into the criminal proceedings. The applicant was prosecuted for criminal breach of trust with reference to certain items. There was a civil suit between the complainant and the applicant regarding items which included the items involved in the criminal case. The civil suit was decided in applicant's favour. He thereupon applied to admit the judgment in evidence in the criminal case, and on the strength of it prayed for an order of discharge. The Magistrate having refused to admit it in evidence the applicant applied to the High Court. Held, that the judgment of the Civil Court was admissible in evidence, inasmuch

I. L. R. 41 Bom. 1

———— Unregistered deed—Admissibility of deed for collateral purposes—Joint owners—Adverse possession. One of two brothers

EVIDENCE—contd.

joint owners of certain immovable property, executed a deed of relinquishment in favour of the other. The deed was never registered, but the brother in whose favour it was made remained in possession of the entire property. Held, that the deed of relinquishment was admissible in evidence to prove the nature of the occupant's possession, and that there was no legal impossibility about one co-owner claiming adverse possession as against the other. JHAMPLU v. KUTRAMANI (1917) . . I. L. R. 39 All. 696

———— Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 92—Evidence of acts and conduct of parties to deeds showing that they were mortgages when in form they were absolute transfers—Fraudulent dealing with property which the parties knew belonged to a third person not a party to deeds. The language of s. 92 of the Evidence Act, 1872, with regard to a "contract, grant or disposition reduced to writing," in terms applies, and applies alone; "as between the parties to any such instrument, or their representatives in interest." Wherever, accordingly, evidence is tendered as to a transaction with a third party, it is not governed by the section or by the rule of evidence which it contains, and in such a case, therefore, the ordinary rules of equity and good conscience come into play unhampered by the statutory restrictions. The principle of equity, which are universal, forbid a person to deal with property which he knows he holds on security, and not in actual ownership. In this case both the grantor and grantee in transactions by deed regarding certain land were shown by the evidence to have dealt with it with the knowledge that it belonged to a third person who was not a "party to the deeds or a representative in interest of a party" to them. It was alleged that the deeds, though in form absolute transfers of the property, were intended to be only mortgages or transfers of mortgages. Held, that s. 92 of the Evidence Act was no bar to the admission of evidence to show what was the true nature of the transactions; it did not prevent fraudulent dealing with a third person's property. Evidence as to that third party's rights is admissible, and, if admissible, is most relevant. The series of cases cited in the judgment, of which Baksu Lakshman v. Govinda Kanji, I. L. R. 4 Bom. 594, is an example, in which it has been decided that, notwithstanding the terms of s. 92, evidence is admissible to show the acts and conduct of the parties to such deeds as inconsistent with the absolute transfer of the property, and only consistent with the true nature of the transaction having been one of mortgage or transfer of mortgage, ceased to have any binding authority after the decision by the Board in Balkishen Das v. Legge, I. L. R. 22 All. 149; L. R. 27 I. A. 58, in which it was held that oral evidence was not admissible for the purpose of ascertaining the intention of parties to written documents; and that the cases in the English Court of Chancery had no application to the law of India as laid down in the Acts of the Indian Legislature. Achutaramaraju v. Subbaraju, I. L. R. 25 Mad. 7, Maung Bin v. Ma Hlaing, 3 L. B. Rul. 100, and Dattoo valad Totaram v. Ram Chandra Totaram, I. L. R. 30 Bom. 119, referred to, as being cases in which the judgment of the Board in Balkishen Das v. Legge, I. L. R. 22 All. 149, L. R. 27 I. A. 58, had been rightly followed and applied. MAUNG KYIN v. MA SHWE LA (1917).
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 320

EVIDENCE—contd.

———— Probability—considerations of, if and when may outweigh positive evidence, when some found untrustworthy—Admission in deed to be taken as primâ facie true. Where some of the verbal evidence was untrustworthy whilst the documents recorded a state of affairs which was often hard to reconcile with probabilities. Held, that unless the facts evidenced by documentary and oral testimony were so much at variance with known conditions as to be incapable of reasonable explanation, it was to those facts, and those facts alone, that the Court must trust to reach a safe conclusion upon the matter in controversy. A statement in a document should primâ facie be accepted as true as against the executant unless it can be shown by independent evidence to be false. IRSHAD ALI v. KARIMAN (1917) . 22 C. W. N. 530

———— Statement in wajib-ul-arz—Suit to recover 'parjot.' Plaintiff sued as owner of the abadi of a village to recover a certain number of maunds of cotton seed from the defendants who were banias having shops in the said abadi, and claim was based mainly upon an entry in a wajib-ul-arz framed some fifty years before suit, to the effect that tenants living in the village did not pay "kiraya"—(rent of a house) but 'parjot' (ground-rent), which, for banias, was one maund of cotton seed a year for each shop. Held, that the entry in the wajib-ul-arz was reliable evidence of the liability of the defendants to pay 'parjot' to the zemindar in the manner described, and that the use of the word indicated that the origin of the payment was an agreement between the inhabitants of the abadi and the zemindar rather than a custom. MUHAMMAD FAIYAZ ALI KHAN v. BIHARI (1917) . I. L. R. 40 All. 56

———— Horoscope—Produced in proof of plaintiff's age—Document not entered in list as required by O. VII, r. 14, of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908—Refreshing memory of witness by document written by him at time of plaintiff's birth—Limitation Act, 1908, s. 7; Sch. I, Art. 126. A question of whether or not a suit was barred by limitation under s. 7 and art. 126 of the Limitation Act, 1908, depended on the age of the plaintiff. One of the witnesses produced a horoscope which had not been entered in the list of documents as required by O. VII, r. 14, of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, and on an objection by the defendant, was rejected by the Trial Judge as inadmissible in evidence. Held, that it was wrongly rejected; the horoscope was not a document to be relied upon as a probative document in itself, but it was a record made by the witness at the time to which he was entitled to refer for the purpose of refreshing his memory and it was therefore admissible. BANWARI LAL v. MAHESH (1918) . . . . L. R. 45 I. A. 284
I. L. R. 41 All. 63

———— Certified copies of chittas and map—Relating to partition under Reg. XIX of 1814, if admissible in evidence—Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 35. The plaintiffs' suit for ejectment related to a tank claimed as appertaining to a certain estate which, and three other revenue-paying estates, came in 1852 under the operation of Reg. IX of 1814 for partition of common lands. The lower Appellate Court relied on certified copies of certain chittas and a map kept in the Collectorate. The map was authenticated by a Deputy Collector but the chittas were not signed: Held, that primâ facie the papers appeared to be record of the partition which was in fact made in a proceeding between the predecessors-in-interest of the parties. If so, the certified copies produced were good and admissible evidence, quite apart from anything in s. 35 of the Evidence Act. KHETRA NATH MANDAL v. MAHAMMAD ALLA RAKHA (1918) 23 C. W. N. 48

EVIDENCE—contd.

———— Evidence of subsequent similar but unconnected transaction—Evidence Act (I of 1872), ss. 9, 11, 14, 15, 167—Improper reception of evidence at the trial—Power of the High Court on review to examine residue of the evidence and to decide the case finally thereon—Power to order a new trial—Proper mode of dealing with the evidence on review of the case in trials by Jury—Court not to substitute its own finding—Evidence improperly admitted of a character to influence the Jury—Letters Patent, 1865, cl. 26—Procedure—Right of prisoner's counsel to begin on reference under cl. 25, Letters Patent—Advisability of separate trial when evidence clearly inadmissible on one of the charges, though admissible as to the rest, and likely to effect verdict on such charge. Where P introduced himself as a Raja's or Zamindar's son to a prostitute who passed into his keeping, and he then introduced G as his durwan, and both afterwards visited her house till the night of the 9th December 1914, when she was found next morning to have been murdered and robbed, and the accused were tried on charges of murder, conspiracy to rob, theft, and abetment of each other in the commission of the theft and murder:—Held, by the majority of the Full Bench (CHAUDHURI, J., dissenting), that evidence that P had similarly introduced himself as a wealthy Babu, successively, in 1915 and 1918, to three other prostitutes, who each became his mistress, that he then introduced G as his durwan, that both visited the women and suddenly disappeared, and that their disappearance was followed by discovery, by the women, in each case, of the loss of their money or ornaments, was not admissible under s. 9, 14 or 15 of the Evidence Act. Held, by the majority (CHAUDHURI, J., dissenting), that s. 15 was not applicable, as there was no question of the acts of murder and theft being accidental or intentional or done with a particular knowledge or intent, but that they were plainly intentional. Per MOOKERJEE, J., that s. 14 was also not applicable, as the evidence of the subsequent occurrences did not show the state of mind of the accused towards the murdered woman. Per MOOKERJEE, J., The first Explanation and Illus. (i), (j) and (o) further clearly excluded such evidence. Empress v. Vyapoory Moodelair, I. L. R. 6 Calc. 655, Baharuddin Mandal v. Emperor, 18 C. L. J. 578, Emperor v. Abdul Wahid Khan, I. L. R. 34 All. 93, Emperor v. Debendra Prasad, I. L. R. 36 Calc. 573, Amrita Lal Hazra v. Emperor, I. L. R. 42 Calc. 957, relied on Makin v. Att.-Gen. [1894] A. C. 57, Rex v. Ball, [1911] A. C. 47 [reversing Rex v. Ball, 5 Cr. App. R. 238], Rex. v. Smith, 11 Cr. App. R. 229. Rex v. Bond [1906] 2 K. B. 389, Rex v. Thompson.[1917] 2 K. B. 630, Thompson v. Rex [1918], A. C. 221, Rex v. Rodley, [1913] 3 K. B. 468, Rex v. Ellis, 5 Cr. App. R. 41, Rex v. Fisher, [1910] 1 K. B. 149, Rex v. Mason, 111 L. T. 336, Rex v. Baird, 84 L. J. K. B. 1785, and Perkins v. Jeffer, [1915] 2 K. B. 702, referred to. Held, by the majority (CHAUDHURI, J., dissenting), that s. 9 did not apply for the purpose of proving identity, as the murder and theft took place in December 1914 and the subsequent incidents in 1915 and 1918. Per CURIAM. Evidence of the subsequent incidents was not admissible under s. 11 Per MOOKERJEE, J. S. 11 was not intended to have a meaning co-extensive with its very wide terms, as is possibly indicated by the fact that the Illustrations do not go beyond the cases familiar in the English Law of Evidence. Reg. [illegible] 1 Calc. 207, Imperatrix v. Pitambar Jina, I. L. R. 2 Bom. 61, Queen-Empress v. O'Hara, I. L. R. 17 Calc. 642, Emperor v. Narayan Raghunath Patki, I. L. R. 32 Bom. 111, and Emperor v. Fateh Chand Agarwalla, I. L. R. 44 Calc. 477, followed. [illegible] ruling in Subrahmania Ayar v. King-Emperor, I. L. R. 25 Mad. 61, has not overruled this view. S. 167 of the Evidence Act applies to civil and criminal cases, and makes it incumbent on the Court to i[illegible] the evidenc[illegible] evidence to [illegible] v. Navroji [illegible] Empress v. [illegible] Calc. 207, [illegible] 2 Bom. 61 [illegible] ably influenced the minds of the jury, and whether it was reasonably certain that the jury would, not might, have acted on the unobjectionable evidence if the wrongly admitted evidence had not also been presented to them. Where the inadmissible evidence was of such character, and the [illegible] he majority [illegible] Makin v. [illegible] rtrand, L. R. [illegible] pp. R. 236, [illegible] x v. Rodley, [1913] 3 K. B. 468, and Rex v. Norton, [1910] 2 K. B. 496, referred to. At the hearing of a reference, under cl. 25 of the Letters Patent, the counsel for the prisoners begins and has a reply: Reg. v. Inhabitants of Gate Fulford, 1 D. & B. 74. Per SANDERSON, C. J. and MUKHERJEE, J. Where, on a trial for offences including murder and theft, certain evidence objected to was admittedly irrelevant on the charge of murder and the jury would have been influenced thereby in their verdict on such charge, the offence of murder should have been separately tried. Per MOOKERJEE, J. The question of the admissibility of evidence must be determined with reference to the provisions of the Indian Evidence Act, and not the English Law. Lekraj Kuar v. Mahpal

EVIDENCE—concld.

Singh, I. L. R. 5 Calc. 744, Empress v. Ashootosh Chukerbutty, I. L. R. 4 Calc. 483, per JACKSON, J., Queen-Empress v. Abdullah, I. L. R. 7 All. 385, Muhammad Allahabad Khan v. Muhammad Ismail Khan, I. L. R. 10 All. 289, Collector of Gorakpur v. Palakhdhari Singh, I. L. R. 12 All. 1, and Imperatrix v. Pitambar Jina, I. L. R. 2 Bom. 61 referred to. EMPEROR v. PANCHU DAS (1920)

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 671

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872).

———— s. 2—Scope of act. Section 7 of the Statute of frauds never applied to India and even if it had it was wholly repealed by the Evidence Act. SIR DINSHAW M. PETIT AND OTHERS v. SIR JAMSETJI JIJIBHOY AND OTHERS

I. L. R. 33 Bom. 509

———— ss. 2, 5, 9—15, 167—

See LETTERS PATENT, CL. 25.

24 C. W. N. 501

———— s. 3—

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION.

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 585

———— admission of evidence—

Admission of evidence for one purpose in a suit is evidence for all purposes (Per LORD MACNAGHTEN). BANK OF BOMBAY v. NAND LAL THACKARSEY DAS . . . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 122

———— ss. 3, 10, 45, 101, 135—

See PROBATE . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 245

———— ss. 3, 74(2)—

See CONTEMPT OF COURT.

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 169

———— ss. 3, 114, ill. (g), 125—

See LIMITATION. I. L. R. 40 Calc. 898

———— s. 4—

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901), s. 201 (3) . I. L. R. 32 All. 427
I. L. R. 33 All. 799

See LAND ACQUISITION.

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 916

———— ss. 4 and 90—Ancient document—Practice as to mode of proof—Whether document presumed to be genuine by the First Court can be rejected in appeal—Practice—Appeal, from preliminary decree after passing of final decree. According to the practice prevailing in this Presidency when primâ facie evidence of custody and of the date of a document purporting to be 30 years old is given the Court generally marks the document on the footing that there is sufficient evidence to justify its being marked as an exhibit at that stage. It is only subsequently that the opponent exercises his right of adducing evidence of circumstances which entitle him to say that the presumption under s. 90 of the Evidence Act should not be drawn with respect to the document. The Court generally arrives at its conclusion on the matter after the evidence on both sides has been given. An Appellate Court is entitled to reject a document presumed to be genuine by the Original Court under s. 90 of the Evidence Act, without calling for further proof. Shafiq-un-nissa v. Shaban Ali Khan, I. L. R. 26 All. 581, and Srinath Patra v. Kuloda Prosad Banerjee, 2 C. L. J. 592, referred to. It is competent to a party to prefer an appeal against the preliminary decree in a redemption suit, though before the appeal is presented the final decree has been passed. Lakshmi v. Mani Devi, 21 Mad. L. J. 1063, followed. Janaki Nath Ray Chowdhury v. Promotha Nath Ray Chowdhury, 15 C. W. N. 830, referred to. RAMUVIEN v. VEERAPPUDAYAN (1914) . . . I. L. R. 37 Mad. 455

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

———— ss. 4 and 90—concld.

———— ss. 5, 32 and 167—Irrelevant evidence admitted without objection, effect of. Mere omission to object to a document which is not in itself admissible as evidence does not constitute such document evidence so as to be available to either side at the trial. It is the duty of the court, apart from any objection by the parties or their pleaders, to exclude all irrelevant evidence. Where the lower court has based its decision partly on irrelevant evidence the High Court will not in second appeal decide whether the other evidence in the case is sufficient to support the findings arrived at, and s. 167 is not a bar to such a case being remanded. MUSSAMMAT SUMITRA KUER v. BAM KAIR CHOWBEY . . . 5 Pat. L. J. 410 ———— ss. 9, 11—Omission of entry of payment in account book, if relevant. The absence of an entry of payment in an account book is a relevant fact not under s. 34 but under ss. 9 and 11 of the Indian Evidence Act. GANGARAM AGARWALA v. LACHIRAM KISHEN DYAL (1914)

19 C. W. N. 611

———— ss. 9, 11, 14, 15, 167—

See EVIDENCE . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 671

———— s. 10—

See PROBATE. I. L. R. 39 Calc. 295

See SECURITY FOR GOOD BEHAVIOUR.

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 215

———— Documents in possession of one conspirator if admissible to prove complicity of another—Independent proof of complicity if necessary. What has to be established under s. 10 of the Evidence Act to make documents found in the possession of one of several persons accused of conspiracy admissible against the other accused is that there is reasonable ground to believe in the existence of a conspiracy among such persons. It is not necessary for this purpose to establish by independent evidence that they were conspirators. Queen Caroline's Case, 2 B. & B. 302, R. v. Jacobs, 1 Cox, C. C. 173, R. v. Duffield, 5 Cox, C. C. 404, 434, referred to. PULIN BEHARI DAS v. KING-EMPEROR (1911)

16 C. W. N. 1105

———— ss. 10, 14, 15, 54, 135, 143, 154—

See CHARGE . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 957

———— ss. 10, 30—

See CONSPIRACY TO WAGE WAR.

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 169

See HABEAS CORPUS.

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 164

———— ss. 10, 30, 54—

See WITNESS . I. L. R. 46 Calc. 700

———— s. 11—

See CUSTOM (RELIGIOUS INSTITUTION).

I. L. R. 1 Lah. 540

See EVIDENCE . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 545

See SECURITY FOR GOOD BEHAVIOUR.

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 91

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

——— s. 11—concld.

——— Scope of—Statement by wounded person on day of occurrence, if admissible—Trial by jury—Acquittal by High Court on the ground of misdirection. The accused was charged with having caused grievous hurt to one of his wives and killed another. The wounded woman on the day of occurrence on her arrival in hospital made a statement to a Magistrate to the effect that it was the accused who had attacked herself and her co-wife. The statement was admitted and placed before the jury: Held, that the mere fact that the woman made a statement had no bearing on the main facts in issue and s. 11 of the Evidence Act does not justify the admission of the contents of the statement. KING-EMPEROR v. ABDUL SHEIKH (1919) . 23 C. W. N. 933

——— ss. 11, 14, 15—Evidence—Admissibility of evidence of similar but unconnected transactions in which the accused were concerned—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), s 420—Cheating. S, Y and W were charged with having cheated B and P and thereby obtained from them various sums of money. The mode adopted by the accused was as follows: S, representing himself to be a broker, introduced B and P, who wanted to borrow money, to Y and W, as being the agents of a wealthy lady of the name of Abkari Begam, and a story was told them that Abkari

a ready money

very favourable

menced, and ex-

d, in the course of which B and P were induced to part with various small sums of money for preliminary expenses. Ultimately the negotiations fell through, and it was discovered that they had been fraudulent from beginning to end. The accused's defence was, broadly, that, while admitting that B and P had paid them the sums of money in questions, the payments were made in circumstances totally different from those alleged by the prosecution. They denied that they had ever said that there was such a person as Akbari Begam, and, a fortiori, that they had ever represented themselves as her servants or agents. Held, that on the case for the prosecution evidence was admissible that the same three persons had on other occasions proposals made of much the same kind to other persons to whom they told a story similar in all essential particulars down to the name of the proposed lender of the money. King-Emperor v. Abdul Wahid Khan, I. L. R. 34 All. 93, and Emperor v. Debendra Prosad, I. L. R. 36 Calc. 573, referred to. EMPEROR v. YAKUB ALI (1916) I. L. R. 39 All. 273

——— ss. 11, 13, 45—

See CUSTOM. I. L. R. 1 Lah. 540

——— ss. 11, 13, 40—45—

See TENANCY ACT. 24 C. W. N. 378

——— ss. 11, 32—Evidence—Admissibility—Statements of deceased persons. Held, that if the terms of a deposition made by a person since deceased do not fall within the provisions of s. 32 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, the provisions of s. 11 of the Act will not avail to make such deposition evidence. BELA RANI v. MAHABIR SINGH (1912) . . I. L. R. 34 All. 341

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

——— s. 13—

1. ——— Evidence—Admissibility of document affecting the right of a person, who is no party to it, against such person. The plaintiff sued for a five annas share in the maliki right in a certain land. His case was that his mother's father owned a ten annas share, half of which he gave to the plaintiff and the other half to the plaintiff's mother. The contesting defendant who was the brother of the plaintiff's grandfather contended that he and his brother owned the ten annas in equal shares and the acting through his father in favour of the contesting defendant in which it was recited that the gift of ten annas by the plaintiff's grandfather was a mistake and that he was entitled to deal, and intended to deal, with five annas only and the other a patta executed by the plaintiff's mother and father in which they stated that a five annas share in the property belonged to the contesting defendant. Held, that, both the documents

ALI v SYED REJAN ALI (1913) 19 C. W. N. 468

2. ——— Suit for rent by co-sharer landlord—Decree for rent obtained by another co-sharer, admissibility of, to prove holding and rent. The plaintiff, a co-sharer landlord, sued the defendant for his share of rent in respect of a certain holding. He produced a decree for rent previously obtained by another co-sharer landlord against the defendant for his share of rent in respect of the same holding. Held, that whether the decree was by a predecessor of the plaintiff or by a stranger, it was admissible under s. 13 of the Evidence Act for the purpose of showing that the defendant held the holding at the particular rent. BYOMKESH CHAKRAVARTI v. JAGADISWAR RAI (1917) . 22 C. W. N. 304

3. ——— Judgment not inter partes admissibility of, for proving admission by defendant—Second appeal—Using document admissible for one purpose as evidence for another The plaintiff sued for recovery of his share in the relying on a certain passage therein as proving an admission by the defendant decided in favour of the plaintiff: Held, that the judgment was inadmissible in evidence for the purpose of proving the alleged admission and the error committed by the Subordinate Judge in using the judgment for a purpose for which it cannot be legitimately used vitiated his decree. That the proper mode of proving any admission made by the defendant in the previous suit was by producing a copy of the defendant's deposition or by putting in the witness-box some one who actually heard what the defendant said. DEBENDRA NATH HALDER v. BIRESHWAR HALDER (1914) 20 C. W. N. 648

——— ss. 13, 42, 43—Judgment not inter partes—Admissibility in evidence—Recitals in

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

———— ss. 13, 42, 43—concld.

judgment if admissible. It is well settled that although a judgment not inter partes, may be used in evidence in certain circumstances, as a fact in issue, or as a relevant fact, or possible as a transaction, the recitals in the judgment cannot be used as evidence in a litigation between the parties. KASHI NATH PAL v. JAGAT KISHORE ACHARYA CHOWDHURY (1915) 20 C. W. N. 643

———— ss. 14, 15—

1. ———— Relevancy of facts showing ill-will and facts forming part of similar occurrences—Indian Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), s. 201—Making false claim in suit. The appellant was convicted under s. 209, Indian Penal Code, of having made false claims in three suits brought against certain persons. Two other persons besides the appellant were similarly prosecuted and convicted for bringing other false suits against the same defendants. Held, that evidence relating to suits brought by the appellant other than those specified in the charges was properly admitted under ss. 14 and 15 of the Evidence Act for the purpose of showing the ill-will or enmity of the appellant towards the defendants in those suits as a body, but the evidence relating to suits brought by other persons, when no case of a conspiracy between them and the appellant was alleged or established, was inadmissible. RAGHUNATH LAL v. KING-EMPEROR (1918) . 22 C. W. N. 494

2. ———— Indian Penal Code s. 415—Cheating—Evidence to show instances of cheating other than those charged inadmissible. A person employed as a clerk in charge of the renewal of licenses for hand-carts received Rs. 2 for each such renewal, whereas he ought to have taken Rs. 1-14. He was charged with cheating, and evidence was produced showing that he had taken 2 annas in excess from persons other than those named in the charge. Held, that such evidence was inadmissible either under s. 14 or under s. 15 of the Evidence Act. Emperor v. Debendra Prosad, I. L. R. 36 Calc. 573, distinguished. Empress v. M. J. Vyapoory Moodeliar, I. L. R. 6 Calc. 655, referred to. EMPEROR v. ABDUL WAHID KHAN (1911)

I. L. R. 34 All. 93

———— ss. 14 and 54—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE. ss. 287 and 310 . . 5 Pat. L. J. 706

———— s. 15—

See SEDITION . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 253

———— ss. 17 and 21—Joint family—Partnership—Admission of partner Evidence—Evidence Act (I of 1872), ss. 17 and 21. An arrangement was alleged to have been made with a Hindu joint family, part of whose property consisted of a joint family business, to take in as partner the person through whom the Plaintiff claimed to have a share in the family properties: Held, that no such arrangements had been proved. That a statement in a will which suggests an inference as to a fact in issue cannot be proved by or on behalf of the person who made it or his representative in interest. NALAM PATTABHIRAMA RAO v. MANDAPILLI NARAYANA MOORTHY (P. C.) 26 C. W. N. 275

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872—contd.

———— s. 18—Admission by natural guardian of minor, if evidence against him in respect of interest not derived from guardian. In a suit by Hindu reversioners for recovery of immoveable property left by their maternal grandfather and sold by their maternal grandmother for alleged necessity, the purchaser's representative adduced oral evidence to show that the widow had sold it for her husband's debts. This evidence was found by the trial Judge to be unreliable but the learned Judge, adverting to documentary evidence, chiefly relied on an affidavit which was filed in another suit and was signed by the reversioners' mothers and fathers and which contained a statement to the effect that certain other premises had been mortgaged by the widow (grandmother) for her husband's debt and that her daughters and sons-in-law had joined for protecting the reversioners' (the present plaintiffs') interest, and the Judge held that the affidavit was admissible, regarding "the parents as the guardians of the plaintiffs and as capable of making admissions against their interest on their behalf:" Held (on appeal), per JENKINS, C. J., and WOODROFFE, J., and affirmed by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, that there is nothing in the Indian Evidence Act to support the view of the learned Judge or make the affidavit relevant. That the present plaintiffs had in no sense derived their interest in the subject-matter of the suit from their parents, nor could their parents be regarded as having been expressly or impliedly authorised by them to make the admission. That when the suit was brought long after the alienation but within the period of limitation and the delay was explained as being due to the pendency of another suit and also to want of means: Held, that the delay did not operate to the prejudice of the plaintiffs' suit for declaration and possession. MANOKARANI DEBI v. HARIPADA MITTER (1914)

18 C. W. N. 718

———— ss. 18, 19—Suit to declare property joint family property—Statement by an alleged co-sharer in a previous deposition that property not joint, if admissible against Plaintiff as admission—Community of interest, proof of. Plaintiffs who were two out of five brothers sued to establish their right to a two-fifths share in properties which were sold in execution of a money decree against another brother U and purchased by the Defendant, on the allegation that the properties, when sold, were the joint family properties of the five brothers. The Defendant whose case was that the brothers were not joint at the date of the sale and that the properties were exclusively owned by U put in a deposition given by another brother K in the suit in which the money decree against U was passed in the course of which K stated that the family was not joint and the properties belonged exclusively to U: Held, that the deposition of K in the previous suit was not admissible as admission against the Plaintiffs. NAGENDRA NATH GHOSH v. LAWRENCE JUTE CO., LD.

25 C. W. N. 89

———— ss. 18, 23—

See EVIDENCE . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 130

———— Conversation between one of several defendants and the plaintiff's pleader about compromise of suit, if admissible in evidence—Admission of one defendant when evidence against others. The plaintiff sued the defendants for recovery of arrears of rent due on a lease

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

———— ss. 18, 23—concld.

executed in favour of their father. The substantial defence was a plea of payment which was overruled by the Courts below. The material evidence in the case was that of the plaintiff's pleader with whom one of the defendants had two interviews, once about a month before the institution of the suit, when a form of settlement was suggested, namely, diminution of interest, and again on the day the suit was instituted, when the pleader was asked to make a compromise. Held, that as there was admittedly no express condition that the evidence of the interviews should not be given, and it could not be inferred from the circumstances that the parties had agreed that the evidence should not be given, the evidence could not be excluded under s. 23 of the Evidence Act. That the evidence of the plaintiff's pleader as to what had passed between him and the defendants who interviewed him for the settlement of the case, was admissible and could be used even against the defendants other than the defendant who made the admission, all of them being jointly liable to the plaintiff as the representatives in interest of their father Per SANDERSON, C. J.—That so far as the first interview was concerned the mere fact that it was contemplated between the parties that the suit was about to be instituted did not prevent the conversation as regards a settlement of the claim from being given in evidence. That the second conversation was a natural consequence of the first conversation and was not privileged. That the question whether the evidence of the interviews could be given against the defendants other than the defendants who made the admission depended upon s. 18 of the Indian Evidence Act, which enacted the principle that for making statements with reference to the joint concern or common subject of interest one partner or co-contractor is considered to be the agent of the other. Per MOOKERJEE, J.—In the absence of any express or strongly implied restriction as to confidence an offer of compromise is clearly admissible and may be material as some evidence of liability although it may not be proper to enquire into the exact terms offered. That under s. 18 of the Evidence Act an admission by one defendant may in certain circumstances be admissible in evidence as against another defendant. The principle is that when several persons are jointly interested in the subject-matter of the suit, an admission by any one of these persons is receivable not only against himself but also against the other defendants whether they be all jointly suing or sued, provided that the admission relates to the subject-matter in dispute and be made by the declarant in his character of a person jointly interested with the party against whom the evidence is tendered. MEAJAN MATABOR v. ALIMUDDIN MEAN (1916) . . . . . 20 C. W. N. 1217

———— ss. 18, 32 (3)—Draft record-of-rights entry in, admissibility of—Recital in conveyance executed by some defendants, if admissible against defendants other than the executants—Reception of inadmissible evidence, if vitiates judgment arrived at independently thereof—Omission to object to irrelevant evidence, effect of—Court, if will entertain objection first taken in appeal as to improper admission of document not per se inadmissible—Ss. 155 (3), 157. The plaintiffs sued for recovery

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd

———— ss. 18, 32(3)—concld.

of possession of a tank on declaration of title alleging that it had been excavated by their ancestor long ago after whom it was known and it had been in their possession all along till dispossession by the defendants. The lower Appellate Court in decreeing the suit relied on (1) an entry in a draft record-of-rights (which was omitted in the record finally published) that the tank was known by the name of plaintiff's ancestor, (2) a recital in a conveyance of sale of an adjoining piece of land executed by some of the defendants (who at the time of the conveyance had acquired no interest in the land in suit) in favour of a stranger to the effect that the land was bounded by the tank known after the ancestor of the plaintiffs. The conveyance was duly proved and admitted in evidence without objection: Held, that the entry in the draft record-of-rights was not admissible in evidence but this did not vitiate the judgment of the lower Appellate Court which arrived at the conclusion on the merits independently of the evidence improperly admitted That the recital in the conveyance though admissible against the makers of the conveyance was not admissible as admissions against the other defendants under s 18 of the Indian Evidence Act nor was it admissible under s. 32 (3) of the Evidence Act, the conditions mentioned in the introductory words of the section not having been fulfilled. That principle which regulates the reception in evidence of an admission by one defendant against another is that when several persons are jointly interested in the subject-matter of the suit an admission of any one of these persons is receivable not only against himself but also against the other defendants whether they be all jointly suing or sued provided that the admission relates to the subject-matter in dispute and be made by the declarant in his character of a person jointly interested with the party against whom the evidence is tendered. The requirements of the identity in legal interest between the joint owners is of fundamental importance and the joint ownership must have existed at the time the statement was made. That if the plaintiff had cited the defendants who were the executants of the kobala as witnesses, the recital could have been received in evidence to impeach their credit under s. 155 (3) or to corroborate their testimony under s. 157 of the Evidence Act and was not per se inadmissible. That an erroneous omission to object to evidence which is irrelevant and consequently inadmissible under any circumstances does not make it admissible but the Court will not entertain for the first time in appeal an objection that a document which per se is not inadmissible in evidence has been improperly admitted in evidence. On this principle the High Court declined to set aside the judgment of the lower Appellate Court. AMBER ALI v. LUTFE ALI (1917) . I. L. R. 45 Calc. 159
21 C. W. N. 996

———— s. 21—

See s. 10 . 1 Pat. L. J. 168
See s. 17 . 26 C. W. N. 275
See ROAD-CESS RETURNS.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 1005

———— ss. 21 and 24—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 164.
I. L. R. 2 Lah. 325

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

——— ss. 21, 25, 29, 47, 67, 73—

See JURY, RIGHT OF TRIAL BY.

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 467

——— ss. 21 and 81—Evidence of publications of a newspaper by a particular person, merely by production of the paper—Sufficiency of Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), ss. 255, 256, 271, 272, 428—"Necessary" meaning of —Mistake of Court, as to primâ facie case—Retrial. Per SUNDARA AYYAR and PHILLIPS, JJ.—Merely, exhibiting a copy of a private newspaper containing a libellous statement without any sort of proof such as the production of an authenticated copy of a declaration under s. 7 of Act XXV of 1867, is no proof of publication of the libel by the person by whom the paper purports to have been published. Evidence that a certain copy of the paper "appears to be printed and published by A" is no proof of publication, by him. If there be proof of publication of a newspaper of by A then s. 81, Evidence Act, presumes that what purpose to be a newspaper of a particular name is that paper and that every copy of its was issued by the publisher of that paper. Gathercole v. Miall, 15 M. & W. 319, Rex v. Forsyth, Russ. & R. 274, and Watts v. Fraser, 7 Ad. & E. 223, considered. A statement in a complaint that the accused published the libel is no evidence against the accused as it was not made in the presence of the accused. The fact that the accused never denied publication by him of the libel does not relieve the prosecution of the necessity of proving affirmatively that the accused published the libel, an essential fact necessary to establish the guilt of the accused. Additional evidence under s. 428, Criminal Procedure Code, can be ordered to be taken only if the Appellate Court thinks it necessary. Quære: Whether, if the admission by the accused of publication is contained in his written statement, that would relieve the prosecution from the defect in letting in evidence of publication. Difference between admissions in civil and criminal cases pointed out. Quære: Whether s. 81 of the Evidence Act is not confined to public documents alone. Per SUNDARA AYYAR, J. —Where the prosecution by its own negligence failed to produce evidence which it was its duty to do, additional evidence cannot be considered "necessary" by the Appellate Court within the meaning of s. 428. The language of that section seems to indicate cases where, there being already evidence on the record, the Court considered it to be unsatisfactory or where the evidence on record leaves the Court in such a state of doubt that it considers it necessary to enable it to decide the case to have further evidence. In such a case the accused should be ordered to be acquitted and not retried allowing further evidence to be taken. Per PHILLIPS, J.—Where on the Court itself taking a mistaken view that a primâ facie case of publication by the defendant had been made out (as was evident from its framing a charge), evidence to that effect was not let in by the complainant; it is a case where the Appellate Court ought to consider that additional evidence is necessary within the meaning of s. 428, Criminal Procedure Code, and a retrial would be the proper order to be made under the circumstances, if taking additional evidence would not meet the requirements of the case. "Necessity" under s. 428, Criminal Procedure Code, is a matter to be determined on the particular facts of each case. Per BENSON, J.—Where the prosecution wanted to let in evidence necessary to prove the offence, but the Magistrate intervened, stating that it was unnecessary in the circumstances of the case and so refused to take that evidence, the case is one in which retrial may properly be ordered or in which the Court may properly call for the additional evidence under s. 428, Criminal Procedure Code. JEREMIAH v. VAS (1813)

I. L. R. 36 Mad. 457

——— ss. 21, 157—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), ss. 162, 288—Evidence—Admissibility of evidence—Statements made by witness to Police and Panch—Statements made by the witness as accused before Committing Magistrate—Witness deposing to different story before Sessions Court—Corroboration of the deposition before the Committing Magistrate by statements made before the Police and the Panch—Investigating Police Officer—Deposition of, as to statements made by witnesses to him—Examination-in-chief—Practice and procedure. During the trial of an accused person, the Sessions Judge admitted into evidence and used against the accused the following statements: (1) statements made by a witness to the Police implicating the accused, (2) the same witness's statement to the Panch, (3) his statement as an accused person made before a Magistrate, and (4) statements made by the co-accused to the Police. The witness, when he was examined before the Committing Magistrate, gave a consistent story; but he deposed to quite a different version when he was examined in the Sessions Court. The learned Judge disbelieved the changed story, and he used the witness's statements to the Police and his statements as an accused person and his statements to the Panch, by way of corroboration of what the witness had stated to the Committing Magistrate. The accused was convicted and sentenced. On appeal:—Held, (i) that it was an error to admit statements Nos. 1 and 2 for the purpose of corroborating statements No. 3, for only the statements of witnesses made to the trying Court can be corroborated in the manner contemplated by s. 157 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872. Previous statements might be used to corroborate or contradict statements made at the trial; not to corroborate statements made prior to the trial. (ii) That statements No. 2 were altogether inadmissible as evidence of the accused's guilt, for they could at most be regarded as admissions by the co-accused which could possibly be used against himself, but could not be proved and used against the accused. The Investigating Police Officer ought not to be allowed to depose in examination-in-chief to what the witnesses stated to him. It opens up an undesirably wide field for cross-examination and leads to the attention of the Court being diverted and distracted from the true issues. Moreover, it is contrary to the plain intention of s. 162 of the Code of Criminal Procedure which is that such statements should be used, if at all, on behalf of and not against the person under trial. EMPEROR v. AKBAR BADOO (1910)

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 599

——— s. 23—

See s. 18 . . 20 C. W. N. 1217

See EVIDENCE . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 130

See MALICIOUS PROSECUTION.

4 Pat. L. J. 676

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

———— s. 24—

See CONFESSION I. L. R. 37 Calc. 735
23 C. W. N. 886

See PRACTICE . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 220

———— If in the circumstances of a case it appears to the Court that there is reason to believe that the confession was obtained by inducement the prosecution must shew that the confession was freely made. ASHUTOSH DUTT v THE KING-EMPEROR 26 C. W. N. 54

———— Confession—Inducement proceeding from a person in authority. The accused in making a confession before a Magistrate admitted that he had been told to tell the truth by the Sahib who told him to tell the truth and he would be released: —Held, that the confession so made was bad under s. 24 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 EMPEROR v. DINANATH SUNDARJI
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1086

———— ss. 24, 27, 30—

See MISDIRECTION.
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 557

———— ss. 24, 123, 124—Privilege claimed by witness—Confession—Opium Act (I of 1878), s. 9—Illicit possession of opium. The appellant was prosecuted by the Excise authorities and convicted of being in possession of opium without a license. It was stated that the appellant made a confession to the Superintendent of Excise At the trial the defence called the Inspector of the Customs Preventive Service and asked him to corroborate his statements from the posting register to show that the Preventive Officers were stationed at a particular place at the time of the appellant's arrest. The defence also examined the Superintendent of the Preventive Service and asked him whether an Excise Inspector made an admission to him in the presence of the Excise Superintendent. Held, that the question of privilege could not arise in respect of the posting register, the entry in question being merely a note of the times when particular Preventive Officers were ordered to be at their stations That the Customs Superintendent could not claim privilege as to the admission made to him by the Inspector although what took place between the two Superintendents might probably be privileged. That in the absence of any inducement, threat or promise the confession to the Superintendent of Excise was not shut out under s. 24 of the Evidence Act. RUKUMALI v. EMPEROR (1917) 22 C. W. N. 451

———— s. 25—

See JURY . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 467

———— Statement of approver, admissibility of. Statements of approvers to a Police Inspector are inadmissible against accused. EMPEROR v. MILAKANTA . L. R. 35 Mad. 247

———— ss. 25, 27—Police deposing to admission of guilt by accused, impropriety of. Where the Police Sub-Inspector in his deposition before the Court stated that one of the accused admitted before him his guilt and that from the statement of that accused he (the Sub-Inspector) could understand the exact nature of the offences committed by the accused: Held, that the Sub-Inspector ought never to have been allowed to make such statement before the assessors whose minds must have been considerably prejudiced thereby. PAIMULLAH v. KING-EMPEROR (1911).

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

———— ss. 25, 27—concld.

16 C. W. N. 238

———— ss. 25, 30—

———— Confessional statements to Excise Officers—Self-exculpatory statements, use of—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 342—Opium Act (I of 1878), s. 9, cls. (c), (d)—Illicit possession of opium. The appellant with two other persons was prosecuted under the Opium Act. The co-accused made some statements to Excise Officers which the Magistrate used against the appellant. Held, that the statements could not be rejected under s 25 of the Evidence Act, for it could not be said that the Excise Officers were Police Officers. That in order to determine whether the statements were confessions the whole of the statements must be taken into consideration and the statements in question being self-exculpatory were inadmissible against the appellant. That the Magistrate should have examined the accused as provided in s. 342, Criminal Procedure Code. The High Court acquitted the accused on the ground that although the facts proved might give rise to suspicion against the appellant, he was entitled to the benefit of the doubt. AH FOONG CHINAMAN v KING-EMPEROR (1918)
22 C. W. N. 334

See EXCISE OFFICERS
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 411

———— ss. 25, 33—

See ADMISSIONS AND CONFESSIONS TO POLICE OFFICERS.
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 601

———— ss. 25, 114, Illustration (b), 133 and 157—Accomplice, corroboration of—Material particulars, what are—Admissibility of previous statements of accomplice to Inspector of Police—S 157, "authority legally competent to investigate the fact," meaning of—Competency of officer of Criminal Investigation Department—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), ss 162, 154, 155, 157 and 551—Act XIV of 1908—Letters Patent, cls. 25 and 26. On a preliminary objection raised by the Crown with reference to the jurisdiction of the Court: Held, that the Letters Patent, s. 26, authorises the grant of a certificate by the Advocate-General in a case tried by a Special Bench appointed under the Indian Criminal Law Amendment Act (XIV of 1908). The following five points of law were raised in the certificate of the Advocate General in this Letters Patent Appeal, viz.—(i) Does the evidence of an accomplice require corroboration in material particulars before it can be acted upon; is it open to the Court to convict upon the uncorroborated testimony of an accomplice if the Court is satisfied that the evidence is true; and does not the Indian Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 133, read with s. 114, illustration (b), merely intend to lay down that a conviction upon the uncorroborated testimony of an accomplice is not illegal where the presumption of untrustworthiness attaching to the evidence of an accomplice is rebutted by special circumstances? (ii) Can the previous statements of an accomplice legally amount to corroboration of the evidence given by him at the trial? (iii) Is an Inspector of the Criminal Investigation Department an authority legally competent to investigate the case within the meaning of s. 157, [illegible]

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

——— ss. 114, Illust. (b), 133 and 157—contd.

Act (I of 1872) ? (iv) Is a statement of a confessional nature made by a witness to a police officer a confession of an accused person within the purview of s. 25, Indian Evidence Act ? (v) While statements made by a person to a police officer in the course of an investigation and taken down in writing may not (by reason of s. 162, Criminal Procedure Code) be proved by the production of the writing, may such statements be proved by oral evidence ? On the first point, Held (by BENSON, WALLIS and MILLER, JJ.) that the evidence of an accomplice need not be corroborated in material particulars before it can be acted upon and that it is open to the Court to convict upon the uncorroborated testimony of an accomplice if the Court is satisfied that the evidence is true. On the second point, Held (By BENSON, WALLIS and MILLER, JJ.) that the previous statements of an accomplice can legally amount to corroboration of the evidence given by him at the trial. On the third point, Held (by BENSON, WALLIS and MILLER, JJ.) that an Inspector of the Criminal Investigation Department is an authority legally competent to investigate the fact within the meaning of s. 157, Indian Evidence Act. On the fourth point, Held (by BENSON, WALLIS and SUNDARA AYYAR, JJ.) that a statement of a confessional nature made by a witness to a police officer is a confession of an accused person within the purview of s. 25, Indian Evidence Act. On the fifth point, Held (per curiam totam), that while statements made by a person to a police officer in the course of an investigation and taken down in writing may not (by reason of s. 162, Criminal Procedure Code) be proved by the production of the writing, they may be proved by oral evidence. Before the High Court has decided any point of law raised in the Advocate-General's certificate, the accused cannot be heard on any point not included in the certificate. MUTHUKUMARASWAMI PILLAI v. KING-EMPEROR (1912)

I. L. R. 35 Mad. 397

——— Criminal Procedure Code, Act V of 1898, ss. 154, 155, 157, 162 and 551—Approvers' evidence, corroboration of—Admissibility of previous statements of, to Police Inspector—Value of such statements as corroboration—"Legally competent to investigate," meaning of—Competency of officer of Criminal Investigation Department. Sir ARNOLD WHITE, C.J., and AYLING, J.—It is not the law either in England or India that the evidence of an accomplice must be corroborated in material particulars before it can be acted upon. Where a Court is Judge of fact as well as of law the Court as a Judge of fact is not precluded from considering the question whether the unsupported evidence of an accomplice is true or not. A Court may be competent in declaring to draw the presumption of fact referred in the illustration (b) to s. 114, Indian Evidence Act (I of 1872). S. 133, Indian Evidence Act, is the substantive enactment declaring the law whereas s. 114 only lays down certain propositions intended to assist the Courts in drawing inferences of fact. Where the Court is acting in the capacity of both Judge and Jury, it must direct itself and the proper direction would be :—Consider the evidence of the approvers, always bear in mind that it is tainted evidence, scrutinize it with the utmost care, accept it with the greatest caution, consider it in the light of the circumstances in which it is given and in the light of all the other circumstances in the case of which evidence is legally admissible. Then, if you believe it, act on it even if there is not corroboration in the strict sense of the word. If you do not believe it, reject it. In re Meunier, [1894] 2 Q. B. 415, approved. Reg. v. Ramasami Padayachi, I. L. R. 1 Mad. 394, approved. What are the "material particulars" referred to in the Indian Evidence Act (I of 1872), illustration (b), must depend upon the nature of the charge and the facts of the particular case. Oral testimony of independent witnesses is not necessary. SANKARAN-NAIR, J. (dissentiente).—The Indian Evidence Act [ss. 133 and 114, illustration (b)] embodies the rules of English law that the presumption must first be drawn that the evidence of an accomplice is unreliable, and exceptional circumstances must be proved to justify its acceptance. The question is not whether a conviction based on the uncorroborated testimony of an accomplice is legal but whether there is a presumption that such testimony cannot be accepted without corroboration. A person should not be convicted except under "very special circumstances" upon the uncorroborated testimony of an accomplice. The "special circumstances" are that the grounds on which an accomplice's evidence has been held to be untrustworthy did not either exist in the case or did not exist in their full strength: that there are countervailing considerations of greater weight which diminish or entirely get rid of the weight due to such presumptions. In cases tried by a jury, a jury has to be advised by the Judge of what I have above referred to. The CHIEF JUSTICE and AYLING, J.—It cannot be laid down as a proposition of law that previous statements of an accomplice cannot be regarded as corroborative of evidence given by him at his trial. Reg. v. Malapabi Kupana, 11 Bom. H. C. R., 196 dissented from. SANKARAN-NAIR, J. (dissentiente).—A previous statement by the accomplice himself or a statement by another accomplice is not the corroboration required under the rule as to material particulars. The CHIEF JUSTICE and AYLING, J.—The words "before any authority legally competent to investigate the fact" in s. 157, Indian Evidence Act, are quite general and should not be restricted to police officers and to "investigations" in the technical sense in which the word is used in the Code of Criminal Procedure. The words are competent to investigate not a case but "the fact." The words "legally competent" do not mean only competent under some express provision of law. An Inspector of the Criminal Investigation Department has power to investigate in cases to which s. 156, Criminal Procedure Code, applies. As such his "local area" is the Presidency of Madras. SANKARAN-NAIR, J. (dissentiente).—The police officers entitled to investigate an offence are the police officers referred to in the Code of Criminal Procedure, i.e., a station-house officer (ss. 156, 157), an officer in charge of a police station (ss. 154, 155, cl. 1) and police officers superior in rank to an officer in charge of a police station (s. 551). An Inspector of the Criminal Investigation Department is not such an officer and his evidence is not admissible under s. 157, Indian Evidence Act, he not being "any authority legally competent to investigate the fact" under s. 157, Criminal Procedure Code. The CHIEF JUSTICE and AYLING, J.—A statement of a confessional nature made to a police officer by a witness is not a confession of an accused person within the purview of s. 25, Evidence Act. S. 25 lays down that such a statement cannot be used against the person making it while on his trial, SANKARAN-NAIR, J. (dissentiente) —The statements of approvers to the Police Inspector being really confessions are inadmissible in evidence against the accused under s 25, Indian Evidence Act. A confession is not the less a confession because it is sought to be used against other persons. Per totum curiam.—Under s. 162, Criminal Procedure Code, the written record of a statement made to a police officer in the course of an investigation cannot be used as evidence but the section does not exclude oral evidence of the statement whether the statement has been taken down in writing or not. KING-EMPEROR v. NILAKANTA (1912) . . . . I. L. R. 35 Mad. 247

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

———— ss. 114, Illust. (b), 133 and 157—concld.

———— s. 26—

1. ———————— Statement to Excise Officer after arrest effected with help of police sergeants when such sergeants present in the house searched though not in the room where statement made, if a statement made in police custody, and if admissible—Protracted trial, evils of. Where in they were not present in the room in which the appellant made certain statements to the Excise officer: Held, that the appellant was to be regarded as having been in police custody for the purpose of s. 26 of the Evidence Act and the statements were inadmissible. Protracted trial in the Presidency Magistrate's Court animadverted on. IBRAHIM MUHAMAD v. KING-EMPEROR (1917) . . 21 C. W. N. 691

2. ———————— Confession—Custody ... in dis... , is bad.

... it up by the Magistrate in whose lock-up he was, in the custody of two policemen, to a hospital for treatment. The policemen made him over to the doctor and waited in the verandah to take him back. While with the doctor in his room, the accused made a confession of his guilt. At the trial, the confession was allowed to be proved. A question having arisen whether the confession was properly let in. Held, that the confession was excluded by s. 26 of the Indian Evidence Act (I ... in police ... remained ... standing outside on the verandah. Queen-Empress v. Lakshmya bin Bhima, (1896) Ratanlal's Cri. Cas. 855, followed. EMPEROR v. MALLANGOWDA (1917). I. L. R. 42 Bom. 1

———— s. 27—

See s. 25 . . . 16 C. W. N. 238

See MISDIRECTION

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 557

———— ss. 27, 25, 21—

————————First information by accused admitting guilt—Portions of such information leading to discovery and containing narrative of events prior to occurrence, if admissible—"Discovery," if limited to discovery by police—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 164—Statement

A first information of murder was lodged with the police by the accused himself and in he he made a statement which was not a confession and which was not recorded by the Magistrate: Held, that the first information was not admissible in its entirety but so much of it as contained a narrative of events prior to the occurrence and the ... material ... Where ... persons affected thereby may demand that the statement should be admitted and considered in its entirety yet the principle that portions of a statement or confession may be admitted and others excluded to or by police officers and facts already known to persons other than police officers may be said to be discovered in consequence of information received within the meaning of s 27 of the Evidence Act. Surendra Nath v Emperor, 19 Cr. L. J. 935 at p. 937 (1918) and Adu Sikdah v. Queen-Empress, I. L. R. 11 Calc. 635 (1885), referred to. Under s. 164, Cr. P. C. no distinction can be drawn between a statement made by an accused person and a confession made by him and the statement made by the accused should have been recorded by the Deputy Magistrate as provided in s. 164 and the Deputy Magistrate's evidence regarding the unrecorded statement was inadmissible. Queen-Empress v. Bhairab, 2 C. W.N. 702 at p. 715 (1898), Emperor v. Rajani, 8 C. W. N 22 (1900) and Amiruddin v. Emperor, I. R. R. 45 Calc. 557 at p. 564 (1917), referred to. To suggest that in capital cases stronger evidence or a higher degree of certainty is required than in other criminal cases is wrong. THE SUPERINTENDENT AND REMEMBRANCER OF LEGAL AFFAIRS v. LALIT MOHAN SINGH ROY . . 25 C. W. N. 788

Kangal Mall, I. L. R. 41 Calc 601 (1915) and Barindra Ghose v Emperor, I. L. R 37 Calc. 467

———— s. 29—

See JURY . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 467

———— s. 30—

See s. 25 . . 22 C. W. N. 934

See CONFESSION . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 446

See CONSPIRACY TO WAGE WAR.

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 559

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE—

Ss. 110, 117 . I. L. R. 41 All. 231

Ss. 255, 342 . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 302

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

———— s. 30—contd.

See HABEAS CORPUS I. L. R. 39 Calc. 164

See WITNESS . I. L. R. 46 Calc. 700

———— Confession of co-accused not to be acted upon without corroboration—Misdirection to jury. The confession of a co-accused is on an even lower footing than the evidence of an accomplice and a conviction based on such a confession alone is bad in law. S. 30 of the Evidence Act only provides that such a confession is to be an element in the consideration of all the facts of the case, but it does not do away with the necessity for other evidence. It is the duty of the Judge, when there is no other evidence than the confession of a co-accused to direct the jury accordingly and tell them to acquit the accused; and his omission to do so is a misdirection which will vitiate a conviction. GIDDIGADU v. EMPEROR (1909) . I. L. R. 33 Mad. 46

———— Co-accused—Plea of guilty—Removal of co-accused from dock—Co-accused's confession—Admissibility as against the other prisoner. Where one co-accused pleads guilty and is removed from the dock and the other accused alone is tried: Held, that the confession of the former cannot be taken into consideration as against the latter under s. 30 of the Indian Evidence Act, for there has been no joint trial. Queen-Empress v. Pahuji, I. L. R. 19 Bom. 195, followed. EMPEROR v. KERAMUT SIRDAR (1911).

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 405
16 C. W. N. 49

———— Co-accused—Confession—Independent corroboration—Evidence—Practice. Eleven accused persons were tried for the offence of dacoity. There was no direct evidence against any of them. Seven of these confessed, each one implicating himself and the rest. They were convicted on their own confessions. A question arose whether the remaining four accused, who had not confessed, could be convicted solely on the confessions of their co-accused when they were not corroborated by any independent evidence. HEATON, J., was of opinion that s. 30 of the Evidence Act made the confessions, which were already evidence in the case, evidence against the person implicated as well as the other accused. SHAH, J., held, that s. 30 permitted the confession of a co-accused to be taken into consideration along with other evidence in the case; but if there was no evidence in the case outside those statements, no conviction based only upon the confessions of co-accused was good in law. Owing to this difference in opinion, the case was referred to MACLEOD, J. Held, that there was nothing in s. 30 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, which prevented the Court from convicting after taking the confession of a co-accused into consideration; but that the High Courts in India had laid down a rule of practice which had all the reverence of law, that a conviction founded solely on the confession of a co-accused could not be sustained. Held, further, that the confession of one co-accused could not be said to be corroborated by the confession of other co-accused. Per MACLEOD, J.—I do not think that "confession" in s. 30 can be restricted to an unretracted confession, as once a confession is proved it may be taken into consideration. EMPEROR v. GANGAPPA KARDEPPA (1913).

I. L. R. 38 Bom. 156

———— Confession of co-accused in dacoity case, if admissible in subsequent bad livelihood case in which the maker of the confession was not an accused. In a case under s. 110, Cr. P. C., against the Petitioner the confession made by a person who was the co-accused of Petitioner in a dacoity case but not in the present case was admitted in evidence: Held, that the confession was inadmissible. MAFIZUDDIN KHAN v. THE KING-EMPEROR . . . 25 C. W. N. 239

———— Evidence—Confession—Admissibility of, in evidence against coaccused—Joint trial. One out of several accused persons who were being tried jointly for an offence under s. 193 of the Indian Penal Code pleaded guilty and made a statement implicating himself and other accused. The Magistrate, however, did not convict him merely upon his plea of guilty, but upon the evidence and upon the statement made by him. The Magistrate also took the confession of this accused into consideration as against the others. Held, that the course taken by the Magistrate was not only admissible, but that in the circumstances of the case the Magistrate would not have exercised a sound discretion in convicting the confessing accused at once on the strength of his own statement alone. EMPEROR v. DIP NARAIN (1915) . I. L. R. 37 All. 247

———— ss. 30, 114, 133—Confession by co-accused—Evidence against the accused—Amount of corroboration. The accused was charged with the murder of his brother in concert with two associates with whom he was jointly tried for the offence. The principal evidence against the accused was the confessions of the two co-accused. Other facts established in the case were these. The accused had a wife and children, but no means to support them; he had to work as a coolie in the Forest Department. He was continually importuning the deceased who was rich but had no wife or children, for assistance which was continually refused, and although the two brothers lived in the same building they did not associate. About a fortnight after the disappearance of the deceased the accused made free with the grain which was collected in his brother's bin; and on several occasions gave rice from it to his two associates. Three months after the event, the accused told a shop-keeper that his brother had gone to Miraj for medical treatment. After the crops had been got in he began to ask the tenants of his brother to pay their rents to him. Shortly afterwards, the accused, when questioned by the Ranger of the forest, replied that his brother had gone to Miraj and that no letter had come. Later, the accused received a letter through post, purporting to come from his brother which directed the accused to collect the rents and pay the assessment. The muster-roll kept by the Forest Officer showed that the accused was absent from his work on the day of the offence and for some days after. The trial Judge acquitted the accused. On appeal by Government to the High Court of Bombay, HEATON, J. was of opinion that there was in the case, apart from the confessions, a body of evidence and circumstances and that taking he circumstances t. SHAH, J. was of opinion that, though the proved circumstances in the case were consistent with the guilt of the accused and though they might create a certain amount of suspicion against him, they did not prove anything as to his participation in the crime. Owing to this difference in opinion the case was heard by SCOTT, C. J. Held, by SCOTT, C. J. (agreeing with HEATON, J. and differeing from SHAH, J.) that there was, on the facts established, corroboration of the story of the confessing co-accused so far as it affected the accused. Dictum of GARTH, C. J, in Empress v. Ashootosh

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

———— ss. 30, 114, 133—concld.

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 739

1. ———— Admission of evidence—Erroneous omission to object to the admission of evidence—Relevancy of evidence. Plaintiff sued to recover possession of a house. The defendants contended that their deceased father had spent a certain amount of money for the completion of the house and for the purpose of proving this relied upon their father's will and a memo of expenses prepared by him. In the lower Courts no objection was taken to the admission of the will and the memo. as evidence. In second appeal, it was contended that the evidence was inadmissible. Held, upholding the contention, that neither the will nor the memo. was admissible in evidence under s. 32 of the Evidence Act, 1872; the erroneous omission before the lower Courts to object to the admission of evidence did not make that evidence relevant. Miller v. Babu Madho Das (1896) L. R. 23 I. A. 106, relied on. NARHARI HARI v. AMBABAI (1919) . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 192

———— s. 32—

See s. 5 . . . 5 Pat. L. J. 410

See s. 18 . I. L. R. 45 Calc. 159

See EVIDENCE . L. R. 43 I. A. 256

See CUTCHI MEMONS.
I. L. R. 41 Bom. 181

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION.
I. L. R. 36 Mad. 69

See HINDU LAW (CUSTOM ADOPTION).
5 Pat. L. J. 164

See HINDU LAW (JOINT FAMILY)
5 Pat. L. J. 605
I. L. R. 40 All. 159

See HINDU LAW (MINOR).
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 166

See WILL . . I. L. R. 1 Calc. 173

———— sub-s. 2—Held, that entries in the diary of a deceased illiterate made by other people at his request were inadmissible under s. 32 (2) but might be used s. 157 or s. 159. MUSSAMAT NAINA KOER v. GOBARHAN SINGH
2 Pat. L. J. 42

———— sub-s. 5—Evidence of relationship—Statement made in a plaint filed by a member of the family since deceased—Second appeal—Finding of fact. In a suit to recover possession of property which [had belonged in her life-time to one Musammat Fiddo, one of the material issues was whether the plaintiffs were or were not the sons of one Munir Khan, paternal uncle of Musammat Fiddo. In support of their statement that they were the sons of Munir Khan the plaintiffs tendered in evidence the plaint in a suit filed some years ante litem motam, in which Musammat Fiddo as plaintiff had impleaded them as defendants, describing them as the sons of Munir Khan. Held, that this plaint was not only admissible evidence on the subject of the plaintiffs' relationship to Munir Khan, but was evidence to which considerable weight might be attached. The High Cou- not concerned upon which a of first appeal admissible evidence to support the finding of the court below, the High Court cannot interfere with it. Coghlar v. Cumberland, L. R. 1 Ch. D. 704, referred to. MAULADAD KHAN v. ABDUL SATTAR (1917) . . I. L. R. 39 All. 426 ———— Statement of relationship by deceased person, admissibility of. The plaintiff brought a suit on two hand-notes executed by the defendant. The defence was that the under Act VIII of 1890, which contained a petition by the defendant's aunt, since deceased, for her appointment as guardian of the defendant. This petition contained a statement by the aunt as to the date of the defendant's birth. The lower Appellate Court held that this statement was admissible in evidence. The High Court in appeal reversed the decision. Held (on review of judgment), that the statement was admissible in evidence under s. 32, cl. (5) of the Evidence Act. Ram Chandra Dutt v. Jogeswar Narain Deo, I. L. R. 20 Calc. 758, followed. RAM KISHORE SADKHAN v. MANINDRA MOHAN RAY (1915).

19 C. W. N. 646

———— sub-s. 6—Evidence—Pedigree. A document, ancient and genuine, purporting to be a family pedigree, was produced in evidence in a mutation case by one Jiraj. The record was brought before the civil Court in a suit in which the plaintiff's relationship to one Hulas, the last male owner of certain property, was in question. Jiraj stated that he had received the pedigree from his grandfather. It was not proved who had prein evidence under s. 32, cl. (6), of the Evidence Act. JAHANGIR v. SHEORAJ SINGH (1915).

I. L. R. 37 All. 600

———— Custom, statements of deceased persons as to existence of, if admissible, when made after controversy arisen. Evidence, oral or documentary, as to statements of a deceased person as to the custom in a family, is not admissible, if it appears that such statements were made after a controversy as to the custom had arisen. EKRADESHWAR SINGH v. JANESWARI BAHUASIN (1914) . . . . 42 Cal.
W.

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

——— ss. 32, 90.

——— A document 30 years old even though it does not purport to shew who signed it may be admissible as independent evidence if the provisions of s. 32 are complied with. CHARITAR RAI v. KALISAH BIHARI 3 Pat. L. J. 306

——— s. 33—

See s. 25 . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 601

——— 'Opportunity to cross-examine' meaning of—Whether an accused in a Sessions enquiry had the opportunity to cross-examine a prosecution witness. In an enquiry after Chapter XVIII of the Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), a witness was examined by the prosecution but he was not cross-examined by the accused; in the Sessions trial, the witness having died, his deposition was put in under s. 33 of the Indian Evidence Act: Held, that it is doubtful whether the evidence is admissible under s. 33 of the Indian Evidence Act; even if it is admissible, its evidentiary value is very small indeed. Having regard to the practice at Sessions enquiries not to cross-examine the prosecution witnesses unless, at the conclusion of the enquiry when the charge is drawn up, the accused thinks it worth while to defend himself in the first Court. It could hardly be said that the accused had the opportunity to cross-examine a witness examined by the prosecution, where the accused did not cross-examine any of the prosecution witnesses, and was not asked by the enquiring Magistrate to exercise this right of cross-examination. IBRAHIM v. THE KING-EMPEROR, (1912). 17 C. W. N. 230

———Evidence—Admissibility of statement made by witness since deceased. A statement made by a witness in a civil suit concerning the authenticity of document before the court may be admissible in evidence on the prosecution of a party to the suit for an offence relating to the document, the witness having since died: but such a statement cannot be treated as evidence against another witness in the same civil suit accused of abetment of the offence charged against the party, and of perjury. EMPEROR v. KADHE MAL . . . . . I. L. R. 42 All. 24

——— Mortgage-bond—Denial of execution, refusal of registration—Examination of attesting witnesses by the Registrar—Compulsory registration—Death of attesting witnesses—Suit on mortgage—Evidence recorded by Registrar if admissible under s. 33, Evidence Act—Special Registrar or Sub-Registrar at Headquarters, powers of. A mortgage-bond was presented for registration by the mortgagee before the Special Registrar. The executant denied execution and the Special Registrar, acting for the Registrar, refused registration but after making an enquiry during which he examined the attesting witnesses registered the document. Subsequently, the mortgagee brought a suit on the mortgage, but during the interval the attesting witnesses, all but one, had died and the depositions recorded during the registration enquiry were tendered as evidence: Held, that the evidence given by the deceased attesting witnesses, who were duly cross-examined before the Special Registrar, was relevant and admissible in the present suit under s. 33 of the

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

——— s. 33—concld.

Evidence Act. JEHETO SHEIKH v. JAIBANNESSA BIBEE (1913) . . . 18 C. W. N. 605

——— Admissibility of evidence recorded in a previous proceeding—Consent of parties. Evidence recorded in a previous judicial proceeding between the same parties is made admissible in a subsequent proceeding by the consent of both parties. Sri Rajah Prakasarayanim Garu v. Venkata Rao (1915) I. L. R. 38 Mad. 160 approved. Ponnuswami Pillay v. Singaram Pillay (1918) I. L. R. 41 Mad. 731, overruled. JAINAB BIBI SAHEBA v. HYDERALLY SAHIB (1920) . . . I. L. R. 43 Mad. 609 ——— Court's duty before admitting evidence under—Consent or want of objection on the part of the accused to the reception of inadmissible evidence—Duty of prosecution to prove the case—Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 458—Hearsay evidence, inadmissibility of. Before admitting under s. 33 of the Evidence Act, a deposition given on previous occasion a Judge has to satisfy himself that the presence of the witness cannot be obtained without an amount of delay or expense which he considers to be unreasonable. It is not enough to have the statement of the Public Prosecutor to that effect; and even consent or want of objection on the part of the accused's pleader to the reception of such evidence will not, in spite of s. 58 of the Evidence Act, entitle the Court to admit it under s. 33. Hearsay evidence as to the complicity of the accused in the crime charged and evidence as to the commission of other offences by the accused not relevant for the purpose of the trial are inadmissible. Where a Sessions Judge convicted the accused relying mainly upon such inadmissible evidence as above described and did not warn the jury against acting on the same, their Lordships set aside the conviction as illegal. Per SESHAGIRI AYYAR, J.—The Evidence Act is not exhaustive of the rules of Evidence. Re ANNAVI MUTHIRIYAN (1915) . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 449

——— s. 34—

See s. 32 . . 3 Pat. L. J. 306

——— s. 35—

See s. 32 . . 2 Pat. L. J. 42

See BENGAL TENANCY ACTS, 103 2 Pat. L. J. 187

See HINDU LAW—REVERSIONERS. I. L. R. 40 Mad. 871

See ITMAM . . I. L. R. 47 Cal. 979

——— s. 35—Evidence—Public document—Report made by kotwal in 1840, on reference by the Political Agent. Held, that on the question of the ownership of a certain temple said to be the property of the Ajaigarh State, the report of a kotwal who in 1840 had made an inquiry into the ownership of the temple at the instance of the Political Agent, was relevant evidence as being a public record of a public inquiry. BALDEO DAS v. GOBIND DAS (1914) . . . I. L. R. 36 All. 161

1. ——— Register of births and deaths kept by village officials—Extract from the register, whether receivable in evidence and whether evidence of the date of death of a person. A register of births and deaths kept by village officials under the orders of the Board of Revenue is a public

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

——— s. 35—concld.

of his death. Ratcliff v. Ratcliff and Anderson, 1 Sw. & Tr. 467, and In the Estate of Goodrich : Payne v. Bennt, [1904] P. D. 138, referred to. RAMALINGA REDDI v. KOTAYYA (1917). I. L. R. 41 Mad. 26

2. ——— Register of births and deaths kept at Police stations if a public document. A Register of births and deaths kept at the police station is a public document within the meaning of s. 35 of the Evidence Act and a certified copy of an extract therefrom is admissible in evidence. TAMIJUDDIN SARKAR v. SHEIKH TAZU (1918) . . . . 22 C. W. N. 822

3. ——— Register of Minhaidari villages, admissibility of. On the question of the admissibility in evidence of the contents of a register of Minhaidari villages, Held, that the register being clearly an official document, in the absence of anything to show that any particular part of it was in excess of the official duty by reason of which it came into existence, and that in consequence that part might not be admissible, was admissible in evidence under s 35 of the Indian Evidence Act. DIRGAJ DEO BAHADUR v BENI MAHTO (1917) . 22 C. W. N. 439

4. ——— Admissibility of report by Tahsildar to Collector. A Tahsildar, in

Held, that the report was not admissible under the first part of s. 35 of the Evidence Act to prove that the charities referred to were not performed on the date of the report. Although in certain cases an isolated document may be considered a is admissible evidence to prove such fact MALLIKARJUNA DUGGET v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE (1911) . . . . . I. L. R. 35 Mad. 21

5. ——— Estate Partition Act (VIII of 1876)—V of 1897—Batwara khasra prepared under the Act of 1876, if a record within the meaning of s. 35. A khasra prepared under Act VIII of 1876 in batwara proceedings, which were completed so far as the particular khasra was concerned, before Act V of 1897 was passed is not record within the meaning of s. 35 of the Evidence Act and cannot be relied on for the purpose of rebutting the presumption raised by an entry in the record-of-rights. Perma Ray v. Kishen Ray, I. L. R. 25 Calc. 99, followed. Janki Deboy v. Kirtarath Roy, 13 C. W. N. 93, distinguished. NANDA LAL PATHUK v. MOHUNT CHANURPAT DAS (1913) . . . 17 C. W. N. 779

——— ss. 35, 74, 114—

See REGISTER OF DEATHS.
I. L. R. 46 Cal. 152

——— ss. 35 and 82—

See HINDU LAW—MINOR.
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 166

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

——— ss. 35 and 83—Chitta prepared by Government for resuming surplus lands acquired for roadway, if public document—Admissibility as private document. Where it was argued that chittas prepared by Government for the purpose of resuming surplus lands acquired for the purpose of a roadway in the possession of persons without title were not admissible in evidence as public documents, Held, that the chittas were admissible initiated, the reports of the Collector and the orders of the Board of Revenue furnished valuable evidence that Government recognised the right of one of the parties to hold the land described in the chittas as rent-free. Ram Chandra Sao v. Bunseedhur Naik, I. L. R. 9 Calc 741, referred to. Entries in a public register kept in the Survey Office for the public benefit and under the sanction of official duty are relevant under s. 35 of the Evidence Act, irrespective of whether the clerk who actually wrote the entries had any personal knowledge or whether the register was a copy of a previous register which had become untidy. GRAHAM v. PHANINDARA NATH MITRA (1915) 19 C. W. N. 1038

——— s. 36—

1. ——— That map—Entries in. Held that an entry in the remark column of a Thukbast map, made during survey proceedings on an exparte statement by the Zamindar's Agent immediately contradicted by the defendant could not be accepted. JAGADENDRA NATH v. HEMANTA KUMARI DEBI. . 15 C. W. N. 887

2. ——— Thuk or survey maps—Value of. There is no inflexible rule that facts on a survey map must be presumed to have been in existence at the time of the Permanent Settlement. Each case must be justified on its merits. PRAFULLA NATH TAGORE v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA. . . 24 C. W. N. 639

——— ss. 38, 45—Foreign law—Nature of evidence required to establish a point of foreign law—Will—Holograph will executed in India by a person of Scotch domicile. A holograph will executed in India by a person whose domicile is Scotch is a valid testamentary document. On such a document being propounded, the High Court declined to treat as evidence of the law applicable thereto a treatise on Scots Law, but accepted the opinion (attested before a notary public) of a Writer to the Signet of Edinburgh. In the goods of D. MCINTYRE (1918).
I. L. R. 41 All. 248

——— ss. 40, 41, 42 and 44—Probate Act (V of 1881), s. 59—Will—Probate—Suit by the executor to recover possession and rent—Plea that the will was a fabrication and that probate had been obtained by fraud—Previous unsuccessful application by defendant to District Court to revoke probate

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

——— ss. 40, 41, 42 and 44—concld.

tor had bought him off under a mutual arrangement, but after the order for probate had been made, the executor failed to perform his part of the arrangement and had thus committed a fraud both on the Court and the applicant. The application for revocation was disposed of by the Court on the ground that the applicant, on his own showing, was a party to a fraud upon the Court, that he had not come with clean hands and was not, therefore, entitled to the relief sought. Thereafter the executor having brought a suit in the Court of the Subordinate Judge to recover rent and possession against a tenant of the testator as defendant 1 and against the aforesaid nephew as defendant 2, defendant 1 pleaded that the deceased (testator) had asked him to pay rent to defendant 2 and defendant 2 contended, as in the previous proceedings, that the deceased had made no will, that the will produced was a fabrication and that probate had been obtained by fraud. Held, that defendant 2 was barred by the decision of the District Court in the revocation proceeding from raising the same question in the Court of the Subordinate Judge. Held, further, that it was the District Court which was competent to decide the question of fraud and collusion vitiating the decree of that Court under which probate had been granted, and that as the Subordinate Judge who tried the suit had no jurisdiction in probate matters, the title of the plaintiff was conclusively proved on the production of probate and it was no valid defence for the defendants to allege that the will was a forgery and that probate had been obtained by fraud and deception. Quære : Whether a debtor of the state could raise such a defence if sued by the executor in a Court having jurisdiction to revoke the probate ? KISHORBHAI REVADAS v. RANCHODI DHULIA (1914) . . I. L. R. 38 Bom. 427

——— ss. 40 to 45—

See LUNACY ACT (1858). 24 C. W. N. 378

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, s. 11 I. L. R. 44 Mad. 778

——— s. 41—Probate and Administration Act (V of 1881), s. 83—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 11—Contentious proceeding for probate—Will not proved—Probate refused—Suit for recovery of property from defendants who held as executors—Judgment in the probate proceeding refusing probate, not judgment in rem—Res judicata. In a contentious proceeding for probate, the will produced by the applicants was held not proved and the probate was refused. The applicants appealed to the High Court which dismissed the appeal. The widow of the deceased thereupon brought a suit for the recovery of the property of the deceased from the defendants who held it as executors under the will and the first Court allowed the claim. On appeal by the defendants, two questions having arisen, namely, (i) whether the judgment refusing probate was as much within the scope and intention of s. 41 of the Evidence Act (I of 1872) as a judgment granting probate, and (ii) whether the judgment in the probate proceeding operated as res judicata. Held by the Full Bench, that s. 41 of the Evidence Act (I of 1872) was not applicable to the judgment of the Appellate Court refusing probate. Held, further, that the judgment in the probate proceeding operated as res judicata between the parties under s. 83 of the Probate and Administration Act (V of 1881) and s. 11 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908). KALYANCHAND LALCHAND v. SITABAI (1913) . I. L. R. 38 Bom. 309

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—concld.

——— s. 41—concld.

——— s. 44—

See SANTAL PARGANAS SETTLEMENT REGULATION, 1872. 6 Pat. L. J. 373

See CIVIL PROCEDURE ACT, 1908, s. 11. I. L. R. 37 Bom. 563

——— Right of a stranger to a decree affecting his rights to show in a subsequent suit that the decree was invalid on the ground of fraud—Maintainability of such subsequent suit without previous suit to have decree set aside. If by virtue of a previous High Court decree a person, who is no party to that decree, is deprived of his rights with respect to certain property, a suit by such a person with respect to the property is maintainable without his having first to bring another suit for getting the decree set aside on the ground of fraud; under s. 44 of the Evidence Act he can impeach it if it is sought to be used against him as evidence. ASWINI KUMAR SAMADDAR v. BONOMALY CHAKRAVARTI (1916). 21 C. W. N. 594

——— Grant by Probate Court if can be collaterally attacked in another proceeding as fraudulent. Semble :—Having regard to the wide terms of s. 44 of the Evidence Act, it is not possible to say that it is not open to a Court other than the Court from which a grant has issued, in cases of fraud or collusion, to deal with the matter and decide whether the grant has been obtained by fraud or collusion. But the better course in such cases would be, when it is open to the party alleging fraud to apply to the Court from which the grant issued, to stay the suit to enable an application to be made to revoke the grant. RAKSHAB MONDAL v. SRIMATI TARANGINI DEVI . . . . 25 C. W. N. 207

——— Res judicata—Fixed rate tenancy—Partition—Power of joint-tenants to partition—Suit to recover joint possession. A certain holding owned jointly by tenants at fixed rates was partitioned by an award. One party sued on the award to recover exclusive possession of certain plots and obtained a decree for possession and mesne profits, which was executed. Subsequently the other party sued to regain joint possession of these plots and pleaded that the former decree was by a Court not competent to pass it and therefore not binding on them. There was nothing to show whether the former suit was filed before or after the coming into force of the Agra Tenancy Act, 1901, or whether the landlord had or had not assented to the partition. Held, that the plaintiffs had failed to show that the former decree was passed by a Court which had not jurisdiction, and that the present suit was barred. Achhey Lal v. Janki Prasad, I. L. R. 29 All. 66, explained. RAGHUNATH KALWAR v. BALA DIN KALWAR (1910) . . I. L. R. 33 All. 143

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), s. 11 I. L. R. 37 Bom. 563

——— Compromise decree—Suit to set aside decree on the ground that the agreement was caused by undue influence—Jurisdiction. A decree obtained by consent or on a compromise can be attacked in a separate suit, not only upon the ground of fraud but upon any ground which would be a sufficient reason for invalidating the agreement upon which the decree was based. The Huddersfield Banking Company, Limited v. Henry Lister and Son, Limited, L. R. 2 Ch. 273, followed. Musammat Gulab Kuar v. Badshah Bahadur, 13 C. W. N. 1197, and Sarbesh Chandra Basu v. Hari Dayal Singh, 14 C. W. N. 451, referred to. SHAMI NATH CHAUDHRI v. RAMJAS (1911) . . I. L. R. 34 All. 143

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

——— s. 44—concld.

See FRAUD . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 990

——— s. 45—

See s. 38 . I. L. R. 41 All. 248

See CUSTOM . I. L. R. 1 Lah. 540

See PROBATE. . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 295

See LUNACY ACT. . 24 C. W. N. 378

See SEDITION I. L. R. 39 Calc. 606

——— s. 47—

See JURY . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 467

——— s. 48—

See CUTCHI MEMONS. I. L. R. 41 Bom. 181

——— s. 52—

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877) s. 39 . . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 149

——— s. 54—

See CHARGE . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 957

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE. ss. 387, 310 . . . 5 Pat. L. J. 706

See WITNESS. . I. L. R. 46 Calc. 700

——— ss. 54, 165—

See PRACTICE . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 326

——— ss. 55, 57, 78 (2).

See LIBEL . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 760

——— s. 57—

See CHURCH . I. L. R. 36 Mad. 418

——— s. 58—

1. ——— Fact admitted need not be proved—Defendant's admission of signature to a bond—Proof of the bond—Inference from facts which are not evidence—Inference not according to law—Error of law—Interference by High Court on second appeal. The plaintiff having sued on a mortgage, the sons, of the mortgagor, some of whom were minors, denied all knowledge of the mortgage. One of the sons (defendants) who had attained majority, when examined as a witness, admitted that the signature to the mortgage-deed was his father's. At an adjourned date of hearing, the plaintiff was absent on account of illness and his witnesses also were not present. The Court declined to grant any further adjournment, and dismissed the suit holding that the mortgage-deed was not proved. The Court also inferred from the mere fact that the plaintiff delayed bringing his suit until almost the last day allowed him by the law of limitation that he must have been receiving interest all that time at the rate stipulated for in the deed, and on that calculation it reached the conclusion that the debt had been fully satisfied. The plaintiff having appealed: Held, that as far as the defendant who had admitted the signature was concerned, his admission would, under s. 58 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, relieve the plaintiff of any further responsibility of proving the document. Held, further, that the inference in question was one not drawn from any evidence, and the drawing of it was an error of law, which could be rectified in second appeal. LAKHICHAND CHATRABHUJ v. LALCHAND GANPAT (1918).

I. L. R. 42 Bom. 352

2. ——— Jurisdiction—Court—Consent of the parties as to jurisdiction—Suit of value beyond the jurisdiction of the Court—Trial of suit—Jurisdiction cannot be questioned in appeal. The plaintiffs filed a suit for partition in the Court of the Subordinate Judge, First Class, valuing their claim at an amount which made the suit triable by that Court alone. The Judge, however, made over the trial of the suit to the Joint Subordinate Judge. In the latter Court, neither party raised any objection on the ground of jurisdiction; nor was any issue raised relating to it. The trial proceeded on merits; and a decree was passed in favour of plaintiffs. The defendant appealed to the lower appellate Court, where he, for the first time, raised the question of jurisdiction on the strength of the market value stated in the plaint. The objection was overruled. On appeal:—Held, that the market value stated in the plaint primâ facie determined the jurisdiction. Held, further, that as neither party raised any question as to want of jurisdiction in the first Court, and as they by their conduct and down in s. 58 of the Indian Evidence Act came into operation and prevented the result of the statement of the market value in the plaint. As a rule, parties cannot by consent give jurisdiction where none exists. This rule applies only where the law confers no jurisdiction. It does not prevent parties from waiving inquiry by the Court as to facts necessary for the determination of the question as to jurisdiction, where that question depends on facts to be ascertained. JOSE ANTONIO BARETTO v. FRANCISCO ANTONIO RODRIQUES (1910).

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 24

——— ss. 58, 92, proviso 4—Mortgage-bond, registered—Subsequent oral agreement by mortgagee to take less than due amount, whether modifies bond—Admission by mortgagee in pleadings in suit—Proof of agreement, whether necessary under Evidence Act and Civil Procedure Code. A subsequent oral agreement to take less than is due under a registered mortgage-bond is an agreement modifying the terms of a written contract, and, if it has to be proved, oral evidence is inadmissible under s. 92, proviso 4 of the Indian Evidence Act. If such agreement has been admitted in the pleadings, no question of admissibility of evidence, oral or documentary, arises, as proof of the same is dispensed with in consequence of the admission under s. 58 of the Evidence Act and also under the provisions of the Civil Procedure Code. Chenbasappa v. Lakshmanan Ramchandar, I. L. R. 18 Bom. 369, distinguished. MALOAPPA v. MATUM NAGU CHETTY (1918) . . I. L. R. 42 Mad. 41

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

——— ss. 65, 66, 90—Secondary evidence of document—Original withheld by party who knew it would be required—Certified copy produced by plaintiff—Presumption as to ancient document applied in case of a certified copy. In a suit for redemption of a usufructuary mortgage the plaintiffs tendered in evidence a certified copy of the mortgage bond, which was executed in the year 1876. There was no evidence that they had called upon the defendants mortgagees to produce the original document. Held, (i) that from the nature of the case the defendants must have known that they would be required to produce the original mortgage, which presumably was in their possession, and therefore the certified copy was admissible, and (ii) that the presumption allowed by s. 90 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, could be applied when a certified copy, being admissible, was produced in evidence, in the same way as it could be applied to an original document. Ishri Prasad Singh v. Lalli Jas Kunwar, I. L. R. 22 All. 294, followed. Khetter Chunder Mookerjee v. Khetter Paul Sreeterutno, I. L. R. 5 Calc. 886, and Ponnambalath Parapravan v. Karoth Sankaran Nair, 12 Indian Cases, 453, referred to. DWARKA SINGH v. RAMANAND UPADHIA (1919) . . I. L. R. 41 All. 592

——— s. 66—

See s. 74 . . 19 C. W. N. 1068

——— ss. 67 and 73—

See JURY, RIGHT OF TRIAL BY.
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 467

——— s. 68—

See ATTESTING WITNESS.
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 61

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, s. 59. . . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 405

1. ——— Admissibility of document in evidence—Mortgage deed not proved, but terms thereof incorporated in a subsequent instrument properly executed and proved. Where a document, itself legally inadmissible in evidence, was subsequently referred to and partly incorporated in a second document of similar import duly executed between the same parties and registered according to law, it was held that the earlier document might be referred to for the purpose of explaining and amplifying the terms of the second, and of arriving at a correct conclusion as to the true nature of the transaction into which the parties had entered. Fishmongers' Company v. Dimsdale, 18 L. J., C. P. 65 ; 6 C. B. 899, and Mitchell v. Mathura Das, I. L. R. 8 All. 6, referred to. MOTI CHAND v. LALTA PRASAD (1917).
I. L. R. 40 All. 256

2. ——— Attesting witness, meaning of—Writer of a document, whether can be regarded as an attesting witness. The writer of document who signed the same as a scribe, can be regarded as an attesting witness, if he saw the signing of the document by the executant. Veerapudayan v. Muthukaruppan Thevan, 24 Mad. L. J. 534, Ayyaasami Iyengar v. Kylasam Pillai, 26 I. C. 409, and Ranu v. Laxman Rao, I. L. R. 33 Bom. 44, referred to. Badri Prasad v. Abdul Karim, I. L. R. 35 All. 254, and Ram Bahadur Singh v. Ajodhya Singh, 20 C. W. N. 699, dissented from. PARAMASIVA UDAYAN v. KRISHNA PADAYACHI (1917) . . . I. L. R. 41 Mad. 535

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

——— s. 68—concld.

3. ——— The section is imperative so if an attesting witness can be called he must be even though he prove hostile. TULA SINGH v. GOPAL SINGH. . 1 Pat. L. J. 369

4. ——— A person whose name is on a deed merely as a scribe is not a witness within the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, s. 59 although he may have actually seen the document signed. RAMBULDER SINGH v. ADJUDHAY SINGH . . . . 1 Pat. L. J. 129

5. ——— Mortgage—Evidence of execution—Attesting witness—Scribe. The scribe of a mortgage deed cannot be counted as an attesting witness merely because he has signed the deed, even though the deed may in fact, have been executed in his presence. To be an "attesting witness" within the meaning of s. 68 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, the witness must have seen the document executed and have signed it as a witness. Ranu v. Laxmanrao, I. L. R. 33 Bom. 44, Burdett v. Spilsbury, & 10 C. & F. 340, and Shamu Patter v. Abdul Kadir Ravuthan, I. L. R. 35 Mad. 607, followed. Radha Kishen v. Fateh Ali Khan, I. L. R. 20 All. 532, Raj Narain Ghosh v. Abdur Rahim, 5 C. W. N. 554, and Muhammad Ali v. Jafar Khan, All. Weekly Notes, (1897) 146, discussed. BADRI PRASAD v. ABDUL KARIM (1913)
I. L. R. 35 All. 254

——— ss. 68, 70—Admission of execution by person claiming through executant. Admission of execution of an attested document by the executant or by a person representing his interests is sufficient proof of its execution against the person making such admission. As against other parties the document must be proved in accordance with s. 68, Evidence Act. NIBARAN CHANDRA SEN v. RAM CHANDRA SEN (1917) . . 22 C. W. N. 444

——— ss. 68, 69—

1. ——— Evidence mortgage deed—Proof of mortgage-deed after death of executant and marginal witnesses. Held, that the executant of and all three marginal witnesses to a mortgage-deed being dead, a mortgage-deed was sufficiently proved by evidence that the signature of the mortgagor was in his handwriting and that the signatures of two of the marginal witnesses were in their handwriting. By such evidence a presumption of due execution was raised which it lay on the defendants to rebut. Wright v. Sanderson, L. R. 9 P. D. 149, referred to. UTTAM SINGH v. HUKAM SINGH (1916)
I. L. R. 39 All. 112

2. ——— Evidence—Mortgage—Proof of mortgage-deed. A mortgage-deed on the face of it appeared to be attested by a large number of witnesses. In a suit upon the bond the mortgagee called one attesting witness who proved that he saw the mortgagor sign the mortgage and that he himself signed his name as an attesting witness. The other witnesses were not called, nor did the witness who was called say that any other attesting witness was present, nor was he asked the question by either side. Held, that, in the absence of any rebutting evidence, the mortgage-deed must be considered to be sufficiently proved. Uttam Singh v. Hukam Singh, I. L. R. 39 All. 112, referred to. SHIB DAYAL v. SHEO GHULAM (1916)
I. L. R. 39 All. 241

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

———— ss. 68, 69—concld.

3. ———— Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 59—Proof of execution—Document proved have been executed in the presence of one attesting witness who was examined. One of the attesting witnesses to a mortgage-deed was dead. The other attesting witness was called and proved that the mortgage-deed was signed by the mortgagor in his presence and that he signed the deed as an attesting witness. It was not expressly proved that there was another attesting witness present who saw the mortgagor sign, but it was not proved to be contrary that there was not another attesting witness. Held, that the mortgage was sufficiently proved according to the requirements of ss. 68 and 69 of the Indian Evidence Act. RAM DEI v. MUNNA LAL (1916) . . . I. L. R. 39 All. 109

———— ss. 68 to 71—

See EVIDENCE . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 345

———— ss. 69 and 70—

See MORTGAGE. . 4 Pat. L. J. 511

———— Evidence—Mortgage—Proof of execution of mortgage—Mortgagors illiterate, and both they and the attesting witnesses dead before suit brought. A mortgage-deed was on the face of it executed in 1889, by three illiterate mortgagors, who affixed their marks, and was attested by more than two witnesses. At the time of the institution of a suit for sale thereon, all the executants and the attesting witnesses were dead, and the evidence tendered in proof of the mortgage consisted of (i) the statement of a witness who professed to be acquainted with the handwriting of two of the attesting witnesses; (ii) a deed of usufructuary mortgage executed by one of exewhich recognized by genuineness of the usufructuary mortgage regard to Act, 1872, the mortgage in suit. GOBARDHAN DAS v. HARI LAL, (1913) . . . I. L. R. 35 All. 364

———— ss. 68, 154—Attesting witness is in the position of witness called by Court. SURENDRA KRISHNA MONDAL v. SM. RANEE DASSI

24 C. W. N. 860

———— s. 69—Proof of document—Document required by law to be attested—Death of attesting witness—Hindu law—Joint Hindu family—Parties. On execution of a deed of mortgage the names of two out of the four attesting witnesses were written by the scribe who had signed the document himself. Held, that it being necessary to prove the deed of mortgage after the death of all the attesting witnesses and the scribe, it was sufficient to prove the hand-writing of the scribe. Radha Kishen v. Fateh Ali Ram, I. L. R. 20 All. 532, referred to. Where all the adult members of a joint Hindu Family appear on the record as plaintiffs or defendants it is a legitimate presumption that they are acting as managers on behalf of themselves and of the minor members of the family who do not join in the suit. Hori Lal v. Munman Kunwar, I. L. R. 34 All. 549, and Nathu Lal v. Lala, I. L. R. 34 All. 572, referred to KRISHNA JIVA TEWARI v. BISHNATH KALWAR (1912)

I. L. R. 34 All. 615

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

———— s. 69—concld.

———— ss. 69 to 72—

See EVIDENCE I. L. R. 44 Calc. 345

———— s. 70—

1. ———— Registration Act (XVI of 1908), s. 60 (2)—Admission—Endorsement of registering officer not evidence of admission of execution of document, The "admission" referred to in s. 70 of the Indian Evidence Act is an admission in the course of proceedings in which the attested document is produced, for example, made in the pleadings or by a party himself in his examination. The certificate of execution endorsed by the registering officer upon a document registered by him cannot be used as an "admission" of execution within the meaning of this section. RAJ MANGAL MISIR v. MATHURA DUBAIN (1915)

I. L. R. 38 All. 1

2. ———— Suit on a mortgage-bond—Admission of mortgagee, if sufficient to make mortgage admissible against other parties not admitting execution, without proof by attesting witnesses—S. 70, effect of. Per WOODROFF and D. CHATTERJEE, JJ. (Newbould J. dissenting). In a suit on a mortgage bond the admission of execution by the sole mortgagor does not under s. 70 of the Evidence Act dispense with the necessity of complying with the provisions of s. 68 of the Evidence Act in order to prove the execution of the document as against other parties in the suit who do not admit such execution. The document must be proved as against them in accordance with the provisions of ss. 68, 69 and 70 of the Act. The effect of s. 70 is that the proof by calling attesting witnesses is dispensed with, when the party executant admits execution, only as against him. Jogendra Nath Mukhopadhya v. Nitai Churn Bundopadhya, 7. C. W. N. 384, commented on. SATISH CHANDRA MITRA v. JOGENDRA NATH MOHALANABIS (1916)

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 345
20 C. W. N. 1044

3. ———— A person who signs as a witness merely on admission of execution by the executant is not an attesting witness. MUSSAMMAT HIRA BIBI v. RAMDHAN LAL

6 Pat. L. J. 466

———— s. 73—Handwriting, proof of—Document when admissible against accused. A document to be admissible against an accused person should be proved (i) to be either a document in the handwriting of an accused person by comparison with an admitted or proved specimen of his handwriting, in the light of the testimony of expert witnesses, or (ii) to be in the possession of an accused person, or (iii) to be admissible as falling within the scope of s. 10, Evidence Act. Barindra Kumar Ghose v. Emperor, 14 C. W. N. 1114: I. L. R. 37 Calc. 467, followed. PULIN BEHARI DAS v. KING-EMPEROR (1911) 16 C. W. N. 1105

———— s. 74—

See CONTEMPT OF COURT.

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 169

———— Notice under s. 107, Criminal Procedure Code, if a public document—Proof

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

——— s. 74—concld.

necessary for admission of such document in evidence. A notice under s. 107, Criminal Procedure Code, is a public document within the meaning of s. 74 of the Evidence Act, but it cannot come in without proof that the parties mentioned in it are the parties concerned in the question at issue about which it is produced as evidence. AMJAD v. LACHMI KANTA JHA (1914) . . . . . 18 C. W. N. 644

——— ss. 74, 66—Order of Probate Court granting letters of administration with copy of will annexed, if public document—Certified copy, if admissible—Admission as secondary evidence, though no steps taken to call for production of original. The certified copy of an order of the Probate Court to the effect that letters of administration be granted to the person named with a copy of the will annexed of the deceased testator is admissible, the latter being a public document within the meaning of s. 74 of the Indian Evidence Act. Where it appeared that the original letters were in the possession of parties interested in opposing the plaintiff's claim but the plaintiff did not take steps to call upon them to produce them: Held, that there being no question of the genuineness of the document, these steps should have been waived by the Court and the document admitted in evidence under s. 66 of the Evidence Act. HABIRAM DAS v. HEM NATH SARMA (1915) 19 C. W. N. 1068

——— ss. 74 and 114—

See REGISTER OF DEATHS. I. L. R. 46 Calc. 152

——— s. 78 (2)—

See LIBEL . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 760

——— ss. 80, 91—

See DEPOSITION I. L. R. 45 Calc. 825

——— ss. 80 and 144—

See CONFESSION . . 2 Pat. L. J. 80

——— ss. 80, 167—

See DEPOSITION I. L. R. 46 Calc. 895

——— s. 81—

See s. 21 . I. L. R. 36 Mad. 457

——— s. 82—

See HINDU LAW (MINOR) I. L. R. 38 Mad. 166

——— s. 83—

See s. 35 . . 19 C. W. N. 1038

——— Evidence Act (I of 1872), ss. 3, 83—Map of khas mehal land prepared under direction of Government—Admissibility in boundary disputes—Witness, non-attendance of—Process to compel attendance refused without good ground—Second appeal. In a dispute relating to the boundary of a holding between the plaintiff and the Municipal Corporation of Calcutta. Held, that a map prepared in 1872 under the direction of the Government acting not in its sovereign capacity but as the landlord of this and neighbouring holdings, was admissible in evidence, if not under s. 83, under s. 13 of the Evidence Act. UPENDRA NATH GHOSH v. THE CHAIRMAN OF THE CALCUTTA CORPORATION (1911) 16 C. W. N. 116

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

——— s. 88—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, ss. 196 AND 428. I. L. R. 42 Mad. 885

——— s. 90—

See s. 32 . . 3 Pat. L. J. 306

See s. 4 . . I. L. R. 37 Mad. 455

See s. 65 . I. L. R. 41 All. 592

See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE, 1879, ss. 3, 74. . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 878

——— S. 90 of the Indian Evidence Act does not prove the authority of the person who has made the grant, the genuineness whereof is presumed by the Court under the provisions of that section. KASHI NATH PAL v. JAGAT KISHORE ACHARYA CHOWDHURY (1915) 20 C. W. N. 643

——— Secondary evidence of document which may be given—Document, failure of witness to produce—Process fee for warrant, failure to deposit, if default excluding secondary evidence of document—Recital of boundaries in documents, if admissible as between persons not parties thereto—Document over thirty years old, opportunity if must be given to prove execution where presumption does not apply—Road-cess return, admissibility of—Omission in a document, if evidence. Where the plaintiff issued summons upon a witness to produce a lease which was a title deed of the witness and which he was under no agreement with the plaintiff to produce, and on the failure of the witness to attend, the plaintiff to obtain an order for the issue of warrant against the witness but failed to put in the process-fee. Held, that, the failure of the plaintiff to get the warrant issue did not amount to default on his part, and that in the circumstances of the case he was entitled to use a certified copy of the document as evidence. A recital as to the boundary of a land in a lease is admissible in evidence against a person who was no party to that document. Ningaya v. Bharmappa, I. L. R. 23 Bom. 63, Abdul Aziz Mollah v. Ebrahim Molla, I. L. R. 31 Calc. 965, Burha Mandar v. Megnath, 2 C. L. J. 4n. followed. Abdulla v. Kunja Behari, 14 C. L. J. 467, Brajeswari v. Bhudanuddi, I. L. R. 6 Calc. 268, Monohur Singh v. Sumitra Loer, I. L R. 17 All. 428, referred, to Under s. 90 of the Evidence Act the Court is not bound to presume the genuineness of a document over thirty years old. It must first satisfy itself that the elements necessary to bring the document within the rule in that section exists and then exercise its discretion as to whether in the circumstances the presumption of genuineness should be applied to it. If the Court is not satisfied that the presumption should apply, it should call upon the party to produce evidence of its execution. Where, therefore, the Court below rejected such a document without calling upon the party to produce evidence of execution. Held, that the Court had not acted properly. The absence of the names of the predecessors of the plaintiff from the list of tenants in a road-cess return not filed by either party to the suit, was admissible in evidence against the plaintiff. IMRIT CHAMAR v. SIBDHARI PANDAY (1911) 17 C. W. N. 108

——— s. 91—

See CONTRACT FOR SALE. I. L. R. 45 Calc. 481

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—concld.

———— s. 91—contd.

See Criminal Procedure Code—

s. 103 . . I. L. R. 34 Mad. 349

s. 239 . . I. L. R. 42 Mad. 561

See Deposition.

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 825

See Dying declaration.

I. L. R. 36 Calc. 659

See Lease . I. L. R. 46 Calc. 1079

See Limitation Act, 1877, Sch. II, Arts. 132, 134 . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 438

See Partition . 15 C. W. N. 375

See Transfer of Property Act, s. 107.

I. L. R. 36 Bom. 500

See Varthi amanam or letter.

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 660

———— perjury, but statement not read out—

See Penal Code, s 193.

I. L. R. 1 Lah. 361

———— oral evidence of an agreement—

See Registration.

I. L. R. 1 Lah. 436

1. ———— Search-list does not stated therein and it does not therefore exclude oral evidence of such matter. G. O., No. 2883, Judicial, paragraph 5 (dated 17th December 1887), directs that no Magistrate may record any confession or statement under s. 167, Criminal Procedure Code, until he has first recorded in writing his evi- such 'ROSE-

I. L. R. 33 Mad. 413

2. ———— Oral evidence admissible to prove what took place at time of search. Where a search has been conducted under the Criminal Procedure Code, the search-list is not the only evidence admissible as to the matters dealt with therein. S. 91 of the Evidence Act does not exclude time of 2 Weir (cutor v. followed.

I. L. R. 33 Mad. 416

3. ———— Hindu Law—Partition—Partition evidenced by a writing not registered—Oral evidence admissible to prove the fact of partition. The fact of partition may be proved by oral evidence although the deed embodying the terms of partition cannot be proved for want of registration. Chhotalal Aditram v. Bai Mahakore (1917) . . I. L. R. 41 Bom. 456

4. ———— Suit on promissory note—Note inadmissible in evidence—Plaintiff entitled to fall back on original cause of action. If a creditor has a cause of action for the recovery of money, for which his debtor has executed a promissory note, separate from and independent of the note, he can recover upon such cause, in case the note for any reason cannot be put in evidence. Nor is the creditor necessarily debarred from suing on the original cause of action by the fact that it arose out of the same transaction in the course of which the promissory note was executed. Pursotam Narain v. Taley Singh, I. L. R. 26 All. 178, overruled. Sheikh Akbar v. Sheikh Khan, I. L. R. 8 Calc. 256, Krishnaji v. Rajmal, I. L. R. 24 Bom. 360, Virbhadrapa v. Bhimaji, I. L. R. 28 Bom. 432, Banarsi Prasad v. Fazal Ahmad, I. L. R. 28 All. 298, and Sri Nath Das v. Angad Singh, 7 All. L. J. 459, referred to. Ram Sarup v. Jasodha Kunwar (1911) . . . I. L. R. 34 All. 158

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

———— s. 91—contd.

5. ———— Evidence, admissibility of—Confession made to enquiring magistrate but not recorded by him in writing—Criminal Procedure Code, ss. 364 and 533. A confession of an accused person made to a Magistrate holding an inquiry is a matter required by law to be reduced to the form of a document within the meaning of s. 91 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, and that no such a con- nder s 364 , 533 of the cation to a case where no record whatever has been made of such a confession. Emperor v. Gulabu (1913)

I. L. R. 35 All. 260

6. ———— Evidence—Confession—Admission of guilt during departmental inquiry—Oral evidence as to statement admissible. The complainant in a petty criminal case before a bench of Honorary Magistrates, in the course of negotiations concerning a compromise, made a statement to the effect that he had paid a certain sum of money by way of an illegal gratification to the peshkar of the Court. The peshkar was at once statement which was required by law to be in writing and could be proved by the evidence of either of the Magistrates who had heard it. Emperor v. Haidar Raza (1914)

I. L. R. 36 All. 232

7. ———— Hundi—Renewal of hundis given as security for debt—Hundis sued on inadmissible for want of proper stamp—Right of creditor to fall back on previous hundis. The defendants borrowed money from the plaintiffs and in return therefor drew four hundis in their favour.

particular hundis were insufficiently stamped and could not be admitted in evidence. Held, that the plaintiffs were entitled to fall back upon the last preceding set of hundis, and, as these were in the possession of the defendants, to give secondary evidence of their contents. Jagan Prasad v. Indar Mal (1911) . I. L. R. 33 All. 259

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

———— s. 91—concld.

8. ———————— suit for recovery of money advanced on a hundi which was signed shortly after the money was actually paid—Hundi insufficiently stamped and inadmissible in evidence—whether plaintiff has a cause of action independent of the hundi. The defendant C. S. applied to the Amritsar National Insurance and Banking Company for a loan and in his application stated the security as " personal security on a hundi payable after 3 months." The Directors of the Company sanctioned the loan and the money was paid to C. S. less a certain amount deducted as interest in advance for 3 months and C. S. thumb-marked the Banker's voucher. The same day C. S. executed a hundi promising to repay the money to the Company after ninety days. The Company subsequently assigned their claim to the National Banking Company, Amritsar, and the latter at first sued on the hundi, but finding that it was insufficiently stamped, put in an amended plaint in which they claimed simply to recover the money advanced with interest. Held, that the loan having been granted on the security of a hundi (the execution of the hundi being for certain reasons postponed till a short time after the money had actually been paid to the defendant) the plaintiff had no cause of action independent of the hundi, and as the hundi was inadmissible in evidence and as s. 91 of the Evidence Act forbids secondary evidence the plaintiff's suit must fail. Sheo Das v. Kanhaya Lal (61 P. R. 1888), Bakhshi Ram Labhaya v. Kaka Ram (42 P. R. 1895), and Ganga Ram v. Amir Chand (66 P. R. 1906) and C. A. 2865 of 1916, unpublished, followed. Baij Nath Das v. Salig Ram (16 Indian Cases 33), not followed. CHANDA SINGH v. AMRITSAR BANKING CO. . . I. L. R. 2 Lah. 330

———— ss. 91, 92—Contract—Contract signed by a party personally—Oral evidence to show that the party signing contracted as agent—Admissibility of—Indian Contract Act (IX of 1872), ss.231, 233, effect of. In a suit on a contract signed by the defendant personally, the defendant attempted to lead oral evidence to show that he was contracting as agent and that the name of his principal was disclosed at the time of the contract. On plaintiff objecting to this evidence being admitted, Held, that such evidence was not admissible for the purpose of exonerating a contracting party from liability, for that would be substituting a different agreement from that evidenced by the writing. Higgins v. Senior (1841) 58 R. R. 884, followed. Venkatasubbiah Chetty v. Govindarajulu Naidu (1907) 31 Mad. 45 and Sadasuk Janki Das v. Sir Kishan Pershad (1918) 46 Calc. 663, referred to. EBRAHIMBHOY PABANEY MILLS CO., LTD., v. HASSAN MAMOOJI (1921)

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1242

———— s. 92—

See s. 58 . I. L. R. 42 Mad. 41

See CONTRACT ACT,

ss. 1 and 118. I. L. R. 41 Bom. 518

s. 65 . . . 15 C. W. N. 408

See DOCTRINE OF SATISFACTION.

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 211

See DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF ACT (XVII OF 1879), ss. 2(2). 10A

I. L. R. 3 Bom. 18

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

———— s. 92—contd.

See EVIDENCE . I. L. R. 45 Calc. 320
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 892

See EVIDENCE, ADMISSIBILITY OF.
L. R. 44 I. A. 236
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 320
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 892

See KHUD KASH JOTES.
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 259

See LANDLORD AND TENANT
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 1079

See LEASE . I. L. R. 46 Calc. 1079

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), ss. 54, 118.
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 423

See RAYATI HOLDING.
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 546

See ORAL AGREEMENT.

See RECEIPT. . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 129

See RENT. . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 347

See RES JUDICATA I. L. R. 1 Lah. 83

———— Price specified in the sale deed—Recital as to amount of price, essential term of contract of sale—Oral agreement as to higher price in discharge of a mortgage—Evidence inadmissible. The amount of the price agreed to be paid is an essential term of a contract of sale; and consequently no evidence of an oral agreement at variance with the provisions of a registered sale-deed as to the amount of the price fixed for the sale is admissible under s. 92 of the Indian Evidence Act. Cowasji Ruttonji Limboowalla v. Burjoji Rustomji Limboowalla, I. L. R. 12 Bom. 335, followed. Vasudeva v. Narasamma, I. L. R. 5 Mad. 6, Kumara v. Srinivasa, I. L. R. 11 Mad. 213, Hukumchand v. Hiralal, I. L. R. 3 Bom. 159, and Gopal Singh v. Laloo Lall, 10 C. L. J. 27, explained. Ram Baksh v. Durjan, I. L. R. 9 All. 392, Indarjit v. Lal Chand, I. L. R. 18 All. 168, Balkishen Das v. Legge, I. L. R. 22 All. 149, Selamba Goundan v. Palani Goundan, (1913) Mad. W. N. 650, and Probat Chandra Gangapadhya v. Chirag Ali, I. L. R. 33 Calc. 607, referred to. ADITYAM IYER v. RAMA KRISHNA IYER (1913) . . . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 514

———— Sale-deed or Mortgage—Written agreement—Contemporaneous oral agreement to treat it as mortgage—Absence of fraud, misrepresentation, etc.—Oral agreement cannot be pleaded. Where parties enter into a sale-deed with a contemporaneous oral agreement to treat it as a mortgage, it is not open to either of them to plead the oral agreement in absence of fraud, misrepresentation or failure of consideration or the like reason rendering the sale void. SANGIRA MALAPPA v. KAMAPPA (1909) . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 59

———— Sale-deed or Gift—Admissibility of evidence to show that a document purporting to be a sale-deed is in reality a deed of gift. In the appeal their Lordships were of opinion that the decree of the High Court in Faiz-un-nissa v. Hanif-un-nissa, I. L. R. 27 All. 612, could not be supported and remitted the case to the High Court to be dealt with on the evidence. HANIF-UN-NISSA v. FAIZ-UN-NISSA (1911) . . I. L. R. 33 All. 34

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

———— s. 92—contd.

———— prov. I—Sale-deed—Contemporaneous agreement—Admissibility—Fraud. A desired to set aside an ostensible sale-deed by proving that a representation, agreement or promise was made to him at the time of execution that the deed would not be enforced as a sale-deed. Held, that no evidence of such a representation, agreement or promise could be admitted for this purpose. Datloo v. Ramchandra, I. L. R. 30 Bom. 119, and Keshavrao v. Raya, I. L. R. 8 Bom. L. R. 287, followed. DAGDU VALAD SADU v. NANA VALAD SALU (1910) . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 93 ———— Sale deed or Mortgage—Dekkhan agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879), s. 10A—Redemption suit—Sale in reality a mortgage—Evidence of oral agreement varying the written document. The plaintiff brought a redemption suit under the provisions of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879) alleging that the deed which he had executed to the defendant, though on its face a deed of sale, was in reality only a deed of mortgage, the defendant having promised at the time of the execution of the deed that he would allow redemption on payment of the money advanced. The defendant replied that the transaction was sale. The First Class Subordinate Judge of the Dharwar District to which s. 10A of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879) was not extended found, on the evidence, that the deed passed by the plaintiff was not proved to be really a mortgage and dismissed the suit. The plaintiff appealed urging that the proper issue in the case was as to whether the sale-deed was not obtained or induced by the defendant by means of fraud or misrepresentation within the meaning of prov. I of s. 92 of the Evidence Act (I of 1872) and prayed for a separate oral agreement, but upon some fraud which would invite the application of prov. I of s. 92 of the Evidence Act (I of 1872). Held, further, that in the districts to which s. 10A of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879) was not extended, it was not open to the Court to enter upon a defence which consisted of an allegation of an oral agreement varying the written contract. Dagdu v. Nana, I. L. R. 35 Bom. 93, and Sangira Malappa v. Ramappa, I. L. R. 34 Bom. 59, followed. Balkishen Das v. W. F. Legge, I. L. R. 22 All. 149, referred to. SOMANA BASAPPA v. GADIGEYA KORNAYA (1910) . . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 231

he so

a

———— Fraud—Evidence, admissibility of—Evidence of acts and conduct of parties to deeds showing that they were treated as being otherwise than they purport to be—Evidence showing actual instrument "as between the parties to such instrument or their representatives in interest:" but it does not prevent proof of a fraudulent dealing with a third person's property or proof of notice that the property purporting to be absolutely conveyed in fact belonged to a third person who was not a party to the conveyance. The respondents claimed to recover possession of certain parcels of land under deeds which purported to be absolute conveyances but which the appellants contended were meant to be, and had always in fact been, treated by all the parties concerned as mortgages only, and they tendered evidence of the acts and conduct of the parties to that effect. This evidence was excluded by both Courts below under s. 92 of the Evidence Act. Their Lordships of the Judicial Committee on appeal were, however, of opinion that on the evidence the case for the appellants disclosed a charge of fraud against the respondents antecedent to the deeds, inasmuch as they or the persons under whom they claimed took absolute conveyances of property from the appellants with of the alleged fraudulent dealing. Their Lordships, therefore, without expressing any opinion on the construction or application of s. 92 of the Evidence Act in relation to the deeds came to the conclusion that the rejected evidence should be heard, subject to any objections which the respondents might be advised to take as the Court would then be in a position to deal hereafter (if necessary) with the admissibility of the evidence in relation not only to the deeds, but also in relation to the questions

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd

———— s. 92—contd.

validity might possibly depend. MAUNG KYIN v. MA SHWE LA (1911) . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 892

———— Consideration—Sale of land, consideration for, not as stated in the deed—Oral promise, failure to perform. Assuming that it may be shown by oral evidence that the real consideration for a deed of sale was not the consideration stated in the deed itself but a promise to maintain the plaintiff, in the absence of coercion, undue influence, fraud or misrepresentation of any kind at the time when the deed of sale was registered and possession taken thereunder, the deed will not be set aside. The special equitable doctrine whereby the American Courts have relieved in cases where an aged person has conveyed all his property in consideration of

I. L. R. 36 Mad. 8

———— prov. 1—Evidence—Proof of failure of consideration—Promissory note given partly on account of a gambling debt. The defendant who had been gambling with the plaintiffs and had lost, gave the plaintiffs two promissory notes, partly for his gambling losses and partly on other accounts, but it could not be ascertained missing the whole suit. Juggarnauth Sew Bux v. Ram Dyal, I. L. R. 9 Calc. 791, distinguished. BALGOBIND v. BHAGGU MAL (1913).

I. L. R. 35 All. 558

———— Fraud—Written document—Oral evidence to vary its terms—Plea of fraud—Section applies only to parties or their representatives. In 1892, certain property was purported to be sold to S by its owners, the plaintiff and his cousin.

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

———— s. 91—concld.

8. ———————— suit for recovery of money advanced on a hundi which was signed shortly after the money was actually paid—Hundi insufficiently stamped and inadmissible in evidence—whether plaintiff has a cause of action independent of the hundi. The defendant C. S. applied to the Amritsar National Insurance and Banking Company for a loan and in his application stated the security as "personal security on a hundi payable after 3 months." The Directors of the Company sanctioned the loan and the money was paid to C. S. less a certain amount deducted as interest in advance for 3 months and C. S. thumb-marked the Banker's voucher. The same day C. S. executed a hundi promising to repay the money to the Company after ninety days. The Company subsequently assigned their claim to the National Banking Company, Amritsar, and the latter at first sued on the hundi, but finding that it was insufficiently stamped, put in an amended plaint in which they claimed simply to recover the money advanced with interest. Held, that the loan having been granted on the security of a hundi (the execution of the hundi being for certain reasons postponed till a short time after the money had actually been paid to the defendant) the plaintiff had no cause of action independent of the hundi, and as the hundi was inadmissible in evidence and as s. 91 of the Evidence Act forbids secondary evidence the plaintiff's suit must fail. Sheo Das v. Kanhaya Lal (61 P. R. 1888), Bakhshi Ram Labhaya v. Kaka Ram (42 P. R. 1895), and Ganga Ram v. Amir Chand (66 P. R. 1906) and C. A. 2865 of 1916, unpublished, followed. Baij Nath Das v. Salig Ram (16 Indian Cases 33), not followed. CHANDA SINGH v. AMRITSAR BANKING CO. . . I. L. R. 2 Lah. 330

———— ss. 91, 92—Contract—Contract signed by a party personally—Oral evidence to show that the party signing contracted as agent—Admissibility of—Indian Contract Act (IX of 1872), ss. 231, 233, effect of. In a suit on a contract signed by the defendant personally, the defendant attempted to lead oral evidence to show that he was contracting as agent and that the name of his principal was disclosed at the time of the contract. On plaintiff objecting to this evidence being admitted, Held, that such evidence was not admissible for the purpose of exonerating a contracting party from liability, for that would be substituting a different agreement from that evidenced by the writing. Higgins v. Senior (1841) 58 R. R. 884, followed. Venkatasubbiah Chetty v. Govindarajulu Naidu (1907) 31 Mad. 45 and Sadasuk Janki Das v. Sir Kishan Pershad (1918) 46 Calc. 663, referred to. EBRAHIMBHOY PABANEY MILLS CO., LTD., v. HASSAN MAMOOJI (1921)
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1242

———— s. 92—

See s. 58 . I. L. R. 42 Mad. 41

See CONTRACT ACT,

ss. 1 and 118. I. L. R. 41 Bom. 518

s. 65 . . . 15 C. W. N. 408

See DOCTRINE OF SATISFACTION.
I. L. R. 37 Bom. 211

See DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF ACT (XVII OF 1879), ss. 2(2). 10A
I. L. R. 3 Bom. 18

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

———— s. 92—contd.

See EVIDENCE . I. L. R. 45 Calc. 320
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 892

See EVIDENCE, ADMISSIBILITY OF.
L. R. 44 I. A. 236
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 320
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 892

See KHUD KASH JOTES.
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 259

See LANDLORD AND TENANT
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 1079

See LEASE . I. L. R. 46 Calc. 1079

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), ss. 54, 118.
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 423

See RAYATI HOLDING.
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 546

See ORAL AGREEMENT.

See RECEIPT. . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 129

See RENT. . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 347

See RES JUDICATA I. L. R. 1 Lah. 83

———— Price specified in the sale deed—Recital as to amount of price, essential term of contract of sale—Oral agreement as to higher price in discharge of a mortgage—Evidence inadmissible. The amount of the price agreed to be paid is an essential term of a contract of sale; and consequently no evidence of an oral agreement at variance with the provisions of a registered sale-deed as to the amount of the price fixed for the sale is admissible under s. 92 of the Indian Evidence Act. Cowasji Ruttonji Limboowalla v. Burjeji Rustomji Limboowalla, I. L. R. 12 Bom. 335, followed. Vasudeva v. Narasamma, I. L. R. 5 Mad. 6, Kumara v. Srinivasa, I. L. R. 11 Mad. 213, Hukumchand v. Hiralal, I. L. R. 3 Bom. 159, and Gopal Singh v. Laloo Lall, 10 C. L. J. 27, explained. Ram Baksh v. Durjan, I. L. R. 9 All. 392, Indarjit v. Lal Chand, I. 18 All. 168, Balkishen Das v. Legge, I. L. R. 22 All. 149, Selamba Goundan v. Palani Goundan, (1913) Mad. W. N. 650, and Probat Chandra Gangapadhya v. Chirag Ali, I. L. R. 33 Calc. 607, referred to. ADITYAM IYER v. RAMA KRISHNA IYER (1913) . . . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 514

———— Sale-deed or Mortgage—Written agreement—Contemporaneous oral agreement to treat it as mortgage—Absence of fraud, misrepresentation, etc.—Oral agreement cannot be pleaded. Where parties enter into a sale-deed with a contemporaneous oral agreement to treat it as a mortgage, it is not open to either of them to plead the oral agreement in absence of fraud, misrepresentation or failure of consideration or the like reason rendering the sale void. SANGIRA MALAPPA v. RAMAPPA (1909) . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 59

———— Sale-deed or Gift—Admissibility of evidence to show that a document purporting to be a sale-deed is in reality a deed of gift. In the appeal their Lordships were of opinion that the decree of the High Court in Faiz-un-nissa v. Hanif-un-nissa, I. L. R. 27 All. 612, could not be supported and remitted the case to the High Court to be dealt with on the evidence. HANIF-UN-NISSA v. FAIZ-UN-NISSA (1911) . . I. L. R. 33 All. 34

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

———— s. 92—contd.

———— prov. I—Sale-deed—Contemporaneous agreement—Admissibility—Fraud. A desired to set aside an ostensible sale-deed by proving that a representation, agreement or promise was made to him at the time of execution that the deed would not be enforced as a sale-deed. Held, that no evidence of such a representation, agreement or promise could be admitted for this purpose. Dalloo v. Ramchandra, I. L. R. 30 Bom. 119, and Keshavrao v. Raya, I. L. R. 8 Bom. L. R. 287, followed. DAGDU VALAD SADU v. NANA VALAD SALU (1910) . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 93

———— Sale deed or Mortgage—Dekkhan agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879), s. 10A—Redemption suit—Sale in reality a mortgage—Evidence of oral agreement varying the written document. The plain

visio t

(XVI e had o

a de

gage, the defendant having promised at the time of the execution of the deed that he would allow plaintiff was not proved to be really a mortgage and dismissed the suit. The plaintiff appealed urging that the proper issue in the case was as to whether the sale-deed was not obtained or induced by the defendant by means of fraud or misrepresentation within the meaning of prov. I of s. 92 of the Evidence Act (I of 1872) and prayed for a

he

so

a separate oral agreement, but upon some fraud which would invite the application of prov. I of s. 92 of the Evidence Act (I of 1872). Held, further, that in the districts to which s. 10A of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879) was not extended, it was not open to the Court to enter upon a defence which consisted of an allegation of

Balkishen Das v. W. F. Legge, I. L. R. 22 All. 149, referred to. SOMANA BASAPPA v. GADIGEYA KORNAYA (1910) . . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 231

———— Fraud—Evidence, admissibility of—Evidence of acts and conduct of parties to deeds showing that they were treated as being otherwise than they purport to be—Evidence showing actual instrument "as between the parties to such instrument or their representatives in interest;" but it does not prevent proof of a fraudulent dealing with a third person's property or proof of notice

s

s

claimed to recover possession of certain parcels of land under deeds which purported to be absolute conveyances but which the appellants contended were meant to be, and had always in fact been, treated by all the parties concerned as mortgages only, and they tendered evidence of the acts and conduct of the parties to that effect. This evidence was excluded by both Courts below under s. 92 of the Evidence Act. Their Lordships of the Judicial Committee on appeal were, however, of opinion that on the evidence the case for the appellants disclosed a charge of fraud against the respondents antecedent to the deeds, inasmuch as they or the persons under whom they claimed took absolute conveyances of property from the appellants with that the rejected evidence should be heard, subject to any objections which the respondents might be advised to take as the Court would then be in a position to deal hereafter (if necessary) with the admissibility of the evidence in relation not only to the deeds, but also in relation to the questions

validity might possibly depend. MAUNG KYIN v. MA SHWE LA (1911) . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 892

———— Consideration—Sale of land, consideration for, not as stated in the deed—Oral promise, failure to perform. Assuming that it may be shown by oral evidence that the real consideration for a deed of sale was not the consideration stated in the deed itself but a promise to maintain the plaintiff, in the absence of coercion, undue influence, fraud or misrepresentation of any kind at the time when the deed of sale was registered and possession taken thereunder, the deed will not be set aside. The special equitable doctrine whereby the American Courts have relieved in cases where an aged person has conveyed all his property in consideration of an oral promise to be supported for the remainder of his life by the grantee, not applied SUBBAYYAH v. MONIEM SUBRAMANIA AYYAR (1913)
I. L. R. 36 Mad. 8

———— prov. I—Evidence—Proof of failure of acc wh had partly for his gambling losses and partly on other accounts, but it could not be ascertained what proportion of the total sum secured was represented by the gambling debts. Held, on suit to recover on these notes, that it was open to the defendants to prove that the consideration was in part

Court

part debts

missing the whole suit. Juggarnauth Sew Bux v. Ram Dyal, I. L. R. 9 Calc. 791, distinguished. BALGOBIND v. BHAGGU MAL (1913).
I. L. R. 35 All. 558

———— Fraud—Written document—Oral evidence to vary its terms—Plea of fraud—Section applies only to parties or their representatives. In 1892, certain property was purported to be sold to S by its owners, the plaintiff and his cousin.

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

————s. 91—concld.

8. ———————— suit for recovery of money advanced on a hundi which was signed shortly after the money was actually paid—Hundi insufficiently stamped and inadmissible in evidence—whether plaintiff has a cause of action independent of the hundi. The defendant C. S. applied to the Amritsar National Insurance and Banking Company for a loan and in his application stated the security as "personal security on a hundi payable after 3 months." The Directors of the Company sanctioned the loan and the money was paid to C. S. less a certain amount deducted as interest in advance for 3 months and C. S. thumb-marked the Banker's voucher. The same day C. S. executed a hundi promising to repay the money to the Company after ninety days. The Company subsequently assigned their claim to the National Banking Company, Amritsar, and the latter at first sued on the hundi, but finding that it was insufficiently stamped, put in an amended plaint in which they claimed simply to recover the money advanced with interest. Held, that the loan having been granted on the security of a hundi (the execution of the hundi being for certain reasons postponed till a short time after the money had actually been paid to the defendant) the plaintiff had no cause of action independent of the hundi, and as the hundi was inadmissible in evidence and as s. 91 of the Evidence Act forbids secondary evidence the plaintiff's suit must fail. Sheo Das v. Kanhaya Lal (61 P. R. 1888), Bakhshi Ram Labhaya v. Kaka Ram (42 P. R. 1895), and Ganga Ram v. Amir Chand (66 P. R. 1906) and C. A. 2865 of 1916, unpublished, followed. Baij Nath Das v. Salig Ram (16 Indian Cases 33), not followed. CHANDA SINGH v. AMRITSAR BANKING CO. . . I. L. R. 2 Lah. 330

———— ss. 91, 92—Contract—Contract signed by a party personally—Oral evidence to show that the party signing contracted as agent—Admissibility of—Indian Contract Act (IX of 1872), ss. 231, 233, effect of. In a suit on a contract signed by the defendant personally, the defendant attempted to lead oral evidence to show that he was contracting as agent and that the name of his principal was disclosed at the time of the contract. On plaintiff objecting to this evidence being admitted, Held, that such evidence was not admissible for the purpose of exonerating a contracting party from liability, for that would be substituting a different agreement from that evidenced by the writing. Higgins v. Senior (1841) 58 R. R. 884, followed. Venkatasubbiah Chetty v. Govindarajulu Naidu (1907) 31 Mad. 45 and Sadasuk Janki Das v. Sir Kishan Pershad (1918) 46 Calc. 663, referred to. EBRAHIMBHOY PABANEY MILLS CO., LTD., v. HASSAN MAMOOJI (1921)
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1242

———— s. 92—

See s. 58 . I. L. R. 42 Mad. 41

See CONTRACT ACT,

ss. 1 and 118. I. L. R. 41 Bom. 518

s. 65 . . . 15 C. W. N. 408

See DOCTRINE OF SATISFACTION.
I. L. R. 37 Bom. 211

See DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF ACT (XVII OF 1879), ss. 2(2). 10A
I. L. R. 3 Bom. 18

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

———— s. 92—contd.

See EVIDENCE . I. L. R. 45 Calc. 320
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 892

See EVIDENCE, ADMISSIBILITY OF.
L. R. 44 I. A. 236
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 320
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 892

See KHUD KASH JOTES.
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 259

See LANDLORD AND TENANT
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 1079

See LEASE . I. L. R. 46 Calc. 1079

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), ss. 54, 118.
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 423

See RAYATI HOLDING.
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 546

See ORAL AGREEMENT.

See RECEIPT. . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 129

See RENT. . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 347

See RES JUDICATA I. L. R. 1 Lah. 83

———— Price specified in the sale deed—Recital as to amount of price, essential term of contract of sale—Oral agreement as to higher price in discharge of a mortgage—Evidence inadmissible. The amount of the price agreed to be paid is an essential term of a contract of sale; and consequently no evidence of an oral agreement at variance with the provisions of a registered sale-deed as to the amount of the price fixed for the sale is admissible under s. 92 of the Indian Evidence Act. Cowasji Ruttonji Limboowalla v. Burjoji Rustomji Limboowalla, I. L. R. 12 Bom. 335, followed. Vasudeva v. Narasamma, I. L. R. 5 Mad. 6, Kumara v. Srinivasa, I. L. R. 11 Mad. 213, Hukumchand v. Hiralal, I. L. R. 3 Bom. 159, and Gopal Singh v. Laloo Lall, 10 C. L. J. 27, explained. Ram Baksh v. Durjan, I. L. R. 9 All. 392, Indarjit v. Lal Chand, I. L. R. 18 All. 168, Balkishen Das v. Legge, I. L. R. 22 All. 149, Selamba Goundan v. Palani Goundan, (1913) Mad. W. N. 650, and Probat Chandra Gangapadhya v. Chirag Ali, I. L. R. 33 Calc. 607, referred to. ADITYAM IYER v. RAMA KRISHNA IYER (1913) . . . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 514

———— Sale-deed or Mortgage—Written agreement—Contemporaneous oral agreement to treat it as mortgage—Absence of fraud, misrepresentation, etc.—Oral agreement cannot be pleaded. Where parties enter into a sale-deed with a contemporaneous oral agreement to treat it as a mortgage, it is not open to either of them to plead the oral agreement in absence of fraud, misrepresentation or failure of consideration or the like reason rendering the sale void. SANGIRA MALAPPA v. KAMAPPA (1909) . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 59

———— Sale-deed or Gift—Admissibility of evidence to show that a document purporting to be a sale-deed is in reality a deed of gift. In the appeal their Lordships were of opinion that the decree of the High Court in Faiz-un-nissa v. Hanif-un-nissa, I. L. R. 27 All. 612, could not be supported and remitted the case to the High Court to be dealt with on the evidence. HANIF-UN-NISSA v. FAIZ-UN-NISSA (1911) . . I. L. R. 33 All. 34

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

———s. 92—contd.

——— prov. I—Sale-deed—Contemporaneous agreement—Admissibility—Fraud. A desired to set aside an ostensible sale-deed by proving that a representation, agreement or promise was made to him at the time of execution that the deed would not be enforced as a sale-deed. Held, that no evidence of such a representation, agreement or promise could be admitted for this purpose.
Bom. 119, and
L. R. 287, followed. ... VALAD SALU (1910) . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 93

of oral agreement varying the written document. The plaintiff brought a redemption suit under the provisions of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVI ... which he had ... its face a deed of sale, was in reality ... of mortgage, the defendant having promised at the time of the execution of the deed that he would allow

... plaintiff was not proved to be really a mortgage and dismissed the suit. The plaintiff appealed urging that the proper issue in the case was as to whether the sale-deed was not obtained or induced by the defendant by means of fraud or misrepresentation within the meaning of prov. I of s. 92 of the Evidence Act (I of 1872) and prayed for a remand. Held, confirming the decree, that the plaintiff sought to make a new case in appeal in so far as he endeavoured to base his case, not upon a

... Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879) was not extended, it was not open to the Court to enter upon a defence which consisted of an allegation of

... referred to. SOMANA BASAPPA v. GADIGEYA KORNAYA (1910) . . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 231

——— Fraud—Evidence, admissibility of—Evidence of acts and conduct of parties to deeds showing that they were treated as being otherwise than they purport to be—Evidence showing actual conveyances to be only mortgages—Fraud with regard to property of third person not party to deed. S. 92 of the Evidence Act (I of 1872) is applicable to an instrument "as between the parties to such instrument or their representatives in interest;" but it does not prevent proof of a fraudulent dealing with a third person's property or proof of notice that the property purporting to be absolutely conveyed in fact belonged to a third person who was not a party to the conveyance. The respondents claimed to recover possession of certain parcels of land under deeds which purported to be absolute conveyances but which the appellants contended were meant to be, and had always in fact been, treated by all the parties concerned as mortgages only, and they tendered evidence of the acts and conduct of the parties to that effect. This evidence was excluded by both Courts below under s. 92 of the Evidence Act. Their Lordships of the Judicial Committee on appeal were, however, of opinion that on the evidence the case for the appellants disclosed a charge of fraud against the respondents antecedent to the deeds, inasmuch as they or the persons under whom they claimed took absolute conveyances of property from the appellants with notice that such property belonged in fact to a

... therefore, without expressing any opinion on the construction or application of s. 92 of the Evidence Act in relation to the deeds came to the conclusion that the rejected evidence should be heard, subject to any objections which the respondents might be advised to take as the Court would then be in a position to deal hereafter (if necessary) with the admissibility of the evidence in relation not only ... the execution of those deeds, and upon which their validity might possibly depend. MAUNG KYIN v. MA SHWE LA (1911) . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 892

——— Consideration—Sale of land, consideration for, not as stated in the deed—Oral promise, failure to perform Assuming that it may be shown by oral evi... deed of sale ...

... thereunder, the deed will not be set aside. The special equitable doctrine whereby the American Courts have relieved in cases where an aged person has conveyed all his property in consideration of an oral promise to be supported for the remainder of his life by the grantee, not applied. SUBBAYYAH v. MONIEM SUBRAMANIA AYYAR (1913)
I. L. R. 36 Mad. 8

——— prov. I—Evidence—Proof of failure of consideration—Promissory note given partly on account o... The defendant who had ... had lost, ... partly for his gambling losses and partly on other accounts, but it could not be ascertained ... of the total sum secured was

... debts could not be separated from the rest, in dismissing the whole suit. Juggarnauth Sew Bux v. Ram Dyal, I. L. R. 9 Calc. 791, distinguished. BALGOBIND v. BHAGGU MAL (1913).
I. L. R. 35 All. 55

——— Fraud—Written document—Oral evidence to vary its terms—Plea of fraud—Section applies only to parties or their representatives. In 1892, certain property was purported to be sold to S by its owners, the plaintiff and his cousin

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

———— s. 92—contd.

In 1898, S sold a moiety of the property to defendant No. 1, who was plaintiff's sister's son ; and he sold the other moiety to the same person in 1904. The plaintiff sued in 1913 for a declaration that the transaction of 1892 was a mortgage. The trial Court came to the conclusion that the original transaction with S was a mortgage and that in 1898 and 1904 the property was conveyed by S to defendant No. 1 with full knowledge of the fact that S was only a mortgagee and with the understanding that defendant No. 1 was to hold the property subject to the liability to reconvey the same to the plaintiff and his cousin on payment. The trial Court held the plaintiff entitled to redeem a moiety of the property. On appeal, the lower appellate Court came to the same conclusion on facts; but dismissed the plaintiff's claim on the ground that the evidence to show that the conveyance of 1898 was a mortgage was inadmissible. The plaintiff having appealed: Held, that so far as the transactions of 1898 and 1904 were concerned, s. 92 of the Indian Evidence Act (I of 1872) had no application, for the plaintiff was not a party to either of them. Held, by SHAH J., that as regards the transaction of 1892, the oral evidence was admissible under prov. 1 to s. 92, the plaintiff's allegation in substance being one of fraud, namely, that though defendant No. 1 entered into these transactions with the full knowledge of the fact that S was really a mortgagee and not the owner of the property, he later turned round and said that he had no such knowledge. Held, by MARTEN J., that assuming the transaction of 1892 must be taken to be a sale, there was nothing in s. 92 to prevent oral evidence of a subsequent agreement in 1898, to treat the 1892 deed as a mortgage, and to enter into the 1898 deed as a transfer of that mortgage. Held, therefore, that the plaintiff was entitled to recover the property comprised in the 1898 transaction on payment of the moneys there paid by defendant to S and subsequent interest. GANU walad RAMJI v. BHAU walad BAPUJI (1918)

I. L. R. 42 Bom. 512

———— Area—Evidence to disprove area stated in lease of land within specified boundaries—Admissibility—Evidence of previous negotiations, if admissible. Where the area of demised land, which was described in the lease as lying within certain specified boundaries, was stated therein as 400 bighas, extrinsic evidence was not admissible to show that there was not the stated area within the specified boundaries. Extrinsic evidence as to the negotiations which led up to the contract was inadmissible to vary the construction of the lease DURGA PROSAD SINGH v. RAJENDRA NARAIN BAGCHI (1913)

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 493
18 C. W. N. 66

———— Prov. (1)—Evidence—Consideration—Admissibility of evidence to prove that the true consideration is other than that which appears from the deed embodying the transaction. If one party to a deed alleges and proves that the whole of the consideration the receipt of which was acknowledged in the deed did not pass, the case falls within the first proviso to s. 92 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, and the other party is at liberty to prove what the real consideration was. Evidence can be given to prove the real nature of the transaction. Hanif-un-nissa v. Faiz-un-nissa, I. L. R. 33 All. 340, followed. Jumna Dass v. Srinath Roy, I. L. R. 17 Calc. 176 (note), Shah Mukhun Lall v. Baboo Sree Kishen Sing, 12 Moo. I. A. 157, Lala Himmat Sahai Singh v. Llewhellen, I. L. R. 11 Calc. 486, Hukumchand v. Hiralal, I. L. R. 3 Bom. 159, Indarjit v. Lal Chand, I. L. R. 18 All. 168, Kailash Chandra Neogi v. Harish Chandra Biswas, 5 C. W. N. 158, Nathu Khan v. Sewak Koeri, 15 C. W. N. 408, Muhammad Yusuf v. Muhammad Musa, All. Weekly Notes, (1907) 181, and Adityam Iyer v. Ramakrishna Aiyar, 25 Mad. L. J., 602, referred to. CHUNNI BIBI v. BASANTI BIBI (1914) . I. L. R. 36 All. 537

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

———— s. 92—contd.

———— Prov. 4—Contract of mortgage—Oral evidence led to prove discharge of mortgage debt by payment of a smaller sum of money than actually due—Inadmissibility of such evidence. In a suit by a mortgagee to recover Rs. 2,000 as balance due on two registered mortgage deeds, the defendant-mortgagor pleaded that the mortgagee had received Rs. 800 in full satisfaction of the mortgage debt. The lower Courts allowed oral evidence to show that the mortgages in suit were discharged by the mortgagee by a payment of Rs. 800. On appeal to the High Court, Held, that oral evidence was inadmissible to prove discharge of the mortgage debt under s. 92, Proviso 4 of the Evidence Act, 1872. Mallappa v. Matum Nagu Chetty (1918) 42 Mad. 41, followed. JAGANNATH v. SHANKAR (1919)

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 55

———— provs. 1 and 3—Sale-deed—Property, vesting of—Oral evidence contrary to its tenor, admissibility of—Document operative at once—Evidence as to vesting of property at a future time, inadmissible—Rule of English Law, different. An executant of an instrument (which was not a sham transaction but intended to operate at once), cannot be permitted to set up or prove that the instrument, which according to its tenor vested the property in the grantee at once, was in reality intended to vest it only at a future time or after the death of the executant. S. 92, proviso 1, of the Indian Evidence Act, has no application to a case where the instrument represents what the parties intended to put down in writing, though it might not be in accordance with what they intended to do and with the legal effect that they secretly wanted to bring about but which for some reason they did not want to put in writing. The rule of English Courts of Equity permitting evidence to be given to show that a document was intended to operate in a manner different from the plaint and apparent meaning of its language cannot be followed in India, as it is contrary to the provisions of s. 92 of the Indian Evidence Act. Balkishen Das v. Legge, I. L. R. 22 All. 149, Achutaramaraju v. Subbaraju, I. L. R. 25 Mad. 7, Dattoo v. Ramachandra, I. L. R. 30 Bom. 119, and Challa Venkatta Reddy v. Devabhaktuni Mruthunjayadu, (1912) Mad. W. N. 164, followed. Jibun Nissa v. Asgar Ali, I. L. R. 17 Calc. 937, referred to. Chaudhri Mehdi Hasan v. Muhammad Hassan, I. L. R. 28 All. 439, Ramalinga Mudali v. Ayyadorai Nainar, I. L. R. 28 Mad. 124, and Amirthathammal v. Periasami Pillai, I. L. R. 32 Mad. 325, distinguished. MOTTAYAPPAN v. PALANI GOUNDAN (1913)

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 226

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

———— s. 92—contd.

———— Price—Essential term of contract. The price agreed to be paid is an essential part of a sale contract consequently no evidence of an oral agreement at variance with the provisions of a sale-deed on this point is admissible. ADITYAM IYER v. RAMA KRISHNA IYER

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 514

———— Prov. 2—Suit on promissory note—Plea of an oral agreement purporting to vary note—Admission in pleadings—Admission subject to condition—Absence of substantive proof of oral agreement—Onus of proof. Although there are cases where it is allowable to urge an oral agreement which would have the effect of leaving matters otherwise than if they had depended on the written agreement alone, the oral agreement must be clearly proved, and the onus of doing so is on him who sets it up. In a suit on a promissory note, dated 23rd December 1907, executed by the defendant (appellant) and a firm of H. C. and that liabi-

1908, a simple acknowledgment by H. C. being then substituted for the note. The plaintiff stated in his plaint that the defendant's liability was only to come to an end at the date named provided he ant' not tiff

defe

Cour of tl of t

Judicial Committee,

pleadings would have brought the defendant's contention within proviso (2) of s. 92, as being an oral agreement as to which the promissory note was silent, and which was not inconsistent with its terms. In that view their Lordships were of opinion that it would not be satisfactory to decide against the defend dence, and they he to prove his ver necessarily (as belo

the defendant's case was thereupon established. The agreement alleged by the defendant must be substantively proved, and that had not been done.

accepted at all. An admission, therefore, that the ESSABHOY v.

I. L. R. 39 Bom. 399

———— contemporaneous oral agreement—admissibility of. In a suit by the payee of a hundi against the drawer and acceptor the plaintiff claimed interest at 12 per cent. per annum on the strength of an oral contemporaneous agreement. There was no stipulation regarding interest in the hundi itself. Held, that under the Evidence Act, 1872, s. 92, evidence of the oral contemporaneous agreement was excluded, and the plaintiff was entitled to interest only at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum as provided by the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881, s. 80. Banwari Lal v. Jagarnath Prasad (1916)

1 Pat. L. J. 71

———— Mistake—in a sale-deed to the defendant resisting suit for possession—Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), s. 31.—Plea of mistake without previous rectification of sale-deed, maintainability of. The combined effect of s. 92, cl. (a) of the Evidence Act (I of 1872) and of s. 31 of the Specific Relief Act (I of 1877) is to entitle either party to a contract whether plaintiff or defendant to protect his right by proving a mistake in a the party who is obliged to prove the mistake happens to be a defendant in the suit resisting a claim for possession of that property and that he has not previously obtained a rectification of his sale-deed are no bar to the advancement of the plea. Mahendra Nath Mukkerjee v Jogendra Nath Roy Chaudry, 2 C. W. N. 260, followed. Mahadeva Ayyar v. Gopala Ayyar, I. L. R. 34 Mad. 51, referred to. RANGASAMI v. SOURI (1915)

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 792

———— Prov. 3—Promissory note—Contemporaneous oral agreement—Evidence cannot be allowed to prove the agreement. In a suit on a promissory note payable on demand, no evidence he had sold to a third party. Such an agreement cannot be brought within the terms of proviso 3 to s. 92 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872. Ramjibun Serowgy v. Oghore Nath Chatterjee (1897) 25 Calc. 401, relied on. VISHNU RAMCHANDRA v GANESH KRISHNA I. L. R. 45 Bom 1155

———— prov. 4—Registered kabuliyat—Acceptance by landlord for a long time of reduced rent, if precludes suit at kabuliyat rate—Admissibility of evidence of conduct to prove agreement to take rent at reduced rate or to prove that kabuliyat originally not intended to be acted upon. The mere fact that the landlord accepted rent at a reduced rate from that stipulated for in the kabuliyat for some time does not bind the lessor to accept

Prosad Singh v. Rajendra Narain Bagchi, I. L. R. 37 Calc. 293 : I. L. R. 41 Calc. 493 : s. c. 18 C. W. N. 66, referred to. Under s. 92, prov. 4 of the Evidence Act any variation of rent reserved by a registered lease must be made by a registered instrument and oral evidence is inadmissible to

of the kabuliyat

than that stated in the kabuliyat is admissible to show that the intention of the parties was that the kabuliyat from the very first was not intended to be acted upon or that there had been a waiver of the strict terms of the lease. Benimadhub Gorain v. Lalmoti Dasi, 6 C. W. N. 242, followed. MANINDRA CHANDRA NANDI v. DURGA SUNDARI DASSYA (1915) . . 20 C. W. N. 680

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

—————— s. 92—contd.

—————— Mortgage with possession—De facto substitution of the other property for part of that included in the mortgage-deed—Suit for redemption—Evidence. The plaintiff mortgaged to the defendants three specific items of property for a sum of Rs. 99. The mortgage was registered, and it was a possessory mortgage, but the defendants never in fact got possession of more than one of the items mentioned in the deed. They did, however, get possession as mortgagees of another piece of property not mentioned in the deed, apparently by virtue of a subsequent oral agreement with the plaintiff, and they held this piece of property in mortgagee possession for a number of years. Held, on suit by the plaintiff for redemption, that the plaintiff was entitled to lead evidence to prove two facts : (i) that the possession of the defendants over the plot not mentioned in the mortgage deed was that of mortgagees and had never been adverse to himself and (ii) that the right of mortgagee possession was terminated by the payment of Rs. 99 which had been duly tendered by him. BAID RAM v. TIKA RAM (1917).

I. L. R. 39 All. 300

—————— Prov. 5—Dowl kabuliyat, construction of—Exclusion of evidence of customary incidents—Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 92, Prov. 5—Non-agricultural tenancies created before the Transfer of Property Act. not heritable or Transferable—Death of tenant after Act IV of 1882 came into force—Heirs if may transfer tenancy—Tenancies if terminable without notice—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), s. 106, if bars civil suit to correct entry. The mere fact that a document is called a dowl kabuliyat does not decide its nature. The document should be looked at as a whole and any evidence designed to show customary incidents of tenure as attaching to the jotes must be rejected if and so far as it conflicts with what is contained in the dowls themselves. Evidence of a custom of transferability is thus excluded by an express statement in the dowls that there is no right of sale. Gift or transfer without the landlord's consent. Where the only right secured in the dowls to the tenants was an option to take a renewal at the rate of rent prevalent in the perganah : Held, that the tenancies created by the dowls were neither heritable nor transferable and no evidence of custom was admissible on these heads. When the terms of the dowl kabuliyats expired the tenants holding over became yearly tenants on the terms of the dowl kabuliyats so far as applicable to a yearly tenancy and when on the death of the last survivor of them their heirs were recognised as tenants, they became yearly tenants upon the terms of the dowl kabuliyat so far as applicable to a yearly tenancy. The Transfer of Property Act having come into operation before the tenancy came into the possession of the tenants' heirs, they had a yearly tenancy in the land which was capable of transfer, and notice was necessary to terminate the tenancy, the tenancies not being agricultural within the meaning of s. 117 of the Transfer of Property Act and Chap. V of the Act consequently applying to them. S. 106 of the Bengal Tenancy Act does not provide the only method of obtaining the correction of the entry in a finally published record-of-rights, and a civil suit instituted with that object is maintainable. Jogendra Nath Roy v. Krishna Pramada Dassi, I. L. R. 35 Calc. 1013 (1908) not followed. MAHOMED AYEJUDDIN MEA v. PRODYOT KUMAR TAGORE

25 C. W. N. 13

—————— Prov. 6—Deed of settlement, construction of—Subsequent conduct of parties to the instrument whether admissible in evidence—Execution proceedings—Res judicata—Notice of particular questions, necessity for—Application for execution—Order at one stage of the application, if res judicata at another stage. Where, by a Deed of Settlement, almost the whole of the settlor's immoveable property was transferred to trustees together "with buildings and appurtenances thereto" and the question was raised as to whether certain specific properties were included in the deed : Held, that the ambiguity in the deed, being latent, in construing the deed the subsequent conduct of the parties thereto, can be legitimately looked into under s. 92, proviso 6 of the Evidence Act for the purpose of ascertaining to what persons or things the expressions used therein were intended to apply. Tulshi Pershad Singh v. Ramnarain Singh, I. L. R. 12 Calc. 117, Venkataramanna v. Venkatapathi, 28 Mad. L. J. 510, Forves v. Watt, 2 Sc. & D. App. 214, and Van Diemen's Land Company v. Table Cape Marine Board, [1906] A. C. 92, referred to. Vissanji Sons & Co. v. Shapurji Burjorji, I. L. R. 36 Bom. 387, 395, explained. A decree-holder applied for execution of his decree by attachment and sale of certain properties in the possession of the respondents, the sons of the deceased judgment-debtor. Notice went to the respondents to show cause why they should not be brought on the record as the legal representatives of the deceased judgment-debtor for purposes of execution ; they did not appear and an order was made ex parte. Held, that they were not estopped by this order from moving to set aside the attachment on the ground that the properties did not belong to the judgment-debtor. Observations as to the application of the principle of res judicata to orders in execution. SUBRAMANIA AYYAR v. RAJA RAJESWARA DORAI (1916) . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 1016 —————— Sale-deed—Old document—Intention of parties—Extrinsic evidence, admissibility of—Such evidence can only be allowed if the terms of the document require explanation. In 1865, a possessory mortgage deed was passed in favour of the father of defendant No. 1. In 1867, the mortgagor sold by a document purporting to be a sale-deed the equity of redemption to the plaintiff's assignor. The plaintiff having sued for redemption of the mortgage of 1865, an issue was raised whether the transaction of 1867 was a mortgage or sale. Both the lower Courts were of opinion that on the wording of the document itself viewed in the light of certain surrounding circumstances as to the value of the property, inadequacy of consideration, &c., under Proviso (6) of s. 92 of the Evidence Act, 1872, the parties intended that the transaction was a mortgage. On appeal to the High Court : Held, that the docu-

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

——— s. 92—concld.

extrinsic evidence in construing the document. On general principles it would be extremely undesirable, after the document had stood more than fifty years to allow evidence to be led to show that the document is not what appears on the face of it. Where the document itself is a perfectly plain, straightforward document, no extrinsic evidence is required to show in what manner the language of the document is related to existing facts. There may be cases where such extrinsic evidence is required, and it will therefore be admitted. But it can only be in cases where the terms of the documents themse[illegible] trinsic evidenc[illegible] laid down by [illegible] 1872. Dattoo [illegible] relied on. Jh[illegible] 38 All. 570 ; I[illegible] 45 Calc. 320 ; [illegible] 22 All. 149, referred to. GANPATRAO APPAJI v. BAPU bin TUKARAM (1919)

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 710

——— s. 93—

See s. 92 . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 1016

——— Hand-note—Evidence Act (I of 1872), ss. 93, 94, 95, 96—Stipulation to pay interest—Interest whether monthly or annual, extrinsic evidence to prove. A hand-note contained a stipulation to pay interest at 2½ per cent. but did not mention whether that interest was to be calculated annually or monthly or otherwise. Held, that evidence was properly admitted to show that the words meant that interest should be calculated monthly. Mahomed Sumsooddeen v. Moonshee Abdool Huq, (1864) W. R. 379, followed. MONMOTHA NATH CHAUDHURY v. NOBIN CHANDRA SANYAL (1910) . . 14 C. W. N. 1100

——— Agreement to sell land—Statement of area in the schedule, whether an assurance or description—Presumption—Rebuttal—Extrinsic evidence, admissibility of, to explain facts—Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 93. Negotiation for the sale of certain plots of land by the Plaintiffs to the Defendant having for a considerable time proceeded on the basis of area per square yard, Plaintiffs at a certain stage repudiated the suggestion of sale by area, Defendants at the same time insisting that the sale must be by area. After long discussion a conclusion was reached and an agreement executed. A memorandum at the top retained in the schedule. In a suit for specific performance of the agreement, the Plaintiffs denied that they had agreed to guarantee any area whilst the Defendant affirmed that they did: Held, that extrinsic evidence to explain the facts was admissible in order to reconcile the statement in the body of the agreement on which the Plaintiffs rested their case with the recital in the schedule on which the Defendant relied as amounting to an assurance in respect of the area which was intended to be conveyed to him. That though the presumption is that in fixing the price, regard was had on both sides to the quantity which both supposed the estate to consist of, yet there may be considerations which may rebut or weaken the presumption. Hill v. Buckley, 17 Ves. 394 (1811), referred to. Held, on the evidence, that the allegati[illegible] statement of area [illegible] a oversight wa[illegible] area in the schedule was not by way of an assurance and amounted to no more than a misdescription. HUSSONANLLY SULLEMANJI v. TRIBHOWANDAS MANGALDAS NATHUBHAI (P. C.)

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

——— s. 93—concld.

25 C. W. N. 385

——— Imputation—ambiguity—If an imputation is ambiguous as to its meaning evidence is admissible to explain it. KUPPUSWAMI v. DORAISWAMI . . . I. L. R. 33 Mad. 67

——— s. 94—Mortgage—Construction of document—Misdescription of property mortgaged—Evidence admissible to show to what property the mortgage was intended to apply. On the 27th of March, 1864, one H. B. mortgaged 91 biswas of the villages Anuda, Hasan Mahdud and Paniyala. On the 6th of February, 1873, the mortgagor executed a [illegible] instead of Paniyala. Held, that s. 94 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, did not debar the mortgagees from giving evidence to show that the village of Paniyala was intended to be charged by the mortgage of the 6th of February, 1873 the language of the later mortgage could not be regarded as clear and unambiguous. MAHABIR PRASAD v. MASIATULLAH (1915) . . I. L. R. 38 All. 103

——— s. 95—

See CONTRACT ACT, s. 63.

I. L. R. 34 Mad. 156

——— ss. 95 and 96—

See s. 93 . . 14 C. W. N. 1100

——— ss. 95 to 97—

See s. 92 . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 1016

——— s. 101—

See PROBATE . . I. L. R. 39 Calc.

——— s. 102—

See RENT SUIT.

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 554

——— s. 103—Goods consigned by rail—Risk note—Liability of Railway Company for goods consigned on a risk note—Burden of proof. The plaintiff consigned certain bales of piecegoods by the defendants' Railway under a risk note. By the terms of the risk note in consideration of a special reduced rate being charged the consignor agreed to hold the Railway Administration harmless for any loss except for loss of a complete consignment due to the wilful neglect of the Railway Administration or to theft by or wilful neglect of its servants: provided that wilful neglect was not to be held to include robbery from a running train or any other unforeseen event. The goods were properly carried in a closed waggon, but one of the bales was lost in transit. The plaintiff having sued the defendant Railway Company for the value of the missing bale, the Subordinate Judge decreed the plaintiff's claim holding that the defendant Company failed to prove the theft from the running train though he found that there was no evidence to prove that there was any theft from the train. The defendant company having applied to the High Court under its revisional jurisdiction: Held, reversing the decree and dismissing the suit, that the burden lay on the plaintiff under s. 103 of the Indian Evidence Act to give proof of the fact that there was wilful neglect or theft by railway servants and, he not having done so, no question was reached of robbery from a running train. East Indian Railway Company v. Nathmal Behari Lal, I. L. R. 39 All. 418, approved. B., B. & C. I. RAILWAY COMPANY v. RANCHHODLAL CHHOTALAL & Co. (1919)

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

——— s. 103—contd.

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 769

But See RAILWAY COMPANY.
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1201

——— s. 105—

See PENAL CODE, s. 76.
I. L. R. 32 All. 451

——— Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), s. 97—Right of private defence—Pleadings—Alternative and apparently inconsistent pleas. The right of an accused person to defend himself upon a criminal charge can only be limited by the provisions of the statute law. There is nothing in the law to prevent a man on his trial on a charge of culpable homicide from setting up an alternative defence on some such lines as these: "First, I was not present at the occurrence referred to by the prosecution witnesses, and they are giving false evidence against me; secondly, even if I fail to persuade the Court of this fact, I can show, from the statements of the prosecution witnesses themselves, that, if I had caused the death of any person in the manner and under the precise circumstances deposed to by their evidence, I should have been acting in the lawful exercise of a right of private defence. Queen-Empress v. Prag Dat, I. L. R. 20 All. 459, Queen-Empress v. Timmal, I. L. R. 21 All. 122, and Emperor v. Gullu, All. Weekly Notes, 1904, p. 113, referred to. EMPEROR v. YUSUF HUSAIN (1918) I. L. R. 40 All. 284

——— s. 106—

See MUNICIPALITY.
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 168

See RAILWAY COMPANY.
I. L. R. 47 Calc. 6

——— Onus of Proof—Individual and Corporation. In order to apply the section the knowledge must be in the nature of something peculiar and there is no difference in this respect between an individual and corporation. LACHHMINARAIN MARWARI v. RANCHI MUNICIPALITY . . . 1 Pat. L. J. 168

——— ss. 106 and 114, ill. (g)—

See MADRAS REGULATION (XXV OF 1802), s. 4 I. L. R. 38 Mad. 620

——— ss. 107, 108—Nature of presumption—Adverse possession, tacking of. There is no presumption in law that a person was alive for seven years from the time when he was last heard of. Ss. 107 and 108 of the Evidence Act deal with the procedure to be followed when a question is raised before a Court, as to whether a person is alive or dead, but do not lay down any presumption as to how long a man was alive or at what time he died. Narki v. Lal Sahu, I. L. R. 37 Calc. 103, and Muhammad Sharif v. Bande Ali, I. L. R. 34 All. 36, followed. Assuming that the Court could make a presumption that a person was alive for seven years after he was last heard of, it depends on the circumstances of each case, whether the Court would draw such a presumption or not. A person in possession without title cannot tack his possession to that of another, if he did not enter on possession as the heir of that other. VEERAMMA v. CHENNA REDDI (1914) I. L. R. 37 Mad. 440

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

——— ss. 107, 108—concld.

——— s. 108—

See DEATH, PRESUMPTION OF.
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 103

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), SCH. I, ARTS. 140, 141.
I. L. R. 40 Bom. 239

See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 40 Calc. 342

——— Missing—Presumption as to death but not as to date of death—Muhammadean law. The presumption of Muhammadan law that, when a person has disappeared and has not been heard of for a certain number of years, he is dead, and further that, as regards property coming to him by inheritance, he must be deemed to have died at the date of his disappearance, is a rule of evidence only and as such must be taken to have been superseded by the provisions of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, which do not raise any presumption as to the date of the death of a person who has disappeared and has not been heard of for a certain number of years by those who would naturally hear of him. Mazhar Ali v. Budh Singh, I. L. R. 7 All. 297, followed. MAIRAJ FATIMA v. ABDUL WAHID I. L. R. 43 All. 673 ——— Evidence—Presumption of death—Burden of proof. Held, that the presumption which it is permissible to make under s. 108 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, does not go further than the mere fact of death. If the period which has elapsed since the time that the person whose death is in question was last heard of is more than seven years, there is no presumption that such person died during the first period of seven years and not at any subsequent period. Dharup Nath v. Gobind Saran, I. L. R. 8 All. 614, discussed. In re Phene's Trusts, L. R. 5 Ch. A. 139, Narayan Bhagvant v. Shriniwas, 8 Bom. L. R. 226, Fani Bhushan Banerji v. Surjya Kanta Roy Chowdhry, I. L. R. 35 Calc. 25, and Srinath v. Probodh Chunder Das, 11 C. L. J. 580, referred to. MUHAMMAD SHARIF v. BANDE ALI (1911)

I. L. R. 34 All. 36

——— s. 110—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE, CODE, 1908, O. XLI, R. 23 . 2 Pat. L. J. 61

——— Unoccupied village site—Presumption of title vesting in Government—Onus of proof—Party in possession to prove better title—Adverse possession—Land Revenue Code (Bom. Act V of 1879), s. 37. The land in dispute was a Gabhan or unoccupied village site. The plaintiff alleged that the land came to him at a partition of joint family property and he was in possession of it for twenty years. In 1912 the Collector held that the site belonged to Government and ordered the plaintiff to pass a lease. The plaintiff, thereupon, sued for a declaration that the site was of his ownership and that the order passed by the Collector might be cancelled. It was contended that as the plaintiff was shown to have been in possession for a period of twenty years the onus of proving that the plaintiff was not the owner was thrown on the Government under s. 110 of the Evidence Act, 1872. Held, that under old customary law and s. 37 of the Bombay Land Revenue Code, the presumption arose that the title to the village site vested in the Government and in order to oust the Government the plaintiff had to prove either that he had got a title better than the title of the Secretary of State or that he had obtair .

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

——— s. 110—contd.

sixty years. .
for India (1
Secretary of St
(1916) 39 Mad. 617, referred to. VASTA v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 789

——— s. 114—

See s. 25 I. L. R. 35 Mad. 247 and 397

See s. 30 . I. L. R. 43 Bom. 739

See s. 106 . 1 Pat. L. J. 168

See CONFESSION . 2 Pat. L. J. 80

See LIMITATION I. L. R. 40 Calc. 898.

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, SCH. I, ARTS. 142 AND 144. . 2 Pat. L. J. 504

See MADRAS REGULATIONS (XXV OF 1802), s. 4 . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 620

See PRINCIPAL AND AGENT. I. L. R. 43 Calc. 527

See REGISTER OF DEATHS. I. L. R. 46 Calc. 152

See REGISTRATION ACT (III OF 1877) ss. 32, 60, 75 I. L. R. 34 All. 253

See RENT DECREE. I. L. R. 43 Calc. 170

See WARRANT ATTACHMENT. 3 Pat. L. J. 636

——— Burden of proof——Suit on mortgage bond—Production by plaintiff of copy of bond on the ground of loss of the original—Defendants' admission of execution and production of original with payment of debt endorsed by agent

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

——— s. 114—contd.

evidence on both sides, set aside the presumption under s. 114 of the Evidence Act, and endeavoured to make out a case for the plaintiff based on a favour of a "possibility" based on surmise Sus*picion, though a ground for scrutiny, could not be* made the foundation of a decision. MUHAMMAD MEHDI HASAN KHAN v. MANDIR DAS (1912)

I. L. R. 34 All. 511
17 C. W. N. 49

——— Presumption arising under— Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 106—Notice to quit—Service by post. A notice to quit was given by registered post but the letter containing the notice was returned by the post the presumption. GIRISH CHANDRA GHOSH v. KISHORE MOHAN DAS (1918) 23 C. W. N. 319

——— ss. 114, 133—

See ACCOMPLICE I. L. R. 38 Calc. 96

——— s. 115—

See ADVERSE POSSESSION. I. L. R. 40 Calc. 173

See BENAMI . I. L. R. 46 Calc. 586

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT XIV OF 1882), s. 258 I. L. R. 34 Bom. 575

See EASEMENTS ACT, 1882, ss. 13 AND 47 I. L. R. 45 Bom. 80

See ESTOPPEL I. L. R. 36 Mad. 564
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 513

See LANDLORD AND TENANT (INTEREST) I. L. R. 46 Calc. 1070

See MINOR I. L. R. 1 Lah. 389

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, s. 123 I. L. R. 45 Bom. 164

——— Adjustment outside the Court—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 258—Adjustment or payment of decree—Decree-holder acting upon the adjustment and receiving money—Application to execute the decree—Estoppel by conduct—Indian Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 115. A decree was adjusted outside the Court. No notice was given to the Court of the adjustment; and its received for several years ...

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

——— s. 115,—contd.

estopped by conduct under s. 115 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872. Held, that the view of the Subordinate Judge gave the go-by to the plain language of the last paragraph of s. 258 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1882. There is no room left by the law for the operation of the law of estoppel in the matter of execution. The last paragraph of s. 258 enacts a special law for a special purpose whereas s. 115 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, relates to the general law of estoppel; and the principal is that a special law overrides for its purposes the general law. Per CHANDAVARKAR, J.—Fraudulent executions of decrees must be discouraged by the Courts whenever they come to their notice; and decree-holders, who enter freely into adjustments outside the Court and do not certify them as required by law, but fraudulently apply for execution, ignoring the adjustment, should be dealt with under the criminal law. Per HEATON, J.—The purpose of s. 258 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1882, is that the Court shall have complete knowledge of all that is done towards the satisfaction of its decree. TRIMBAK RAMKRISHNA v. HARI LAXMAN (1910) . . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 575

——— Estoppel—Acquiescence—Both parties equally conversant with true state of facts—Vague allegations—Real controversy to be ascertained by the Judge. Where parties make vague and loose allegations, it is essential to the correct determination of the suit that the real controversy should be ascertained by the Judge by questioning their legal advisers as to what is exactly their position in the matter. Where both parties to a suit are equally conversant with the true state of facts, it is absurd to refer to the doctrine of estoppel. In the year 1871 Government granted to the defendants' predecessor-in-title a certain plot of land situate at Dhandhuka. The grant expressly stated that a strip of land belonging to Government was the southern boundary of the plot so granted. This statement was repeated in the mortgage-deed executed by the defendants' predecessor-in-title to the defendants themselves in the year 1893. In the year 1895 the defendants purchased the said plot and encroached on the strip by extending their building on it. Thereupon the Secretary of State for India in Council brought a suit against them to recover possession of the strip after removing the defendants' encroachment. The suit was brought in the year 1908. The defendants' plea was that they were in possession and enjoyment for a long time and consequently there was acquiescence and estoppel on the part of the officers of Government and Dhandhuka Municipality and that they wished to lead evidence to prove their plea. Held, that the defendants' title-deeds having brought to their knowledge the title of the Government, the doctrines of estoppel and acquiescence were not applicable, and the suit was governed by sixty years' limitation, the Government being a party to it. RANCHODLAL VANDRAVANDAS v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1910)

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 182

——— Estoppel—Minor if may be estopped from repudiating contract induced by representation that he was sui juris—Misrepresentation, not fraudulent—Contract Act (IX of 1872), s. 10. The law of estoppel must be read subject to other laws such as a Indian Contract Act, and a minor cannot be made liable upon a contract by means of an estoppel under s. 115 of the Indian Evidence Act. Dhurmadas v. Brohmo Dutt, I. L. R. 25 Calc. 616 : s. c. 2 C. W. N. 330, followed. Surendra Nath Roy v. Krishna Sakhi Dasi, 15 C. W. N. 239, where there was fraudulent misrepresentation, distinguished. GOLAM ABDIN SARKAR v. HEM CHANDRA MAJUMDAR (1915).

20 C. W. N. 418

——— Estoppel—Minor included in "person"—Minor passing himself off as a major is bound by his contract—Sale of house. The plaintiff purchased a house from defendant No. 2 who was not clearly a minor in appearance and who represented to the plaintiff and caused her to believe that he was a major. In a suit by the plaintiff, to recover possession of the house, defendant No. 2 pleaded his minority. Held, negativing the plea, that defendant No. 2 being "a person" within the contemplation of s. 115 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, and having by direct declaration intentionally caused the plaintiff to believe that he was a major, was precluded absolutely from denying the truth of that assertion. Ganesh Lala v. Bapu I. L. R. 21 Bom. 198, followed. DADASAHEB DASRATHRAO v. BAI NAHANI (1917).

I. L. R. 41 Bom. 480

——— Estoppel—Owner causing person without legal title to have her name registered as proprietor in Revenue Register—Conveyance sued on challenged as invalid on account of vendor's minority—Failure to prove minority—Onus—Co-defendants, res judicata as between. Property belonging to B's estate, then under management under the provisions of the Chota Nagpur Encumbered Estates Act, having been put up to sale by the manager, was bought by K who either was a benamidar for B or whose title was extinguished by reason of his not taking a conveyance of it. B then caused K's son to execute a conveyance of the property to B's natural daughter R and later on actively assisted her in a proceeding for mutation of names in the Revenue Register for which R applied. Her name was registered and she thus became bound for all the State liabilities which attach to registered holders of immoveable property. On B's death, his widow C sued for a declaration that the property was hers, making R and J, B's son and heir, defendants. That suit was dismissed, the Court holding as between R and J that the property was R's. The plaintiff claiming under a conveyance executed in his favour by R sued for recovery of the property from J who inter alia pleaded that R was an infant at the date of the conveyance which in consequence was invalid. Held, that the onus to prove minority being on defendant, defect in his proof could not be cured by a mere criticism of the plaintiff's evidence, and the defendant having failed to bring reliable evidence to prove his assertion, the conveyance must stand. That the decision in C's suit as between R and B who were co-defendants was not res judicata in the present suit. That B was estopped from questioning R's title to the property. JAGANNATH PRASHAD SINGH v. SYED ABDULLAH (1918) . . . . I. L. R. 45 Calc. 909
22 C. W. N. 891

——— ss. 115, 116—

See ADMINISTRATOR PENDENTE LITE.
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 771

See WAKF . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 447

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

———— ss. 115, 116, 117—Lessee if may deny lessor's title after expiry of term—Possession given by lessor and retained after expiry of term—Estoppel, rules of—Evidence Act, if exhaustive as to estoppel. A lessee, so long as he retains the possession he obtained from the lessor, cannot, even after his term has expired, set up in the lessor's suit for ejectment the defence that the lessor had no title at the time the lease was granted. This rule has not been affected by s. 116 of the Indian Evidence Act. Ss. 115 to 117 of the Evidence Act are not exhaustive as to the rules of estoppel in force in British India. BHAIGANTA BEWAH v. HIMMAT BADYAKAR (1916) . . 20 C. W. N. 1335

———— Estoppel—There can be no estoppel if the party to whom the representation was made did not believe it to be true, for in such a case the resulting conduct is in no sense the effect of the preceding declaration. S. 115 does not apply in such a case. Under Hindu Law a bequest of income without disposing of the

the absence of words of limitation JAGARNATH PRASAD v. JAIKISHUN PRASAD . 1 Pat. L. J. 16

———— s. 116—

See BENAMI TRANSACTION.

I. L. R. 37 All. 557

See LANDLORD AND TENANT

I. L. R. 36 Mad. 53

———— Landlord and tenant—Denial of landlord's title—Estoppel. When once a person is the tenant of another person he cannot be allowed to deny that the person whose tenant he was, was the owner when the tenancy was created. He can, no doubt, admit that his landlord was the owner at the commencement of the tenancy and allege and prove by evidence that the landlord's estate has subsequently come to an end; but he cannot deny that at the commencement of the tenancy the person with whom he entered into the contract was the owner of the property, and this disability, is not removed, by the declaration of the tenancy Bilas Kunwar v. Desraj Ranjit Singh, I. L. R. 37 All. 557, followed. GANPAT RAI v. MULTAN (1916)

I. L. R. 38 All. 223

———— Estoppel—Landlord and tenant—Tenant not let into possession by the landlord —Whether estopped from denying the landlord's title to the property. Held by the Full Bench (SESHAGIRI AYYAR and PHILLIPS, JJ., ABDUR RAHIM, Offg. C. J., dissenting), that a tenant who has executed a lease but has not been let into possession by the lessor is estopped from denying his lessor's title in the absence of proof that he executed the lease in ignorance of the defect in his lessor's title or that his execution of the lease was procured by fraud, misrepresentation or coercion. Per ABDUR RAHIM, Offg C. J.—A tenant who was let show that the title is in some third person or in himself. But the execution of a lease or payment favour unless the fact is sufficiently explained. In most cases of this nature the presumption in favour of the plaintiff can only be displaced by the defendant showing that the attornment was made by him in ignorance of the plaintiff's title or was induced by fraud, misrepresentation or coercion. VENKATA CHETTY v. AIYANNA GOUNDAN (1916)

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

———— s. 116—contd.

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 561

———— s. 117—

See ss. 115, 116 . 20 C. W. N. 1335

See TRADE-MARK.

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 262
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 814

———— s. 118—

See APPEAL. . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 406

See OATH ACT (X OF 1873), ss. 5, 6, 13.

I. L. R. 38 All. 49
6 Pat. L. J. 148

———— ss. 118, 132—

See WITNESS . I. L. R. 45 Calc. 720

———— s. 122—

See EVIDENCE . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 891

———— Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 122—"Representative in interest"—Disclosure by wife of communications made by deceased husband during marriage. Where there is no "representative in interest" who can consent under s 122 of the Evidence Act, to the disclosure of communications made by a deceased husband to his wife during marriage, the wife should not be permitted, even if willing to disclose such communications. The widow of a deceased husband is not his "representative in interest" for the purpose of giving such consent. NAWAB HOWLADAR v. EMPEROR (1913) . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 891

———— ss. 123, 124, 125—Privilege—Departmental enquiry into conduct of Police officers, statements made by witnesses at—Trial of Police Officers on charge of taking illegal gratification—Court's duty to send for the statements and allow accused to cross-examine thereon. Statements made by witnesses in the course of departmental enquiry into the conduct of Police Officer who were subsequently of the Evidence Act on the statements made by them at the departmental enquiry. Empress v. Ramadhan Maharun, 2 Bom. L. R. 329, HARBANS SAHAI v. EMPEROR (1912) . 16 C. W. N. 431

———— ss. 123, 124, 163—

See EASEMENTS ACT (V OF 1882), s. 15.

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 304

———— s. 125—

See LIMITATION I. L. R. 40 Calc. 898 evidence. Plaintiff sought to prove that defendant who had recovered a decree for possession of property against certain third parties was plaintiff's benamdar and for that purpose examined defendant's pleader in that suit, who deposed that defendant had informed him that he was plaintiff's benamdar. Held, that the statement of the pleader, having been made without his client's consent, was inadmissible in evidence under s. 126, Evidence Act. The pleader acted improperly in disclosing without his client's consent communications made to him in confidence as pleader. BAKAULLA MOLLAH v. DEBIRUDDI MOLLAH (1912)

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

—————— s. 126—contd.

16 C. W. N. 742

—————— Privilege of witness—Vakil and client—Information gained by vakil in case of former employment, though not by direct oral or written communication. S. 126 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, applies as much to what a witness has learned by observation, as e.g., by watching a manufacturing process being carried on, as to what is communicated to him by word of mouth or writing. In the course of his employment to defend certain manufacturers of a substance called banslochan against a charge of creating a nuisance in the process of manufacture, the process in question was shown to the vakil engaged by the manufacturers. Held, that such vakil could not afterwards, being subpoenaed as a witness for the applicant in an application for revocation of patent against the same manufacturers, be compelled to disclose what he had learned of the process in the course of his former employment. GOPI LAL v. LAKHPAT RAI (1918)

I. L. R. 41 All. 125

—————— s. 132—

See FALSE EVIDENCE.

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 878

See THUMB-IMPRESSION.

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 348

See WITNESS . I. L. R. 45 Calc. 720

1. —————— Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860) s. 499—Witness—How far a statement made by a witness in giving evidence is privileged. A person who whilst giving evidence as a witness in Court has made a statement which primâ facie amounts to defamation under s. 499 of the Indian Penal Code may plead one or other of the exceptions to that section, or he may claim the protection of the proviso to s. 132 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872; but in the latter case he must show that he was compelled to make the statement alleged to be defamatory in the sense that he had asked to be excused from answering the question which led up to it and the Court had obliged him to answering it. Queen v. Gopal Dass, I. L. R. 3 Mad. 271, Queen-Empress v. Moss, I. L. R. 16 All. 88, and Emperor v. Ganga Prasad, I. L. R. 29 All. 685, referred to. KALLU v. SITAL (1918) . I. L. R. 40 All. 271

—————— Defamation—Prosecution of witness in respect of statement made in answer to a question put by the court. Held, that a witness in a civil suit cannot be prosecuted for defamation in respect of an answer made by him to a question asked by the court. Queen-Empress v. Moss, I. L. R., 16 All. 88, and Kallu v. Sital, I. L. R., 40 All. 271, referred to. EMPEROR v. GANGA SAHAI . . . . . I. L. R. 42 All. 257

2. —————— Witness—Defamation—Statement made on oath by a witness in a criminal case in answer to a question—Witness "compelled" to answer even if he has not objected. Although a voluntary statement made by a witness may stand on a different footing, an answer given by a witness in a criminal case on oath to a question put to him either by the court or by counsel on either side, especially when the question is on a point which is relevant to the case, is within the protection afforded by s. 132 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, whether or not the witness has objected to the question asked him. Queen v. Gopal Das, I. L. R., 3 Mad. 271, Queen-Empress v. Moss, I. L. R., 16 All. 88, Kallu v. Sital, I. L. R., 40 All. 271, and Ganga Sahai v. Emperor, I. L. R., 42 All. 257, not followed. EMPEROR v. CHATUR SINGH . . . . I. L. R. 43 All. 92

—————— s. 133—

See s. 25 I. L. R. 35 Mad. 247 and 397

See ACCOMPLICE. I. L. R. 38 Calc. 96

—————— s. 135—

See CHARGE . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 957

—————— Per Curiam—While Counsel has discretion, the Court has also power under s. 135 of the Evidence Act to direct the order in which witnesses cited by a party shall be examined. In the goods of GOPESSUR DUTT (1911).

16 C. W. N. 265

—————— s. 137—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 342.

6 Pat. L. J. 644

—————— ss. 143, 154—

See CHARGE I. L. R. 42 Calc. 957

See CROSS-EXAMINATION.

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 957

—————— ss. 144—

See CONFESSION. . 2 Pat. L. J. 80

—————— s. 145—

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION.

I. L. R. 39 Bom. 441

See HINDU LAW—MINOR.

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 166

—————— ss. 145, 33—Depositions of witnesses in a criminal trial, use of, in supporting or contradicting them in a subsequent civil suit—Irregularity in procedure. In the absence of proof of circumstances specified in s. 33 of the Evidence Act the importing in bulk in a civil suit of depositions of witnesses recorded in a criminal trial was a serious irregularity. The depositions could not in such circumstances be used even to support the evidence the witnesses gave in the civil suit. Where they were used to contradict the witnesses, but without giving them opportunity to tender their explanation or to clear up the particular points of ambiguity or dispute. Held, that the procedure was contrary to general principles and to the specific provisions of s. 145 of the Evidence Act. Valubai v. Govind Kashinath, I. L. R. 24 Bom. 218, 221, approved. BAL GANGADHAR TILAK v. SHRINIWAS PANDIT (1915) . . . . 19 C. W. N. 729

—————— s. 153, 154—

See WILL I. L. R. 47 Calc. 1043

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—contd.

———— s. 154—

See s. 143 . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 957

———— ss. 155 and 157—

See POLICE DIARIES 3 Pat. L. J. 568

———— s. 157—

See s. 21 I. L. R. 34 Bom. 599

See s. 25 I. L. R. 35 Mad. 247 and 397

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), s. 162.
I. L. R. 39 Bom. 58

See ss. 32, 35, 157, 159
2 Pat. L. J. 42

———— s. 159—

———— Held, that under the provisions of ss. 159 and 160 of the Evidence Act, an officer, while giving his evidence, was entitled to refresh his memory from the entries in the register written by his clerk and which he himself signed daily. ABDUL SALIM v 'KING-EMPEROR'
26 C. W. N. 660

———— s. 163—

See EASEMENT ACT (V OF 1882), s. 15
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 304

———— s. 165—

See s 132 . I. L. R. 42 All. 257

See PRACTICE . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 326

———— Suit under Registration Act (XVI of 1908), s. 77—Suit to enforce registration of a will—Evidence taken before Sub-Registrar, filed in Court by the consent of parties—Evidence, not found to be relevant under s. 33 of the Act or otherwise—Judgment and decree, based on such evidence, whether valid. A suit, instituted under s. 77 of the Registration Act to enforce registration of a will, was decided by the Court on evidence taken before the not find that the evidence was relevant under s. 33 or any other section of the Evidence Act but admitted the same solely on the ground of the consent of the parties. On objection being taken ...ent. Held, ... 165 of the ...cts declared to be relevant by the Act and duly proved, that the consent of parties could not take the place of a declaration of the Evidence Act, and that conse-

...SWAMI PILLAY v. SINGARAM PILLAY (1918)
I. L. R. 41 Mad. 731

———— s. 167—

See DEPOSITION.
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 895

See EVIDENCE ACT, ss. 5, 32, 167.
5 Pat. L. J. 411

———— Trial by Jury—Misdirection, improper admission of evidence whether amounts to—Counter-information—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 423—Powers of the High Court, in a jury trial. Where in his charge to the jury, the Sessions Judge referred to a certain counter-information lodged by one of the accused as if it contained an admission by all the accused of their presence at the scene of occurrence. Held, that the counter-information was wrongly admitted as evidence against the accused other than the accused who lodged it. That the observation of the Sessions Judge on the counter-information amounted to a misdirection only in so far as a wrong admission of evidence implies a misdirection; and that notwithstanding such a misdirection the High Court can deal with the case in accordance with the provisions of s. 167, Indian Evidence Act.

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872)—concld.

———— s. 167—contd.

be retired by the Sessions Judge and a Jury. SHEIKH HAZIR v. EMPEROR (1910)
14 C. W. N. 493

———— Application in second appeal, when finding of fact arrived at, in part, on inadmissible evidence. Where in a suit on a bond, plaintiff sought to save the bar of limitation by was "discrepant" and "not satisfactory" and went on to hold that there was sufficient proof of the certificate,— and in this view dismissed the suit. Held, that the certificate being inadmissible in evidence and it being impossible for the High Court to say how far the lower Appellate Court was influenced in its decision by it there ought to be a retrial. GOMEZ v. IDOO MIAN (1914)

19 C. W. N. 1148

EVIDENCE FOR THE DEFENCE.

See PRACTICE I. L. R. 40 Calc. 376

EVIDENCE OF ASSOCIATION.

———— admissibility of—

See SECURITY FOR GOOD BEHAVIOUR.
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 91

EVIDENCE OF BAD CHARACTER.

See LIBEL . I. L. R, 37 Calc. 760

EVIDENCE OF IDENTITY.

See CONSPIRACY I. L. R. 41 Calc. 754

EVIDENCE OF JURORS.

See JURY, TRIAL BY.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 693

EVIDENCE OF REPUTATION.

See BURMESE LAW—MARRIAGE.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 492

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 110.
25 C. W. N. 334

EVIDENCE ON OATH.

See "JUDICIAL PROCEEDI...
I. L.

EVIDENCE ON COMMISSION.

See WILL . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 1043

EVIDENTIARY VALUE.

See CONFESSION I. L. R. 40 Calc. 873

EXAMINATION.

See INSOLVENCY I. L. R. 44 Calc. 374

EXAMINATION OF WITNESS.

See INSOLVENCY I. L. R. 38 Calc. 542

———— de novo—

See MAGISTRATE, TRANSFER OF.
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 812

EXAMINATION ON COMMISSION.

1. ———— Purdanashin lady—Exemption—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908), ss. 132, 133—Costs, S. 132 of the Code of Civil Procedure covers the case of a woman, who, although she may have abandoned the protection of the purda, should not be compelled to give evidence in Court, having regard to the class and community to which she belongs. SOLOMON v JYOTSNA GHOSAL (1917) I. L. R. 45 Calc. 492

2. ———— Purdanashin lady—Practice—Right of purdanashin lady to be examined on commission—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s 132, cl. (1). The petitioner, a purdanashin lady, applied under s. 132, cl. (1) of the Civil Procedure Code, to be examined on commission. The opposite party objected on the ground that she had on a former occasion appeared before a Criminal Court to institute a complaint. Held, that she was entitled to be examined on commission and ought not to be compelled to appear in public. Chamatkar Mohiney Dabee v. Mohesh Chunder Bose, I. L. R. 26 Calc. 651, n., Mohesh Chunder Addy v. Manick Lall Addy, I. L. R. 26 Calc. 650, followed. In re Hurro Soondrey Chowdhrain, I. L. R. 4 Calc. 20, In re Din Tarni Debi, I. L. R. 15 Calc. 775, Abhayeswari Debi v. Kishori Mohan Banerjee, I. L. R. 42 Calc. 19; 18 C. W. N. 1020, Hem Coomaree Dassee v. Queen Empress, I. L. R. 24 Calc. 551, In re Faridunnissa, I. L. R. 5 All. 92. In re Basant Bibi, I. L. R. 12 All. 69, discussed. BALAKESHWARI DEBI v. JNANANANDA BANERJEE (1917) . . . I. L. R. 45 Calc. 697

———— Purdanashin lady—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), ss. 132, 133, O. XXVI, r. 1—Right of choice as to place of examination. The defendant contended that his witness who is a Purdanashin lady is entitled to be examined on commission at a place of her own choice or where she happened to be at the time of the issue of the commission. Held, that she had no such right. KHITIPATI ROY v. DHARANI MOHAN MOOKERJEE (1920) I. L. R. 48 Calc. 448

EXCAVATION OF TANK.

See PROHIBITORY ORDER.
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 376

EXCEPTED RISKS.

See COMMON CARRIER, LIABILITIES OF.
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 28

EXCESS-PROFITS DUTY.

———— Club—"Business"—Charities—Excess Profits Duty Act (X of 1919), EXCESS PROFITS DUTY—contd.

s. 2. The income of a Turf Club consisted of moneys paid by the public as (i) entrance fees to the stand, paddocks and enclosures, (ii) entrance fees paid by owners of race-horses. (iii) bookmakers' license fees, and (iv) percentage on the totalisators, besides moneys paid by its ordinary members:—Held, that the club carried on 'business' within the meaning of s. 2 of the Excess Profits Duty Act (X of 1919) in respect of the above heads and was liable to pay such duty. Carlisle and Silloth Golf Club v. Smith, [1913] 3 K. B. 75, relied on. CALCUTTA TURF CLUB v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1921)
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 844

EXCESS PROFITS DUTY ACT (X OF 1919).

———— s. 2—

See EXCESS PROFITS DUTY
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 844

———— It is not necessary that the duty should be assessed within the year for which the duty is payable. CHIEF COMMISSIONER FOR INCOME TAX v. RAMANATHAN CHETTIAR
I. L. R. 44 Mad. 768

———— ss. 4, 5 (b), 6 (1) (b)—Indian Income Tax Act (VII of 1918), s. 2 (1)—Capital employed in the business, meaning of—money invested in shares in public companies and Government securities—moneys lent and advanced. Moneys invested in the shares of public companies and in Government securities having been treated by the firm as part of the capital of the firm were "capital employed in the business of the firm," and consequently, as such must be included in the capital computation both for the accounting period and "the standard years" under the Excess Profits Duty Act, 1919. Moneys lent to business concerns and individuals were also capital employed in the business and as such to be similarly computed. MESSRS. MARTIN & Co., v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL . . . 25 C. W. N. 875

———— ss. 3, 15, Sch. I—"Offices or employments" meaning of—"Excepted business"—Agents of a mill company remunerated by commission—Indian Income Tax Act (VII of 1918), s. 51—Reference on application of assessee—Finance (No. 2) Act, 1915 (5 and 6 Geo. 5, 89), c. 39—Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), s. 45—High Court's power of Interference. The petitioners, who acted as agents of a mill company and were remunerated by a commission, claimed to be exempted from the excess profits duty under clause 2 of Schedule I of the Excess Profits Duty Act, 1919. The Collector and the Chief Revenue Authority in appeal decided that the petitioners were not exempt from such duty inasmuch as they constituted a separate firm whose business was different from that of the mill company and was not an "office or employment" which would be exempted under the Act. The petitioners requested the Chief Revenue Authority to refer the question of exemption to the High Court under s. 51 of the Income-Tax Act, 1918; but the latter declined to do so and the petitioners applied to the High Court under s. 45 of the Specific Relief Act:—Held, that the proviso to Schedule I must be read as governing generally the three kinds of businesses enumerated under headings (1), (2) and (3) of the Schedule; or, in other words, as including the businesses mentioned therein as within the terms of s. 3 of the Act. Held, further on the facts, that the petitioners were not to be considered as carrying on a business excepted under the above Schedule. Held, also, that it was not incumbent on the Chief Revenue-Authority to make a reference to the High Court whenever an application for a reference was made to him, and that in the present case he exercised a proper discretion in coming to the conclusion that a reference was unnecessary. IN THE MATTER OF DORAISWAMI IYER & CO.

EXCESS PROFITS DUTY ACT (X OF 1919) —contd.

———— ss. 3, 15, Sch. I—contd.

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1064

———— s. 6(1) (a) and (b) and Schedule II, cl. 1, Proviso—Cash and investments—Accumulated profits not to be considered as capital unless employed in business—' Employed in the business,' meaning of—Income Tax Act (VII of 1918), s. 51—High Court's power of interference—Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), s. 45. Under the proviso to clause (1) to Schedule II of the Excess Profits Duty Act, 1919, accumulated profits of a company cannot be treated as capital unless they are employed in the business. Whether or not they are employed in the business is a question of fact which the Chief Revenue-Authority is entitled to decide on the materials before it the words ' employed in the business' in the proviso, primâ facie, bear their natural meaning of 'actually employed in the business' and cannot be construed as if the words were ' employed or intended to be employed in the business.' Per MACLEOD, C. J.—It would be open to the Court to consider the grounds on which the Chief Revenue-Authority (acting under s. 51 of the Indian Income Tax Act, 1918) was satisfied that a reference was unnecessary. For authority rather than by the Chief Revenue-Authority, I doubt whether that Authority would be justified in saying that it was satisfied that a reference was unnecessary. IN THE MATTER OF THE EXCESS PROFITS DUTY ACT (1920)

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 881

EXCHANGE.

See ENCUMBRANCE.

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 891

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), SS. 118, 119, 120, 54 AND 55, CL. 6 (b) . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 519

ss. 54, 118 I. L. R. 40 All. 187

———— rate of—

See FOREIGN CURRENCY.

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 836

EXCISABLE ARTICLE.

See BENGAL EXCISE ACTS.

See BOMBAY ABKARI ACT.

See MADRAS ABKARI ACT.

See UNITED PROVINCES EXCISE ACT (IV OF 1910), S. 60.

I. L. R. 35 All. 575

———— Bonâ fide medicinal preparation containing alcohol—Unlicensed manufacture and sale of such—Excise Act (Beng. V of 1909), ss. 2 (7), (14), and 46 (a), as amended by Beng.

EXCISABLE ARTICLE—contd.

Bengal Excise Act (V of 1909), s. 2 (7), (14), as amended by Beng. Act VII of 1914. Gonesh Chunder Sikdar v. Queen Empress, I. L. R. 24 Calc. 157, Mati Lal Chandra, v. Emperor, I. L. R. 39 Calc. 1053, Satish Chandra Roy v. King-Emperor, 17 C. W. N. 939, declared obsolete. GANESH CHANDRA SIKDAR v. EMPEROR (1917)

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 82

———— "Spirituous and fermented liquors"—Drugs containing spirituous liquor—Manufacture, sale or possession—Transport, import or export—Bengal Excise Act (V of 1909), ss. 46, 52, 55 and 57—Board Notifications—License—Misconduc

Legisla

(VII o

of drugs selling intoxicating liquors or otherwise dealing with them, and not to penalise the use of beneficent drugs. To be an excisable article, liquor must be intoxicating liquor. The term "spirituous liquor" is not intended to include a medicinal preparation merely because it is a liquid substance containing alcohol in its composition. S. 55 of the Bengal Excise Act (V of 1909) refers to manufacture, sale or possession of excisable articles. It does not apply to import, transport or export. S. 56 makes the holder of a license, permit, or pass liable for the misconduct of his servant or agent in matters of import, transport or export. Gonesh Chunder Sikdar v. Queen-Empress, I. L. R. 24 Calc. 157, approved. MATI LAL CHANDRA v. EMPEROR (1912)

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 1053

EXCISE.

———— "Denatured spirit" meaning of—Dilution of denatured spirit with water rendering it fit for human consumption—"Excisable article" and "liquor," whether diluted denatured spirit is—"Manufacture," meaning of—Mere dilution of denatured spirit not a "process"—Bengal Excise Act (Beng. V of 1909), ss. 2 (6), (7) (14), (15) 46, 48, 75, 81, 84—Application of the Criminal Procedure Code to trials for excise offences—Misjoinder of charges—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 233. The words "effectually and permanently rendered unfit" in s. 2 (6), read with s. 48, of the Bengal process

treatme

the bulk of the liquid, renders the spirit fit for human consumption. Where the liquid was so manipulated as to lose its characteristics of a denatured spirit, and the accused had succeeded in the attempt to render the spirit fit for human consumption, the conviction under s. 48 was held bad in the above meaning. Semble If the words imply only a process which would be permanently effective in the absence of some chemical treatment or process of filtration, the conviction under s. 48 was still bad for want of evidence that the spirit was in fact ever so denatured by the accused. The words "unfit for human consumption" may be taken to mean "liable to be injurious to health." The term "manufacture" in s. 2 (11) of the Act does not include the act of mere dilution of denatured spirit with water, but a continuous and regular action or a succession of actions taking place, o carried on in a definite manner and leading to th accomplishment of some result. Quære: Whether denatured spirit diluted with water is an "excisable article" or "liquor," within s. 2 (7) and (14) of the Act. Ss. 75 and 81 of the Act apply to proceedings before a Collector, and s. 84 shows that the Criminal Procedure Code is applicable to trials before a Magistrate under the Act subject to specified restrictions. An appeal, therefore, lies under s. 410 of the Code, from a conviction and sentence by a Presidency Magistrate, passed under the Act. The acts of manufacturing the excisable article brought into Court, bottling, and possessing the same, and of selling from time to time various other and similar articles not before the Court, and of attempting to render denatured spirit fit for human consumption, do not constitute the same transaction, and a trial in respect of all such acts is bad for misjoinder, under s. 233 of the Code. S. 233 applies to trials of summons cases. King Emperor v. San Dun, 3 L. B. R. 52, approved. UPENDRA NATH BISWAS v. EMPEROR (1913)

EXCISE—contd.

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 694

EXCISE ACT (X OF 1871).

See ACT OF STATE.

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 615

EXCISE ACT (E. B. AND ASSAM I OF 1910).

———— ss. 36, 53, 72—Medicated article containing Bhang "Kameshwar Modak" Manufacture and sale by medical practitioner for medicinal purposes if protected—S. 72, effect and scope of—Notification by Local Government—Rules by Board of Revenue. The petitioner, who was a Kabiraj, was charged under s. 53 of the Eastern Bengal and Assam Excise Act with the manufacture and sale of an exciseable article, namely, a mixture called "Kameshwar Modak" which contained bhang and which admittedly was a medical article prepared by the petitioner for medical purposes: Held, that, in regard to the manufacture and sale of the article in question, the petitioner was protected by s. 72 of the Act, the language of which is wide enough to take any case to which it applies without restriction out of the Act. SATISH CHANDRA ROY v. THE KING-EMPEROR (1913)

17 C. W. N. 939

EXCISE LICENCE.

See UNITED PROVINCES EXCISE ACT (IV OF 1910), s. 64 (c)

I. L. R. 40 All. 563

EXCISE OFFICERS.

See PENAL CODE, s. 332.

I. L. R. 37 All. 353

———— Excise officers, whether police officers—Retracted confessions, admissibility of—Confession, whether exculpatory statements amount to—Evidence Act (I of 1872), ss. 25, 30—Duty of Presidency Magistrate to examine the accused when written statement filed—Duty of such Magistrate to make a full and proper record of material facts—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), ss. 342, 362—Benefit of the doubt when facts are consistent with innocence. Excise officers are not police officers within s. 25 of the Evidence Act. A confession made out of Court but retracted

EXCISE OFFICERS—contd.

during the trial is, nevertheless, admissible under s. 30 of the Evidence Act. The word "makes" in s. 30 only means that a confession may be taken into consideration against the co-accused as well as against the maker. To determine whether a statement is a confession it is essential to consider the nature of the offence charged or likely to be charged and to read the statement as a whole. A statement consistent with an attempt on the part of the maker to exculpate himself from the charge made or likely to be made against him is not a confession, and is inadmissible under s. 30 of the Evidence Act against the co-accused. The putting in of a written statement by the accused does not absolve the Court from the duty of carrying out the provisions of s. 342 of the Criminal Procedure Code. It is the duty of a Presidency Magistrate, under s. 362 of the Code, to make a full and proper record of all the material facts, whether appearing in the examination-in-chief or cross-examination, especially when the witness is the only independent prosecution witness (all the other witnesses being excise officers engaged in the arrest) and there is an appeal, so as to enable the Appellate Court to deal with the case. Where the Magistrate recorded only a few sentences of the cross-examination, which took place on two days, the High Court looked into and compared the notes of the evidence made at the trial by a local pleader with the Magistrates' record of the same to satisfy itself as to the incompleteness of the record. Although the facts may give rise to grave suspicion, on a charge under s. 9 (c) (d) of the Opium Act, yet if the view that the accused was not in possession of the opium and took no part in its transport, but had only to pay the fare, is consistent with the evidence, after elimination of the inadmissible parts of it, the accused ought to have the benefit of the doubt. AH FOONG v. EMPEROR (1918)

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 411

EXCLUSION OF FEMALES.

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE.

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 1179
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 17

EXCLUSIVE POSSESSION.

———— claim of—

See DISPUTE CONCERNING LAND.

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 889

EXCOMMUNICATION.

———— from caste—

See TORT . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 433

EXCULPATORY STATEMENTS.

See ADMISSIONS AND CONFESSIONS TO POLICE OFFICERS

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 601

EXECUTANT.

———— personal liability of—

See NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS ACT (XVI OF 1881), s. 28.

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 482

EXECUTING COURT.

——— competency of, to enquire into title of transferee—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O. XXI, R. 2 (3).
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 296

——— jurisdiction of—

See EXECUTION OF DECREE.
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 574

EXECUTION.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1882—

ss. 287, 293 I. L. R. 36 Bom. 329

ss. 324A, 272, 285.
I. L. R. 36 Bom. 519

s. 325A . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 510

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908—

s. 47 . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 241 and 812

s. 48 . I. L R. 36 Bom. 368

s. 60 (c) . I. L. R. 41 Bom. 475

S. 115, O. XXI, R. 89.
I. L. R. 43 Bom. 735
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 943

S. 144 . I. L. R. 41 Bom. 625

Ss 2 (11), 5. 3
I. L. R. 42 Bom. 504

Ss. 11, 47 . I. L. R. 42 Bom. 246

O. XXI. RR. 73, 83.
I, L. R. 41 Mad. 616

O. XXXIV, R. 14.
I. L. R. 43 Bom. 631

SCH. III, s. 7 (1) (b); ss. 69, 70.
I. L. R. 37 Bom. 32

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872), s. 70.
I. L. R. 42 Bom. 556

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 145.
14 C. W. N. 78

See DECREE . I. L. R. 43 Bom. 412
I. L. R. 36 Bom. 42
I. L. R. 40 Bom. 504
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 227

See DECREE, EXECUTION OF.

See DEKKHAN AGRICULTURAL RELIEF ACT (XXV OF 1879), s. 48.
I. L. R. 42 Bom. 367

See EXECUTION OF DECREE.

See EXECUTION OF DOCUMENT.

See EXECUTION, STAY OF.

See EXECUTION SALE.

See FOREIGN DECREE.
I. L. R. 40 Bom. 551

See IDOL . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 135

See INJUNCTION I. L. R. 46 Calc. 103

See LIMITATION ACT (XV OF 1877)—

ARTS. 178, 179 I. L. R. 36 Mad. 553

ART. 179, CL. (4)
I. L. R. 34 Bom. 68

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908) SCH. I—

ARTS. 181, 182.
I. L. R. 42 Bom. 309

EXECUTION—contd.

ART 182, CLS. (5) AND (6)
I. L. R. 42 Bom. 420

See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 37 Calc. 897
I. L. R. 41 Mad. 513

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, s. 85.
I. L. R. 34 Bom. 354

See WILL . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 1043

——— application for—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, s 144.
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1137

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), s. 92, PRO. 6 AND SS, 93 AND 95 TO 97.
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 1016

——— application for, defective—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), SCH. I, ART. 182, CL. (5).
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 949

——— attachment by petitioner before judgment — sale — Opponent withdrawing the proceed of sale in execution of his decree—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), s. 115.
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 360

——— claimant to Property sold in possession paying into Court—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, O XXI, R 89 . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1094

——— claim to property—Burden of proof—

See ATTACHMENT.
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1020

——— death of judgment debtor—effect of—
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1186

——— decree for partition of property in possession of judgment debtor—

See ADVERSE POSSESSION.
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 943

——— decree-holder attaching mortgage decree of his judgment debtor—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, O XXI, R 53 I. L. R. 45 Bom. 343

——— execution proceedings in Court of a Native State—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), ART. 182, EXPL. II.
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 453

——— executing Court—Inherent powers of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, s 115
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 940

——— for sale of mortgaged property—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), ss. 47, 73, 104.
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 570

——— of ex parte decree—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), ss. 47, 144, 151.
I. L. R. 43 Bom. 235

——— of decree passed under old code—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, s 480.
I L. R. 45 Bom. 755

EXECUTION—contd.

——— of Order in Council—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, O. XLV, R. 15 . 1 Pat. L. J. 385

——— purchaser in, rights of—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 67. I. L. R. 40 Mad. 77

——— stay of—

See SEARCH WARRANT I. L. R. 47 Calc. 164

See EXECUTION, STAY OF I. L. R. 38 Mad. 766

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, O. XLI, R. 5 . . I. L. R. 2 Lah. 61

——— transmission of decrees to Courts of Native States—

See EXECUTION I. L. R. 40 Mad. 1069

——— in statement award decree—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, s. 47. I. L. R. 45 Bom. 812

——— transfer to and sale by Collector—

See HIGH COURT CIRCULAR (BOM.) I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1132

——— whether court can restore an application for dismissed for default—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE. I. L. R. 2 Lah. 63

——— Decree for rent—Suit for redemption—Taking of accounts under the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879)—Result of account showing that mortgaged over-paid himself from rents and profits—Mortgagees' right to execute decree for rent. In virtue of a decree for four years' rent, passed at a time when the provisions of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act did not apply, the plaintiff (mortgagee) became entitled to recover a certain sum from the defendant (mortgagor). After the introduction of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, the latter sued the former for redemption of the mortgage of the land in respect of which the rent-note sued on had been passed; on taking accounts in the way directed by the Act, it was found that the plaintiff as mortgagee had overpaid himself from the rents and profits of the land. The plaintiff thereafter applied to execute his decree for rent. Both the lower Courts dismissed the application on the ground that the plaintiff had already recovered more than was due to him as mortgagee from the rents and profits of the land. On appeal: Held, that the rent decree must be executed as it stood, having regard to the fact that the provisions of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act did not apply when it was passed, and that the accounts which were taken for the purposes of the subsequent decree, were taken for a special purpose—that is, for enabling the defendant to redeem on favourable terms, and did not entitle him to recover anything, from the plaintiff by way of set-off. MUGAPPA v. MAHAMAD SAHEB (1909) . . . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 260

——— Limitation—Step in aid—Accompanying serving peon and identifying the judgment-debtor, if a step in aid of execution—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Art. 182, cls. (5) and (6)—Court deciding ex parte and without notice to judgment-debtor—Application within time—Decision if binds judgment-debtor—Ex parte decree. One of the decree-holders accompanying the serving peon and identifying the judgment-debtor upon whom notice of the application for execution had been taken out for service, does not by itself constitute a step taken by the decree-holders in aid of execution within cls. (5) and (6) of Art. 182 of the Limitation Act. Where an application for execution which was reported by the office of the executing Court to be time-barred was, without notice to the judgment-debtor, held by the Court to be within time, and registered and later on dismissed for default: Held, that the decision that the application was not time-barred was not binding on the judgment-debtor. An ex parte decree is a good decree, but if it is made in the absence of, and without notice to, the other party, it does not bind him, and does not prevent him from showing what the true facts of the case were JUGOL KISHORE v. CHINTAMONEY (1914) 18 C. W. N. 1288.

——— Prayer herein for attachment—Attachment ordered—Failure to pay batta—Presumed oral application at the hearing of the petition to issue warrant of attachment—Whether such application is step in aid of execution—Part-payment entered in the petition—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. XXI, r. 2, cl. 1, whether certificate of payment proved—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), s. 20, saving of limitation. Where an assignee of a decree filed a petition for execution on the 13th July 1911 and an order of attachment was made on the day of hearing, the 12th August 1911, and the petition was subsequently dismissed on the 26th August 1911 on his failure to pay batta within the time allowed, and a fresh application was filed on the 10th August 1914. Held, that, though in the above circumstances, the Court might presume that the decree-holder made an oral application of the day of hearing to proceed with the execution such application was not a step in aid of execution and that the second application filed more than three years after the date of the first was barred by limitation. Held, also, that the part-payment of a decree amount entered in an execution petition, presented within three years from the date of such alleged payment amounts, if the fact of payment is proved, to a certificate of payment under O. XXI, r. 2 of the Code of Civil Procedure, and will operate to save limitation under s. 20 of the Limitation Act. Rajam Aiyar v. Ananthanatnam Aiyar, 29 Mad. L. J. 669, and Lakhi Narain v. Felamani Dasi, 20 C. L. J. 131, referred to. MASILAMANI MUDALIAR v. SETHUSWAMI AYYAR (1917) . I. L. R. 41 Mad. 251

——— Application to transmit a decree of a British Court to a Travancore Court, whether an execution application or a step in aid of execution—Issue of notice on such application, whether affords a fresh starting point, under Act 182, cl. (6)—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Art. 182, cl. 5—Power of British Courts to send their decrees for execution to Courts of Travancore State—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 45; effect of. Held by the Full Bench: (i) that in the absence of any provision to that effect in the Civil Procedure Code, Courts in British India have no power to send their decrees for execution to the Courts in Travancore but may and should send to these Courts the documents they require to enable them to execute these decrees under the powers conferred upon them by the legislative authority in Travancore; (ii) that the execution contemplated by the Civil Procedure Code and Art. 182 of the Limitation Act being execution by

EXECUTION—contd.

British Courts in India on application made to such a Travancore Court does not give a fresh starting point under Art. 182 (6), as no such notice is required by the Civil Procedure Code to be issued as a preliminary for execution by the Travancore Court. PIERCE LESLIE & CO., LTD., COCHIN v. PERUMAL (1917) . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 1069 ——— Civil Procedure Code—Act V of 1908, s. 141, O. II, r. 2 Non-applicability of, to execution applications—consolidating statute, construction of. The dismissal of a suit on the ground that no suit would lie to recover mesne profits subsequent to the date of a previous decree which awarded subsequent mesne profits is no bar to a claim thereto in execution of that decree The fact that a decree-holder made a previous application for execution to recover mesne profits only for three years subsequent to the plaint and not for a further period also is not a bar under O. II, r 2, Civil Procedure Code, or s. 141, Civil Procedure Code, as now enacted, to another execution application for recovery of mesne profits for the further period. Thakur Prasad v. Fakir-ullah, I. L R 17 All. 106, s.c. 22 I. A. 44, followed. Safdar Ali v. Kishen Lal, 12 C L. J. 6, not followed. There is nothing in the Code of Civil Procedure to prevent a decree-holder fron realising d

the words

effect cannot be cut down by a comparison with the language of earlier statutes. S. 141, Civil Procedure Code, is intended to apply to proceedings in Civil Courts such as probate, etc. BALASUBRAHMANYA CHETTI v. SWARNAMMAL (1913)

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 199

——— Transfer to Collector—Mortgage by judgment-debtor—Invalidity—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 325A. When the execution of a decree ordering the sale of immovable property has been transferred to the Collector under s. 320 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1882, the effect of s. 325A is that a mortgage of the property, or any part of it, made by the judgment-debtor while the Collector can exercise the powers given to him by ss. 322 to 325 is absolutely void, and not merely void as against the Collector and those claiming under him. Magniram Vithuram v.

L. R. 45 I. A. 219

——— Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 49 and O. XXI, r. 2—Satisfaction of decree, not certified—Second execution of decree by assignee of decree-holder—Suit by judgment-debtor for damages against decree-holder and assignee, maintainability of. Even a decree which has once of the decree-holder, has a cause of action for damages only as against the decree-holder but none against the assignee even though the assignee got the assignment with knowledge of satisfaction.

EXECUTION—contd.

Viraraghava Reddi v. Subbakka, I. L. R. 5 Mad. 397, referred to. Manmohan Karmokar v. Dwarka Nath Karmokar, 12 C. L. J. 312, and Goono Monee Dossia v Pran Kishore Dossee, 13 W. R. 69, distinguished. KRISHNA AIYAR v. SAVURIMUTHU PILLAI (1918)

I. L. R. 42 Mad. 338

——— Attachment and sale of lands—Transfer of territorial jurisdiction of Court—Order of Court which did not pass the decree but to which execution was transferred—Attachment and sale of lands by Court after deprivation of territorial jurisdiction, validity of —Estoppel against judgment-debtor, how far binding upon auction purchaser. A Court to which execution of a decree is transferred has no jurisdiction to order either the attachement or sale of immoveables in execution, if at the time of the order such Court had no territorial jurisdiction over the immoveables. Though a judgment-debtor, who does not object to a confirmation of a sale by such Court, may be estopped from raising the question that the sale was a nullity, such estoppel does not operate against the subsequent purchaser of the same property in a sale held by Court having jurisdiction in execution of another decree against the same judgment-debtor. Mahomed Mazuffer Hossein v. Kishori Mohun Roy (1895). I. L. R., 22 Calc. 909, explained. Prayag Roy v. Sidhu Prasad Tewari (1908), I. L. R. 35 Calc. 877, and Parsidh Narain Singh v. Janaki Singh (1907), 7 C. L. J., 644, dissented from. VEERAPPA CHETTY v. RAMASAMI CHETTY (1920)

I. L. R. 43 Mad. 135

——— Pre-decree arrangement that decree should be inexecutable in part, whether recognizable in execution proceedings. An arrange-the arrangement is good Chidambaram Chettiyar v. Krishna Vathiyar (1917), I. L. R 40 Mad. 233 (F.B.). ARUMUGAM PILLAI v. KRISHNASWAMI NAYUDU (1920) . . I. L. R. 43 Mad. 725

——— Civil Procedure Code (V. of 1908), O. XXI, rr. 15, 16 and O. XXII, r. 10 (1)—Transfer of part of decree—Right of transferee to execute or to join in execution—Prohibition of execution by transferee, void under s. 28 —Contract Act (IX of 1872)—Appeal against orders purporting to be passed under O. XXII, r 10, Civil Procedure Code. S. 146, Civil Procedure Code, recognizes the validity of a transfer of a part of a decree and execution thereof by the transferee. O. XXI, r. 16, is no bar to the application of the section. Such transferee is like a joint decreeholder and can, under O. XXI, r. 15, protect his rights either by executing the decree himself or by joining or intervening in the execution by his transferor. An agreement by the transferee of part of a decree that the transferor shall conduct execution proceedings and may compromise the same as he thinks fit, only contransferee

agreement

not in any way enforce his rights under the transfer, e.g., execute or intervene in execution is void under s. 28 of the Contract Act. An order purporting to be passed under O. XXII, r. 10, by a Court of first instance is appealable though on the facts the EXECUTION—contd.

———— of Order in Council—

See Civil Procedure Code, 1908, O. XLV, r. 15 . 1 Pat. L. J. 335

———— purchaser in, rights of—

See Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 67. I. L. R. 40 Mad. 77

———— stay of—

See Search warrant I. L. R. 47 Calc. 164

See Execution, stay of I. L. R. 38 Mad. 766

See Civil Procedure Code, 1908, O. XLI, r. 5 . . I. L. R. 2 Lah. 61

———— transmission of decrees to Courts of Native States—

See Execution I. L. R. 40 Mad. 1069

———— in statement award decree—

See Civil Procedure Code, 1908, s. 47. I. L. R. 45 Bom. 812

———— transfer to and sale by Collector—

See High Court Circular (Bom.) I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1132

———— whether court can restore an application for dismissed for default—

See Civil Procedure Code. I. L. R. 2 Lah. 63

———— Decree for rent—Suit for redemption—Taking of accounts under the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879)—Result of account showing that mortgaged over-paid himself from rents and profits—Mortgagees' right to execute decree for rent. In virtue of a decree for four years' rent, passed at a time when the provisions of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act did not apply, the plaintiff (mortgagee) became entitled to recover a certain sum from the defendant (mortgagor). After the introduction of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, the latter sued the former for redemption of the mortgage of the land in respect of which the rent-note sued on had been passed; on taking accounts in the way directed by the Act, it was found that the plaintiff as mortgagee had overpaid himself from the rents and profits of the land. The plaintiff thereafter applied to execute his decree for rent. Both the lower Courts dismissed the application on the ground that the plaintiff had already recovered more than was due to him as mortgagee from the rents and profits of the land. On appeal: Held, that the rent decree must be executed as it stood, having regard to the fact that the provisions of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act did not apply when it was passed, and that the accounts which were taken for the purposes of the subsequent decree, were taken for a special purpose—that is, for enabling the defendant to redeem on favourable terms, and did not entitle him to recover anything, from the plaintiff by way of set-off. Mugappa v. Mahamad Saheb (1909) . . . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 260

———— Limitation—Step in aid—Accompanying serving peon and identifying the judgment-debtor, if a step in aid of execution—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Art. 182, cls. (5) and (6)—Court deciding ex parte and without notice to judgment-debtor—Application within time—Decision if binds judgment-debtor—Ex parte decree. One of the decree-holders accompanying the serving peon and identifying the judgment-debtor upon whom notice of the application for execution had been taken out for service, does not by itself constitute a step taken by the decree-holders in aid of execution within cls. (5) and (6) of Art. 182 of the Limitation Act. Where an application for execution which was reported by the office of the executing Court to be time-barred was, without notice to the judgment-debtor, held by the Court to be within time, and registered and later on dismissed for default: Held, that the decision that the application was not time-barred was not binding on the judgment-debtor. An ex parte decree is a good decree, but if it is made in the absence of, and without notice to, the other party, it does not bind him, and does not prevent him from showing what the true facts of the case were Jugol Kishore v. Chintamoney (1914) 18 C. W. N. 1288.

———— Prayer herein for attachment—Attachment ordered—Failure to pay batta—Presumed oral application at the hearing of the petition to issue warrant of attachment—Whether such application is step in aid of execution—Part-payment entered in the petition—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. XXI, r. 2, cl. 1, whether certificate of payment proved—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), s. 20, saving of limitation. Where an assignee of a decree filed a petition for execution on the 13th July 1911 and an order of attachment was made on the day of hearing, the 12th August 1911, and the petition was subsequently dismissed on the 26th August 1911 on his failure to pay batta within the time allowed, and a fresh application was filed on the 10th August 1914. Held, that, though in the above circumstances, the Court might presume that the decree-holder made an oral application of the day of hearing to proceed with the execution such application was not a step in aid of execution and that the second application filed more than three years after the date of the first was barred by limitation. Held, also, that the part-payment of a decree amount entered in an execution petition, presented within three years from the date of such alleged payment amounts, if the fact of payment is proved, to a certificate of payment under O. XXI, r. 2 of the Code of Civil Procedure, and will operate to save limitation under s. 20 of the Limitation Act. Rajam Aiyar v. Anantharatnam Aiyar, 29 Mad. L. J. 669, and Lakhi Narain v. Felamani Dasi, 20 C. L. J. 131, referred to. Masilamani Mudaliar v. Sethuswami Ayyar (1917) . I. L. R. 41 Mad. 251

———— Application to transmit a decree of a British Court to a Travancore Court, whether an execution application or a step in aid of execution—Issue of notice on such application, whether affords a fresh starting point, under Act 182, cl. (6)—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Art. 182, cl. 5—Power of British Courts to send their decrees for execution to Courts of Travancore State—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 45; effect of. Held by the Full Bench: (i) that in the absence of any provision to that effect in the Civil Procedure Code, Courts in British India have no power to send their decrees for execution to the Courts in Travancore but may and should send to these Courts the documents they require to enable them to execute these decrees under the powers conferred upon them by the legislative authority in Travancore; (ii) that the execution contemplated by the Civil Procedure Code and Art. 182 of the Limitation Act being execution by

EXECUTION—contd.

British Courts in India on application made to such Courts, an application to a British Court in India to send a decree of such Court for execution to a Court of Travancore is neither an execution application nor a step in aid of execution within Art. 182, a Travancore Court does not give a fresh starting point under Art. 182 (6), as no such notice is required by the Civil Procedure Code to be issued as a preliminary for execution by the Travancore Court. PIERCE LESLIE & CO., LTD., COCHIN v. PERUMAL (1917) I. L. R. 40 Mad. 1069 ——————Civil Procedure Code—Act V of 1908, s. 141, O. II, r. 2 Non-applicability of, sequent to the date of a previous decree which awarded subsequent mesne profits is no bar to a claim thereto in execution of that decree. The fact that a decree-holder made a previous application for execution to recover mesne profits only for three years subsequent to the plaint and not for a further period also is not a bar under O II, r 2, Civil Procedure Code, or s. 141, Civil Procedure Code, as now enacted, to another execution application for recovery of mesne profits for the further period. Thakur Prasad v. Fakir-ullah, I. L R. 17 All. 106, s c. 22 I.

Lal, 12 C. in the Code

effect cannot be cut down by a comparison with the language of earlier statutes. S. 141, Civil Procedure Code, is intended to apply to proceedings in Civil Courts such as probate, etc. BALASUBRAHMANYA CHETTI v. SWARNAMMAL (1913) I. L. R. 38 Mad. 199

——————Transfer to Collector—Mortgage by judgment-debtor—Invalidity—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 325A. When the execution of a decree ordering the sale of immovable property has been transferred to the Collector under s. 320 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1882, the effect of s. 325A is that a mortgage of the property, or any part of it, made by the judgment-debtor while the Collector can exercise the powers given to him by ss. 322 to 325 is absolutely void, and not merely void as against the Collector and those claiming under him. Maguiram Vithuram v. Bakubai, I. L. R. 36 Bom. 510, disapproved. Salu Bai v. Bajat Khan, 13 Nagpur L. R. 130, approved. GAURISHANKAR BALMUKUND v. CHINNUMAYA (1918) L. R. 45 I. A. 219

——————Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 49 and O. XXI. r. 2—Satisfaction of decree, not certified—Second execution of decree by assignee of decree-holder—Suit by judgment-debtor for damages against decree-holder and assignee, maintainability of. Even a decree which has once been satisfied can be executed so long as the satisfaction is not reported to and certified by the Court.

ages only as against the decree-holder but none against the assignee even though the assignee got the assignment with knowledge of satisfaction.

EXECUTION—contd.

Viraraghava Reddi v. Subbakka, I. L. R. 5 Mad. 397, referred to. Manmohan Karmokar v. Dwarka Nath Karmokar, 12 C. L. J. 312, and Goono Monee Dossia v. Pran Kishore Dossee, 13 W. R. 69, distinguished. KRISHNA AIYAR v. SAVURIMUTHU PILLAI (1918) I. L. R. 42 Mad. 338

——————Attachment and sale of lands—Transfer of territorial jurisdiction of Court—Order of Court which did not pass the decree but to which execution was transferred—Attachment and sale of lands by Court after deprivation of territorial jurisdiction, validity of —Estoppel against judgment-debtor, how far binding upon auction purchaser. A Court to which execution of a decree is transferred has no jurisdiction to order either the attachement or sale of immoveables in execution, if at the time of the order such Court had no territorial jurisdiction over the immoveables. Though a judgment-debtor, who does not object to a confirmation of a sale by such Court, may be estopped from raising the question that the sale was a nullity, such estoppel does not operate against the subsequent purchaser of the same property in a sale held by Court having jurisdiction in execution of another decree against the same judgment-debtor. Mahomed Mazuffer Hossein v. Kishori Mohun Roy (1895), I. L. R., 22 Calc. 909, explained. Prayag Roy v. Sidhu Prasad Tewari (1908), I. L. R 35 Calc. 877, and Parsidh Narain Singh v. Janaki Singh (1907), 7 C. L. J., 644, dissented from. VEERAPPA CHETTY v. RAMASAMI CHETTY (1920) I. L. R. 43 Mad. 135

——————Pre-decree arrangement that decree should be inexecutable in part, whether

v. Krishna Vathiyar (1917), I. L R. 40 Mad. 233 (F.B.). ARUMUGAM PILLAI v. KRISHNASWAMI NAYUDU (1920) . . I. L. R. 43 Mad. 725

——————Civil Procedure Code (V. of 1908), O. XXI, rr. 15, 16 and O. XXII, r. 10 (1)—Transfer of part of decree—Right of transferee to execute or to join in execution—Prohibition of execution by transferee, void under s. 28—Contract Act (IX of 1872)—Appeal against orders purporting to be passed under O. XXII, r. 10, Civil Procedure Code. S. 146, Civil Procedure Code, recognizes the validity of a transfer of a part of a decree and execution thereof by the transferee. O. XXI, r. 16, is no bar to the application of the section. Such transferee is like a joint decreeholder and can, under O. XXI, r. 15, protect his rights either by executing the decree himself or by joining or intervening in the execution by his transferor. An agreement by the transferee of part of a decree that the transferor shall conduct execution proceedings and may compromise the same as he thinks fit, only contransferee
agreement
not in any way enforce his rights under the transfer, e.g., execute or intervene in execution is void under s. 28 of the Contract Act. An order purporting to be passed under O. XXII, r. 10, by a Court of first instance is appealable though on the facts the EXECUTION—concld.

order should not have been passed under the rule. MUTHIAH CHETTIAR v. GOVINDDOSS KRISHNADOSS (1921) I. L. R. 44 Mad. 919

——————stayed by High Court upon Appeal to England—furnishing security within a fixed date to the satisfaction of the Subordinate Judge, in default execution to be proceeded with—Security furnished but Commissioner's investigation of security not completed within that date—Subordinate Judge whether has jurisdiction to give time to Commissioner and stay sale any further—Specification of time for tendering security. The High Court ordered that execution of a decree be stayed pending the disposal of appeal therefrom to His Majesty in Council upon the Appellant to England giving security to the satisfaction of the Subordinate Judge for a certain sum by the 20th September 1919, and that in default of the said security being given by the 20th September, the application for stay of execution was to stand dismissed and the sale to be proceeded with. In pursuance of the said order security was offered on the 16th September and the matter was referred to Commissioners for investigation of its sufficiency. The Subordinate Judge on 20th September upon an application by the Appellants to England gave the Commissioners time up to the 10th November for submitting their report after the completion of the enquiry and on the 22nd September postponed the sale till the 1st December. The Respondents to England moved the High Court against the orders of the Subordinate Judge, dated the 20th and the 22nd September as having been made without jurisdiction. Held, that in the special circumstances of the case, the High Court should refuse to interfere under s. 115 of the Civil Procedure Code. That the Commissioners having later on found the security to be sufficient and objections having been or being about to be made by the Respondents to the Commissioner's report, the Respondents would not be prejudiced if on the hearing of the observations, it turned out that the security was sufficient; on the other hand if the security was held to be insufficient, execution should not be stayed and the sale should take place. It will be advisable in the future for the Court to specify definitely the time within which the security, which it is desired to offer, must be tendered and to give such further directions as may be necessary to ensure the intention of the Court being carried out. KEDAR NATH SANYAL v. MATILAL DAS . 24 C. W. N. 265

EXECUTION APPLICATION.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908)—

ss. 38, 39, 41 AND 50, O. XXI, RR. 16, 26. . I. L. R. 37 Mad. 23

ss. 144 AND 11, EXP. IV AND 47, O. II R. 2 . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 780

See EXECUTION I. L. R. 38 Mad. 199

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), ART. 182 . . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 923

—————— by one only of the decree-holders—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT XIV OF 1882), s. 231 I. L. R. 36 Mad. 357

EXECUTION OF DECREE.

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901), s. 20, CL. (2)
I. L. R. 37 All. 278
I. L. R. 43 All. 547

See APPEAL . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 717

See ARMY ACT (44 AND 45, VICT. c. 58), ss. 145, 190. I. L. R. 43 Bom. 368

See ASSIGNEE. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 36

See ATTACHMENT.
I. L. R. 42 All. 39

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT, 1885, ss. 69 AND 70. . . 2 Pat. L. J. 24

See CIVIL COURT ACT, s. 32.
. I. L. R. 38 Bom. 662

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1882.
I. L. R. 37 All. 542

s. 230 I. L. R. 34 All. 397, 636
I. L. R. 32 All. 136

s. 234 . I. L. R. 32 All. 404

s. 235 . I. L. R. 33 All. 517

ss. 235, 320 I. L. R. 34 Bom. 142

s. 244 . I. L. R. 32 All. 321

ss. 244, 283 I. L. R. 32 All. 129

s. 258 . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 575

ss. 268, 278, 283
I. L. R. 38 Bom. 631

ss. 268, 274. I. L. R. 35 Bom. 288

ss. 276, 295, 320, 325A.
I. L. R. 35 Bom. 516

ss. 278, 279, 280, 281.
I. L. R. 34 All. 365

ss. 282, 287 I. L. R. 35 Bom. 275

s. 287 (c). I. L. R. 35 All. 257

s. 308 . . I. L. R. 32 All. 380

s. 315 . I. L. R. 35 All. 419
I. L. R. 40 All. 411

s. 316 . . I. L. R. 33 All. 63

s. 317 . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 342

s. 341 AND 349
I. L. R. 33 All. 279

ss. 373 AND 375 .
I. L. R. 36 All. 172

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908.

ss. 56 to 74—

s. 104, O. XXI
I. L. R. 40 All. 122

O. XXI,
SCH. III.

O. XXIII, R. 3.
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 959

O. XXIV, RR. 1, 2 AND 3.
I. L. R. 40 All. 125

R. 14. . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 248

O. XXXIV,

R. 8 . I. L. R. 35 All. 116

R. 14 . I. L. R. 38 All. 327
I. L. R. 35 All. 518
I. L. R. 39 All. 36
I. L. R. 41 All. 399
I. L. R. 42 All. 566

EXECUTION OF DECREE—contd.

——— s. 102—contd.

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)—

s. 52 . . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 621

s. 89 . I. L. R. 37 All. 414

s. 99 . I. L. R. 37 All. 165

——— application for—

See LIMITATION ACT, 1877, SCH. II, ART. 179 . . 14 C. W. N. 481

See EXECUTION PROCEEDINGS. I. L. R. 37 All. 518

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O. XXI, R. 2 (3). I. L. R. 40 Mad. 296

——— Baroda-Court decree—

See DECREE . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 34

——— by assignee—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, O XXI, R 16 . I. L. R. 2 Lah. 230

——— deed of conveyance, obtained in—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O. II, R. 2. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 698

——— jurisdiction—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), SS. 37, 38 AND 150. I. L. R. 37 Mad. 462

——— mortgagor in possession under rent note—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, S. 47. I. L. R. 45 Bom. 174

——— payable by instalments—

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, ART. 181. I. L. R. 2 Lah. 155

——— power of court to which decree is transfered for execution to determine certain matters—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, S. 42. I. L. R. 43 All. 394

1. ——— Parties—Civil Procedure Code, 1882, ss. 244, 252, 647—Decree—Execution—Death of judgment-debtor—Legal representatives of the judgment-debtor brought on record—Dispute as to property—Legal representatives should put forward their claim under s. 244—They cannot raise the defence in a separate suit for possession by auction-purchaser—Auction-purchaser not a stranger. C sued M on a money-bond. M having died during the pendency of the suit, his widow R and his brother N were brought by C on the record as his representatives. A decree was passed awarding the claim out of the property of the deceased. After the passing of the decree but before it could be executed both R and N died. C then brought on the record the defendants as the legal representatives of M. The latter denied that they were M's legal representatives or that they had any property of M's which could be liable for the decree. The Court overruled the objections, and in execution of the decree attached and sold the property in dispute. The plaintiff purchased the property at the sale: and filed this suit to recover possession thereof from the defendants. The lower Court disallowed the plaintiff's claim on the ground that the property having been joint property of M and defendants' survived to the latter at M's death; and that the plaintiff obtained no title at the Court-sale which he could legally assert as against the defendants. In the lower Appellate Court the plaintiff contended unsuccessfully that the defendants were debarred by the provisions of s. 244 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1882, from asserting their title. Held, that as the property was sold by the Court at C's instance as that of M, the question so far was one relating to the execution of the decree arising between the decree-holder and the defendants as judgment-debtors under s. 252 of the Civil Procedure Code of 1882. It was, therefore, a question in relation to them falling within s. 244 of the Code by reason of the explanation to s. 647 that applications for the execution of the decree were proceedings in suits. The defendants were consequently bound to object to the attachment and sale under that section, so far as the decree-holder's action was concerned. It was contended that whatever might have been the result if the decree-holder had been a party to the suit, the present dispute was between the auction-purchaser, who was a stranger to the previous suit and the execution proceedings therein, and the defendants, and that s. 244 did not apply. Held, that though an auction-purchaser at a Court-sale in execution of a decree was not a party to the suit in which the decree was passed and though he was not a representative of either the decree-holder or the judgment-debtor for the purposes of s. 244, yet if the question raised by the judgment-debtor as to the legality of the Court-sale was virtually one between the parties to the suit, that is, between the decree-holder and the judgment-debtor, and if in the decision and result of that question the auction-purchaser was interested, the judgment-debtor ought not to be allowed to attack the sale in a suit. The test in all such cases is whether the ground upon which the Court-sale is attacked as conferring no title upon the auction-purchaser affects the parties to the suit and could have as between them been raised, and determined under s. 244 and whether the auction-purchaser, though not a party to that suit, is a party interested in the result. GOKUL SING BHIKARAM v. KISANSINGH (1910)

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 546

1(a). ——— Property under wrongful attachment stolen by bailiff—Attachment—Liability of attaching decree-holder—Small Cause Court—Provincial Small Cause Courts Act (IX of 1887), Sch. II, Art. 35 (j)—Jurisdiction. Where crops of a third party had been wrongfully attached by a decree-holder as those of his judgment-debtor, and, while so attached, were stolen by the shahana (or bailiff) in whose custody they were, it was held, that the decree-holder was responsible to the owner for their value; also, that a suit by the owner against the decree-holder to recover the value of the crops and damages was not a suit cognizable by a Court of Small Causes. Goma Mahad Patil v. Gokaldas Khimji, I. L. R. 3 Bom. 74, followed. Musammat Subjan Bibi v. Shaikh Sariatulla, 3 B. L. R. A. J. 413, not followed. Kissori Mohun Roy v. Harsukh Das, I. L. R. 7 Calc. 436, referred to. BISHAMBAR NATH v. GADDAR (1910) I. L. R. 33 All. 306

EXECUTION OF DECREE—contd.

property, and purchased it, the purchase-money being equal to the amount of his share of the decree. Held, in a suit by the co-decree-holders to recover their shares of the property so purchased, that they were entitled to recover, the equity being on the side of the plaintiffs KESRI v. GANGA SAHAI (1911) . . . I. L. R. 33 All. 563

2.———— Transfer of execution proceedings—Jurisdiction of executing Court—Presidency Small Cause Courts Act (XV of 1882), s. 31, cl. (b)—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 24. The meaning of s 31, cl. (b) of the Presidency Small Cause Courts Act, is that the Civil Court to which a decree may be transferred for execution is the Civil Court competent to deal with it under the provisions of Act XIV of 1882, and so also the Court which, under the provisions of the present Code, is competent to deal with it. Proceedings which are without jurisdiction are not proceedings that can be transferred under the provisions of the old Code, and are equally incapable of transfer under the new Code. SHAMSUNDAR SAHA v ANATH BANDHU SAHA (1910) . . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 574

2(a).———— Inherent power—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 152, O. XIX, rr. 97-98—Resistance by stranger not in possession—Inherent power of court to investigate and put decree-holder in possession. The Court's inherent power to pass such orders as may be necessary for the ends of justice may in a proper case be exercised against a stranger to the suit. Surendra Nath v. The Chief Justice and the Judges of the High Court of Bengal, L. R. 10 I. A 171, relied on Where execution is the matter, and take measures to put him in possession, although rr. 97 to 99 of O. XXI do not cover such a case. RADHIKA MOHAN SAHA v. GYAN CHANDRA SAHA (1910) 14 C. W. N. 836

2(b).————Benamidars—Execution, if may be directed against a person not a party to the decree—Benami. A person who is neither a party to the decree nor a representative of the judgment-debtors cannot be made liable for the decretal amount on the ground that the judgment-debtors were benamidars for him. JADU NATH BOSE v. SRIMATI PREMMONI DASI (1910) 14 C. W. N. 774

3.———— Rent-decree—Limitation—Chota-Nagpur Encumbered Estates Act (Beng. VI of 1876), ss. 3, 12—Chota-Nagpur Encumbered Estates Amendment Act (Beng. III of 1909), s. 4. The words "Civil Courts" in s. 3 of Act VI of 1876, as amended by s. 4 of Act III B.C. of 1909, are comprehensive enough to include the Revenue Courts deciding rent-suits and executing rent-decrees. Nilmoni Singh Deo v. Taranath Mukerjee, I. L. R. 9 Calc. 295; L. R. 9 I. A. 171, followed. PRATAP UDAINATH SHAH DEO. v. MADAN MOHAN NATH SABI (1910) I. L. R. 38 Calc. 288

4.———— Fraud—Sale—Application to set it aside—Fraud should be definitely established—Irregularity, how far it affects auction-purchaser—Second application for setting aside sale, if it lies. The word "fraud" is very loosely used in the class of cases instituted for setting aside sales, any irregularity being taken to be fraud, with all the consequences that such a finding involves. A finding of fraud, however, should be reserved for that which is dishonest and morally wrong; and it is not sufficient to come to a vague general finding of fraud; actual fraud must be established. A Court should have much hesitation in visiting an innocent auction-purchaser at one of its sales with the consequences of an irregularity or defect of procedure, which was not discovered by the Court or its officers, at the time of sale, and was not apparent on the face of the record. Where an application to have a sale set aside was dismissed for default and the application for restoration was rejected, it is doubtful whether the applicant can successfully prefer a second application for the same purpose. Lalla Bunseedhur v. Koonwar Bindeseree Dutt Singh, 10 Moo I A. 454, and Mallarjun v. Narhari, I L. R. 25 Bom 337, L. R. 27 I. A. 216, referred to Khiarajmal v. Daim, I. L. R. 32 Calc. 296, distinguished. PARESH NATH MALLICK v. HARI CHARAN DEY (1911) I. L. R. 38 Calc. 622

5.———— Successive applications to execute decree—Decree—Execution—First darkhast made during the pendency of the previous darkhast—Decision on the first darkhast does not operate as res judicata if a new darkhast filed within time of the disposal of the previous darkhast. A decree obtained in 1893 was, after three intermediate applications to execute it, sought to be executed in 1903 This application was ordered by the Subordinate Judge to be proceeded with: and his order was confirmed on appeal by the

by the Subordinate Judge as barred by limitation. This order was not appealed against. The present darkhast, filed in 1907, was held to be not be affected by the order of the Subordinate Judge passed in the darkhast of 1904, because the latter was the order of a lower Court and it was passed in a darkhast which could not have legal validity so long as the darkhast of 1903 was kept alive by proper proceedings. BALKRISHNA WAMNAJI v. SHIVA CHIMA (1911) I. L. R. 35 Bom. 245

6.———— Stay of execution—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908, s. 115, O. XLI, r. 5—Whether a security bond given by the Secretary of State for India in Council, but which was not sanctioned with the concurrence of a majority of votes at a meeting, is sufficient—Government of India Act, 1858 (21 and 22 Vict., c. 106), ss. 39, 40, 41, 42

EXECUTION OF DECREE—contd.

perty, power to restore to possession the party whom it has ejected. SATYA SHANKAR GHOSHAL v. MAHARAJ NARAIN SHEOPURI (1912)

I. L. R. 35 All. 119

12. ———— Limitation—Suit for sale on a mortgage—Decree payable by instalments—Civil Procedure Code, 1882, s. 258—Civil Procedure Code (1908), O. XXI, r. 2; O. XXXIV, r. 5—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Sch. I, Art. 181. On a compromise in a suit for sale on a mortgage, a decree followed providing that the sum found due on the mortgage (Rs. 1,374), with interest at a certain rate, should be paid by instalments of Rs. 100 a year, along with the interest then due. Payments were to be made by the end of Jeth in each year beginning with the Jeth 1957 Fasli (June 1900), and it was provided that, if default were made for three years in succession in the payments and interest, the decree-holder would be at liberty to recover at once the whole amount payable under the decree, that is, to apply for an order absolute for sale and execute the same. No payment was made in 1900 or 1901, but in June 1902, just before the end of Jeth 1959 Fasli, the judgment-debtor paid up all that was due on account of the first three years. He made no payment in 1903, but in June, 1909, he paid up all that was due up to the end of Jeth 1960 Fasli (June, 1903). No payment was made in 1905, but in June, 1903, he paid the instalment and interest which he ought to have paid in Jeth 1961 Fasli (June, 1904). This payment was covered by the proviso to s. 20 (1) of the Limitation Act. The only other payment made was a small sum on account of interest in July, 1903. The decree-holder applied for an order absolute for sale on the 3rd of August, 1909. Held, that the first three consecutive defaults were in 1905, 1906 and 1907, and that the decree-holders' application was in time applying Art. 181 of the first Schedule to the Indian Limitation Act, 1908. The following cases were referred to:—Oudh Behari Lal v. Nageshar Lal, I. L. R. 13 All. 278, Kishan Singh v. Aman Singh, I. L. R. 17 All. 42, Roshan Singh v. Mata Din, I. L. R. 23 All. 36, Chunni Lal v. Hurnan Das, I. L. R. 20 All. 302, Shankar Prasad v. Jalpa Prasad, I. L. R. 16 All. 371, Ajudhia v. Kunjal, I. L. R. 30 All. 123, Mon Mohan Roy v. Durga Churn Gooee, I. L. R. 15 Calc. 502, and Kashiram v. Pandu, I. L. R. 27 Bom. 1. BADRI NARAIN v. KUNJ BIHARI LAL (1913) I. L. R. 35 All. 178

13. ———— Shebait—Claim preferred by successor in office of judgment-debtor (adverse to his own interests) as the legal representative—Order made, whether under scope of Civil Procedure Code (Act V ... O. XXI, rr. 58, 60—Appeal ... Code (A ... O. XLI ...

for money agains ... and proceeded to sell properties of which Y or his successor in office had alleged that he was in possession, not as shebait of the deity, but in his own right: Held, that the case did not fall within the scope of s. 47 of the Civil Procedure Code of 1908 as Y in his character of shebait, the only character in which he was a party to the suit, could not rightly be deemed the same person in his character as a private individual. Kartick Chandra Ghose v. Ashutosh Dhara, I. L. R. 39 Calc. 298, followed. That the order of the original Court must be ... r. 60 of O. XXI, ... tion between t ... the personal character of the same individual: and that, in consequence, the appeal to the Subordinate Judge was incompetent. Punchanun v. Rabia Bibi, I. L. R. 17 Calc. 711, distinguished and explained. Per MOOKERJEE J. When X in execution of a decree for money against Y seeks to proceed against Z as the legal representative of Y who is liable only to the extent of the assets of Y in his hands, and a question arises whether a particular property does or does not constitute such assets, it must be determined by the execution Court under s. 47 of the Code. Per BEACHCROFT J. If the claim of the objector is really in his own interests as representative of the judgment-debtor, the case will come under s. 244 (of the Code of 1882); if the claim is adverse to his interest as representative, it will not. UPENDRA NATH KALAMURI v. KUSUM KUMARI DASI (1914) . . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 440 share in a house. Pending the attachment the judgment-debtor sued for partition of the house and obtained a decree for separate possession of her share conditional on payment of Rs. 237 into Court. The decree-holder then brought to sale the share allotted to his judgment-debtor, and, having paid into Court the Rs. 237 which the judgment-debtor had omitted to pay, asked for delivery of possession of the specific share purchased. Held, that, whether or not the decree-holder might ultimately be entitled to the full benefit of the decree for partition in favour of his judgment-debtor on payment of the sum of Rs. 237, all he acquired by his purchase was a right to be put into possession of the undivided share to which his judgment-debtor was entitled. RAM DULARI v. BALAK RANI (1914)

...

I. L. R. 37 All. 120

15. ———— Construction of decree—Decree for maintenance based on an arbitration award. A decree was passed by the High Court in a second appeal from the decree of a Court of Revenue in terms of an arbitration award to the following effect. Possession of the land claimed was to be given to the plaintiffs, who were to pay to the defendant half-yearly a maintenance allowance, partly in grain and partly ... It was provided further that if the ...

... and could be executed by a Court of Revenue, but that the defendant should bring a regular suit in a Civil Court to enforce her right to maintenance. ANUPA KUNWAR v. ACHHAIBAR SINGH (1914) . . . I. L. R. 37 All. 97

16. ———— Limitation—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Art. 182, Sch. I—Application in accordance with law—Civil Procedure Code (1908), O. XXI, r. 12. The failure of a decree-holder to annex to an application for and 55—Government of India Act, 1859 (22 and 23 Vict., c. 41), s. 1. A decree for recovery of possession of immoveable property having been passed against a minor under the Court of Wards, and the Collector, an appeal was preferred against it to the High Court; subsequently the appellants applied for stay of execution of the decree, and as security they offered a guarantee to be executed by the Government of Bengal on behalf of the Secretary of State for India in Council; but it was not shown that the security had been sanctioned by the Secretary of State for India in Council with the concurrence of a majority of votes at a meeting, as provided by s. 40 of the Government of India Act, 1858. Held, that the execution of the decree could not be stayed inasmuch as the security offered was not sufficient. SRINIBASH PRASAD SINGH v. KESHO PRASAD SINGH (1911)

EXECUTION OF DECREE—contd.

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 754
15 C. W. N. 475

7.———— Attachment—Sale proclamation —Notice—Execution of decree—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 908), O. XXI, rr. 57, 66—"Default," meaning of. On 20th February, 1909, an execution case, which could not proceed owing to the failure of the decree-holder to serve notice on the judgment-debtor as required by O. XXI, r. 66, of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908, was dismissed, the order concluding with these words:—"The execution case is accordingly dismissed, the properties will remain under attachment. Decree-holder will bear his own costs." On 25th March, 1909, the decree-holder without issuing a fresh attachment again applied for sale of the property, and duly served the required notice. The judgment-debtor objected on the ground that there was no subsisting attachment. Held, that this application must also be dismissed. Held, per CHITTY, J., that the words of O. XXI, r. 57, are imperative and the attachment on the property ceased by operation of law on the 20th February 1909, and that the word "default" in that rule cannot be given a restricted meaning so as to confine it to default in appearance, in the payment of process fees, or in production of documents, but must have its ordinary meaning, namely, failure to do what one is legally bound to do. Held, per COXE, J., that under the Civil Procedure Code, 1882, the striking off of execution proceedings was capable of different interpretation in different circumstances, but O. XXI, r. 57, was enacted to put a stop to the confusion. The application for execution having been dismissed the result specified in O. XXI, r. 57, must necessarily follow. Puddomonee Dossee v. Roy Muthooranath Chowdhry, 20 W. R. 133, Biswa Sonan Chunder Gossyamy v. Binanda Chunder Dibingar Adhikar Gossyamy, I. L. R. 10 Calc. 416, Mohunt Bhagwan Ramanuj Das v. Khetter Moni Dassi, 1 C. W. N. 617, referred to. NAMUNA BIBI v. ROSHA MIAH (1911)

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 482
15 C. W. N. 428

8.———— Notice of execution—Sale—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 47, O. XXI, rr. 22 and 90—Omission to serve notice, effect of—Whether subsequent sale void—Question relating to execution of decree—Second appeal. Omission to serve a notice under the provisions of O. XXI, r. 22 of the Civil Procedure Code is not by itself sufficient to render a sale, which has been subsequently held, void. Sahdeo Pandey v. Ghasiram Gyawal, I. L. R. 21 Calc. 19, not followed. Though an application to set aside a sale on the ground that no notice had been served as required by O. XXI, r. 22 of the Civil Procedure Code, is one which cannot be made under the provisions of O. XXI, r. 90 of the Code, but must be one made under the provisions of s. 47 of the Code; still in order to justify a Court in setting aside a sale on the ground of the omission to serve a notice under O. XXI, r. 22, it must be proved that the omission to serve such notice has resulted in substantial injury to the owner of the property sold. Lakshmi Charan Sen v. Sris Chandra Roy, 13 C. L. J. 162, referred to. A second appeal lies from an order passed on appeal on an application to set aside a sale on the ground, that no notice had been served as required by O. XXI, r. 22 of the Code. KUMED BEWA v. PRASANNA KUMAR ROY (1912) . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 45

9.———— Rent decree—Sale—Encumbrances by way of maintenance grant—Portion of tenure in charge of the Encumbered Estates Act—Authorities exempted from sale by Commissioner—Effect of the order of exemption—Chota Nagpur Landlord and Tenant Procedure Act (Beng. I of 1879), s. 123—Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act (Beng. VI of 1908), s. 208—General Clauses Act (Beng. I of 1899), s. 8, cl. (c)—Rent Recovery Act (Beng. VIII of 1865), ss. 4, 5 and 16. When an application in execution of a rent decree was made for the sale of all the villages comprised in a tenure, but the Commissioner, for reasons sufficient in his opinion, directed the exemption of some of the villages from the sale: Held, that, the decree holder was not deprived of his right to execute his decree, which must be executed as a decree for rent against the unexempted portion of the tenure under the Bengal Rent Recovery Act of 1865. The effect of a sale of the unexempted portion would be to pass the property to the purchaser free of all encumbrances. Dwarkanath Chuckerbutty v. Dhun Monee Chowdhrain, 15 W. R. 524, Sham Chand Mitter v. Juggut Chandra Sircar, 22 W. R. 511, referred to. MADANMOHAN NATH SAHI DEO v. PROTAP UDAI NATH SAHI DEO (1912) . . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 623

10.———— Mortgage-decree—passed befor the Code of 1908—Application for execution m after the Code of 1908 came into force, if gov by the new Code—Civil Procedure Code (of 1908), ss. 1 (2), 48, 154—General Cla (X of 1897), s. 6. S. 48 of the new Co Procedure (Act V of 1908) governs cation for the execution of a m obtained even before that Code c S. 154 of the new Code clearl retrospective effect of the Cod and with rights acquired u S. 1, cl. (2) of the new Code aft tunity to all persons having righ Code to enforce them before the n into operation. Kaunsilla v. Ishri Sin 32 All. 499, not followed. BISSESWAR v. JASODA LALL CHOWDHRY (1913)

I. L. R. 40 Calc.

11.———— Stay of execution—of dec under appeal—Jurisdiction—Procedure. The Court which passed a decree has no power to stay execution thereof whilst the decree is under appeal; neither has a Court which has executed its own decree awarding possession of immoveable property, power to restore to possession the party whom it has ejected. SATYA SHANKAR GHOSHAL v. MAHARAJ NARAIN SHEOPURI (1912)

EXECUTION OF DECREE—contd.

I. L. R. 35 All. 119

12. ——— Limitation—Suit for sale on a mortgage—Decree payable by instalments—Civil Procedure Code, 1882, s. 258—Civil Procedure Code (1908), O. XXI, r. 2; O. XXXIV, r. 5—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Sch. I, Art. 181. On a compromise in a suit for sale on a mortgage, a decree followed providing that the sum found due on the mortgage (Rs. 1,374), with interest at a certain rate, should be paid by instalments of Rs. 100 a year, along with the interest then due. Payments were to be made by the end of Jeth in each year beginning with the Jeth 1957 Fasli (June 1900), and it was provided that, if default were made for three years in succession in the payments and interest, the decree-holder would be at liberty to recover at once the whole amount payable under the decree, that is, to apply for an order absolute for sale and execute the same. No payment was made in 1900 or 1901, but in June 1902, just before the end of Jeth 1959 Fasli, the judgment-debtor paid up all that was due on account of the first three years. He made no payment in 1903, but in June, 1909, he paid up all that was due up to the end of Jeth 1960 Fasli (June, 1903). No payment was made in 1905, but in June, 1906, he paid the instalment and interest which he ought to have paid in Jeth 1961 Fasli (June, 1904). This payment was covered by the proviso to s. 20 (1) of the Limitation Act. The only other payment made was a small sum on account of interest in July, 1909. The decree-holder applied for an order absolute for sale on the 3rd of August, 1909. Held, that the first three consecutive defaults were in 1905, 1906 and 1907, and that the decree-holders' application was in time applying Art. 181 of the first Schedule to the Indian Limitation Act, 1908. The following cases were referred to:—Oudh Behari Lal v. Nageshar Lal, I. L. R. 13 All. 278, Kishan Singh v. Aman Singh, I. L. R. 17 All. 42, Roshan Singh v. Mata Din, I. L. R. 23 All. 36, Chunni Lal v. Hurnan Das, I. L. R. 20 All. 302, Shankar Prasad v. Jalpa Prasad, I. L. R. 16 All. 371, Ajudhia v. Kunjal, I. L. R. 30 All. 123, Mon Mohan Roy v. Durga Churn Gooee, I. L. R. 15 Calc. 502, and Kashiram v. Pandu, I. L. R 27 Bom. 1. BADRI NARAIN v. KUNJ BIHARI LAL (1913) I. L. R. 35 All. 178

13. ——— Shebait—Claim preferred by successor in office of judgment-debtor (adverse to his own interests) as the legal representative—Order made, whether under scope of Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 47, or O. XXI, rr. 58, 60—Appeal therefrom, competency of—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 2, sub-s. (2), ss. 96, 104; O. XLIII, r. 1. Where X in execution of a decree for money against Y as shebait of a deity attached and proceeded to sell properties of which Y or his successor in office had alleged that he was in possession, not as shebait of the deity, but in his own right: Held, that the case did not fall within the scope of s. 47 of the Civil Procedure Code of 1908 as Y in his character of shebait, the only character in which he was a party to the suit, could not rightly be deemed the same person in his character as a private individual. Kartick Chandra Ghose v. Ashutosh Dhara, I. L. R. 39 Calc. 298, followed. That the order of the original Court must be taken to have been made under r. 60 of O. XXI, which recognised a broad distinction between the representative character and the personal character of the same individual: and that, in consequence, the appeal to the Subordinate Judge was incompetent. Punchanun v Rabia Bibi, I. L. R. 17 Calc. 711, distinguished and explained. Per MOOKERJEE J. When X in execution of a decree for money against Y seeks to proceed against Z as the legal representative of Y who is liable only to the extent of the assets of Y in his hands, and a question arises whether a particular property does or does not constitute such assets, it must be determined by the execution Court under s. 47 of the Code. Per BEACHCROFT J. If the claim of the objector is really in his own interests as representative of the judgment-debtor, the case will come under s. 244 (of the Code of 1882); if the claim is adverse to his interest as representative, it will not. UPENDRA NATH KALAMURI v. KUSUM KUMARI DASI (1914) . . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 440

14. ——— Attachment of undivided share in house—Conditional decree for partition pending attachment—Purchase of judgment-debtor's share by decree-holder not entitled to benefit of decree for partition. A decree-holder attached in execution of his decree his judgment-debtor's undivided share in a house. Pending the attachment the judgment-debtor sued for partition of the house and obtained a decree for separate possession of her share conditional on payment of Rs. 237 into Court. The decree-holder then brought to sale the share allotted to his judgment-debtor, and, having paid into Court the Rs. 237 which the judgment-debtor had omitted to pay, asked for delivery of possession of the specific share purchased. Held, that, whether or not the decree-holder might ultimately be entitled to the full benefit of the decree for partition in favour of his judgment-debtor on payment of the sum of Rs. 237, all he acquired by his purchase was a right to be put into possession of the undivided share to which his judgment-debtor was entitled. RAM DULARI v. BALAK RANI (1914)

I. L. R. 37 All. 120

15. ——— Construction of decree—Decree for mainteanace based on an arbitration award. A decree was passed by the High Court in a second appeal from the decree of a Court of Revenue in terms of an arbitration award to the following effect. Possession of the land claimed was to be given to the plaintiffs, who were to pay to the defendant half-yearly a maintenance allowance, partly in grain and partly in cash. It was provided further that if the maintenance allowance was not paid, the defendant should enforce payment by taking proceedings in a competent Court. Held, on a construction of the decree, that it was not merely declaratory of the defendant's right to receive maintenance, and could be executed by a Court of Revenue, but that the defendant should bring a regular suit in a Civil Court to enforce her right to maintenance. ANUPA KUNWAR v. ACHHAIBAR SINGH (1914) . . . I. L. R. 37 All. 97

16. ——— Limitation—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Art. 182, Sch. I—Civil Procedure Code (1908), O. XXI, r. 12. Application in accordance with law. The failure of a decree-holder to annex to an application for application. Held, that the application was governed by s. 48 of the Code and was time-barred and present application was not in continuation of that 28th July 1911. MAHANTH KRISHNA DAYAL v. MUSSASAMAT SAKINA BIBI

EXECUTION OF DECREE—contd.

1 Pat. L. J. 214

32. ———— Limitation Decree temporarily satisfied—effect on limitation. An ex parte decree was obtained against two persons, the appellant and one S. The decree was executed against S by the sale of whose moveables the whole decree was satisfied. On a suit by S the decree as against him was set aside and the money realised from him was ordered to be refunded. The decree-holder then applied for execution against the Appellant: Held, that the order directing refund by the decree-holder to S in effect reopened the execution proceedings and the application for execution against the appellant must be treated as a continuation of the original application for execution which was brought within time. KERAMAT ALI v. NAGENDRA KISHORE RAY (1916)

21 C. W. N. 571

33. ———— Decree conditional on money being paid into Court "within thirty days of the decree becoming final"—Interpretation of condition. Where a decree was passed in favour of a plaintiff, conditional on his depositing a sum of money into Court "within thirty days of the decree becoming final," it was held that this did not signify merely the bare period of limitation for an appeal but included also the time necessary for obtaining the requisite copies. BHAGELU SALU v. RAM AUTAR SHAKUL (1916)

I. L. R. 39 All. 193

34. ———— Execution of decree by instalments—Limitation—Petition of compromise —Decree—"Application in accordance with law" —Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. XXI, r. 17—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Art. 82, cls. (5) and (7)—Instalment decree—Default. Where in a suit against five persons for recovery of monies due on a handnote separate compromise petitions for instalment decrees were filed on the 1st July 1911 in which there was a provision that default being made in the payment of one kist, the whole amount would become due, and subsequently on the 10th July 1911, one instalment decree was passed against all the five defendants in which separate amounts were decreed against each defendant to be paid as per instalments provided therein, but in which the condition as to the whole amount being due in default of the payment of one kist was not stated; and an application for execution of the whole decree having been made on the 10th July 1914 against all the five defendants it was dismissed on the 20th February 1915 on the ground that the prayer for execution was not in accordance with the terms of the decree; and subsequently the present application for execution of the decree for the kist from January 1911 to September 1915 was made on the 10th November 1915 against defendant No. 2 alone and it was dismissed by the lower Court on the ground that the decree was barred by limitation: Held, that in order to properly understand what the decree was, the Court was entitled to look at and consider the terms of the compromise and was not bound to take the decree by itself; that the application for execution dated the 10th July 1914 having been rejected under O. XXI, r. 17, sub-r. (1) as not being an application in accordance with law, did not save limitation; that the whole decree became due on the default of the payment of one kist, and the decree-holder had no option to recover the decretal amount in accordance with the kists and his present application for execution of the decree dated the 10th November 1915 was barred by limitation. JAYANUDDIN KHAN v. JAMIRUDDIN SARKAR (1917) . . 21 C. W. N. 835

35. ———— Objection to execution of decree —Dismissed for default—Fresh objection, if lies before order of dismissal is set aside—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), r. 9, O. IX, applicability of—Inherent power of Court to review order of dismissal. Where an objection to the execution of a decree is dismissed for default the order of dismissal is binding until it is set aside and the judgment-debtor cannot ignore it and file a fresh objection. R. 9, O. IX, does not apply to such a case but the Court has inherent power on a proper application being made to review the order and to enquire whether the objector had or had not a reasonable case for not appearing on the date appointed for the hearing of his petition. BHARAT CHANDRA NATH v. IASIN SARKAR (1917)

21 C. W. N. 769

36. ———— Practice—Rival decree-holders—Assets in the hands of Registrar—Attachment of fund with Accountant-General—Anticipatory attachment—Priority—Rateable distribution—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 73; O. XXI, r. 52. A question of rateable distribution under s. 73 of the Code of Civil Procedure of 1908 arises amongst creditors where the application for execution has been made before the receipt of assets. O. XXI, r. 52, does not allow of an anticipatory attachment of money expected to reach the hands of a public officer and is restricted only to money actually in his hands. Where a fund in Court has been attached by several creditors of the judgment-debtor, none of the attaching creditors is entitled to preferential treatment by reason of the priority of his attachment; as the attachments create no charge or lieu upon the fund, so long as the fund is in the custody of the Court is bound to apply the rules of justice, equity and good conscience in the determination of the relative rights of the creditors who wish to proceed against the fund in custodia legis for the satisfaction of their dues. In such circumstances, the fund, if sufficient to meet in full the claims of the creditors, should be rateably distributed amongst them. THAKURDAS MOTILAL v. JOSEPH ISKENDER (1917)

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 1072

37. ———— Limitation—Decree giving mesne profits to be ascertained in the execution department—Terminus a quo. The decree in a suit for redemption of a usufructuary mortgage provided that certain mesne profits were payable to the mortgagor, the mortgage having been more than satisfied by the profits of the property. The amount of mesne profits was to be ascertained in the execution of department. Held, that as regards execution of the decree in respect of such mesne profits time did not begin to run against the mortgagor until the profits had in fact been ascertained. Muhammad Umarjan Khan v. Zinat Begam, I. L. R. 25 All. 385, followed. NARSINGH DAS v. DEBI PRASAD (1918)

I. L. R. 40 All. 211

EXECUTION OF DECREE—contd.

38.
Civil I
rr. 14,
properties cannot be sold in execution—Decree-holder's remedy. Where a decree is a decree against the judgment-debtor personally with a declaration in the decree that the decree-holders are entitled to a lien over the properties—a mortgage decree having been expressly refused by the decreeing Court—the decree is merely a money-decree with a declaration of lien over the properties. Rr. 14 and 15 of O. XXXIV stand in the way of properties being sold in execution of such a decree. The decree holder's only course is to institute a suit for sale in enforcement of the mortgage. Mungul Pershad Dichit v. Grija Kant Lahiri, I. L. R. 8 Calc. 51, distinguished. GOBINDA CHANDRA PAL v. KAILAS CHANDRA PAL (1917)
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 530

39.———— Transfer —Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), ss. 232, 248—Application for transmission of decree, whether application for execution—Order under s. 284, without notice, whether without jurisdiction. An order for execution made under s. 248 of the Civil Procedure Code of 1882 (O. XXI, r. 22 of the Civil Procedure Code of 1908 without notice is without jurisdiction and is a nullity. Notice given to the representative of the judgment-debtor of the application for transmission of the decree cannot be treated as notice given upon a previous application for execution within the meaning of s. 248 of the Code of 1882. K obtained a decree on 19th June 1896 against D in the High Court. On 18th May 1907 an application was made by the son of K (K dying in the meantime) for transmission of the decree to the District Court of Murshidabad for the purpose of having the decree executed. On 23rd August 1907 order for transmission was made by the High Court in the presence of the judgment-debtor. The decree was not transmitted. On 4th September 1907 an application was made by the son of K for the attachment and sale of certain pemises in Calcutta, without notice to the representatives of D (D having died in the meantime). On 17th September 1907 an attachment was made of the property in Calcutta and on 29th July 1908 an order for sale was made. Both the orders were made without notice. On the 29th August 1916 the respondent who is the assignee of the decree made an application for leave that he might be allowed to proceed with the sale of the attached property in terms o the order of the 29th August 1908. Held, that inasmuch as the application for attachment, dated 4th September 1907, was made without notice, the attachment of the 17th September 1907 and the order for sale of the 29th of July 1908 were made without jurisdiction and consequently no legal proceedings can be taken on the basis thereof. Held, further, that the order for ansmission, dated 23rd August 1907, was not an order passed on a previous application for execution. MAHARAJ BAHADUR SINGH v. INDAR CHAND BOTHRA (1917) . . . 22 C. W. N. 390

40. ———— Composite decree—Consisting of separate decrees—Execution of one of such decrees, if saves the others from bar of limitation—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Art. 182, expl. 1. The defendants held three separate tenancies under the plaintiffs who instituted one suit against him for arrears of rent in respect of the three tenancies. At the instance of the plaintiffs a decree was made specifying the sum due in respect of each of the tenancies with an order for the realisation of the sums in arrear from the respective tenancies. Within three years, the plaintiffs applied for execution of the decree only in respect of the sum decreed with regard to the third tenancy. Thereafter more than three years from the date of the decree they applied for execution in respect of the entire amount of the three tenancies. Held, that the position was precisely the same as if the plaintiffs had brought three distinct suits for rent against the defendants, one in respect of each tenancy, and by taking out execution in respect of one decree they were not protected from the bar of limitation in respect of the other decrees and the second application for execution was barred by limitation with regard to the sums claimed for the first and second tenancies, but in respect of the sum due from the third tenancy the application was in time as made within three years from the date of the first appication. That there might be nominally one decree passed in a a suit which is essentially of a composite character and contains a number of separate decrees in respect of which the law of limitation will be separately enforced. This principle which underlies the decision of the Full Bench in Wise v. Raj Narain Chakrabarty, 19 W. R. 30, met with legislative approval and is embodied in explanation (1) to Art. 182 of the Limitation Act, 1908, which is in terms identical with explanation (1) to Art. 179 of the Act of 1877. DHIRENDRA NATH SARKAR v. NISCHINTAPUR COMPANY (1916)
22 C. W. N. 192

41. ———— Provident fund——Jurisdiction —Small Cause Court—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 115. By the provisions in the Provident Fund Act (IX of 1897), money in such fund is protected from attachment by creditors, even after the death of the subscriber. Any error in law which amounts to a usurpation of authority in the act done by the Court comes within the scope of s 115 of the Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908). Veerchand v. B. B. & C. I Ry. Co., I. L. R. 29 Bom. 259, Seth Manna Lal v. Gainsford, I. L. R. 35 Calc. 641, Badami Kuar v. Dinu Rai, I. L. R. 8 All. 111, Dhan Singh v. Basant Singh, I. L. R. 8 All. 519, Sew Bux v. Shib Chunder, I. L. R. 13 Calc. 225, Sheoraj Nandan v. Gopal Suran, I. L. R. 18 Calc. 290, Shew Prosad v. Ram Chunder, I. L. R. 41 Calc. 323, Balakrishna v. Vasudeva, I. L. R. 40 Mad. 793, referred to. HINDLEY v. JOYNARAIN MARWARI (1918) . . I. L. R. 46 Calc. 962

42. ———— Bengal Tenancy—ACT (VIII of 1885), s. 66, sub s. (2)—"Date of the decree," meaning of—Whether decree of the Appellate Court or the Court of first instance. S. 66 provides for ejectment of a tenant not being a permanent tenure-holder (and certain other classes of tenants) for arrears of rent and sub-s. (2) of the section provides that in a suit for ejectment for an arrear of rent a decree passed in favour of the plaintiff shall specify the amount of the arrear and of the interest (if any) due thereon and the decree shall not be executed if that amount and the costs of the suit are paid into Court within 15 days from the date of the decree, or, when the Court is closed on the 15th day, on the day when the Court reopens. So long as an appeal is not disposed of "date of the decree" in sub s. (2) of

EXECUTION OF DECREE—contd.

s. 66 of the Act means the decree of the Court of first instance inasmuch as the decree of the Court of first instance is then the only decree capable of execution. ABDUL RASHID MANDAL v. SHAHARALI MOLLA (1919)

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 1032

43. ———— Property of a third party as that of the judgment-debtor—Property attached damaged as a consequence of the resistance of the decree-holder to its release—Liability of decree-holder. A creditor of A, who had been adjudged an insolvent, caused certain goods belonging to B to be attached, by the Receiver in insolvency alleging them to be the property of his debtor. B raised objections to the attachment, but the creditor contrived to keep the property, which consisted mainly of woollen goods, in the hands of the Receiver for a considerable period. The goods remained packed up throughout the rainy season and suffered considerable injury owing to the ravages of insects. B, the owner of the goods, sued the creditor for compensation. Held, that the damage to B's property was the natural and probable consequence of the action taken and persisted in by the decree holder, and that he was liable in damages to B. Sharp v. Powell, L. R. 7 C. P. 253, 258 and Kissorimohun Roy v. Harsukh Das, I. L. R. 17 Calc. 436, 443 referred to. ABDUL RAHIM v. SITAL PRASAD (1919)

I. L. R. 41 All. 658

44. ———— Mesne profits—Decree fixing the mesne profits at a specified sum—Judgment-debtor not entitled to deductions on account of payments made, by him. Where a decree for mesne profits itself names a definite sum at which such profits have neen assessed, it is not open to the judgment-debtor in answer to an application for execution to claim to set off any payments, such as taxes or ground-rent, made by him, as payments which should have been made by the decree-holder; but the decree must be executed as it stands. Kachar Ala Chela v. Sha Oghadbhai Thakarshi, I. L. R. 17 Bom. 35, distinguished. KRISHNA PAL SINGH v. DESRAJ RANJIT SINGH (1919) . . . I. L. R. 41 All. 517

45. ———— Compromise decree—right of parties.—It is open to the execution Court to consider what the rights of the parties equitable or otherwise are which follow from the contract embodied in a compromise decree. SURENDRO NATH BANERJEE v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA . . . . . 24 C. W. N. 545

46. ———— Limitation—'Step-in-aid,' what is. An application by the decree-holder to have the form of the sale proclamation corrected and a date fixed for the settlement of the terms of the proclamation under rule 66 of O. XXI, with a request that notice should issue for a specified date is a 'step-in-aid' of execution, for the purpose of limitation even if it is not in writing. SURAJMAL v. SARJOOG PRASAD SINGH

2 Pat. L. J. 5

47. ———— Decree passed by competent court—officer not invested with jurisdiction to try the suit, appointed to the court—application for execution. A decree was passed by the 1st Munsiff of Gaya who was invested with jurisdiction to try suits up to Rs. 2,000, on February 25th, 1911. An application for execution of the decree was made on June 28th, 1913, to his successor who was not invested with jurisdiction to try cases over Rs. 1,000. A second application for execution was made to the court on June 9th, 1915. Held, that the first application was made to the proper court and therefore, the second application was not barred by limitation. ISWARI PRASAD SINGH v. FARKAT HUSAIN

2 Pat. L. J. 113

48. ———— Decree against one of two defendants—execution against one judgment-debtor—appeal by plaintiff—decree passed against both defendants by appellate court—whether second judgment-debtor entitled to credit for half the amount realised in the execution proceedings against first judgment-debtor appeal by second judgment-debtor—cross-objection by decree-holder against first judgment-debtor, validity of. In a suit against H and S a decree was passed against H and the suit was dismissed as against B. On appeal a decree was passed against H and B jointly for the principal sum together with interest thereon up to the institution of the suit. Under the appellate court's decree H alone was made liable for interest from the date of suit till realization. While the appeal was pending execution was taken out and a certain sum was realised by sale of H's property. The decree-holder then applied for execution against both H and B. Held, that B was not entitled to be given credit for half of the amount realised in the execution proceedings against H. Held, further, that in an appeal by B against the order allowing the execution to proceed against both himself and H, the decree-holder was not entitled to file a cross-objection directed against H who was not a party to the appeal. BARSHI BINDESWARI PRASAD v. DHENINDER DAS

2 Pat. L. J. 162

49. ———— Death of party—Question whether a person is or is not a representative of a party, duty of executing court to decide. One of the defendants in a suit which was dismissed by the court of first instance died during the pendency of an appeal which resulted in a reversal of the decree of the original court. Plaintiff applied to the first court for execution of the decree obtained in the appellate court and prayed that the widow of the deceased defendant should be substituted in place of her husband. The widow objected on the ground that her husband had died before the passing of the decree, that no heir was substituted before that decree was made and that, therefore, execution could not proceed against her. The executing court held that the objector should have applied to the appellate court for an amendment of the decree, and dismissed the objection. Held, that the executing court should have decided the objection under s. 47 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908. MUSSAMAT MUNA KOER v. DURGA PRASAD . 2 Pat. L. J. 192

50. ———— Surety—Stay of execution upon judgment-debtor furnishing surety—liability of property pledged by surety. A judgment-creditor who has exhausted his remedies against the judgment-debtor is entitled to take out execution against the property pledged by a surety as security for the judgment-debtor upon the latter obtaining a stay of execution. An order directing the surety to pay is not a decree except for the purposes of appeal. GANGA DEO NARAIN SINGH v. JOTI LAL SAHU . . . . 2 Pat. L. J. 197

51. ———— Appeal from Decree for possession of land—Security bond—Liability of sureties,

EXECUTION OF DECREE—contd.

bond—Applica- Procedure Code dure Code (1908), ss. 47, 144. The widow of the taluqdar of Mahewa brought a suit in a Subordinate Judge's Court on the 6th of August, 1902, obtained a decree for possession of it, and on her applying for execution of the decree the Subordinate Judge made, on the 21st of August, 1902, an order under s. 545 of the Code of Civil Procedure, (1882), giving her possession on her providing security to restore the mesne profits to the extent of one lakh of rupees in case his decree should be reversed by the Court of the Judicial Commissioner to which the defendant had appealed. The security was in the form of a hypothecation bond executed by the predecessors in title of the present appellants, secured on certain villages of their estate. The bond recited the order and stated it was given "so that any order that might be passed by the Appellate Court be made binding on the sureties for the above sum." No obligee was named in the bond The defendant failed in his appeal to the Judicial Commissioner, but on his father's death an appeal to the Privy Council by his son the decre reversed, to the taluqa of Mahewa, and the widow's suit of mesne profits due to the respondent. On an application under ss. 47 and 144 of the Code of Civil Procedure of 1908 to which the appellants were made parties. Held, that on the true construction of the hypothecation bond it was an instrument of charge, and not a bond imposing any personal liability on the appellants. Held, also, that the restitution of ultimate decis did not cease the Court of the appeal f... further, that the Court had jurisdiction over the sureties in the present proceedings, and to make an order as to their liability. RAJ RAGHUBAR SINGH v. JAI INDRA BAHADUR SINGH I. L. R. 42 All. 158

52. ——— Failure of custodian—Appointed by court to restore property to judgment-debtor when so ordered—Remedy of judgment-debtor. Where a person placed in charge of property of a judgment-debtor by order of the court fails to restore the same to the judgment-debtor when directed to do so, the judgment-debtor's remedy is not to invoke by application executive or disciplinary action on the part of the court, but to sue the receiver for the restoration of the property or damages. KALLU KHAN v. ABDULLAH KHAN . . . I. L. R. 42 All. 394

53. ——— Limitation—Application for execution in continuation of previous application —indentical property concerned. A decree was passed on the 28th June, 1905, and an application for execution made in August, 1906, was dismissed in February, 1907. A second application was made in July, 1909, and the judgment-debtor's property was sold on December 4th, 1909. The sale was set aside on February 12th, 1910. On December 10th, 1912, a third application was made asking the court to sell the identical property sold on December 4th, 1909. Held that under the circumstances the third application for execution should be regarded as having been made in continuation of the second application. MUSSAMAT KANIZ ZOHRA v. BOONDI SAHU 2 Pat. L. J. 115

54. ——— Jurisdiction— Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 150—Decree by Subordinate Judge for nearly Rs. 2,000—Application for execution of decree before Munsif invested with power up to Rs. 2,000—Maintainability. In a mortgage suit for over Rs. 1,000, after a preliminary decree was obtained in the Court of the 2nd Munsif, who was empowered to try suits up to Rs. 2,000, the Munsif was transferred and the final decree in the case was passed by the Subordinate Judge. Application for the execution of the decree was then made before a successor of the Munsif, similarly empowered:—Held, that, under the provisions of s. 150 of the Civil Procedure Code, the Munsif had jurisdiction to entertain the application. AMINUDDIN MULLICK v. ATARMANI DASI (1920) . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 1100

55. ——— Practice— Rateable distribution—Money paid to Sheriff in execution of a decree—High Court (Original Side) Rules, Chap. XVII, r 24—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 73 O. XXI, r. 55. On an application by a judgment-creditor for execution of a decree, money was paid by the judgment-debtor to the Sheriff, who paid it into Court. Two other creditors, who had previously applied for execution, had part of their claim and the costs of execution respectively unpaid and asked for rateable distribution of the assets —Held, that the money so lying in Court was assets available for rateable distribution. Held, further, that the right to rateable distribution is limited to ... 36 Bom. 156, dissented from. Harai Saha v. Fai lur Rahaman, I. L. R. 40 Calc. 619, referred to. NOOR MAHOMED DAWOOD v. BILASIRAM THAKURSIDASS (1919) . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 515

56. ——— Warrant of arrests—Outsid the territorial limits of court's jurisdiction. The fact that the judgment-debtor does not reside within the territorial jurisdiction of the court is not a sufficient reason for refusing to issue a warrant for his arrest, although such a warrant can be executed only within the court's territorial jurisdiction, but a time must be fixed for its return. KRISHNA PRASAD v. BIDYA NANDA . 3 Pat. L. J. 95

57. ——— Limitation—revival of former application for execution—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908), s. 48—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Sch. I, article 181. S. 48 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, has no application to the case of a revival of an antecedent application for execution which has been in suspense by reason some bar or which has been stayed pending the determination of subsequent litigation. The period of limitation in such a case is that provided by Art. 181 of the Limitation Act, 1908, namely, three years from the date of the removal of the bar. SAKINA BIBI v. GANESH PRASAD BHAGAT 3 Pat. L. J. 103

58. ——— Security of cost pendings appeal—subsequent application for execution of original

EXECUTION OF DECREE—contd.

decree—personal liability of judgment-debtor. Where on the defendant furnishing security execution of a decree is stayed pending the disposal of an appeal, the decree-holders are entitled, after the disposal of the appeal, to proceed against the person of the judgment-debtor, and are not bound to proceed against the property covered by the security bond. The fact that security is given does not take away a decree-holder's rights. RAJBANS SAHAI v. SURJU LALL 3 Pat. L. J. 176

59. ———————— Limitation— Date from which runs—Limitation Act (XI of 1908), sch. I, art. 182 (6). "The date of the issue of notice" in article 182 (6) of Sch. I to the Limitation Act, 1908, means the date on which the notice actually issued from the office of the Court, that is to say, the date on which it is signed by the Sherishtadar in the name of the Court. SHAIKH KHODA BUKHSH v. BAHADUR ALI . . 3 Pat. L. J. 285

60. ———————— Estoppel—Judgment-debtor's admission and subsequent repudiation of liability. Where a person against whom execution is taken out admits his liability he cannot subsequently repudiate it. It is not necessary, according to the law as at present accepted, that there should be any fraudulent intention established in connection with the misrepresentation which is the subject of estoppel. Gunga Sahai v. Hira Singh, I. L. R. 2 All., not followed. BALBIR PRASAD v. JUGALKISHORE . . 3 Pat. L. J. 454

61. ————————Where wrongly executed—Power of High Court to interfere where its decree is being wrongly executed—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908), s. 151. Where it is brought to the notice of the High Court that its decree is being executed in a manner manifestly at variance with the purport and intention of that decree then the High Court under its inherent powers of supervision which are expressly saved by s. 151 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, may take such action for the ends of justice as may be necessary to enforce the proper execution of the decree. KULADA PRASAD TEWARI v. SADHU CHARAN TEWARI .
3 Pat. L. J. 435

62. ———————— Limitation—Proceedings for delivery of possession—Appeal—Review—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908), s. 47 and O. XLVII. Proceedings for delivery of possession are not proceedings in connection with the execution of a decree and, therefore, no appeal lies from an order passed in review cancelling a former order for delivery of possession, on the ground that the application for delivery of possession was barred by limitation. A Court has power to review its own order erroneously made delivering possession. DHANINDAR DAS v. BAKHSHI HARIHAR PRASAD SINGH . . . . 3 Pat. L. J. 57

63. ———————————— Step-in-aid. An application for execution of a decree against a minor represented by his mother without any application to the Court for an order appointing the mother as guardian ad litem is a step-in-aid of execution. A decree does not become time-barred by reason of a trivial defect in the form in which a former application for execution was made. KESHWA SURENDRA SAHI v. MUSAMMAT MULUKRANI KUER . . 4 Pat. L. J. 35

64. ————————Dismissal of application—Decree holder's remedy for—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908) Os. IX and XLVII and s. 151. O. IX of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, does not apply to execution proceedings. The remedy of a decree-holder, whose application for execution is dismissed, lies in a fresh application within the period of limitation, or by resort to the provision of O. XLVII for review. BABUI RITU KUER v. ALAKHDEO NARAIN SINGH
4 Pat. L. J. 330

65. ———————— Transfer of decree for execution—Procedure. A Subordinate Judge has no jurisdiction to execute a decree sent direct to him for execution by the trial Court. The decree should be sent in the first instance to the District Judge. Where a decree has not been sent first to the District Judge it is open to the parties at any stage to question the jurisdiction of the Subordinate Judge even though no objection to the execution was taken in his Court. KUNJA BEHARI SINGH v. TARAPADA MITRA
4 Pat. L. J. 49

66. ———————— Mortgage suit—Judgment-debtor dead at time of passing of decree—Representatives not brought on the record—jurisdiction of executing court to question validity of decree—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908), O. XXII, Rs. 4, 6 and 9. When, at the time of the passing of a final decree in a mortgage suit, one of the judgment-debtors was dead and his representatives have not been brought on to the record it is open to such representatives to object to execution of the decree on the ground that the decree is a nullity. A void decree ought to be disregarded without any formal proceedings to set it aside. Per COUTTS J.—O. XXII, r. 6, refers to cases in which judgment is reserved and a party dies before it is delivered. JUNGLI LALL v. LADDU RAM MARWARI
4 Pat. L. J. 240

67. ———————— Joint decree—Application by the decree-holder, validity of—Duty of Court to protest interests of decree-holders who are not parties—Whether application may be amended—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908), O. XXI, rr. 15 and 17. A decree in favour of two persons jointly cannot be executed by one of such persons in respect of what that person considers his share of the decree, nor can the whole decree be executed by one of the decree-holders alone unless he applies for execution on behalf of all the decree-holders or for the benefit of them all. An application for execution of a decree by one of several joint decree-holders who has not complied with the provisions of O. XXI, r. 15, cannot be amended. A. J. MEIK v. THE MIDNAPORE ZEMINDARY COMPANY, LTD. . . . 4 Pat. L. J. 575

68.———————— Mistake in recital—Whether binding on executing court—Rent decree. In a suit for rent for three years the plaintiff claimed rent for 12 bighas odd for two years and for 6 bighas odd for the third year, it being admitted in the plaint that the holding had been reduced by a recognized transfer. An ex parte decree was passed which merely recited that the claim was in respect to an area of 12 bighas odd and did not mention that the claim for the third year was in respect to a reduced area. The operative part of the decree directed the defendant to pay to the plaintiff the rent claimed in the plaint. The executing court, to whose attention the principles of s. 99 proceed against the lands allotted to his vendor Ss. 23, 24, 26 and 77 show that a Civil Court has jurisdiction to decide a question of title or extent of interest not only between a proprietor and a stranger but also between the proprietors themselves, after a partition has been completed. BAHURIA JANAKDULARI KUER v. BINDESHWARI GIR . . . . . 5 Pat. L. J. 456

EXECUTION OF DECREE—contd.

68(a). ———— Non-service of notice—Concurrent findings by two Courts in India—Non-interference by Judicial Committee—Adjudication of judgment-debtor as Insolvent—Subsequent proceedings in execution against sons and heirs only of judgment-debtor. In execution of a decree passed in 1896 the decree-holder in December 1915 applied for the attachment of a certain property of the judgment-debtor and obtained the order of attachment on the 21st January 1916. In March 1916 the judgment-debtor applied to have the order of attachment set aside on the ground that no notice of execution had been served on him and the decree was barred by limitation. The decree-holder's contention was that the judgment had been revived by a writ of attachment issued on the 3rd February 1904 and within 12 years from that date, viz., on the 12th January 1916, the notice of execution taken out in December 1915 had been served. This application of the judgment-debtor was in the first instance, dismissed but on appeal a remand was ordered on 23rd November 1916. On the same day the judgment-debtor was declared an insolvent by the Privy Council. The judgment-debtor died on 25th April 1918 and on 5th August 1918 the decree-holder took out a summons against the present Appellants, the sons and heirs of the judgment-debtor, to show cause why the original decree should not be executed against them and having ting C an insolvent was afterwards annulled or came to a termination in any way before the death of C the appeal should be dismissed with a declaration that if the insolvency had not terminated on or before the date when the order on remand was made the said order would owing to the absence of a representative of the insolvency court be in operation. SRIPAT SINGH DUGAR v. RAI HARIRAM - 26 C. W. N. 739

69. ———— Limitation—Date from which runs—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908), O. XX, r. 7. The procedure of the Patna High Court allowing the period of limitation for the execution of a decree of an appellate court to be calculated from the date on which the decree is signed does not govern an application for the execution of a decree of a court of first instance. Such an application is therefore barred unless made within three years from the date on which judgment is pronounced. HIRA LAL SAHU v. JAMUNA PRASAD SINGH 5 Pat. L. J. 490

70. ———————— Limitation—Civil Procedure Code (1882), ss. 318 and 319—Civil Procedure Code (1908), o. XXI, rr. 95 and 96—Formal possession not available to save limitation where actual possession could have been and ought to have been given. If, upon an execution sale, possesion has been delivered to the auction purchaser in accordance with the provisions of the law, that is, in accordance with s. 318 or 319 of the Code of Civil Procedure of 1882 as the case may be, having purchaser gets a fresh start ...

of limitation. But where such possession has not been delivered, the mere fact of formal delivery of possession is not available to him for saving the operation of limitation. JANG BAHADUR SINGH v. HANWANT SINGH I. L. R. 43 All. 520

71. ———————— Held that a civil court can in execution of a decree order a temporary alienation of the land of a judgment-debtor who a member of an agricultural tirbe and s. 6 of the Punjab Alienation of Land Act prohibits only a sale and not a temporary alienation of such land. SARDARNI DATAR KAUR v. RAM RATTAN I. L. R. 1 Lah. 192

72. ———————— Held, that O. IX of the Civil Procedure Code does not apply to Execution Proceedings. BABUI RITU KUER v ALAHDEO NARAIN SINGH 4 Pat. L. J. 330

73. ———————— Jurisdiction—Appellate decree—Objection raised in execution that appeal had abated and the decree was void—No objection taken in the appeal itself. Held, that it was compeof the appeal within the prescribed period of limitation, although no plea to this effect had been taken at the hearing of the appeal. BINDHYACHAL SINGH v. NAWALRAJ KUNWARI I. L. R. 43 All. 328 when the judgment-

first application for execution of a decree on the ground of illegalities in relation to the execution proceedings, e g., non-service of notice on the transferrer under O. XXI, r. 16, of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, he cannot take such objection when a subsequent application for execution is made. BRAJLAL MARWARI v. E. M. ATKINSON 5 Pat. L. J. 639

75 ———— Interest payable until realization—Whether ad valorem court-fee is payable on interest accrued due subsequent to decree—Appeal from order reducing total claim, court-fee payable on. In an appeal from an order regarding the amount of interest recoverable under a decree an ad valorem court fee is payable on the difference between the amount awarded by the first court up to the date of the claim and the amount claimed in the appellate court up to the same date. TARAPADA MITRA v. RANI JAGADAMBA KUMARI 5 Pat. L. J. 23

EXECUTION OF DOCUMENT.

——— evidence as to—

See PROBATE . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 245

EXECUTION OF MORTGAGE.

See PARDANASHIN LADY.
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 743

EXECUTION OF ORDER IN COUNCIL.

See LETTERS PATENT . 2 Pat. L. J. 684

EXECUTION OF WILL.

See PROBATE I. L. R. 39 Calc. 245

See WILL . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 355

EXECUTION PETITION.

———Attachment ordered—Failure to pay batta—Presumed oral application at the hearing of the petition to issue warrant of attachment whether such application is step in aid of execution—Part-payment entered in the petition—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908)), O. XXI, r. 2, cl. 1, whether certificate of payment proved—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), s. 20, saving of limitation. When an assignee of a decree filed a petition for execution on the 13th July 1911 and an order of attachment was made on the day of hearing, the 12th August 1911, and the petition was subsequently dismissed on tho 26th August 1911 on his failure to pay batta within the time allowed and a fresh application was filed on the 10th August 1914. Held, that though in the above circumstances, the court might presume that the decree-holder made an oral application on the day of hearing to proceed with the execution such application was not a step in aid of execution, and that the second application filed more than 3 years after the date of the first was barred by limitation. Held, also, that the part-payment of a decree amount entered in an execution petition, presented within three years from the date of such alleged payment amounts, if the fact of payment is proved to a certificate of payment under O. XXI, r. 2 of the Code of Civil Procedure and will operate to save limitation under s. 20 of the Limitation Act. Rajan Aiyar v. Anantharatnam Aiyar (1915), 29 M. L. J. 669, and Lakhi Narain v. Felamani Dasi (1914), 20 C. L. J. 131, referred to. MASELAMANI MUDALIAR v. SETHUSWAMI AYYAR

I. L. R. 41 Mad. 251

EXECUTION PROCEEDINGS.

See ATTACHMENT.
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 448

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908), ss. 37, 38 AND 150.
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 462

O. XXII, R. 10.
I. L. R. 37 All. 226

See "COURT," I. L. R. 37 Calc. 642

See JURISDICTION.
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 926

See MESNE PROFITS.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 56

See SALE IN EXECUTION OF DECREE.
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 590

See RES JUDICATA.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 848
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 314

EXECUTION PROCEEDINGS—contd.

——— transfer of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), s. 70; O. XXI, R. 72.
I. L. R. 42 Bom. 621

——— Limitation—Application for execution was struck off and file sent to record room—Second application for revival of the first. An application for execution was made on the 1st of December, 1908, for sale of certain property. The case was sent to the Collector for execution. The Collector discovered that part of the property sought to be sold belonged to persons other than the judgment-debtor and he sent the case back to the Subordinate Judge for orders. The Subordinate Judge called upon the pleader for the decree-holders to make a statement. No statement having been made the application was struck off and the file was sent to the record-room. The present application for execution was made on the 20th of December, 1913. Held, that it was an application to revive the execution proceedings which had been suspended and not dismissed, and that it was therefore not barred by limitation. YAKUB ALI v. DURGA PRASAD (1915)
I. L. R. 37 All. 518

——— Res judicata—Decision at one stage of execution proceedings when bar to re-opening of the question—The principle of such bar. The decisions of the Judicial Committee in Munga Pershad Dichit v. Girija Kant, I. L. R. 8 Calc. 51; Ram Kirpal v. Rupkuari, I. L. R. 6 All. 269; Baniram v. Nanhumal, I. L. R. 7 All. 102, lay down that a decision at any stage of execution proceedings should not be questioned at any later stage not because it is res judicata but on general principles of law to secure finality in litigation. Srihari v. Murari, I. L. R. 13 Calc. 257; Bhagwan v. Dhondi, I. L. R. 22 Bom. 83; Khosal v. Ukiladdi, 14 C. W. N. 114, referred to. The essence of the matter is that the judgment-debtor though called on to dispute any proposition either failed in his contention or at any rate allowed the judgment to go by default. Sheikh Budan v. Ram Chandra, I. L. R. 11 Bom. 537, referred to. Where therefore certain properties had been sold without notice to the judgment-debtor, and an ex parte order for possession made on an application which was itself time-barred, and the judgment-debtor had no knowledge of these matters till possession was actually delivered to the decree-holder when he took exception to the entire proceeding not on the ground that the last application was time-barred but that the original sale was fraudulent, and the sale was thereupon set aside: Held, that the ex parte order for possession on the previous time-barred application does not operate as a bar to the judgment-debtor being heard upon any subsequent application on the question as to whether it was time-barred. MAZAEM HOSSEIN MUNDUL v. SARAT KUMARI DEBI (1909)
14 C. W. N. 433

——— Enforceability in, of ante-decree agreement—As to manner of execution of the decree—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. XXI, r. 2, no bar by—Rule of stare decisis, applicability of, to matters of procedure. Held by the Full Bench (PHILLIPS, J., dissenting), that an agreement between the plaintiff and the defendant made prior to the passing of a decree in the suit, to the effect that the defendant should not press his defence but allow a decree to be passed for the full amount of the suit, that the defendant should make an arrangement for the satisfaction of the decree within a certain time after the decree and that the plaintiff should not execute or transfer the decree before that time is one that can be pleaded in proceedings taken in execution of the decree. Per ABDUR RAHIM, officiating C. J., and SESHAGIRI AYYAR, J.—The uniform practice of this Court has been to allow such defence to be raised in execution instead of allowing it to be made the subject of future litigation. Per, PHILLIPS, J.—Such a plea ought not to be allowed in execution proceedings as the executing Court cannot go behind the decree but must execute the decree as it stands and as the allowance of such pleas will lead to an abuse of process of Court enabling parties to obtain collusive decrees. The rule of stare decisis is not applicable in such cases, for no rights are taken away but only the method of enforcing them is changed Held, further by the Full Bench that such an agreement is not

EXECUTION PROCEEDINGS—contd.

[illegible]

VATHIYAR (1916) . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 233

——— Civil Procedure Code, 1882, s. 13—Res judicata—Proceedings in execution—Decision that execution time-barred, not appealed against—Question of limitation if may be again contested—Fresh proceedings on notice to judgment-debtors struck off for default—Want of adjudication, effect of. The decisions of the Judicial Committee in Mungal Pershad Dichit v. Girija Kant Lahiri, L R. 8 I. A. 123 : s. c. I. L. R. 8 Calc. 51, Ram Kirpal v. Rup Kuari, I. R. 11 I. A. 37 : s. c. I L. R. 6 All. 269, and Baniram v. Nanhu Mal, L. R. 11 I. A. 181 : s. c. I L. R. 7 All. 102, affirm [illegible] f execu- [illegible] a later [illegible] is res judicata under s. 13, Civil Procedure Code, but upon general principles of law, for if it were not binding there would be no end to litigation. The previous decision of the Judicial Committee in Delhi and London Bank Ld. v. Orchard, I. L. R. 3 Calc. 47 : s. c. L. R. 4 I. A. 127, does not lay down any general principle of law inconsistent with the principle laid down in the later cases. Dhonkal Singh v. Phakkar Singh, I. L. R. 15 All. 84, approved. Hurro Soondary Dussee v. Jugobundhoo Dutt, I. L. R. 6 Calc. 203, not followed. Where the question whether execution of a decree is barred by limitation is not decided because the parties do not appear, there is no bar to the adjudication of the objection when actually raised at a later stage of the proceedings. Bhola Nath v. Prafulla Nath, I. L. R. 28 Calc. 122 ; Hira Lal v. Dwija Charan, 10 C. W. N. 209 : s. c. 3 C. L. J. 240, followed. Dhonkal Singh v. Phakkar Singh, I. L. R. 15 All. 84, Tileshar Rai v. Parbati, I. L. R. 15 All. 198, referred to. KHOSAL CHANDRA ROY CHOWDHURY v. UKHILADI (1909)

14 C. W. N. 114

——— Civil Procedure Code, 1908) s. 141 and O. IX, r. 13—O. IX, r. 13, of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908, is not applicable to a proceeding under rr. 100 and 101 of O. XXI of that Code. Thakur Prasad v. Fakirullah, I. L. R. 17 All. 105, referred to. HARI CHARAN GHOSE v. MANMATHA NATH SEN (1913)
I. L. R. 41 Calc 1

EXECUTION PROCEEDINGS—contd.

——— Execution proceedings arrested by injunction of Court—Case dismissed, attachment subsisting—Subsequent application, if continuation of former application—Prayer for execution by attachment and sale of land—Subsequent application for attachment and sale of movables, if abandonment of relief claimed in first application—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), Sch. III, Art. 6—Limitation. The appellant obtained an ex parte decree for rent against the defendant on the 16th July 1903. After an unsuccessful application by the judgment-debtor under s. 108, Civil Procedure Code, to have the ex parte decree set aside, the decree-holder applied on the 13th February 1907 for attachment and sale of specified lands. The judgment-debtor applied on the 6th May 1907 for time to satisfy the decree. The judgment-debtor instituted a suit to have the decree set aside on the ground of fraud and obtained on the 27th June 1907 an i

[illegible]

attachment subsisting; the injunction was subsequently dissolved on 8th May 1908. On 18th October 1909, the decree-holder made a second application for execution by attachment and sale of moveables. To this the judgment-debtor objected on the 16th December that the execution was barred by limitation The objection was over-ruled on 9th June 1910 and the decree-holder was called upon to take further steps but as the writ of attachment was returned unserved on the 18th June 1910, the case was dismissed for default and want of prosecution On 4th July 1910, a third application was made for execution by the 4th July 1910 was not barred by limitation under Art. 6, Sch. III of the Bengal Tenancy Act, as the second application of 18th October 1909 could not rightly be treated as an abandonment of the relief claimed in the first application but was an application for additional relief, and the third application of the 4th July 1910 was in substance an application in continuation of the first application, the proceedings wherein were discontinued by reason of the injunction obtained by the judgment-debtor. SARANDHARI LAL v. BIKRAM SINGH (1913) . . 18 C. W. N. 539

[illegible]

——— Decree for rent—Assignment of decree—Limitation Act (XV of 1877) s. 22—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882) s. 372—Bengal Tenancy Act VIII of 1885), s. 148, cl. (h)—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. XXII, r. 12. Upon the death of the appellant during the pendency of an appeal from an order in an execution proceeding it is open to the legal representative to apply for leave to prosecute the appeal. An assignee of a decree may apply to the execution Court for leave to carry on the execution proceeding which has been commenced by the original decree holder. S. 22 of the Limitation Act applies only to suits and does not govern execution proceedings. S. 372, Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), has not application to proceedings in execution. J was the zemindar; N the putnidar under him; K was the dur-putnidar and he obtained a decree for rent against the respondent and applied for execution thereof on the 23th June 1903; meanwhile the putni was sold in execution of a decree for rent and the zemindar having purchased it on the 15th August 1906 served a notice upon the dur-putnidar under s. 167 of the Bengal Tenancy Act and annulled his encumbrance; the dur-putnidar conveyed to J, the zemindar, amongst other properties, all decrees for rent and authorised J, the purchaser, to carry on all execution proceedings. J having applied for leave to proceed with the execution it was objected that in view of cl. (h) of s. 148 of the Bengal Tenancy Act J was not entitled to execute the decree. Held, that s. 143, cl. (h) of the Bengal Tenancy Act did not debar the superior landlord (i.e., J) from executing the decree for rent in the same manner as the dur-putnidar K might have done. The Court is bound to allow execution at the instance of the recorded decree-holder unless intimation has been given in the regular way prescribed by law for the admission of another person who obtains leave to carry on execution as an assignee. MANMOTHA NATH MITTER v. RAKHAL CHANDRA TEWARY (1909) . . . . 14 C. W. N. 752

EXECUTION PROCEEDINGS—concld.

EXECUTION PURCHASER.

See PARTIES . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 881

EXECUTION SALE.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908)—

ss. 47 AND 50 . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1076

ss. 47 AND 115. I. L. R. 42 Mad. 776

O. XLI, RR. 23 AND 25 4 Pat. L. J. 645

See COURT SALE.

See EXECUTION OF DECREE.

See INSOLVENCY I. L. R. 42 Calc. 72

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), s. 22. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 837

See PARTIES . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 881

See SALE.

See SALE IN EXECUTION.

See UNDER-TENURE. I. L. R. 37 Calc. 823

——— confirmation of—

See MORTGAGE (SALE 22). I. L. R. 41 Mad. 403

1. ——— Execution Sale proceeding—Order directing writ of attachment to issue, effect of—Objection that execution was then time-barred, if may be taken in subsequent proceedings—Necessity of proving non-service of notice—Onus—Entry in order-sheet that notice was served, value of. An order made at one stage of execution proceedings cannot be questioned at a later stage unless the parties sought to be bound by such order had no notice of the proceedings. An order directing a writ of attachment to issue is in substance a determination that the decree was on the date of the order alive and capable of execution. An entry in the order-sheet that notice has been served does not constitute conclusive evidence of the factum of service, but there is no presumption that the entries are false and a judgment-debtor who alleges that the notice stated in the order-sheet in a previous execution proceedings to have been served on him was in fact not served must start his case. Other cases where the burden has been placed on parties relying on due service to prove such service distinguished. BINDU BASHINI DASHYA v. KESHAB LAL BOSE (1916) . 21 C. W. N. 945

EXECUTION SALE—contd.

——— confirmation of—contd.

2. ——— Application to set aside execution sale—Destruction of record by fire—Presumption that official act was regularly performed—Rebuttal—Copies of proclamations alleged to have been served on the locality found on appeal by High Court to be obviously concocted—Failure of purchaser's pleader to support their genuineness and consequent admission that sale was illegal—Reversal of Trial Court's finding by High Court—Statement in judgment as to pleader's admission, if may be challenged. The record of the service of sale proclamations having been destroyed by fire an application to set aside the sale was disposed of on other evidence. The burden of disproving the primâ facie presumption that official acts were rightly carried out lying on the applicants, the evidence necessarily of a negative character was held by the trial Court which saw the witnesses as untrustworthy. The purchaser on the other hand having adduced positive evidence of service, the trial Court found that the sale had been properly held and dismissed the application. On appeal, the High Court scrutinised certain copies of sale proclamations which were produced in the trial Court to prove service, and which it was alleged, had been fixed on the various properties sold but which had no sign whatever of exposure to sun or rain, and the matter being put by the Court to the pleader for the purchaser, he was unable to answer these criticisms and admitted that he could not oppose the application to set aside the sale. The High Court thereupon held that the whole story of the service of sale proclamations was false and decreed the appeal. Held by the Judicial Committee, that though the actual documents exhibited related to some of the properties only, the fact that these were concocted destroyed the whole fabric of the story put forward on behalf of the purchaser, and it was only right that he should be associated with the scheme of deceit which it was designed to carry out and that such association should be regarded as an important element in determining whether his defence was honest and just. That the suggestion that the Judges of the High Court might have misunderstood the conduct of the pleader could not be entertaining in the absence of anything showing that the pleader called the attention of the Court to the fact that the statement in the judgment regarding his conduct was wrong while the matter was still fresh in the minds of the Judges and an affidavit filed before the Judicial Committee long afterwards by a person who said he was present at the trial and that the pleader made no admission as stated and that the pleader was unable to recall at its date whether in fact he made the admission or not was wholly insufficient to prove that the statement in the judgment was erroneous. MADHU SUDAN CHOWDHRI v. CHANDRABATI (1917) 21 C. W. N. 897

3. ——— Proceeding, order in execution sale not reviewed or appealed against—Fresh application to set aside order, if lies, when order erroneous but within jurisdiction—Civil Pro- cedure Code Act (V of 1908), ss. 128, 157—Rules delegating judicial functions to ministerial officer, ultra vires under old Code, if validated by amended Code, without fresh promulgation An order which is passed without jurisdiction is a nullity, which may be disregarded and need not be set aside. But an erroneous order made by a Court having jurisdiction can only be set aside by review or appeal. An order having been made in execution proceedings, an application does not lie to set aside the order on the ground that at the time the order was made the execution was barred. Such an order can only be set aside by review or appeal. Quære · Whether the Civil Procedure Code of 1908 by s. 128 (1) which allows delegation of judicial duties validates rules which were in existence previous to the Code of 1908 when such delegation was ultra vires CHUTTERPUT SINGH v. SADASOOK KOTARY (1917) . 21 C. W. N. 1052

EXECUTION SALE—contd.

4. ———————— Execution sale set aside for irregularities of decree-holder—Right of purchaser to return of poundage fees and to interest on purchase money—Right of suit—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. XXI, r. 93, no [illegible] to him and interest on the purchase money paid by him. Held (overruling the objection that remedy for the return of the poundage fees lay only in execution), that a suit was maintainable for the recovery of the same. Powell v. Powell 19 Eq. 422, followed. The poundage fee is really part of the purchase money paid. Held, also, that the purchaser was entitled to interest on the purchase money paid by him. Raghubir Dayal v. The Bank of Upper India, Limited, I. L R 5 All. 364, followed. PARVATHI AMMAL v. GOVINDASAMI PILLAI (1915) . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 893

[illegible]

5. ———————— Purchase in Court sale of specific properties when judgment-debtor an undivided member—Subsequent decree for partition—Allotment to judgment-debtor of some items purchased and other properties—Right of execution purchaser for compensation by way of substitution. A purchaser bought in Court auction specific items of properties said to belong to a member of a joint Hindu family. Subsequently there was a partition decree and only some of these items fell to the share of the judgment-debtor Held, that the purchaser was entitled to only such of the items as are common to the sale-certificate and the share of the judgment-debtor under the decree, and that he could not compel the judgment-debtor to give him other properties in substitution for the remaining properties comprised in the sale certificate. SABAPATHI PILLAI v. THANDAVAROYA ODAYAR. (1920)

I. L. R. 43 Mad. 30

6. ———————— Decree-holder purchaser —Decree subsequently reversed —Restitution—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 144—Tenant settled on land by purchaser if protected.] Where the decree-holder is the purchaser at a sale in execution of a decree which is subsequently set under s. 144, C. P. C. notwithstanding that the under s. 144, C. P. C. notwithstanding that the decree-holder has subsequently to his purchase settled the land with a tenant. SAGORE MANDAL v. MAFIJUDDIN SIRDAR . 24 C. W. N. 50

EXECUTION SALE—concld.

[illegible]

even if on terms of a contract made before. Venkatappa v. Jalayya 1919, L. R. R. 42 Mad. 615, approved. RAMATHAI VADIVELU MUDALLIAR v. PERIA MANICKA MUDALLIAR

L. R. 47 I. A. 108

8. ———————— Purchase by mortgage decree-holder subject to specified incumbrance—Purchaser if may claim priority over incumbrance by subrogation—Estoppel. In a mortgage suit certain defendants who were joined in the suit as puisne mortgagees claimed priority in respect of a portion of their dues by way of subrogation having paid off a prior mortgagee but it was proved that in a previous suit to enforce their mortgage in which they did not make the present plaintiff a party they had put up the property to sale in execution of their decree and that upon the judgment debtor's objection that property

[illegible]

DHURY v. PROSUNNO KUMAR DAS

24 C. W. N. 269

9. ———————— Of occupancy holding for arrears of rent—Executrix, default by, in payment of rent—Sale of occupancy holding in execution of decree for arrears of rent obtained against executrix, effect of—Omission to describe executrix expressly as such, if vitiates sale. The executrix in possession of the estate made default in payment of rent of an occupancy holding which was sold in execution of the decree for arrears of rent obtained against the executrix as such and purchased by the Plaintiff. It appeared that in the sale the executrix was not expressly described as such. The Plaintiff's suit for recovery of possession on declaration of title was dismissed by the lower Courts on the ground that as the executrix had no personal interest in the property nothing passed by the sale: Held, that the sale was operative and the Plaintiff acquired a good title thereby. That it is incumbent upon the Court to look to the substance of the proceedings and not to confine its attention to the mere form. Bijraj Nopani v. Pura Sundary Dassee, L. R. 41 I. A. 189 · s. c. I. L. R. 42 Calc. 56 : 18 C. W. N. 1313 (1914), applied. MAHENDRA NATH MANDAL v. SHEIKH SAMSUDDIN

25 C W. N. 273

EXECUTION, STAY OF.

———————— Order of, by Appellate Court—No communication to lower Court, effect of—When order takes effect. An order of an Appellate Court staying further proceedings in the lower Court, such as holding a sale, etc., takes effect from the time it is pronounced and not from the time it is officially communicated to the lower Court and a sale held contrary to such an order whether with or without knowledge of it is liable to be set aside as having been held without jurisdiction. Per SPENCER, J.—The lower Court should have postponed the sale when having itself had no official information of the order of the Appellate Court it was moved by the party on the ground of such an order. Per SADASIVA AYYAR, J.—The sale under such circumstances is so gravely irregular that it must be set aside even without proof of injury. Muthukumarasami Rowther Minda Nayinar v. Kuppusami Aiyangar, I. L. R. 33 Mad. 74, dissented from by SADASIVA AYYAR, J., and distinguished by SPENCER, J. Hem Chandra Kar v. Mathura Santhal, 16 C. W. N. 1031, and Sati Nath Sikdar v. Ratanmani Nasker, 15 C. L. J. 335, followed. RAMANATHAN v ARUNACHELLAM (1913) . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 766

EXECUTION, STAY OF—contd.

EXECUTIVE AND JUDICIAL FUNCTIONS.

See FORFEITURE I. L. R. 41 Calc. 466

EXECUTIVE ORDER.

———— of District Judge not open to revision by High Court—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, 1898, s. 197 . I. L. R. 2 Lah. 305

EXECUTOR.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, O. XXXIII . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 279

See HINDU LAW—WILL. I. L. R. 39 Mad. 365

See LIMITATION L. R. 43 I. A. 113

See LIMITATION ACT, 1877, SCH. II, ART. 123 . . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 111

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), SCH. I, ART. 95 . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 158

See PROBATE . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 666

See WILL . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 209
I. L. R. 36 All. 217
I. L. R. 40 Bom. 1

———— assent of—

See SUCCESSION ACT (X OF 1865), s. 187. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 474

———— conveyance by—

See VENDOR AND PURCHASER. I. L. R. 37 Calc. 362
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 56

———— Death of—

See PROBATE . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 625

———— liability of—

See JURISDICTION OF HIGH COURT. I. L. R. 34 Mad. 258

See INCOME TAX. I. L. R. 42 Calc. 151

———— not brought on the record—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), SCH. I, ARTS. 164 AND 181. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 442

———— title of, to sue without probate—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), s. 17. I. L. R. 37 Mad. 175

———— Probate—Probate and Administration Act (V of 1881), ss. 3, 5, 12—Executor who has obtained order for grant but not taken out probate

EXECUTOR—contd.

if may represent estate in suit—Intermeddling with estate—Lunatic, not found—Representation—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 463. An executor who obtained an order for the grant to him of probate but took no further steps to complete the grant and who in no way intermeddled with the estate cannot properly represent the estate in a suit brought against it. A decree purporting to have been passed against such an executor does not bind the estate. LAKHYA DASYA v. UMAKANTA CHAKERBUTTY (1909) 14 C. W. N. 256 ———— Appointed shebaits, suit for accounts and delivery of debutter estate by administratrix de-bonis-non—Probate and Administration Act (V of 1881), executors also appointed shebaits—Suit for accounts, by administratrix de-bonis-non against heirs of shebaits, if lies—Heirs if liable to render accounts of the executorship of their predecessors. S by his Will appointed A and B as his executors as well as shebaits of an idol in whose favour the Will created a trust in respect of the whole of his properties. S left a widow and a daughter. The daughter obtained letters of administration de-bonis-non of the estate of S and in this capacity brought the suit against the heirs of A for delivery to her of the debutter estate and for accounts: Held, that the suit was misconceived. As soon as debts, legacies and the funeral expenses were paid the executors would hold the property upon the trusts of the Will and there would be no property administered by the executors which would pass to any administratrix de-bonis-non appointed by the probate Court. If the property became trust property it was not for the administrator to ask for accounts of these properties which were in trust and the administratrix de-bonis-non could not maintain a suit of this nature. Held, further, that the Defendants were under no oligation to render accounts of the executorship of A and B with whom they had no concern. GOUR CHANDRA DAS v. SREEMATI MONMOHINI DASI 25 C. W. N. 332

———— De son tort.—Widow in possession of husband's undivided property not liable as executor de son tort, when such property has devolved on co-parceners—Decree, suit on—No suit maintainable on decree, when the passing of the decree gives no cause of action independent of the original cause of action—Res judicata—Subsequent suit on same cause of action barred though different reliefs claimed—Suit against partners, parties to. On the death of an undivided co-parcener, the estate vests in the survivors and there is no estate belonging to a deceased person. The widow of the deceased, by the fact of being in possession of a portion of the joint family property, does not become liable as an executor de son tort, as she has not intermeddled with any estate belonging to a deceased person. A suit is not maintainable on a decree, when the mere passing of the decree does not give rise to a cause of action distinct from the original obligation. The passing of a decree against an undivided co-parcener, does not give rise to such a cause of action against other co-parceners, except his sons, whatever be the nature of the original debt on which the decree was passed. A decision in a prior suit bars a subsequent suit on the same cause of action, though the reliefs claimed in the two suits may be different. To a suit for winding up a partnership, all partners having distinct interests must be parties; and where such a suit, brought against all the partners, is not maintainable against some, the suit must be dismissed. RAMASAMI AIYAR v. VEERAPPA CHETTY (1910)

EXECUTOR—contd.

I. L. R. 33 Mad. 423

———— Sale by—Powers of an executor, happening to be guardian, effect of—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), Arts. 44 and 91—What must be proved before setting aside a sale by an executor—Onus—Executor under Probate and Administration Act (V of 1881)—Sale without Probate or Letters of Administration, validity of. In the absence of proof that a sale by an executor was not a proper act of administration and was not required for the purpose of discharging debts of the deceased, and that the vendee was a mala fide purchaser having knowledge that the sale was not in due course of administration, the onus of proving all which lies on the party attacking the sale, the sale is valid and binding on all. The validity of a sale by one clothed with the powers of an executor must be tested with reference to the powers and duties of an executor; and it cannot be regarded or attacked as a sale by a guardian even if the executor actually happen to occupy the position of a guardian with reference to the plaintiff, a legatee under the will. Hence Art. 44 of the Limitation Act (Act XV of 1877) is inapplicable to such a sale. Nor is Art. 91 appliwhich was made neither by him nor by any one through whom he claims the property as heir, the validity of the sale depending on considerations aforesaid, with reference to the powers of an executor. An executor's title is derived from the will, and an executor under the probate and Administration Act (V of 1881), unlike an executor under the Indian Succession Act or the Hindu Wills Act, can clothe his vendee with full title, even without obtaining any Probate or Letters of Administration. Sheik Moosa v. Sheik Essa, I. L. R. 8 Bom. 241, and Mathuradas Lowji v. Goculdas Madhowji, I. L. R. 10 Bom. 468, followed. Sarat Chandra Banerjee v. Bhupendranath Basu, I. L. R. 25 Calc. 103, considered and explained. Ss. 2, 4 and 45 and the preamble and heading of Chap. II of Act V of 1881 considered. GANAPATHI AIYAR v. SIVAMALAI GOUNDAN (1913)

I. L. R. 36 Mad. 575

———— Powers and duties of executor—Personal liability—Right to indemnity—Interest of minor in conflict with that of executors—Necessity of minor being represented—Insufficiently stamped hundis—Plaintiff's remedy. Before the Hindu Wills Act (XXI of 1870), the position of an a statutory position. An executor under the statute is the legal representative of a deceased person for all purposes and all the property of the deceased person vests in him as such. He is accordingly, in many respects, in a different position from a Hindu widow succeeding to her husband's estate a guardian of a minor, or a shebait of an idol. The estate of the testator is absolutely vested in the executor for the purpose of administration and he can deal with it, as he pleases, subject to his responsibility as executor for the due administration of the estate. The executor who borrows money in the course of the administration for the purposes of the estate, is personally responsible for the repayment of such debts, though he is entitled to be indemnified out of the estate for such borrowing if he shows that it was reasonably and properly made. Labouchere v. Tupper, 11 Moo. P. C. 198, Farhall v. Farhall, I. L. R. 7 Ch. 123, Ramanath Paul, v. Kanai Lal Dey, 7 C. W. N. 104, Debendra Nath Biswas v. Hem Chandra Roy, I. L. R. 31 Calc. 253, Satya

EXECUTOR—concld.

Chowdhry, I.

an executor

—whether he does so for the purpose of winding it up or of making it over as a going concern to the person or persons entitled to inherit it, there does not appear to be any difference between his duties in so doing and his duties in dealing with any other part of the testator's estate. The responsibility rests entirely upon him subject only to his ultimate rights to be indemnified out of the estate. Where hundis in a suit are insufficiently stamped, it is open to the plaintiff to give the go-by to the hundis, which are inadmissible in evidence, and sue for the consideration. Golap Chand Marwaree v. Thakurani Mohokoom Kooaree, I. L. R. 3 Calc. 314, Pramatha Nath Sandal v. Dwarka Nath Dey, I. L. R. 23 Calc. 851, referred to. Ordinarily the executors represent the estate but not in a case where their personal interests as executors are diametrically opposed to those of the minor. When such is the position of affairs, the minor's interests must be safeguarded and the minor properly represented at the trial. SUDHIR CHANDRA DAS v. GOBINDA CHANDRA ROY (1917) I. L. R. 45 Calc. 538

EXECUTORSHIP.

———— renunciation of—

See HINDU LAW—WILL.

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 365

EXECUTRIX.

See EXECUTOR.

———— death of—

See PROBATE I. L. R. 43 Calc. 625

———— Decree for rent against—

See EXECUTION SALE.

25 C. W. N. 279

EXECUTORY CONTRACTS.

———— English rule, applicability of—

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872), s. 73.

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 338

EXORBITANT INTEREST.

See CONTRACT ACT, s. 74.

I. L. R. 36 Mad. 229

EX-PARTE CASE.

See SALE FOR ARREARS OF REVENUE.

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 573

———— reinstatement of—

See MORTGAGE (USUFRUCTUARY)

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 388

EX-PARTE DECREE.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, ss. 47, 144 AND 151.
I. L. R. 43 Bom. 235

O. V, RR. 1 AND 2.
I. L. R. 35 All. 163

O. IX, R. 13. I. L. R. 37 All. 208
I. L. R. 39 All. 13, 143
I. L. R. 43 Mad. 94
I. L. R. 44 Mad. 731

See DECREE, ex parte.

See FOREIGN DECREE.
I. L. R. 40 Bom. 551

See FRAUD . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 936

See GUARDIAN AD LITEM.
I. L. R. 38 All. 315

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), SCH. I, ART. 164 AND 181.
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 442

See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURT'S ACT (IX OF 1887), s. 17.
I. L. R. 38 All. 425
I. L. R. 43 All. 438

See RENT DECREE.
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 170

See RES JUDICATA.
I. L. R. 37 All. 484

See RIGHT OF SUIT.
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 197

See SUBSTITUTED SERVICE.
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 394

See SUMMONS, SERVICE OF.
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 447
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 67

——— imposition of terms for rehearing of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908. OIX R. 13 5 Pat. L. J. 420

——— suite to set aside.—

See RES JUDICATA . 5 Pat. L. J. 259

——— for feiture—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE 1898. ss. 524, 517 5 Pat. L. J. 321

——— against one defendant—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, O. IX, R. 13 . I. L. R. 44 Mad. 781

——— Collusion—Land purchased in execution—Suit for possession—Utilisation of Courts for creation of fictitious titles, whether permissible—Benamidar's right to sue. Where A sued his widowed sister B collusively for money alleged to have been advanced to her husband, and obtained an ex parte decree, and in execution thereof purchased B's property also collusively at a sale held by the Court, and thereafter instituted a suit for recovery of possession on establishment of title: Held, that Courts of Justice should not be permitted to be utilised for the purpose of creating fictitious titles, which must inevitably tend to weaken the sanctity which justly attaches to judicial transactions. It was open to a party to impeach the reality of a transaction between two private individuals and equally open to him to impeach the reality of a judicial proceeding. Held, also, that in suits for land an action could not be maintained by a benamidar.

EX-PARTE DECREE—contd.

Bandon v. Becher, 3 Cl. & Fin. 479, Atrabannessa Bibi v. Safatullah Mia, 22 C. L. J. 259, followed. Rambehari Sarkar v. Surendra Nath Ghose, 19 C. L. J. 34, Hari Gobind Adhikari v. Akhoy Kumar Mozumdar, I. L. R. 16 Calc. 364, Mohendra Nath Mookerjee, v. Kali Proshad Johuri, I. L. R. 30 Calc. 265, referred to. Ram Bhurosee Singh v. Bissesser Narain Mahata, 18 W. R. 454, dissented from. SURENDRA NATH GHOSE v. KALI GOPAL MOZUMDAR (1917) . I. L. R. 45 Calc. 920

——— A person who obtains an ex parte judgment is responsible for any slip in the order founded on the judgment. CHAMPAT SINGH v. JANGU SINGH (1912)
16 C. W. N. 793

——— Application for setting aside ex parte decree—Limitation—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), Sch. II, Art. 164—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Sch. I, Art. 164—General Clauses Act (X of 1897), s. 6. Where the right of the judgment debtor to make an applicaton for setting aside an ex parte decree was lost under the provisions of Art. 164, Sch. II of the Limitation Act of 1877, long before Act IX of 1908 was passed, the provisions of the new Limitation Act of 1908 cannot revive the right to apply for setting aside the decree. NEPAL CHANDRA ROY CHOWDHURY v. NIRODA SUNDARI GHOSE (1912)
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 506

——— Appearance, what constitutes—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. IX, rr. 6, 13; O. XVII, rr. 2, 3—Part-heard suit—Adjourned hearing—Absence of defendant—Practice. The provisions of O. IX by themselves do not apply to a case in which the defendant has already appeared in answer to the summons but has failed to appear at an adjourned hearing of the suit. For such a case the procedure is laid down in O. XVII which deals with adjournments. The distinction between rr. 2 and 3 of O. XVII is that while the former rule applies to hearings adjourned at the instance of the Court, the latter applies to hearings adjourned at the instance of a party to whom time has been allowed to do some act to further the progress of the suit but who has defaulted. There is yet another distinction between the two rules. Where there are no materials on the record, the proper procedure to follow would be that laid down in r. 2 but if there are materials on the record the Court ought to proceed under r. 3. To apply the procedure, therefore, laid down in r. 3 to a case there must be the presence of both the elements; viz., (i) the adjournment must have been at the instance of a party; and (ii) there must be materials on the record for the Court to proceed to decide the suit. The presence of one without the other does not justify the application of r. 3. Kader Khan v. Juggeswar Prasad Singh, I. L. R. 35 Calc. 1023, Mariannissa v. Ramkalpa Gorain, I. L. R. 34 Calc. 235, and Jonardan Dubey v. Ramdhone Singh, I. L. R. 23 Calc. 738, referred to. ENATULLA BASUNIA v. JIBAN MOHAN ROY (1914)
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 956

——— Perjured evidence, whether a ground for setting aside—Fraud—Plaintiff knowing evidence to be perjured—Court imposed upon. If the case, which was placed before the Court, was a false one the Court has jurisdiction in a subsequent suit to set aside the decree which was obtained in the previous suit by fraud practised on the Court. Abouloff v. Oppenheimer, 10 Q. B. D. 295, Vadala v. Lawes, 25 Q. B. D. 310, Lakhmi Charan v. Nur Ali, I. L. R. 38 Calc. 936 : s. c. 16 C. W. N. 1010, followed. Mosuful Huq v. Surendra Nath, 16 C. W. N. 1002, Baker v. Wordsworth, 67 L. J. R. Q. B. D. 301, distinguished. KEDAR NATH DAS v. HEMANTA KUMARI DEBI (1913) 18 C. W. N. 447

EX-PARTE DECREE—contd.

——— Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 144—Principle if applicable to restore a sale under an ex-parte decree set aside—Subsequent contested decree if revives old decree—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 108. Where an ex-parte decree and sale under it were aside the sale. When a decree has once been set aside under s. 108, Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), it cannot by any subsequent proceeding be taken to be revived. If a decree is passed against judgment-debtors on re-hearing, it is a new decree and does not revive the former decree. RAGHU NANDAN SINGH v. JAGDIS SINGH (1909) . . . . 14 C. W. N. 182

.

——— Decree setting aside ex-parte decree, effect of—Court if bound to revive and proceed with trial of suit. Where an ex-parte decree is set aside by a Court of competent jurisdiction the effect is that the decree whereby the suit was terminated stands cancelled and the suit remains on the file of the Court as an undisposed of suit. In these circumstances it is incumbent upon the Court to proceed with the trial of the suit and if the plaintiff does not wish to proceed with the trial of the suit the Court must dismiss it, but if the plaintiff desires to proceed with it, it must be tried in accordance with law. The fact that the suit terminated in an ex-parte decree and not a consent decree makes no difference in point of principle. DHARANIDHAR ADITYA v. HEMANGA CHANDRA JAINA (1917) 21 C. W. N. 1087

——— Decree without evidence—Practice and Procedure—Unliquidated damages—Undefended suit—Defendant appearing at the trial—Leave to defend refused—Non-denial of claim, effect of—Verification of plaint—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. VIII, rr. 3, 5 ; O. IX, r. 6 ; O. XVIII, r. 2 ; O. XIXand O. XXXVII. The plaintiffs entered into a contract with the defendants for the sale of certain goods and upon the defendants failing to deliver the same within the time specified in the contract, they brought a suit for breach of contract and claimed as damages the difference between the contract price of the goods and the market price thereof. The defendant did not enter appearance nor did they file a written statement, and the suit was in due course transferred to the list of undefended cases. On the date of hearing of the case, the defendants applied for leave to defend the suit on the ground that their attorneys had misunderstood their instructions to them to appear and defend the suit. The Court, however, refused the application and, without hearing any evidence whatsoever other than reading the affidavit of service of summons, decreed the plaintiff's suit ex parte. Held, that it would be undesirable if a suit such as this were adjudicated upon without any evidence, in the real sense of the word, given by the plaintiffs where the claim was for unliquidated damages, and that the learned Judge, had no jurisdiction to make the decree, which in fact he did. Held, also, that O. VIII, r. 5 of the Code did not apply to a case where the defendant had not put in written statement. Held, also, that the verification of the plaint was not evidence on which a suit could be decreed whether the adversary did or did not appear. Basdeo v. John Smidt, I. L. R. 22 All. 55, referred to. Held, further, that there was no legal evidence on the record on which the decree made in favour of the plaintiffs might be supported, and that the plaintiffs were not entitled to succeed on the basis of an implied admission of their claim by the defendants. Per SANDERSON C. J. The fundamental principle is that the plaintiff, when he comes to Court, must prove his case and must prove it to the satisfaction of the Court. Per WOODROFFE J. No decree can be legally given in any case without evidence except in cases of the suits governed by the provisions of O. XXXVII of the suits governed by the provisions of O. XXXVII of Civil Procedure Code. In this Court it has always been the practice in undefended cases to take evidence as defined in the Evidence Act, namely, oral statement of witnesses and documents proved before the Court. The cursus curiæ may be looked at when interpreting the terms of the Civil Procedure Code. Galstaun v. Hutchison, I. L. R. 39 Calc. 79, referred to. Per MOOKERJEE J. Great caution should be exercised when suits are heard ex parte. This observation is of universal application. But it applies with special force to cases where unliquidated damages are claimed on the allegation that there has been a breach of contract. Amrinath Jha v. Dhunpat Singh, 8 B. L. R. 44 referred to. ROSS & CO., v. C. R. SCRIVEN (1916) . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1001

——— Primary Court jurisdiction of, to set aside an ex-parte decree when the appeal against its decree is dismissed—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) O. IX, r. 13—Jurisdiction. An application to set aside an ex-parte decree made in the primary Court, did lie to that Court, even though there was an appeal against it by the contesting defendants to which the petitioners were not parties and which was dismissed by the Appellate Court. U. Hedlot Khasia v. Ka Ram Khasiani, 13 Ind. Cas. 377, Braja Lall Singh v. Choudhury Mahadeo, 17 C. W. N. 133, Kumud Nath Ray Choudhury v. Jotendra Nath Choudhury, I. L. R. 38 Calc. 394, followed. ABDUL GHAD v. AMDALI GAZI (1920) I. L. R. 48 Calc. 153

——— Setting aside, application for—Deposit of money into Court—Time for depositing, granted—Extension of time till a certain date—Deposit not made on that date—Dismissal of application on that date; legality of jurisdiction of Court—Time granted by Court for performance of any act till a certain date, meaning of. When time is granted by Court for the performance of any act till a certain date, it includes that date. Where, on an application by a defendant to set aside an ex-parte decree in a Small Cause Suit, the Court granted time to the applicant till a certin date to deposit the decree amount, but dismissed the same as no deposit was made before the application was taken up for orders on that date: Held, that the Court had no jurisdiction to pass the order dismissing the application. Dawkins v. Wagner, 3 Dowl, 535, Knox v. Simmonds, 3 Bro. C. C, 358 and Isaacs v. Royal Insurance Co., L. R. 5 Ex. 296, followed. PERUMAL NADAN v. SIVANAMJI NADACHI (1915) . . . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 583

EX-PARTE DECREE—concld.

———— Primary Court, jurisdiction of, to set aside an ex parte decree when the appeal against its decree is dismissed—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) O. IX, r. 13—Jurisdiction. An application to set aside an ex parte decree made in the primary Court, did lie to that Court, even though there was an appeal against it by the contesting defendants to which the petitioners were not parties and which was dismissed by the Appellate Court. U. Hedlot Khasia v. Ka Ram Khasiani, 13 Ind. Cas. 377, Braja Lall Singh v. Chowdhury Mahadeo, 17 C. W. N. 133, Kumud Nath Roy Chowdhury v. Jotendra Nath Chowdhury, I. L. R. 38 Calc. 394, followed. ABDUL OHAD v. AMDALI GAZI (1920) I. L. R. 48 Calc. 153

EX-PARTE ORDER.

See LIMITATION. L. R. 44 I. A. 218

EXPECTANCIES.

———— Contracts for sale of validity of—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882) s. 6—Indian Contract Act (IX of 1872), 23—Estate falling into possession—Specific performance suit for—Maintainability of suit—Rule of English Law—Rule in India before Transfer of Property Act—Doctrine of feeding the estoppel, meaning of. Contracts for sale of expectancies are void in India under the provisions of s. 6 of the Transfer of Property Act and s. 23 of the Indian Contract Act, and a suit for the specific performance of such a contract, instituted after the expectancy fell into possession is not maintainable. The statute law of India forbids transfer of expectancies, and it would be futile to forbid such transfers, if contracts to transfer them are to be enforced as soon as the estate falls into possession. In England and in India before the Transfer of Property Act a mere chance of succeeding to an estate was a bare possibility incapable of assignment, but in England it is settled law that in the case of such expectancies, equity will enforce a contract to convey the estate when it fell in, and a similar rule has been applied in India in cases which were not governed by the Transfer of Property Act. Courts are bound to give effect to the plain provisions of the statute law, instead of following a course of English decisions which are based on a course of long established practice rather than on principle. 'Equitable doctrine of feeding the estoppel' explained. Raja Sahib Prahlad Sen v. Baboo Sundur Singh, 2 B. L. R. 111, 117, Oodey Koowar v. Mussumat Ladoo, 13 Moo, I. A. 585, Ram Nirunjan Singh v. Prayag Singh, I. L. R. 8 Calc. 138, Gitabai v. Balaji Keshav, I. L. R. 17 Bom. 222, Sumsuddin v. Abdul Hussin, I. L. R. 31 Bom. 165, Dhoorjeti Subayya v. Dhoorjeti Venkayya, I.L. R. 30 Mad. 201, and Sham Sundar Lal v. Acchau Kunwar, I. L. R. 21 All. 71, referred to. SRI JAGANNADA RAJU v. SRI RAJA PRASADA ROW (1915) . . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 554

EXPERT EVIDENCE.

See PROBATE . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 245

———— in proof of custom—

See CUTCHI MEMONS. I. L. R. 41 Bom. 181

———— in handwriting—

See EVIDENCE . I. L. R. 36 Mad. 159

See WILL . . 15 C. W. N. 729

See HANDWRITING, I. L. R. 39 Calc. 603

———— The limits within which the opinion of experts is admissible considered and the difference between mere advice on evidence and opinion indicated by Woodroffe, J. In the goods of GOPESSUR DUTT v. SARAT KUMARI DASI (1911) . 16 C. W. N. 265

EXPIRY OF SANCTION.

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION. I. L. R. 48 Calc. 867

EXPLOSIVE SUBSTANCE.

———— The term "explosive substance" as used in s. 4 (b) of Act VI of 1908 includes any part of an apparatus, machine, or implement intended to be used or adapted for causing or aiding in causing any explosive substance, and "by means thereof" does not mean by means thereof alone. R. v. Charles, 17 Cox 499, referred to. AMRITA LAL HAZRA v. EMPEROR (1915) . . . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 957

EXPLOSIVES ACT IV OF 1884.

See MAGISTRATE. I. L. R. 39 Calc. 119

EXPLOSIVE SUBSTANCES ACT (VI OF 1908)

———— ss. 4 (b), 7—

See CHARGE . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 957

See MAGISTRATE I. L. R. 39 Calc. 119

———— s. 5—Bomb found in joint family residence, who may be held responsible for—Possession, whose. It is not the law that every person in a joint Hindu family should, merely, on the ground that a bomb is found in the joint family residence, be liable to be imprisoned and tried for an offence under the Explosive Substances Act (s. 5). If the article is found in a portion of the house of which one member of the family has the exclusive use, such member must primâ facie be held responsible for anything that is found there. But if the article is found in a portion of the house of which all the members of the family have use, then primâ facie the karta of the family is responsible. But in either case it is only a presumption which may be rebutted and if the Police act on the information, which they believe, showing that the article found in a house is in the exclusive possession of one member of the family and the article is found in a portion of the joint family residence of which all the members of the family have the use, then the head of the family is not liable to arrest merely on the ground that the article is found in a portion of the house to which all the family can resort. Queen-Empress v. Sangam Lal, I. L. R. 15 All. 129, relied on. PEARY MOHAN DAS v. D. WESTON (1911) . . . . 16 C. W. N. 145

ON APPEAL. See LIMITATION. I. L. R. 40 Calc. 898

EXPLOSION.

See Gas Company . 14 C. W. N. 158

EXPORT.

See Exciseable Articles.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 1053

See Trading with the Enemy.
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 1094

EX-PROPRIETARY HOLDING.

———— Holding sold in execution of money decree—Formal possession obtained—Subsequent suit for recovery of actual possession—Execution of decree. In execution of a simple money decree certain plots of land, which formed part of the ex-proprietary holding of the judgment-debtor were sold by auction, and were purchased by the decree-holder. The decree-holder obtained formal possession of the plots purchased but not actual possession. Within twelve years after the date of the order giving formal possession the decree-holder filed the present suit to obtain actual possession of the plot purchased by him. Held, that, inasmuch as the land in suit was part of an ex-proprietary holding, the plaintiff's suit must be dismissed. Chunni Lal v. Biri Singh (1918) . I. L. R. 41 All. 346

EX-PROPRIETARY RIGHTS.

See Agra Tenancy Act (II of 1901), ss. 10, 20 and 83
I. L. R. 33 All. 695
I. L. R. 40 All. 449

See North West Provinces Rent Act (XII of 1881) . I. L. R. 39 All. 645

———— agreement to surrender—

See Agra Tenancy Act (II of 1901), ss. 10 and 83.
I. L. R. 39 All. 173

EX-PROPRIETARY TENANT.

See Adverse Possession.
I. L. R. 37 All. 22

See Agra Tenancy Act (II of 1901).
I. L. R. 33 All. 507
I. L. R. 36 All. 155

ss. 28, 29, 30 and 34.
I. L. R. 35 All. 123

See Grove Land.
I. L. R. 42 All. 483

See United Provinces Land Revenue Act (III of 1901), s. 36.
I. L. R. 39 All. 318

———— Sale by one of several co-owners holding sir land of his undivided zamindari share—Vendor ex-proprietary tenant of all the co-owners and not merely of his vendee. Where the owner of an undivided share in a patti sells his zamindari rights and becomes an ex-proprietary tenant of the sir land held by him he becomes the tenant as regards such land, not merely of his vendees but of all the co-sharers in the patti. Debi Prasad v. Bhagwan Din (1912)
I. L. R. 35 All. 27

———— Mortgage of sir land followed by a perpetual lease of the same—Sale of mortgaged property in execution of decree—Rights of auction-purchaser as against perpetual lessee.

EX-PROPRIETARY TENANT—contd.

Certain sir land was mortgaged by the owner who thereafter, pending a suit for sale on the mortgage, granted a perpetual lease of the mortgaged property. The mortgaged property was sold in execution of a decree for sale on the mortgage, and the auction purchaser sued to eject the perpetual lessee. Held, that the auction-purchaser was not entitled to a decree for physical possession as against the lessee, though, if the lease was fraudulent, she was entitled to the rent which the ex-proprietary tenants ought to pay for the land in suit. Ghura v. Shitab Kunwar (1914)
I. L. R. 36 All. 248

EXPULSION OF MEMBER.

See Stock Exchange
I. L. R. 47 Calc. 623

EXTENSION OF TIME.

See Decree . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 954
I. L. R. 40 All. 579

EX-TERRITORIAL JURISDICTION OF BRITISH COURT.

———— Foreign Jurisdiction Act, 1890, and China and Corea Order-in-Council, 1894—Arts. III, V, cls, (1), (3), (4), XXXV (2), Order-in Council—Ex-territorial jurisdiction over foreigners—"British protected person," jurisdiction over—Jurisdiction of Supreme Court of China and Corea to try Afghan soldier enlisted in Indian Army for murder committed at Canton—Consent of Ameer to exercise of jurisdiction, if to be implied from public rec. [illegible] rmy—Proof of [illegible] 'n China by ora. [illegible] rules of evidence how far binding on Supreme Court at Hong Kong—Statement by accused in answer to question by commanding officer when in custody, if admissible—Substance and not mere formalities of law, to be complied with—Misdirection to jury on matter of comparatively small importance, if a ground for reversal—Privy Council when will interfere with order in criminal case—Violation of natural justice. The specified conditions under which only, according to cl. (3) to Art. V of the China and Corea Order-in-Council, 1904, the Supreme Court of China and Corea has civil and criminal jurisdiction over a "foreigner" as such have no application to "British protected persons" who even when in fact natural born foreigners are "British subjects" as defined by Art. III and so subject to the jurisdiction of that Court under cl. (1) to Art. V. The accused, a natural born subject of the Ameer of Afghanistan, was duly enlisted and enrolled in a British Indian regiment, took the oath of allegiance to His Majesty and made a solemn declaration undertaking, among other things, to go wherever ordered by land or sea, and whilst serving with the detachment of that regiment which was encamped on Shameen Island at Canton as a guard of the Concession, was alleged to have murdered a Subadar of that regiment. The Acting Consul at Canton, who also served as Judge under Art. XIX of the Order-in-Council, gave evidence (which was uncontradicted) "that the place of murder was within his jurisdiction and that the jurisdiction exercised at Canton or Shameen, was the same ex-territorial jurisdiction as was exercised throughout China by the Supreme Court, that

EX-TERRITORIAL JURISDICTION OF BRITISH COURT—contd.

Indian soldiers enjoy His Majesty's protection in Shameen, Canton, and the Court exercises jurisdiction over them, and that consular protection extends to trying persons and protecting them if they are improperly arrested." Held, that s. 4 (1) of the Foreign Jurisdiction Act, 1890, did not make this evidence inadmissible to prove that by "usage, sufferance or other lawful means" His Majesty has jurisdiction at Canton. That the accused being, during his service in the Indian Army, subject to military law was entitled to His Majesty's protection and was a "British protected person" within Art. III. When the Crown lawfully enlists in its forces aliens along with British subjects and requires of them the same service, loyalty and allegiance as on the duties of British enlisted subjects, it extends to them the same protection in a foreign country where all are serving together in the armed forces of His Majesty. Protection enjoyed by virtue of the Foreign Jurisdiction Act, 1890, "or otherwise," as mentioned in Art. III, includes that derived from other Statutes, Imperial or Indian, applicable to the person in question Quære: Whether the Court could take judicial notice of the political change in China in considering the question of jurisdiction. Quære: Whether it may not be reasonably inferred from the practice (which is a matter of public knowledge) of enlisting native Afghans in the Indian Army whereby they are de facto brought under the authority of His Majesty, that the Ameer does in fact consent to such enlistment with its consequences, so as to bring such enlisted Afghans within the terms of cl. (4) Art. V. i.e., "foreigners with respect to whom any State, King, Chief or Government whose subjects they are, consents to the exercise of power or authority by His Majesty." The officer commanding the detachment, who spoke to the accused shortly after the occurrence deposed to having asked the accused why he had done such a senseless act—not thereby meaning to convey a threat or inducement—and to the accused having replied that he was being abused by the deceased three or four days and that without a doubt he had killed him. The Judicial Committee found that the words of the officer though formally a question, were really an exclamation of dismay: Held, that the prosecution having by the evidence of this officer proved to the satisfaction of the trial Judge that the statement of the accused was voluntary in the sense that it had not been obtained from him either by fear of prejudice or hope of advantage exercised or held out by a person in authority, its admission in evidence was not in breach of the long established rule of English criminal law which makes statements obtained from the accused by pressure of authority and fear of consequences inadmissible in evidence and which casts on the prosecution the onus of proving that the statement relied on was voluntary. On the question whether the statement should not have been excluded from evidence on the ground of its having been made by a person in custody in answer to a question put by a person having authority over him and having custody of him through his subordinates : Held, on a review of English authorities, that the English law on the point was still unsettled, some Judges being of opinion that such a statement is admissible in evidence without exception, whilst others treat its exclusion from evidence as a matter for the Judge's discretion depending largely on his view of the impropriety of the questioner's conduct and the general circumstances of the case. That the trial Judge in admitting this evidence decided in accordance with what at any rate was a "probable opinion" of the present law if it was not actually the better opinion, and his so doing was not a violation of "the principles of natural justice," calling for His Majesty's interference. That even if the evidence was admissible in the exercise of the trial Judge's discretion, that discretion in the present case was not shown to have been exercised improperly. With reference to Act XXXV (2) of the China and Corea Order-in-Council which provides that, subject to the provisions of that Order, criminal jurisdiction under the Order shall, as far as circumstances admit, be exercised on the principle of and in conformity with English law for the time being: Held, that in the absence of any provision in the Order on the point modifying or excluding the principles and practice of English law, the question of the admissibility of the statement of the accused might justly be treated as if English criminal law and practice applied to the criminal jurisdiction of the Supreme Court at Hong-Kong, subject, however, to the following reservations:—(i) That such law and practice are not to be considered as in all respects and particulars binding on that Court; (ii) that regard must be had to the necessary distinction that must be drawn between the criminal procedure of a European country whose jurisprudence has a defined history extending over many centuries and that applicable to a British possession in the Far East, where a mixed and fluctuating population is subject to the administration of law by European Judges whose duty it is to have regard alike to the principle of British justice and to the necessities of local order; (iii) that the words "so far as circumstances admit," may well (a) refer to absence of facilities at Hong-Kong for formal proof of Statutes passed and administrative orders made in various parts of His Majesty's dominions, and (b) be intended to cover some necessary departures from the formalities only as distinguished from the essentials of English justice, when, as in the present case, a force detailed for the protection of European residents beyond His Majesty's dominions in the midst of a population often turbulent, and at the particular time disturbed was itself disturbed by such a crime as the murder of a Subadar by a native private in the ranks. That in view of the position which the Privy Council held in regard to criminal proceedings, the Judicial Committee did not in this case decide what the rule of English law should be with regard to the admissibility in evidence of statements made by an accused person in answer to a question put by a person in authority in whose custody he is; that should be left to a Court which exercises the revising functions of a general Court of criminal appeal. Clifford v. The King-Emperor, L. R. 40 I. A. 241, referred to. The Privy Council cannot in a criminal matter allow an appeal on grounds that would not have sufficed for granting leave to appeal. Misdirection as such or irregularity as such will not suffice. There must be something which in the particular case deprives the accused of the substance of fair trial and the protection of the law, or which, in general, tends to divert the due and orderly administration of law into a new course, which may be drawn into an evil precedent in future. Ex parte Macrea, [1893] A. C. 346, R. v. Bertrand 16 L. J. N. S. 752, followed. Riel v. The Queen, 10 A. C. at p. 675, In re Dillet, 12 A. C. 459, referred to. The jurisdiction of the Privy Council in appeals in criminal matters involves a general consideration of the evidence and of the circumstances of the case in order to place the irregularities complained of, if substantiated, in their proper relation to the whole matter. Held, upon a review of the evidence, that the preponderance of unquestioned over the questioned evidence (the accused's statement to the com-

EX-TERRITORIAL JURISDICTION OF BRITISH COURT—concld.

Therefore, the fact that the Judge left the objectionable evidence for the consideration of the jury without any warning to disregard it, did not justify the conclusion that there was any miscarriage of justice, substantial, grave or otherwise. Semble: Where it is highly improbable that evidence improperly admitted can have had any influence on the verdict of the jury, the Appellate Court will be justified in refusing to interfere. Makin v. A.-G. for New South Wales, [1894] A. C. 57, considered. IBRAHIM v. THE KING (1914) . . . . . 18 C. W. N. 705

EXTRADITION.

———— High Court, jurisdiction of—Extradition Proceedings, jurisdiction of High Court in—Code of Criminal Procedure (Act V of 1898), s. 491—Indian Extradition Act (XV of 1903), s. 3, sub-s. (3), (4), (6), (7) and (8) and s. 4, sub-s. (1) —Habeas Corpus. If the provisions of the Legislature have not been carried out, the High Court can interfere, notwithstanding that the warrant has been given in extradition proceedings. Rudolf Stallmann v. Emperor, I. L. R. 38 Calc. 547, distinguished. S. 3, sub-s. (6) of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903, is not a substitute for, and does not interfere with, proceedings taken under s. 491 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1908, the provisions of which are as much binding as those of the Extradition Act. The Government of India may issue its order to any Magistrate, and such Magistrate may issue a warrant, provided he is one who has jurisdiction to enquire into the crime of the nature of that for which extradition is sought. Therefore, an enquiry into the case of a fugitive criminal under arrest in Calcutta can be made by the Magistrate of Alipore, if duly authorised. An order issued under s. 3, sub-s. (1) of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903, by the Government of Bengal upon a requisition made to the Government of India is invalid, and cannot be "ratified" by a subsequent order of the Government of India. Where, however, the latter order directs the Magistrate in pursuance of the former order "and of the statutory provisions in that behalf to enquire into the said case," the Government gives valid effect to its intention, and the Magistrate has jurisdiction to enquire. Under s. 528 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, the District Magistrate can transfer to his own file, from that of the Deputy Magistrate, an application by the fugitive criminal for return of his property. The Magistrate making the enquiry under s. 3 of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903, can initiate fresh proceedings notwithstanding proceedings taken under a previous order. When the Magistrate sends up his report to the Government of India under s. 3, sub-s. (6) of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903, he becomes functus officio, and renders himself incapable, therefore, of recording evidence that may be subsequently produced. The Legislature intended that the fugitive criminal should be given an opportunity of defence. If such opportunity is not given, it goes to the jurisdiction of the Magistrate. The enquiry, therefore, is not according to law, and the issue of the warrant is itself invalid. Per MOOKERJEE, J.—The burden lies very heavily upon those who assert that a right of so much importance to the criminal as Habeas Corpus, given by the Common Law, has been taken away by implication. S. 491 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, is applicable to cases under the Indian Extradition Act. Rudolf Stallmann v. Emperor, I. L. R. 38 Calc. 547, distinguished. The jurisdiction of the High Court has not been taken away merely because the Government of India has already issued a warrant for surrender under s. 3, sub-s. (8) of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903. Depositions which have not been taken in the presence of the accused may be admitted by the Magistrate: In re Counhaye, L. R. 8 Q. B. 410. Where there is no evidence before the Magistrate, the Court will interfere. R. v. Maurer, 10 Q. B. D. 513, approved of. The Court will not consider questions regarding evidence, unless the objection is such that if effect were given to it, there would be no evidence left upon which the order for extradition could be supported. Under s. 4, sub-s. (1), the Magistrate may issue a warrant when the person to be arrested is within his jurisdiction. S 4 merely provides a preliminary procedure. Under it an arrest may be effected before the receipt of the requisition mentioned in s. 3, otherwise the criminal might escape. The two sections do not overlap. Under s. 3, sub-s. (1) of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903, the only Government competent to issue the order for enquiry is the Government to whom the foreign state has made a requisition. This function must be performed strictly, and cannot be delegated. Where the provisions of the Statute have not been followed, the report of the Magistrate cannot afford a foundation for the order of the Government of India under s. 3 of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903. In the matter of RUDOLF STALLMANN (1911) . . . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 164
15 C. W. N. 1053

———— Extradition Act (XV of 1903), ss. 3, 3 (1), 3 (4), 3 (8), 3 (10), 4 (1), 4 (2)—Jurisdiction of High Court—Transfer—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 526—Habeas Corpus—Bail. Although the warrant of arrest under which the accused was arrested in extradition proceedings referred to the offence of "escaping from lawful custody," inasmuch warr . . . theft, whic . . . iat the extr . . . ject of an . . . stances of tl... . . . ustody for a period exceeding two months had not been committed to prison under s. 3 (4) of the Extradition Act, and consequently s. 3 (10) was inappli-

EXTRADITION—contd.

cable to entitle him to be discharged by the High Court. Apart from considerations as to the jurisdiction of the High Court, the application for transfer, for a writ of Habeas Corpus and for bail, refused on the merits. Rudolf Stallmann v. Emperor, I. L. R. 38 Calc. 547, referred to. Per WOODROFFE, J. Semble: that inasmuch as it has been held that the High Court has no general superintendence over such extradition proceedings, it would have no jurisdiction to grant bail. A. C. TOPS v. EMPEROR (1918)

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 31

———— Effect of illegal arrest on trial of accused—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 188. Where a man is in the country and is charged before a Magistrate with an offence under the Penal Code, it will not avail him to say that he was brought there illegally from a foreign country. The principle upon which English cases to this effect are based underlies also s. 188 of the Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898). EMPEROR v. VINAYAK DAMODAR SAVARKAR (1910)

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 225

———— Jurisdiction of High Court to revise proceedings of Magistrates under the Extradition Act.—High Courts Act, 1861 (24 and 25 Vict., c. 104), s. 15—Extradition Act (XV of 1903), ss. 3 and 4. The High Court has no jurisdiction under s. 15 of the Charter Act, to revise the proceedings of a Magistrate acting under ss. 3 and 4 of the Extradition Act. In re Mohunt Deva Dass, I. L. R. 38 Calc. 550 (note), referred to. STALLMANN, RUDOLF v. EMPEROR (1911) . . . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 547

15 C. W. N. 736

———— Proceedings before the Magistrate without jurisdiction—Power of High Court to interfere with order directing delivery of fugitive offender—Extradition Act (XV of 1903), ss. 10, 15, S. 15 of the Extradition Act ousts the jurisdiction of the High Court to inquire into the propriety of a warrant issued under Chap. III. Where, however, the order of the Magistrate is sought to be justified under an authority supposed to be derived from the law, but is in fact without jurisdiction, such order is revisable by the Court at the instance of the party whose liberty is affected by it. Emperor v. Huseinally Niazally, 7 Bom. L. R. 463, In the matter of Ahadyer, Punj. Rec. 45, followed. Attorney-General for Hong-Kong v. Kwok-a-Sing, L. R. 5, P. C. 179, referred to. The High Court set aside the order of the Magistrate directing the delivery of a fugitive offender to the Nepal authorities where he had issued the warrant, at least in the case of one accused, on mere information, without any evidence, where he had failed to report the issue of the warrants to the Political Agent in Nepal, had made an inquiry into the case without a warrant issued by the Political Agent, and had ordered the surrender on a procedure not known to the Extradition Act. GULLI SAHU v. EMPEROR (1913) . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 400

———— Requisition by Administrator of French Chandernagore for surrender of a British Indian subject for theft committed there—"Foreign State," meaning of—French Chandernagore not a "Foreign State"—Extradition Treaty with France of 14th August 1876, Art. 16—Extradition Treaty with same of 7th March 1815, Art. 9—Procedure on requisition for surrender—Extradition Act (XV of 1903), s. 2 (c), Chapter II, ss. 7, 8, 8A, 9 and 18. By Art. 16 of the Extradition Treaty with France of 1876 the East Indian Possessions of the two countries are excluded therefrom, and are not a "Foreign State" within s. 2 (c) and Chap. II of the Indian Extradition Act (XV of 1903) and the provision of the chapter are not, therefore, applicable to such Possessions. Ss. 7, 8 and 8A of the Act do not apply to the French Possessions in India. Art. 9 of the Extradition Treaty with France, of 7th March 1815, contemplates the summary surrender of a fugitive criminal, and, read with s. 18 of the Act, excludes the operation of s. 9 of the latter. A British Indian subject may, on requisition by the Administrator of French Chandnagore, be surrendered for theft committed therein without any preliminary enquiry, under s. 9 of the Act, by a Magistrate in British India. The subject has no right at Common Law to have such preliminary enquiry made before his surrender when there is a treaty excluding such enquiry and is followed by a statute recognising the treaty. RAHAMAT ALI v. EMPEROR (1919)

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 37

———— "Foreign State"—Chandernagore—Treaties between Great Britain and France, 7th March 1815, Art. IX, and 14th August 1876, Art. XVI—Orders in Council, 16th May 1878, and 7th March 1904—Extradition Act, 1870 (33 and 34 Vic. c. 52), ss. 2, 18, 25—Indian Extradition Act (XV of 1903), s. 2 (c), Chap. II, and s. 18. Chandernagore is a "Foreign State" as defined by s. 2 (c) of the Indian Extradition Act, and the provisions of Chapter II thereof must be followed before a fugitive offender can be surrendered to the French authorities. The concluding portion of Art. XVI of the Extradition Treaty with France of 1876 does not exclude its East Indian Possessions, but is a saving clause intended to preserve intact the special arrangement established by Art. IX of the Treaty of 1815. The Order in Council of 16th May 1878 applied the English Extradition Acts, 1870, 1873 to the case of France and, therefore, by reason of s. 25 of the Extradition Act, 1870, to the East Indian Possessions of France as part thereof. The words "shall be delivered" in Art IX, aforesaid, do not provide for any procedure within the meaning of s. 18 of the Indian Extradition Act. Rahamat Ali v. Emperor, I. L. R. 47 Calc. 37, not followed. A Judge exercising the Original (Criminal) Jurisdiction of the Court in one matter is not bound by a decision of an Appellate Bench in another matter. Abhai Charan Ghose v. Dasmani Dasi, 6 B. L. R. 623, followed. CELESTE CULLINGTON, In re, (1920)

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 328

EXTRADITION ACT (XV OF 1903).

See EXTRADITION.

See HABEAS CORPUS.

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 52

———— s. 2—

See EXTRADITION.

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 146, 547
I. L. R. 47 Calc. 37

———— s. 2(c) Chap. II, and s. 18—

See EXTRADITION.

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 328

EXTRADITION ACT (XV OF 1903)—contd.

———— ss. 3, 4—

See EXTRADITION

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 547
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 164
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 31

See HABEAS CORPUS

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 164
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 52

———— ss. 7, 15—

See EXTRADITION WARRANT.

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 793

———— ss. 7 10, 15—

See EXTRADITION

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 400

———— ss. 7, 8 and 8A—Extradition Treaty with the Hyderabad State—" Cheating " not mentioned in the treaty though mentioned in the Act—Extradition for cheating by British Government—Warrant from the Political Agent—Bail not allowed in the warrant—British Magistrate has no power to grant bail—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 496. The offence of cheating is an extradition offence, so far as British India is concerned, under the Indian Extradition Act (XV of 1903), notwithstanding its omission from Art. 4 of the Extradition Treaty between the British Indian Government and the Hyderabad State. The Magistrate in British India to whom a warrant has been addressed under s. 7 of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903, has no power to admit an arrested person to bail apart from the provisions of s. 8 and 8A of the Act. MURLIDHAR BHAGWANDAS, In re (1918) . . I. L. R. 43 Bom. 310

———— ss. 7, 8, 9 and 18—

See EXTRADITION.

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 13

———— ss. 7 and 15—

See REVISION.

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 793

EXTRADITION ACT (XXI OF 1879).

———— s. 14—Extradition Act (XXI of 1879), s. 14, enquiry under—High Court's power to transfer enquiry to another Magistrate or to control the procedure therein. The High Court had no power to order the transfer of an enquiry under s. 14 of the Extradition Act, XXI of 1879, from the Court of ment to appoint another Magistrate to enable it to transfer the enquiry to that Magistrate if appointed. The High Court refused to direct by what procedure the Magistrate should be guided in the further conduct of the enquiry, as it did not possess any power to control or interfere in the conduct of an enquiry held under s. 14 of the Act. MOHUNT DEVA DASS, In re (1898) . . . . . 15 C. W. N. 736

EXTRADITION ACT (33 AND 34 VICT. C. 52)

———— how far applicable to India—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, 1898, s. 491 . . 15 C. W. N. 1053

EXTRADITION TREATY.

———— with the Hyderabad State—

See EXTRADITION ACT (XV OF 1903), ss. 7, 8 AND 8A.

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 310

EXTRADITION WARRANT.

———— by Resident in Nepal—

See REVISION I. L. R. 42 Calc. 793

EXTRAORDINARY ORIGINAL CIVIL JURISDICTION.

See PRACTICE I. L. R. 37 Calc. 853

EXTRINSIC EVIDENCE.

———— admissibility of—

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION.

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1105

EX-TRUSTEE.

———— suit by an, for reimbursement—

See LIMITATION ACT (XV OF 1877), SCH. II, ART. 120 . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 260

EYE-WITNESSES.

See PUBLIC PROSECUTOR.

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 423.

F

FABRICATING FALSE DOCUMENT.

———— Kabala containing a false recital of marriage—Intent to use same in a judicial proceedings—Fraudulently executing a document—" Fraudulently," meaning of—Deprivation of property—Deception and injury to different persons—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), ss. 193 and 423. When an accused person had unsuccessfully sought to obtain a woman in marriage and thereafter made and registered a kobala in her favour falsely reciting that he had married her, . plot of land in o acted in fur- r person; that, as this could under the circumstances be done only by judicial proceedings, his intention was to use the document with its false statements in a judicial proceeding, and thereby to mislead the Court, and that he was therefore, guilty of an offence under s. 193 of the Penal Code. Held, also, that he had a further intention to cause injury to her and her husband, and to support his own false claim to that status, and that he was guilty also under s. 423 of the same Code. The word "fraudulently" in s. 423 does not connote deprivation of property. It is not essential under the section that the person deceived or to be deceived should be the same as the person injured or intended to be injured. LEGAL REMEMBRANCER v. AHI LAL MANDAL (1921) . . I. L. R. 48 Calc. 911

———— Kabuliat containing false recitals and purporting to be accepted by the landlords—Admissibility in evidence of kabuliat—Kabuliat, whether a document purporting to transfer or subject to any charge property or interest therein —Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), ss. 192, 193, 423—Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 13. Although a kabuliat, when accepted, operates as a lease for some purposes, it is not a document which purports to transfer or subject to any charge any property or any interest therein within the meaning of s. 423 of the Penal Code. Raimani Dassi v. Mathura Mohan Dey, I. L. R. 39 Calc. 1016, referred to. Quære: Whether ss. 192, 193 of the Code apply only where the fabricated evidence is legally admissible in the proceedings mentioned therein. Empress v. Gauri Shankar, I. L. R. 6 All. 42, Emperor v. Chandra Kumar Missir, 2 C. L. J. 46, and Barada Kanta Sarkar v Emperor, 16 Cr. L. J. 620, referred to. Where kabuliat, containing false recitals as to the true co-owners of certain disputed land and as to the possession of the executants, purported to have been accepted by all the alleged owners including the complainant and his brothers:—Held, that the statements in the document would be admissible in evidence against the latter, and that the kabuliat might also be admissible under s. 13 of the Evidence Act. As the questions of law arising in the case were not free from doubt, it was not one in which the Court would interfere with an order of acquittal on revision. MAHAMMAD KAZEM ALI v. JORADDI NASKAR (1919)

FABRICATING FALSE DOCUMENT—contd.

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 986

FACT.

——— findings of—

See SECOND APPEAL. I. L. R. 38 Calc. 278

See SPECIAL APPEAL. I. L. R. 46 Calc. 189

——— question of—

See WILL . . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 355

See APPEAL . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 833

——— Fact, determination of question of—Creditability of witnesses—Trial Judge, opinion of, value of—Strong case established by plaintiff's evidence—Necessity of rebuttal by personal testimony of defendants—Failure of defendants to depose—Material witness not cited by plaintiff, because witness expected to be summoned by defendants—Costs—Successful appellant ordered to pay costs of unsuccessful—Set off against costs decreed. The appellant sued to recover jewellery of the value of Rs. 20,000 which she alleged she had deposited with the respondents who were husband and wife for safe custody and produced receipts, purporting to be signed on their behalf by their son, which the respondents alleged were forgeries. The respondents denied the deposit and alleged that the only jewels they had received from the appellant had been deposited with them by way of security for two loans for Rs. 2,500 and Rs. 1,000 and they produced promissory notes for the amounts, purporting to be signed by the appellant which the appellant alleged were forgeries. The story told by the appellant was corroborated by witnesses of whose respectability and credit the Trial Judge had exceptional advantages of forming an opinion, and he held that the evidence established the appellant's case. Held, by the Judicial Committee, differing from the High Court, that the evidence adduced by the appellant if believed established a strong case which it was incumbent on the respondents to meet by personal denials. All they did however was to put against it the denial of the signature to the receipts by their son and evidence, not very satisfactory, on a collateral matter, viz., the execution of the promissory notes by the appellant. The judgment of the High Court was reversed and that of the Trial Judge restored. A material witness by whose hands, the appellant alleged, the jewellery had been sent to the respondents for deposit, and who was a relative of the respondents and had been a servant of the appellant but had previously to the suit left her service, was summoned by the respondents whose conduct showed that they were going to make her their witness. Held, that it was not unnatural that the appellant should, as she did, leave it to the respondents to call her. DURGA KUNWAR v. MATHURA KUNWAR (1911) . 15 C. W. N. 717

FACT—contd.

FACTORY.

See BOMBAY CITY MUNICIPAL ACT, s. 390. I. L. R. 34 Bom. 344

FACTORIES ACT (XII OF 1911).

——— Whether Magistrate can try a case when he has ordered enquiry—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 536. I. L. R. 1 Lah. 35

——— ss. 29 (1) and 41 (a)—Manager of a textile factory—Employment of labour after prohibited hours—Liability of the manager to be punished separately for each workman so employed. The accused, who was the manager of a textile mill, employed 18 workmen to work at his mill after 7 P.M. in violation of the provisions of s. 29 (1) of the Indian Factories Act, 1911. Eighteen prosecutions were started against the accused; and the accused was convicted and sentenced separately in each case. On appeal the Sessions Judge was of opinion that the employment of labour was a single offence under s. 41 (a) read with s. 29 (1) of the Indian Factories Act, 1911; he, therefore, confirmed the conviction and sentence passed on the accused only in one case and acquitted him in the remaining cases. The Government of Bombay having appealed against the orders of acquittal: Held, setting aside the orders of acquittal, that the accused was liable to be convicted and sentenced separately in each of the eighteen cases, for, s. 41 (a) of the Indian Factories Act, 1911, indicated that what was prohibited was the employment of any person or allowing any person to work contrary to the provisions of the Act. EMPEROR v. JOHNSON (1914) . . . . I. L. R 44 Bom. 88

——— The liability of the manager and owner is joint and several. EMPEROR v. VRIJVAL LABHADAS ILKINSONDAS I. L. R. 45 Bom. 220

FACTUM VALET.

See ADOPTION . 15 C. W. N. 524

See HINDU LAW—MARRIAGE. I. L. R. 35 All. 265

——— failure of justice—

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION. I. L. R. 48 Calc. 867

FAIR COMMENT.

See CONTEMPT OF COURT. I. L. R. 45 Calc. 169

See LIBEL . . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 760
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 304

FAIR TRIAL.

See SECURITY FOR GOOD BEHAVIOUR.
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 806

FALLOW LANDS.

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT, 1908, ss. 4, 27, 73, 143.
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 640

FALSE CHARGES AND COMPLAINTS.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), s. 195.
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1044
s. 250 . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 376
ss. 250 AND 423 I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1091

See JURISDICTION OF CRIMINAL COURT.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 360

See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860), s. 211 . . I. L. R. 39 All. 715

FALSE DEFENCE.

——— in suit against vakil—

See PROFESSIONAL MISCONDUCT.
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 69

FALSE DOCUMENT.

See FABRICATING FALSE DOCUMENT.

See FORGERY . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 75
14 C. W. N. 1076

FALSE EVIDENCE.

See FALSE STATEMENT.
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 368

See "JUDICIAL PROCEEDING."
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 52

See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860), s. 192 . . I. L. R. 40 All. 36

See THUMB-IMPRESSION.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 348

... missibility of the statements on subsequent trial for giving false evidence—"Compelled to answer"—Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 132, proviso. An incriminating statement in a deposition made by a party to the ... to questions ... and objected ... by his pleader, is not admissible against him on his subsequent trial for giving false evidence, he being in fact "compelled to answer" within the meaning of s. 132 of the Evidence Act. Such objection may be taken by counsel or pleader representing the party. Thomas v. Newton, 1 Moo. and M. 48n, and Rex v. Adey, 1 Moo. and Rob. 91, distinguished. Queen v. Gopal Dass, I. L. R. 3 Mad. 271, explained and distinguished. Per TEUNON, J. When such an objection has been taken and overruled, if any objection or privilege personal to the witness remains, it is still open to him to assert that objection or claim that privilege. EMPEROR v. PRAMATHA NATH BOSE (1910) . . . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 878

FALSE IMPRISONMENT.

——— Preventing intending passenger of ferry boat to return from wharf through turnstile without payment—Reasonable condition. The plaintiff with a view to take the defendant Company's ferry boat paid the usual charge of a penny on entering the defendant Company's wharf, then changed his mind and wanted to return through a turnstile provided by the Company for exit, but having refused to pay the penny which he was asked to do to be allowed to go through the turnstile, was by force prevented from going through it. There being no complaint of any excessive violence having been used: Held, that there was no false imprisonment, as the defendant Company was entitled to ... exit. The payment of one penny was a quite fair condition, and if the plaintiff did not choose to comply with it, the defendant was not bound to let him through. Held, further, that the question whether the attention of the plaintiff had been sufficiently drawn to the Company's notices saying that the fare must be paid was immaterial for the decision of the case. ARCHIBALD NUGENT ROBERTSON v. THE BALMAIN NEW FERRY COMPANY, LIMITED (1909) . 14 C. W. N. 410

FALSE INFORMATION—

See PENAL CODE, 1860, s. 182 . . I. L. R. 1 Lah. 410

See JURISDICTION OF CRIMINAL COURT.
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 250

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION.
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1152
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 650

——— Criminal Procedure Code, s. ... tion for— ... case. A ... is entitled to have his case judicially determined before he is called upon to answer the charge of giving false information under s. 182 of the Indian Penal Code. ISSER v. KING-EMPEROR (1910)
14 C. W. N. 765

——— Information to the police reported false—Subsequent petition to the Magistrate impugning the report and praying for trial—Complaint—Proper procedure—Reference of complaint to another Magistrate for inquiry and report, legality of—Power of latter to hold inquiry and direct prosecution of informant for offences under ss. 182 and 211 of the Penal Code —Jurisdiction of referring Magistrate to try such charges on the police report without previous disposal of the complaint—Discretion—Prejudice—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), ss. 192, 200 to 203, 476, 537. A petition impugning the police report, and praying that the accused be placed on trial is a "complaint" under the Criminal Procedure Code. ... or he should make it over to another Magistrate for disposal. The latter may then, after inquiry, make a proper order dismissing the complaint and pass an order under s. 476 of the Code. The

৭৫০

FALSE INFORMATION—contd.

Code does not permit a Magistrate to refer a complaint to another Magistrate for inquiry and report, and the latter has no jurisdiction in such a case to pass an order under s. 476. Where in such a case the police have reported the information as false, and have asked for a prosecution, the Magistrate has jurisdiction to try the charge on the police report. Queen-Empress v. Sham Lall, I. L. R. 14 Calc. 707, referred to. There is no statutory provision requiring such petition to be finally disposed of as a complaint before a prosecution under s. 211 of the Penal Code commences. It is a matter of discretion, and the High Court will not, having regard to s. 537 of the Code, interfere with a conviction if the accused has not been prejudiced. GANGADHAR PRADHAN v. EMPEROR (1915)

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 173

———————— Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), ss. 201, 203—Circumstances of grave suspicion against the informer of having committed the crime—Insufficient evidence—Legality of conviction under ss. 201, 203 of the Penal Code. Where notwithstanding circumstances of grave suspicion, it is impossible on the record, as it stands, to hold that a person is the murderer or one of the murderers, his conviction under ss. 201 and 203 of the Indian Penal Code is not vitiated by the existence of such circumstances. In the matter of Behala Bibi, I. L. R. 6 Calc. 789, and Torap Ali v. Queen-Empress, I. L. R. 22 Calc. 638, distinguished. Sumanta Dhupi v. King-Emperor, 20 C. W. N. 166, referred to. TETRINESSA v. EMPEROR (1918)

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 427

———————— Police report in non-cognizable case, whether a complaint—Non-examination of complainant an irregularity not affecting jurisdiction—Informant called upon to show cause—Proceeding on showing cause—Inquiry not ultra vires—Reference of proceeding to subordinate Magistrate for disposal—Power to issue process thereafter without withdrawing the case—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), ss. 4 (1) (h), 190 (1) (a), 200, 202 and 528. A police report in a non-cognizable case is either a "complaint" under s. 4 (h) or a "police report" within s. 190 (1) (b) of the Criminal Procedure Code, and the Magistrate has jurisdiction to take cognizance of an offence under s. 211 of the Penal Code disclosed therein. Harihar Roy v. Emperor, I. L. R. 46 Calc. 810 footnote, followed. Dilan Singh v. Emperor, I. L. R. 40 Calc. 360, and Gangadhar Pradhan v. Emperor I. L. R. 43 Calc. 173, referred to. King-Emperor v. Sada, I. L. R. 26 Bom. 150, and Chidambaram Pillai v. Emperor, I. L. R. 32 Mad. 3, not followed. It is a complaint, the omission of the Magistrate to examine the police officer under s. 200 of the Code is a mere irregularity not going to the root of his jurisdiction. When an information to the police has been reported false, and the Magistrate receiving the report, orders the informant to show cause against his prosecution under s. 211 of the Penal Code, and makes over the proceeding on showing cause to a Subordinate Magistrate for hearing, and the informant produces witnesses, in support of the original charge, before the latter who examines him and reports the result of the enquiry :—Held, that the enquiry by which opportunity is given to substantiate the original charge is not one within the scope of s. 202 nor expressly sanctioned by the Code, but s warranted by the Full Bench ruling in Queen-Empress v. Sham Lall, I. L. R. 14 Calc. 707, and the Magistrate holding such enquiry does not act without jurisdiction. Sarba Mahton v. Emperor, 17 C. W. N. 824, and Tayeb-ullah v. Emperor, I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1152, referred to. Semble: That if the enquiry is ultra vires, the result is that it is null and void, but the Magistrate's jurisdiction to issue process on taking cognizance is not thereby affected. The order making over the proceeding, on cause shown, for disposal to another Magistrate, was not in form or effect under s. 202 of the Code, and the Magistrate who took cognizance had, therefore, jurisdiction to issue process, without a further order under s. 528, though such latter order might have been necessary if the proceeding made over had been one under s. 202. Hari Charan Gorait v. Girish Chandra Sadhukhan, I. L. R. 38 Calc. 68, referred to. BHAIRAB CHANDRA BARUA v. EMPEROR (1919)

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 807

FALSE MEASURE.

See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860), s. 266 . . I. L. R. 40 All. 84

———————— False returns—

See SALE . I. L. R. 48 Calc. 119

FALSE STATEMENT.

———————— before Committing Magistrate.

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION.

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 618

———————— in an application for mutation proceedings—Obligation to make a true declaration therein—Verification of application—Validity of Rules of the Board of Revenue, Chap. V, Rule (5)—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), ss. 191, 193—Land Registration Act (Beng. Act VII of 1876), ss. 42, 53, 88. An applicant for mutation of names under s. 42 of the Bengal Land Registration Act is bound by Rule 5, Chapter V, of the Rules of the Board of Revenue, framed under s. 88 of the Act, to make a true declaration on the subject of his application, and is punishable under ss. 191 and 193 of the Penal Code for making false statements therein. Debi Saran Misser v. Emperor, 11 C. W. N. 470, referred to. Queen-Empress v. Appayya, I. L. R. 14 Mad. 484, Durga Das Rukhit v. Queen-Empress, I. L. R. 27 Calc. 820, Ezra v. Secretary of State, I. L. R. 30 Calc. 36, and British India Steam Navigation Co. v. Secretary of State for India, I. L. R. 38 Calc. 230, distinguished. Rules passed by the Board of Revenue under s. 88 of the Act, provided they refer to the procedure as to presentation, admission and verification of an application for registration under Part IV of the Act, and as to inquiries under s. 52 thereof, have the force of law. NALOO PATRA v. EMPEROR (1910) . . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 368

FALSE SUIT.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 537

I. L. R. 42 All. 12

FALSIFICATION OF ACCOUNTS.

See CHARGE . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 318

FAMILY ARRANGEMENTS AND SETTLEMENTS.

See CONTRACT . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 788

See EVIDENCE . I. L. R. 35 All. 502

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION.
I. L. R. 40 Bom. 668
24 C. W. N 274

See REGISTRATION ACT (XVI OF 1908), ss. 17, 49. . I. L. R. 38 All. 366
I. L. R. 43 All. 1

——— Will creating a division—When a document styled a Will effects to divide family property in presenti among the sons who acted upon it, it is an effective family arrangement even though one of the parties gets a bigger share than the other. BRIJRAJ SINGH v. SHEODAN SINGH . . . I. L. R. 35 All. 337 istence of a for effecting it later turns

ade. C. HARTI
v. PARMAL . . . I. L. R. 41 All. 611

——— Limited owner—As the creation of the ijara and darijara by a Hindu widow in respect of her husband's estate is part of a general family arrangement for the benefit of the estate and injured no one and as the conduct of the reversioners raised a presumption that they believed the arrangement to have been made in good faith and necessity according to Hindu law, they could not question it. BIJOY GOPAL MUKERJEE v. GIRINDRA NATH MUKERJEE. I. L. R. 41 Calc. 793 ——— Not Binding—Claim to property to which the claimant must have known he had no title—Relinquishment to save litigation—Such relinquishment not binding on reversioners. One D. R. upon the death of his wife, laid claim to certain property which had been the property of the wife's father and had been given to the wife by her mother. The mother and the surviving sister of the wife, in order to avoid litigation, relinquished a substantial portion of the property to D. R. Held, on a suit by the reversioners entitled to succeed to the property upon the death of the survivor of the two ladies, that the relinquishment made by them could not properly be called a family settlement and was not valid as against the reversioners who were minors at the time when the so-called family settlement was made. Bihari Lal v. Daud Husain, I. L. R. 35 All. 240, and Hiran Bibi v. Sohan Bibi, 18 C.W. N. 929, referred to. HIMMAT BAHADUR v. DHANPAT RAI (1916) . . . . I. L. R. 38 All. 335

—In the absence of proof of mistake, inequality of position, undue influence, coercion, fraud or any similar ground, a partition of family arrangement made in settlement of a disputed or doubtful claim is a valid and binding arrangement which the parties thereto cannot deny, ignore or resile from. If the parties have settled a dispute, such settlement will not be set aside on the ground that it gave to one of them more than what he ought possibly to have recovered if he had taken the judgment of the Court upon the matters in difference between them. The Courts will not be disposed to scan with much nicety the quantum of consideration. *There is nothing in this doc*trine of family arrangements opposed to the general principle that when it is sought to bind a minor by an agreement entered into on his behalf, it must be shown that the agreement was for the benefit of the minor. If improper advantage has been taken of the minor's position, a family arrangement can be set aside on the ground of undue influence or inequality of position or one of the other grounds which would vitiate such an arrangement in the case of adults. But when there is no defect of this nature, the settlement of a doubtful claim is of as much advantage to a minor as to an adult, and where a genuine dispute has been fairly settled, the dispute cannot be re-opened solely on the ground that one of the parties to the family arrangement was a minor. KERAMAT-ULLAH MEA v. KERAMATULLAH MEAH (1918) . . . . 23 C. W. N. 118

——— Estoppel—A Hindu died in 1856 leaving a widow and 3 daughters. Under an arrangement in 1875 the widow divided the whole of the property between her 3 daughters and a grandson who took possession and there was mutation of names and subsequently the daughters dealt with their allotted parts as their own property. In 1884 one of the daughters sold a portion of her share to the defendant. She died in 1912 and in 1913 her surviving sister brought a suit for recovery of possession thereof claiming that in consequence of the death of her mother and sisters she had become sole heir of her father. Held, that Plaintiff was bound by her own agreement and in view of the long period that had elapsed she could not be allowed to repudiate it. MUSSAMMAT HARDEE v. BAGWAN SINGH (1920)
24 C. W. N. 105

FAMILY CUSTOM.

See CUSTOM. I. L. R. 45 Calc. 450 & 835

FAMILY FIRM.

——— Mortgage by manager—Suit upon the mortgage—Dismissal of the suit on the ground that the estate was not legally represented by the mortgagor on the date of mortgage—Reversal of the decree—Claim based upon a mortgage purporting to bind the partners in the firm and the mortgaged property. One Kavasji Mancherji had three sons, Ardeshir, Phirojsha and Eruchsha. They constituted a family firm known as Kavasji Mancherji and Sons. After the death of Kavasji Ardeshir, in his capacity as the manager of the said firn the 17th attested nesses.
purpose of paying off a judgment-creditor who had attached one of the family properties. The plaintiff having brought a suit for the recovery of the mortgage-debt, the first Court dismissed the suit on the ground that the estate of Kavasji was not legally represented by Ardeshir at the time of the mortgage. On appeal by the plaintiff: Held, reversing the decree, that the mortgage debt could not be a debt of Kavasji because it was incurred after his death, therefore, it would not give rise to any claim against the estate of Kavasji. The claim was based upon a mortgage which purported to bind the partners in the firm of Kavasji Mancherji and Sons and a certain property which was specified in the mortgage. The interest which was intended to be conveyed in the mortgaged property was the interest of Ardeshir, Phirojsha and Eruchsha. AHMEDABAD UNITED PRINTING AND GENERAL AGENCY COMPANY, LD. v. ARDESHIR KAVASJI (1912)

FAMILY FIRM—contd.

I. L. R. 36 Bom. 515

FAMILY NECESSITY.

See HINDU LAW.

FAMILY PROPERTY.

See HINDU LAW.

———— Sale of—

See HINDU LAW—DEBT.
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 341

———— Division of family property under an award—House of residence—Prohibition of sale by a co-sharer of his portion to an outsider—Pre-emption—Construction—Court sale—Prohibition not effective. An award under which family property was divided among co-sharers provided that in case of a sale by any of the co-sharers of his portion of the house of residence he should sell it to his co-sharer for a certain sum and that he should not sell it to an outsider until the expiration of two months from the date of a notice in writing saying that they (co-sharers) were not willing to buy it. Subsequently a portion of the house belonging to one co-sharer having been sold in execution of a decree against him, it was purchased by an outsider. The sons of one of the other co-sharers, thereupon ,having brought a suit for a declaration that the Court-sale was not binding upon them: Held, that the term of pre-emption in the award was contemplated to attach to sales made privately and willingly and not to attachment and sales in invitum the judgment-debtor. VITHAL NARAYAN v. MARUTI NARAYAN (1910) . . . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 567

FAMILY PURPOSE.

See MORTGAGE . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 342

FAMILY SETTLEMENT.

See EJECTMENT. . 6 Pat. L. J. 604

See REGISTRATION ACT 1908, ss. 17 AND 49 . . I. L. R. 38 All. 366

See HINDU LAW, FAMILY SETTLEMENT.

———— One D. R. on the death of his wife laid claim to certain property which had belonged to the wife's father and given to the wife by her mother. The mother and surviving sister of the wife to avoid litigation relinquished a substantial portion of the property to D. R. Held, on a suit by the Reversioners on the death of the two ladies that the relinquishment could not be called a Family Settlement and was not valid against the Reversioners who were minors. HIMMAT BAHADUR v. DHANPAT RAI . . I. L. R. 38 All. 335

FAMILY RECORD.

See EVIDENCE . L. R. 43 I. A. 256

FARD REWAJ BHAOLI.

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT, 1885, s. 103B . 2 Pat. L. J. 187

FARIAHS.

See JUTE . . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 98

FATAL ACCIDENTS ACT (XIII OF 1855).

See RAILWAY COMPANY.
I. L. R. 41 All. 488

FATHER.

See HINDU LAW—MORTGAGE.
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 1068

———— contract to sell by—

See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION.
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1187

FATHER'S BROTHER'S SON.

See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 319

FATHER'S DEBTS.

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY.

FATHER'S ESTATE.

———— possession of, daughter's suit for—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT X OF 1908), s. 2, CL. (11), O. XXII, R. 1.
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 382

FATHER'S HEIRS.

———— right of, to continue suit—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE (ACT V OF 1908), s. 2, CL. (11), O. XXII, R. 1.
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 38

FATHER'S LIABILITY.

See HINDU LAW—SURETY.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 843

FATHER'S SISTER'S SON.

See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION.
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 214

FAZENDARI TENURE.

———— Sub-lease by a Fazendar. The plaintiff, claiming under the original Fazendar, sublet certain land to the defendant's predecessor. The agreement, after reciting (inter alia) that the sub-tenant took the land on Fazendari tenure, continued:—"I shall live there till the Wadi remains in your possession. If the Wadi ceases to be in your possession, and if the land be required, you are to pay me the valuation of the said house whatever the same may come to:" Held, on the facts, that, on the true construction of the lease, the plaintiff was not entitled to eject the defendants. The meaning of the word 'Fazendari' when it occurs in a written document embodying the contract between the parties, considered, and the remarks of Farran J., in Parmanadas Jivandas v. Ardeshir Framji, I. L. R. 39 Bom. 320 note, approved. YESHWANT VISHNU v. KESHAVRAO BHAIJI (1914)
I. L. R. 39 Bom. 316

FEE CERTIFICATE.

———— General Rules (Civil) of the High Court, 1911, Chapter XXI, r. 1—Date for filing certificate—Civil Procedure Code (1908), O. XVIII, r. 2. Held on a construction of Chap. XXI, r. 1, cl. (1), of the general rules (Civil) of the High Court, 1911, that a fee certificate which is not filed on or before the day fixed for the hearing of the suit referred to in Order XVIII, r. 2 (1), of the Code of Civil Procedure is not within time and cannot be taken into consideration in assessing the costs of the suit. RAM NATH v. HUB NATH . . . I. L. R. 42 All. 542

FEEDING THE ESTOPPEL.

———— doctrine of—

See BENAMI TRANSACTION.
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 566

FEES.

———— return of—

See BARRISTER . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 741

FEMALES.

———— exclusion of—

See DARBHANGA RAJ.
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 582

———— right of, to inherit religious office—

See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION.
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 105

———— right of, to representation—

See CUSTOM (SUCCESSION).
I. L. R. 2 Lah. 383

FEMALE HEIRS.

See HINDU LAW—STRIDHAN.
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 64

———— exclusion of—

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE.
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 603

FEMALE MEMBERS.

See MORTGAGE . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 378

FERRIES ACT.

———— IV of 1878—s 522—Collection of excessive tolls. A servant of the Lessee of a Ferry who makes unauthorised tolls is liable but not the lessee if he took no part in it. EMPEROR v. BEHARI LAL . . . I. L. R. 34 All. 146 to ask the Court to restrain any unauthorised intrusion of his property committed even by Government. There is a clear distinction between a public ferry under s. 6 and a subsidiary ferry under s. 11. The latter is a private ferry establishable by the District Magistrate but his powers are limited and he cannot create one beyond 2 miles of the Ghât of a public ferry. PARDIP SINGH v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA . . . . . 5 Pat. L. J. 500

FERRY.

See GENERAL CLAUSES ACT (X OF 1897), s. 3 (25) . I. L. R. 35 All. 156

See NORTHERN INDIA FERRIES ACT (XVII OF 1878), s. 22.
I. L. R. 34 All. 146

See RENT . . 14 C. W. N. 994

See SPECIAL CONSTABLES.
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 277

———— Private and public ferries—Maintaining a private ferry within two miles from the limits of a public ferry—Limits

by the Local Government under s. 6 of the Bengal Ferries Act, 1885, a conviction under ss. 16 and FERRY—contd.

28 thereof for maintaining a private ferry, without sanction, to or from any point within two miles of the public ferry, is bad. MAHARAJ MANDAL v. POKAR SINGH (1910)
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 543

FESTIVAL.

———— right to perform, in a Temple—

See HINDU LAW—CUSTOM
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 1108

FICTITIOUS ENTRY.

See REGISTRATION
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 972

FICTITIOUS INCLUSION OF PROPERTY.

See MORTGAGE I. L. R. 48 Calc. 509

FICTITIOUS TITLE.

See EX-PARTE DECREE.
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 920

FIDUCIARY RELATIONSHIP.

See BANKER AND CUSTOMER.
I. L. R. 34 Mad. 128

See GIFT . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 933

See SHEBAIT . . 26 C. W. N. 133

———— Debtor and creditor—Direction by creditor to debtor—How far such direction can create fiduciary relationship between creditor and debtor. A customer who had certain amount standing to his credit in a Bank, gave directions to the Bank to utilise the money for a certain purpose and the officers of the Bank, when the customer called at the Bank, informed him that his instructions would be carried out in due course. The Bank became insolvent before the directions were so carried out. On a motion by the creditor to have his amount paid in full: Held, per MUNRO, J., that, by virtue of the direction by the customer, the Bank held the money for a specific purpose and that a fiduciary relationship was established between the customer and the Bank. The customer was therefore entitled to be paid his money in full. Per ABDUR RAHIM, J.—The direction by the customer did not alter the relation of creditor and debtor between the customer and the Bank into a fiduciary relationship. Such relationship could not be created unless the debtor by some unequivocal act, shows that he had changed his position into that of a bailee. The mere promise to carry out the customer's directions, without doing anything to appropriate the money, is not sufficient. The customer was only entitled to prove for his debt. OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE OF MADRAS v. LUTTRIAN (1919) . . . I. L. R. 33 Mad. 145

———— When banker holds money as agent—Banker holding money as agent not a debtor. O, who owed certain money to M.C. sent a cheque to Bank A for the amount asking A to place the amount to the credit of M.C., who at the time had no account with A. M.C. was informed by A that the amount was placed to her credit. M.C., on the 5th October, asked A to send her the amount and A sent M.C. a form of receipt to be signed by her. M.C. signed the receipt and sent it to A, who received it before the 20th when A suspended payment. A applied to the Court for the relief of insolvent debtors and the estate of A was vested in the

FIDUCIARY RELATIONSHIP—contd.

Official Assignee. On a motion by M.C. claiming payment :—Held, that the relationship of debtor and creditor did not exist between A and M.C. and that the former held the money as agent of the latter when payment was suspended. Per MUNRO, J.—As the receipt and demand for payment reached A before payment was suspended, the result was the same as if M.C. attended in person and demanded payment. On A's failure to remit the money, which it was A's duty to do, A held the money in a fiduciary capacity. Per ABDUR RAHIM, J.—As A received the money for a particular purpose and, as there was no account between A and M.C., A had no right to appropriate the money and did not purport to do so. Even supposing the case were otherwise, the subsequent communication by A to M.C. that he held the money for M.C. in accordance with the instructions received was an act of appropriation, sufficient to show A's consent to hold the money in a fiduciary capacity. In re Hallett's Estate, L. R. 13 Ch. D. 696, referred to. OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE OF MADRAS v. THE ORIENTAL GOVERNMENT SECURITY LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY (1909) . I. L. R. 33 Mad. 150

———— Person in representative capacity, not strictly a trustee, if may delegate his authority. "Fiduciary duties cannot be made the subject of delegation," so that where property was in the hands of one P., charged with expenses necessary for certain religious and charitable purposes, and P.'s son purporting to act as P's attorney executed a mourasi mokurari pattah: it was held to be ultra vires, as even if P was not a trustee his position was a representative one. BONNERJI v. SITANATH DAS

26 C. W. N. 236

FINAL DECREE.

See APPEAL . I. L. R. 48 Calc. 1036

See KUMAUN RULES, 1894, No. 17.
I. L. R. 42 All. 642

———— expenses incurred in the—

See TRUSTEES OF A TEMPLE.
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 456

FINAL DISCHARGE.

See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907), ss. 4, 5, 6, ETC.
I. L. R. 36 Mad. 402

FINAL ORDER.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 145.
25 C. W. N. 1007

See "COURT," MEANING OF.
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 642

FINDING OF FACT.

See APPELLATE COURT.
I. L. R. 39 Bom. 386

See DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE.
25 C. W. N. 881

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), s. 32 (5)
I. L. R. 39 All. 426

See PRE-EMPTION. I. L. R. 37 All. 524

See REGISTRATION ACT, 1908, s. 32.
25 C. W. N. 73

See REMAND . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 888

See SECOND APPEAL.
I. L. R. 38 All. 122

FINDING OF FACT—contd.

See SPECIAL APPEAL.
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 189

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877), s. 39 . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 149

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 41 . I. L. R. 36 All. 308

———— Finding, whether of fact or law, difficulty in determining—Exclusion of joint family, finding as to, if may be finding of law. It is not always an easy matter to separate a finding of fact from a question of law. It may often be open to argument that the materials which have been accepted by one Court as establishing a certain conclusion were not in themselves sufficient for its support, if their legal weight had been properly measured and ascertained. A question of what constitutes exclusion from a joint estate may well, in many cases, be a question of law: Held, however, in this case, that the concurrent findings of the lower Courts were findings of fact and there were no reasons for reversing their findings. SHYAMANANDA DAS PAHARAJ v. RAM KANTA DAS (1917) . . 21 C. W. N. 1142

FINDINGS.

———— repugnancy in—

See DACOITY . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 350

FINE.

See CALCUTTA MUNICIPAL ACT, ss. 374, 376 . . . 15 C. W. N. 906

See UNITED PROVINCES MUNICIPALITIES ACT (II OF 1916), s. 307.
I. L. R. 40 All. 569

———— daily fine—

See ENCROACHMENT.
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 671

FINE ARTS COPY RIGHT ACT OF 1862 (25 & 26 VICT., C. 68).

———— Extension of the Act to British Dominions—

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872), s. 23.
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 720

FINGER IMPRESSION.

See JURY, TRIAL BY.
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 635

FIRE-ARMS.

———— parts of—

See MISJOINDER OF CHARGES.
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 1153

FIRE INSURANCE.

See INSURANCE.
I. L. R. 34 Bom. 1
I. L. R. 37 Bom. 183
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 581

FIRM.

See FOREIGN JUDGMENT.
I. L. R. 36 Mad. 414

FIRST CHARGE.

See PUTNI TENURE.
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 747

See RATES AND TAXES.
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 625

FIRST-CLASS MAGISTRATE.

See PERJURY . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 542

FIRST INFORMATION.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 154. 15 C. W. N. 198

See CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS. I. L. R. 37 Calc. 49

See EVIDENCE ACT 1872, s. 27. 25 C. W. N. 788

FIRST MORTGAGE.

See MORTGAGE . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 907

FISH.

——— capture of, in irrigation tank—

See THEFT . . I. L. R. 36 Mad. 472

——— Sale of—

See NUISANCE . I. L. R. 48 Calc. 1012

FISHERY.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 146. 15 C. W. N. 163

See JALKAR.

See PRIVATE FISHING ACT

——— presumption from—

See NAVIGABLE RIVER. I. L. R. 46 Calc. 390

——— Right to fishery in tidal and navigable river, how acquired—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), s. 26. To establish an exclusive right of fishery in a tidal and navigable river, it is necessary to prove that the plaintiff's user was in assertion of a right other and higher than the general right of the public to fish. Baban Mayacha v. Nagu Shravucha, I. L. R. 2 Bom. 19, and Narayya v. Sami, I. L. R. 12 Mad. 43, relied on. Quære: Whether exclusive right of fishery in such a river can be acquired by proof of mere enjoyment in the manner provided in s. 26 of the Limitation Act of 1877, without a grant from the Crown. Arzan v. Rakhal Chunder Roy Chowdhry, I. L. R. 10 Calc. 214, referred to. Veresa v. Tatayya, I. L. R. 8 Mad. 467, not followed. Secretary of State for India v. Mathurabhai, I. L. R 14 Bom. 213, and Nityahari Roy v. Dunne, I. L. R. 18 Calc. 652, approved. ABHOY CHARAN JALIA v. DWARKA NATH MAHTO (1911) I. L. R. 39 Calc. 53 15 C. W. N. 972

——— Small rivers, tidal but not navigable, right of fishery in. In Bengal the rights of fishery in small rivers which are tidal but not navigable, belong to the proprietors through whose estates they run. Navigability does not necessarily follow tidality, and the two terms cannot be regarded as equivalent. SRIMANTU BAGDI v. BHAGWAN JALIA (1913) 17 C. W. N. 1108

——— Right of jalkar or fishery in tidal navigable river in Bengal—River forming new channel not gradually but suddenly —Right of grantee of jalkar to follow the river where the subjacent soil does not belong to his grantor, the Crown, but to a riparian proprietor—Grant of rights by the Crown—Proof of title when no actual grant is in existence—Jalkar in existence from before the Permanent Settlement—English law of

FISHERY—contd.

waters—Alluvion—Regulation XI of 1825. The appellants claimed as proprietors of a several jalkar or fishery in certain tidal navigable waters in Eastern Bengal a decree for possession of an exclusive fishery in a portion of a suddenly and newly formed river channel as falling within the upstream and downstream limits of their several fishery, and alleged that the respondents were trespassers when they fished in it. The respondents pleaded their right to fish in a portion of the channel, of which they owned both the bed and the banks, as owners of the subjacent soil. There was no actual grant proved but the appellants produced documentary evidence which showed the existence of the jalkar as appertaining to their zamindari from before the Permanent Settlement: Held, that original grants of jalkar prior to the Permanent Settlement are but rarely forthcoming, and resort must be had to secondary evidence of them, or to the inference of a legal origin to be drawn from long user. Horidas Mal v. Mahomed Jaki, I. L. R. 11 Calc. 434, per GARTH, C. J.; and the rule in Fitzwalter's Case, 3 Keble 242, that the evidence of a Government grant of an exclusive fishery in navigable waters ought to be conclusive and clear, followed. Held, in the present case, so far as such evidence can now be expected to be forthcoming as to particular grants more than a century old, that the evidence was sufficient to show that the competent authority—the Government of India in right of the Crown—did actually grant to the appellants' predecessors in title, or settle with them so as in effect to grant a jalkar right of several fishery in certain of the waters of the Ganges system in this suit: Held, also, (following a numerous body of decisions in the Indian Courts) that it must now be taken as decided in Bengal that the Government grantee of a jalkar right can follow the shifting river for the enjoyment of his exclusive fishery so long as the waters form part of the river system within the upstream and downstream limits of his grant, whether the Government owns the soil subjacent to such waters as being the long-established bed, or whether the soil is still in a riparian proprietor as being the site of the river's recent encroachment. The whole series of decisions in Bengal on the subject from 1807 to 1905 reviewed and discussed. The English common law admittedly does not apply to the mofussil of India, yet the Indian Courts have in many respects followed the English law of waters: and their Lordships have given careful consideration to the arguments that principles established under and for English conditions afford a sound guide to the rules which should be enforced in India; though they would in any case be slow to disturb decisions by which rules have been established for Bengal governing exclusive and important rights such as rights of jalkar, and unless they could be shown to be manifestly unjust or flagrantly inexpedient, their Lordships would not supersede them. The analogous rule in the United Kingdom connecting the subject's right to an exclusive fishery in tidal navigable waters with the limits of the Crown's ownership of the subjacent soil, is the result of conditions partly historical and partly geographical which have no counterpart in Lower Bengal, where above all the difference, indeed the contrast, of physical conditions is capital. By no analogy can rules applicable to the small, slow-running and comparatively unchanging rivers of England be profitably applied to such differing conditions. In the case of alluvion as applied to rights of jalkar, and the argument that the right to follow the river ought to be limited to cases where the river encroachments were gradual, and should not be extended to an irruption as sudden and rapid as was the formation of the new channel in the respondents' lands, the Indian law, doubtless guided by local physical conditions has adopted in Regulation XI of 1825, ss. 1 and 4, a rule varying somewhat from the rule established in England, and the analogy of the English law can hardly be called in aid when Indian legislation has thus an established and different rule on the same subject. As to the Indian rule working injustice in that a landowner not only loses the use of his land when the river overflows it, but also the right to fish over his own acres in order that another may unmeritoriously fish in his place, which cannot occur under the English rule, there is no such proof that one rule is better than the other as would even approach the conclusion that the rule established in India should be set aside. SRINATH ROY v. DINABANDHU SEN (1914)

FISHERY—concld.

L. R. 41 I. A. 221
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 489

——— Right of owner of fishery in river to follow it when it changes its course. The solution of the question whether the owner of a fishery in a river is entitled to follow it when it changes its course depends mainly on whether or not the invading river has lost its identity. It is impossible to prescribe any hard and fast rule for the purpose of ascertaining the conditions in which the river may be said to have lost its identity. The decision of the Privy Council in Srinath Roy v. Dinabandhu Sen, I. L. R. 42 Calc. 489 : s.c. 18 C. W. N. 1217, is confined to cases where the river made for itself a new channel where none existed. SARADA PRASAD RAY CHAUDHURY v. MUHAMAD YUSUF (1916)

21 C. W. N. 1007

FISHING LEASE.

——— for 9 years void for want of registration—Removal of fish under authority of lease, if wrongful—License—Co-sharer —Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 107. Where in a suit by one co-owner against another for damages for wrongful removal of fish from a tank, the defendant's plea was that he had been put in possession of the tank with the right of fishery therein for a period of nine years under an arrangement with his co-sharers and he proved that he had removed the fish under such authorisation: Held, that the arrangement proved was a sufficient answer to the suit, irrespective of any rights the defendant might have as a co-sharer, even if as a lease it was void under the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act. BEHARY LAL NANDY v. KEDAR NATH NEBU (1915) . . . 19 C. W. N. 872

FITNESS OF SURETY.

See SURETY . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 764
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 706
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1024
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 737

FIXED DEPOSIT.

See CHARGE . I. L. R. 36 All. 507

FIXED-RATE HOLDING.

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901), s. 79 . . I. L. R. 39 All. 455

See ESTOPPEL . I. L. R. 34 All. 538

See MORTGAGE . I. L. R. 39 All. 539

FIXED-RATE TENANCY.

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901), s. 9 . . I. L. R. 34 All. 285

See LANDLORD AND TENANT. I. L. R. 34 All. 604

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 91 . I. L. R. 33 All. 111

FIXED RENT.

See KABULIAT, CONSTRUCTION OF. I. L. R. 37 Calc. 626

FIXTURE.

See ADMINISTRATION. I. L. R. 45 Calc. 653

See CALCUTTA MUNICIPAL ACT, s. 341. 15 C. W. N. 730

——— doctrine of—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT. I. L. R. 37 Calc. 815

——— English Law of—

See LAND REVENUE CODE (BOM. ACT V OF 1879), s. 83. I. L. R. 38 Bom. 716

——— notice to remove—

See CALCUTTA MUNICIPAL ACT (BENGAL III OF 1899), ss. 341 (1), etc. I. L. R. 37 Calc. 384

——— removal of—

See COMPENSATION. I. L. R. 44 Calc. 87

——— Crop grown on another person's land, title if in owner of land—Suit by owner to recover value of crop cut and taken away —Fixtures, English law of if applies in this country. When after purchasing a holding at an execution sale and taking delivery of possession thereof through Court, the plaintiff suffered the tenant to grow crop on the land: Held, that the plaintiff could not sue for recovery of the value of the crop cut and taken by another. The crop did not become the plaintiff's as soon as it was grown merely because the plaintiff had acquired ownership of the land. Mofiz Sheikh v. Rasik Lal, I. L. R. 37 Calc. 815, distinguished. Lep Singh v. Nimar Khasia, I. L. R. 21 Calc. 244, referred to. PRIYA NATH PAL v. KAMINI DASI (1912)

16 C. W. N. 1101

——— Projections—Tin sheets attached to a shop by hinges and supported on movable props—Necessity of notice of removal—Limitation of period of prosecution in cases of obstructions to, or projections over, a public street—Calcutta Municipal Act (Beng. III of 1899), ss. 341 and 631, Bye-law (2), paragraph 3, made under s. 559 (18). Sheets of tin attached to a shop by hinges and supported by movable props, so as to form a verandah over the street, and which hang vertically when the props are taken away, are not so attached as to become a part of the shop, and are not, therefore, fixtures within s. 341 of the Calcutta Municipal Act (Beng. III of 1899), requiring notice of removal

FIXTURE—contd.

thereunder. The period of limitation, under s. 631 of the Act, in the case of unauthorized obstructions to, or projections over, the public street, run from the date when they are first made, and not from the last date on which they were in existence. Where certain tin sheets, alleged to amount to such obstruction or projection, were put up more than three months before the filing of the complaint, the prosecution was held to have become barred. NARAYAN KISSEN SEN v. CORPORATION OF CALCUTTA (1920) . I. L. R. 48 Calc. 602

FOOTINGS.

———————— Trespass—Survey Map, evidentiary value of—Mandatory Injunction—Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), Chap. X—Presumption. The existence of footings to a wall, in the circumstances of the case, raised the presumption that the land covering such footings belonged to the owner of the wall, to which they appertained. Where a wall was constructed by the defendant on the land covering plaintiff's footings, and after its completion, a suit was brought by the plaintiff for trespass, the plaintiff not having been guilty of delay or acquiescence: Held, that the proper remedy was by way of mandatory injunction ordering the demolition of the defendant's wall. ABDUL HOSSAIN v. RAM CHARAN LAW (1911)
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 687

FORCE.

———— use of—

See BAILIFF . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 313

FORCIBLE EJECTMENT.

See RAILWAY PASSENGER.
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 279

FORCE MAJEURE.

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872), s. 56.
I. L. R. 40 Bom. 301

FORECLOSURE.

See APPEAL . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 418

See MORTGAGE . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 796
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 828

See MORTGAGE BY CONDITIONAL SALE.
I. L. R. 36 All. 327

See MORTGAGE—FORECLOSURE.

See REGULATION No. XVII OF 1806, s. 8 . . I. L. R. 40 All. 387

———— right to decree for—

See TITLE . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 239

———— suit for—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, s. 11.
I. L. R. 36 Bom. 548

See COURT FEES ACT (VII OF 1870), s. 7 (ix), SCH. I, ART. (1).
I. L. R. 36 All. 40

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), s. 20.
I. L. R. 35 All. 378

See MORTGAGE.
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 22

FOREIGN BILLS.

See BILLS OF EXCHANGE.
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 584

FOREIGN COURT.

See FOREIGN DECREE.

See FOREIGN—JUDGMENT.

See MEMONS . I. L. R. 43 Bom. 647

———— jurisdiction of—

See FOREIGN JUDGMENT.
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 163

———— Injunction on ground of suit pending in—

See INJUNCTION. 24 C. W. N. 735

1. ———————— Appearance by the defendant—Protest against jurisdiction—Defence on the merits—To get refund from the creditor's son to whom the suit debt was repaid and to avoid arrest—Voluntary submission to jurisdiction. The defendant who was sued in a foreign Court, viz., a Court in the Cochin State, appeared and defended the suit against him on the merits but protested against the jurisdiction of the Court. His reasons for appearing and defending the suit were: (i) that the creditor's son to whom he had repaid the suit debt refused to refund the money unless he defended the suit brought by the father and (ii) that if a decree were passed against him, he might be arrested when he went to Cochin on business or to see his relations. Held, that the defendant must be deemed to have submitted to the jurisdiction of the foreign Court voluntarily notwithstanding his protest against its jurisdiction. Parry & Co. v. Appasami Pillai, I. L. R. 2 Mad. 407, overruled. RAMA v. KRISHNA (1915)
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 733

2. ———————— Suit in, on cause of action tried and determined between the parties in a British Indian Court—Latter Court, if may issue perpetual injunction to restrain proceeding in Foreign Court—Res judicata—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), ss. 11, 13.—Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), s. 56 (B). A A, a Mahomedan, died leaving estates situate partly within British India and partly within the ceded district of the Feudatory State of Rampur, and leaving him survivin[illegible] lren. The dau[illegible] A A was a S[illegible] ex- cluded t[illegible] nsti- tuted a [illegible] dian Court (viz., the Court of the Subordinate Judge at Bareilly), where their claim was opposed by the residuaries, and finally obtained an ex parte decree upholding their claim, the defendants having failed to obtain an adjournment which they said was necessary to enable them to call witnesses. This decree was affirmed by the High Court at Allahabad. Meanwhile the residuaries instituted against the daughter and her children a suit in a Court of the Rampur State for possession of a moiety of the estate of A A situate in the ceded district of Rampur State claiming, as they had done in their defence in the other suit, that A A was a Sunni. The daughter and her children thereupon instituted another suit in the Court of the Subordinate Judge at Bareilly praying for a declaration that the previous decree of the Court was binding between the parties and operated as res judicata and that the defendants (the residuaries) be restrained by a perpetual

FOREIGN COURT—contd.

the injunction and dismissed the suit, the Privy Council on the appeal of the plaintiff's affirmed that decision and dismissed their appeal. Maqbul Fatima v. Amir Hasan Khan, I. L. R. 37 All. 1, affirmed. MAQBUL FATIMA v. AMIR HASAN KHAN (1916) . . . . 20 C. W. N. 1213

FOREIGN CURRENCY.

———————— Damages—Rate of exchange—Date of conversion. In a suit for damages caused to the plaintiff by reason of negligence on the part of the second defendant as a common carrier, it was contended on behalf of the second defendant that the loss caused to the plaintiff being in the first instance measurable in sterling, judgment must be based upon the rate of exchange prevailing on the date of judgment. Held, that this contention must be overruled Di Fernando v. Simon Smits & Co., Ld., [1920] 2 K. B. 704, [1920] 3 K. B. 409, Barry and Others v. Van Den Hurk, [1920] 2 K. B. 709, and Lebeaupin v. Crispin [1920] 2 K. B. 714, followed. DEKHARI TEA CO., LTD., v. ASSAM-BENGAL RAILWAY CO., LTD., (1921) . . . I. L. R. 48 Calc. 886

FOREIGN DECREE.

See DECREE . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 34
I. L. R. 40 Bom. 504

See FOREIGN COURT.

See FOREIGN JUDGMENT.
I. L. R. 36 Mad. 414

1. ———————— Execution by British Court—The British Court can inquire if the decree was passed with jurisdiction—Ex parte decree—Absent defendant not submitting to jurisdiction—Decree, a nullity—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), st. 44, Order XXI, rule 7—Act XIV of 1882, s. 229 B. It is open to a British Court executing a foreign decree to enquire whether the foreign Court had jurisdiction to pass the decree. A decree pronounced by a Court of a foreign state in a personal action in absentem, the absent party not having submitted himself to its authority, is a nullity. JIVAPPA TIMMAPPA v. JEERGI MURGEAPPA (1916)
I. L. R. 40 Bom. 551

2. ———————— Execution of foreign decree in British India—Competency of British Indian Courts to question the jurisdiction—Appearance to save property from seizure—Denial of jurisdiction and claim—Jurisdiction, submission to, whether voluntary. It is competent to the executing Court to refuse execution of a foreign decree sought to be executed in British India under s. 44 of the Code of Civil Procedure on the ground that such decree was passed without jurisdiction: Submission is not voluntary if the appearance is made only to save property which is in the hands of a foreign tribunal. Voinet v. Barrett, 55 L. J. (Q. B. D.) 39, Guiard v. De Clermont and Donner, 30 T. L. R. 511, and Boissiere & Co. v. Brockner & Co., 6 T. L. R. 85, followed. Parry & Co. v. Appasami Pillai, I. L. R. 2 Mad. 407, doubted. Per WALLIS, OFFG. C. J.—Whether submission was for the purpose of saving property or voluntary is a question of fact in each case. Per SESHAGIR AYYAR, J.—The change in the language between s. 225 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882) and O. XXI, r. 7, of the Code of 1908 does not warrant the conclusion that in regard to decrees obtained within British India the executing Court has no jurisdiction to question the jurisdiction of the Court which passed the decree. The words "As if they have been passed by the Courts in British India." relate only to the mode of execution and have not the effect of giving foreign judgments all the incidents of a judgment of a British Court. VEERARAGHAVA AYYAR v. MUGA SAIT (1914) . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 24

FOREIGN DECREE—contd.

FOREIGN DOMICILE.

See DIVORCE . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 215

FOREIGN JUDGMENT.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, s. 13
ss. 11, 13 . . I. L. R. 37 All. 1

See FOREIGN COURT.

———————— Defence struck out—No decision on the merits—No cause of action. Where in a suit in a foreign Court, defence was struck out and judgment entered for plaintiff: Held, that the judgment is not one decided on the merits and thus not being conclusive could not of itself constitute a cause of action to the suit. VISWANADHA REDDI v. KEYMER (1914)
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 95

———————— Foreign Judgment, suit on—Jurisdiction of Foreign Court—submission to by defendants, when defendant carrying on business in foreign territory through agent—No residence thereby—Service of notice of suit on agent insufficient as against principals outside jurisdiction—Service on principals out of jurisdiction. Submission to the jurisdiction of a foreign forum is largely a question of fact in each case or a mixed question of law and fact. Where defendants submitted to the jurisdiction of foreign Courts by giving a power of attorney as abovementioned to an agent and a decision is passed against them after service of summons of the suit on them while they were out of jurisdiction by order of Court, the defendants are primâ facie, bound by the judgment; and where no other defence is raised but that of non-submission and non-service of notice both of which were found against, a decree against the defendants in accordance with the foreign judgment must necessarily follow. Persons who carry on business in a foreign country through an agent submit to the jurisdiction of the Courts of that country by giving that agent a power-of-attorney containing very wide powers including right to institute or defend any suits that might be brought against them touching any matters connected with their business or otherwise. A power-of-attorney of this character which presumably is brought to the notice of persons dealing with the firm is evidence that the principals adopted the Court of the place wherein the business is carried on, as the forum before which their claims were to be brought. Bank of Australasia v. Harding, 19 L. J. C. P. 345, and Inre Hainault Forest Act, 9 C. B. Rep. 648 at p. 661 and Bank of Australasia v. Nias, 20 L. J. Q. B. 284, followed. Obiter: A decree obtained in a foreign country against a firm after serving the agent of the firm with notice of the suit while the principals of the firm who were defendants in the case, were out of its jurisdiction cannot be enforced as a personal decree against them in other Courts. Sahib Thambi v. Hamid, 22 Mad L. J. 109, followed. Service of suit on an agent of a partnership whose members reside out of jurisdiction, does not create jurisdiction on the ground of residence. Nalla Karuppa Settiar v. Mahomed Iburam Sahib, I. L. R. 20 Mad. 112, distinguished. Fazal Shau Khan v. Gafer Khan, I. L. R. 15 Mad. 82, Girdhar Damodhar v. Kassigar Hiragar, I. L. R. 17 Bom. 662, Annamalai Chetti v. Murugasa Chetti, I L. R. 26 Mad. 544, Copin v. Adamson, 9 Ex. 345, Russell v. Cambefort, 23 Q. B. D. 526, Rousillon v. Rousilon, 14 Ch. D. 351, Schibsly v. Westenholz, 6 Q. B. 155, and Emanuel v. Symon, (1908) 1 K. B. 302, referred to. RAMANATHAN CHETTIAR v. KALIMUTHU PILLAI (1914) I. L. R. 37 Mad. 163

FOREIGN JUDGMENT—contd.

——— Jurisdiction of Court over absent foreigner subject to the same sovereignty—Authority to bind absent foreigner must be conferred by their judgments bind absent foreigners who have not submitted to their jurisdiction is not restricted in its application to foreign Independent States only but is also applicable where the country in which the judgment was passed and that in which it is sought to be enforced have separate and distinct systems of administration and judicature, though owing allegiance to the same sovereign. A judgment of the Ceylon Court against a native of British India who was not at, the time of the action, resident in Ceylon and had not submitted to the jurisdiction of such Court, must be treated as a nullity when sued upon in Courts in British India. Gurdial Singh v. Raja of Faridkot [(1895) I. L. R., 22 Calc. 222], referred to Emanuel v. Symon [(1908) 1 K. B., 302], referred to. It may be competent to the common sovereign authority to confer jurisdiction on the Courts of one country over absent foreigners residing in the other but such jurisdiction must be conferred by clear and unambiguous words and cannot be inferred as a matter of implication. A decree based on a contract imposing personal obligation on an absent foreigner is not binding on him even when the contract is made in the territory of the forum which passed the decree. A person who appears in obedience to the process of the foreign Court and applies for leave to defend the action without objecting to the jurisdiction of the Court when he is not compellable by law to do either, must be held to have voluntarily submitted to the jurisdiction of such Court. Parry & Co. v. Appaswami Pillai, I. L. R., 22 Mad. 407, Siva Raman Chetty v. Iburam Sahib I. L. R., 18 Mad. 327. SHEIKH ATHEM SAHEB v. DAUD SAHIB . . I. L. R. 32 Mad. 469 ——— Suit on—Foreign Court decree—Decree for money against "firm"—Some partners not served in Foreign Court—No personal liability—Foreign decree enforceable only against partnership property of the partners. The general rule of law, undoubtedly is that in suits where one person is allowed to represent others as defendants in a representative capacity, any decree passed can bind those others only with respect of the property of those others which he can in law represent and no personal decree can be passed against them, although the parties on record eo nomine may be made personally liable. The extent of the rule applicable to a case of defendants sued as partners is laid down in O. XXI, r. 50, Civil Procedure Code. A firm was sued in Singapore in the firm's name but only one of the partners was served and a decree was sum.

a suit

ridual

partners of the firm and the representatives of a deceased partner. Held, that the partners who were not served in the Singapore suit were not for the decree of the Singapore Court. Per CURIAM: The same is the principle applied in suits against a Hindu family represented by its manager and in cases covered by O. I, r. 8, Civil Procedure Code, the result being that an injunction in a decree in the latter class of cases is not binding on those who are not actually parties to the record. Sadagopachari v. Krishnamachari, I. L. R. 12 Mad. 356, and Srinivasa Aiyangar v. Arayar Srinivasa Aiyangar, I. L. R. 33 Mad 483, referred to. SAHIB THAMBI v. HAMID (1913) . . . I. L. R. 36 Mad. 414

FOREIGN LAW.

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), ss. 38, 45 . I. L. R. 41 All. 248

FOREIGN RECORDS.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 491. 15 C. W. N. 1053

See HEBEAS CORPUS. I. L. R. 39 Calc. 164

FOREIGN SHIP.

——— offence committed in—

See HIGH SEAS . I. L. R. 42 Bom. 234

——— Foreign State—

See EXTRADITION. I. L. R. 48 Calc. 328

FOREIGN TERRITORY.

See PENAL CODE, ss. 34, 109, 467. I. L. R. 36 Bom. 524

FOREIGNER.

——— offence committed by—

See HIGH SEAS . I. L. R. 42 Bom. 234

FOREST.

See FOREST ACT (VII OF 878), s. 25 (i). L. R. 40 All. 38

FOREST ACT (VII OF 1878).

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872), s. 23. I. L. R. 40 Bom. 64

——— s. 25 (i)—Hunting without a permit in a reserved forest. Four persons made up a party and went, without having a permit, to shoot in a reserved forest. Two of the party shot deer; the two other shot nothing. Held, that the two members of the party who had not shot anything could properly be convicted of hunting in a reserved forest within the meaning of s. 25 (i) of the Indian Forest Act, 1878. EMPEROR v. BARKAT ALI (1917) . I. L. R. 40 All. 38

FOREST ACT (VII OF 1878)—contd.

———— s. 25, cl. (i), r. 3 (a)—Shooting in a reserved forest without license—Tracking and shooting a tiger to preserve one's property. The accused, finding that his cattle were killed by a tiger, tracked and shot the animal in a reserved forest without a license. Held, that the accused was guilty of a technical offence under r. 3 (a) framed under the provisions of s. 25, cl. (i) of the Indian Forest Act, 1878. EMPEROR v. AMIRSAHEB BALAMIYA (1918) . . I. L. R. 42 Bom. 406

———— s. 75—An occupier held entitled to cut certain sandalwood trees not proved to be in existance and reserved, at the time of settlement. EMPEROR v. YELLAPPA RAMANGOUDA I. L. R. 45 Bom. 110

FORFEITURE.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O. XXII, R. 10. I. L. R. 39 Bom. 568

See LANDLORD AND TENANT. I. L. R. 35 Bom. 239
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 903
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 870

See LEASE . I. L. R. 42 Bom. 734
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 300

See LESSOR AND LESSEE. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 445

See PARDON. I. L. R. 42 Calc. 756 & 856

See PARTITION . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 918

See PASTURE LANDS 14 C. W. N. 372

See PRINTING PRESS, FORFEITURE OF. I. L. R. 38 Calc. 202

See RIGHT OF SUIT. I. L. R. 40 Bom. 200

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT 1882 ss. 6 CL. (b), 109, 111, CL. (g). I. L. R. 43 Bom. 28
s. 111. I. L. R. 35 All. 145

———— of cash and ornaments found on the person of the gamblers—

See BOMBAY PREVENTION OF GAMBLING ACT (BOM. ACT IV OF 1887), s. 8. I. L. R. 47 Bom. 686

———— of adoption—

See BURMESE LAW. I. L. R. 45 Calc. 1

———— bond—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, S. 514. I. L. R. 2 Lah. 204

———— of deposit of earnest money—

See CONTRACT, BREACH OF. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 801

———— of land—

See LAND REVENUE CODE (BOM. ACT V OF 1879, AS AMENDED BY BOM. ACT VI OF 1901), s. 56. I. L. R. 37 Bom. 692

FORFEITURE—contd.

———— of lease—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT. I. L. R. 44 Mad. 629

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 111, CL. (g). I. L. R. 42 Bom. 195

———— of occupancy—

See LAND REVENUE CODE, BOMBAY, ss. 56, 214 . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 91

———— of pardon—

See PARDON . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 845

———— of property—

See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860), s. 62 . I. L. R. 36 All. 395

———— of servient estate—

See MADRAS IRRIGATION CESS. L. R. 46 I. A. 302

———— relief against—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT. I. L. R. 39 Mad. 834 & 1049

———— suit to set aside collector's order of Limitation—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), SCH. I, ART. 14 . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 451

1. ———— Forfeiture by Government of Deshgat Inam lands—Effect of forfeiture on prior mortgage—Payment of assessment to Government by mortgagee in possession—Suit to redeem by mortgagor—Mortgagee cannot deny mortgagor's title. The plaintiff's ancestors mortgaged their Deshgat Inam lands to the defendant's ancestor with possession in 1855. The lands were in 1856 forfeited by Government; but the mortgagee was continued in possession and paid assessment in respect of the lands to Government. In 1901, the plaintiff's sued to redeem the mortgage: The defendant contended that the order of forfeiture deprived the plaintiffs of all right to the lands and that the title thereafter became vested in the defendant: Held, that the order of forfeiture had merely the effect of converting the lands from a service tenure into lands liable to pay assessment to Government; and that it did not deprive the plaintiff of all right and title to the lands, and extinguished the relation of mortgagor and mortgagee which existed between the parties. Vishnoo Trimbuck v. Tatia, 1 Bom. H. C. R. 22 and Gangabai v. Kalapa Dari Mukrya (1885) 9 Bom. 419, followed. Held, also, that the defendant who came into possession of the lands as mortgagee of the plaintiffs could not turn round after the order of forfeiture and take the benefit of it and challenge the validity of the mortgage in virtue of which his title to the land as mortgagee had begun. GURBASAPPA v. RANGO VENKATESH (1912) . . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 539

2. ———— Insolvency—Security for production of insolvent-debtor—Failure of insolvency application—Forfeiture of security money —Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 145. The decree-holder is entitled to the money that has been deposited by the surety as security for the benefit of the decree-holder, whose rights were interfered with, to enable the judgment-debtor to make an application in insolvency with a view to his protection from arrest, on the money being forfeited by the Court for failure to produce the debtor when required. The Court has no power to declare a forfeiture in favour of the Government. BASANTI LAL v. CHHEDO SINGH (1912)

FORFEITURE—contd.

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 1048

3. ——— Under Press Act—Scope of s. 4—"Stating the grounds of its opinion"—Mandatory nature of direction in s. 12—Notification—Grounds—Onus of proof—Limited Jurisdiction of High Court—Executive and Judicial functions contrasted—Intention—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), s. 153A. On an application under the Indian Press Act, 1910, to set aside the order of forfeiture of a pamphlet made by the Local Government: Held, that the onus was cast on the petitioner to establish that it was impossible for the pamphlet to come within the terms of s. 4 of the Act and that the functions of the High Court were limited under ss. 17 and 19 to considering whether the petitioner had discharged that onus: the High Court had no jurisdiction to pronounce on the wisdom or unwisdom of the order of forfeiture. The direction in s. 12 of the Act (" stating the grounds of its opinion was mandatory, and it was not a compliance with the direction merely to cite the words of the section invoked without setting out facts on which the opinion was based, but the High Court was debarred by s. 22 from questioning the legality of the forfeiture on that ground. In an enquiry under this Act, the question of the intention of the writer or publisher is not directly material. Per STEPHEN, J.—The omission of the Local Government to comply with the mandatory direction contained in s. 12, did not oust the jurisdiction of the High Court to revise the order of forfeiture on its merits. In re Maho MAHOMED ALI (1913)

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 466

4. ——— Order made by Local Government of Delhi—Jurisdiction—Delhi Laws Act (XIII of 1912. Where an order was made under s. 4 (1) of the Indian Press Act, 1910, by the Local Government of Delhi, directing the forfeiture wherever found of all copies of a newspaper published on a certain date in Delhi, on an application to set aside the order made by a pers a part ad no re ABUL KALAM AZAD (1915)

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 730

5. ——— Security—Newspaper articles—Sedition and seditious libel—Competency of the High Court to set aside order of for- having a tendency to produce—Indian Press Act (I of 1910), ss. 4, 17, 19 to 22 The Press Act was framed to enable the Government and the Court with a view to prevent crime, that is, crime imperilling the existence of the State, the safety of its officers, public order and the like. An offence under this Act is not sedition as such, but the FORFEITURE—contd.

ure and self the t all re- ort into the Press Act the provisions of the law of sedition as enacted in the Indian Penal Code, or as administered in England. The power to declare the security forfeited, under the Press Act, can be can be questioned only by the method mentioned in s. 17 and to the extent provided thereby. Although the order may have been made by the Local Government on the ground that the words, signs or visible representations were of the nature described in one or other of the six clauses of s. 4 (1), the High Court, under s. 19 (i), is competent to set aside the order of forfeiture on one ground, and one ground alone, namely, that the words contained in the newspaper in respect of which the order in question was made were not of the nature described in any of the clauses of s. 4 (1). The Court does not approach the case with the presumption that the order is erroneous; the burden lie upon the petitioner to establish the validity of his contention. If he fails to satisfy the Court that the words, signs or visible representations are not of the nature described in s. 4 (1), the application to set aside the forfeiture must be dismissed Protab Chunder Mukerji v. Emperor, 11 C. L. R. 25, Rohimuddi v. The Queen-Empress, I. L. R. 20 Calc. 353, and Milan Khan v Sagai Bepari, I. L. R. 23 Calc. 347, referred to. In the absence of any words of direct exclusion of evidence, it is fair to assume that if an article is ambiguous or doubtful, and, therefore, the Crown requires to supplement it by evidence of other articles from the same newspaper, the person against whom the order of forfeiture is passed should have the right to give evidence in rebuttal. The object of s. 20 of the Press Act was to widen, for a specified purpose, the rule of evidence embodied in s 14 of the Evidence Act. S. 20 may be utilised by the person affected by the order of forfeiture precisely in the same way as by the Crown Amar Singh v. Emperor, 16 Cr. L. J. R. 555, and Ghulam Qadir Khan v. Emperor, 15 Cr. L. J. R. 493, referred to. S. 20 only applies where, if the article stood alone, there may be doubt or ambiguity as to the character, nature or tendency of the words used and not when the meaning of the article is apparent on its face. Annie Besant v. Emperor I. L. R. 39 Mad. 1085, and Annie Besant v. The Advocate-General, Madras, 23 C. W. N. 986 ; 35 T. L. R. 600 Question of Intention and Evidence discussed. In re AMRITA BAZAR PATRIKA PRESS, LIMITED (1919) . . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 190

FORGERY.

See CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS, STAY OF.
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 106

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 195
I. L. R. 34 All. 654
I. L. R. 42 All. 130

See EVIDENCE.
I. L. R. 36 Mad. 159

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), SCH. I, ARTS. 92, 93. I. L. R. 40 Bom. 22

FORGERY—contd.

See PENAL CODE, ss. 34, 109, 467.
I. L. R. 36 Bom. 524

ss. 463, 467. I. L. R. 37 Bom. 666

ss. 465, 471. . I. L. R. 43 All. 225

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION.
14 C. W. N. 479

See USING FORGED DOCUMENT.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 463

——— copy of—

See FORGERY. I. L. R. 43 Calc. 783

——— antecedent—

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION.
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 1002

——— False document, ingredients of—Material part of document, if altered—" Dishonestly and fraudulently." Where the accused, after the execution and registration of a document, which was not required by law to be attested, added his name to the document as an attesting witness: Held, per HARINGTON and MOOKERJEE, JJ. (TEUNON, J. dissenting), that the accused was not guilty of an offence under s. 471. That the accused by the insertion of his name as an attesting witness cannot be held to have done the act either "dishonestly or fraudulently" within the meaning of these words as defined in ss. 24 and 25 of the Indian Penal Code. The word "fraudulently" defined. The interpolation of the name of a person as an attesting witness to a document not required by law to be attested subsequent to its execution and registration, is not an alteration of the document in a material part. SURENDRA NATH GHOSE v. EMPEROR (1910)
14 C. W. N. 1076
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 75

——— Certified copy—filing of, whether user of forged document, if original be forged—Evidence of intention—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), ss. 466, 471. A series of similar transactions which are not the offence charged can only be used as evidence of the intention of the person who forged the document and not as evidence of forgery. It is extremely doubtful whether the mere filing of a copy is the user of a forged document. A certified copy thereof is certainly not a forged document. But it is otherwise where the offender used the copy knowing or having reason to believe that the entries in the original documents were forgeries and intending to use them for fraudulent purposes. Queen v. Nujum Ali, 6 W. R. Cr. 41, and Emperor v. Mulai Singh, I. L. R. 28 All. 402, distinguished. KRISHNA GOVINDA PAL v. EMPEROR (1915).
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 783

——— Signing certificate of purchase of arms and ammunitions in false name and giving wrong addresses.—Person legally entitled to possess the same—Act "fraudulent," if not "dishonest."—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), ss. 23, 24, 463 to 465. A person lawfully entitled to possess arms and ammunitions signing the prescribed certificate of purchase of the same in the name of another with an address not his own, and thereby deceiving the gunsmith and the Government and defeating the object of the certificate, commits forgery: his act having been done "fraudulently," if not "dishonestly." Reg. v. Toshack, 1 Den. C. C. R. 492, Empress v. Dhunum Kazee, I. L. R. 9 Calc. 53, and Queen-

FORGERY—contd.

——— antecedent—contd.

Empress v. Abbas Ali, I. L. R. 25 Calc. 512 followed. CAUSLEY v. EMPEROR (1915)
I. L. R. 43 Cacl. 421

——— Copy of forged document—whether constitutes a forgery—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), ss. 417, 420 and 511. The making of a copy of a forged document does not constitute forgery unless the maker of the copy was authorised to make it. Essan Chander Dutt v. Baboo Prannath Chaudhry, Marsh rep 270, distinguished. Emperor v. Ali Hussan, I. L. R. 28 All. 358, referred to. LACHMAN LAL v. THE KING-EMPEROR . . 4 Pat. L. J. 16

FORM OF DECREE.

See CHARITABLE TRUSTS.
I. L. R. 34 Mad. 406

FORM OF ORDER.

See DISSOLUTION. I. L. R. 47 Calc. 620

FORM OF WARRANT.

See SEARCH WARRANT.
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 905

FORMALITIES.

See DEPOSITION. I. L. R. 45 Calc. 825

FORMÂ PAUPERIS.

See PAUPER SUIT.

——— appeal in—

See LIMITATION ACT (XV OF 1877), ss. 5 AND 7 . . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 588

FORMER COURT.

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY (VALIDATING) ACT No. XXVI OF 1917, s. 3, PROVISO 3 . I. L. R. 42 All. 430

FORMER RECEIVER.

——— suit against—

See RECEIVER . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 92

FORUM.

See ADOPTION . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 860

FORWARD CONTRACT.

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872), s. 47.
I. L. R. 40 Bom. 517

FOUNDER.

——— descendant of—

See WAKF . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 467

——— intention of—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW ENDOWMENT.
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1085

FRAME OF SUIT.

See CHAWKIDARI CHAKRAN LANDS.
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 57

See MORTGAGE . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 342

FRAUD.

See Accounts . I. L. R. 42 All. 230

See Assignee. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 36

See Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 258 . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 575

See Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 47, O. XXI, r. 2. I. L. R. 43 Bom. 240

See Company . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 564

See Decree . . 4 Pat. L. J. 187

See Divorce. I. L. R. 48 Calc. 283

See Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 92, I. L. R. 35 Bom. 93
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 892

See Execution of Decree. I. L. R. 38 Calc. 622

See Forgery . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 421

See Hindu Law—Adoption. I. L. R. 39 Bom. 441

See Hindu Law—Widow. I. L. R. 41 Bom. 93

See Immoveable property. I. L. R. 34 Mad. 143

See Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Sch. I, Art. 95. I. L. R. 37 Bom. 158

See Minor . I. L. R. 37 Mad. 535

See Mortgage . I. L. R. 38 Bom. 10

See Mortgage by Minor. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1071

See Mistake . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 217

See Pleadings . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 856

See Possession by Fraud. I. L. R. 46 Calc. 331

See Presidency Small Cause Court. s. 94 . . 14 C. W. N. 695

See Railway Passenger. I. L. R. 44 Calc. 279

See Right of Suit. I. L. R. 37 Calc. 197

See Sale . I. L. R. 48 Calc. 119

See Specific Performance. I. L. R. 38 Calc. 805

See Suit to set aside decree. I. L. R. 32 All. 145
I. L. R. 38 All. 7

See United Provinces Land Revenue Act (III of 1901), s. 233 (k). I. L. R. 41 All. 182

———— by guardian—

See Minor . I. L. R. 38 All. 452

———— of creditors—

See Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), ss. 47 and 50. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1076

———— plea of—

See Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 92. I. L. R. 42 Bom. 512

FRAUD—contd.

———— suit to set aside decree on the ground of—

See Civil Procedure Code (1908), s. 20 (c) . . I. L. R. 36 All. 564

See Compromise decree. I. L. R. 1 Lah. 344

———— upon creditor—

See Mortgage . I. L. R. 38 Bom. 10

———— whether vitiates order of settlement Officer—

See Santal Parganas Settlement Regulation. . . 6 Pat. L. J. 373

———— Fraudulent decree—Presidency Small Cause Courts Act (XV of 1882), s. 94—Suit to set aside decree—Jurisdiction to set aside decree of Presidency Small Cause Court, how determined—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), if applies—Onus of proof. A suit lies in one Court to set aside a decree of another Court on the ground that the decree was obtained by fraud, as the fraud gives rise to a fresh cause of action. Abdul Huq Chowdhry v. Abdul Hafez (1910) 14 C. W. N. 695

———— Suit to set aside a decree on the ground of fraud—Personal service not effected—Conduct of plaintiff. The mere fact that the personal service of a summons has not been effected on a defendant will not render the proceedings against him absolutely abortive. But where the non-service is due to the fraudulent conduct of the plaintiff in the suit and others acting with him, and a decree is thereby obtained such decree may be set aside as fraudulent. Mahomed Gulab v. Mahomed Sulaiman, I. L. R. 21 Calc. 619, followed. Tika Ram v. Daulat Ram (1909). I. L. R. 32 All. 145

———— Fraud and collusion of predecessors in title—Parties by descent precluded from setting up fraud. The property in dispute belonged originally to Mahomedsahib, who in 1829 gave it to his wife Sabinibibi as dower. Sabinibibi sold it in 1863 to Sardarkhan, one of the two brothers of her daughter-in-law Fatmabibi. Sardarkhan died in 1873, and in 1875 his brother Mahomedkhan gave it in gift to Shabusaheb, one of the sons of Fatmabibi. Subsequently on Shabusaheb's death, his creditor sued his son and obtained a decree against him. In execution the property was sold and was purchased at auction by one Ramchandra who having transferred his right to the plaintiff, her agent brought the present suit against Shabusaheb's sister and his two brothers to recover possession. Held, that the plaintiff was entitled to succeed. If all the said transactions were genuine, legal and valid, the defendants had no case at all, and if they were, as alleged by the defendants, fraudulent and collusive, the defendants were precluded, as parties by descent to the alleged fraud, from setting up their own iniquity to avoid the legal consequences of those transactions. Doe, dem. Roberts v. Roberts, 2 B. & A. 367, followed. Sayad Nahannu v. Sabinbibi (1911) . . . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 217

———— Ex parte decree procured by fraud—Jurisdiction of another Court to set aside the ex parte decree—Investigation how far limited. The defendant obtained an ex parte decree at Akyab upon a promissory note against the plaintiff who subsequently applied under s. 108 of the Code of

FRAUD—contd.

Civil Procedure to set aside the said decree. The ex parte decree who set aside and the suit was revived, but at the hearing the plaintiff could not appear and an ex parte decree was again passed. The plaintiff then brought a suit in the Court to which the ex parte decree was transferred for execution, for a declaration that the said decree was not binding on him, it being based upon no cause of action and being fraudulent inasmuch as he did not execute any promissory note in favour of the defendant, or receive any money from him. On an objection by the defendant that the Court had no jurisdiction to enter into the merits of the suit in the Akyab Court, and in any case the only matter that could be investigated was whether the plaintiff had by the action of the defendant been prevented from placing his case properly before the said Court :—Held, that the jurisdiction of the Court in trying a suit of this kind was not limited to an investigation merely as to whether the plaintiff was prevented from placing his case properly at the prior trial by the fraud of the defendant. The Court could and must rip up the whole matter for determining whether there had been fraud in the procurement of the decree. LAKSHMI CHARAN SAHA v. NUR ALI (1911) .

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 936

———— Fraudulent transfer of possession—Reversioner getting into possession from an alienee of the widow—Mortgage by alienee—Suit for foreclosure—Reversioner setting up the plea that widow's alienation beyond her life-time was void—Estoppel between mortgagor and mortgagee—Estoppel binds reversioner—Practice. In 1878, G's widow, sold certain property, belonging to G, to G A, who mortgaged it to D in 1892. The widow died in 1897. After G A's death in 1901, H (defendant No. 3), who was a reversioner of G, slipped on it possession of the property by fraudulently inducing G A's sons (defendants Nos. 1 and 2) to favour his claim. In 1908, the plaintiff who claimed through D, sued to recover his money by sale of the mortgaged property. It was contended by H that it was not competent to G's widow to alienate the property beyond her life-time and that her alienation was not binding on him: Held, that H having obtained possession of the property by colluding with defendants Nos. 1 and 2, his fraud was sufficient in law to deprive him of the right to be heard in defence to the suit, that he was entitled to the property as reversionary heir of G. Held, further, that defendants Nos. 1 and 2 having been in possession of the property as mortgagors of the plaintiff were estopped from denying his right to foreclose the mortgage; and that that estoppel applied also to H who stepped into possession through a fraud common to H as well as defendants Nos. 1 and 2. The true owner of property is entitled to retain possession even though he has obtained it from a trespasser by force or other unlawful means. This principle applies only when the true owner gets into possession without bringing himself within the law of estoppel. As between a mortgagor and his mortgagee neither can deny the title of the other for the purposes of the mortgage. A mortgagor cannot derogate from his grant so as to defeat his mortgagor's title, nor can the mortgagee deny the title of his mortgagor to mortgage the property. HILLAYA SUBBAYA v. NARAYANAPPA TIMMAYA (1911) . . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 185

FRAUD—contd.

———— Decree—When can be set aside for fraud—Res judicata —Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 44. It is beyond question that the jurisdiction to impugn a previous decree for fraud exists. But it is a jurisdiction to be exercised with care and reserve, for it would be highly detrimental to encourage the idea in litigants that the final judgment in a suit is to be merely a prelude to further litigation. The fraud used in obtaining a decree being the principal point in issue, it is necessary to establish it by proof before the propriety of the prior decree can be investigated. One who seeks to impugn a decree passed after contest takes on himself a heavy burden, and it is not satisfied by merely inducing the Court to come to the conclusion that the appreciation of the evidence and the ultimate decision in the former suit was erroneous. Nor can a prior judgment be upset on a mere general allegation of fraud or collusion, it must be shown how, when, where and in what way the fraud was committed. The fraud must be actual, positive fraud,—a meditated and intentional contrivance to keep the parties and the Court in ignorance of the real facts of the case and obtaining that decree by that contrivance. Shedden v. Patrick et Al, 1 Macq. 535, Ochsenbein v. Papelier, L. R. 8 Ch. App. 695, and The Duchess of Kingston's Case, 2 Sm. L. C. 11th Ed. 731, followed. The character of fraud vitiating a decree would vary with the circumstances of each class of decree. NANDA KUMAR HOWLADAR v. RAM JIBAN HOWLADAR (1914)

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 990

———— Decree based on perjured evidence—Suit to set aside—Onus of proof —Res judicata. Held, that a suit to set aside a decree on the ground that the decree had been obtained by perjured and false evidence is not maintainable : Held, further, that where a decree was impeached on the ground of fraud, the fraud alleged must be actual positive fraud, a meditated and intentional contrivance to keep the parties and the Court in ignorance of the real facts of the case, and the obtaining of the decree by that contrivance. Nand Kumar Howladar v. Ram Jiban Howladar, I. L. R. 41 Calc. 990, Munshi Mosuful Huq v. Surendra Nath Ray, 16 C. W. N. 1002, followed. Chinnayya v. Ramanna, I. L. R. 38 Mad. 203, Baker v. Wadsworth, 67 L. J. Q. B. D. 301, Vadala v. Lawes, L. R. 25 Q. B. D. 310, Abouloff v. Openheimer & Co., L. R. 10 Q. B. D. 295, referred to. Venkatappa Naik v. Subba Naik, I. L. R. 29 Mad. 179, dissented from. JANKI KUAR v. LACHMI NARAIN (1915)

I. L. R. 37 All. 535

———— Fictitious rent-sale—Collusive sale arranged between putnidar and tenure-holder to get-rid-of under-tenure—Abuse of process—Duty of tenure-holder to protect under-tenure-holders from paramount claims—Transaction, a private sale. Where a tenure-holder having offered to sell his interest to the putnidar, the latter agreed to pay the price asked only if the tenure was rid of the interest of subordinate tenure-holders, and it was arranged that the tenure-holder would make default in paying rent, and that the putnidar would sue him for arrears of rent and put up the tenure for sale in execution of the decree and that a person who had no intention of buying the property would be made to bid up to a figure approaching the price settled, which thereupon would be offered by the putnidar ,and the sale was effected as arranged: Held, that the transaction should be viewed as a private sale which in fact it was, the form only of a Court sale having been gone through and abused with the object of defrauding the under-tenure holders. A suit by the purchaser putnidar to annul an under-tenure and to recover possession must therefore fail. UMA CHARAN MANDAL v. MIDNAPORE ZEMINDARY Co. (1914) . . . 19 C. W. N. 270

FRAUD—contd

———— Fraudulent agreement—Collusive decree obtained on such agreement.—Fraud unsuccessful—Suit impugning agreement and decree—Defendant prevented from defending suit on the plaintiff's assurance that decree will not be executed against him—Suit to declare decree incapable of execution if lies. The principle that a party to a fraudulent transaction is entitled to relief in a Court of Equity as against the fraudulent confederate so long as the fraud contemplated has not been carried into effect is not inapplicable merely because the party suffers a decree to be passed against him in a fictitious and collusive suit which is only a part of the fraudulent scheme Akhil Prodhan v. Manmotha Nath, 18 C. W. N. 1331: s. c. 18 C. L. J. 616, and Param Singh v. Lalji Mal, I. L. R. 1 All. 403, followed. Where one of two defendants was prevented from making a proper defence to the suit by the fraudulent assurance of the plaintiff that the decree obtained would not be executed against him: Held, that [illegible] by the decree [illegible] the decree was [illegible] ppa v. Puttappa, I. L. R. 11 Bom. 708, followed. RAJAB ALI CHOUDHURY v. HADAYET ALI CHOUDHURY (1915) 19 C. W. N. 1151

———— General allegations of fraud in pleading if should be noticed. Under the Contract Law of India, as well, as by ordinary principles, coercion, undue influence, fraud and misrepresentation (though they may overlap or may be combined) are all separate and separable categories in law. General allegations, however strong, are insufficient even to amount to an averment of fraud of which any Court ought to take notice. The law of India is in no way different from this, and the Judicial Committee regret that the rule is not more strictly observed. Gunga Narain Gupta v. Tiluckram Choudhury, L. R. 15 I. A. 119, referred to. BAL GANGADHAR TILAK v. SHRINIWAS PANDIT (1915) . 19 C. W. N. 729

———— Suite to set aside a judgment for fraud—Discretionary relief—What acts constitute fraud—Obtaining decree by deliberate perjury, whether liable to be set aside as fraudulent. A

[illegible]

vious suit. Suppression of material evidence is not fraud within the meaning of the rule enunciated in The Duchess of Kensington's Case, 2 Sm. L. C., 11th Edn., 731 at p. 738, which is to the following effect:—In order that fraud may be a ground for vacating a judgment, it must be a fraud that is extrinsic or collateral to everything that has been adjudicated upon but not one that has been or must be deemed to have been dealt with by the Court. The power of the Court to set aside a judgment on the ground of fraud is a discretionary one which will be exercised in favour of the petitioner only if he had been free from fraud or any turpitude, or laches, sloth or lack of diligence in protecting his own interests. Quære: Whether a judgment can be set aside for fraud on the ground that the successful party was guilty of deliberate prejury or suborning perjury English and Indian case law on the subject discussed. Examples of fraud which will vitiate a judgment, given. CHINNAYYA v. RAMANNA (1913) . . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 203

FRAUD—contd.

———— Different from that alleged in plaint, —If can be relied on—Duty of plaintiff to state facts constituting alleged fraud—Document bearing genuine signature—Burden on signatory to prove falsity of recitals. When a plaintiff impeaches a transaction on the ground of fraud the facts which constitute the alleged fraud must be distinctly, specifically and accurately stated. That a charge of fraud must be substantially proved or laid and when one kind of fraud is charged, another kind of fraud cannot, upon failure of proof, be substituted for it. That the rule that the Court will grant only such relief as the plaintiff is entitled to upon the case made by his pleadings is strictly enforced when the plaintiff relies on fraud That when a party seeks to avoid the Statute of Limitation on the ground of fraud the statement of claim should set forth specifically the particular acts which constitute the fraud as well as the time when not have been made before BANSIRAM v. PANCHAMI DASI (1914) . . 20 C. W. N. 638

[illegible]

———— Ex parte decree and sale thereunder—Suit to set aside decree and sale on the

[illegible]

to succeed. The mere circumstance that a defendant had failed to have an ex parte decree set aside under s. 108 C. P. C. (of 1882) or to have a sale set aside on the ground of material irregularity does not debar him from seeking relief in a suit properly framed for the purpose on the ground that the suit itself was a fraudulent suit and that the proceedings therein were vitiated by fraud. But to enable the plaintiff to succeed in a suit so framed, he must specifically allege the circumstances of fraud and he must prove the fraud as laid in the plaint. Fraud how to be pleaded and in what manner established discussed. NAGENDRA NATH BOSE v. PARBATI CHARAN (1914) . . 20 C. W. N. 819

———— Suit to set aside ex parte decree on ground of fraud if lies, when application to set aside refused. A suit by the defendant to set aside an ex parte decree as fraudulent does not lie after an infructuous application to set it aside under s. 108 of the Civil Procedure Code of 1882, if the fraud in respect of which the decree is sought to be set aside was properly in issue in the application under s. 108 and was determined upon such application. Radha Raman Saha v. Pran Nath Roy, I. L. R. 28 Calc. 475 : s. c. 5 C. W. N. 756, Khagendra Nath Mahata v. Pran Nath Roy, I. L. R. 29 Calc. 395 : s. c. 6 C. W. N. 473, Bal Kishan Lal v. Topeswar Singh, 15 C. L. J. 446, 448, Gulab Koer v. Badshah Bahadur, 10 C. L. J. 428, Puran Chand v. Sheodat Rai, I. L. R. 29 All. 212, and Naidar Mal v. Ranuak Husain, I. L. R. 29 All. 608, referred to. KHIRODE CHANDRA ROY v. SRIMATI ASHTULLABU (1916) . 20 C. W. N. 845 ——— Judgment obtained by perjured evidence—Suit to set aside, whether maintainable. A suit does not lie to set aside a judgment in a previous suit on the ground that it was obtained by perjured evidence. Venkatappa Naick v. Subba Naick, I. L. R. 29 Mad. 179, overruled. KADIRVELU NAINAR v. KUPPUSWAMI NAIKER (1918) . . . I. L. R. 41 Mad. 743

FRAUD—concld.

——— Small Cause Court decree—Allegation that case false and proved by perjured evidence. A Small Cause Court decree is not final on the sense that it may not be set aside on the ground of fraud by a separate suit. Where, as in the present case, it has been found not merely that the decree was obtained by perjured evidence but also that the suit or claim was a false suit or claim and the falsity of the claim was necessarily known to the party putting forward the claim: Held, that the decree in question had been properly set aside. Manindra Nath Mitra v. Hari Mondal 24 C. W. N. 133, referred to. RAJANI KANTA DASS v. PURNA CHANDRA KUNDU (1920) I. L. R. 48 Calc. 298

FRAUDULENT CONVEYANCE.

See FRAUDULENT TRANSFER.

——— Transfer of Property Act, s. 53—Conveyance void if intended to convert land into cash and place it beyond reach of creditors—Equity on setting aside transfer—Transferee entitled to a charge for amount spent in discharging valid prior mortgage. A transferee for value, who takes the transfer with the intention of helping the transfer or to convert his immoveable property into cash which can be easily concealed and thus to defeat or delay his creditors cannot be treated as a transferee in good faith within the meaning of s. 53 of the Transfer of Property Act. Ishan Chunder Das Sarkar v. Bishu Sirdar, I. L. R. 24 Calc. 825, followed. In such cases it lies on the transferee to prove good faith and valuable consideration; and where the latter is proved the Court will be slow in ordinary circumstances to hold that there was an absence of good faith. Amarchand v. Gokul, 5 Bom. L. R. 142, referred to. Where the transferee has discharged a valid prior mortgage on the property sold, the transfer will be set aside only on his being given a charge for the amount spent by him in discharging such mortgage. Chidambaran Chettiar v. Sami Iyar, I. L. R. 30 Mad. 6, distinguished. PALAMALAI MUDALIYAR v. SOUTH INDIAN EXPORT COMPANY (1909) . . . I. L. R. 33 Mad. 334

FRAUDULENT CONVEYANCE—contd.

——— To defeat or delay creditors, whether binding until set aside by suit—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 53, nature of suit under—Attachment of alienated property—Claim by alienee—Suit by unsuccessful claimant—Plea of attaching decree-holder of fraudulent nature of alienation validity of. An alienation which is not a sham transaction but is only a fraudulent one intended to defeat or delay creditors of the alienor is only voidable and continues in force until set aside in proceedings properly instituted for the purpose; and in a suit by the alienee to set aside an adverse order passed against him in claim proceedings, it is not open to an attaching decree-holder against the alienor to plead in defence the fraudulent character of the alienation. Palaniandi Chetti v. Appavu Chettiar 30, Mad. L. J. 565, approved and Abdul Kadir v. Ali Mia, 14 I. C. 715; 15 C. L. J. 649, not followed. Quære: Whether a suit by a creditor to avoid an alienation as infringing s. 53 of the Transfer of Property Act must be brought in a respresentative capacity on behalf of all the creditors? SUBRAHMANYA AYYAR v. MUTHIAH CHETTIAR (1917) . . . I. L. R. 41 Mad. 612

FRAUDULENT DECREE.

——— Suit to set aside where lies—Decree, if open to attack as having been made on perjured evidence. The mere fact that the decree was obtained by false evidence would not be sufficient by itself to have it set aside by suit. The case itself must be found to be a fraudulent one. KASISHUR GOSWAMI v. AMIRUDDIN GAZI (1918) . . . . 23 C. W. N. 133

——— Suit to set aside—Character of fraud to be proved—True test—Suit to eject on expiry of kabuliyat decreed ex parte—Later suit by Defendant to set aside decree on allegation that kabuliyat fraudulently obtained and case decreed false. A sued B for ejectment on the expiry of the term of a meadi kabuliyat. B contested the suit alleging that he was in fact an occupancy raiyat and the meadi kabuliyat had been obtained from him by A by fraud. B having failed to appear at the hearing an ex parte decree was passed in A's favour. Without attempting to have the decree set aside by application or appeal, B instituted the present suit to have the ex parte decree set aside as fraudulent: Held—That assuming that the kabuliyat had been obtained by fraud, in the previous suit A was not bound to state the circumstances under which it was executed, and as there was in that suit no contrivance by which B was prevented by A from placing his case before the Court, it could not be said that there was any fraud practised on the Court in procuring the decree or that the claim was false. With respect to the question as to what constitutes fraud for which a decree can be set aside two propositions appear to be well-established. The first is that although it is not permitted to show that the Court (in the former suit) was mistaken it may be shown that it was misled, in other words where the Court has been intentionally misled by the fraud of a party, and a fraud has been committed upon the Court with the intention to procure its judgment, it will vitiate its judgment. The second is that a decree cannot be set aside merely on the ground that it has been procured by perjured evidence. Quære: —Whether in order to set aside a decree on the ground of fraud, it must be shown that the fraud was practised in relation to proceedings in Court and that the decree must be shown to have been procured by practising fraud upon the Court. MANINDRO NATH MITRA v. HARI MONDAL

FRAUDULENT DECREE—contd.

24 C. W. N. 133

FRAUDULENT EXECUTION.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O. XXI, R. 2.
I. L. R. 40 Bom. 333

FRAUDULENT PREFERENCE.

See COMPANIES ACT, 1913, s. 231.
I. L. R. 2 Lah. 102

See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT, 1920, s. 54. . I. L. R. 43 All. 427

——— State of mind of maker —Intention—Receiver—Onus—Provincial Insolvency Act (III of 1907), s. 37. The question whether there has been a fraudulent preference depends not upon the mere fact that there had been a preference but also on the state of mind of the person who made it. It must be shown not only that he has preferred a creditor but that he has fraudulently done so. It depends upon what was in his mind. For this purpose, it is not true that the debtor must be taken to have intended the natural consequences of his acts. One must find out what he really did intend. Dicta of LORD HALSBURY in Sharp v. Jackson, (1899) A. C. 419, followed. It is not necessary to threaten criminal proceedings to constitute [illegible] on his debtor, it cannot be deemed as a spontaneous act. The onus is on the Receiver to show that it was an outcome of a fraudulent preference. NRIPENDRA NATH SAHU v. ASHUTOSH GHOSH (1915) . . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 640

FRAUDULENT REPRESENTATION.

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872), ss. 20 65 . . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 638

See PARTITION SUIT.
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 28

See RES JUDICATA.
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 442

FRAUDULENT SUPPRESSION.

See SUBROGATION. I. L. R. 43 Calc. 69

FRAUDULENT TRANSFER.

See ATTACHMENT I. L. R. 44 Calc. 662

See FRAUDULENT CONVEYANCE.

See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907), s. 36. . 2 Pat. L. J. 101

s. 43 . . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 673

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 53. . I. L. R. 43 Bom. 707
I. L. R. 39 Bom. 507

FREEDOM OF RELIGIOUS ACT (XXI OF 1850).

See CASTE DISABILITIES REMOVAL.

See HINDU LAW—CONVERSION.
15 C. W. N. 545

FREIGHT.

——— paid in advance—

See BILL OF LADING.
I. L. R. 44 Mad. 145

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872), ss. 56, 65 . . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 529

FRENCH SUBJECT.

——— will of—

See PROBATE AND ADMINISTRATION ACT, s. 5 . . 24 C. W. N. 713

FRESH PROCEEDINGS.

See JURISDICTION OF CRIMINAL COURT.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 71

See NOLLE PROSEQUI.
16 C. W. N. 983

FRESH RULE.

See CRIMINAL REVISIONAL JURISDICTION.
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 933

FRESH SUIT.

——— liberty to institute—

See JURISDICTION.
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 138

FRIVOLOUS OR VEXATIOUS ACCUSATION.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s 250.
I. L. R. 40 All. 79

FRIVOLOUS OR VEXATIOUS COMPLAINT.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, ss. 107, 250 . . I. L. R. 36 All. 382

FUGITIVE OFFENDER.

See EXTRADITION. I. L. R. 41 Calc. 400

See HABEAS CORPUS.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 164

FULL BENCH.

See PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT (XV OF 1882) ss. 37, 38.
I. L. R. 34 Bom. 316

s. 38. . . I. L. R. 42 Bom. 80

See REFERENCE TO FULL BENCH.

——— question referable to a—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), SCH. I, ART. 134. I. L. R. 40 Mad. 1040

——— Judicial opinion, reversal of, by Full Bench—Effect. The effect of the Full Bench decision in, Bhupati Nath Smrithitirtha v. Ram Lal Moitra, 14 C. W. N. 18, was not to make a new law but to declare the law as it stood and has always stood. SARADINDU MUKERJEE v. CHARU CHANDRA DUTTA (1919)
23 C. W. N. 872

——— When a reference should be made to Full bench. Advantage of referring matters, upon which a difference of opinion has arisen in the High Court, to a Full Bench adverted to. BUDDHA SINGH v. LALTU SINGH (1915)
20 C. W. N. 1

FURTHER INQUIRY.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE.
s. 202.
s. 203. . . 5 Pat. L. J. 47
s. 437. . . 25 C. W. N. 312
. I. L. R. 42 All. 128

——— after discharge of accused—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, 1898, s. 437 . . I. L. R. 1 Lah. 216

——— Power to direct further inquiry against a person not named in the complaint nor before the Court—Notice, necessity of—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 437. The Court has no jurisdiction to direct a further inquiry, under s. 437 of Criminal Procedure Code, in respect of a person who was not named in the complaint and against whom no other regular process has been issued. An order under s. 437 of the Code made without previous notice to the accused is bad in law. Giridahri Marwari v. Emperor, 12 C. W. N. 822, followed. AMBAR ALI v. ANJAB ALI (1911) I. L. R. 39 Calc. 238

FUTURE MAINTENANCE.

——— assignment of—

See MAINTENANCE I. L. R. 38 Calc. 13

FUTURE RIGHTS.

——— creation of—

See REGISTRATION OF DOCUMENTS.
L. R. 46 I. A. 240

FUTURE WIFE.

——— gift to—

See HINDU LAW—WILL.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 87

G

GAMBLING.

See BOMBAY PREVENTION OF GAMBLING ACT (BOM. IV OF 1887).

See PUBLIC GAMBLING ACT (III OF 1867)

——— forfeiture for—

See BOMBAY PREVENTION OF GAMBLING ACT (BOM. IV OF 1887), s. 8.
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 686

——— in the courtyard of a mosque—

See BOMBAY PREVENTION OF GAMBLING ACT (BOM. IV OF 1887), s. 12.
I. L. R. 41 Bom. 149

GAMBLING DEBT.

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), s. 92.
I. L. R. 35 All. 558

GANGAPUTRA.

See HINDU LAW (MISC).
I. L. R. 43 All. 581

GANG OF THIEVES.

See PREVIOUS CONVICTIONS, EVIDENCE OF.
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 408

GANJA.

——— illegal possession of—

See MASTER AND SERVANT.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 344

GANJAM AND VIZAGAPATAM AGENCY RULES.

——— Agents' order under s. XVIII—Maintainability of petition to High Court under Rule XX—Interference of High Court in proper cases—S. 244, bar by—Who can set up. A petition lies to the High Court under rule XX of the Ganjam and Vizagapatam Agency Rules, even though the Agent acted under Rule XVIII in dismissing an appeal. Jagannadha v. Gopanna, I. L. R. 16 Mad. 229, dissented from. An order of the Agent summarily dismissing an appeal is a decree as it disposes of the rights of the parties, and R. XX the High Court may in a proper case (as here, where the Agent gives no reasons for dismissal) direct the Agent to review his judgment. A person who was not a party to a previous suit cannot set up the effect of an order in execution in that suit as a bar to a suit against him. Quære: Whether when s. 244, Civil Procedure Code, does not apply to Agency Tracts, the principle of that section applies. VIKRAMA DEO v. RAGHUNATHA PATRO (1913) . . I. L. R. 36 Mad. 128

GANTI (TENURE)—

——— Settlement-holder of mehal if bound to recognise ganti tenure created by previous settlement-holder where he is bound by kabuliyat to respect recorded rights of under-tenure-holder. The temporary settlement-holder of a mehal created a ganti interest in favour of certain persons. Subsequently the mehal was sold for default in payment of Government revenue and purchased by the Plaintiff whereupon the Settlement Officer settled the rent for the mehal on the basis of the rent payable by the gantidars and the Plaintiff executed a kabuliyat stipulating to respect the recorded right of under-tenure-holders and other persons. Held, that the Plaintiff was bound to recognise the ganti tenure and could not question its existence. A controversy cannot be raised in second appeal for the first time in a matter regarding which no issue was framed. JARIP SARDAR v. JOGENDRO NATH CHATTERJI . 24 C. W. N. 53

GAONTIA TENURE.

See CENTRAL PROVINCES LAND REVENUE ACT, 1881, s. 65A . 1 Pat. L. J. 293

——— Succession to—resignation of eldest heir, whether must be immediate to be effective—resignation as to part of the estate, validity of—proof of resignation, onus of—Estoppel. The provisions of s. 65 (a) of the Central Provinces Land Revenue Act, 1881, were enacted not for the benefit of the zamindar, but to retain certain selected families in the gaontiaships of their villages and to protect them against transfers and subdivisions. The right of the eldest male heir to resign or renounce his rights as gaontia with a view to giving up all claim to inherit the estate which has by statutory devolution descended upon him must be exercised at the time when the succession opens, viz., on the death of the last protected gaontia and it is not open to him subsequently to transfer the estate by sale, gift, or otherwise in favour of a younger brother. Query—whether, if he did so, he would be estopped from contesting

GAONTIA TENURE—contd.

the transfer. Per ATKINSON, J. (IMAM, J., contra). If two or more villages form the protected tenure of a gaontia, even though they may have been declared protect by separate certificates at different times, the eldest male heir must exercise his choice of resignation or adoption in respect of all or none of such villages. There can be no splitting up of the estate or tenure into different parts having distinct entities. Where the election is made by the person upon whom the tenure devolves by inheritance it is irrevocable in its operation, and automatically one heir is succeeded by another of equal decree. In the absence of evidence to show that the eldest son of the last protected gaontia resigned his claim to the gaontiaship a younger son is not entitled to surrender the estate to the zamindar. Per ATKINSON, J. The onus of establishing the resignation lies on the person who affirms it. Per CHAPMAN, J. A gaontia is not entitled to surrender his estate in favour of his zamindar. The provisions of s. 132 were intended to enable the Deputy Commissioner merely to determine claims to protection under s. 65 (a) and to enforce the provisions of that section. It was never intended that the Deputy Comin the Civil Court. Where a younger son of the last protected gaontia was recorded in the Record-of-Rights. Held, that as the presumption arising better title than the younger son Held, further, that the fact the eldest son had been treated by the

the entry in the Record-of-Rights. Per ATKINSON, J. The word "resign" in s. 65 (a) really means "release." LAL NRIPARAJ SINGH, RAI BAHADUR v. MOHAN GAONTIA (1918) . 3 Pat. L. J. 229

GARDEN.

See HOMESTEAD LAND.

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 638

GARNISHEE.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1882), ss. 268, 278, 283. I. L. R. 38 Bom. 631

See DECREE. . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 80

See EXECUTION OF DECREE.

I. L. R. 38 Bom. 631

———— deposit by—

See DEPOSIT IN COURT.

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 269

———————— Execution of decree—attachment of property outside Court's jurisdiction—Corporation, place of residence of—Fidelity bond, construction of. The jurisdiction of a Court in enforcing execution of its decrees is restricted by its territorial limits. A Court desiring to seize or attach the property of a judgment-debtor outside its jurisdiction, and when such property is in the hands of, or custody of another, also outside the jurisdiction, can only reach that property by means ... ree ... urt ... be ... ule, GARNISHEE—contd.

however, only applies (i) when the property sought to be attached is bonâ fide without the jurisdiction of the Original Court whose decree is sought to be enforced; and (ii) when the property sought to be attached is in the hands of a third party not amen-

removed from one jurisdiction to another for the purpose of defeating the right, authority, and power of the executing Court in the execution of its in its operation and effect, secure the recovery of the property fraudulently removed. Begg, Dunlop & Co. v. Jugannath Marwari. (I. L. R. 39 Calc. 104), approved. A corporation may be said to reside wherever it carries on its business irrespective of the location of its head office. If a corporation such as a Bank has branch offices in several separate and distinct jurisdictions it may be sued in any one of such jurisdictions for the enforcement of a right in respect of which a cause of action exists within the limits of each independent jurisdiction. R deposited certain securities with the the securities in the event of any loss or damage being caused to it by R, and (ii) that R should be entitled to interest on the securities but the Bank should have power to suspend payment of interest if R occasioned any loss or damage as aforesaid. The Bank suspended payment of interest in accordance with the terms of the bond. A judgment-creditor of R applied for attachment of the securities and interest, which had accumulated since the suspension. Held, (i) that the true meaning of the fidelity bond was that the interest accumulated after suspension should form a fund as collateral security in the event of the main security proving insufficient to discharge the loss or damage sustained by the Bank; (ii) that R's judgment creditor was entitled to attach the securities and interest, subject to the Bank's lien, even though such securities had been removed from Patna to Calcutta with the consent of the parties. BANK OF BENGAL v. SARAT CHANDRA MITTRA (1918)

4 Pat. L. J. 141

GAS COMPANY.

———— liability of—Dangerous article—

———————— Gas plant set up in Railway Company's premises by Gas Company—Defective installation—Explosion—Liability of Gas Company for damages—Proximate cause—Liability independent of contract—Onus of proof. A Gas Company installed a supply plant at the premises of a Railway Company. The plaintiffs, workmen of the Railway Company, were in charge of the boilers heated by the gas. The gas exploded and killed and injured the workmen. It was found by ... traceable to the ... Held, that the mity. This duty arises irrespective of any contract. Dixon v. Bell, 5 M. & S. 198; Thomas v. Winchester 6 N. Y. 409; and Parry v. Smith, 4 C. P. D. 325, referred to. Held, further, that initial negligence having been found against the Gas Company, they were liable unless they proved that the proximate cause of the accident was the conscious act of another volition. DOMINION NATURAL GAS CO., LD. v. JAMES H. COLLINS (1909) . . . . . 14 C. W. N. 158

GAS COMPANY—contd.

GAYAWAL.

——— Whether gaddi of Gayawal is an office or business and inheritible—Improper use of gaddidar's name—Injunction. Whether the occupant of the gaddi of the Gayawal has an hereditary office or not he has a business and that business is property capable of being inherited on his death. Where a person has been using the name of the occupant of the gaddi of a Gayawal with the express object of benefiting himself at the latter's express the court will restrain, by injunction, repetition of such improper using of the plaintiff's name. LACHMAN LAL PATHAK v. BALDEO LAL SHATHWARI (1917) 2 Pat. L. J. 705

GENERAL ACCOUNT.

See PARTNERSHIP. I. L. R. 34 Mad. 112

GENERAL CLAUSES ACT (I OF 1868).

——— s. 2 (1)—

See PLEADER . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 290

——— s. 3—

See HABEAS CORPUS.
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 459

GENERAL CLAUSES ACT (X OF 1897).

——— application of—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O. XXXIII, R. 1.
I. L. R. 41 Mad. 624

——— s. 3 (25)—

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, SCH. I, ART. 120, ETC. . . . 3 Pat. L. J. 522

See PUNJAB PRE-EMPTION ACT.
I. L. R. 1 Lah. 567

——— Provincial Small Cause Courts Act (IX of 1887), Sch. II, Art. 13—Court of Small Causes—Jurisdiction—Ferry—"Immovable property"—Suit to recover tolls alleged to be due to plaintiff as lessee of a ferry. Held, that the right to a ferry is a benefit which arises out of land and comes within the definition of immovable property under s. 3 (25) of the General Clauses Act, 1897, and a suit by a lessee of a ferry to levy a toll alleged to be recoverable by him as such lessee, falls under, Art. 13 of the second Schedule to the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act and is therefore not cognizable by that Court. Gokal Chand v. Lal Chand, Punj Rec., 1897, Case No. 48, p. 215, and Desa Singh v. Narain Das, Punj. Rec., 1898, Case No. 80, p. 278, approved. ABDUL HAMID KHAN v. BABU LAL (1913).
I. L. R. 35 All. 156

——— Benefits arising out of Land are immovable property. GULAM MOHEDIN HASAN v. PARBATI. . I. L. R. 36 Calc. 665

GENERAL CLAUSES ACT (X OF 1897)—contd.

——— s. 3, (25)—contd.

See PROFITS A PRENDRE.
2 Pat. L. J. 323

——— a company is a 'person' and can therefore sue through its Liquidator in former pauperis.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, (1908. O. XXXIII) . I. L. R. 41 Mad. 624

——— s. 3. cl. (52)—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 59 . I. L. R. 41 Bom. 384

——— s. 6—

See EX PARTE DECREE.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 506

See EXECUTION OF DECREE.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 704
1 Pat. L. J. 214

See HUSBAND AND WIFE.
I. L. R. 37 Bom. 393

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, ss. 88, 89 . . . I. L. R. 34 All. 72

——— s. 6 (c) and (e)—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O. XXI, R. 93.
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 1009

——— Limitation Act (IX of 1908), s. 6, Sch. I, Art. 166—Sale of minor judgment-debtor's property before 1909—Minor's right to apply to set aside sale on attaining majority. The right which accrued to a minor judgment-debtor under Act XV of 1877 to apply to set aside a sale which took place before the Limitation Act of 1908 came into force upon attaining majority is not taken away by the coming into operation of that Act, that being a privilege which has been preserved by s. 6, cl. (c) of the General Clauses Act. FAZL KARIM v. ANNADA MOHAN RAY (1911)
15 C. W. N. 845

——— ss. 6, 7—

See HABEAS CORPUS.
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 459

——— ss. 9 and 10—

See PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT, ss. 45 AND 46 . I. L. R. 42 Mad. 13

——— s. 10—

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908)—
s. 4. . . . I. L. R. 41 All. 47
s. 31 . . . I. L. R. 34 All. 375
I. L. R. 36 Bom. 268

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT.
I. L. R. 42 Mad. 310

——— Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. XXI, r. 1—Decree—Payment of money ordered in a decree—Payment ordered on a fixed date—Delay in making payment into Court owing to closing of Court—Payment on the opening day—Practice. A decree provided as follows: "The plaintiff should pay, by the 10th day of April 1909, to the defendant Rs. 100. If the moneys are not paid by the plaintiff as agreed upon, the property in dispute will remain with the defendants by right of ownership and the plaintiff will have no right of ownership over the same." The plaintiff chose to pay the money into Court, and finding it closed on the 10th, she paid the money on the 14th April 1909, the day on which the Court reopened. A question having arisen whether the payment so made was within the terms of the decree. Held, that the payment was properly made, for O. XXI, r. 1 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908, intended to enact and did enact that payment into Court was a valid compliance with the decree even though the decree directed payment to the decree-holder. WANA MARD RAVJI v. NATU WALAD MURHA (1910) . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 35

GENERAL CLAUSES ACT (X OF 1897)——contd.

——— s. 10—contd.

——— s. 13—

See ARBITRATION ACT, ss. 8, 9. I. L. R. 43 Bom. 809

See PLEADER . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 290

——— s. 17, cl. (1)—

See DEFENCE OF INDIA ACT (IV OF 1915), s. 2 . . I. L. R. 42 Mad. 69

——— s. 26—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 235. 3 Pat. L. J. 433

——— One act constituting two offences under different laws—conviction for both [illegible] The accused was charged [illegible] under s. 101 [illegible] of resisting [illegible] by-standers [illegible] by one specific act. Held, that the conviction under s. 101 of the Railway Act could not stand. It is only when one act constitutes two offences under the same law, that separate sentences can be inflicted for each offence. RAHAMATULLA v. KING EMPEROR (1916) . . 1 Pat. L. J. 373

——— s. 27—

See PRACTICE . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 213

GENERAL CLAUSES ACT (BENGAL).

See BENGAL ACT, I OF 1899.

——— s. 8, cl. (e)—

See EXECUTION OF DECREE. I. L. R. 40 Calc. 623

GENERAL CLAUSES ACT (BOMBAY).

See BOMBAY ACT, I OF 1904.

——— s. 3—

See MAMLATDARS' COURTS' ACT, BOMBAY (BOM. ACT II OF 1906), s. 23. I. L. R. 39 Bom. 552

GENERAL CLAUSES ACT (UNITED PROVINCES).

See UNITED PROVINCES ACT, I OF 1904.

——— s. 6—

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901), s. 20 . . I. L. R. 32 All. 628

——— s. 23—Act (Local) No. I of 1900 (United Provinces Municipalities Act), s. 187—Municipality—Powers of Government to frame rules

GENERAL CLAUSES ACT (UNITED PROVINCES)—contd.

——— s. 23—contd.

—Rules as to Municipal elections—"Previous Publication"—"Competent court." Certain draft rules relating to municipal elections were published in the local Gazette. These draft rules were then considered by the Government in connection with such criticisms and objections as had been presented, and finally a set of rules was published in the Gazette as having been made under s. 187 of the United Provinces Municipalities Act, 1900. Held, that such rules were none the less validity passed because in some details they differed from the draft rules previously published. The rules so made provided that a municipal election might be questioned by means of a petition presented to 'a competent Court.' Held, that the expression 'competent Court' so used meant a Civil Court of competent jurisdiction with reference to the valuation given by the petitioner in his petition. GUR CHARAN DAS v. HAR SARUP (1912) I. L. R. 34 All. 391

[illegible] reached one of the octroi barriers of Bareilly on the 19th of February 1917. The Officer in charge demanded a larger sum than M considered properly leviable. The matter was referred to the Octroi Superintendent who, as he had the right to do, assessed the duty at Re. 1-0-9. Under r. 40 of the Municipal Account Code framed under Act No. 1 of 1900, a person in the position of M could appeal against the decision within sixty days, but he could only exercise the right by first paying under protest the duty demanded. M, however, appealed against the decision without making the payment. On the expiry of sixty days a prosecution was instituted against M under Act No. II of 1916, and he was fined. He applied in revision to the High Court. Held, that the conviction was legal; the jurisdiction of the Court was saved by s. 24 of the Local General Clauses Act, and the fact that the prosecution had been instituted under the Municipal Account Code framed under the repealed Municipalities Act (I of 1900), did not affect the question. Held, also, that the mandatory direction in r. 40 of the Municipal Account Code lays down, by inference, a period of 53 days, on the expiry of which without payment as required the offence is complete and a prosecution may be started. EMPEROR v. MANIK CHAND (1917) I. L. R. 40 All. 105

GENERAL COMMITTEE.

——— sanction by—

See DEMOLITION OF BUILDING. I. L. R. 37 Calc. 585

GENERAL REPEALING ACT (XII OF 1873).

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), s. 115 . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 86

GHARJAMAI.

See HINDU LAW—MAINTENANCE. 15 C. W. N. 205

GHAT.

See HINDU LAW I. L. R. 43 All. 531

GHATWALI TENURE.

See [illegible]

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 173

See [illegible] 6 Pat. L. J. 687

See Limitation Act, Sch. I, Art. 144.

2 Pat. L. J. 505

———— Attachment—Receiver, appointment of—Execution of decree. On an application for execution of a decree, although an order directing attachment of a ghatwali estate may be erroneous, an order appointing a Receiver to receive the rents and profits of such estate is sanctioned by authority. Uday Kumari Ghatwalin v. Hari Ram Shaha, I. L. R. [illegible] Calc. [illegible], referred to. Kelobati v. Mohan Chandra Mandal (1912)

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 1010

———— Suit for possession—Court-fee—Court-Fees Act (VII of 1870), s. 7, cl. v, sub. cls. (a), (c), (d). Where a suit had been brought for recovery of possession of the Ghatwali lands of Rohini and Court-fees had been paid under sub-cl. (a) of cl. v. of s. 7 of the Court-Fees Act on ten times the revenue alleged to be payable, and the Court below held that sub-cl. (c) was applicable and the value of the subject-matter should be deemed to be fifteen times the net profits: Held, that the Ghatwali land formed part of the estate of the zemindar of [illegible] and the contention that sub-cl. (c) was applicable could not be supported. Kastura Kumari [illegible] Raja Lilanand v. Moneher Deo, (1864) W. R. 39, Raja Lilanand [illegible] Moo. I. A. 101, Moohra [illegible] Government of Bengal, 6 Moo. I. A. 101, [illegible] Raja Leelanund v. [illegible] nund, 3 W. R. 84, Raja Leelanund v. Munoranjan, 13 W. R. 101, Lilanand Singh v. Munoranjan, 5 B. L. R. 124, Lilanund v. Munranjan, I. L. R. 3 Calc. 251, referred to. Held, also, that sub-cl. (d) was applicable, as the land in suit formed part of an estate paying revenue to Government but did not constitute a definite share of such estate, nor was it separately assessed with revenue. Consequently, the value of the subject-matter must be deemed to be the market value of the land. Chandra Narayan Singh v. Asutosh De (1914)

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 812

———— Suit for resumption of land by proprietor—Jaigir, two kinds of—Not necessarily conditional and inalienable—Tenure created by document, evidence necessary to prove incidents of—Fact of descent of land from father to son for a long time, inference to be drawn from—Facts necessary to be proved even if grant originally made subject to performance of service—Limitation—Fact of service being incapable of being enforced, effect of, on service tenure. The plaintiff brought a suit for the possession of two mouzahs within his zemindari against the defendants who were in possession, having acquired them by a series of purchases from the persons who previously held them under the plaintiff. The plaintiff's case was that the mouzahs in question were a jaigir conditional on the performance of Ghatwali services and as such were inalienable and the original holders having alienated them the plaintiff was entitled to resume possession: Held, on the evidence, that the plaintiff had failed to prove that the land was held on a service tenure, whether Ghatwali or otherwise. That a jaigir is not necessarily conditional; it may be unconditional and the mere fact that a tenure is described as a jaigir by no means conclusive and its incidents must be determined from other circumstances.

GHATWALI TENURE—contd.

That where the tenure in question was created by a document, the terms on which the land is held, its alienability and its liability to forfeiture must depend on the terms of the particular grant and not on the terms of grants that may have been made to others. Bhagwat Baksh Ray v. Sheo Prosad Sahu (1913) . . 18 C. W. N. 297 ———— Liability to sale for arrears of rent. The contention that no ghatwali tenure is liable to be sold in execution of a decree is not a sound contention. Kharagpur ghatwali lands are liable to be sold in execution of a decree for rent. Where a ghatwal is liable to render service to the Deputy Commissioner of the Santal Parganas, and derives his appointment from the Deputy Commissioner, his land can be sold only with the consent of the Deputy Commissioner. When a ghatwal is appointed by a local Raja and is not shown to be liable to render service to any body but such Raja, his ghatwali lands may be sold by the Raja. The only ghatwals over whom the Deputy Commissioner of the Santal Parganas has jurisdiction are those who are subject to the provisions of the Bengal Ghatwali Lands Regulation (XXIX of 1814). The Deputy Commissioner has power to put up for sale for arrears of revenue the lands of ghatwals subject to Regulation XXIX of 1814. Lakshmi Narain Mahto v. Satya Narain Chakravarty (1916) . . 1 Pat. L. J. 197 ———— Where the right to [illegible] the ghatwal rests with the Government a ghatwali tenure is not saleable in execution of a decree for arrears of rent. Midnapur Za[illegible]mindari Co., Ltd. v. Ajambar Singh Mur[illegible]a (1916)

1 Pat. [illegible] L. J. 601

———— Ghatwali la[illegible]d, tenants of—Acquisition of right of occupa[illegible]cy—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885), s. 181—[illegible] Act, Act X of 1859, s. 6, and Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869, s. [illegible]ved. Tenants in occupation of ghatwali land coul[illegible] acquire occupancy right therein under s. 6 of [illegible] Act X of 1859 and s. 6 of Act VIII (B.C.) of 1869 [illegible] and such right acquired between 1859 and 1885 [illegible] has not been taken away by s. 181 of the Bengal Te[illegible]nancy Act. Sitikanta Roy v. Bipra Das Charan (1[illegible]918)

22 C. W. [illegible]N. 763 ———— Mode of succession—Incidents of tenure—Rights of male members of family other than the acutal Ghatwals. The result of the decisions of the Privy Council as to the nature of the Ghatwali tenure, is that it is ordinarily hereditary, the estate descending to such male member of the family as the zemindar approves as competent; and that it is the right of of the family, so long as they have male members competent to perform the duties, to have one or more of them appointed Ghatwals. The incidents of the Ghatwali tenure in this case are not such as to give the family any rights over the property while it is in the hands of the Ghatwal, on which point their Lordships are in full agreement with the Courts in India. If the scheme of the pottah was to preserve family rights there would still be no reason for holding that they extended so as to give any beneficiary interest in the mouzahs to the male members of the family, other than the actual grantees. Nilmani Singh v. Bakranath Singh, I. L. R. 9 Calc. 187 ; L. R. 9 I. A. 104, and Kali Pershad Singh v. Anand Roy, I. L. R. 15 Calc. 491 ;

GHATWALI TENURE—contd.

L. R. 15 I. A. 18, referred to. DURGA PRASAD SINGH v. TRIBENI SINGH (1918)
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 362
L. R. 45 I. A. 251

GHEE.

See ADULTERATION.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 682

———— Adulteration—Chemical tests for determination of the purity of ghee—Corporation standard—Value of the same—Necessity of testing the value of such standard by evidence in each case—Calcutta Municipal Act (Beng. III of 1899), s. 495A (1)—Amendment Act (Beng. I of 1917), s. 2. There is no standard of purity of ghee fixed by the Indian Legislature and the Courts of Law have, therefore, to decide the question of adulteration upon such evidence as is available in each case. As there is no statutory presumption every case must depend on its own evidence. The High Court was strongly of opinion that a statutory standard should be laid down as raising a presumption of adulteration, and that such cases should not be made to depend on evidence forthcoming in each case to test the value of the Corporation standard. The Court should determine whether [illegible] ation on account of the limited number of its expert's experiments, and the fact that sufficient allowance had not been made for climatic conditions, nature of food, period of lactation, breed, stabling and local conditions, nor for the temperature of manufacture; but considered the Corporation B. R. and Saponification figures to be fair. Where the two samples of ghee, in respect of which [illegible] was adulterated. GRANDE VENKATTA RATNAM v. CORPORATION OF CALCUTTA (1920)
I. L. R. 47 Calc. 633
22 C. W. N. 745

GHEE ADULTERATION ACT. (Ben. I of 1919).

—— [illegible]), s. 2 [illegible] of 1899), [illegible] — Standard raising presumption as to adulterated nature of ghee. The Ghee Adulteration Act does not lay down a standard raising a presumption that ghee not satisfying the standard is not genuine and in the absence of such statutory presumption every case must depend upon its own evidence. Where it was found that the ghee sold by the accused contained a percentage of foreign fat: Held, that it was adulterated with the meaning of sub-cl. 2 of s. 2. GRANDE VENKATTA RATNAM v. CORPORATION OF CALCUTTA
24 C. W. N. 383

GIFT.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1882, ss. 13, 44 (b) . . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 297

See CONSTRUCTION OF DOCUMENT.
I. L. R. 33 All. 665

GIFT—contd.

See CONTRACT ACT, s. 19.
I. L. R. 36 Bom. 57

See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION.
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 105

See HINDU LAW—ENDOWMENT.
I. L. R. 33 All. 253

See HINDU LAW—GIFT.

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY.
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 733
I. L. R. 42 Bom. 69

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW.
I. L. R. 34 Bom. 165
I. L. R. 32 All. 176
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 1
I. L. R. 39 All. 520

See JOINT TENANCY.
I. L. R. 34 Mad. 80

See LIMITATION . L. R. 46 I. A. 285

See LIS PENDENS I. L. R. 41 All. 534

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—GIFT.

See MALABAR LAW.
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 79

See NAIKINS . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 116

See REGISTRATION . I. L. R. 35 All. 3

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882)—
ss. 123, 129 . I. L. R. 38 All. 212
ss. 55, 123 . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 287

See TRUSTS ACT, s. 5.
I. L. R. 36 Bom. 396

See WILL . . I. L. R. 43 Bom. 88
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 711

———— absolute, to son—

See HINDU LAW—WILL.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 274

———— actionable claims—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, ss. 3, 8 . I. L. R. 44 Mad. 196

———— after unauthorised occupation—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882, s. 123 . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 164

———— alteration of deed of—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, IV OF 1882, s. 123 . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 231

———— by adoptee—

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION.
I. L. R. 35 Bom. 169

———— by husband to wife—

See MALABAR LAW.
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 79

———— by karta—

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY PROPERTY . . I. L. R. 40 All. 159

———— by Hindu widow—

See HINDU LAW—GIFT.
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 1
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 105

GIFT—contd.

———— by Mahomedan widow—

See WASTE . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 727

———— by widow and next reversioner—

See HINDU LAW. I. L. R. 44 Bom. 488

———— Mortgage on half gifted land—Effect of—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—GIFT.

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1296

———— for religious purpose—

See HINDU LAW—GIFT.

I. L. R. 42 Bom. 136

———— of land, by co-parcener—

See HINDU LAW—PARTITION.

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 587

———— of land to a stranger—

See CUSTOM (SUCCESSION).

I. L. R. 2 Lah. 284

———— revocation of—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—TRUST.

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 604

See ADOPTION . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 169

———— substantially to charity—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WAKF.

L. R. 44 I. A. 21

———— to a class —

See HINDU LAW—WILL.

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 188
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 1007

———— to Brahmins—

See HINDU LAW—GIFT.

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 304

———— to daughter—

See CUSTOM . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 418

See HINDU LAW—REVERSIONER.

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 255

———— to future wife—

See HINDU LAW—WILL.

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 87

———— to wife for life with directions to appoint—

See WILL . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 711

———— to illegitimate son—

See HINDU LAW—GIFT.

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 1029

———— to unborn person, validity of—

See HINDU LAW—GIFT.

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 818

———— to wife and children or children alone—

See MALABAR LAW.

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 317

———— validity of—

See OCCUPANCY HOLDING.

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 434

See RES JUDICATA.

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 499

GIFT—contd.

———— with obligation—

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872), s. 69.

I. L. R. 42 Bom. 93

———— Gift burdened with an obligation—Alienation by donee—Restrictions on alienation. When it is doubtful, whether a deed embodies a complete dedication to a religious trust or merely creates a gift of that property, subject to an obligation to perform certain services, the question should be decided by reference to the deed itself. In the former case the property would be inalienable, and in the latter alienable, subject to the obligation, and notwithstanding restrictions as to selling or mortgaging the said property. DASSA RAMCHANDRA v. NARSINHA

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 156

———— Purdanashin illiterate donor—Fiduciary relationship—Cancellation—Independent and competent advice—Duty of solicitor—Power of revocation—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 126—Costs. Where an old illiterate purdanashin woman executes an improvident deed of gift in favour of a person standing towards her in a fiduciary capacity, the onus lies on the donee to establish not only that the donor understood the transaction, but that she was in a position to exercise a free and unfettered judgment, that the intention to give was her own voluntary act, and that she had independent and competent advice. Huguenin v. Baseley, 14 Ves. 273 ; Hall v. Hall, L. R. 8 Ch. App. 430, followed. Kanai Lall Jowhary v. Kamini Debi, 1 B. L. R. 31 (note); Lyon v. Home, L. R. 6 Eq. 655, referred to. It is the duty of a solicitor who acts as the sole solicitor in such a transaction, to try and protect the lady against herself, and to make all proper enquiries. A solicitor does not discharge his duty by satisfying himself simply that the donor understands and wishes to carry out the particular transaction. He must also satisfy himself that the gift is one that it is right and proper for the donor to make under all the circumstances; and if he is not so satisfied it is his duty to advise his client not to go on with the transaction, and to refuse to act further if the client persists. Powell v. Powell, [1900] 1 Ch. 243, Wright v. Carter, [1903] 1 Ch. 27, followed. Coomber v. Coomber, [1911] 1 Ch. 273, distinguished. In considering the validity of a deed of gift, the absence of a power of revocation is of importance, though not sufficient by itself to show that the gift is invalid. Hall v. Hall, L. R. 8 Ch. App. 430, referred to. KAMINI DASSEE v. KRISHNA CHANDRA MUKERJEE (1912)

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 933

———— Death of donor before registration of deed—Registration by donee without consent of donor's legal representatives—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 123—Registration Act (III of 1877), effect of. A deed of gift registered by the donee after the death of the donor without the consent of the legal representatives of the donor is valid. There is nothing in s. 123 of the Transfer of Property Act which requires the donor to have the deed registered; all that is required is that he should have executed the deed. Once such an instrument is duly executed, the Registration Act allows it to be registered even though the donor may not agree to its registration, and upon registration the gift takes effect from the date of execution. Ramamirtha

GIFT—concld.

Ayyan v. Gopala Ayyan, I. L. R. 19 Mad. 433, Dasi Svarnam v. Deivanayagam Pillai, 28 Mad. L. J. 378 and Amirdam v. Muthukumaru Chetty, 13 Mad. L. J. 303, overruled. VENKATI RAMA REDDI v. PILLATI RAMA REDDI (1916)
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 204

——— Construction of deed of gift—Zamindar giving away all his properties to his son retaining an allowance and some "zirat land" for maintenance—Donor's interest in "zirat land" a reversion—Sale of zamindari how affects "zirat land"—Construction of decree and sale proceedings—Symbolical possession, effect of, as against a party to proceedings. Where a zamindar conveyed by gift all his properties to his only son, stipulating for a maintenance allowance of Rs. 400 a month to be paid to him by his son for his life and retaining 150 bighas of land in his "possession and occupancy as zirat land." Held, that the expression "zirat land" merely meant land retained by the donor for his personal use and maintenance without paying any rent thereof, etc.; that on the determination of his interest, the land was again to form part of the general zamindari property of the family, so that his son had in it a vested zamindari interest in reversion during the donor's lifetime. That the plaintiff who got possession of the zamindari property at a mortgage sale obtained possession of the reversionary interest in the "zirat land" subject to the life interest of the donor That the fact that the Court deleted from the description of the properties ordered to be sold, the words "mararazi zirat" to bring it into conformity with the property as described in the mortgage bond did not lead to the exclusion of the "zirat land" from the sale, inasmuch as the true construction of the decree depended on what the Court actually ordered, not on what it refused to order. That symbolical possession given to the plaintiff was sufficient to dispossess the defendants in the mortgage suit and were donor's interest in

RADHA KRISHNA CHANDERJI v. RAM BAHADUR (1917) . . . . . 22 C. W. N. 330

GIFT OVER.

See HINDU LAW—WILL.
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 561

See WILL . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 192
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 485

GODOWNS.

See LAND ACQUISITION.
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 665

GOLDEN TEMPLE (DARBAR SAHIB), AMRITSAR—

——— Succession to office and property of granthi—

See CUSTOM (RELIGIOUS INSTITUTIONS).
I. L. R. 1 Lah. 511 and 540

GOOD FAITH.

See WRONGFUL CONFINEMENT.
I. L. R. 47 Calc. 818

——— presumption of—

See DEFAMATION. I. L. R. 41 Calc. 514

GOODS.

See CONFISCATION.
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 334

See LOSS OF GOODS.
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 56

——— non-delivery of—

See SPECIFIC MOVABLE PROPERTY.
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 1

——— property in, at the time of capture—

See CONFISCATION.
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 334

——— ultimate destination of—

See SALE OF GOODS ACT (56 AND 57 VIC., c. 71), ss. 45 AND 47.
I. L. R. 34 Bom. 640

GOOD-WILL.

See TRADE-MARK I. L. R. 38 Calc. 110
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 262

——— sale of—

See CONTRACT (56).
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 1030

GORS.

——— right of—

See HINDU TEMPLE.
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 150

GOSAVIS.

See DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF ACT, s. 2 . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 543

GOTRAJA-SAPINDA.

See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION.
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 214

GOVERNMENT.

See ADVERSE POSSESSION.
14 C. W. N. 317

See BHAGDARI VILLAGE.
I. L. R. 37 Bom. 87

See CANTONMENT TENURE.
I. L. R. 36 Bom. 1

See GRANT . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 438

See CROWN.

See SECRETARY OF STATE.

See LAND ACQUISITION ACT (I OF 1894), ss. 3 (b), 11, AND 31 (1) AND (2).
I. L. R. 37 Bom. 76

——— attachment for non-payment of Jama—

See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE (BOM. ACT V OF 1879), ss. 141, 160.
I. L. R. 43 Bom. 6

——— acquisition by—

See LAND ACQUISITION ACT (I OF 1894), s. 18 . . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 146

——— acts of—

See ACT OF STATE.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 615

——— assignment of jodi by—

See INAMDAR . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 93

——— Digwar appointed by—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 696

GOVERNMENT—contd.

——— forfeiture by—

See Forfeiture I. L. R. 36 Bom. 539

——— jodi payable to—

See Inamdar . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 93

——— liability of—

See Pensions Act (XXIII of 1871), ss. 4, 5, 6 . I. L. R. 37 All. 338

——— loss to—

See Actio personalis moritur cum persona . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 12

——— order of—

See Habeas Corpus. I. L. R. 39 Calc. 164

——— right of, to assess Revenue—

See Assessment . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 973

——— right of, to streets, drains, etc.—

See Municipal Council. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 6

——— share of—

See Land Acquisition—Compensation. I. L. R. 40 Calc. 64

——— suit against—

See Abkari Act (Bom. Act V of 1878). ss. 32, 67 . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 101

See Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 424 I. L. R. 35 Bom. 42

See Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 80 . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 392

——— ultra vires order of—

See Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Sch. 1, Art. 14 . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 494

GOVERNMENT CIRCULAR.

——— effect of—

See Criminal Revisional Jurisdiction. I. L. R. 40 Calc. 41

GOVERNMENT DEPARTMENT.

——— Government department, discretion vested in, by Statute, if arbitrary and uncontrolled—Colourable exercise, amounting to refusal—Court's power to interfere. The plaintiff, an employee in the Public Service of the State of New South Wales, on his retirement in 1905 became entitled, under s. 4 of the Public Superannuation Act of 1903, "to a gratuity not exceeding one month's pay for each year of service from the date of his permanent employment," the gratuity "to be calculated on the average of his salary during the whole term of his employment and to be payable in the case of retirement, after the commencement of the Public Service Act of 1902, only in respect of service prior to such commencement." The Public Service Board awarded him a gratuity based on the average of his salary, reckoning his service, however, up to a certain date in 1895. Plaintiff having asked his service to be reckoned up to the date of the commencement of the Public Service Act in 1902, he was first informed that in respect of that claim no further sum could be paid, but subsequently the Board allowed him one penny for each year of service subsequent to the said date in 1895. No fault was thereby admittedly intended to be found with the manner in which the plaintiff had discharged his duties when in service: Held, that the discretion which the Government purported to exercise (through the Public Service Board) was not an arbitrary uncontrolled discretion but a discretion to be exercised reasonably, fairly and justly. An illusory award such as this—an award intended to be unreal and unsubstantial—though made under guise of exercising discretion is at best a colourable performance and tantamount to a refusal by the Board to exercise the discretion entrusted to them by Parliament. Williams v. Giddy (1911) 15 C. W. N. 669

GOVERNMENT DEPARTMENT—contd.

"GOVERNMENT ESTABLISHED BY LAW IN BRITISH INDIA."

See Press Act, 1910, s. 4. I. L. R. 42 All. 233

GOVERNMENT IRRIGATION SOURCE.

See Madras Irrigation Cess Act, s. 2. I. L. R. 34 Mad. 366

GOVERNMENT LAND.

See Land Acquisition Act (I of 1894). I. L. R. 34 Bom. 618

See Madras Estates Land Act (I of 1908), ss. 6, sub-s. (6), 8. I. L. R. 39 Mad. 944

GOVERNMENT NOTIFICATION.

See Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 59 . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 617

GOVERNMENT OFFICER.

——— suit against—

See Bombay Court of Wards Act (Bom. Act I of 1905), s. 3 (c). I. L. R. 37 Bom. 313

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA ACT, 1833 (3 and 4 William IV, c. 85).

——— ss. 39, 45, 46 and 51—

See Defence of India Act. 3 Pat. L. J. 537

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA ACT, 1858 (21 & 22, VICT., c. 106).

——— ss. 39, 42, 55—

See Execution of Decree. I. L. R. 38 Calc. 754

——— s. 64—

See Lease to appeal to Privy Council. I. L. R. 42 Calc. 35

——— ss. 65 to 67—

See Jurisdiction of Civil Court. I. L. R. 40 Calc. 391

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA ACT, 1859 (22 and 23 Vict. c. 41).

——— s. 1.

See Execution of Decree. I. L. R. 38 Calc. 754

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA, ACT, 1865—(28 & 29 Vict, c. 17).

——— s. 4—Notification by Governor-General in Council defining the boundaries of the Ballia and Shahabad Districts—Notification by Local Govern- mines the jurisdiction of Civil Courts situate therein. Notifications by the Local Government issued for general information that in consequence of a change in the course of the deep-stream certain villages have been transferred from one Province to the other do not affect the matter. MAHARAJA KESHO PRASAD SINGH v. NIRMAL KUMAR

5 Pat. L. J. 451

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA ACT, 1915 (5 and 6 Geo. V, c. 61).

——— ss. 65 and 72 and Amendment Act 1916 (6 and 7 Geo. V), s. 2—

See GOVERNOR-GENERAL IN COUNCIL.
I. L. R. 1 Lah. 326

——— s. 72—

See DEFENCE OF INDIA ACT, 1915, SS. 1 TO 11 . . . 3 Pat. L. J. 537

——— ss. 106, 107—

See DEFENCE OF INDIA ACT, 1915, SS. 1 TO 11 . . . 3 Pat. L. J. 537
See INCOME TAX ACT 1916, s. 51.
I. L. R. 44 Mad. 718

See PRESS ACT (I OF 1910), s. 3 (1), PROVISO . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 1164

——— s. 107—

See HIGH COURT, JURISDICTION OF.
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 522

——— s. 107, ss. 71 and 217—

See CHOTA NAGPUR TENANCY ACT, 1908, s. 71 . . . 3 Pat. L. J. 143

See CONTEMPT OF COURT.
I. L. R. 42 All. 26

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, O. XXI, R. 66 . . 2 Pat. L. J. 130

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, 1898, s. 195 . . 4 Pat. L. J. 609

s. 145 . . . 24 C. W. N. 96

I. L. R. 40 All. 364
I. L. R. 41 All. 302
I. L. R. 39 All. 612

See DISMISSAL FOR DEFAULT.
4 Pat. L. J. 277

See HIGH COURT, JURISDICTION OF.
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 522

See LAND ACQUISITION ACT (I OF 1894), SS. 3 AND 18 . I. L. R. 42 Mad. 231

See LEGAL PRACTITIONERS ACT, 1879, s. 14 . . 1 Pat. L. J. 576

See LETTERS PATENT.

See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURT ACT, 1887, s. 25 . . 1 Pat. L. J. 465

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA ACT, 1915 (5 and 6 Geo. V, c. 61)—contd.

——— s. 107, ss. 71 and 217.—contd.

See RECEIVER . . 4 Pat. L. J. 20
See REVISION . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 438
See RETRIAL . 3 Pat. L. J. 632
See WITHDRAWAL OF SUIT.
2 Pat. L. J. 682

——— On a difference of opinion between two Judges exercising revisional powers the decision of the Senior Judge prevails. MONRAH BHWAH v. MIRZAN SARDAR
24 C. W. N. 97

——— Superintendence, High Court's powers of—Code of Criminal Procedure (Act V of 1898), s. 145. In exercise of its power of irregularity in the proceedings or an erroneous decision on a question of fact or law, but it can and will interfere when there has been a material irregularity which amounts to a refusal to exercise, or an usurpation of jurisdiction, or which has prejudiced a party to the proceedings. It is not always incumbent upon the Magistrate to give effect to a recent decision or proceeding of a Civil or Criminal Court. No hard and fast rule can be laid down on this matter. PARMESHWAR SINGH v. KAILASHPATI . . . 1 Pat. L. J. 336

GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS IN BOMBAY.

See RESUMPTION.
I. L. R. 39 Bom. 279

GOVERNMENT ORDERS.

See MADRAS IRRIGATION CESS ACT (VII OF 1895), s. 1 I. L. R. 38 Mad. 997
See SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA.
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 781

GOVERNMENT PROCLAMATIONS.

See SALE OF GOODS.
I. L. R. 40 Bom. 11

GOVERNMENT RESOLUTION.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), SS. 197, 210, 215.
I. L. R. 42 Bom. 172

GOVERNMENT REVENUE.

See BABUANA GRANT.
18 C. W. N. 42, 129

——— assignment of—

See UNITED PROVINCES LAND REVENUE ACT (III OF 1901), SS. 51, 52 AND 99.
I. L. R. 33 All. 556

GOVERNMENT SALE.

See WASTE LANDS L. R. 43 I. A. 303

GOVERNMENT SECURITIES.

See SECURITIES.
See EXCESS PROFIT DUTY ACT.
25 C. W. N. 875

GOVERNMENT SERVANTS.

——— Conduct Rules for—

See Hindu Law. I. L. R. 40 Bom. 126

——— Acquitted at Criminal trial dismissed without opportunity to defend himself—Notification of dismissal in Gazette—Suit for declaration that dismissal without good grounds and in contravention of Government rules and that notification illegal, if lies—Suit against Crown by dismissed servants for wrongful dismissal or libel, if lies—Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), s. 42. Where plaintiff who held a ministerial post in the Burdwan Collectorate, having been tried under ss. 116, 161, and 466 of the Penal Code and acquitted, was dismissed by the Collector who based his conclusion not only on the materials on the record of the criminal trial but also on matters outside the record, and this was followed by a notification in the Calcutta Gazette to the effect that " R. H. having been dismissed from Government service is debarred from re-employment in any capacity under Government :" Held, that since a servant of the Crown is liable to dismissal without cause assigned, the plaintiff was not entitled to sue in a Civil Court for a declaration that there were no good grounds for dismissing him. Voss v. Secretary of State, I. L. R. 33 Calc. 669, King v. Secretary of State, 13 C. L. J. 357 : s. c. 15 C. W. N. 486n, Cursetji v. Secretary of State, I. L. R. 27 Bom. 189, relied on. That he was not entitled to a declaration that his dismissal was in contravention of the rules framed by Government, because such a relief does not come within the scope of s. 42 of the Specific Relief Act, any claim for consequential relief in respect thereof against Government not being maintainable. Deokali Koer v. Kedar Nath, I. L. R. 39 Calc, 704 : s. c. 16 C. W. N. 838, relied on. That as the Crown could not be sued for libel, the plaintiff was not entitled to a declaration that his dismissal should not have been notified, assuming that the notification affected his reputation. That Government is within its rights in notifying the dismissal of a servant and forbidding his re-employment. Per Mookerjee, J.—Under Government rules, plaintiff was entitled to be heard in defence before his dismissal. Ram Das Hazra v. Secretary of State for India (1912)

18 C. W. N. 106

GOVERNMENT SOLICITOR.

See Costs . . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 588

GOVERNMENT TENURES.

See Sale for Arrears of Revenue.

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 981

GOVERNOR-GENERAL IN COUNCIL.

See Government.

——— powers of—

See Habeas Corpus.

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 459

See Jury, right of trial by.

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 467

See Leave to appeal to Privy Council.

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 35

——— power of, to make Regulations—

See Election . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 384

——— sanction by—

See University Lectureship.

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 518

GOVERNOR-GENERAL IN COUNCIL—contd.

——— Power of—Emergency Legislation to deal with rioting and acts committed in open rebellion—supersession of ordinary Criminal Courts—Martial Law—Ordinances I and IV of 1919 setting up Commissions for trial of offences—Legislation affecting laws on which depend the allegiance of subjects of the Crown—Government of India Act, 1915 (5 and 6 Geo. V, c. 61) s. 65, sub-s. (2) and (3) and s. 72—Government of India (Amendment), Act, 1916 (6 and 7 Geo. V), s. 2—Competency of Commissions appointed by Local Government to try offences —Laws in part repugnant not wholly void. The question in this appeal is as to the competency of the Commissions appointed under the Martial Law Ordinance of 1919 to try the appellants for offences committed in rioting and acts of open rebellion. The rioting during which the offences were committed broke out into open rebellion at Amritsar on 10th April 1919. The appellant Bugga was arrested on 12th April, and the other appellants on subsequent dates : none of them was taken in arms or in the act of committing the offences alleged against them. On 13th April the Governor-General in Council, acting under the Bengal State Offences Regulation (X of 1804), which was extended to the Punjab by the Punjab Laws Act, 1872, made an order whereby he suspended the functions of the ordinary Criminal Courts within the districts of Lahore and Amritsar (and subsequently in Gujranwala and Gujrat) as regards the trial of persons for offences such as the appellants were charged with, and established Martial Law within those districts ; and by the same order he directed the immediate trial by Court Martial of all such persons. On 14th April the Governor-General in Council acting under s. 72 of the Government of India Act, 1915, made and promulgated the Martial Law Ordinances of 1919 whereby it was provided that every trial in the districts of Lahore and Amritsar (and the other districts) held under the Bengal State Offences Regulation, 1804, instead of being tried by Court Martial, should be held by a Commission of three persons appointed by the Local Government. S. 7 of Ordinance I of 1919 enacted that " save as provided by s. 6, the provisions of the Ordinance shall apply to all persons referred to in the Regulation who are charged with any of the offences therein described committed on or after the 13th April 1919." By Ordinance IV of 1919 made on 21st April the Commissioners were empowered to try any person charged with offences committed after March 30th, 1919. S. 65 of the Government of India Act, 1915, while giving the Governor-General in Council a general power to make laws for British India, enacted by sub-s. (2) that he should not be able to make " any law affecting the authority of Parliament, or any part of the unwritten law or constitution of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland whereon may depend in any degree the allegiance of any person to the Crown of the United Kingdom or affecting the sovereignty or dominion of the Crown over any part of British India," and by sub-s. (3) enacted that he should have no power " without the previous approval of the Secretary of State in Council to make any law empowering any Court other than a High Court to sentence to the punishment of death any of His Majesty's subjects born in Europe, or the children of such subjects, or abolishing any Court." By s. 72 the Governor-General in cases of emergency was empowered to make " Ordinances for the peace and good government of British India, which are to have, for not more than six months, the same force of law as Acts passed under s. 65, the power being subject to the restrictions in that section." The appellants, natives of India, were at the trial charged with offences under the Penal Code, and some of them were sentenced to death: Held, that Ordinance IV could not be construed as intended only to extend the operation of Ordinance I to offences committed before 13th April, but not earlier than the 30th March, and therefore did not apply only (like Ordinance I) to persons taken in the act of committing one of the offences specified in Regulation X of 1804. It was clearly stated in the recital introducing the Ordinance that its operation was not confined to the persons and offences described in the earlier Ordinance. Held, also, that Ordinance IV was not invalid by reason of sub-s. (2) of s. 65 of the Government of India Act, 1915, as stitution on w Majesty's subj not prevent the Indian Government from passing a law which may modify or affect a rule of the con-of India Act, 1915, as infringing the provision which prevents the Governor-General in Council from empowering any Court other than a High Court to sentence to death any of His Majesty's subjects born in Europe; for s. 2 of the Government of India Amendment Act, 1916, which at the end of s. 84 of the Act of 1915 has added a clause which enacts that "a law made by any authority in British India and repugnant to any provision of this or any other Act of Parliament shall, to the extent of that repugnancy, but not otherwise, be void." If Ordinance IV, therefore, contravened s. 65, sub-s. (3), and was repugnant to that section so far as British-born subjects are concerned, it is void only to the extent of that repugnancy. BUGGA v. KING-EMPEROR . . I. L. R. 1 Lah. 326

GOVERNOR-GENERAL IN COUNCIL—concld.

"GOWNA" CEREMONY.

———— gift at—

See HINDU LAW—GIFT. I. L. R. 37 Calc. 1

GRACE, DAYS OF.

———— for payment of rent—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT. I. L. R. 39 Mad. 834

GRAMOPADHYA.

See VATANDAR JOSHI. I. L. R 40 Bom. 112

GRANT.

See BOMBAY LAND REVENUE CODE, 1879, ss. 68 AND 79. I. L. R. 45 Bom. 920

ss. 56 AND 214. I. L. R. 39 Bom. 915

GRANT—contd.

See BOMBAY HEREDITARY OFFICES ACT (BOMBAY ACT III OF 1874), s. 15. I. L. R. 44 Bom. 237

See CUSTOM . I. L. R. 45 Calc. 835

See DEKKHAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF ACT, s. 2, EXPL. (b). I. L. R. 36 Bom. 151

See GRANT BY CROWN.

See INAM . I. L. R. 42 Mad. 673

See FISHERY . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 489

See HINDU LAW ADOPTION. I. L. R. 43 Bom. 778

See JAIGIR . I. L. R. 46 Calc. 685

See ITMAM . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 979

See MINERAL RIGHTS. I. L. R. 42 Calc. 346
I. L. R. 47 Calc. 95

See SARANJAM . I. L. R. 41 Bom. 403

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 10 . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 967

See VRITTI . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 409

———— as inam—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 155

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF 1908), s 8. . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 891
I. L. R. 41 Mad. 1012

s. 6 . . I. L. R. 59 Mad. 494

See MADRAS IRRIGATION CESS ACT. I. L. R. 40 Mad. 886

———— by Crown—

See FISHERY . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 489

———— conflicting descriptions of—

See LEASE . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 293

———— doctrine of—

See LEASE . . I. L. R. 36 All. 387

———— of melvaram—

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF 1908), s. 8 . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 891

———— to wife and minor son—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 10. . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 867

———— whether on political tenure—

See BOMBAY REVENUE JURISDICTION ACT 1876, s 12 . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 463

————

Tenancy by 1877), Sch. I Adverse posses not by itself make the possession of the holder

ance into a tenancy from year to year, and in such a case the limitation applicable is that provided by Article 139 of the Second Schedule to the Limitation Act. RAM CHANDRA SINGH v. BHIKHAMBAR SINGH (1910) . . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 674

GRANT—contd.

——— Grant of occupancy by Government under a kabuliyat—Condition as to resumption for Government purposes, that is, for Railway and other purposes—Sale by Government—Construction of the condition—Government full proprietors. Under a kabuliyat the occupancy of certain land had been granted to the plaintiff by the Collector subject only to the condition that it should be competent to Government to resume the land whenever it should be required by Government for Government purposes, that is, for Railway or other purposes. Afterwards the land was resumed and was sold to defendant 2 (from whose grandfather it was originally acquired for a Railway). The plaintiff, thereupon, brought the present suit against the Secretary of State for India in Council and defendant 2 for the recovery of the land on the ground that the sale to defendant 2 was not for Government purposes. Held, dismissing the suit, that Government were the proprietors of the land and as such they could resume it whenever they required it for their proprietary purposes. Government purposes must be construed as meaning that they were purposes of Government as the State proprietor, purposes which Government alone were entitled to prescribe in the exercise of their discretionary powers. SAPURLO SABSHETTI v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1912)

I. L. R. 36 Bom. 438

——— Ekrarnama—Lease or License—Construction—Practice. Where a grant involved a transfer of an interest in immovable property, the grantees were in the position of tenants; if it did not, they were at least in the position of licensees. Where in an on ekrarnama there were clauses by which the grantors reserved to themselves certain rights for limited purposes, but which, properly construed, gave the grantees exclusive possession of the property, the grant amounted to a lease. To give exclusive possession there need not be express words; it is sufficient if the nature of the acts to be done by the grantee requires that he should have exclusive possession. Roads v. The Overseers of Trumpington, L. R. 6 Q. B. 56, referred to. Distinction between a license and a lease lies in the fact that in the case of license there is no transfer of interest in land, whereas in the case of a lease there is transfer of such interest. Upon the construction of the instrument as a whole: Held, that the paramount intention of the parties was to create a present demise, and that the grantee was in the position of a tenant. MOHIPAL SINGH v. LALJI SINGH (1912) . . . 17 C. W. N. 166

——— Conduct of parties—Reliance on or ascertaining intention of grantor. Held, that reliance could not be placed on the conduct of the parties to ascertain the intention of the grantor except in the case of ancient grants where the terms are ambiguous. CHRISTIAN v. TEKAITNI NARBADDA KOERI (1914).

19 C. W. N. 796

——— Water-cess—Madras Water-cess Act (VII of 1865)—Free grant of water before—No right to impose water-cess thereafter. If for some consideration or other or even for no consideration a grant was before the passing of Madras Water-cess Act (VII of 1865) made by the Government, of a particular quantity of water or a certain definite share of the water of a tank to a person irrespective of the use he might make of it, the grant is in law a free grant and the Government is not entitled to any kind of payment thereafter for the water under Madras Act VII of 1865. Maria Susai Mudaliar v. The Secretary of State for India, 14 Mad. L. J. 350, followed. Secretary of State for India v. Swami Naratheeswarar, I. L. R. 34 Mad. 21, distinguished. VENKATASUBBIAH v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1912)

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 424

——— Grant for Barki service—Resumption of grant—Non-production of grant—Presumption as to right to resume cannot be made—Right of resumption must be proved. In the Bombay Presidency where Deshgat Vatan lands are granted for the performance of personal services, no presumption can be made that the grantor has the option to determine the services and to resume the lands. If a grantor takes up that position and claims that as his right, he must show either that the terms of the grant give him that right or if the terms of the grant are unknown, that the proved circumstances justify an inference that he has that right. YELLAVA SAKREPPA v. BHIMAPPA GIREPPA (1914) . . . . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 68

——— Grant of land, "besides poramboke"—Construction of—Padugai lands in Trichinopoly and Tanjore taluks, ownership of 'Padugai' meaning of. A grant of land by the Government acknowledging the grantee's title to a whole village consisting of certain specified area 'besides poramboke' gives the grantee a right to all the unassessed waste in the village such as waste or padugai land, i.e., land between a river-bed and the high flood bank of the river though it may not operate to give communal property such as burying-grounds, temple-sites, etc., to the grantee. Narayanasami v. Kanniappa, Second Appeal No. 1445 of 1910, and Secretary of State v. Kannapallee Venkataratnammah, 23 Mad. L. J. 109, referred to. Padugai land in Trichinopoly and Tanjore taluks mean land on the lower level bank breadth of the river between the edge of the sandy stream bed and the high flood level bank. SADASIVA AYYAR, J.—The grant of poramboke does not operate to give the grantee the bed of the river. Meaning of the word 'Poramboke.' considered. SECRETARY OF STATE v. RAGHUNATHA TATHACHARIAR (1912) . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 108

——— Custom of primogeniture—Grant by the Maharaja of Chota Nagpur—Impartibility of the estate—Proof of custom, onus of—Lex loci custom of Chota Nagpur—Meaning of putra pautradi. Certain grants of jaigirs by the Maharaja of Chota Nagpur to a person related to him or to his descendants dating from 1768 to 1786 were in terms to the grantee and his sons and grandsons (putra pautradi). The family of the grantee had for several generations interpreted the words "putra pautradi" in the literal sense, namely, to mean, son and son's son. Held, that at the time of these grants the words had not acquired in Chota Nagpur the technical meaning which according to the Privy Council in Lalit Mohun v. Chukkun Lal, L. R. 24 I. A. 76 : s. c. 1 C. W. N. 387, they came to have by 1868 when used in Wills executed in Bengal, and the grants in this case did not convey an absolute estate unconditioned and unlimited. Per ATKINSON, J.—That although as held by the Privy Council the words convey an absolute estate in lands descendable from generation to generation coupled with full power of alienation, those words of limitation may be controlled by custom limiting their scope and operation. Perkash Lal v. Rameswar Nath Singh, I. L. R. 31 Calc 561, 569, relied on.

GRANT—contd.

male descendant of that line dying leaving a widow, the Maharaja proceeded to resume the property whilst two brothers, the descendants of a younger son, claimed to succeed to the property. The disputes terminated in two deeds, one executed by the brothers agreeing that the widow should hold possession of the property as long as she lived upon payment of rent to the Maharaja and that they should take possession after her death, and the other by the Maharaja purporting on receipt of consideration to release the lands to the brothers in equal shares. Held, that as there was no failure of heir in the line of the grantee, the Maharaja had no right to resume and the sanad to the brothers was a nullity. Per CHAPMAN, J.—That as the younger of the brothers had the right to succeed on the death of the elder without male issue, his concurrence to the deed in favour of the widow might have been taken to avoid future trouble. Per ATKINSON, J.—That the agreement was ineffective to alter or vary the impartible the property so granted is deemed impartible and descends to the eldest male heir by lineal descent applies with greater force in the case of grants of raja's family, but also as the lex loci custom of Chota Nagpur. GAJENDRA NATH SAHI DEO v. MATHURA NATH SAHI DEO (1916)

1 Pat. L. J. 109
20 C. W. N. 873

———— Presumption of lost grant—In absence of proof of legal title, on the basis of user exercised and enjoyed. Where a Court is asked to presume a grant in favour of a party in the nature of a lost grant, i.e., a lawful origin of a long and continuous user and enjoyment of property in the absence of legal proof of title, it should presume a grant on the basis of the user exercised and enjoyed by that party. NAWAGARH COAL COMPANY, LD. v. BRIJABILAL TRIGUNAIT (1916)

20 C. W. N. 1135

———— Grant by Government—Is bounded by a non-navigable river—Right of grantee to half the bed of the river, presumption as to—Onus of proving contrary on grantor. Held, by the Full Bench, (i) that in the case of a grant of land by Government described as bounded by a non-navigable river, the presumption (which may be strong or weak according to circumstances of each case) is that the grant passes to the grantee the bed of the river ad medium filum aquae, and (ii) that the onus of showing the contrary is on the grantor. VENKATA LAKSHMINARASAMMA v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE (1918) . . I. L. R. 41 Mad. 840

———— Grant by zamindar of Talabi Brahmottar tenure—Antecedent to Permanent Settlement—Tenures, permanent, hereditary, and transferable—Grantee, rights of, to minerals—Absence of express evidence that they formed part of the grant—Protraction of Indian litigation. A "grant" in India has not the special and technical meaning attached to the same word in English law. A Talabi Brahmottar grant of a zamindar's village at a fixed rent made before the Permanent Settlement by the then Raja of Pachete to the prede-

Minerals will not be held to have formed part of the grant, in the absence of express evidence to that effect. Hari Narayan Singh Deo v. Sriram Chakravarti, I. L. R. 37 Calc. 723 ; L. R. 37 I. A. 136, and Durga Prasad Singh v. Braja Nath Bose, I. L. R. 39 Calc. 696 ; L. R. 39 I. A. 133, followed. Protraction of Indian litigation deprecated. SHASHI BHUSAN MISRA v. JYOTI PRASAD SINGH DEO (1916) . . . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 585 ———— Grant of land, proof of—Title-deeds, what are—Original grant not forthcoming—Subsequen derived, if them as title-parties—Error vitiating judgment—Real question not considered—Drainage-channel, dispute between vary boundaries in title-deeds. Plaintiffs who sued for recovery of possession of a strip of land lying between their premises and a public road, including a khal or nulla which lay between the said premises and the road, proved a clear title for over 50 years by a succession of duly registered conveyances, mortgages, reconveyances and other title-deeds and also proved that during that period they had that Government would include it in their grant without securing the continued maintenance in the public interest of a water channel which existed from time out of memory and played a conspicuous part in the drainage system of the local Municipality; and that in the absence of the original grant none of the other documents referred to in the case could be regarded as "being in any sense title-deeds," they being "obviously insufficient to create title" and being "at most mere assertions of title made from time to time by the predecessors-in-interest of the plaintiffs." In this view, it treated the case as though it was one in which the Court had nothing relevant before it but the conduct of the parties to decide whether the plaintiffs or the defendant Municipality were entitled to the land. Held, affirming the trial Judge, that it was scarcely possible to conceive of a clearer title by deeds than that which was proved by the plaintiffs, and the High Court was wrong in saying that the plaintiffs had no title-deeds—in consequence of which error it never considered the real question in the case. That having regard to the boundary consistently found in the deeds, which was stated to be the public road, it was impossible to hold that the title of the plaintiffs went up only to the centre line of the khal and thus make the deeds convey lands marked out by different metes and bounds from that which there appeared. JOHN KING & Co. v. HOWRAH MUNICIPALITY (1914)

GRANT—contd.

18 C. W. N. 898

———— Resumption of grant—Deshgat Vatan—Grant for peon's services—Resumption of grant—Grant burdened with service, primâ facie irresumable—Grant of office to which lands are annexed by way of remuneration, primâ facie resumable—Burden of proof. In the Bombay Presidency where ancient grants of lands are sought to be resumed, all grants of the kind for the purpose of applying the law of resumption fall into two main categories: (i) grants of lands burdened with service, and (ii) grants of office to which lands are annexed by way of remuneration instead of or along with cash. The former grants are always irresumable, unless the grantor can show that they have been specially conditioned so as to enable him to resume for failure to perform these services, or at his own will to discontinue the services and resume lands. Grants under the second category are always resumable, unless the grantee can show that they have been specially conditioned otherwise so as to prevent their resumability. CHANDRAPPA v. BHIMA BIN DASSAPPA (1918) . . . I. L. R. 43 Bom. 37

———— Of land by owner not running with any specified plots if binding on assignees from owner—Privy Council, leave to appeal to to—Certificates granted in exercise of discretion, requirements of—Grant or covenant—Covenant not running with the land, does not bind assignees—Grant not vesting in present, but to take effect by entry at an uncertain future date, offending against rule of perpetuities. It is of the utmost importance that certificates of leave to appeal to the Privy Council, when it is suggested that they are made in the exercise of discretion conferred, should make plain upon their face that the discretion has in fact been exercised. In an agreement between the Raja of Paresnath Hills and the Sitambari Jain Society the former stipulated that "if the Society shall require any place on the Hill and below thereof at Madhuban for erecting mandir and dharamsala and for doing repairs and making bricks for the said purpose, in that case I and my heirs shall give for making mandir, dharamsala and bricks, land, stones from the hill and timber, free of costs and if I and my heirs refuse to give, in that case the Sitambari Jain Society shall take the same of its own power." The Sitambari Jain Society on proceeding to exercise this power was resisted by the defendants who subsequently to the agreement had acquired leasehold interests in lands on which the Society sought to erect a temple: Held, that the agreement did not create in the Society some present estate or interest which would prevent the owner from making a grant to the defendants: and the covenant not being one running with the land could not be enforced against the assignees from the Raja. That if the agreement were regarded as one to grant in the future whatever land might be selected as a site for a temple, as the only interest created would be one to take effect by entry at a later date and as this date was uncertain, the provision was bad as offending the rule against perpetuities. MAHARAJ BAHADUR SINGH v. BALCHAND CHAUDHURY (P. C.) . . . 25 C. W. N. 770

GRANT—concld.

GRANTEES.

———— estate of—

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT (IV OF 1882), s. 10 . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 867

GRANTOR AND GRANTEE.

See ADVERSE POSSESSION.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 173

See RENT . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 278

See TITLE . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 771

GRATUITOUS PAYMENT.

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872), s. 70.
I. L. R. 40 All. 555

GRAVEL.

———— stocking of, on a military road—

See TORT . . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 351

GRAVEYARD.

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—ENDOWMENT.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 297

———— Trespass—Erection of a shed over a visible grave in a disused private graveyard—Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), s. 297. The erection of a shed over a visible grave belonging to the complainant's family in a disused grave-yard, claimed to be private property of the trespasser with the knowledge that the feelings of the complainant would be likely to be thereby wounded, is an offence under s. 297 of the Penal Code. Per RICHARDSON, J.—The word "trespass" in s. 297 has not the same meaning as "criminal trespass" in s. 441 of the Code, but implies any violent or injurious act committed in the place, and with the knowledge or intent, defined in s. 297. JHULAN SAIN v. EMPEROR (1913) . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 548

GREAT-GRANDFATHER'S SON'S DAUGHTER'S SON—

See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION.
I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1

GRIEVOUS HURT.

See PENAL CODE.

ss. 100, 325 . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 105
ss. 300, 325, EXCEP. 4.
I. L. R. 35 All. 329
I. L. R. 40 All. 686
ss. 304, 325 . I. L. R. 40 All. 103
I. L. R. 42 All. 302

See RIOTING . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 43

GROUND-RENT.

——— exemption from, to be express—
See RIGHT OF SUIT.
I. L. R. 36 Mad. 373

GROUNDS OF FORFEITURE.

See FORFEITURE . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 466

GROUNDS OF BELIEF.

See AFFIDAVIT . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 259

GROUNDS OF REVISION.

See CRIMINAL REVISION.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 41

GROVE LAND.

See AGRA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1901)—
s. 4 . . I. L. R. 35 All. 200
ss. 4, 167 . I. L. R. 39 All. 605
ss. 18 AND 88 . I. L. R. 43 All. 606
ss. 19 AND 58 . I. L. R. 42 All. 36
See LANDLORD AND TENANT.
I. L. R. 34 All. 545
See MORTGAGE . I. L. R. 41 All. 45
See OUDH RENT ACT.

——— Mortgage and sale of a grove—Claim of mortgagors to be ex-proprietary tenants—"Sir." Land which is simply grove and not agricultural land cannot be sir of the proprietor, of which he could become the proprietary tenant, even though it may have been recorded as sir in the village papers. BHAGWAN DIN v. PIARI LAL
I. L. R. 42 All. 483

——— Customary rights of grove-holder—Right to maintain grove by plantation of new trees—Wajib-ul-arz—Relation of rights to debar a grove-holder from his usual right to as a grove had ceased to be grove-land and for an injunction to prevent him planting more trees thereon, it was found that the grove-holder had for some years been planting trees to replace trees which had fallen, and this without interference on the part of the zamindars, also, on a construction of the wajib-ul-arz, that, although the planting of new groves or trees without the permission of the zamindars was forbidden, there was no specific provision barring the customary right of a grove-holder to replace dead or fallen trees, and the conclusion was that the grove-holder still possessed the customa[ry] right of a grove-holder to plant fresh trees. CHOKHE LAL v. BIHARI LAL

I. L. R. 42 All. 634

GUARANTEE.

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872), ss. 126, 128 . . I. L. R. 42 Bom. 444

——— continuing—
See CONTRACT . L. R. 47 I. A. 164

——— contract of—
See PRINCIPAL AND SURETY.
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 978

——— Letter of—
See CONSTRUCTION OF DOCUMENT.
16 C. W. N. 769

——— Contract, construction, of—Whether contingent or unconditional agreement—Inadmissibility of evidence of what took place after the execution of the contract on question of its construction—Contract Act (IX of 1872), ss. 32, 34, 56 and 65. The question for determination in this appeal was the construction of the following letter dated 7th August, 1909, which was signed by the defendant, and given to the plaintiffs as security for the repayment of the loan of Rs. 1½ lakhs mentioned therein:—"In consideration of your having at my request acceded to the proposal of the Secretaries, Treasurers and Agents of the Tricumdas Mills Company, Limited, to advance to the Mills Rs. 1½ lakhs, I hereby bind myself to procure a loan within two weeks of Rs. 11 lakhs on the first mortgage of the Mills' block property, and to pay you thereout the said sum of Rs. 1½ lakhs agreed to be advanced by you to the Mills." In a suit for damages for breach of the contract contained in the letter, the Courts in India held and to pay thereout Rs. 1½ lakhs to the plaintiffs. Held (reversing that decision), that on its true construction the document amounted to a substantial undertaking by the defendant that a loan of Rs. 11 lakhs should be procured, and that out of that loan the sum of Rs. 1½ lakhs should be repaid to the plaintiffs. Semble: Evidence of what took place after the execution of the document was not admissible on the question of its construction. VISSANJI SONS & CO. v. SHAPURJI BURJORJI (1912)

I. L. R. 36 Bom. 387

GUARDIAN.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE ACT (XIV OF 1882), s. 443 . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 202
See COMPROMISE.
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 469
See COSTS . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 374
See GUARDIAN AD LITEM.
See GUARDIANS AND WARDS ACT (VIII OF 1890).
See HINDU LAW—CO-PARCENER.
I. L. R. 41 Mad. 561
See HINDU LAW—GUARDIAN.
See HINDU LAW—REVERSIONER.
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 590
See HINDU LAW—WILL.
I. L. R. 37 Bom. 18
See LUNACY ACT (IV OF 1912), s. 72.
I. L. R. 39 All. 158

GUARDIAN—contd.

See Mahomedan Law—Guardian.

See Mahomedan Law—marriage.
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 351

See Minor.

———— alienation by—

See Guardian and Ward Act, 1890, s. 7.
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 38

See Hindu Law—Guardian.
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1125

See Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Art. 44 . . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 742

———— application by—

See Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1890), s. 25 . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 433

———— application for execution by—

See Limitation Act (XV of 1877), s. 8, Sch. II, Art. 179, Expl. I.
I. L. R. 34 Bom. 672

———— appointment of—

See Minor . L. R. 41 I. A. 314
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 802

———— for marriage—

See Mahomedan Law—Marriage.
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 351

———— natural, right of, to manage, pending appointment—

See Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1890), s. 34.
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 775

———— powers of—

See Mahomedan Law—Minor.
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 514

1. ———— Hindu widow—Re-marriage—Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1890), s. 39—Whether a Hindu widow appointed guardian under the Act loses her right of guardianship on re-marriage—Hindu Widow's Re-marriage Act (XV of 1856), s. 3. A Hindu widow who has obtained a certificate of guardianship in respect of the person and property of her infant sons, does not, merely on her re-marriage, lose her right to act as guardian of the minors. Ganga Pershad Sahu v. Jhalo 1911) . . . . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 862

2. ———— Appointment of nazir as guardian of the property of the minors by Court—Minor—Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1890), ss. 8, 13—Applications by mother and grandmother—Purdanashin lady—Recording of Evidence. Where a mother and grandmother of two minors separately applied to be appointed guardian of the persons and property of the minors and during the pendency of their applications it was agreed that a certain person should be appointed guardian of the property, but he refused to take up the appointment, the District Judge without holding an enquiry into the respective merits of the applications made an order appointing the Nazir of the Court to be the guardian of the property of the minors: Held, that the Court had no power to make an order appointing a guardian except on a substantive application under s. 8 of the Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1890), and that the appointment of the Nazir was ultra vires. Under s. 13 of the Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1890) the Court is bound to hear such evidence as may be adduced in support of or in opposition to the application before passing an order. The mere fact of the mother being a purdanashin lady was no obstacle to her being appointed guardian of the property; the safe custody of the property and its due administration could be sufficiently guaranteed by security being taken from the proposed guardian by the Court. Jaiwanti Kumri v. Gajadhar Upadhya (1911) . . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 783

3. ———— Guardians and Wards Act, VIII of 1890—Orders under, made without jurisdiction—Proceedings not had bonâ fide orders in—Consent obtained by judicial pressure—Judge, no arbitrator. One D died leaving a minor unmarried daughter by a predeceased wife and three widows. One R with a view to secure the marriage of his son with the girl (so that ultimately the property left by D might pass into the hands of the representatives of his own family) got the maternal grandfather of the girl, who was his servant, to apply for the appointment of himself as the guardian of the property and person of the minor, but no part of D's property had yet vested in her, the widows being according to Hindu law D's heirs. The widows objected to the application, but the District Judge having, owing to a misconception, passed orders directing that unless the widows placed their properties in charge of R he would remove the girl, whom they dearly loved, from their custody to that of the maternal grandfather, they were induced to grant a lease of the properties to R, after which they were made to present an application for the appointment of themselves as guardians of the person of the girl and they were formally appointed as guardians. Held, that no guardian was needed for the protection of the person of the girl and she had no property of which a possible guardian could take charge. The application of the widows for appointment as guardians of her person was not voluntary, and the application of the maternal grandfather was not made bonâ fide, and the orders passed by the Judge were without jurisdiction. "Orders passed in proceedings so instituted and conducted, even if they were nominally in conformity with statutory provisions could hardly be regarded as invested with the efficacy of legal orders made in bonâ fide judicial proceedings." That the Judge could not be deemed in this case to have acted as an arbitrator chosen by the parties voluntarily, the ladies having in fact acted under judicial pressure of the highest degree to which they were not in a position to offer effectual and successful resistance, and, consequently, Ledgard v. Bull, I. L. R. 9 All. 191, L. R. 13 I. A. 134, did not apply. Sahadra Koer v. Ramadin Chowdry (1911) . . . . 16 C. W. N. 444

4. ———— Testamentary Guardian—Appointment by implication. Where a testator by his will appointed one D whom he called his "trusted friend" the executor and provided that D was on his death to take care of and supervise all his properties and manage his family and educate and maintain his sons S and N: Held, that these words amounted to appointing D guardian of both the persons and the properties of S and N. Dhananjay Bhunjo v Nema Chand Das (1917) . 21 C. W. N. 1134

5. ———— Will—Minor—Hindu widow—Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1890), s. 7, sub-

GUARDIAN—contd.

s. (3)—Appointment of guardian to a minor widow—Whether before probate taken out, will may be considered in connection with appointment of guardian to a minor. In an application for the appointment of a guardian of a minor, the Court is bound to consider a will, although probate has not been granted. The fact that there is a contest as to the validity of the will may induce the Court to exercise its discretion one way or the other, but it is not open to the Court to say it will refuse to take notice of the will. Sayad Shahu v. Hapija Begam, I. L. R. 17 Bom 560, Chinnasami v. Hariharabadra, I. L. R. 16 Mad. 380, and Pathan Ali Khan Badlukhan v. Bai Panibai, I. L. R. 19 Bom. 832, referred to. SARALA SUNDARI DEBI v. HAZARI DASI DEBI (1915) . . . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 953

6.———— Hindu father—Entrusting sons for custody and education in England to another person who defrays expense of their maintenance and education—Revocation of such authority and demand for sons to be restored to his custody—Suit to enforce demand in District Court—Questions to be determined in such a suit—Jurisdiction of the District Court—Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1890), s. 9—Ordinarily resident, meaning of—Suit, not the Court of competent jurisdiction in India could do under the circumstances—Order declaring a guardian, when to be made—Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1890), s. 19—Order declaring a guardian during as of rd-

he cannot therefore during his lifetime substitute of his children require it, he can, notwithstanding any contract to the contrary, take such custody and education once more into his own hands. If associations or give rise to expectations on the part of the infants which it would be undesirable in their interests to disturb or disappoint, such Court will interfere to prevent its revocation. Lyons v. Blenkin, (1821) Jac. 245, followed. The plaintiff (respondent) a Brahman residing at Madras, and having only a small income, had been for many years a member of the Theosophical Society of which the defendant (appellant) was President. He had two sons born respectively on 11th May 1895 and 30th May 1898. In 1910 the in February 1912 taken by her to England where she left them after making arrangements for giving them a course of tuition such as would enable them to enter the University. For reasons, to which it is unnecessary to refer, the respondent, on 11th

GUARDIAN—contd.

May 1912, cancelled his previous letter of 6th June 1910 and demanded that his sons should be restored to his custody, and on the appellant (then in India) refusing to comply with his demand he instituted in the District Court of Chingleput the present suit which was transferred to the High Court at Madras under clause 13 of the Letters Patent, 1865, and in the absence of the sons a decree was made and affirmed on appeal declaring that they were wards of Court, that the respondent was guardian of their persons, and ordering the appellant to make over custody of them to the respondent: Held, that the suit was entirely misconceived, that the respondent remained guardian of his sons notwithstanding that he had substituted the appellant in his place, that letter of 6th June 1910 has a revocable authority and that the real questions for decision were whether, in the events that had happened, the respondent was at liberty to revoke the authority, and was still entitled to exercise the functions of guardian, and resume the custody of his sons, and alter the scheme which had been formulated for their edu-tion of the Crown over infants and in their presence, that the District Court had no jurisdiction over them except such as was conferred by the Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1890) which was confined to infants ordinarily resident in the district and as the infants who had months previously left India with a view to being educated in England and going to the University of Oxford, could not be said to be ordinarily resident in the district of Chingleput, that Court had no jurisdiction in the matter, that a suit inter parties is not the form of the Letters Patent, 1865, would seem to be confined to the powers which, but for the transfer, might have been exercised by the District Court, that a take bring ago

could not be enforced if they refused to return to India and ought not to have been made, that the most which a Court of competent jurisdiction could do under the circumstances such as existed in the present case was to order the appellant to concur with the respondent as the infants' guardian in taking proceedings in England to retain the custody and control of his sons: Held, further, that with respect to the order declaring the infants wards of the Court and appointing the respondent as their guardian which the District Court could not have made in a suit which it was alleged that the High Court could in its general jurisdiction make; that whatever may have been the jurisdiction of the High Court, to declare infants wards of the Court, an order declaring a guardian could only be made if the interests of the infants required it, and that an order made when the infants were not before the Court and without adequately considering them their interest could not be supported, that no order declaring a guardian could by reason of s. 19 of the Guardians and Wards Act, 1890, be made during respondent's life unless, in the opinion of the Court, he was unfit to be their guardian. Since the admission of the appeal the infants had been allowed to intervene, and they stated through counsel that they did not wish to return to India and abandon the chances of a University education in England. The appeal was allowed, and the suit dismissed without prejudice to any application the respondent might think fit to make to the High Court in England touching the guardianship, custody and maintenance of his children. BESANT v. NARAYANIAH (1914) . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 807

GUARDIAN—contd.

7. ——————— To minor girl—mother or grandmother—right of selecting bridegroom —Hindu Law. Held, that under Hindu Law the mother is, after the father, the natural and legal guardian of her minor daughter, and she does not lose her right by re-marriage where such re-marriage is recognised as valid by custom. Mussammat Nur Bibi v. Mussammat Mehran (44 P. R. 1887) and Ganga Pershad v. Jhalo (I. L. R. 38 Calc. 862), referred to—also Mayne's Hindu Law, 8th edition, page 276 and Ram Krishna's Hindu Law, Vol. II, pages 406-407. Held, also, that the mother or a maternal grandmother has a preferential title to the guardianship of a girl to a paternal grandfather. Mussammat Ambo v. Ganga Sahai (18 Indian Cases 141), Mussammat Fatima v. Mussammat Rani (28 Indian Cases 507) and Bindo v. Sham Lal (I. L. R. 29 All. 210), referred to. Held, further, that Hindu Law does not confer on the grandfather a right to dispose of his grand-daughter in marriage in opposition to the wishes of the mother, but gives the latter preferential right to select a bridegroom. Ranganaiki v. Ramanuja (I. L. R. 35 Mad. 728), Bai Ramkore v. Jamnadas (I. L. R. 37 Bom. 18), Mul Chand v. Bhudhia (I. L. R. 22 Bom. 812), and Mussammat Maya Devi v. Ram Chand (20 P. R. 1916), referred to—also Dayal v. Narain Das (64 P. R. 1884) and Mayne's Hindu Law, 8th edition, page 101. MUSSAMMAT INDI v. GHANIA . I. L. R. 1 Lah. 646

GUARDIAN AD LITEM.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1882, ss. 440-445.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908)—

Ss. 47 AND 50. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1076

s. 99. 25 C. W. N. 258

O. IX. R. 13. I. L. R. 37 All. 179
I. L. R. 39 All. 8

O. XXXII, R. 4. I. L. R. 43 All. 104

R. 7. I. L. R. 39 Mad. 853
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 574

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY. I. L. R. 35 All. 571

See MINOR . I. L. R. 32 All. 287
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 535

See MORTGAGE . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 897

See MORTGAGE DECREE. 4 Pat. L. J. 213

——————— Person of unsound mind. The provisions of the Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882) with respect to the representation of lunatics not being exhaustive, a guardian ad litem should be assigned to a defendant who is of unsound mind although not so found. LAKHYA DASYA v. UMA KANTA CHAKERBUTTY (1909) 14 C. W. N. 256

——————— Joint Hindu family—Suit on mortgage against father and sons—Irregular appointment of father as guardian of minor sons—Ex parte decree—Suit by sons to recover their shares. In a suit for sale on a mortgage executed by the father of a joint family governed by the Mitakshara the plaintiffs impleaded as defendants the father and his three sons, two of whom were minors. The plaintiffs named the father as guardian ad litem of the minors but no steps were taken, as required by the rules of the High Court, to ascertain whether the father was willing to act as guardian. The father did not appear, and an ex parte decree was passed, in execution whereof the family property was sold. Subsequently, on attaining majority, the minor sons brought a suit for possession of their shares; alleged that the original debt was an immoral debt which they were not bound to discharge, and also they had not been legally represented in the previous suit. The Court of first instance having dismissed the suit without going into the merits, the lower Appellate Court made an order of remand. Held, that there had been a serious irregularity, if nothing worse in the appointment of the father as guardian ad lietem, and as it was impossible to tell, without knowing to what extent the plaintiffs were in a position to establish their case regarding the immorality of the debt, how far the appointment of their father as guardian had prejudiced them, the order of remand was right. BAIJNATH RAI v. DHARAM DEO TIWARI (1916) . . . I. L. R. 38 All. 315 ——————— Absence of proposed guardian's consent to appointment, effect of—Whether person who has executed a bond on behalf of minor should be appointed guardian ad litem in a suit on the bond. Mere omission to obtain the consent of a person appointed guardian ad litem to a minor is not a defect which is fatal to a suit against the minor unless the minor is prejudiced by the omission. The Court however should be jealous on behalf of the infant. Where a mother, with full knowledge of its contents, executed a bond on behalf of her minor son, for necessity, and the son benefited by the money, held, on a plea that the mother should not, in a suit on the bond, have been appointed guardian ad litem to the minor, that the mother had no interest in the suit adverse to the minor and that the appointment was not improper. To succeed on a plea of adverse interest a particular adverse interest must be proved. The Courts will not act on surmise 2 Pat. L. J. 390

GUARDIAN AND MANAGER.

——————— power of—

See SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE. I. L. R. 39 Calc. 232

GUARDIAN AND MINOR.

See ARBITRATION. I. L. R. 43 Calc. 290

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872), ss. 10 AND 11 . . I. L. R. 33 All. 657

GUARDIAN AND MINOR—contd.

See GUARDIANS AND WARDS ACT (VIII OF 1890) CH. II.
I. L. R. 36 All. 282

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—ALIENATION.
I. L. R. 34 All. 213

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—GUARDIAN.
I. L. R. 36 All. 280

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—MINOR.
I. L. R. 38 All. 466

See MAJORITY ACT (IX OF 1875), s. 3.
I. L. R. 35 All. 150

See MORTGAGE . I. L. R. 38 All. 92

———— mistake of guardian—

See RES JUDICATA.
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 805

———— Contract—Specific performance—Specific performance of a contract not favourable to minor refused. The District Judge sanctioned the sale by the certificated guardian ... minor for a ... wever, some ... of sale and ... Meanwhile other offers were made for the property, and ulti- ... at the house ... ,000. Held, ... e favour the ... at the Court was in the circumstances justified in refusing to grant a decree for specific performance. Chhitar Mal v. Jagan Nath Prasad, I. L. R. 29 All. 213, referred to. IMAMI v. MUSAMMAT KALLO (1916)
I. L. R. 38 All. 433

GUARDIAN AND WARD.

See GUARDIANS AND WARDS ACT (VIII OF 1890)—

S. 17 . . I. L. R. 33 All. 222

Ss. 30, 47, 48 . I. L. R. 42 All. 514

S. 41 . . I. L. R. 42 All. 1

See PENAL CODE, 1860, s. 361.
I. L. R. 42 All. 146

GUARDIANS AND WARDS ACT (VIII OF 1890).

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—WAKF.
I. L. R. 39 All. 288

———— Jurisdiction of District Court—No power to order payment of money for minor's marriage by person not guardian—Concurrent jurisdictions when order passed under one jurisdiction can be taken to be passed under another. The Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1890) does not give the District Court any power or authority over persons other than the guardian or the minor ... or not and for the purpose of restoring the ward to the custody of the guardian. Under the Guardian and Wards Act no order can be passed directing a person not a guardian to pay a sum of money for ...

GUARDIANS AND WARDS ACT (VIII OF 1890)—contd.

order cannot be treated as a decree in a suit. The two jurisdictions are wholly distinct though exercisable by the same official. Sadasiva Pillai v. Ramalinga Pillai, L. R. 2 I. A. 219, and Ledgard v. Bull, I. L. R. 9 All. 191, distinguished. SOMAKKA v. RAMIAH (1913) . I. L. R. 36 Mad. 39 ———— Petition under, whether only remedy for a father seeking custody of his child—Suit by father for custody of his minor child in ordinary Civil Courts of the mufassal, maintainability of. No mufassal Court has jurisdiction to entertain a suit by a father for the custody of his child. Besant v. Narayaniah, I. L. R. 38 Mad. 807, at p. 820, relied on. Achratlal Jekisandas v. Chimanlal Parbhudas, I. L. R. 40 Bom. 600, not followed. SATHI v. RAMANDI PANDARAM (1919)

I. L. R. 42 Mad. 647

... the age of 18, notwithstanding (that under) the Shafi School to which he is subject, his personal emancipation would have taken place when he attained the age of 15 or when he attained puberty between the ages of 9 and 15. The word "guardian" in s. 21 includes the guardianship both of persons and property. Reade v. Krishna, I. L. R. 9 Mad. 391, followed. Per NAPIER, J.—The object of ss. 24 and 25 is to declare the right of the guardian of the person of a minor to the continuous custody of his person and to provide a machinery for enforcing it. The writ of Habeas Corpus proceeds on the fact of an illegal restraint and can have no application to cases where there is no question of restraint. IBRAHIM NACHI v. IBRAHIM SAHIB (1915) . . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 608

———— ss. 4 (2), 24, 25, 26, 41, 47—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—MARRIAGE.
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 351

———— ss. 5 to 20 (Chapter II)—

———— Procedure—Evidence. Three persons applied to the District Judge to be appointed guardian of the person and property of a minor. The Judge asked the Collector to say which of the three was the fittest. He in turn called for a report from the girdawar qanungo who reported in favour of the respondent. The District Judge thereupon appointed him as guardian of the person and property of the minor. Held, that the report could not be treated in law as evidence and that the Judge should have called the different claimants before him. SUBHAG SINGH v. RAGHUNANDAN SINGH . I. L. R. 36 All. 282

———— s. 7—Appointment of guardian—Welfare of minor—Application for appointment of guardian, if may be summarily rejected—Contents of application—Grounds for dismissal—Mala fide application—Amendment of petition. The key-note to the Guardians and Wards Act lies in the introductory words of s. 7 that proceedings under this Act are to be taken for the benefit of the minor. If an application is made for an ulterior purpose it ought not to be entertained. Before proceeding with it the Court should under s. 11 be satisfied that there is ground for proceeding with the application. One of the material facts to be taken into consideration is the cause or causes which led to the making of the application. Where the real object of the application by a husband for appointment as guardian of his minor wife was to recover her from the custody of her father who, on his part, alleged ill-treatment of his daughter by the husband, but this object was not disclosed in the application: Held, that it was within the powers of the Judge to dismiss the application summarily on the ground that it did not disclose the cause which led to the making of the application as required by s. 10, sub-s. (1), cl. (k) of the Act. The Court being satisfied that the application was wholly malâ fide and not for the benefit of the minor, it refused permission to the petitioner to amend his petition. SARAT CHANDRA NANDAN v. GIRINDRA CHANDRA GUIN (1910) . . . 15 C. W. N. 457 ———— ss. 7 (2), 29 and 30—Guardian appointed by Court encumbrance of minor's property by natural guardian while Court guardian in existence—Encumbrance void—Void deed no consideration for fresh contract on attaining majority. The appointment of a guardian under the Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1890) has the effect of extinguishing the rights of the minor's natural guardian to deal with the minor's property. Where the natural guardian with rights thus extinguished but purporting to act as a de facto guardian encumbered the minor's property with his consent: Held, that the encumbrances were null and void. An encumbrance thus created without authority cannot be ratified by the minor on attaining majority. There can be no ratification of a transaction which is void owing to the promisor possessing no contractual capacity at the time. Nor can a void deed form a good consideration for a fresh contract made by the minor on attaining majority. ARUMUGUM CHETTI v. DURAISINGA TEVAR (1914) I. L. R. 37 Mad. 38

GUARDIANS AND WARDS ACT (VIII OF 1890)—contd.

———— s. 7—contd.

———— s. 7 (3)—

See GUARDIAN . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 953

———— s. 7—Application for guardianship of property—Resistance to the guardianship order on the ground that the property was joint-family property—Elaborate inquiries into the character of the property not competent—Summary nature of the inquiry. In an application for guardianship of a minor's property under s. 7 of the Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1890), the applicant alleged that the property was the separate property of the minor's husband. The opponents resisted the application contending that the property was joint-family property which had survived to them. The Court conducted a lengthy inquiry into the character of the property, and having come to the conclusion that it was joint, rejected the application. The applicant having appealed: Held, reversing the order, inasmuch as the application was made on the footing and with the claim, that the minor was separately entitled to separate property the Court ought to appoint a guardian of the property of the minor, and leave it to him to institute suits for the recovery of the property. S. 7 of the Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1890) contemplates only a summary enquiry followed by an order made for the welfare of the minor. GURAPPA SHIVGENAPPA v. TAYAWA SHIDDAPPA (1916) . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 513

———— ss. 8, 13—

See GUARDIAN . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 783

———— ss. 8, 11, 21—Application, by relative or friend of minor—Notifying such application, object of—Step-mother, if disqualified from being guardian of person of step-son, where parties governed by Mitakshara school of Hindu law—Purdanashin lady, if may be appointed guardian of person and property of infant—Minor step-mother, if competent to act as guardian of infant adopted son—Considerations which should guide Courts in appointing guardian—Appointment of stranger as guardian of person. One Dayanidhi died leaving a widow S, a daughter and an infant son whom he had adopted during the life-time of his first wife before marrying S. The widow applied to be appointed guardian of the person and property of the infant: the application was opposed by the relations of her husband. The objection was that the widow was herself a minor and was not competent as a purdanashin lady to take effective charge of the person and property of the infant, and that the application in substance was not made bonâ fide in the best interests of the minor concerned. One of the objectors proposed that G, a pleader, who was related both to the widow and to the infant, should be appointed guardian and the Collector also acting under s. 8 of the Guardians and Wards Act intimated to the District Judge that a guardian should be appointed, and that the other objector was the most suitable person available for appointment as guardian. The District Judge appointed G guardian of the person and property of the infant: Held, that the petition of objection suggesting the appointment of G as guardian was in substance an application by a relative or friend of the minor for the appointment of a guardian within the meaning of s. 8, cl. (b) of the Act, and that the fact that this application was not notified in accordance with s. 11 did not constitute a fatal defect inasmuch as the object of s. 11 is to bring the application to the notice of persons interested in opposing it, and in the present case all the persons interested in the matter of the appointment of a suitable guardian for the minor were present before the Court. That under the Mitakshara school of Hindu law the step-mother is not the heir of her step-son and she cannot be deemed disqualified from being appointed guardian of the step-son on that ground. That it cannot be laid down as an inflexible rule of law that a purdanashin lady should not be appointed guardian of the person and property of her infant son, but in the circumstances of the present case the widow could not be appointed guardian of the property of the infant with any prospect of advantage to the infant. That s. 21 of the Act clearly refers to the guardian of the person of an infant and there is much force in the contention that the section is wide enough to cover the case of an adopted son and the step-mother, even if a minor, is competent to act as guardian of the person of the infant adopted son. That in the matter of mother should be appointed guardian of the person of the infant, such appointment being for the benefit of the infant. The effect of the appointment of a stranger as the guardian of the person of a minor considered. SUNDARMANI DEI v. GOKULANAND CHOWDHURY (1912)

GUARDIANS AND WARDS ACT (VIII OF 1890)—contd.

——— ss. 8, 11—contd.

18 C. W. N. 160

——— s. 9—

See MINOR . I. L. R. 48 Calc. 802

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—GUARDIAN.

I. L. R. 36 All. 280

——— Application for guardianship of minor—Jurisdiction—Domicile—Place leaving him surviving a widow and two sons, Lallu and Wadilal, the latter a minor, who all lived in the house. Panachand's widow died about a year his minor brother, who was also baptized in the American Mission Boarding House at that place Afterwards Lallu renounced Christianity and in the beginning of February 1909 clandestinely

the Mission

d him in the

The minor

March 1909, and on the next day he was removed from Ahmedabad at the instance of the appellant, a member of the

to Baro

an appl

for his appointment as the guardian of the minor person. The appellant (opponent) at whose instance the minor was taken back to Baroda, contended that inasmuch as the minor lived at Baroda which was beyond the Court's jurisdiction, the Court had no jurisdiction to entertain Lallu's application under s 9 of the Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1890). The Court dismissed Lallu's application, he being found unfit for the appointment, but in the same proceeding appointed the respondent, a Jain Pleader, on his application, as the guardian of the minor's person and property, on the ground that as the minor lived with his father till the father's death at Kapadwanj which was within the jurisdiction of the Court and as the minor's domicile followed that of his father which was Kapadwanj, the minor's domicile was in British India and he ordinarily resided within the Court's jurisdiction. Held, on appeal by the opponent, setting aside the order, that the question of domicile was wholly irrelevant to the question of jurisdiction. The minor was living at Baroda and had no other place of residence. He had lived at Baroda for three years with the exception of twenty-eight days. Therefore Baroda was the place where the minor ordinarily resided within the meaning of s. 9 of the Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1890). ROBERT WARD (REV.) v. VELCHAND (1919) . I. L. R. 24 Bom. 121

——— ss. 9, 10—

See MINOR . L. R. 41 I. A. 314

——— ss. 9 and 19—

See GUARDIAN. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 807

——— s. 11—

See s. 8. . . 18 C. W. N. 160

——— s. 12, cl. 3 (b)—Power to order money to be paid into Court—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 141, O. XXXIX, r. 10, O. XL, r. 1. H petitioned the Court under the Guardians and Wards Act, 1890, to be appointed guardian of the property of J. a minor; he also applied to the Court in the following terms.—"In the meanwhile and pending these proceedings a receiver may be appointed to take charge of the amount of Rs. 4,141-9-1 due and payable to this minor by G or such other order may be passed to protect the property of the said minor as to this Honourable Court may seem meet." Held, that it was open to the Court to pass an order directing G to forthwith deposit in Court the sum of Rs. 4,141-9-1 to abide by the further order of the Court. In re BAI JAMNABAI (1911) . . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 20 of a minor girl applied to be appointed her guardian. The girl was alleged to have been taken away by her elder sister but no action under s 12 of Act

Held, that she was entitled to do so. She was charged with the custody of the ward and could ask the Court to assist her to perform the duties imposed upon her by s. 24 of the Act The District Judge was empowered to enforce all the provisions contained in the Act for the benefit of the minor. Further, that no separate suit could have been brought for the purpose. Sham Lal v. Bindo, I. L. R. 26 All. 594, followed. Quære. Whether an appeal lay from the order of the Judge rejecting the application. UTMA KUAR v. BHAGWANTA KUAR (1915) . . . . I. L. R. 37 All. 515

——— ss. 12, 13, 17, 19, 24 and 25—Minor never in the custody of his father—Application by father for custody of his son under Guardians and Wards Act—Refusal of the District Court to make an minor's person by reason of s. 19 of the Guardians and Wards Act, 1890, but appointed the Deputy appeal to the High Court: Held, that the only remedy of the father was to file a suit for the custody of his son. Sharifa v. Munekhan, I. L. R. 25 Bom. 574, followed. Held, further, that the jurisdiction of the District Court was defined by the Guardians and Wards Act and that it had no inherent power to make orders with reference to minors which were not expressly conferred upon it by that Act. Annie Besant v. Narayaniah, I. L. R. 38 Mad. 807, followed. ACHRATLAL JEKISANDAS v. CHIMANLAL PARBHUDAS (1916) . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 600 ——— ss. 12, 43 and 47—Appointment of guardian of the person of a minor—Custody of minor with a relative pending appointment—Order passed by the Court regarding marriage of minor—Jurisdiction of the Court to pass the order. A minor girl was left in the custody of her grand-mother pending the appointment by the Court of a guardian of her person. In the meanwhile, a proposal of marriage of the girl was brought before the Court, which sanctioned it at first; but the sanction was later rescinded. A second proposal was similarly brought up and sanctioned by the Court. An application having been made to the High Court against the order. Held, that though the order as to the temporary custody of the girl was a proper order under s. 12 of the Guardians and Wards Act, 1890, yet the order as to the marriage could not be brought under that section or s. 43 of the Act and was made without jurisdiction. LAXMINARAYAN SHESHGIRI v. PARVATIBAI (1919).

GUARDIANS AND WARDS ACT (VIII OF 1890)—contd.

——— s. 12—contd.

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 690

——— s. 13—

See GAURDIAN.

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 783

——— s. 17—Infant son of pre-deceased out-casted son residing with mother in the family of mother's sister—Mother appointing her sister guardian by will—Grandfather nominating a nephew as guardian, but latter unwilling to admit him in family circle—Infant's preference for aunt—Court's discretion in appointing guardian—Welfare of minor, chief consideration—Home influence, value of—Purdanashin lady, if unfit to be guardian of infant of 15 years. I, who had been outcasted, died in April 1899, leaving an infant son who in 1914 was about 15 years old, a widow who died in 1913 and his father B who was appointed guardian of the person and property of the infant, in July 1899. B, being unable owing to caste difficulties to keep the infant in his custody acquiesced in the appointment, in December 1905, of the infant's mother as guardian of his person, he himself continuing to be the guardian of the infant's property. The infant and his mother took up residence with the latter's sister F, and before her death she made a will clearly expressing therein her wish that her sister F should after her death be the infant's guardian. On her death B applied for the appointment of a nephew of his as the guardian of the person of the infant, and F also made a similar application. The uncle and not the aunt was appointed by the District Court. On appeal the High Court ascertained on enquiry from B as well as his nominee that neither of them was willing to take the infant into his family circle, and their idea was to place him in charge of a tutor. The infant himself on being examined by the High Court expressed his preference for the aunt. It was found by the District Judge that the education of the infant in her aunt's house had been satisfactory. Held, that it was desirable for the welfare of the minor that the aunt and not the uncle should be appointed guardian of the infant's person, and that her being a purdanashin lady did not make her unfit to be so appointed as it was undesirable that the infant should at his age be removed from the influences of home life. But it was ordered and the aunt gave assurance that the grandfather and the uncle should have free access to the infant. The primary point for consideration in such a case is what in the circumstances of the case is for the welfare of the infant. In appointing a guardian the Court will pay great attention to the wishes of the father or mother of the infant unless such a course would be disadvantageous to the infant and regard is always paid to the wishes of the minor if he be of years of discretion. FULKUMAREE BIBEE v. BUDH SINGH DHUDHURIA (1914) . . 18 C. W. N. 1198

——— Guardianship of minor children—Father, marrying a second time, no disability. Under s. 19 of the Guardians and Wards Act, the Court must be satisfied that the husband or father is unfit to be the guardian of his wife or child respectively before it can appoint another person as guardian. The fact of the father marrying a second time is no ground for depriving him of the guardianship of his minor children. Bindo v. Sham Lal, I. L. R. 29 All. 210, dissented from. AUDIAPPA PILLAI v. NALLENDRANI Pillai (1915)

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 473

——— Guardian and Ward—Considerations by which a court should be guided in the selection of a guardian. In considering the appointment of a guardian for a minor the proper test is the welfare of the minor. Where the applicant was a distant relation of the husband of a childless widow of some 12 or 13 years of age who was living happily with her father, it was held that the father of the minor widow was her proper guardian. Khudiram Mookerjee v. Bonwari Lal Roy, I. L. R. 16 Calc. 584, referred to. TOTA RAM v. RAM CHARAN (1910) . . I. L. R. 33 All. 222

——— Adopted son minor—Death of adoptive parents—Natural father if may be appointed guardian—Guardian of property of minor appointed executor of same property under father's Will—Probate supersedes guardianship order—Security, inventory, accounts. Both the adoptive parents being dead the natural father of the minor adopted son was appointed guardian of his person in preference to the brothers of the adoptive mother and the daughters of the adoptive father. Lakshmi Bai v. Sridhar Vasudev Takle, I. L. R. 3 Bom. 1, referred to. The appellant who had been appointed by the District Judge the guardian of the properties of a minor was required by the Judge to furnish security and to produce an inventory of the minor's properties and accounts within six months. During the pendency of the appeal, the appellant having obtained probate of the unadministered effects belonging to the estate of the father of the minor. Held, that the properties to which under his father's Will the minor was beneficially entitled having by the grant of probate become legally vested in the executor, no guardian in respect of that property could be appointed, so long as the executorship continued, and the order of the District Judge calling on the appellant to furnish security and file inventory and submit accounts became inoperative upon such grant and should be cancelled. GANGAPRASAD BHATTACHARJEE v. HARA KANTA CHOUDHURI (1910) . . 15 C. W. N. 553

GUARDIANS AND WARDS ACT (VIII OF 1890)—contd.

——— s. 19

See s. 12 . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 600

See s. 17 . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 473

See GUARDIAN. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 807

——— s. 21—

See s. 8 . . 18 C. W. N. 160

——— ss. 24 and 25—

See s. 12 . I. L. R. 37 All. 515
I. L. R. 40 Bom. 603

———s. 25—Custody of Minor—Application by guardian—Guardian—need not be a certificated guardian. An application under s. 25 of the Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1890) for the custody of a minor can be made by a guardian, who need not be a certificated guardian. DAYABHAI RAGHUNATHDAS v. BAI PARVATI (1915)

I. L. R. 39 Bom. 438

——— s. 27—

See HINDU LAW . 23 C. W. N. 50

See MORTGAGE . 1 Pat. L. J. 563

——— s. 29—

See MORTGAGE . 1 Pat. L. J. 563

———Guardian and Minor—Certificated guardian—Sale—Powers of certificated guardian different from those of a guardian under the general rule of law. The powers of a certificated guardian are regulated and defined by the Guardians and Wards Act, and the rule of law, that, there being no mutuality in a contract to which a minor was a party, it could not be enforced by him, does not apply to a contract for the sale of immoveable property entered into by the certificated guardian of a minor with the sanction of the Court; such a contract is valid and a suit for damages for breach of the contract will lie on behalf of the minor. Mir Sarwarjan v. Fakhruddin Mahomed Chawdhuri, I. L. R. 39 Calc. 232, distinguished. BABU RAM v. SAID-UN-NISSA (1913) . I. L. R. 35 All. 499

——— ss. 29, 30—

See MORTGAGE . 16 C. W. N. 715

an alleged debt of theirs and further directs him to put in the bonds after these have been satisfied and so endorsed by the creditors it does not follow that non-compliance with the latter direction vitiates the sale if actually carried out and the vendee has all along been in possession of the purchased property. Where the same property is held partly by adult co-sharers and partly by minors, the very fact that the minors' share was sold for a price a little over that for which the shares of the adults are sold goes to show bona fides. DYAM KHAN v. SARAT CHANDRA DAS

26 C. W. N. 218

GUARDIANS AND WARDS (ACT VIII OF 1890)—contd.

———s. 31, sub. s. (4)—Construction of word "any person." The words "any person" in the last part of sub-s. (4) Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1890), are not limited by the words "relative or friend" in the previous part of the section. The Court is competent to hear a person who is not a relative or friend. VENU GOPAL BAHADUR v. KADIRVELUSWAMI NAICKER (1912)

I. L. R. 35 Mad. 743

———s. 34—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 36—Order—Decree—Marriage expenses of person dependent on the ward—Order against guardian—Ward attaining majority—Discharge of guardian—Application for execution against ward after majority—Jurisdiction of Court to order execution—Omission to object before attachment—Waiver—Estoppel. An order under s. 34 of the Guardians and Wards Act directing a guardian to pay a sum of money out of his ward's estate for the marriage expenses of a person dependent on his ward is neither a decree nor an order executable as a decree under the Civil Procedure Code, and cannot be enforced against the ward after he has attained majority and the guardian has been discharged. There being an initial want of jurisdiction in the Court to execute such an order, the omission of the ward to object, after notice, to an order for attachment of his property, does not estop him from objecting to the jurisdiction of the Court to sell the property after attachment. Somakka v. Ramiah, I. L. R. 36 Mad. 39, referred to. PARVATHIAMMAL v. CHOKKALINGA CHETTY (1917)

I. L. R. 41 Mad. 241

——— ss. 34, 35—Bonds given to Court by guardian and sureties—Court obligee under the bonds—Persons entitled to sue on the bonds—Breach of conditions of bond, when. Under s. 34 of the Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1890) it is the Court that is the obligee under the bonds given by the guardian and his sureties in respect of the management of a ward's estate and except under an assignment from Court under s. 35 of the Act nobody else can sue on the bonds. The conditions of bonds given under s. 34 (c) and (d) of the Guardians and Wards Act and under Form No. 93 of Civil Rules of Practice, being to exhibit such accounts as may be directed by Court or pay such balance of the minor's moneys in the guardian's hands as the Court may direct, there is no right of suit as for a breach of the conditions of the bonds unless there is a preliminary order of the Court either to exhibit accounts or to pay any specified balance and a breach thereof. An assignment of the bonds by the Court without any such preliminary order, on the ground that there was a primâ facie case of maladministration is invalid and does not give a right of suit on the bonds. Obiter: The loss of the bond is no impediment to its assignment. KRISHNA CHETTIAR v. VENKATACHELLAPATHI CHETTIAR (1918) . I. L. R. 42 Mad. 302 in discharge of old debt—Daily fine, order to pay, if legal. Where a certificated guardian of minors obtained permission to sell a portion of their estate on the representation that the money (about Rs. 3,000) was wanted to repair their house, and submitted accounts showing that 5,0 obtained by the sale, Rs. 4,000 had been retained by the purchaser in payment of a sum of Rs. 4,000 which the guardian had borrowed from her to give the minors in marriage, and the Judge thereupon called upon the guardian to pay the said amount of Rs. 4,000 in Court within a specified time and directed that on failure to do so the guardian was to pay a fine of Rs. 5 per diem. Held, that the amount the guardian was called upon to pay was not an amount of balance due from the guardian as the same had not been paid to her, nor was it a balance due on accounts filed in compliance with a requisition under cl. (d) of s. 34 of the Guardians and Wards Act, and the order imposing a daily fine was ultra vires. NIKHRANNESSA BIBI, Re. (1915) . . . . . 20 C. W. N. 663 ——— Order of appointment of guardian, conditional on giving security, when effective—Natural guardian's right to manage, pending appointment. Where a guardian is appointed by a Court unconditionally, the order takes effect at once although under s. 34 of the Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1890), he may be required to furnish security subsequently. But where the order is conditional upon the furnishing of security, it does not take effect until the security has been furnished. Such a conditional order does not therefore deprive the natural guardian of his or her power of management of the minor's estate till the condition is satisfied. Hence an endorsement of a negotiable instrument belonging to the minor by the natural guardian before the condition is satisfied is not invalid. Defries v. Creed, 34 L. J. (Ch.) 607, followed. Semble. Rr. 240 to 242 and Forms Nos. 92 and 93 of the Civil Rules of Practice which make the appointment of a guardian take effect only on furnishing security, are not ultra vires. The dictum of SADASIVA AYYAR, J., to the contrary in Gopammal v. Srinivasa Ayyangar, 30 Mad. L. J. 508, not followed. SUBBA NAICK v. RAMA AYYAR (1916)

GUARDIANS AND WARDS ACT (VIII OF 1890)—contd.

——— ss. 34, 35—contd.

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 775

——— ss. 34A, 35 and 36—Person acting as a guardian—Appointment of guardian who passes a bond—Ward dying leaving minor widow heir—Reappointment of guardian without bond—Liability to account to minor—Liability of legal representatives of the guardian. A minor having been left as the sole surviving male member of his family, his estate was for a time managed by his maternal grandfather. The latter was subsequently appointed by the Court as guardian of the property and passed a bond under s. 34 (a) of the Guardians and Wards Act, 1890. On the death of the minor, he retained management of the property on behalf of the minor's widow, without re-appointment as guardian. Some months afterwards he was again appointed guardian of the property by the Court, but without a bond. The guardian having died the minor's widow sued his legal representatives for an account of his management. Held, that the suit was maintainable, for, neither s. 35 nor s. 36 of the Guardians and Wards Act, 1890, operated as bar. Held, also, that the legal representatives of the guardian were liable to account, if it was established that property of the minor did go into the hands of the guardian and thence into the hands of his representatives. NARAYAN BALAJI v. KASHIBAI KESHAV (1920) . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 852

GUARDIANS AND WARDS ACT (VIII OF 1890)—contd.

——— ss. 34A, 35 and 36—contd.

——— Guardian if can be removed without opportunity to show cause—ss. 34 (c) AND 45 (1), cl. (b)—Punishment of guardian for non-payment of balance due from him—Considerations which should prevail with Courts in appointing and removing guardians. The Guardians and Wards Act does not prescribe the procedure to be followed when the Court finds it necessary either of its own motion or at the instance of a party interested in the welfare of the infant to take steps for the removal of a guardian appointed by itself. But on the elementary rule that no order adverse to a party litigant should be made by a Court of Justice till he has been apprised of the charges brought against him and has been allowed reasonable opportunity to show cause, no order for removal of a guardian should be made till the guardian has been apprised of the charges brought against him and allowed reasonable opportunity to explain and, if possible, to defend his conduct. S. 45, sub-s. (1), cl. (b), authorises the Court to impose a fine on a guardian, if the guardian fails to pay into Court the balance due from him on the accounts exhibited by him in compliance with a requisition under s. 34 (c). The payment contemplated has to be made in compliance with a requisition under s. 34 (d), and no fine can validly be imposed on a guardian for failure to comply with a requisition calling upon him to bring into Court a larger sum than found due from him on the accounts exhibited under s. 34 (c). That the sole point for considerations in cases where the management of the infant's property by the guardian in question is at issue is the welfare of the infant and the investigation should be from that point of view alone and it is eminently desirable that no person should be appointed guardian of the person or property of an infant without some enquiries about his fitness for the office. JAGANNATH PANJA v. MOHESH CHANDRA PAL (1916)

21 C. W. N. 688

——— s. 35—Act XL of 1858—District Judge's power to take security bond from manager—Assignment of bond by District Judge—Suit against representatives of a deceased manager in respect of liability incurred by him, if lies. It was competent to a District Judge acting under Act XL of 1858 to take a security bond in his own favour for the due discharge of his duties by a manager appointed by him. Such a bond can be validly assigned by the District Judge under s. 35 read with s. 2 (2) of the Guardians and Wards Act. BAHADUR SINGH v. BASUNTA KUMAR ROY (1913) . 17 C. W. N. 695

——— s. 36—Suit against a guardian—Leave of the Court not obtained before filing the suit—Leave can be granted subsequently. Under s. 36 of the Guardians and Wards Act, 1890, proceedings are not entirely nullified because leave of the Court is not obtained before a suit is filed. It would be open to the Court on a proper application by the plaintiff to remedy the mistake and to empower the plaintiff to continue the proceedings against a guardian. MAINA v. SHANKAR MORU (1919)

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 602

——— s. 39—

See GUARDIAN . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 862

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—GUARDIAN.

I. L. R. 36 All. 280

GUARDIANS AND WARDS ACT (VIII OF 1890)—contd.

——— s. 39 and 47—Appointment by a Hindu father of a guardian for the person and property of his undivided minor son—Validity of appointment of guardian of property—Will written under instructions of testator partly on blank sheets previously signed, validity of. A Hindu father is entitled to appoint by will, a guardian of the person of his minor son, but not of the properties in which his minor son will have a right by birth. A will appointing a guardian of such properties being invalid, it need not be set aside and cannot be set aside in an application made on behalf of the minor son under s. 39 of the Guardians and Wards Act for removal of the guardian. Dr. Albrech v. Bathee Jellamma, 22 Mad L. J. 247 and Kanakasabai Mudaliar v. Ponnusami Mudaliar, 21 I. C. 848, followed The appointment of a guardian of the properties being invalid, the mother as natural guardian, becomes the guardian of the properties and if she be competent, there is no necessity for the Court to appoint her as such. Properties attached to Tirumaligais (houses of religious preceptors) are private and not trust properties A will signed by the testator after completion on the sixth and the seventh sheets, is not invalid because he signed some of the earlier sheets before the will was written, in them. Namberumal Chetty v. Pasumarthy Kannia Chetty, 28 I. C. 959, followed. ALAGAPPA AYYANGAR v MANGATHAI AMMANGAR (1916) . . . . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 672

——— ss. 39, 47, 48—Revocation of an order appointing a guardian on the ground that alleged minor attained majority before appointment of guardian, if an order under s. 39 and if appealable—S. 39 if exhaustive—Jurisdiction of District Judge before the order appointing the appellant as her guardian was made The District Judge took evi-ian appointed under the statute, and the order in que[illegible] seen[illegible]

powers under the Guardians and Wards Act has ample inherent jurisdiction to deal with matters brought before it of which cognizance may be require[illegible]

Judge[illegible]

questio[illegible]

vides t[illegible]

limit or otherwise ... Court to make such orders as may be necessary for the ends of justice or to prevent abuse of the process of the Court, does not formulate a new doctrine,

GUARDIANS AND WARDS ACT (VIII OF 1890)—contd.

——— s. 39—contd.

Civil Courts. If an order has been obtained from the Court by a suppression of facts, if the Court has been overreached and has been induced to assume jurisdiction over a matter in which, upon a true state of facts, it does not possess jurisdiction, the Court is competent to recall the order obtained from it by suppression or misrepresentation of facts. That s 48 was not a bar to the present proceedings and the District Judge had jurisdiction to entertain the application in the exercise of his inherent power. RASHMONI DASSI v. GANODA SUNDARI DASSI (1914) . . . 19 C. W. N. 84 of the Guardians and Wards Act, 1890. ANWAR ALI KHAN v. DARA SHAH KHAN

I. L. R. 42 All. 514

——— s. 41 (3)—Guardian and ward—Death of ward—Liability of guardian after ward's death. Held that after the death of a minor during his minority it was not competent to the court which had appointed a guardian of the property of the minor to pass an order calling upon that guardian to deliver up the moveable property, cash and documents appertaining to the minor's estate. In the matter of the application of Narmadabai, I. L. R. 8 Bom 14, referred to CHANDRA BHUKHAN SINGH v SUJAN KUNWAR . . I. L. R. 42 All. 1

——— ss. 43, 45—Order upon guardian not to marry ward without Court's leave, disobedience of, if punishable, when order without jurisdiction—Order if may be passed when minor a Hindu—Guardian's fail[illegible] may be[illegible] of—Civ[illegible] XIX, rr 1 and 2. Before proceedings can be taken on account of disobedience of an injunction issued by disobeyed it cannot be punished for the alleged offence There is in this respect a clear distinction between an order erroneously made with jurisdiction and an order made absolutely without jurisdiction. Sub-s. (4) of s. 43 of the Guardians and Wards Act applies to all cases of disobedience of an order passed under sub-s. (1) or sub-s. (2) of that section, whether or not the effect of the disobedience is capable of removal or reparation. Quære: Whether there is any bar to a District Judge giving directions in an order appointing a guardian of the person of a minor Hindu that the minor should not be married by the guardian without the consent of another relation and without the Court's leave, where the guardian appointed is also the guardian for marriage, according to Hindu law. Bai Diwali v. Moti Karson, I. L. R. 22 Bom. 504, referred to. Where it was found that the application upon which the order for appointment of a guardian was made was not made voluntarily. Held, that the order was without jurisdiction and disobedience on the part of the guardian of the directions relating to the marriage of the minor could not be punished under s. 43, cl. (4) of the Guardians and Wards Act like disobedience of an injunction. Cl. (a) of sub-s. (1) of s. 45 of the Guardians and Wards Act does not contemplate orders on the guardian appointed under the Act for the production of the ward, and such a guardian cannot be fined under the section for failing to produce the ward before the Judge when required. SAHODRA KOER v. DHAJADHARI GOSAIN (1911) . 16 C. W. N. 447

GUARDIANS AND WARDS ACT (VIII OF 1890—concld).

———— ss. 43 and 45—contd.

———— ss. 43 and 48—

See s. 12. . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 690

———— s. 45—

See s. 34 . . 20 C. W. N. 663
21 C. W. N. 688

———— ss. 47, 48, 50—Application to be appointed guardian of minor, dismissed for default—Second application, if lies—Application refused—Appeal, if lies—Girl, infant, who has nearly attained majority—Marriage, consent of infant to, if necessary—Guardian of person, if should be appointed to enable giving her in marriage. Where an application for appointment as guardian of an infant was dismissed for non-appearance, and an application for a re-hearing was refused. Held, that a second substantive application for appointment as a guardian is maintainable. Where the District Judge refused such an application as not maintainable. Held, that an appeal lies to the High Court against the order. Where a Mahomedan, after having divorced his wife, applied to be appointed guardian of his infant daughter, who was very close upon her majority, with the object of her giving her away in marriage to a suitable bridegroom. Held, that, at her age, the consent of the girl to the marriage was required, and the application should not be proceeded with. AHMAD ALI v. RAISUNNESSA (1913) . 17 C. W. N. 429

———— s. 52

See MINOR . L. R. 41 I. A. 314

GUARDIANSHIP.

See GUARDIANS AND WARDS ACT (VIII OF 1890), ss. 17, 19.
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 473

See HINDU LAW—GUARDIANSHIPS.

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—MARRIAGE.
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 878

See PENAL CODE, ss. 361, 366 AND 368.
4 Pat. L. J. 74

———— Minor girl—Right of selecting husband. Hindu law. Held, that under Hindu Law the mother is after the father the natural and legal guardian of her minor daughter and does not lose her right by re-marraige where it is recognised by custom. MUSSAMMAT HUSSAIN BIBI v. NIGAHIA
I. L. R. 1 Lah. 146

GUJARAT TALUKDARS ACT (BOM. VI OF 1888).

See KASBATIS . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 625

GUJARAT TALUKDARS ACT (BOM. VI OF 1888)—contd.

See LAND REVENUE CODE (BOM. ACT V OF 1879), s. 79A.
I. L. R. 35 Bom. 72

———— ss. 28, 29B and 29E—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), ss. 235, 320—Decree against Talukdar—Execution—Decree transferred to Talukdari Settlement Officer—Notification of management—Submission by persons having claims—Application for the continuance of the execution proceedings against the legal representative of the deceased judgment-debtor—Certificate under s. 29E of the Gujarat Talukdars Act (Bom. Act VI of 1888)—Managing Officer—Talukdari Settlement Officer. When execution proceedings are commenced against a judgment-debtor, they can be continued after his death by substituting the name of the legal representative in place of that of the deceased judgment-debtor in the application for execution. It is not necessary to file a fresh application under the provisions of s. 235 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882). Hirachand Harjivandas v. Kasturchand Kasidas, I. L. R. 18 Bom. 224, explained. The effect of s. 29E of the Gujarat Talukdars Act (Bom. Act VI of 1888) is that before the execution of a decree can be proceeded with, the Court must be satisfied that the decree-claim has been duly submitted. If the officer certifies that it has been duly submitted there is an end of the matter. If he does not so certify, the Court must wait for one month from the date of the receipt by the officer of an application for a certificate, and upon being satisfied that the claim has been duly submitted in accordance with the provisions of s. 29B of the Gujarat Talukdars Act (Bom. Act VI of 1888) it may then proceed with the execution. The expression 'managing officer' in s. 29E of the Act is merely a compendious term for "the Talukdari Settlement Officer or any other officer appointed by Government to take charge of the Talukdar's estate and keep the same in his management" referred to in s. 28 of the Act, and where the officer who takes charge of the estate and keeps the same in his management is the Talukdari Settlement Officer the 'managing officer' is merely a synonym for 'Talukdari Settlement Officer.' Where an application relating to a claim is presented to the Subordinate Judge and is forwarded by him to the Talukdari Settlement Officer, it amounts to a submission of the claim in writing within the meaning of s. 29B of the Act, if the Talukdari Settlement Officer is also the managing officer. PURUSHOTTAM v. RAJBAI (1909)

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 142

———— ss. 29, 29B (1), (2), (3) and 29E—Suit upon a mortgage—Talukdari Settlement Officer—Guardian of the minor defendants—Proceedings up to second appeal—Intermediate notification by the said officer calling upon claimants to submit their claims within six months—Plaintiff's non-compliance with the notification—Plaintiff's application to the said officer for a certificate to execute the decree—Refusal of the application—Inability to comply with the notice—The word "inability" not confined to physical inability of the claimant. In 1904, the plaintiff sued the defendants, who were minors represented by the Talukdari Settlement Officer as their guardian, for a decree upon a mortgage. The first Court held the mortgage to be invalid under the provisions of the Gujarat Talukdars Act (Bom. Act VI of 1888) and granted to the plaintiff a personal decree. On the 27th September

GUJARAT TALUKDARS ACT (BOM. VI OF 1888)—contd.

———— ss. 29, 29B—contd.

1905, the plaintiff appealed to the District Court against the said decree and a notice of the appeal was issued to the Talukdari Settlement Officer. On the 21st November following, the Talukdari Settlement Officer took over the management of the defendant's estate. The notice of the appeal the same

Talukunder

. Act VI

5) calling upon claimants to submit their claims within six months of the date of the notification. On the 14th March 1906 the District Court decided the ing the defendants preferred a second appeal to the High Court against the District Court's decree. The second appeal having failed in August 1907, the plaintiff applied to the Talukdari Settlement Officer for a certificate in order that he might proceed with the execution of the decree and he was informed in reply on the 12th August 1908 that as he had not submitted his claim within six months of the date of the publication of the said notification, his claim was deemed to have been duly discharged and no certificate could be granted to him. One month after the date of the receipt of the said reply, the plaintiff applied for execution and both the lower Courts dismissed his application for execution on the ground that the want of a certificate under s. 29E of the Gujarat Talukdars Act (Bom. Act VI of 1888 as amended by Bom. Act II of 1905) was a valid bar to the execution. On second appeal by the plaintiff. Held, that the word "unable" in s. 29B of the Gujarat Talukdars Act (Bom. Act VI of 1888 as amended by Bom. Act II of 1905) was not confined to physical inability on the part of the claimant, that the plaintiff was unable to put forward his real claim at the date of the notification and at the date of the notice he was unable to comply with it within the meaning of s. 29B (3) of the Gujarat Talukdars Act (Bom. Act VI of 1888 as amended by Bom. Act II of 1905), and that the inability of the plaintiff having continued during the period of the six months from the date of the notification, the plaintiff was not barred by s. 29B from prosecuting the proceedings in Court. MANILAL POPATLAL v. KHODABHAI SARTANSANG (1914) . I. L. R. 38 Bom. 604

———— s. 29 E—Talukdari Settlement Officer managing a Talukdar's estate—Creditor submitting his claim—Time taken up before the Talukdari Settlement and presented his first darkhast for execution on the 8th December 1903. On the 21st September 1905, G's estate came by notice to be in the management of the Talukdari Settlement Officer under s. 29B of the Gujarat Talukdars' Act, 1888. B submitted his claim to the officer on the 6th March 1906: but it was rejected on the 12th August 1908 B then applied to the Civil Court on the 12th March 1909, and sought to bring it within time, by claiming to exclude the period taken up before the Talukdari Settlement Officer. Held, that the period in question could not be excluded in computing the time for the darkhast, for s. 29E of the Act placed no absolute bar on B's right to apply to the Court for execution by reason of the submission of his claim to the Talukdari Settlement

Act (XV of

against G,

Judge and holding that the present darkhast of is decree is not

HIMATSING v.

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 324

————Decree against Talukdar—Execution of decree—Certificate from the managing officer—Exclusion of time from the date of the decree to the date of the application for the certificate—Prior application to execute the decree unaccompanied by the certificate—Is such application in accordance with law—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Art. 182 (5). On the 16th September 1910, an instalment decree was passed; on the 1st April 1911, on failure to pay the first instalment, the whole amount of the decree became payable. The decree was passed against Talukdars whose estate was taken under management under the provisions of the Gujarat Talukdars' Act (Bombay Act VI of 1888). The first application to execute the decree was made on the 1st April 1914; but as it was not accompanied by a certificate from the managing officer under the provisions of s. 29E of the Gurajat Talukdars' Act, 1888, it was rejected on the 15th June 1914. In August of the same year, the certificate was applied for; it was obtained on the 29th idem. The second application to execute the decree was made on the 28th February 1916. Against the contention that the application was barred by limitation, it was urged that the first application was in accordance with law within the meaning of Art. 182 of the Indian Limitation Act in spite of the absence of the certificate under the provision of s. 29E of the Gujarat Talukdars' Act, 1888; and that the applicants were entitled to exclude the time from the date of the decree to the date of the application for the certificate under s. 29E, sub-s. 3, of the Act. Both the lower Courts rejected the application as being time-barred. On appeal, held, allowing the appeal, that the second application for execution was within time, for under s. 29E, sub-s. 3, the applicants were entitled to exclude the time from the 16th September 1910 (the date of the decree) up to

of the Gujarat Talukdars' Act. SHAH, J. held that it ought, as the application of 1914 was "in accordance with law" within the meaning of Art. 182 of the Indian Limitation Act, 1908, though no certificate of the managing officer under s. 29E (1) of the Gujarat Talukdars' Act, 1888, was produced

GUJARAT TALUKDARS ACT (BOM. VI OF 1888)—contd.

———— s. 29 E—contd.

Semble: per MARTEN, J., that the application of 1914 was not made to "the proper Court" as defined in Explanation II to Art. 182 of the Indian Limitation Act, as at its date it was the duty of no Court to execute the decree or order, there having been no certificate from the managing officer. HARGOVIND FULCHAND v. NAJA SURA (1918) . . . . I. L. R. 43 Bom. 44

———— s. 29 (g)—

———— whether notice to Talukdari Settlement Officer necessary—

See BOMBAY COURT OF WARDS ACT 1905, s. 31 . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 986

———— s. 31—

———————— Talukdar's estate—Talukdari estate—Estate held by a Talukdar on any other tenure. The expression Talikdar's estate means only the estate held by a Talukdar on Talukdari tenure and not property held on any other tenure which is distinguishable from the former. Khodabhai v. Chaganlal, 9 Bom. L. R. 1122, followed. BHACHUBHA MAVSANGJI v. PATEL VELA DHANJI (1909) I. L. R. 34 Bom. 55

———————— Land Revenue Code (Bom. Act V of 1889)—Talukdari tenure—Wanta land (at Sarsa)—Alienated land—Attachment of income. Wanta lands are lands held by Rajputs or the representatives of Rajputs who, after the Mahomedan conquest of Gujerath, received one-fourth of the land of certain villages on condition of keeping order in those villages. The lands were held either rent-free or at a small quit-rent. Where Sarsa Wanta land, the income of which is attached in execution of a decree is proved to have been entered as alienated land under the Land Revenue Code (Bom. Act V of 1889), the Court may presume that it is not land held upon Talukdari tenure in the strict sense of the word. The words "Talukdar's estate" in s. 31 of the Gujerath Talukdars' Act (Bom. Act VI of 1888) are used in a technical sense limited to the Talukdar's interest in the estate held by him by reason of his status as a Talukdar. Khodabhai v. Chaganlal, 9 Bom. L. R. 1122, and Bhachubha v. Vela Dhanji, I. L. R. 34 Bom. 55, followed. TALUKDARI SETTLEMENT OFFICER v. CHHAGANLAL DWARKADAS (1910) I. L. R. 35 Bom. 97

———————— Incumbrance created by a Talukdar—Adverse possession for more than twelve years after the death of the Talukdar—Title—Limitation. A person claiming as an incumbrancer for more than twelve years from the death of a Talukdar, can acquire title by adverse possession. The incumbrance which is claimed by virtue of adverse possession since the death of a Talukdar would not fall within s. 31 of the Gujarat Talukdar's Act (Bom. Act VI of 1888) but would be an incumbrance arising from the operation of the law of limitation. TALUKDARI SETTLEMENT OFFICER, GUJARATI v. RIKHAVDAS PARSHOTTAMDAS (1912) I. L. R. 37 Bom. 380

———————— Talukdari estate—Incumbrance by Talukdar and his son—Son has no power to encumber property during his father's lifetime—Talukdar's encumbrance valid during his lifetime—Summary eviction by Talukdari Settlement Officer—Land Revenue Code (Bom. Act V of 1879), s. 79A—Jivaidar is a Talukdar. The property in dispute, which was a Talukdari estate, was mortgaged with possession to the plaintiff by a Talukdar and his son. After the death of the Talukdar, the son sold the equity of redemption to the plaintiff. The estate having passed into the management of the Talukdari Settlement Officer, that officer issued a notice to summarily evict the plaintiff from the property under s. 79A of the Land Revenue Code, 1879. The plaintiff sued for a declaration that he was entitled to remain in possession of the property. Held, that all that was mortgaged was the life interest of the Talukdar, which came to an end with his death, under s. 31 (1) of the Gujarat Talukdars' Act, 1888. Held, further, that at the date of the mortgage the son was not a co-sharer with his father in the Talukdari property, and not having any interest in the property at the time, he was not competent to encumber the interest to which he might succeed on his father's death. Held, also, that the sale by the son of the mortgaged property was an invalid alienation under s. 31 (2) of the Gujarat Talukdars' Act. Held, therefore, that the notice of summary eviction of the plaintiff was properly issued under s. 79A of the Land Revenue Code, 1879. A Jivaidar is a Talukdar. Per MACLEOD, C. J. "The land held in Talukdari tenure is totally distinct from land ordinarily held as joint family property by a Hindu family. It is not subject to the ordinary law of inheritance or succession, and...partition of Talukdari land is governed by particular laws. It is only a person who has obtained a final decree of a Court of competent jurisdiction declaring him to be entitled to a share of a Talukdari estate, and every co-sharer whose name has been recorded, as such, in the Settlement Register prepared in accordance with s. 5 (Gujarat Talukdars' Act), who can be entitled to have his share divided from the rest of the estate. S. 79A of the Land Revenue Code refers to any person unauthorizedly occupying, or wrongfully in possession of, any land, and therefore, it does not matter whether a person is in unauthorized occupation of land before the date when the section became applicable." BHAIJI ISHWARDAS v. THE TALUKDARI SETTLEMENT OFFICER (1920). I. L. R. 44 Bom. 832

———— s. 33—

See LAND REVENUE CODE (BOM. ACT V OF 1879), ss. 144, 160. I. L. R. 43 Bom. 6

H

HABEAS CORPUS.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 491.
See EXTRADITION ACT. I. L. R. 46 Calc. 31

———— nature of—

See GUARDIANS AND WARDS ACT (VIII OF 1890), s. 2. I. L. R. 39 Mad. 608

HABEAS CORPUS—contd.

——— writ of—

See JURY, TRIAL BY

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 723

——— High Court, jurisdic-

-sdiction of ocedure (Act

Act (XV of

(8) and s. 4,

sub-s (1)—Evidence Act (I of 1872), if exhaustive—English Extradition Act (33 and 34 Vict. c. 52) absence of accused—Evidence of offence on which Magistrate may act—Arrest, irregularity of, if vitiates proceedings otherwise regular—Magistrate who may be chosen by Government—Government of Bengal, if can issue order on requisition made to Government of India—If such order can be ratified by Government of India—Fresh proceedings, legality of, whilst previous ones pending—Magistrate, if can record evidence after sending report to Government—Refusal of reasonable opportunity to fugitive to produce evidence, whether affects jurisdiction of Magistrate. It must be shown clearly that a supreme right such as that to habeas corpus, or to directions in the nature of that writ, has been expressly (if that be possible to the Legislature) taken away. There is no such express provision in the Indian Extradition Act The English Extradition Act did not give the right to habeas corpus. It merely declared a right which existed independently of that the statute In re Siletti 87 L. T. 332; 71 L. J. K B. 935; and Ex parte Besset 6 Q. B 481, followed When a person appears before the High Court and says that he is illegally detained, the High Court can enquire whether the warrant for his custody was validly ings. Rudolf Stallmann v Emperor, I. L. R. 38 Cal. 547, distinguished. Section 3, sub-s. (6) of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903, is not a substitute for, and does not interfere with, proceedings taken under s. 491 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, the provisions of which are as much binding as those of the Extradition Act. The Indian Evidence Act (I of 1872) does not contain the whole law of evidence governing this country. Under s. 2, which saves certain rules of evidence, the English Extradition Act, which is applicable to this country, is part of the lex fori. Records, therefore, of the Berlin Court, which are authenticated in the manner prescribed by ss. 14 of the German Court. There may, however, be cases in which the production of the original document may be necessary for the enquiry in this country. If there is evidence before the Magistrate, the fugitive criminal cannot ask the Court to determine whether a primâ facie case has been properly found on such evidence. In re Siletti 87 L. T. 332; 71 L. J. K. B. 935, followed. The High Court will not sit in appeal to review and weight the evidence. It is sufficient that there should be some evidence of the offence upon which the Magistrate may reasonably act. Any irregularity in the original arrest of the accused is immaterial, provided that the subsequent proceedings have been right. R. v. Weil, 9 Q. B. D.; 701 15 Cox C. C. 189, followed. The substantial question is not how the accused is brought into Court, but whether the Court which enquired into he is one who has jurisdiction to enquire into the crime of the nature of that for which extradition is sought. Therefore, an enquiry into the case of a fugitive criminal under arrest in Calcutta can be made by the Magistrate of Alipore, if duly authoby a subsequent order of the Government of India. Where, however, the latter order directs the Magistrate in pursuance of the former order "and of

HABEAS CORPUS—contd.

Act, 1903, can initiate fresh proceedings notwithstanding proceedings taken under a previous order. When the Magistrate sends up his report to the Government of India under s 3, sub-s. (b) of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903, he becomes functus officio, and renders himself incapable therefore, of recording evidence that may be subsequently produced. The Legislature intended that the fugitive criminal should be given an opportunity of defence. If such opportunity is not give Magistrate.

ing to law,

valid. If the Magistrate suspected that the accused had no evidence, it is open to him to question the accused. If the latter stood on his right not to answer, the Court might draw such inference as the refusal to reply and the circumstances of the case suggested. Per MOOKERJEE, J.—The burden lies very heavily upon those who assert that a right of so much importance to the criminal as habeas corpus, given by the Common Law, has been taken away by implication. S. 491 of the the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, is applicable to cases under the Indian Extradition Act. Rudolf Stallmann v. Emperor, I. L. R. 38 Calc. 547, distinguished. The jurisdiction of the High Court has not been taken away merely because the Government of India has already issued a warrant for surrender under s. 3, sub-s. (5) of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903. Depositions which have not been taken in the presence of the accused may be admitted by the Magistrate: In re Counhaye, L. R. 8 Q. B 410. Where there is no evidence before the Magistrate, the Court will interfere. R. v. Maurer 10 Q. B. D. 513, approved. The Court will not consider questions regarding evidence, unless the objection is such that if effect were given to it, there would be no evidence left upon which the order for extradition could be supported. Under s. 4, sub-s. (1), the Magistrate may issue a warrant when the person to be arrested is within his jurisdiction. S. 4 merely provides a preliminary procedure. Under it an arrest may be effected before the receipt of the requisition mentioned in s. 3, otherwise the criminal might escape. The two sections do not overlap. Under s. 3, sub-s. (1) of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903, the only Government competent to issue the order for enquiry is the Government to whom the foreign state has made a requisition. This function must be performed strictly, and cannot be delegated. Where the provisions of the statute have not been followed, the report of the Magistrate cannot afford a foundation for the order of the Government of India under s. 3 of the Indian Extradition Act, 1903. In the matter of RUDOLF STALLMANN (1911) . . . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 164

HABEAS CORPUS—contd.

2. ——————— High Court, jurisdiction of—Power to issue writ—Procedure—Rights of the East India Company—Allegiance of the subject and sovereignty of the Crown—Prerogatives—Governor-General in Council, powers of legislation of—Emergency legislation—Act embodying provisions of Ordinances—Order for internment—Form of order—Warrant to arrest and imprison—Application for bail—Code of Criminal Procedure (Act V of 1898), s. 49—Emergency Legislation Continuance Act (I of 1915)—Ordinances III and V of 1914—Indian Councils Act (24 and 25 Vict., c. 67), ss. 22 and 23 —East India Company's Act (26 Geo. III, c. 57) s. 29—Foreign Jurisdiction and Extradition Acts (XI of 1872), (XXI of 1879) and (V of 1903)—Interpretation Act (52 and 53 Vict., c. 63) s. 11—General Clauses Acts (I of 1868), s. 3 and (X of 1897), ss. 6 and 7. Under s. 23 of the Indian Councils Act, 1861 (24 and 25 Vict., c. 67) no Ordinance can have any force of law for more than 6 months from its promulgation, but the Governor-General in Council has the power to pass an Act embodying the provisions of an Ordinance. The Governor-General in Council has also the power to oust the jurisdiction of the Courts, and s. 11 of Ordinance III of 1914, which is embodied in Act I of 1915 and which seeks to oust the jurisdiction of the Courts, does not offend against s. 22 of the Indian Councils Act, 1861. Act I of 1915 is not an Ordinance extended, but an Act. It does not offend against the allegiance of the subject, or the sovereignty of the Crown It is not ultra vires, and this Court has no jurisdiction to call in question the orders which have been passed thereunder. It is for the Governor-General in Council to be satisfied on the materials before him. The Court cannot call for the materials to examine them. In the matter of Rudolf Stallmann, I. L. R. 39 Calc. 164, Levinger v. Reg. L. R. 3 P. C. 282. In the matter of Tuckut Roy, 1 Boulnois 354. In the matter of Ameer Khan, 6 B. L. R. 392. The same Case on appeal, 6 B. L. R. 459. Alter Caufman v. The Government of Bombay, I. L. R. 18 Bom. 636. The Queen v. Burah, L. R. 3 A. C. 889 ; L. R. 5 I. A. 178, and Reg. v. Halliday, [1916] 1 K. B. 738, 20 C. W. N. (Notes) xci, referred to. Where an Act repeals a previous Act, or a certain provision thereof, and the repealing enactment is itself subsequently repealed by another Act—Held, that the last repeal did not since 1850 revive the Act or provision before repealed unless words there are reviving them. There was nothing in any of the Acts subsequent to the repealing Act (XI of 1872) which revived s. 29 of the East India Company's Act (26 Geo. III, c. 57). Where a person is detained in custody and an application is made to the Court under s. 491 of the Criminal Procedure Code :—Held, that the usual procedure was to issue a Rule in the first instance, and not to order the production of the petitioner. In re JEWA NATHOO AND OTHERS (1916)
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 459

3. ——————— Jurisdiction—Arrest—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), ss. 54, 190, 491, 498—Procedure—Applications under s. 491, to whom should be made—Arrest under s. 54—"Reasonable suspicion" or "credible information" what to be based upon—Duties of police officer arresting—Practice. Applictions under s. 491 of the Code of Criminal Procedure ought to be made to the Judge sitting on the Original Side, and exercising the Oridinary Original Criminal Jurisdiction of the High Court. In the matter of Rudolf Stallmann, I. L. R. 39 Calc. 164, referred to. S. 54 of the Code of Criminal Procedure gives very wide powers and ought to be rigorously construed. "Reasonable suspicion" or "credible information" upon which an arrest can be made by a police officer under s. 54, must be based upon definite facts and materials placed before him, which, the officer must consider for himself, before he can take any action under that section. He cannot delegate his discretion, or take shelter under another person's belief or judgment, but must act on his own personal responsibility. Queen v. Behary Singh, 7 W. R. Cr. 3, followed. CHARU CHANDRA MAZUMDAR, In re (1916)
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 76

4. ——————— Extradition (Act XV of 1903)—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 491—Jurisdiction. The High Court's power to issue a writ of Habeas Corpus has not been taken away by the procedure provided in the Indian Extradition Act (XV of 1903), s. 3, sub-ss. (6) and (7). The arrest and detention of the applicant having been outside the local limits, the Court had no jurisdiction. Detention of a fugitive criminal pending the consideration of the Government is not illegal. In the matter of Rudolf Stallmann, I. L. R. 39 Calc. 164, considered. A. C. TOPS v. EMPEROR (1918) I. L. R. 46 Calc. 52

HABIT.

——————— evidence of—

See PREVIOUS CONVICTIONS, EVIDENCE OF
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 408

HAKKS.

See SANAD, CONSTRUCTION OF.
I. L. R. 36 Bom. 639

HALF SISTER'S SON OF WIDOW.

See HINDU LAW—STRIDHAN.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 82

HALAI MEMONS OF KATHIAWAR.

See MEMONS . I. L. R. 43 Bom. 647

HAND-NOTE.

See EVIDENCE ACT, s. 93 14 C. W. N. 1100

——————— Demand note—No stipulation for interest—whether interest payable—date from which interest payable. A hand-note payable on demand but which does not provide for the payment of interest carries interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the date the money ought to have been paid until the realization of the debt. BISHUN CHAND v. BABU AUDH BEHARI LAL. . . . 2 Pat. L. J. 451

HAND-NOTE—contd.

HANDWRITING.

See WILL . . 15 C. W. N. 729

——— comparison of—

See CHARGE . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 957

See EVIDENCE. . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 545

——— proof of—

See SEDITION . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 606

———PROOF OF HANDWRITING—Per JENKINS, C. J.—Methods of proving handwriting discussed. A document does not prove itself, nor is an unproved signature proof of its having been written by the person whose signature it purports to bear S. 73 of the Evidence Act does not sanction the comparison of any two documents, but requires, first, that the standard writing shall be admitted or proved to be that of the person to whom it is attributed; and, secondly, that the disputed one not conversant with the subject and without guidance from the arguments of counsel and evidence of experts. Phoodee Bibee v. Govind Chunder Roy, 22 W. R. 272, referred to. The value of expert evidence of handwriting discussed. Reg. v. Harvey, 11 Cox C. C. 546, referred to. Per CARNDUFF, J.—Handwriting may, in addition to the usual methods, be proved by circumstantial evidence under s. 67 of the Evidence Act, which prescribes no particular kind of proof. Neel Kanto Pandit v. Juggobundho Ghose, 12 B L. R App. 18, Abdool Ali v. Abdoor Ruhman, 21 W. R 429, and Abdulla, Paru v. Gannibai, I. L. R. 11 Bom. 690, referred to. BARINDRA KUMAR GHOSE v. EMPEROR (1909) . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 467

——— A comparison of handwriting is at all times, as a mode of proof, hazardous and inconclusive, and especially when it is made by one not conversant with the subject and without such guidance as might be derived from the arguments of Counsel and the evidence of experts. A comparison of writings has consequently been deemed a mode of ascertaining the truth which ought to be used with very great caution.
SREEMUTTY SARAJANI v. HARI DAS GHOSE.
26 C. W. N. 113.

HANSARD'S PARLIAMENTARY REPORTS.

——— admissibility of—

See LIBEL . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 760

HAQ CHAHARUM.

See AGREEMENT . I. L. R. 41 All. 417

See PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURT ACT 1887, SCH II, CH. 13.
I. L. R. 43 All. 681

HARVEST.

——— experimental, Landlord's right of—

See ESTATES LAND ACT (MAD, ACT I OF 1908), ss. 4, 27, 73, 143.
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 640

HAT.

———Right to hold the holding of a Hat on a man's land is not in itself a wrongful act. RAKHAL DAS SINGH v. EMPEROR
19 C. W. N. 248

——— market franchise in, if exists—Grant of such franchise if may be presumed right to hold a market conferred by grant from the Crown, nor can such right be acquired by prescription. In Bengal the right to hold a market is treated as an incident to the ownership of land. The proprietor of the old market has no monopoly or privilege which is entitled to protection and no immunity from competition. Where illegal means in the nature of intimidation and physical compulsion were employed by agents of the Defendant acting within the scope of their employment to induce traders who would have gone to Plaintiff's old hat to attend Defendant's new hat, and as a natural consequence thereof there was diminution of Plaintiff's profits from his hat: Held—That the Plaintiff was entitled to a civil remedy by way of a suit for damages Per GREAVES, J.—whether mere besetting or watching, apart from violence, which according to the doctrine of common law is an unlawful means in cases of trade disputes, is unlawful in the case of rival hat owners. HEM CHANDRA ROY v. BEPIN BEHARY SAHA SARDAR . . . . 24 C. W. N. 800

HATCHITTA.

———Acknowledgment—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), s. 19—Contract Act (IX of 1872), s. 25 (3). A hatchitta is an acknowledgment within the meaning of s. 19 of the Indian Limitation Act. Maniram Seth v. Seth Rupchand, I. L. R. 33 Calc. 1047, followed. MAHENDRA NATH CHATTERJEE v LALIT MOHAN DATTA (1918)
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 746

HEADINGS OF CLAUSES.

See BOMBAY CITY MUNICIPAL ACT, s. 297.
I. L. R. 36 Bom. 405

HEADINGS OF STATUTES.

See NON-OCCUPANCY RAIYAT.
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 267

HEADS OF CHARGE.

See TRIAL BY JURY
I. L. R. 47 Calc. 795

HEARSAY EVIDENCE.

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), s. 33
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 449

HEBA-BIL-EWAZ.

———If valid without consideration. The incidents of a gift for a consideration are very different from those of a simple gift. If the passing of a consideration be not proved a Heba-bil ewaz is not valid as a simple gift without consideration. Mahomedan Law. JIDDA JAN BIBI v. SHEIKH BAKTAR
24 C. W. N. 926

HEBA-BIL-EWAZ—contd.

———————— Heba-bil-ewaz whether valid without consideration. The incidents of a gift for a consideration are very different from those of a simple gift. If the passing of the consideration be not proved a Heba-bil-ewaz is not valid as a simple gift without consideration. Rahimian Bibi v. Iman Jan, 17 C. L. J. 173, distinguished. JIDDA JAN BIBI v. SHEIKH BAKTAR . . . . . 24 C. W. N. 926

HEIR.

See NON-JOINDER OF PARTIES.
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 518

———— claim of—

See OCCUPANCY HOLDING.
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 254

———— of Legatee—

See SUCCESSION ACT (X OF 1865), s. 187.
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 988

———— of Promisor—

See PRE-EMPTION I. L. R. 38 Mad. 114

———— sale by one of several—

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—ALIENATION.
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 243

———— to self-acquired property of woman—

See ALIYASANTANA LAW.
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 12

HEREDITARY OFFICE.

See HINDU LAW—RELIGIOUS OFFICE.
See MAHOMEDAN LAW.
See LIMITATION I. L. R. 42 Calc. 244
See SHEBAIT . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 887
See VRITTI . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 409

———— emoluments of—

See MADRAS HEREDITARY VILLAGE OFFICES ACT, ss. 3, AND 5
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 548

HEREDITARY OFFICES ACT (BOM. III OF 1874).

See BOMBAY HEREDITARY OFFICES ACT.

———— s. 2——Vatan-Inam—Jat or personal Inam—Grant for maintenance—Government Resolution declaring the Inam held on service tenure—Subsequent settlement with the Government whereby the property permanently enfranchised as private property—Sanad—Construction. The property in suit was known as Vania Desai Vatan property. It consisted of four villages Sureli, Vinzol, Padardi and Kasanpur in the Panch Mahals. In 1860, the Panch Mahals passed by a treaty from the Maharaja Scindhia of Gawlior to the British Government which as a result of the investigation into the nature of the various holdings in the territory ceded by Scindhia found that the four villages were held on service tenure. The Desais presented petitions to Government in 1879 and 1882 and contended that their Inam was Jat or personal Inam, granted for maintenance (Jivak Badal) and not held for service. As a result of these petitions, the Government in a Resolution, dated the 8th May 1884, observed that the title asserted to the villages hardly brought them under the class of Hereditary Inam and arranged with the Desais for a two-anna settlement to be calculated on a full assessment of these villages. In 1888, Sanads were issued by Government to Vania Desais in respect of the villages Sureli and Vinzol, reciting that the villages had been found to be held as personal Inam without the condition of service. In respect of the other two villages Padardi and Kasanpur, the Sanads were not forthcoming but it appeared from the Alienation Register that the Sanads were issued in respect of these villages also and the register showed that the Inam lands in all these villages were "permanently enfranchised as private property." In 1913, the plaintiff as the daughter and reversionary heir of the last male holder of the Inam sued to recover a fourth share in the Inam lands and cash allowances. The defendants contended that the plaintiff being a female was excluded by the provisions of Act V of 1886 from participating in inheritance as the property in suit was all Vatan property. Held, that the plaintiff was entitled to succeed as the quality of the Inam was Jat Inam. The settlement of 1884 was a settlement in perpetuity giving to the holders full and complete rights of ownership free from service and subject only to the reserved quit-rent. Bai Jadav v. Narsilal, I. L. R. 25 Bom. 470, distinguished. DWARKADAS MOTILAL v. BAI JAKORE (1918) . I. L. R. 43 Bom. 323

———— ss. 4 & 18—

See BOMBAY REVENUE JURISDICTION ACT 1876, s. 4 . I. L. R. 43 Bom. 277

———— ss. 4 and 53 and (Bom. Act V of 1886), s. 2—Vatan—family—Meaning of the term 'family,' as used in the Act. One Gopinath, the original acquirer of a Vatan, died without leaving any lineal descendent. At the time of his death his nearest relations were his first cousins Girdharlal Bhulabhai (senior uncle's son) and Mahasukhra Maharaiji (younger uncle's son). In 1868 two commutation Sanads were issued by Government in respect of the Vatan and the grantees were Dinanath Girdharlal and Dinanath's great nephew Venilal Maneklal. The actual possession and enjoyment of the Vatan property thus continued with the family of Girdharlal down to the time of its last male holder Pransukhram and afterwards with his widow until her death. On widow's death the defendants (daughter and daughter's sons of Pransukhram) retained possession. The plaintiffs, therefore, representing the branch of Mahasukram claimed to be entitled to possession of the Vatan property on the strength of s. 2 of Bom. Act V of 1886. Both the lower Courts held that the plaintiffs were members of the family qualified to inherit and as such excluded the female defendants. In second appeal it was contended that the respondents (plaintiffs) were not descended from the original Vatandar and therefore they were not members of his family and were not entitled to oust the females in possession. Held, that the term 'family' as used in the Vatan Act, 1874, meant those descended from a common progenitor who must be a Vatandar, and that the respondents were not entitled to oust the appellants from possession. BAI LAXMI v. MAGANLAL (1917) . . . I. L. R. 41 Bom. 677

———— s. 5—

———— Vatan effect of Collector levying full assessment after execution sale where in consequence of a sale of Vatan Lands in execution of a decree against Vatandar the Collector levies full assessment and assigns it the land does not lose its charactor as Vatan property. SHIVRAM v. MAHADEV NARAYAN . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 81

HEREDITARY OFFICES ACT (BOM. III OF 1874)—contd.

——— s. 5—contd.

———Mortgage by Vatandar—Suit for account and redemption—Adverse possession by mortgagee—Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act (XVII of 1879), s. 13—Mesne profits from the date of suit. One Madhavrao, grandfather of the plaintiff, by a deed dated the 15th July 1867, mortgaged with possession certain Vatan Inam lands to Babaji Anant, an ancestor of the defendants. Madhavrao died, 1873, and in 1909 plaintiff sued to redeem the mortgage under the provisions of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879. The defendants contended that by reason of the provisions of s. 5 of the Vatan Act, the mortgage became void on the death of Madhavrao and that they had been in possession adversely since that date. The Court of first instance disallowed the contention on the ground that the mortgagee claimed to hold the property as such and not as owner, and after taking accounts passed a decree in favour of the plaintiff awarding mesne profits from the date of suit till possession at rupees four hundred a year. This decree was confirmed by the lower appellate Court. On appeal to the High Court. Held, that the mortgagee remained a mortgagee for the purpose of the redemption suit, even assuming that he had been in possession for more than twelve years since the death of the original mortgagor. Unless there was some definite indication on the part of the person in possession that he would from a certain date claim as absolute owner, and not as mortgagee, he could only acquire by adverse possession the limited interest to which he was entitled at the mortgagor's death namely, that of a mortgagee. Held, further, that mesne profits from the date of suit could not be awarded as the enforcement of the provisions of s. 13 of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879, placed the mortgagor in a much more favourable position than he would be in if he relied upon the terms of the contract, and no presumption could arise that the mortgagee was, apart from the provisions of the Act, not entitled to retain possession after the date of the institution of the suit. Janoji v. Janoji, I.L.R. 7 Bom. 185, applied. RAMCHANDRA VENKAJI NAIK v. KALLO DEVJI DESHPANDE (1915)

I. L. R. 39 Bom. 587

———

(I of

tion t

by adverse possession against Vatandars—Collector's certificate—Jurisdiction. Certain lands with buildings thereon having been acquired by Government under the Land Acquisition Act (I of 1894), the Assistant Collector passed an award whereby he awarded, by way of compensation, one sum to the owner of the buildings on the land and another to certain Mahar Vatandars on account of the land being Maharki Vatan. The owner of the buildings having objected to the award, the Assistant Collector at the instance of the objector referred the matter to the District Court under s. 18 of the Act. The District Judge found that the objector had acquired title to the land by adverse possession and thus became entitled to the compensation on account of the land as against the Mahar claimants. Subsequently the Collector forwarded to the District Court a certificate issued under s. 10 of the Hereditary Offices Act (Bom. Act III of 1874) that the order for the payment of the compensation to the objector should be set aside in accordance with the provisions of ss. 10 and 13 of the Act. Thereupon the District Judge, holding that he had no jurisdiction to decide whether the property was Vatan or not in the face of the Collector's certificate cancelled his order. The objector having appealed against the said order :—Held, restoring the award of the District Court, that an award under the Land Acquisition Act (I of 1894) was not a decree or order capable of execution under the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) and was therefore not within the purview of s 10 of the Hereditary Offices Act (Bom. Act III of 1874). Held, further, that the award of the District Court, which was the cause of the certificate, made it clear that the Mahar's property had been acquired by the objector by adverse possession before the commencement of the proceedings for the acquisition of the land by Government. Per Curiam. Even if it could be said that there was any danger of the passing of the ownership by virtue or in execution of a decree or order in the Land Acquisition proceedings it could not be said that that result was arrived at without the sanction of Government who set the machinery of the f the land.

HEREDITARY OFFICES ACT (BOM. III OF 1874)—contd.

——— ss. 10 and 13—contd.

R. 22 Bom.

hadev, I L.

, I. L. R. 5

Bom. 283, referred to. LADDHA EBRAHIM AND CO. v. THE ASSISTANT COLLECTOR, POONA (1910)

I. L. R. 35 Bom. 146

——— ss. 11, 11 (A)—Revenue Jurisdiction Act (X of 1876), s. 4 (a)—Deshmukhi Vatan—Miras lease and mortgage by the Vatandar—Death of the Vatandar—Collector's order declaring the alienation null and void and directing the land to be restored to the representative of the deceased Vatandar—Adverse possession—Jurisdiction of Civil Courts. A Deshmukhi Vatandar executed a miras lease and mortgage of certain vatan land to the plaintiff in the year 1877 and died in 1892 Before the expiry of twelve years from his death, his legal representative made an application to the Assistant declared the alienation to be null and void under s. 11 of the Hereditary Offices Act (Bom. Act III of 1874) and directed the land to be restored to the applicant. Thereupon, the plaintiff brought the present suit in the year 1906 against the legal representative (applicant before the Assistant the suit was not maintainable by reason of s. 4 (a) of the Revenue Jurisdiction Act (X of 1876). Held, that the order passed by the Assistant Collector directing the plaintiff to restore possession to the defendant being unauthorised under s. 11 that the mere fact that an application was made by the defendant to the Assistant Collector within twelve years of the death of the alienor, did not interrupt plaintiff's adverse possession against the defendants. MAGANCHAND v. VITHALRAV (1912)

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 27

HEREDITARY OFFICES ACT (BOM. III OF 1874)—concld.

——— s. 18—

See BOMBAY REVENUE JURISDICTION ACT (X OF 1876), s. 4 (a).
I. L. R. 43 Bom. 277

See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), s. 14.
I. L. R. 43 Bom. 201

——— ss. 25 and 36—Under s. 25 it is the duty of a Collector to determine the Custom of a Vatan and what person shall be recognised as representative Vatandar. A suit for a declaration that Plaintiff is the nearest heir of a deceased Vatandar is maintainable under s. 36 notwithstanding it is manifest that the declaration is sought for the purpose of establishing a fact which would enable the Plaintiff to have his name entered in the Vatan Register. RAHIM KHAN v. DADAMIYA HYDERKHAN
I. L. R. 34 Bom. 101

——— A suit for a declaration that Plaintiff is nearest heir of a deceased representative Vatandar is within the jurisdiction of a Civil Court although a declaration that the plaintiff is entitled to have his name entered in Vatan Register is beyond the jurisdiction of the Court. SHANKAR BABAJI KULKARNI v. DATTATRAYA BHIWAJI
I. L. R. 40 Bom. 55

——— ss. 25, 36, 63 and 64 (as amended by Bom. Act III of 1910)—Mharki Vatan—Suit to be declared a Vatandar—Civil Court—Jurisdiction.—The plaintiffs by a suit filed in the Civil Courts sought a declaration that they were the Vatandars of a Mharki Vatan. It was contended that although the Civil Courts had jurisdiction to make a declaration as to Vatandars claiming Patilki or Kulkarniki Vatans the Courts had no jurisdiction to make any declaration as regards Mharki Vatans. Held, that it was competent to the Civil Courts to grant a declaration that the plaintiffs were Vatandars of a Mharki Vatan. Ramchandra Dabholkar v. Anant Sat Shenvi, I. L. R. 8 Bom. 25, followed. RAOJI FAKIRA v. DAGDU (1916) . . I. L. R. 41 Bom. 23

——— s. 67—Collector—Vatandars—Service Register—Suit for declaration as head of family—Civil Court—Jurisdiction. The plaintiffs brought a suit to have it declared that they were entitled to a share of the vatan and to have their names recorded as such in the Service Register kept by the Collector. Held, that the suit fell under the ban of clause (d) of s. 67 of the Hereditary Offices Act (Bom. Act III of 1874) and was not cognizable by the Civil Court. Govind Sitaram v. Bapuji Mahadeo, I. L. R. 18 Bom. 516, and Balkrishna Chimnaji v. Balaji Ramchandra, I. L. R. 9 Bom. 25, explained. JIVAJI SAMBHAJI v. FAKIR SABAJI (1912) I. L. R. 36 Bom. 420

HEREDITARY OFFICES ACT (BOM. V OF 1886).

——— s. 2—

See HINDU LAW. I. L. R. 37 Bom. 598

HEREDITARY PRIEST.

See HINDU LAW—HEREDITARY PRIEST.

HEREDITARY TENURE.

——— if implies fixity of rent—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT.
24 C. W. N. 874

HEREDITARY VILLAGE OFFICES ACT (MAD. III OF 1895).

See PENSIONS ACT, s. 4.
I. L. R. 36 Mad. 559

——— s. 3—Other offices, meaning of. The words 'other hereditary village offices' in cl. 3 of s. 3, Mad. Act III of 1885 do not mean offices of a description different from those referred to in cls. (1) and (2) of the section but offices other than those in the localities dealt with by those clauses. A suit for the recovery of the office of karnam in an inam village falls within cl. (3) and not cl. (1) of s. 3 of the Act and is not cognisable by the civil courts. AUDIRAZU VEERAYYA v. AUDIRAZU SANGAYYA (1910)
I. L. R. 34 Mad. 177

——— ss. 3, 21—Act applicable to offices mentioned in s. 3, cl. 4, only in villages other than proprietary estates. Cls. 3 and 4 of s. 3 of Act III of 1895 must be read together. The Act is applicable to offices mentioned in cl. 4 of s. 3 only in villages other than those in proprietary estates and s. 21 of the Act does not oust the jurisdiction of Civil Courts in regard to such offices in proprietary estates. VEERADRAN ACHARI v. SUPPIAH ACHARI (1909) . . I. L. R. 33 Mad. 488

——— s. 5—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), s. 47, EXPL.
I. L. R. 41 Mad. 418

——— Permanent lease not a transfer within the meaning of s. 5. S. 5 of Madras Act III of 1895 only prohibits the transfer of ownership. A permanent lease of lands forming the emoluments of an office does not amount to a transfer of ownership within the meaning of s. 5 and is not prohibited by its provisions. Vencataswara Yettiapah Naicker v. Alagoo Moothoo Servagaran, 8 Moo. I. A. 327, referred to. KSHERABARO BISSOYI v. SOBHANAPURAM HARIKRISTNA NAIDU (1909) . . I. L. R. 33 Mad. 340

——— ss. 13, 21—S. 21, is no bar to suit for recovery of land. A suit in the Civil Courts for land, not based on the ground that such land constituted part of the emoluments of any of the offices described in s. 13 of Madras Act III of 1895 is not barred by s. 21 of the Act. The effect of the words in s. 13 of the Act, "but such decision, etc.," is to preserve the jurisdiction of the Civil Courts even in cases where the Collector decided the case on the assumption mentioned therein and not to oust such jurisdiction where he did not. GAVARA RAMAN v. ADABALA RATTAYYA (1909)
I. L. R. 33 Mad. 235

——— Prohibition in s. 21 applies only when jurisdiction is conferred on Revenue Courts by s. 13—Construction of statute. Notwithstanding the apparent generality of the language of s. 21 of Madras Act III of 1895, it must be held that the section takes away the jurisdiction of Civil Court only in those cases in which jurisdiction is conferred on Revenue Courts by s. 13. A suit for a village officers inam land on the expiry of a lease granted by such village officer to the defendant, is cognizable by the Civil Courts as the plaintiff has only to prove the letting and expiry of the term and he is not called upon to prove his title which the defendant will be estopped from disputing. The plaintiff cannot, however, lease his claim on his title to the land. Narasimhulu v. Narasimhulu, 16 Mad. L. J. 336, referred to HIGH COURT—contd.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, ss. 145 435, 439 . I. L. R. 41 All. 302

See MUNICIPAL ELECTION.
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 132

——— power of interference by, under Charter Act—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), s. 144.
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 489

——— powers of, to alter acquittal into conviction in revision—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), ss. 423, 439.
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 119

——— powers to give directions to an administrator—

See SUCCESSION ACT 1865, s. 264.
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 682

——— power o interfere with the discretion of District Judge—

See DIVORCE ACT (IV OF 1869), s. 14.
I. L. R. 41 Bom. 36.

——— power to call for record or Interlocutory orders—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, s. 115.
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 619

——— practice of—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, s. 438.
I. L. R. 36 All. 378

——— revisional jurisdiction—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908), s. 115.

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, ss. 145 AND 435. I. L. R. 36 All. 233
I. L. R. 42 All. 214

ss. 345 AND 439.
I. L. R. 37 All. 419

s. 435. I. L. R. 43 Bom. 864

s. 439. I. L. R. 41 Bom. 560

——— superintendence and control by—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), ss. 3, 115.
I. L. R. 37 Bom. 114

——— It is the duty of a subordinate court to follow the decision of the High Court to which it is subordinate (per Sir JOHN EDGE). PUTTU LAL v. PARBATI KANWAR.
I. L. R. 37 All. 359

——— General Rules of, for Civil Courts, Chapters XXI, rule 1—Certificate of fee—"Authorized agent" A fee-certificate filed by a pleader under rule 1 of Chapter XXI of the General Rules for Civil Courts was duly sworn to by the pleader and by a person who had actually paid the fee and who stated that he was the agent (or karinda) of the client. Held, that the certificate was in sufficient compliance with the rule, and there was no necessity that the agent of the client should be "authorized" in any special manner. GUDDAR MAL v. HET RAM (1918)
I. L. R. 41 All. 246

HIGH COURT—concld.

——— Revision—Practice—Discretion of Court—Criminal Procedure Code, ss. 435 and 459—Indian Penal Code (Act No. XLV of 1860), ss. 448 and 451. Where at the hearing of an application in revision it appears that the facts established by the record do not justify the conviction of the applicant of the offence of which he has been convicted but do justify his conviction of a minor offence of a similar nature, it is within the discretion of the Court to convict the applicant of such minor offence; but it is also within the discretion of the Court to refrain from doing so. The rule of practice according to which the High Court ordinarily refuses to entertain an application in revision where the applicant might have gone in the first instance to the Sessions Judge or to the District Magistrate, is not a rule of absolutely invariable application, and an order of admission made by a Judge of the High Court under cl. (1) of s. 435 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, though passed ex parte, will be sufficient to take the case out of the operation of such rule of practice. EMPEROR v MANSUR HUSAIN (1919) I. L. R. 41 All. 587

HIGH COURT, JURISDICTION OF.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908,
s. 115 . I. L. R. 43 All. 564
O. XLVI, R. 1; s. 141.
I. L. R. 36 Mad. 16

See CONTEMPT OF COURT.
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 173

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898).
s. 195, SUB-S. (6)
I. L. R. 41 Bom. 631
s. 203 . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 512
s. 307 . . I. L. R. 37 Mad. 236

See CRIMINAL REVISIONAL JURISDICTION.

See CRIMINAL TRIBES ACT, s. 5.
I. L. R. 47 Calc. 843

See DISPUTE CONCERNING LAND,
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 24

See DIVORCE . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 924

See DIVORCE ACT (IV OF 1869), ss. 3, 16, 37, 44 . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 109

See EXTRADITION I. L. R. 38 Calc. 547
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 164

See FORFEITURE I. L. R. 41 Calc. 466
I. L. R. 47 Calc. 190

See HABEAS CORPUS.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 164
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 459

See HIGH COURT.

See JURISDICTION OF HIGH COURT.

See LAND ACQUISITION.
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 230

See LETTERS PATENT (AMENDED) OF THE BOMBAY HIGH COURT, s. 12.
I. L. R. 37 Bom. 494

See LUNACY ACT, s. 37. 25 C. W. N. 178

See MORTGAGE . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 770

See MUNICIPAL ELECTION.
I. L. R. 45 Calc. 950

HIGH COURT, JURISDICTION OF—contd.

See PARSIS . I. L. R. 38 Bom. 615

See PERJURY . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 542

See PRACTICE—WITHDRAWAL OF SUIT. I. L. R. 41 Calc. 632

See PRESS ACT (I OF 1910), ss. 3 (1), 4 (1), 17, 19, 20 AND 22. I. L. R. 39 Mad. 1164

See REVIEW . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 809

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION. I. L. R. 44 Calc. 816

See SONTHAL PARGANAS. I. L. R. 41 Calc. 876

———— to order person not to proceed in other court—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, s. 10. I. L. R. 44 Bom. 283

———— to re-instate legal practitioner after disbarment—

See MUKTEAR . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 309

———— to remand—

See INHERENT JURISDICTION I. L. R. 44 Calc. 929

———— to stay execution pending Appeal to Privy Council—

See PRIVY COUNCIL, PRACTICE OF. I. L. R. 38 Calc. 335

1. ———— Criminal Revisional Jurisdiction—Order by a first-class Magistrate for discontinuance of a house as a brothel—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), ss. 6, 435 and 439—Eastern Bengal and Assam Disorderly Houses Act (II of 1907), ss. 2 to 6—Procedure in cases under ss. 3 and 6 of the Act—Offence. A Magistrate of the first class, acting under s. 3 of the Eastern Bengal and Assam Disorderly Houses Act, 1907, is a "Criminal Court" within s. 6 of the Criminal Procedure Code, and the High Court has jurisdiction to revise his proceedings under ss. 435 and 439. But where such proceedings were in themselves perfectly fair and reasonable, the only error being possibly the administration of oaths to the witnesses passed under s. 3. The procedure to be followed under the Act is that, upon a sanction, report or order under s. 5, the Magistrate must, if he intends to go further, summon the owner or other person mentioned in s. 3 to show cause, and in the event of his failure to appear, he may proceed in his absence. He must next satisfy himself that the house is used as described in s. 2 (a), (b) or (c), doing so in any way that does not violate the ordinary rules of fairness and propriety; bu he is not bound to act only on legal evidence, and he need not, and possibly may not, administer oaths to persons of whom he may make enquiry. If he makes an order under s. 3, proceedings for disobedience must be taken independently under s. 6, and conducted according to the ordinary procedure prescribed for the trial of offences. RAJANI KHEMTAWALI v. PRAMATHA NATH CHOWDHRY (1910) . . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 287

HIGH COURT, JURISDICTION OF—contd.

2. ———— Criminal revisional jurisdiction—Interference on questions of law—Findings of facts when can be questioned—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 435—Indian Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), ss. 511, 124A—Attempt to commit offences—Attempt to commit the offence of sedition—Intention, a question of fact. It is the settled practice of the High Court of Bombay to refuse to interfere, in the exercise of its revisional jurisdiction, in regard to findings of fact, except on very exceptional grounds, such as a misstatement of evidence by the lower Court or the mis-construction of documents, or the placing by that Court of the onus of proof on the accused contrary to the law of evidence Queen-Empress v. Shekh Saheb Badrudin, I. L R. 8 Bom. 197, Queen-Empress v. Mahomed Hasan (1886), and ostensible of which the law can take hold as an act showing progress towards the actual commission of the offence. It does not matter that the progress was interrupted. An attempt to publish sedition is complete as soon as the accused knowingly sells a copy containing the seditious article. It is none the less an attempt because something external to himself happens which prevents a perusal of the article by the buyers or any other member of the public. In cases of sedition, the question of intention is one of fact EMPEROR v. GANESH BALVANT MODAK (1909) I. L. R. 34 Bom. 378

3. ———— Revisional jurisdic- ... Procedure (Act V of 1898), ss. 195 (6), 439. A Judge of the Presidency Small Cause Court, Calcutta, had summarily refused an application for sanction to prosecute the plaintiff for making a false claim in a suit before him. On an application to the High Court under s. 115 of the Code of Civil Procedure, to set aside this order and to compel the Judge to determine the application:—Held, that the jurisdiction of the High Court in all such revisional applications, whether in respect of suits or other matters, is vested in a single Judge sitting on the Original Side. Samsher Mundul v. Ganendra Narain Mitter, I. L. R. 29 Calc. 498; Sarat Chandra Singh v. Brojo Lall Mukerjee, I. L. R. 30 Calc. 986, followed. Haladhar Maiti v. Choytonna Maiti, I. L. R. 30 Calc. 588, referred to. A Civil Court, when acting under s. 195 of the Criminal Procedure Code, is not in any way exercising criminal jurisdiction, and is subject to the revisional jurisdiction of the High Court under s. 115 of the Code of Civil Procedure. Salig Ram v. Ramji Lal. I.L. R. 28 All. 554, In the matter of the petition of Bhup Kunwar, I. L. R. 26 All. 249, Ram Prosad Roy v. Sooba Roy, 1 C. W. N. 400, Guru Churn Saha v. Girija Sundari Dasi, 7 C. W. N. 112, Kali Prosad Chatterjee v. Bhuban Mohini Dasi, 8 C. W. N. 75, Eranholi Athan v. King-Emperor, I. L. R. 26 Mad. 98, referred to. An application under s. 195, sub-s. 6, of the Criminal Procedure Code is not an appeal, hence the revisional jurisdiction under s. 115 of the Civil Procedure Code is not excluded. Hardeo Singh v. Hanuman Dat

HIGH COURT, JURISDICTION OF—contd.

Narain, I. L. R. 26 All. 244, distinguished. RAMADHIN BANIA v. SEWBALAK SINGH (1910)

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 714

4. —————— Revisional Jurisdiction—Error by Small Cause Court on a question of limitation—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 115—Limitation. An error by the Small Cause Court on a question of limitation, does not justify the interference of the High Court under s. 115 of the Civil Procedure Code. Amritrav Krishna Deshpande v. Balkrishna Ganesh Amrapurkay, I. L. R. 11 Bom. 488; Sundar Singh v. Dura Shankar, I. L. R. 20 All. 78, and Amir Hassan Khan v. Sheo Baksh Singh, I. L. R. 11 Calc. 6, referred to. RAMGOPAL JHOONJHOONWALLA v. JOURMALL KHEMKA (1912)

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 473

5. —————— Trial of Indian Seaman for an offence committed on board a British vessel on the high seas—Stoppage of the vessel thereafter at intermediate ports—Accused brought to Calcutta in custody—Applicability of English law to the offence and the charge, and of Indian law to the procedure and sentence—Courts (Colonial) Jurisdiction Act (37 and 38 Vict. c. 27), s. 3—Merchant Shipping Act (57 and 58 Vict. c. 60), ss. 684, 686. The High Court of Calcutta has jurisdiction in its Original Criminal Side, under ss. 684 and 686 of the Merchant Shipping Act (57 and 58 Vict. c. 60), to try a Native Indian seaman for murder or manslaughter committed on board a British vessel on the high seas, who is brought to Calcutta under custody, notwithstanding that the vessel touched, after the commission of the offence, at intermediate ports in the course of the voyage. The offence should be tried and the charge framed, under the English law, but the procedure at the trial and the sentence must be regulated by the law of India. S. 3 of 37 and 38 Vict. c. 27, does not deal with the trial of the case, but with the sentence after conviction. Queen-Empress v. Sheikh Abdool Rahiman, I. L. R. 14 Bom. 227 and King-Emperor v. Chief Officer of the "Mushtari," I. L. R. 2; Bom. 636, dissented from. EMPEROR v. SALIMULLAH (1912) . . . . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 487

6. —————— Restraint of suit outside the jurisdiction—Persons not residing within jurisdiction—Injunction. The High Court has power only to restrain a person who happens to be within its jurisdiction from prosecuting a suit without its jurisdiction. On the principle of "equity acting in personam" the mere fact that he possesses property, moveable or immoveable, within the jurisdiction but does not reside within it, does not give the High Court jurisdiction over him, since in the event of an injunction being granted against him and that being disobeyed he could not be subjected to the process of contempt. Vulcan Iron Works v. Bisshumbhur Persad, I. L. R. Calc. 233; 13 C. W. N. 346; 1 Ind. Cas. 927, followed. The Carron Iron Co. v. Maclaren, 5 H. L. C. 416 s. c. 24 L. J. Ch. 620, Maugle Chand v. Gopal Ram, I. L. R. 34 Calc 101, relied on. JUMYA DAS v. HARCHARAN DASS (1911). I. L. R. 38 Calc. 405
16 C. W. N. 4

7. —————— Trespass, High Court, 1865 cl. 12—Wrongful cutting and removal of coal—Trespass—Disputed boundary —Suit for land—Agreement between predecessors-in-title of parties—Privity of contract and estate. The plaintiff company's predecessors-in-title who held certain coal lands known as Mouza Lodna in Manbhum, under a permanent lease, granted an under-lease of a share thereof to S, and it was agreed that the boundary should be demarcated between the portion underleased and the portion retained by the grantors, and that a barrier of 30 feet of coal should be maintained between the two portions of the mouza, and that if either party encroached within 15 feet of the boundary line, he should make good any loss sustained by the other party. No boundary was demarcated at the time. The permanent lease of the said mouza was, subject to the said underlease to S, subsequently assigned to T and others, and thereafter the boundary was laid down and marked by the respective agents of T and others, and of S, and a plan showing the boundary was signed by both parties. Subsequent thereto T and others assigned their permanent lease of the mouza to the plaintiff company, and S granted an underlease of his share in the mouza to R. L. S., who granted an underlease of the same to the defendant who there carried on a colliery. The plaint alleged that the defendant had wrongfully cut into and removed portions of coal from the 30 feet of barrier and beyond it; that the trespass and conversion had taken place within two years; and that the coal so removed had been sold and delivered to the plaintiff company under an agreement to purchase the output of the defendant's colliery, and claimed damages for the value of the coal so removed and damages caused by the breach of contract in cutting through the barrier. The defendant denied that he had carried away any coal from the 30 feet barrier and stated that he had confined his operations well within the area underleased to him, and that the plaintiff company had never been in possession of the area from which he had carried away coal: Held, that the suit, so far as it sought to recover damages for carrying away the plaintiff company's coal, was founded on a case of tresspass quare clausum fregit which necessitated the title in respect of that coal being gone into, and was therefore a suit for land within the meaning of cl. 12 of the Charter. Rajmohun Bose v. East Indian Railway Co., 10 B. L. R. 241, distinguished. That so far as the agreement not to cut into the 30 feet of barrier was concerned, there was no privity of contract or estate between the defendant and the plaintiff company, and the defendant was not personally liable on any of the covenants in the underlease granted to S, and that the plaint did not disclose any cause of action against the defendant based on the agreement. LODNA COLLIERY CO., LD. v. BIPIN BHIHARI BOSE (1912)

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 739

8. —————— Order under s. 476 of the Criminal Procedure Code—by Settlement Officer—Whether civil appellate or criminal appellate side can revise—Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898), s. 439—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 115—High Courts Act (24 and 25 Vict. c. 104), ss. 14 and 15. In the case of an order passed by a Civil or Revenue Court under s. 476 of the Criminal Procedure Code, (i) S. 439 of the Criminal Procedure Code has no application; (ii) The High Court can exercise the powers vested in it by s. 115 of the Civil Procedure Code of s. 15 of the High Courts Act; and (iii) The Bench of the High Court exercising criminal jurisdiction cannot, as such, deal with the matter on revision, but the Judges composing the

HIGH COURT, JURISDICTION OF—contd.

Bench may do so, if authorised by the Chief Justice under s. 14 of the High Court Act. Kali Prasad Chatterjee v. Bhuban Mohini Dasi, 8 C. W. N. 73 and Emperor v. Gopal Barik, I. L. R. 34 Calc. 42, considered and approved of to a certain extent. EMPEROR v. HAR PRASAD DAS (1913)

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 477

9.

VI

of an jurisdiction, on appeal from an order of Deputy Collector—Judicial proceeding. Proceedings on applications for enhancement of rent under s. 27 the Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act are judicial proceedings, and Deputy Commissioners in the performance of their judicial duties under the Act are Courts subject to the appellate jurisdiction of the High Court The High Court has jurisdiction to interfere in cases where the Courts of Collectors have either exceeded the jurisdiction or failed or refused to exercise the jurisdiction vested in them by the Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act: Chaitan Patgosi Mahapatra v. Kunja Behari Patnaik, I. L. R. 38 Calc. 832, referred to. KARTIK CHANDRA OJHA v. GORA CHAND MAHTO (1913)

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 518

10.——— Stay of Execution—Inherent powers of Court—Special leave to appeal to the Privy Council —Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) ss. 112 and 151; O. XLI, r. 5 (2)—Letters Patent, 1865, cl. 36. The High Court is competent to make an order for stay of proceedings in execution of its decree in view of an application by the Judgment-debtor to the Judicial Committee for special leave to appeal to His Majesty in Council. Hurro Chandar Roy Chowdhry v. Shoorodhonee Debia, 9 W. R. 402, Panchanan Singha Roy v. Dwarka

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 955

11.——————— Power to set aside order under s. 145, Criminal Procedure Code—and to make consequential or incidental orders—Inherent powers of the Court—Criminal Procedure

Government

s. 107.

Court has of India Act (5 & 6 Geo. V, c. 61) to set aside proceedings under s. 145 of the Criminal Procedure Code instituted standing s. 435

Narain Singh v.

26 Calc. 183, Laldhari Singh v. Sukdeo Narain Singh, I. L. R. 27 Calc. 892, Jagmohan Pal v. Ram Kumar Gope, I. L. R. 28 Calc. 416, Kulada Kinkar Roy v. Danesh Mir, I. L. R. 33 Calc. 33, Sukh Lal Sheikh v. Tara Chand Ta, I. L. R. 33 Calc. 68, Khosh Mahomed Sirkar v. Nazir Mahomed, I. L. R. 33 Calc. 352, referred to. The Court has power, under the general terms of s. 107, when setting aside the proceedings, to make such consequential or incidental orders as may be necessary in the interests of justice, in the circumstances of a particular case, and to reach and remedy all forms of judicial highhandedness. Lekhraj Ram v. Debi Pershad, 12 C. W. N. 678, relied on. Though the Criminal Procedure Code contains no provision analogous to s. 151 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), Criminal Courts, no less than Civil Courts, have inherent power to make such orders as are necessary in the ends of justice. Such power is not, however, to be exercised capriciously or arbitrarily, but ex debito justitiæ on sound general principles and subject to the statutory provisions applicable to the matters. Pulin Behary Das v. King-Emperor, 15 C. L. J. 517, Budhu Lal v. Chattu Gope, I. L. R. 44 Calc. 816, Ram Chandra Mistry v. Nobin Mirdha, I. L. R. 25 Calc. 630, Rodger v. Comptoir D'Escompte de Paris, I. L. R. 3 P. C. 465, Ahmed Ali v. Kenoo Khan, I. L. R. 36 Calc. 44, In re Lakshman Govind Nirgude, I. L. R. 26 Bom. 552, approved. Basudeb Surma Gossain v. Naziruddin, I. L. R. 14 Calc. 834, Queen-Empress v. Fattah Chand, I. L. R. 24 Calc. 499, Prayag Mahaton v. Gobind Mahaton, I. L. R 32 Calc. 602, Arju Mea v. Arman Mea, 7 C. L. J. 369, Surjya Kumar Upadhya v. Dinabandhu Pal, 15 C. W. N. cc1iv, Karimuddi Fakir v. Naimuddi Kaviraj, 3 C. L. J. 573, Tulshi Ram v. Abrar Ahmad, I. L. R. 37 All. 655, In re Annapuranabai, I. L. R. 1 Bom. 630, In re Ratanlal Rangildas, I. L. R. 17 Bom. 718, In re Devidin Durgaprasad, I. L. R. 22 Bom. 814, In re Kuppammal, I. L. R. 29 Mad. 375, and Chenga Reddi v. Ramasamy Gounden, 16 Cr. L. J. 104, referred to and explained The High Court has, therefore, and the proceeds of the lac already sold, should be kept in the custody of the Subordinate Judge, pending the decision of a Civil Court as to the title to the same; and gave further directions in the matter. Chenga Reddi v. Ramasamy, 16 Cr. L. J. 104, Hood Barrs v. Heriot, [1896]. A. C. 174, Peruvian Guano Co. v. Dreyfus Bros., [1892] A. C. 166, referred to. PIGOT v. ALI MAHAMMAD MANDAL (1920)

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 522

12.——— Disciplinary Jurisdiction—Amended Letters Patent, clause 10—Bombay Regulation 2 of 1827, s. 56—Signing of a pledge to civilly disobey certain laws to be fixed thereafter—Satyagraha movement—Lawyers taking the pledge are amenable to the Disciplinary Jurisdiction—Advocates, Vakils and Pleaders, status and duty of. The respondents, who were lawyers practising in the Courts of the Ahmedabad District, joined a movement called the Satyagraha Sahba which was started as a protest against the enactment of the Anarchial and Revolutionary Crimes Act (XI of 1919), and signed a pledge whereby they bound themselves "to refuse civilly to obey these laws (viz., the Anarchical and Revolutionary Crimes Act) and such other laws as a Committee to be hereafter appointed may think fit." A question having arisen whether the respondents had, by taking the pledges, made themselves liable to be dealt with under the Disciplinary Jurisdiction of the High Court:—Held, that the action of the respondents brought them within the Disciplinary Jurisdiction of the High Court; but that, under the circumstances, a warning to them was sufficient. Per MACLEOD, C. J.:—"Advocates and pleaders are a privileged class enrolled not only for the purpose of rendering assistance to the Courts in the administration of justice, but also for giving professional advice, for which they are entitled to be paid, to those members of the public who require their services. Their position, training and practice give them immense influence with the public and their example must necessarily have a much greater effect whether for good or for evil than the example of those who do not occupy this privileged position. It is not necessary in order for us to be able to exercise our jurisdiction that any offence should have been committed, nor is it necessary that what the respondents have done should have subjected them to anything like general infamy or imputation of bad character." In re JIVANLAL VARAJRAY DESAI (1919) I. L. R. 44 Bom. 418

HIGH COURT, JURISDICTION OF—concld.

13.——— Suit against Receiver without leave of Court —Application for leave after filing of suit—Amendment of title of plaint—Summons—Practice —Costs. A suit was filed by the plaintiff against the defendants who were the Receivers of an estate appointed by the High Court in a certain suit. The defendants were not described in the title to the plaint as Receivers of the estate, nor was the leave of the Court first obtained before the filing of the suit. The plaintiff subsequently applied for leave to continue the suit against the defendants as Receivers and to amend the title of the plaint and the proceedings accordingly. Held, allowing the plaintiff's application, that the defect could be cured by leave subsequently granted, if there was no bar to the institution of the suit, that is, to the jurisdiction of the Court to admit the plaint. Rustomjee Dhanjibhai Sethna v. Frederic Gaebele (1918), 46 Calc. 352, followed. Chandulal v. Awad bin Umar Sultan (1896), 21 Bom. 351 and Narayan Shankar v. Secretary of State (1906), 30, Bom. 570, referred to. Per CURIAM :—The necessity for leave to sue the Receiver rests upon two considerations: (1) that such a suit is incompatible with the dignity and authority of the Court; (2) that it might inferfere with the duty of the Court to maintain the Receiver's possession. Neither of these considerations affects the jurisdiction of the Court. They are matters which the Court can deal with after the suit is filed; and the Court could order the suit to be stayed until it was satisfied that there was no encroachment upon its authority, nor attempt to interfere with the Receiver's possession. JAMSHEDJI v. HUSSEINBHAI AHMEDBHAI (1919) . . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 903

HIGH COURT, POWER OF.

See under VARIOUS HIGH COURTS.
See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, SS. 145 AND 435 . I. L. R. 36 All. 233
s. 439 . I. L. R. 25 All. 109

See HIGH COURT.
See HIGH COURT, JURISDICTION OF.
See LAND ACQUISITION.
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 916

HIGH COURT RULES AND ORDERS.

See under VARIOUS HIGH COURTS.

——— Allahabad, Chap. III, r. 2 (1908)—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, (1908), s. 122 . . . I. L. R. 40 All. 1
OOXLIRR, 1 and 3.
I. L. R. 43 All. 660

——— Ch. IV, rr. 5 and 8 (1911)—

See EXECUTION OF DECREE.
I. L. R. 36 All. 33

——— Ch. XXI, r. 1 (1911)—

——— Held that there was no necessity that an agent for a client should be authorised in any special manner. GUDDAR MAL v. HET RAM . . . I. L. R. 41 All. 246

See FEE CERTIFICATE.
I. L. R. 42 All. 542

——— Bombay (original), rr. 16 (2) and 17—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, s. 47, XXI, R. 92.
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 551

——— r. 62—

See HIGH COURTS ACT (24 AND 25 VICT. c. 104), ss. 2, 9 AND 13.
I. L. R. 39 Bom. 604

——— rr. 81, 321 and 323—Delegation of powers under rr. 321 and 323 to the Prothonotary—Power of the Prothonotary to deal with applications to give short service of notice of motion. The plaintiff filed a suit against the defendants claiming, inter-alia, the appointment of an interim receiver and an interim injunction. The plaintiff obtained from the Prothonotary leave to give the defendants short notice of a motion in the said suit under rr. 321 and 323 of the Bombay High Court Rules. The defendants objected that the Prothonotary had no power to shorten the time for notice. Held, that the Prothonotary had such power. MOORJI MANECK v. PASSU PARBHAT (1911)
I. L. R. 36 Bom. 418

——— rr. 397, 399—

See COMMISSIONER.
I. L. R. 41 Bom. 719

——— r. 704—

See COSTS . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 383

——— Bombay appellate, rr. 1 and 5—

See HIGH COURTS ACT (24 AND 25 VICT. c. 104), ss. 2, 9, 13.
I. L. R. 39 Bom. 604

——— r. 65—

See BOMBAY REGULATION II OF 1827, s. 52 . . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 303

——— r. 517—
See COSTS I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1234

——— r. 725—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, O. XLI, R. 10, AND S. 129.
I. L. R. 37 Bom. 572

——— Bombay Civil Circular
——— 51

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, O. XLI, R. 11. . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 610

HIGH COURT RULES AND ORDERS—contd.

——— 96, cl. (l)—Decree on mortgage—Mortgage executed by father and two sons for family purpose—Suit against the father and his sons—Decree—Execution against father and sons—Proclamation of sale putting up the right, title and interest of the father and sons for sale—A condition an undivided family, mortgaged family property to plaintiffs' father for family purposes. The plaintiffs brought a suit upon the mortgage against G., five of his sons and three grandsons by his sixth son who had died The suit was decreed in plaintiffs' favour. In execution of the decree, the mortgaged property was put up to sale and purchased by the plaintiffs at the Court-sale. In the proclamation of sale the right, title and interest of the defendants to the suit was mentioned; and one of the conditions of sale was in the terms of clause (l) to High Court Civil Circular 96. The plaintiffs were put in possession of the property. The defendants Nos. 7 to 14, 16 and 17 to 19, the

The defendants contended that their right to the property did not pass at the sale to the plaintiffs and they were not bound by the decree to which they were not parties The lower Courts disallowed the contention on the ground that the defendants were represented in the suit by their fathers and consequently their rights passed at the sale to the plaintiffs. On second appeal:—Held, that the defendants' interests in the mortgaged property did not pass to the plaintiffs at the Court-sales inasmuch as by an express declaration made by the selling Court and accepted by the purchasing plaintiffs, those interests were formally and deliberately excluded from the sale. TIMMAPPA v. NARSINHA TIMAYA (1913)

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 631

——— 17—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. XXI, rr. 89, 90—Indian Limitation of the High Court Civil Circulars at page 106

In every proclamation for sale carried out under the decree has been sent for execution, within thirty days from the date of the sale. If in spite of the notification any person makes an application to the Collector to set aside the sale, he should be referred to the Court without a moment's delay.

SHANTMURTI DEVAPPA v. NARAYAN RAMCHANDRA.

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1132

——— rr. 127 to 133 (original side)—

See THIRD PARTY NOTICE.

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 24

——— Ch. VI, para. 2—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), ss. 115, 151.

I. L. R. 38 Bom. 638

HIGH COURT RULES AND ORDERS—contd.

——— Ch. VIII—

See COSTS. . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 383

See THIRD PARTY NOTICE.

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 24

——— Calcutta—

See PLEADER . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 290

——— r. 426—A Registrar cannot be directed to enquire under this rule as to whether vendor could make a good title sold by the Commissioner of partition under order of Court. JOOLMAYA DASEE v. AKHOY COOMAR DAS.

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 140

——— r. 740—

See PROBATE . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 224

——— Vol. I, Ch. XI, r. 45 (e)—

See VAKALATNAMA.

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 884

——— Ch. XIII, r. 9—

See LEASE . . 24 C. W. N. 1007

——— Ch. XVII, r. 24—

See EXECUTION OF DECREE

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 515

——— Ch. XXIII, r. 1—

—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), if applies to such application—Arts. 31 and 181—Discretion of Court how to be exercised—Attorney's lien, if exercisable when debt barred—Limitation, if applies to claim of set off. R. 69, Chap. 36 of the High Court Rules (Original Side) is technically free from the statute of limitation, neither Art. 31 nor Art. 181 applying thereto. It is impossible to hold that because the Limitation Act sets a limit only to suits and applications contemplated by the Civil Procedure Code and has provided none for other applications therefore the High Court's power under its charter to make rules to regulate proceedings can never be exercised by providing special forms or opportunities of making applications to the Court The rule, therefore, is not ultra vires. Under the rule in question the Court can exercise its discretion in favour of the attorney even in case where a suit if brought cannot succeed owing to the bar of limitation. The discretion of the Court is to be exercised upon the well-known lines and in the well-established manner or an particular of remedy for other reasons, but the principle of limitation is itself a highly desirable safeguard. In the case of personal action for a debt, limitation merely bars the Plaintiff from having the particular remedy by way of suit and does not extinguish the debt; so that if the attorney has any form of lien upon property in respect of his bills of costs he can exercise that lien notwithstanding that by the terms of the Limitation Act he could not bring a suit. A Defendant may prosecute a set-off if the claim was not barred at the time of the issue of the plaint, but subject to this it is the law in India as well as in England that limitation applies to a set-off. RAJA NARENDRA LAL KHAN v. TARUBALA DASSI . . 25 C. W. N. 600

HIGH COURT RULES AND ORDERS—concld.

——— Ch. XXXVI, r. 32—(Taxation). Held that the fact that the matter was not raised by means of a reference by the Taxing Officer does not deprive the Judge of his jurisdiction to deal with the application on its merits. SAILENDRA MOHAN DUTT v. DHARANI MOHAN ROY

26 C. W. N. 870

——— Ch. XXXVIII, r. 67—

See ATTORNEY AND CLIENT.

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 249

——— Ch. II, r. 5 (Appellate)—

See SANCTION FOR PROSECUTION.

I. L. R. 44 Calc. 816

——— Madras, rr. 35, 36 and 38—

See PRACTICE I. L. R. 43 Mad. 282

——— r. 161—Held that this rule is only directory and not mandatory and the time mentioned is not of the essence of the rule. VELLIAPPA v. SUBRAHMANYAM .

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 485

HIGH COURTS ACT, 1861 (24 & 25 VICT. CL. 104).

See CHARTER ACT.
See INDIAN HIGH COURTS ACT.

——— ss. 1, 8, 9 and 15—

See CONTEMPT OF COURT.

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 173

——— ss. 2, 9, and 13—Amended Letters Patent, clauses 11 and 26—High Court Rules, Original Side, R. 62—High Court Rules, Appellate Side rr. 1 and 5—Single Judge sitting on the Original Side of the High Court—Power to stay suit pending before a Subordinate Judge's Court in the mofussil. It is not competent to a single Judge of the Bombay High Court, exercising the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the Court to stay the hearing of a suit pending for trial in a Subordinate Judge's Court in the mofussil, unless authorised so to do by rules. Per MACLEOD J.—A single Judge sitting on the Original Side of the High Court is competent to restrain the parties in a suit before him from proceeding with a suit in a Sub-Judge's Court in the mofussil, and so in effect stay the proceedings. NARAYAN VITHAL SAMANT v. JANKIBAI (1915) . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 604

——— s. 9—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), s. 115. I. L. R. 40 Bom. 86

See DIVORCE ACT (IV OF 1869), ss. 2, 4, 7 AND 45 . I. L. R. 38 Bom. 125

——— ss. 9, 11, 13 and 15—

See DEFENCE OF INDIA ACT.

3 Pat. L. J. 581

——— s. 11—

See HINDU LAW—WILL.

I. L. R. 44 Mad. 260

——— s. 13—

See APPEAL . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 323

——— ss. 14, 15—

See HIGH COURT, JURISDICTION OF

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 477

——— s. 15—

See JURISDICTION. I. L. R. 41 Calc. 915

See PRACTICE. I. L. R. 241 Calc. 632

HIGH COURT ACT, 1861 (24 & 25 VICT. CL. 104)—concld.

——— s. 15—concld.

See MADRAS CITY MUNICIPAL ACT (III OF 1904) . . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 581

——— s. 104—

See DEFENCE OF INDIA ACT, s. 1.

3 Pat. L. J. 537

HIGH SEAS.

——— offence committed on—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), s. 188.

I. L. R. 41 Bom. 667

See HIGH COURT, JURISDICITON OF.

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 487

——— Offence committed by a foreigner on a foreign ship—The ship 18 miles off Karwar coast—Jurisdiction of British Indian Court to try the accused—Admiralty Offiences (Colonial Act (12 and 13 Vic., c. 96)—Statute 23 and 24 Vic., c. 88. Merchant Shipping Act (57 and 58 Vic., c. 60), s. 686. The accused who was a subject of the State of Junaghad, committed an offence on a ship owned by a subject of the Junaghad State, when it was on the high seas some 18 miles off the coast of the Kanara District. A question having arisen whether he could be tried for the offence by the First Class Magistrate of Karwar. Held, that the Magistrate had no jurisdiction to try the accused. EMPEROR v. PUNJA GUNI (1917)

I. L. R. 42 Bom. 234

HIGHWAY.

——— dedication— No formal Act is necessary for the acceptance of a highway dedicated to the public. SURAJ MAL KHURAD v. AKSHOY KUMAR ROY . . . 21 C. W. N. 595 ——— religious processions—Continued user by the public of a way raises a presumption of dedication. All members of the public have a right to carry a religious procession through a public highway in a lawful way. MANNADA MUDALI NALLAYA GOUNDON

I. L. R. 32 Mad. 527

——— Obstructions as Special damage—The stopping of a highway in such a way as to make it necessary for a person to make a detour is sufficient special damage as would justify him is instituting a suit for the removal of the obstruction. RAM CHANDRA v. JOTI PRASAD (1910)

I. L. R. 33 All. 286

——— Suit for declaration—Requisites of a suit for a declaration of a public right of way discussed. HARIHAR DAS v. CHANDRA KUMAR GUHA . . . . . 23 C. W. N. 91

——— Right to carry procession in—Where user of highway proved, presumption will be that the right is unrestricted—Trustees, dedication by. Where user as a highway, sufficient to raise a presumption of dedication has been proved, the dedication will, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, be presumed, if possible, to be unrestricted. Marching in procession on a highway is not an excessive user of the highway; and a right of unrestricted user will include the right of marching in procession on the highway. Shadagopachariar v. Krishnamurthy Rao, I. L. R. 30 Mad. 185, referred to. A presumption of dedication by trustees will not be made when such dedication will contravene the purpose of the HIGHWAY—concld.

trust. The illegality of such a dedication by the trustees must be clearly proved. VIBUDAPRIYA THIRTHASWAMY v. ESOOF SAHIB (1910)

I. L. R. 35 Mad. 28

———— Right of a person or body of persons to go in procession along a highway—Order of Magistrate under Criminal Procedure Code (Act V of 1898) prohibiting a body of persons from going in procession—Right of suit of prohibited persons—Special damage whether should be alleged and proved—Trespass and public nuisance—Declaratory suit—Cause of action—English and Indian law An order passed by a Magistrate under the Criminal Procedure Code forbidding a person or body of persons from using a highway for the purpose of processions invests the person or persons interdicted with a cause of action, if they allege it to be an infringement of their legal rights, though such order be in itself intra vires and no special damage be alleged or proved. A person or body of persons who claim a right to go in procession along a public highway, can bring a declaratory suit to establish that right against a person who threatens to obstruct it without allegation or proof of special damage. Per WALLIS, C. J. —If defendants assembled to prevent the plaintiffs from exercising their lawful right to pass along the highway in a particular manner, that would not be a case of public nuisance but of trespass or threatened trespass to plaintiffs and in trespass an action lies without proof of special damage. VELAN PAKKIRI TARAGAN v SUBBAYAN SAMBAN (1918) I. L. R. 42 Mad. 271

———— Rights of user of general public—Religious procession—Obstruction caused by procession halting at frequent intervals—Suit for declaration of right to obstruct highway. Although the members of religious procession may have a right to use a public highway for purpose of passage, just as any other members of the public, they have

Emperor, I. L. R. 26 Mad. 554, referred to. MUHAMMAD ZAMAN v. MANZUR HASAN

I. L. R. 43 All. 692

———— In determining whether a road through private property is a public highway although not expressly dedicated it is important to distinguish between evidence showing an intention to dedicate to the public generally and evidence showing that visitors to tenants whose shops abut on the road have by permission a right of passage MAHOMED RUSTAM ALI v. KARNAL CITY MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE.

L. R. 47 I. A. 25

HINDU COMMON LAW.

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW.

I. L. R. 36 Bom. 383

HINDU CONVERTS.

See SUCCESSION . L. R. 43 I. A. 35

See SUCCESSION ACT, 1865, SS. 2 AND 331.

I. L. R. 43 All. 525

HINDU DEITIES.

———— suit for removal of—

See LIMITATION I. L. R. 38 Calc. 284

HINDU FAMILY.

———— Absconding member of, attachment of interest of—

See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1898), s. 88 I. L. R. 39 Mad. 831

HINDU LAW.

See ACCUMULATION.

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 76

See BANKRUPTCY I. L. R. 40 Mad. 581

See CUTCHI MEMONS.

I. L. R. 41 Bom. 181

See KHOJAS . I. L. R. 38 Bom. 449

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877),

s. 15 . . I. L. R. 37 Mad. 387

s. 42 . . I. L. R. 42 Mad. 699

———— decree against uncle executed against nephew—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1882, s. 234.

I. L. R. 32 All. 404

———— Position of surviving members not heirs of deceased members—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (1908),

O. II, R. 5 . I. L. R. 38 Bom. 120

O. XXIII, R. 3.

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 850

———— rules of, when binding on Courts—

See HINDU LAW—MAINTENANCE.

I. L. R. 37 Mad. 396

———— whether applicable to illegitimate children of Hindu by Mahomedan—

See CUSTOM (MAINTENANCE)

I. L. R. 2 Lah. 243

HINDU LAW—contd.

———— Gangaputra—Right to place platforms on ghats for helping pilgrims—Rights of a ghatiya heritable under the Hindu law. Held that the rights of a ghatiya, that is, the right to place platforms on a ghat and to use such platforms for the purpose of helping bathers and assisting them in their religious performances is a right to property and is heritable under the Hindu law. Sukhlal v. Bishambhar, I. L. R., 39 All. 196, and Raghoo Pandey v. Kassy Purey, I. L. R. 10 Calc., 73, referred to. Bansi v. Kanhaiya, 18 A. L. J. 983, distinguished. Suraj Prasad v. Ganesh Ram . . . . I. L. R. 43 All. 581

———— A caste if may own property or acquire same by prescription—Suit to declare right of members of a caste to akhra and for recovery thereof. Certain members of the Dhobi Community of Narainda, with the leave of the Court obtained under Or. I, r. 8 of the Civil Procedure Code, sued on behalf of the community for a declaration of its title to an akhra alleged to have been established by the ancestors of the community and for recovery of possession thereof. It was found as a fact that the Dhobi Community of Narainda had been owning the akhra and its properties from time immemorial through panchayets : Held—That the Dhobi Community of Narainda had the right to hold and manage the property and maintain suits with respect thereto through panchayets and that the present suit which was properly constituted under Or. I, r. 8, C. P. C., should succeed. Ownership of property by a fluctuating body of persons is recognised in Hindu law, and though there is no case in which the right of a particular caste or community to hold property has been decided, there are observations tending to show that such a body of persons is capable of owning property. Navroia Manekji Wadia v. Dastur Kharsedji Mancherji, I. L. R. 8 Bom. 20 (1908), referred to. The fact found in the present case that the akhra and its property were enjoyed by the Dhobi Community of Narainda from time immemorial pointed to a legal origin, and any objection that a right cannot be acquired by a fluctuating body of persons by prescription was inapplicable to the case. Lord Rivers v. Adams, L. R. 3 Exch. D. 361 (364) (1878), referred to. Probhat Chandra Sen v. Hari Mohan Dhupi 24 C. W. N. 206

HINDU LAW—ADOPTION.

See Adoption.

See Contract . . 4 Pat. L. J. 542

See Court Fees Act 1870, s. 7 . . . 5 Pat. L. J. 339

See Estoppel . I. L. R. 34 All. 398

See Hindu Law—Custom. 26 C. W. N. 882

See Hundu Law—Stridhan. I. L. R. 43 Calc. 944

See Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Sch. I, Art. 118 . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 513
I. L. R. 41 Bom. 728

See Transfer of Property Act, 1882, s. 6 . . I. L. R. 40 All. 692

———— Mahesris of Delhi—

See Declaratory Suit. I. L. R. 1 Lah. 92

1. ———— Mother's sister's son also father's brother's son.—The adoption of a mother's sister's son is invalid, even though he may also happen to be father's brother's son. The prohibition against the adoption of a sister's son, a daughter's son and a mother's sister's son is general, and not confined solely to persons who are neither sapindas nor sagotras. Ramchandra v. Gopal, I. L. R. 32 Bom. 619, followed. Walbai v. Heerbai (1909) . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 491

2. ———— Adoption by widow—of predeceased co-parcener after estate had vested in the widow of survivor invalid, though made with the consent of the latter. A power given to a widow to adopt is absolutely at an end when once the estate has vested in the heir of her deceased son and is not revived even if she afterwards succeeds to the estate. Ramakrishna v. Shamrao, I. L. R. 26 Bom. 526, and Manikyamala Bose v Nandkumar Bose, I. L. R. 33 Calc. 1306, referred to Held, also, that, in such a case, the consent of the son's heir in whom the estate had vested, will not validate the adoption. Wallis, J. Semble : The same rule would apply in the case of an adoption by the widow of a co-parcener who has lost her right to adopt independently of such consent by reason of the estate having devolved on the widow of the last co-parcener. Annamma v. Mabbu Bali Reddy, 8 Mad. H. C. R. 108, referred to. Adivi Suryaprakasa Rao v. Nidamarty Gangaraju (1909) I. L. R. 33 Mad. 228

3. ———— Custom of adoption among Jains in United Provinces—Adoption of married man—Proof of custom. Held (affirming the decision of the High Court), that a custom set up that "among the Jains adoption is no religious ceremony, and that under the law or custom there is no restriction of age or marriage among them" was established by the evidence. In this case the adopted son was a married man and was of the same gotra as his adoptive father. RUP CHAND v. JAMBU PRASAD (1910) I. L. R. 32 All. 247

HINDU LAW—ADOPTION—contd.

4. ———— Payment of money to adoptive widow by way of inducement to her to adopt a particular boy—Hindu Law—Payment is a sum paid tion of gift.

of Rs. 8,000 to B, a widow, as an inducement to her to adopt N. After the adoption B conveyed by way of gift to C some lands at Chinchwad and got them transferred to his name. Later on, N conveyed in gift the lands in dispute, which formed part of the property belonging to his adoptive father, to his natural brother (the defendant) in consideration of the payment of Rs. 8,000 made by C to B, in exchange for the lands at Chinchwad, and also having regard to the benefit he had derived from his adoption. After the death of N, his sons (the plaintiffs) challenged the gift and sued to recover possession of the lands from the defendant:—Held, that the transaction amounted to a mere gift which was not supported by consideration; since the payment of Rs. 8,000 to B was vitiated by the fact that it was in the nature of a bribe and as such was illegal according to Hindu Law; and even if it be regarded as a debt contracted by C, it could not bind N, first, because it was contracted for an illegal purpose; and, secondly, because, N had by his adoption ceased to be ed as supported by valuable consideration it could not bind the interest of the plaintiffs, inasmuch as the property conveyed formed part of the joint ancestral estate in which they took a vested interest by their very birth. Held, also, that if the transaction be regarded as one supported by valuable consideration on account of exchange of lands at Chinchwad, it could only amount to a sale of the property, and even then it was not competent to N to sell joint ancestral for a purpose, neither illegal nor immoral. Per property to the detriment of his sons, except for an antecedent debt which had been contracted for a purpose, neither illegal nor immoral, Per Curiam: Where on a Hindu's death an adoption is made by his widow, it must be made by her, without any coercion, free from any corrupt motive, and with an eye solely to the fitness of the boy to be adopted to fulfil the religious and secular duties binding on a son. That object is likely to be frustrated, if she is induced to adopt a boy out of sell as a

Hindu Law

be resumed

pply only as between the donor and the donee and relate to property which it is competent for the donor to give away. They cannot affect the joint ancestral estate of a Hindu and his sons. Their rights and liabilities are regulated by special texts dealing with that estate; and such of these special texts as relate to gift form exceptions to the general texts on the subject. SHRI SITARAM PANDIT v. SHRI HARIHAR PANDIT (1910) I. L. R. 35 Bom. 169

5. ———— Prior right of adoption as between elder and younger widows—Anumatipatra, construction of—Simultaneous or successive adoption. Where the deceased had executed an anumatipatra in these terms:—"In favour of the first wife, S. B. S. D., and the second wife S. D. . . . giving permission that when I shall be no more, each of my two wives shall be at liberty to act according to their own religious tenets by adopting three sons successively, that is one after another":—Held, that the effect of such an instrument was not to sanction a simultaneous adoption, but to give a power of adoption to the two widows successively. That this being so, the elder widow had the prior right to exercise the power of adoption and that the younger widow had no right to adopt before the elder widow had exhausted her right, or refused to use it. Rakhmabai v. Radhabai, 5 Bom. H. C. (App.) 181, followed. Amava v. Mahadgauda, I. L. R. 22 Bom. 416, Mondakini Dasi v. Adinath Dey, I. L. R. 18 Calc. 69, and Akhoy Chunder Bagchi v. Kalapahar Haji, I. L. R. 12 Calc. 406 : L. R. 12 I. A. 198, referred to. BIJOY KRISHNA KARMAKAR v. RANJIT LAL KARMAKAR (1911)

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 694

5a. ———— Anumatipatra—construction of—Adoption—Simultaneous or successive adoption—Preferential right of adoption of senior widow. Where a Hindu, governed by the Bengal school of Hindu law, had previous to his death executed an anumatipatra in these terms: "This anumatipatra for taking adopted son is executed to the following effect . . . . in favour of first wife B S and second wife S B. . . I am giving permission in writing that when I shall be no more, each of my two wives shall be at liberty to adopt three sons successively, that is, one after another, and shall lead a moral life. It is also permitted that each of my wives shall live in my ancestral dwelling house with her adopted son . . . ." Held, that applying the canon of construction laid down in Abhoy Chunder Bagchi v. Kalapahar Haji, I. L. R. 12 Calc. 406 ; L. R. 12 I. A. 198, the document did not contemplate simultaneous adoption by the widows, but successive adoption in accordance with the rule of law. As between co-widows, the senior, that is to say, she, whose marriage was earlier, has in general a preferential right of adoption. RANJIT LAL KARMAKAR v. BIJOY KRISHNA KARMAKAR (1912) I. L. R. 39 Calc. 582

6. ———— Rule that the adopted boy should be such that his mother could be legally married by the adopting father—Limits of the rule. Under Hindu Law, the rule that no one can be adopted whose mother the adopter could not have legally married, is confined to the three cases of a daughter's son, sister's son and a mother's sister's son. Ramchandra v. Gopal, I. L. R. 32 Bom. 619, followed. A person can validly adopt the son of his mother's brother. YAMNAVA v. LAXMAN BHIMRAO (1912)

I. L. R. 36 Bom. 533

7. ———— Ahirs—Validity of adoption after marriage of adopted son. Held, that amongst Ahirs the adoption of son after his marriage has taken place is not permissible. Pichuayyan v. Subbayyan, I. L. R. 13 Mad. 128, followed. JHUNKA PRASAD v. NATHU (1913)

I. L. R. 35 All. 263

HINDU LAW—ADOPTION—contd.

8. ——————— Implied prohibition in the will—absolute bequest to daughters—Hereditary Offices Act (Bom. Act III of 1874, amended by Bom. Act of 1886)—Amendment of the Act excluding daughters from succeeding to vatan lands—Adoption of a son of the daughter, by the widow—Adoption invalid—Will—Construction. A testator by his will dated the 9th March 1885 bequeated his property, which for the most part consisted of vatan lands, to his two daughters "in perpetuity." He enjoined his wife not to make over the property to anybody "except to my daughters." The daughters were authorised only to relinquish their right in favour of each other but not to anybody else. In 1886, the Bombay Hereditary Offices Act (III of 1874) was amended by the Bombay Act V of 1886, whereby the female members of a vatan were postponed to male members in the matter of succession. The testator's widow thereupon adopted defendant No. 1 who was a son of one of the daughters. The plaintiffs, the reversioners of the testator, filed a suit to obtain a declaration that the adoption of defendant No. 1 was invalid, alleging that there was in the will an implied prohibition forbidding the widow to adopt. It was contended in defence that the right of the widow to make the adoption was not taken away by anything expressed in the will. Held, that the adoption was invalid, inasmuch as it could not be upheld without giving the go-by to the testator's expressed wishes. In the will, not only was there a complete bequest of the whole estate to the daughters, but the widow was in terms prohibited from disposing of the property to anyone except the daughters. The Collector of Madura v. Moottoo Ramalinga Sathupathy, 12 Moo. I. A. 397, distinguished. MALGAUD PARAGAUDA v. BABAJI DATTU (1912) . . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 107

9. ——————— By widow of the last vatandar—Death of the adopted son unmarried—Second adoption by the adopted son—Vesting of the property in the male member of the vatandar family—Divesting of estate by adoption—Bombay Hereditary Offices Act (Bom. Act V of 1886), s. 2—Second adoption not valid. On the death of the last vatandar, his widow went into possession of the vatan property. She adopted a son who died in 1902 unmarried. In 1904, she adopted another boy. The plaintiff, a reversioner, sued in 1909, for a declaration that he was the vatandar and to recover possession of the vatan property. Held, that the widow could not make a second adoption; for the property was, on the death of her first adopted son, vested in the plaintiff, a male member of the family, and it could not subsequently be divested by any adoption made by her. BHIMABAI v. TAYAPPA MURARRAO (1913) I. L. R. 37 Bom. 598

10. ——————— Settlement of immoveable property by adopting widow in favour of her daughter—Settlement assented to by the natural father of the adopted boy—Attainment of majority by the adopted son—Repudiation of the Settlement—Settlement not enforceable. A settlement of immoveable property by an adopting widow in favour of her daughter to take effect upon the daughter attaining majority, assented to by the natural father of the adopted boy at the time of adoption, cannot be enforced by the daughter against the adopted son who repudiated it on majority. VYASACHARYA v. VENKUBAI (1912) I. L. R. 37 Bom. 251

HINDU LAW—ADOPTION—contd.

11. ——————— Consent of Sapinda, obtained for consideration—Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 32, sub-ss. 3 and 5—Admissibility of statement made by deceased person. Where under the Hindu Law, the consent of a sapinda is required to validate an adoption by a widow and that consent is obtained in exchange for a valuable consideration the transaction will vitiate the adoption. Rami Reddi v. Rangamma, 11 Mad. L. J. 20, followed. Srinivasa Ayyangar v. Rangasami Ayyangar, I. L. R. 30 Mad. 450, distinguished. A statement made by a deceased sapinda admitting that he had received sum of money in connection with an adoption was sought to be proved in order to invalidate the adoption:—Held, that the statement was admissible under s. 32, sub-s. (3) of the Evidence Act, it being a statement made against his pecuniary or proprietory interest. Held, also, that the statement was admissible under s. 32, sub-s. 5, as it related to the existence of a relationship; and this notwithstanding that the relationship was not in dispute at the time when the statement was made. DANAKOTI AMMAL v. BALASUNDARA MUDALIAR (1913) . . . I. L. R. 36 Mad. 19

12. ——————— By mother with the assent of a eceased son—Objection by existing sapinda—Invalidity of adoption. A consent previously obtained from a deceased sa pinda cannot be efficacious to validate an adoption which is not approved of or objected to by the persons who are the nearest sapindas at the time the adoption is actually made. Strange's Hindu Law, Vol. I, p. 80, and Sircar on adoption, p. 255, not followed. Per CURIAM: There is a distinction between the case of an adoption in an undivided family and that in a divided family, as regards the persons whose assent is sufficient. The Collector of Madura v. Moottoo Ramalinga Sathupathy, 12 Moo. I. A. 396, 442, Vellanki Venkata Krishan Rao v. Venkata Rama Lakshmi, I. L. R. 1 Mad. 174, and Subrahmanyam v. Venkamma, I. L. R. 26 Mad. 627, 635, referred to. MAMI v. SUBBARAYAR (1913) . I. L. R. 36 Mad. 145

13. ——————— Authority to adopt given to two widows—Construction—Authority whether several or joint—Exercise of power by survivor—Restriction as to class of boys—Powers, how to be construed—Power given by a Hindu, how to be construed when ambiguous. Where a testator by his will provided; "Permission will be granted to my two wives to adopt a boy to arrange to offer water and funeral oblations to me, the adopted boy will have to be taken from amongst my near representatives but my wives will adopt whomsoever they would select," and on the death of one of the widows, the surviving widow adopted her brother's son: Held, that the testator intended to confer authority to adopt by the will itself and not by a separate instrument. That the authority to adopt was conferred on the widows severally and not jointly, and the surviving widow could lawfully exercise the power of adoption conferred by the Will in construing a document of this description the Court would consider that the person giving the authority intended his widows to do that which the law allowed and not to do something which was, if not absolutely illegal very unusual and not practised amongst Hindus. Quære: Whether when an authority to adopt is in fact conferred on two widows jointly, adoption by the survivor of them alone is valid. Venkata v.

HINDU LAW—ADOPTION—contd.

Rangaya, I. L. R. 29 Mad. 437, 444, doubted. That the expression "from amongst my near representatives" being strictly speaking meaningless, no restriction as to the class of boys within which the choice was to be made was to be read into it. That it was not intended that the selection was to be made by the widows concurrently. Where the general intention of a Hindu to be represented by an adopted son is clear, effect should be given to such intention, if it is possible to do so without in equity in furtherance of the purpose for which they were created. SARADA PROSAD PAL v. RAMA PATI PAL (1912) . . 17 C. W. N. 319

14. ———— By widow of pre-deceased son—Contemporaneous consent of her mother-in-law in whom estate vested as heir. Under Hindu Law, the widow of a predeceased son can make a valid adoption with the contemporaneous consent of her mother-in-law in whom the estate of the Payapa v.

SIDAPPA
Bom. 724

validly given in adoption either by himself or by any one else. Subbaluvammal v. Ammakutti Ammal, 2 Mad. H. C. 129, Balvantrav Bhaskar v. Bayabhai et al, 6 Bom. H. C. 83, and Bashetiáppa v. Shivlingáppa, 10 Bom. H. C. 268, applied. An invalid adoption does not per se destroy the adoptee's rights in the natural family. Bhavani Shankara Pandit v. Ambabay Ammal, 1 Mad. H. C. 363, and Lakshmappa v. Ramava, 12 Bom. H. C. 364, 397, followed. No estoppel arises in such a case unless in consequence of the adoption, the position of the party setting up the estoppel is changed to his disadvantage, so as to render it inequitable that the adoptee should be restored to his place in his natural family. Gopalayyan v. Raghupatiayyan, 7 Mad. H. C. 250, and Parvatibayamma v. Ramakrishna Row, I. L. R. 18 Mad. 145, followed. No presumption in favour of an adoption arises in the absence of evidence of the giving or acceptance or of circumstances by which such a presumption can be supported, though the adoption may have taken place long before, and been acquiesced in by all concerned. Anandrav Shivaji et al v. Ganesh E. Bokil, 7 Bom. H. C. R., App. xxxiii at p. xxxiv, distinguished. A suit in ejectment cannot be converted into a suit for partition. VAITHILINGAM v. NATESA (1914)
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 529

16. ———— Half-brother—Mitakshara. The adoption of a half-brother is not invalid under Hindu Law. GAJANAN BALKRISHNA v. KASHINATH NARAYAN (1915)
I. L. R. 39 Bom. 410

17. ———— Non-performance of ceremony of datta homam—Will giving power to widow to adopt with consent of trustees where one declines to act—Omission to follow provisions of s. 145 of Evidence Act as to using documents to contradict witnesses—Inferences drawn from documents so used, and basing decision on them to prejudice of witnesses—General allegations of undue influence an...

On this ap[...]

Committee, ...

adoption. Held, (reversing the decision of the High Court), that on the evidence and under the circumstances of the case the adoption was valid. Where the boy to be adopted is of the same gotra as the adoptive father the performance of the ceremony of datta homam is not essential to the validity of the adoption among Maratha Brahmins in Bombay. Valubai v. Govind Kashinath, I. L. R. 24 Bom. 218, approved, as being based not on the particular degree of relationship, but upon the broad ground of the identity of gotra. A Hindu testator by his will appointed five trustees of his property and gave power to his widow to adopt a son with their consent and advice; and one of the trustees declined to act. Held, that the consent of the declining trustee was not necessary, and the adoption made with the consent of the other four trustees was valid. It is a general salutary, and intelligible rule, and one substantially embodied in s. 145 of the Evidence Act (I of 1872) that if a witness is under cross-examination on oath, he should be given the opportunity, if documents are to be used against him to tender his explanation and clear up the particular point of ambiguity or dispute: and the duty of enforcing such a rule is clear, especially where a witness' reputation or character is at stake. In this case where the general principle of this rule and the specific provisions of s. 145 had not been followed but documents had been used for the purpose of contradicting witnesses without calling their attention to the portions of the documents so used, their Lordships were of opinion that the decision of the High Court on the evidence amounted to an inferential verdict of perjury against the witnesses which was not justified. Semble: Where coercion, undue influence, fraud and misrepresentation are set up as rendering a transaction invalid, each one should be specifically pleaded, and a definite should be permitted to be raised by general allegations. Wallingford v. Mutual Society. L. R. 5 App. Cas. 685, per Lord Selborne; and Gunga Narain Gupta v. Tiluckram Choudhry, I. L. R. 15 Calc. 533 : L. R. 15 I. A. 119, referred to as to the defence of fraud. BAL GANGADAR TILAK v. SHRINIVAS PANDIT (1915) I. L. R. 39 Bom. 441

18. ———— Effect of invalid adoption—Invalidly adopted son not entitled to maintenance—Declaration in writing that the declarant will give certain lands

not executed—

tion—Incompl

a boy whose adoption ...

has no right to be maintained out of the estate of the adopted family. The plaintiff claiming to be the adopted son of the late Thakor of Mehelol, applied to obtain certain lands from the estate by way of maintenance, to the Collector who was in charge of the estate. The Collector persuaded the present Thakur (defendant) to settle the matter. Accordingly, the defendant made a declaration in writing that he would give the Kankanpur wanta by way of maintenance to the plaintiff and his direct lineal heirs. The defendant did not execute any formal deed to convey the lands. The plaintiff sued to recover the Kankanpur wanta from the defendant on the strength of the declaration:—Held, that the defendant was not bound by the declaration, which marked only a stage in the negotiations, which, unless completed, could be broken off at any time by either side. DALPATSINGHJI v. RAISINGJI (1915)

HINDU LAW—ADOPTION—contd.

I. L. R. 39 Bom. 528

19. ———— Authority to adopt, construction of—Extrinsic evidence, admissibility of—Successive adoptions—Limits for the exercise of the power to adopt—First adopted son, death of—His widow alive—Second adoption by widow of previous owner, validity of—Impartible zamindari, how far joint family property—Vesting of property in a co-parcener, meaning of—Divesting of property by adoption—Rule as to adoption to last male holder—Applicability of rule to ordinary co-parcenary and to impartible zamindari. A, the holder of an impartible zamindari, died in 1868 without issue, leaving a widow K. Prior to his death, he executed a document authorising her to adopt a son to him. On his death his brother R succeeded to the estate. Subsequently in 1870, K adopted B who recovered the zamindari from R by suit and died in 1906 without issue leaving a widow R.M. On the death of B, the son of R succeeded to the zamindari but died fifteen days after his accession; the first and second defendants were his sons. In 1907, K purporting to act under the power given by her husband, adopted the plaintiff as a son to her husband, while R.M., the widow of B was alive. The plaintiff sued to recover the zamindari from the defendants. The latter pleaded that the power to adopt given to K by A (her husband), did not authorise her to make a second adoption, that the existence of R.M., was a bar to the exercise of the power even if it was not exhausted by the first adoption and that the adoption, not having been made to the last male holder, was invalid. Held, that the power to adopt given by A to K was wide enough to enable her to make a second adoption; but that the power was not exercisable by reason of the fact that R.M. (B's widow) was alive when the second adoption was made by K. Per WHITE, C. J.—The rule that an adoption should be made to the last male owner is applicable to a joint Hindu family living under the Mitakshara law. Sivagnanam Servaigar v. Ramasawmy Chettiar, 22 Mad. L. J. 85, referred to. Per SESHAGIRI AYYAR, J.—The canon of construction regarding powers to adopt is not different from that of ordinary testamentary dispositions: the intention of the testator has to be gathered from the language employed by him and from the cirumstances existing at the time of the grant of the power. The authority given by a Hindu to his wife should be regarded as being general in its nature unless conditions have been imposed or limitations placed upon it by him. Where the exercise of a power to make a second adoption will not result in creating a new line of succession but will only transfer the estate from one intermediate owner to another with the prospect of the latter being eventually divested, the limit of the power to adopt should be held to have been reached. An estate taken by survivorship by a member of a joint Hindu family is a conditional estate subject to defeasance on the coming into existence by adoption or otherwise, of a new member into the co-parcenary; the rule of law that, in order that an estate once vested may be divested, the adoption should be made to the last male holder, is not applicable to co-parcenary property; and an impartible zamindari is joint family property subject to an exception. MADANA MOHANA v. PURUSHOTHAMA (1914) . . . . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1105

20. ———— By widow of brother's son—Acting with her deceased husband's authority—Authority to adopt a particular boy whom her husband could and would have adopted had he lived—Rejection of the extension by Nanda Pandit in Dattaka Mimansa to adoption by females of rule of Hindu Law against adoption of son whose mother the adopter could not have legally married. The adoption by a Hindu widow acting in accordance with authority given her by her deceased husband is an adoption not to herself, but to her husband, and is therefore not according to Hindu Law, invalid by reason of the adopted boy being her brother's son. Jai Singh Pal Singh v. Bijai Pal Singh, I. L. R. 27 All. 417, Sriramlulu v. Rammayya, I. L. R. 3 Mad. 15, and Bai Nani v. Chunilal, I. L. R. 22 Bom. 973, approved of. The gloss of Nanda Pandit in the Dattaka Mimansa purporting to extend to adoption by females the rule of Hindu Law that no one can be adopted as a son whose mother the adopter could not have legally married, rejected as being an extension not based upon the authority of the Smritis or institutes of sages, and not being shown to have been accepted as the law of India, so far as adoptions by widows to their deceased husbands are concerned. In the present case the authority of the husband to the widow was a specific authority to her to adopt a particular boy whom she did adopt and whom he could and presumably would, have adopted had he lived. PUTTU LAL v. PARBATI KUNWAR (1915)

I. L. R. 37 All. 359

21. ———— By junior widow—without consulting senior widow but with sapindas consent, invalidity of—Preferential right of senior widow to adopt. An adoption made by a junior widow of a deceased Hindu purporting to be made with the consent of the sapindas, but without consulting the senior widow is invalid. Kakerla Chukkamma v. Kakerla Punnamma, 28 Mad. L. J. 72, followed. Vellanki Venkata Krishna Rao v. Venkatarama Lakshmi, I. L. R. 1 Mad. 174, referred to. Per WALLIS, C. J.—In the absence of an express authority by the husband to any one of the widows, the senior widow has the preferential right to adopt with the consent of the sapindas. The senior widow is one of the kinsmen whom it is the duty of the junior widow to consult within the meaning of the rule enunciated in The Ramnad Case, 12 Moo. I. A. 397. RAJAH VENKATAPPA NAYANIM BAHADUR v. RENGA RAO (1915)

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 772

22. ———— Consent of sapindas—Refusal of consent by nearest sapinda on personal grounds, improper—Consent of remoter sapindas—Adoption, validity of. Where the nearest sapinda refused to give his consent to an adoption by a widow on the ground that he would forfeit the right to property which he would otherwise get, and the widow made the adoption with the consent of remoter

HINDU LAW—ADOPTION—contd.

sapindas: Held, that the refusal of the nearest sapinda was based on improper grounds and that the adoption with the consent of the remoter sapinda was valid. VENKATARAMA RAJU v. PAPAMMA (1914) . . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 77

23. ———— Divesting of estate on—Property of the natural father vested exclusively in the son before adoption —After adoption the property remains in the natural family. Under Hindu Law, when a boy is given in adoption, he loses all the rights he may have acquired to the property of his natural father including the right to property which has become exclusively vested in him before the date of his adoption. Rajah Venkata Narasimha Appa Row v. Sri Rajah Rangayya Appa Row, I. L. R. 29 Mad. 437, dissented from. DATTATRAYA SAKHARAM v. GOVIND SAMBHAJI (1916) . . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 429

24. ———— Simultaneous execution of adoption deed as well as will—Construction of documents—Adopted son's consent, binding effect of —Disposition good as a family arrangement One B died leaving him surviving his widow L and a predeceased son's daughter K (plaintiff). B, before his death, recommended L to adopt A his brother's son. L made the adoption by a deed dated the 10th June 1895 and simultaneously executed a will in favour of K. On the strength of this will K claimed the properties in suit. The Subordinate Judge decreed K's suit holding that the will being made with the full consent and concurrence of A who was then major must take effect. On appeal the decree was reversed. On appeal to the adoption deed a and that, so rea arrangement, (ii) that the adopted son who was of full age having deliberately accepted the family arrangement and its advantages must be held to it. Visalakshi Ammal v. Sivaramien, I L. R. 27 Mad. 577, referred to, (iii) that the disposition in favour of plaintiff was good not because it was a bequest made by L, but because it was a part of the single family arrangement which all parties accepted. KASHIBAI v. TATYA (1916) I. L. R. 40 Bom. 668

25. ———— By Brahmin—Dattahoma ceremony not performed—Adoption if valid—Adopter and adoptee of same gotra. Held, on a review of authorities, that the dattahoma ceremony is not essential when the adopted boy is of the same gotra as the adopter, even amongst the twice born classes. RETKI v. LAK PATI PUJARI (1914) 20 C. W. N. 19

26. ———— Authority to adopt, verbally given, before death—Proof —Relevancy of will, which contained no directions for adoption, made two months before death, in estimating probabilities—Probable change of intentions—Witnesses, testimony of, opinion of Trial Judge, value of discrepancy in witnesses' statements, consideration of —Non-citation by either side of witness who went over from one side to the other—Case raised in first Court, not urged in appeal, if should be allowed to be raised on further appeal. R, a Hindu mahajan of means, died on 11th February 1896, leaving him surviving a widow and a daughter. He had been suffering from pthisis for some time. Two months before his death he executed a will, by which he made a very modest provision for his daughter, and gave his wife a life-interest in the bulk of his properties (which, however, she was liable to forfeit if she behaved contrary to the injunctions of the will). The testator had been hopeful that a son might be born to him, and the son, if born, was, under the will, to be the "sole executor, donee and owner." The will contained no power to adopt a son. Seven years after the death of R, his widow adopted an infant son of R's nephew J, born after R's death. By his will R had expressly excluded J, on account of his profligacy and irreligion, from participation in his funeral ceremonies, preferring for that purpose his sister's son B, in whom he had confidence and who lived in the same house with him and whom he appointed one of his executors. The authority for the adoption was alleged to have been given by R, shortly before his death (when he appeared to have become aware of the serious nature of his illness) verbally to his wife, in the presence of several respectable witnesses, most of whom deposed that R had expressly directed a son of J (should one be born) to be taken in adoption. The Trial Judge had held of the several witnesses who spoke to R's giving authority to adopt. Held, by the Judicial Committee, that the probabilities were not adverse to the view that the testator might have modified his original intentions as expressed in his will which was executed before he came to realise how short his life was, and the balance of testimony being distinctly in favour of the story that the authority to adopt had been given, not only had the Trial Court not aproached the case with bias but had taken a fairer and less one-sided view of the facts than that which prevailed in the High Court. That the view of the Judge who tried the case and saw nearly all the witnesses on a question of evidence such as this was obviously entitled to great weight. That such discrepancies as these were might well be accounted for by the fact that the conversation which the witnesses described had taken place some 13 years previously. At the trial the widow of R, who first came forward to support the adoption, appeared later on to have gone over to the opposite camp, viz., of B, who was opposing the adoption: Held, that the omission by both parties to cite her as a witness was in the circumstances justifiable. The question whether assuming authority to adopt to have been given, the adoption of J's son would make him a son of the testator capable of taking under the terms of the will was raised in the Trial Court and decided in favour of the adopted son and it was not raised in the Appeal Court. The Judicial Committee in the circumstances did not allow the question to be raised before them. ADWAITYA PRASAD v. BALDEO DASS (1916) 20 C. W. N. 659

HINDU LAW—ADOPTION—contd.

27. ———— Kayasthas, in Bengal—Adoption, amongst Kayasthas, religious ceremonies if essential—Religious ceremonies postponed after actual giving and taking—Adoption during pollution through birth of agnate—Validity—Afterborn natural son of Sudra, and adopted son, shares of, if equal—Agreement by adoptive father to give equal share, if valid—Properties held by adoptive father as shebait's adopted son, if may claim to hold as shebait jointly with afterborn son—Pittrikrityas, and Debakrittyas —Proof that property has been endowed as debutter— Dattaka Chandrika, authority of Kayasthas, according to the law prevalent in Bengal, are considered as Sudras. No religious ceremony is necessary for an adoption amongst Kayasthas, mere giving and taking of a son being sufficient to give it validity. The putresthi jag and namkaran not being essential ceremonies in an adoption between Sudras, the fact that they took place subsequently to the giving and taking did not affect the validity of the adoption. Pollution on account of the birth of a relative does not vitiate an adoption. It is only a bar to religious acts and renders religious ceremonies inefficacious; but gift and acceptance of a son are secular acts. Santappayya v. Rangappayya, I. L. R. 18 Mad. 397, 396, followed. Such pollution results from the knowledge of the fact of birth. In laying down the rule that the adopted son of a Sudra shares the inheritance equally with the afterborn natural son, the Dattaka Chandrika has in no way deviated from the Smritis, and the rule, which has been accepted as correct by both the Madras and Calcutta High Courts, should not be departed from. An ekrarpatra of the adoptive father covenanting that an afterborn natural son of his shall not be entitled to claim a larger share but will divide the inheritance equally with the son he was adopting, is valid and operative. Surendra Keshab Roy v. Doorga Soondary Dassee, I. L. R. 19 Calc. 513, 536, and Bhala Nahana v. Prabhu Hari, I. L. R. 2 Bom. 67, referred to. It is now settled law that, as regards inheritance, the adopted son holds in all respects the same position as an aurasa son except in some special matters. An aurasa son has a superior right in respect of pitri-matri krityas but there is no such preference in respect of shevas or deva-krityas. Held, therefore, that an adopted son of a Sudra was entitled to inherit debutter properties in the right of shebaitship jointly with an afterborn natural son. ASITA MOHON GHOSH MOULIK v. NIRODE MOHON GHOSH MOULIK (1916) . . . 20 C. W. N. 901

28. ——————— Evidence of—Absence of any deed or written record of adoption —No entries of expenditure on ceremonies in account books—Adopted child's name not changed and child left with its natural parents. In this appeal which arose out of a suit by the natural father of the appellant to have his adoption declared valid, their Lordships of the Judicial Committee (affirming the decision of the Court of the Judicial Commissioner of the Central Provinces) held, on the evidence, that the alleged adoption was never made. It appeared that though the suit might well have been brought in the life time of the alleged adoptive father, who consistently denied that the adoption ever took place, it was not commenced until some months after his death. There was no deed of adoption or any other formal record of the event. Sootrugun Sutputty v. Sabitra Dye, 2 Knapp P. C. 287, referred to. There was no reference to any expenditure on the ceremony in the account books of either the natural or the adoptive father. Lal Kunwar v. Chiranji Lal I. L. R. 32 All. 104; L. R. 37 I. A. 1, referred to. No feast was proved to have taken place on the occasion of the alleged adoption; the ceremonies said to have been performed were of the briefest possible description; no notification was made to the authorities; the child's name was not changed, and he was never taken to live with his adoptive parents, or recognised by them in any way; and all the surrounding circumstances and conditions not only did not support the adoption, but made it highly improbable that the ceremony of adoption was ever performed in regard to the appellant. DIWAKAR RAO v. CHANDANLAL RAO (1916) . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 201

29. ——————— Dvyamushyayana adoption——Presumption. In every case of a nitya dvyamushyayana form of adoption, there must be an agreement to that effect: such an agreement must be proved by the person setting up the dvyamushyayana adoption, like any other question of fact, as much in the case of the adoption of an only son of a brother as in any other case of such an adoption. See LAXMIPATIRAO v. VENKATESH (1916) . . . I. L. R. 41 Bom. 315

30. ——————— Adoption by a minor widow—Want of independent, disinterested advice—Validity of adoption—Ratification by widow after attaining majority, effect of. A widow, authorized by her husband to adopt a boy if and when she chose, adopted her own brother, when she was eleven years of age on the interested advice of her father. Held, that the adoption made by the widow while a minor and without independent advice, was void ab initio and could not be therefore validated by subsequent ratification. Sri Rajah Venkata Narasimha Appa Row v. Sri Rajah Rangayya Appa Row, I L. R. 29 Mad. 437, dissented from. SATTIRAJU v. VENKATASWAMI (1917) I. L. R. 40 Mad. 925

31. ——————— By one adjudged a lunatic—valid only, if of sound mind at the time—Presumption of continuity of unsound mind—Onus of proving the contrary. The effect of an adjudication under the Lunacy Act (XXXV of 1858) that a person is a lunatic, is to raise a presumption that he continued to be of unsound mind until the contrary is shown. Van Grutteen v. Foxwell, [1897] A. C., 658, and Snook v. Watts, 11 Beavan, 105, followed. Though the effect of an order under the Act appointing a manager for the properties of a lunatic is not to incapacitate him from making an adoption till the order is set aside; still, unless it is proved that the lunatic was of sound mind at the time he is alleged to have made the adoption, the adoption is invalid. Semble: Adoption is not an act which amounts to an alienation of property. It affects status and it has, in the opinion of Hindus, religious efficacy and it would not be right for a Court to hold that a Hindu is deprived by any statute, of the power of making an adoption unless there are clear unambiguous words to that effect. SESHAMMA v. PADMANABHA RAO (1916) . . . . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 660

32. ——————— Of an orphan by a widow in 1862—Possession of estate by adopted son—Death of adopted son in 1864—Adoption by his widow—Possession of latter adopted son till 1876—Dispossession by former widow in 1876—Death of adopted son in 1881—Suit by latter's widow against former widow for possession—Decree—Death of former widow in 1902—Suit by reversioners of the original owner in 1905—Suit for possession against widow and alienees from both widows, if, barred—Title of reversioners, if extinguished—Limitation Act IX of 1871, Art. 129 and s. 29—Later Limitation Acts (XV of 1877 and IX of 1908) effect of—Res judicata —Sudra ascetic or Tambiran—Entry into, order of —Right of inheritance, if forfeited—Texts as to Yat, applicability of, to Sudras—Usage—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. XLI, r. 4—Decree on appeal. A, a Hindu, died in 1849 without issue, leaving a widow C. She adopted B, an orphan, as a son to her husband in 1862 and put him in possession of her husband's properties, other than those alienated by her prior to adoption. B died issueless in 1864 leaving a widow M, who adopted T. The latter was in possession of the properties till 1876 when he was dispossessed by C. T died issueless in 1881, leaving a widow who also died in 1882. M, who succeeded to the estate as T's heiress, sued C in 1887 and recovered possession of the estate from her. C died in 1902. In 1905, the plaintiffs, claiming to be the reversioners of A on C's death, sued to recover the estate of A from the defendants. Some of the defendants were alienees from M who was the fourth defendant; some others were alienees from C, while the first defendant claimed a fourth share in the estate as the widow of one K who was a co-reversioner along with the plaintiffs but had become a Tambiran before C died in 1902. The defendants other than the first, contended inter alia that the suit was barred by limitation and by the rule of res judicata: Held, (i) that a suit by the reversioners of A for recovery of possession of such of A's properties as were in the possession of the heirs of the adopted son had become barred in 1874 under art. 129 of the Limitation Act (IX of 1871) and that a title to such property was acquired by the heirs of the adopted son under s. 29 of the same Act and could not be affected by the pro-by art. 129 expired, their title as reversioners was barred; (iii) that, consequently, the present suit as against the fourth defendant (the widow of the adopted son) and her alienees was barred by barred by limitation Jagadamba Choudhrani v. Dakhina Mohun Roy Chaodhri, I. L. R. 13 Calc. 308 and Mohesh Narain Munshi v. Taruck Nath Moitra, I. L. R. 20 Calc. 487, followed. Tirubhuvan Bahadur Singh v. Rameshar Baksh Singh, I. L. R. 28 All. 727, explained and applied: Held, also, that the present suit was not barred by the rule of res judicata by the decision in the previous suit instituted by M, against C. Hari Nath Chatterjee suit instituted by M, against C. Hari Nath Chatterjee v. Mothur Mohun Goswami, I. L. R. 21 Calc. 8, distinguished. The texts of Hindu Law as to disinheritance applicable to Yati or Sanyasi do not apply to Sudra ascetics unless a usage to this effect is established: Dharmapuram pandara Sannadhi v. Vira Pandiyan Pillai, I. L. R. 22 Mad. 302 and Harish Chandra Roy v. Atir Mahmud, I. L. R. 40 Calc. 545, referred to: Held (on the evidence), that no usage was established in this case; consequently that the first defendants' husband was not excluded from inheriting as a co-reversioner with the plaintiffs by reason of his having entered the order of Tambirans before the succession opened in 1902 and that the first defendant was entitled to recover one-fourth share in the estate in right of her husband: Held, further, that where an appeal was preferred by some only of the alienees who were defendants but no appeal was preferred by the other alienees or the alienor who were also defendants, a decree can be passed in the appeal dismissing the suit in favour of the latter defendants also. Kulaikada Pillai v. Viswanatha Pillai, I. L. R. 28 Mad. 229, and Subbarayalu Naidu v. Pappammal, Second Appeal No. 557 of 1914, followed. Where some of the appellants who were defendants, died and their legal representatives were not brought on the record in the appeal: Held, that it was competent to the Court under O. XLI, r. 4, to set aside the decree as regards the whole of the plaintiff's claim and not merely in respect of the interest of those appellants only whose appeals had not abated. Chintaman v. Gangabai, I. L. R. 27 Bom. 284, followed. Dhuttaloor Subbaya v. Padigantam Subbayya, I. L. R. 30 Mad. 470, referred to. SOMASUNDARAM CHETTIAR v. VAITHILINGA MUDALIAR (1916) . . . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 846

HINDU LAW—ADOPTION—contd.

HINDU LAW—ADOPTION—contd.

33. ———— Adopted person having a son in conception—Such son passes into the adoptive family. At the time when a person was adopted he had no son born but had a son who was conceived. A question having arisen whether such a son passed on adoption into the adoptive family. Held, that for all purposes of succession and inheritance the legal entity of the after-born son must be taken to date from the date of his birth; and that, therefore, the after-born son passed into the adoptive family. ADVI bin FAKIRAPPA v. FAKIRAPPA ADIVEPPA (1918) . I. L. R. 42 Bom. 547

34. ———— By widow of son to deceased husband—Subsequent suit by her to set aside adoption on ground that she had no authority—Estoppel, dismissal of suit on ground of —Decision by Privy Council that she had authority and that adoption was valid—Decree properly made against widow representing estate, binding effect of on reversioner—Res judicata—Civil Procedure Code (1908), s. 11. After adopting a son to her deceased husband a Hindu widow in a suit by an alleged reversioner against her to set aside the adoption on the ground that she had no authority from her husband to make the adoption alleged in her written statement and stated in Court, through her pleader that she had authority to make the adoption, and that it was valid. The suit was dismissed because the plaintiff was found not to be a reversioner. The widow then brought a suit against the adopted son to set the adoption aside, pleading that she was not vested with authority from her husband to adopt and denied having made the adoption. The adopted son contested the suit was valid. In a suit by an alleged reversioner to the estate of her husband against the adopted son for a declaration that the adoption was invalid and for possession of the estate. Held, that notwithstanding the personal estoppel which bound her, the widow represented the estate on the question of fact as to whether the defendant (respondent) had or had not been validly adopted, and that she represented it within the meaning of the rule laid down in Katama Natchiar v. The Raja of Shivagunga, 9 Moo I. A., 539, and under the circumstances the decree against her would bind the reversioners. Though the rule of res judicata as enacted in s. 11 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, was not strictly applicable, as the appellants (plaintiffs) were not parties to the widow's suit against the adopted son, and did not claim through a party to that suit, yet the principle of res judicata had been rightly applied by Courts in India so as to bind reversioners by decisions in litigation fairly and honestly given for or against Hindu females representing estates. In the absence of all authority their Lordships could not decide that a Hindu lady, otherwise qualified to represent an estate in litigation, ceases to be so qualified merely owing to personal disability or disadvantage as a litigant, although the merits of the case were tried, and the trial was fair and honest. RISAL SINGH v. BALWANT SING (1918)

HINDU LAW—ADOPTION—contd.

I. L. R. 40 All. 593

35. ———— Consent of nearest sapindas not sought—Consent of remote sapindas whether sufficient—Knowledge that sapinda will refuse, whether a good ground for not asking for his consent. In the Dravida country an adoption by a Hindu widow having no authority from her deceased husband to adopt, made with the consent of remote sapindas but without asking for the consent of the nearest sapindas is invalid. It is immaterial that the widow knew that the nearest sapindas, if asked for their consent, would have refused, it. Collector of Madura v. Mootoo Ramalinga Sathupathy, 12 Moo. I. A. 397, 400, 440. Venkata Krishna Rao v. Venkata Rama Lakshmi, I. L. R. 1 Mad. 174, 190 ; L. R. 4 I. A., 1, 13, 14, and Raghunada Deo v. Brozo Kishore Patta Deo, I. L. R. 1 Mad. 69 ; s. c. L. R. 3 I. A. 154, discussed and followed. Quære : Whether the widow of a co-parcener, who died in or before 1853 could adopt a son in 1896 after the joint family property had vested in the widow of his brother's son ? VEERABASAVARAJU v. BALASURYA PRASADA RAO (1918) . . . I. L. R. 41 Mad. 998

36. ———— Consent of Sapindas revoked—Arbitrary revocation, whether competent—Delay in adoption or death of Sapinda, effect of—Divesting of estate. A Sapinda, who has given his consent to a widow to make an adoption to her husband, cannot arbitrarily withdraw his consent before it is acted upon by the widow. The party giving his consent can deliberately revoke it for justifiable reason, but where no reasons are given by him, Courts will not find out a justification for the revocation. Mere lapse of time without more, or the death of the consenting Sapinda will not put an end to a consent freely and bonâ fide granted. The assent of the Sapinda is presumptive evidence of the goodness of the act of adoption by the widow. Analogy of the rules as to consent of the nearest reversioner to an alienation by a widow applied. Sri Virada Pratapa Raghunada Deo v. Sri Brozo Kishore Patta Deo, I. L. R. 1 Mad. 69, Bhimappa v. Basawa, I. L. R. 29 Bom. 400; Narasimha v. Parthasarathy, I. L. R. 37 Mad. 199, referred to. Mami v. Subarayar, I. L. R. 36 Mad. 145, and Subrahmanyam v. Venkamma, I. L. R.

HINDU LAW—ADOPTION—contd.

26 Mad. 635, explained. Where a widow, having succeeded as heir to her adopted son who died unmarried, adopted, with the consent of the nearest Sapinda, another son to her late husband, the latter would divest the estate vested in the adoptive mother, whether the estate was the ancestral or the self-acquired property of the first adopted son Vallanki Vendata Krishna Rao v. Venkata Rama Lakshmi, I. L. R. 1 Mad. 174, and Mussumat Bhoobum Noyee Debia v. Ram Kishore Acharj Chowdry, 10 Moo. I. A. 209, referred to SURYANARAYANA v. RAMADOSS (1917)
I. L. R. 41 Mad. 604

37. ———— Dvyamushyayana,—Presumption. Under Hindu law, in the absence of any express agreement to the effect that the adoption was to be in the Dvyamushyayana form, it must be presumed to be an ordinary adoption. Laxmipatirao v. Venkatesh, I. L. R. 41 Bom. 315, followed. HUCHRAO TIMMAJI v. BHIMARAO GURURAO (1917) . I. L. R. 42 Bom. 277

38. ———— Successive adoptions—Limit for exercise of power to adopt—Death of first adopted son leaving widow but no son—Second adoption by widow of previous owner of impartible zemindari—Family governed by Mitakshara Law—Divesting of property by adoption—Rule that adoption must be made to last male owner. A, the holder of an impartible zemindari and a member of a joint family governed by Mitakshara Law, gave authority to his wife to adopt a son to him. On A's death his brother R took possession of the property. The widow subsequently adopted a son B who recovered the estate of R and held it until 1906, when he died leaving a widow but no son. A descendant of R then took possession of the property but died in the same year, and was succeeded by his son the respondent. In 1907 A's widow purported to make a second adoption to A under the authority from him by taking in adoption the appellant. In a suit brought by him to recover the zemindari : Held, that the law imposed a limit within which a widow can exercise a power of adoption conferred on her, and the limit to her power was reached when B died after attaining full legal capacity to continue the line of descent either by a natural born son, or by the adoption to him of a son by his own widow against whom it had not been established (she not being a party to the suit) that she had no power to adopt. This conclusion was in no way in conflict with the previous decision of the Board in Raghunada Deo v. Broza Kishore Patta Deo, I. L. R. 1 Mad. 69 ; L. R. 3 I. A. 154. It was therefore not necessary to decide whether the authority to adopt empowered A's widow to take a second adoption. MADANA MOHANA DEO v PURUSHOTTHAMA DEO (1918) . . . . I. L. R. 41 Mad. 855

39. ———— Power to widow to adopt either in life-time of son or after his death—validity of—Authority to adopt, how long can be exercised—Adoption, object of. R, a Hindu, died leaving his only son K, and a widow M. By a will, R dedicated his 4 annas share in a certain property to the service of certain duties, and directed that the widow M should be shebait, and the son K should succeed her in that office. His other immoveable properties he divided between K and M, bequeathing 12 annas to K and 4 annas

HINDU LAW—ADOPTION—contd.

to M for her life. He next authorized M to adopt three sons in succession, whether in the life-time of K or after his death, and provided that on M's death, the adopted son, if any, and failing any adopted son, K should succeed to her 4 annas share. K died at the age of about 50, leaving no son, but his widow as heir. After K's death, M adopted the plaintiff. Later on, K's widow adopted defendant No. 1, which was not found to be a valid adoption. In a suit for declaring the plaintiff's right to the 12 annas of R's property bequeathed to K and for setting aside the adoption of defendant No. 1 and for other reliefs :—Held, that the authority to M to adopt was not vitiated as a whole because she was given power to adopt even in the life-time of her son. Held, further, that the adoption by M was valid, as it would confer spiritual benefit on the adoptive father R and as it did not involve a divesting of K's estate, and that M's power to adopt could be exercised so long as the adoption did not involve divesting of the heir's estate. Bhoobun Moyee Debia v. Ram Kishore Acharj Choudhry, 10 Moo. I. A. 279; 3 W. R. P. C. 15, Puddo Kumaree Debee v. Juggut Kishore Acharjee, I. L. R. 5 Calc. 615, Padmakumari Debi Choudhrani v. Court of Wards, I. L. R. 8 Calc. 302; L. R. 8 I. A. 229, Thayammal v Venkatarama, I. L, R. 1. Mad. 205; L. R. 14 I. A. 67, Tarachurn Chatterji v Sureschunder Mukerji, I. L. R. 17 Calc. 122; L. R. 16 I. A. 166, Ramkrishna Ramchandra v. Shamrao Yeshuant, I. L. R. 26 Bom. 526, Amulya Charan Seal v. Kali Das Sen, I. L. R. 32 Calc. 861, Manikyamala Bose v. Nanda Kumar Bose, I. L. R. 33 Calc. 1306, and Madana Mohana Ranga Bheema Deo v. Purushottama Ranga Bheema Deo, I. L. R. 41 Mad. 855, distinguished. The object of adoption among Hindus is not merely the due perpetuation of lineage, but is also to secure for the adoptive father and his ancestors the spiritual blessings which only an heir male can confer. KUMUD BANDHU SAHA v. RAMESH CHANDRA SAHA (1919) . . I. L. R. 46 Calc. 749

40. ———— Custom of illatom—Adoption of son-in-law—Adoption by person who had a natural son living at the time and was a member of a joint family—Parties to suit, Sudras and members of the Kamma caste. In this case in which the parties were Sudras of the Kamma caste and governed by the law of the Mitakshara, except where that law had been altered by custom, a custom was alleged by which an adoption made by a member of the caste of an illatom son-in-law was valid, though the adoptive father had a natural son living at the time, and was a member of a joint family with his brothers. The appellant contended that no such custom had been proved, and that such a custom, even if proved, would be invalid. The Courts below found that the custom had been judicially recognized by the High Court in an unreported case, Hammayya v. Yellamanda, S. A. No. 45 of 1905, in which many instances of illatom adoption by persons who had sons living were proved, and upheld it on that ground together with the evidence in the case. Held, that having regard to the decision in Hymmayya v. Yellamanda, S. A. No. 45 of 1905, and to the fact that the Courts below agreed that the adoption was valid in law, and had been so treated by the family for many years, their decisions should be affirmed and the appeal dismissed. KRISTNAMMA v. VENKATASUBBAYYA (1919)

I. L. R. 42 Mad. 805

41. ———— By two widows—Special authority—Widow married first has a preferential right to adopt—Competency of minor to adopt—Age of discretion. According to the recognised law in the Bombay Presidency the senior widow, that is the widow married first, has a preferential right to adopt. She does not require any special authority from her husband or from her husband's Sapindas, but the junior widow unless the adoption by her is consented to by the elder widow does require a special authority from her husband. A Hindu married [illegible]

husband,

age of discretion and competent to adopt a son. BASAPPA v. SIDRAMAPPA (1918)

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 481

42. ———— Adopted son treated as having been from his birth in adoptive father's family —Adopted son cannot acquire a vested interest in the property of his natural father. Under Hindu law, an adopted son is treated as having been from his birth in the family of his adoptive father and therefore he cannot for any purpose be regarded as having existed so as to acquire a vested interest in the property of his natural father. The applicant having applied after the date of his adoption to execute a decree which was obtained by his natural father when the applicant was a member of the natural family. Held, that he could not execute the decree as by reason of his adoption he must be treated as non-existent for the purpose of the execution of the decree. RAMCHANDRA v. MANUBAI (1919).

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 774

43. ———— Of father's first cousin.—The adoption of father's first cousin is not invalid under Hindu law. MALLAPPA PARAPPA v. GANGAVA (1918) . . . I. L. R. 43 Bom. 209

44. [illegible]

under [illegible]

of the [illegible]

capacit [illegible]

conferr [illegible]

no question of divesting arose. The Hindu law no doubt recognises the validity of an authority given to a Hindu widow by her deceased husband to make a second, or even a third or fourth, adoption on failure of the previous adoption to attain the object for which the power is given, viz., the perpetuation of the deceased's line to discharge the obligations that rest on a pious Hindu. But there is a limit imposed by law to the period within which a widow can exercise a power of adoption conferred on her, and when that limit is reached the power is at an end. Where the son first adopted under a written authority left to a Hindu to him of a son by his own widow. Held, that apart from the question whether on a construction of the authority the widow had power to make a second adoption or not, in the circumstances of the case,

HINDU LAW—ADOPTION—contd.

the power, if any, had come to an end, specially when it was not established in the presence of the widow of the first adopted son that she had no power to make a valid adoption to him. MADANA MOHANA ANANGA BHEEMA DEO v. PURUSHOTHAMA ANANGA BHEEMA DEO (1918) 23 C. W. N. 177

45. ———— Time within which widow may adopt—Custom excluding widow from inheriting—Adopted son has all the rights of a natural-born son—Retrospective effect of adoption—Grant of part of estate for jivai or maintenance of junior member of family reverting to grantor on failure of grantee's male heirs—Words in deed conveying an absolute estate. Unless there is a time limit imposed in the authority which empowers a Hindu widow to adopt or she is directed to adopt promptly, she may make the adoption so long as the power is not extinguished or exhausted. Her right to make an adoption is not dependent on her inheriting, as a Hindu female owner, her husband's estate; she can exercise the power even though the property is not vested on her. Sri Virada Pratapa Raghunada Deo v. Sri Brozo Kishoro, Patta Deo, I. L. R. 1 Mad. 69 : L. R. 3 I. A. 154, and Bachoo v. Mankorebai, I. L. R. 31 Bom. 373, referred to. The rights of an adopted son, unless curtailed by express texts are in every respect the same as those of a natural-born son; and an adoption, so far as the continuity of the line of inheritance is concerned, has a retrospective effect. The respondent, the Thakor of Gamph, brought the present suit for possession of a village, which, in accordance with a family custom (the parties were Chudasama Girasias, a caste of Hindu Rajputs) had been granted for jivai, or maintenance, by one of his ancestors to a junior member of the family, to be held and enjoyed so long as the grantee's male line lasted, and then reverted to the Thakor. The last owner died without male issue in 1903; but he left a widow, who, though by custom not permitted to inherit her husbands estate, continued in possession of it, and on 12th March 1904 adopted the first appellant as a son to her husband: Held (reversing the decision of the High Court) that the jivai grant did not revert to the Thakor, but was inherited by the adopted son. Words in a deed executed in 1871 by the reigning Thakor in favour of a relative that " you and your vausa varas are maliks, mukhtiyars, dhanis " of a certain village confer an absolute estate on the donee. Per curiam. It is an explicit principle of the Hindu Law, that an adopted son becomes for all purposes, the son of his father, and that his rights unless curtailed by express texts are in every respect the same as those of a natural born son, and a learned authority on Hindu law has explained that the only express text by which the heritable right of an adopted son are "contracted" refers to the case of his sharing the heritage with an after-born natural (aurasa) son. In every other instance the adopted son and the son of the body stand exactly in same position. Again it is to be remembered that the adopted son is the continuator of his adoptive father's line exactly as an aurasa son, and that an adoption, so far as the continuity of the line is concerned, has a retrospective effect. In fact as Messrs. West and Buhler point out in their learned treatise on Hindu law, the Hindu lawyers do not regard the male line to be extinct or a Hindu to have died without a male issue until the death of the widow renders the continuation of the line by adoption impossible. PRATAPSINGH SHIVASINGH v. AGARSINGJI RAJASANGJI (1918)

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 778

46. ———— Conditional adoption—Adoptive father directing payment of an annual sum in charity out of his property at the time of making the adoption—Consent of the natural father of the adopted boy—Grant of annuity not valid. A Hindu, who was in possession of ancestral property, executed, when he took the defendant in adoption, a vyavasthapatra, with the consent of the natural father of the defendant, whereby he directed payment of an annual sum for the purpose of lighting lamps in a specified temple. A dispute having arisen as to the validity of the grant. Held, that the grant in favour of the temple was invalid as not having been recognized by custom to be appropriate at the time of adoption or binding upon the adopted son in modification of the strict rules of Hindu law. BALKRISHNA MOTIRAM v. SHRI UTTAR NARAYAN DEV (1918)

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 542

47. ———— Madras school—Adoption by widow—Assent of what sapindas necessary when husband of widow had separated—Adoption without reference to nearest sapinda with assent of remoter sapindas, if valid. An adoption is more a temporal than a spiritual institution and though there are expressions in the judgment of the Judicial Committee in the Ramnad Case, 12 Moo. I. A. 397, which might imply that the question of reversionary interest forms only a secondary consideration in determining what sapinda's assent is primarily requisite for the validity of an adoption by the widow of a Hindu governed by the Dravadian branch of the Mitakshara law, there are other passages in that and the subsequent judgment in Raja Vallanki v. Venkatarama, L. R. 4 I. A. 1, 14 : s. c. I. L. R. 1 Mad. 174, which clearly show that rights to property cannot be left out of consideration in the determination of the question. The fact that a Hindu had separated from the joint family does not affect the personal dependence of his widow or give her an independent status to alter by her own authority the succession to the estate which she takes as the widow of her husband. She is still dependent for counsel and protection upon the nearest sapindas of her husband who are the most closely united to him by ties of blood. The authorisation of the father of the deceased (who, if still alive, continues to be her natural guardian and protector and who has further a direct interest in the protection of the estate) is therefore essentially requisite to the validity of an adoption by her to her husband. In the absence of the father the assent of the divided brothers is equally requisite for the validity of the widow's adoption. If a majority assent and one refuses, his objection may be discounted. But the absence of their consent or in case there is only one, of his consent cannot be made good by the authorisation of distant relatives remotely connected whose interest in the well-being of the widow or the spiritual welfare of the deceased, or in the protection of the estate, is of minute character and whose assent is more likely to be influenced by improper motives.

HINDU LAW—ADOPTION—contd.

of divided ... mutatis mut- ... other than brothers, and when there is only one such sapinda to that of such a one. Where the assent of the nearest sapinda was not obtained: Held, that the adoption with the assent of some remoter sapindas was invalid, and the knowledge that the nearest sapinda, if applied to, would have refused his assent was no reason for not applying for it. KANDUKURI VEERA v. KANDUKURI BALASURYA PRASADA RAO PANTULU (1918) 23 C. W. N. 251

47(a)———— Power of adoption contingent on testator not having issue—Presumption—Hindu widow, surrender by, of whole estate, if to be made in any form—Admission for a consideration in favour of reversioner that she had no right, if surrendered. Where a Hindu by his Will gave his widows power to adopt "if no male or female child was born to him," and a posthumous female child was born after his death: Held. That an adoption made after the death of the child was invalid as not being authorised by the Will. Held, on a true construction of the Will that the estate was given to the testator's widows successively for life and after the death of the survivor to the daughter so that the daughter became entitled at birth to a reversionary estate under s. 106 of the Indian Succession Act. On the death in 1872 of one of two Mitakshara brothers leaving a widow, ... a certificate to ... and was opposed ... n. The Judge found that the brothers were joint and granted the certificate. The widow instead of contesting the question of title in a civil suit, through her brother and attorney accepted the decision and executed an agreement on 17th May 1874 stipulating in consideration of certain property being allotted to her for maintenance during her life not further to contest the matter and thereupon the brother took possession of the estate, and the widow during a period of thirty years thereafter went on receiving the stipulated maintenance: Held, that the agreement having been accepted and acted upon for this length of time, was not open to attack on the allegation that it had been executed by the widow's attorney in consideration of a bribe paid to him. That though there was no formal surrender by the widow of her estate, and the document as drawn up on its footing was expressed as an admission that the right did not exist, in substance there was a complete self-effacement by the widow which precluded her from asserting any further claim to the estate. It is settled by long practice and confirmed by a series of decisions that a Hindu widow can renounce the estate in favour of the nearest reversioner, and by a voluntary act efface herself from the succession as effectively as if she had then died. This voluntary self-effacement is sometimes referred to as a surrender, sometimes as a relinquishment or abandonment of her rights; and it may be effected by any process having that effect, provided that there is a bond fide and total renunciation of the widow's right to hold the property. MUSAMMAT BHAGWAT KOER v. DHANUKDHARI PRASHAD SINGH . . . 24 C. W. N. 274

48.———— Construction of will—Position of Widow under Bombay School of Hindu Law as to adoption—Widows power to adopt—Will naming boy on bad terms with widow. According to the Bombay School of Hindu Law, the duty of a Hindu widow to obey her husband's command compels her to act upon any mandatory direction that he may give by will as to the way in which her power of adoption should be exercised. The will of a Mahratta Brahmin governed by the Bombay School of Hindu Law directed that "my wife should as far as possible adopt Shankar, the second son of my elder brother. If he (the boy) cannot be obtained, any other boy should be adopted with the advice of the trustees. The will provided that the son adopted should keep the widow, treat her with affection and give her maintenance. Shankar and the family of which he was a member were on bad ... e advice ... time of ... obtained for adoption: Held, that the terms of the will left no discretion to the widow but imposed upon her a mandate which she was bound to obey and that the adoption she made was invalid SITABAI v. BAPU ANNA PATIL (1920) I. L. R. 47 Calc. 1012

49 ———— Brother's daughter's son—adoption of, whether valid—Custom—South Kanara—Kshatriyas—Custom whether established. Adoption of a brother's daughter's son is allowed by custom which has been proved to exist among a community of Rajputs of the Kshatriya caste settled in South Kanara. SEORATHA SINGA v. KANAKA SINGA (1920). . I. L. R. 43 Mad. 867

50. ———— By widow during life-time of a son adopted by her husband.—Under Hindu law, a widow cannot adopt to her husband when there is in existence a son adopted by her husband. Her right to adopt remains suspended so long as the adoption made by her husband is not set aside. BHUJANGOUDA ADGONDA v. BABU BALA BOKARE (1919) . . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 627

51. ———— By widow of twelve years of age—Adoption invalid—Age of discretion. A Hindu widow of twelve years of age, who has not reached puberty, cannot make a valid adoption. MURGEPPA v. KALAWA (1919)

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 327

52 ———— By widow after husband dying in union with co-parceners—Widow succeeding as heir to her unmarried son after partition—Power of the widow to adopt—Validity of adoption. One B died in union with his brothers leaving a minor son M. Thereafter, there was a partition between M and his uncles. M died unmarried leaving his mother S as his heir. Subsequently S adopted the plaintiff who sued to recover possession of M's share in the hands of the latter's uncles, the defendants. The defendants contended that the adoption of the plaintiff was invalid because B died in union and thereafter his widow could not adopt without the consent of his co-parceners and that her right to adopt came to an end at the separation and could not be revived. Held, that the adoption of the plaintiff was valid as the widow's power to adopt remained suspended even after separation and could be exercised as there were no longer any co-parceners whose consent was necessary. MALLAPPA v. HANMAPPA (1919) . . . . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 297

53. ———— By widow of a co-parcener after death of surviving co- ... —Absence of consent—Authority of ...

HINDU LAW—ADOPTION—contd.

R, owning a jivai estate, died leaving a widow S and his brother's son M. S and M jointly mortgaged a part of the jivai estate. M died in 1882 leaving two widows, and in 1884 S adopted plaintiff's father. The plaintiff having sued to redeem the mortgage made by S and M: Held, that the plaintiff could not succeed as his father was not validly adopted by S, who as the widow of a deceased co-parcener of a joint Hindu family could not in the absence of any specific authority make an adoption subsequent to the death of a coparcener who survived her husband although the property was impartible. TEJRANI v. SARUPCHAND CHHAGANBHAI (1919)]

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 483

54. ———— By widow—authority of, to adopt—Adoption called in question after the lapse of many years—Presumption as to widow's authority. The question being whether B had been validly adopted as the son of R by R's widow after his death, it was found that for a large number of years B had, as a matter of fact, been treated, and had behaved himself, as the adopted son of R and that the adoption had been recognized by persons who would have been interested in denying it. On the other hand, as the adoption must have taken place at some date between the years 1822 and 1847 there was no direct evidence as to the circumstances under which it took place or as to the authority of the widow to adopt. Held, that in the above circumstances it might be presumed that the widow was properly authorized to adopt. PREM DEVI v. SHAMBHU NATH

I. L. R. 42 All. 382

55. ———— By widow of last male holder —*Adopted son if has title—Custom alleged of exclusion of adopted son—Onus of proof—Power of widow to adopt, if subject to any timelimit not imposed by the authority to adopt—Power, if dependent on widow succeeding as heiress—Divesting of estate, resulting from adoption—Rights of alienee before adoption—*Jivai grant defeasible on extinction of male line. When a hereditary grant is made by a Hindu, subject to the limitation that it shall enure so long as the grantee's male line lasts, the existence of the line must be determined by the rules and provisions of the Hindu law, unless there be any custom varying those rules. Where a custom is alleged confining the line to the natural-born issue alone, it must be proved affirmatively and conclusively and not derived from implications: Held. Without deciding whether such a custom, even if proved to exist in certain localities, would be recognised in the British Indian Courts, that the Plaintiff had failed to establish the custom alleged by him. Verabha Ajubhai v Bai Hiraba, L R 30 I. A. 234 : s. c. I.L. R. 27 Bom. 492 : 7 C. W.N. 716 (1903), referred to. It is an explicit principle of the Hindu law that an adopted son becomes, for all purposes, the son of his father, and that his rights unless curtailed by express texts are in every respect the same as those of a natural-born son. An adopted son is the continuator of his adoptive father's line exactly as an aurasa son, and an adoption, so far as the continuity of the line is concerned, has a retrospective effect. The right of the widow to make an adoption is not dependent on her inheriting as a Hindu female owner her husband's estate, and the rule applies to the case of a jivai (manintenance) grant as to any other kind of property. Bamundoss Mookerjea v. Mussumat Tariti, 7 M. I. A. 169 (1858), Wise v. Bhoobun Moyee, 10 M. I. A. 165 (1865), Madana Mohana Deo v Purushothama Deo, L. R. 46 I. A. 156 : s. c. 23 C. W. N. 177 (1918), Raghunadha v. Brojo Kishor, L. R. 3 I. A. 154 : s. c. I. L. R. 1 Mad. 69 (1876), and Bachoo Harkisondas v. Mankorebai, L. R. 34 I. A. 107 : s. c. I. L. R. 31 Bom. 373 ; 11 C. W. N. 769 (1907), referred to. PRATAPSING SHIVSING v. THAKOR SHRI AGARSINGHJI RAISINGHJI . . . . 24 C. W. N. 57

56. ———— By widow who has no authority from her husband—Mitakshara law as administered in the Dravada district of the Madras Presidency—Consent of sapindas. Under the law of adoption as administered in the Dravada district a Hindu widow, in the absence of any authority from her husband to adopt a son to him, may make such an adoption with the consent of his sapindas. The Collector of Madura v. Mootoo Ramalinga Sathupathy (1868) 12 M. I. A., 397. There should be such proof of assent on the part of the sapindas as should be sufficient to support the inference that the adoption was made by the widow not from capricious or corrupt motives in order to defeat the interest of this or that sapinda, but on a fair consideration by what may be called a family council of the expediency of substituting an heir by adoption to the deceased husband ; Vellanki Venkata Krishna Rao v. Venkata Rama Lakshmi (1876) I. L. R. 1 Mad. 174 ; L. R. 4 I. A. 1. The absence of consent on the part of the nearest sapindas cannot be made good by the authorization of distant relations whose assent is likely to be influenced by improper motives. Veera Basavaraju v. Balasurya Prasada Rao (1918) I. L. R. 41 Mad. 998 (P. C.) ; L. R. 45 I. A. 265. The consent required is that of a substantial majority of those agnates nearest in relationship who are capable of forming an intelligent and honest judgment on the matter. But save in what are obviously exceptional cases the nearest sapindas must be asked, and if not asked it is no excuse to say they would certainly have refused. Venkamma v. Subrahamanyam (1907) I. L. R. 30 Mad. 50, 53 ; L. R. 34 I. A. 22, 26. It is the duty of the Court to keep the power strictly within the limits which the law has assigned to it ; Sri Virada Pratapa Raghunatha Deo v. Sri Brozo Kishono Patta Deo (1876) I. L. R. 1 Mad. 69 (P. C.). In this case, on a consideration of the evidence, the widow was proved to have applied for the consent of the third plaintiff, but not of the other four plaintiffs, and that none of these five nearest sapindas is proved to have withheld his consent for any malicious or corrupt reason. The necessary consent of sapindas was not obtained, and the adoption was invalid. KRISTNAYYA v. LAKSHMIPATHI (1920) . . I. L. R. 43 Mad. 650

57. ———— Of daughter's son or sister's son—Validity of—Custom among Brahmans of Andhra or Telugu portion of Madras Presidency—Adoption by widow—Consent of sapindas—Gnatis—Bhinnagotra sapindas—Consent of daughter's son whether necessary—Invalid adoption—Upanayanam in adopted family after an invalid adoption subsequent adoption, whether barred—Subsequent upanayanam, whether competent. Adoption of a daughter's son is valid by custom among

HINDU LAW—ADOPTION—contd.

the Brahmans of the Andhra or Telugu portion of the Madras Presidency as it is in the southern districts. Consent of the sapindors to an adoption by the widow is material as guaranteeing the propriety of the widow's action in making the adoption. Where such consent has not been shown to have been obtained by fraud, coercion or corruption, it is sufficient authority for the adoption, and the Court's right to scrutinize the sapindas' reasons extends only to cases in which consent is refused, and not to cases where it is ...ot entitled to be ... by a widow who ... nearest sapindas, as he is not a gnati, and Bhinnagotra sapindas are not included under the term sapindas in the texts which require their consent to an adoption. An upanayanam is not valid unless performed by the father or, in his absence, by another kinsman in the family to which the boy concerned actually belongs. The performance of the upanayanam in a family, into which the boy is wrongly believed to have entered by an invalid adoption, is nullity and is no bar to his subsequent adoption. VISWASUNDARA RAO v. SOMASUNDARA RAO (1920)

I. L. R. 43 Mad. 876

58. ———— By junior daughter-in-law of a son with the consent of her father-in-law—Validity of the adoption. P, a Hindu, had a son living in union with him. The son died during P's life-time leaving him surviving two widows. Of the two widows, the junior had a son, who also died a minor without attaining ceremonial competence. P adopted the plaintiff as his son. Later, the junior widow adopted defendant No. 11 with the consent of P. The plaintiff sued contending that the adoption of defendant No. 11 was invalid: Held, that the adoption of defendant No. 11 was valid under Hindu law. The preferential right of the senior widow to make an adoption exists when the widows inherit the property of their husband, that is, when the husband is a separated member of the family. ... dies in union with his father, and where the widow can adopt if at all with the consent of her father-in-law. Vithoba v. Bapu (1890) 15 Bom. 110, referred to. DNANU v. TANU (1919)

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 508

59. ———— Putrishta Jag—Whether essential among twice born castes—Suit for declaration of fact of adoption, whether prayer for consequential relief is necessary. The performance of the putrishta jag ceremony is not essential in an adoption among the twice-born castes where the adoptor and the adoptee belong to the same gotra. A suit by an adopted son against his adoptive father and the latter's natural sons for a declaration of the fact of plaintiff's adoption is not maintainable under s. 42, of the Specific Relief Act, in the absence of a prayer for recovery of joint possession or for confirmation of possession jointly with the defendants. The plaintiff cannot, however, be compelled to ask for partition. SHEOLOTAN RAY v. BHIGUN RAY . . . 2 Pat. L. J. 481

HINDU LAW—ADOPTION—contd.

60. ———— Kshatriyas—brother's son—Adoption of —Doctrine of pollution whether applicable to adoption among twice-born castes. There is no prohibition among Kshatriyas against the adoption of a brother's child before the eleventh day after birth by reason of the doctrine of pollution, or before the twenty-first day by reason of the impurity of the body of the child. Where religious rites are not a necessary requisite as, for instance, where a Hindu of one of the twice-born castes adopts a boy of the same gotra as himself, the omission of such rites cannot affect the validity of the adoption and, therefore, the fact of pollution, which only affects the degree of merit attached to the religious rights, is also immaterial to the validity of the adoption. SREEMATY LAKSHMIMALI JEMAMANI BAHURIA v. UDIT PRATAP SINGH

3 Pat. L. J. 499

61. ———— customs—Proof of special —adoption—Baisi Chowrasi gaddidars, origin of, and inheritence among—marriage within gotra, applicability of rule—plaint, amendment of, at what state not permissible—Res judicata—Code of Civil ... it is of more importance to have regard to the history of the main body then to the history of less important branches. The Baisi-Chowrasi Gaddidars are a recognised community. Probably the community was non-Hindu in origin but the members have all now accepted Hinduism to such a degree as to raise a presumption that the whole community has assimilated the law of adoption. SHAHDEO NARAIN DEO v. KUSUM KUMARI . . 5 Pat. L. J. 161

61(a). ———— By widow—under authority in Will—Bombay School—Terms whether mandatory ... wife should, as far as possible, adopt S, the second son of my elder brother T. If the boy cannot be obtained any other boy should be adopted, etc.:" Held—That this means that unless there were conditions outside the Will, preventing the possibility of the adoption, the widow, when she does adopt, is to exercise her power in favour. S. SITABAI v. BAPU ANNA PALIL. (P. C.)

25 C. W. N. 97

62. ———— Amongst Sitambari sect of Jains—Sitambari sect—Adoption—Application of Hindu Law—Giving and taking only necessary—The person adopted may be of age and married— ... to them in the absence of some contrary usage. It was common ground in this case that in the Sitambari sect of Jains, to which the parties belonged, the only ceremony necessary to the validity of an adoption was the giving and taking

HINDU LAW—ADOPTION—contd.

R, owning a jivai estate, died leaving a widow S and his brother's son M. S and M jointly mortgaged a part of the jivai estate. M died in 1882 leaving two widows, and in 1881 S adopted plaintiff's father. The plaintiff having sued to redeem the mortgage made by S and M: Held, that the plaintiff could not succeed as his father was not validly adopted by S, who as the widow of a deceased co-parcener of a joint Hindu family could not in the absence of any specific authority make an adoption subsequent to the death of a co-parcener who survived her husband although the property was impartible. TEJBANI v. SARUPCHAND CHHAGANBHAI (1919)

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 483

54. ———— By widow—authority of, to adopt—Adoption called in question after the lapse of many years—Presumption as to widow's authority. The question being whether B had been validly adopted as the son of R by R's widow after his death, it was found that for a large number of years B had, as a matter of fact, been treated, and had behaved himself, as the adopted son of R and that the adoption had been recognized by persons who would have been interested in denying it. On the other hand, as the adoption must have taken place at some date between the years 1822 and 1847 there was no direct evidence as to the circumstances under which it took place or as to the authority of the widow to adopt. Held, that in the above circumstances it might be presumed that the widow was properly authorized to adopt. PREM DEVI v. SHAMBHU NATH

I. L. R. 42 All. 382

55. ———— By widow of last male holder—Adopted son if has title—Custom alleged of exclusion of adopted son—Onus of proof—Power of widow to adopt, if subject to any timelimit not imposed by the authority to adopt—Power, if dependent on widow succeeding as heiress—Divesting of estate, resulting from adoption—Rights of alienee before adoption—Jivai grant defeasible on extinction of male line. When a hereditary grant is made by a Hindu, subject to the limitation that it shall enure so long as the grantee's male line lasts, the existence of the line must be determined by the rules and provisions of the Hindu law, unless there be any custom varying those rules. Where a custom is alleged confining the line to the natural-born issue alone, it must be proved affirmatively and conclusively and not derived from implications: Held. Without deciding whether such a custom, even if proved to exist in certain localities, would be recognised in the British Indian Courts, that the Plaintiff had failed to establish the custom alleged by him. Verabha Ajubhai v Bai Hiraba, L R 30 I. A. 234 : s. c. I.L. R. 27 Bom. 492 : 7 C. W.N. 716 (1903), referred to. It is an explicit principle of the Hindu law that an adopted son becomes, for all purposes, the son of his father, and that his rights unless curtailed by express texts are in every respect the same as those of a natural-born son. An adopted son is the continuator of his adoptive father's line exactly as an aurasa son, and an adoption, so far as the continuity of the line is concerned, has a retrospective effect. The right of the widow to make an adoption is not dependent on her inheriting as a Hindu female owner her husband's estate, and the rule applies to the case of a jivai (maintenance) grant as to any other kind of property. Bamundoss Mookerjea v. Mussumat Tariti, 7 M. I. A. 169 (1858), Wise v. Bhoobun Moyee, 10 M. I. A. 165 (1865), Madana Mohana Deo v Purushothama Deo, L. R. 46 I. A. 156 : s. c. 23 C. W. N. 177 (1918), Raghunadha v. Brojo Kishor, L. R. 3 I. A. 154 : s. c. I. L. R. 1 Mad. 69 (1876), and Bachoo Harkisondas v. Mankorebai, L. R. 34 I. A. 107 : s. c. I. L. R. 31 Bom. 373 ; 11 C. W. N. 769 (1907), referred to. PRATAPSING SHIVSING v. THAKOR SHRI AGARSINGHJI RAISINGHJI . . . . 24 C. W. N. 57

56. ———— By widow who has no authority from her husband—Mitakshara law as administered in the Dravada district of the Madras Presidency—Consent of sapindas. Under the law of adoption as administered in the Dravada district a Hindu widow, in the absence of any authority from her husband to adopt a son to him, may make such an adoption with the consent of his sapindas. The Collector of Madura v. Mootoo Ramalinga Sathupathy (1868) 12 M. I. A., 397. There should be such proof of assent on the part of the sapindas as should be sufficient to support the inference that the adoption was made by the widow not from capricious or corrupt motives in order to defeat the interest of this or that sapinda, but on a fair consideration by what may be called a family council of the expediency of substituting an heir by adoption to the deceased husband; Vellanki Venkata Krishna Rao v. Venkata Rama Lakshmi (1876) I. L. R. 1 Mad. 174 ; L. R. 4 I. A. 1. The absence of consent on the part of the nearest sapindas cannot be made good by the authorization of distant relations whose assent is likely to be influenced by improper motives. Veera Basavaraju v. Balasurya Prasada Rao (1918) I. L. R. 41 Mad. 998 (P. C.) ; L. R. 45 I. A. 265. The consent required is that of a substantial majority of those agnates nearest in relationship who are capable of forming an intelligent and honest judgment on the matter. But save in what are obviously exceptional cases the nearest sapindas must be asked, and if not asked it is no excuse to say they would certainly have refused. Venkamma v. Subrahamanyam (1907) I. L. R. 30 Mad. 50, 53 ; L. R. 34 I. A. 22, 26. It is the duty of the Court to keep the power strictly within the limits which the law has assigned to it; Sri Virada Pratapa Raghunatha Deo v. Sri Brozo Kishono Patta Deo (1876) I. L. R. 1 Mad. 69 (P. C.). In this case, on a consideration of the evidence, the widow was proved to have applied for the consent of the third plaintiff, but not of the other four plaintiffs, and that none of these five nearest sapindas is proved to have withheld his consent for any malicious or corrupt reason. The necessary consent of sapindas was not obtained, and the adoption was invalid. KRISTNAYYA v. LAKSHMIPATHI (1920) . . I. L. R. 43 Mad. 650

57. ———— Of daughter's son or sister's son—Validity of—Custom among Brahmans of Andhra or Telugu portion of Madras Presidency—Adoption by widow—Consent of sapindas—Gnatis—Bhinnagotra sapindas—Consent of daughter's son whether necessary—Invalid adoption—Upanayanam in adopted family after an invalid adoption subsequent adoption, whether barred—Subsequent upanayanam, whether competent. Adoption of a daughter's son is valid by custom among the Brahmans of the Madras districts. Cons...

HINDU LAW—ADOPTION—contd.

have been obtained by fraud, coercion or corruption, it is sufficient authority for the adoption, and the Court's right to scrutinize the sapindas' reasons extends only to cases in which consent is refused, and not to cases where it is granted. A daughter's son is not entitled to be consulted regarding an adoption by a widow who has obtained the consent of the nearest sapindas, as he is not a gnati, and Bhinnagotra sapindas are not included under the term sapindas in the texts which require their consent to an adoption. An upanayanam is not valid unless performed by the father or, in his absence, by another kinsman in the family to which the boy concerned actually belongs. The performance of the upanayanam in a family, into which the boy is wrongly believed to have entered by an invalid adoption, is nullity and is no bar to his subsequent adoption. VISWASUNDARA RAO v. SOMASUNDARA RAO (1920)

I. L. R. 43 Mad. 876

58. ———— By junior daughter-in-law of a son with the consent of her father-in-law—Validity of the adoption. P, a Hindu, had a son living in union with him. The son died during P's life-time leaving him surviving two widows. Of the two widows, the junior had a son, who also ... om- ... on. ... 11 with the consent of P. The plaintiff sued contending that the adoption of defendant No. 11 was invalid: Held, that the adoption of defendant No. 11 was valid under Hindu law. The preferential right of the senior widow to make an adoption exists when the widows inherit the property of their husband, that is, when the husband is a separated member of the family. Even then it is subject to any authority given by the husband to the junior widow to adopt or any express or implied prohibition by the husband against the senior widow. The doctrine of the preferential right of the senior widow to adopt is not extended to a case where the husband dies in union with his father, and where the widow can adopt if at all with the consent of her father-in-law. Vithoba v. Bapu (1890) 15 Bom. 110, referred to. DNANU v. TANU (1919)

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 508

59. ———— Putrishta Jag—Whether essential among twice born castes—Suit for declaration of ...

the twice-born castes where the adoptor and the adoptee belong to the same gotra. A suit by an adopted son against his adoptive father and the latter's natural sons for a declaration of the fact of plaintiff's adoption is not maintainable under s. 42, of the Specific Relief Act, in the absence of a prayer for recovery of joint possession or for confirmation of possession jointly with the defendants. The plaintiff cannot, however, be compelled to ask for partition. SHEOLOTAN RAY v. BHIGUN RAY . . . 2 Pat. L. J. 481

HINDU LAW—ADOPTION—contd.

60. ———— Kshatriyas—brother's son—Adoption of —Doctrine of pollution whether applicable to adoption among twice-born castes. There ...

rites are not a necessary requisite as, for instance, where a Hindu of one of the twice-born castes adopts a boy of the same gotra as himself, the omission of such rites cannot affect the validity of the adoption and, therefore, the fact of pollution, which only affects, the degree of merit attached to the religious rights, is also immaterial to the validity of the adoption. SREEMATY LAKSHMIMALI JEMAMANI BAHURIA v. UDIT PRATAP SINGH

3 Pat. L. J. 499

61. ———— customs—*Proof of special —adoption—*Baisi Chowrasi gaddidars, origin of, and inheritence among—marriage within gotra, applicability of rule—plaint, amendment of, at what state not permissible—Res judicata—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908), s. 11, Explanation 4—Limitation (Act IX of 1908), Articles 118 and 141—. In dealing with the custom of an entire community it is of more importance to have regard to the history of the main body then to the history of less important branches. The Baisi-Chowrasi Gaddidars are a recognised community. Probably the community was non-Hindu in origin but the members have all now accepted Hinduism to such a degree as to raise a presumption that the whole community has assimilated the law of adoption. SHAHDEO NARAIN DEO v. KUSUM KUMARI . . . . 5 Pat. L. J. 164

61(a). ———— By widow—under authority in Will—Bombay School—Terms whether mandatory ...

... son of my elder brother T. If the boy cannot be obtained any other boy should be adopted, etc.:" Held—That this means that unless there were conditions outside the Will, preventing the possibility of the adoption, the widow, when she does adopt, is to exercise her power in favour. S. SITABAI v. BAPU ANNA PALIL. (P. C.)

25 C. W. N. 97

62. ———— Amongst Sitambari sect of Jains—Sitambari sect—Adoption—Application of Hindu Law—Giving and taking only necessary—The person adopted may be of age and married—Placing of son on lap, not necessary. The Jains are of Hindu origin: they are Hindu dissenters: ...

for the dead. But though the due performance of the shradhs or religious ceremony for the dead is at the base of the religious theory of adoption the Jains have so generally adopted the Hindu law that the Hindu rules of adoption are applied to them in the absence of some contrary usage. It was common ground in this case that in the Sitambari sect of Jains, to which the parties belonged, the only ceremony necessary to the validity of an adoption was the giving and taking

HINDU LAW—ADOPTION—contd.

R, owning a jivai estate, died leaving a widow S and his brother's son M. S and M jointly mortgaged a part of the jivai estate. M died in 1882 leaving two widows, and in 1884 S adopted plaintiff's father. The plaintiff having sued to redeem the mortgage made by S and M: Held, that the plaintiff could not succeed as his father was not validly adopted by S, who as the widow of a deceased co-parcener of a joint Hindu family could not in the absence of any specific authority make an adoption subsequent to the death of a co-parcener who survived her husband although the property was impartible. TEJRANI v. SARUPCHAND CHHAGANBHAI (1919)]

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 483

54. ———— By widow—authority of, to adopt—Adoption called in question after the lapse of many years—Presumption as to widow's authority. The question being whether B had been validly adopted as the son of R by R's widow after his death, it was found that for a large number of years B had, as a matter of fact, been treated, and had behaved himself, as the adopted son of R and that the adoption had been recognized by persons who would have been interested in denying it. On the other hand, as the adoption must have taken place at some date between the years 1822 and 1847 there was no direct evidence as to the circumstances under which it took place or as to the authority of the widow to adopt. Held, that in the above circumstances it might be presumed that the widow was properly authorized to adopt. PREM DEVI v. SHAMBHU NATH

I. L. R. 42 All. 382

55. ———— By widow of last male holder —Adopted son if has title—Custom alleged of exclusion of adopted son—Onus of proof—Power of widow to adopt, if subject to any timelimit not imposed by the authority to adopt—Power, if dependent on widow succeeding as heiress—Divesting of estate, resulting from adoption—Rights of alienee before adoption—Jivai grant defeasible on extinction of male line. When a hereditary grant is made by a Hindu, subject to the limitation that it shall enure so long as the grantee's male line lasts, the existence of the line must be determined by the rules and provisions of the Hindu law, unless there be any custom varying those rules. Where a custom is alleged confining the line to the natural-born issue alone, it must be proved affirmatively and conclusively and not derived from implications: Held. Without deciding whether such a custom, even if proved to exist in certain localities, would be recognised in the British Indian Courts, that the Plaintiff had failed to establish the custom alleged by him. Verabha Ajubhai v Bai Hiraba, L R 30 I. A. 234 : s. c. I.L. R. 27 Bom. 492 : 7 C. W.N. 716 (1903), referred to. It is an explicit principle of the Hindu law that an adopted son becomes, for all purposes, the son of his father, and that his rights unless curtailed by express texts are in every respect the same as those of a natural-born son. An adopted son is the continuator of his adoptive father's line exactly as an aurasa son, and an adoption, so far as the continuity of the line is concerned, has a retrospective effect. The right of the widow to make an adoption is not dependent on her inheriting as a Hindu female owner her husband's estate, and the rule applies to the case of a jivai (manintenance) grant as to any other kind of property. Bamundoss Mookerjea v. Mussumat Tariti, 7 M. I. A. 169 (1858), Wise v. Bhoobun Moyee, 10 M. I. A. 165 (1865), Madana Mohana Deo v Purushothama Deo, L. R. 46 I. A. 156 : s. c. 23 C. W. N. 177 (1918), Raghunadha v. Brojo Kishor, L. R. 3 I. A. 154 : s. c. I. L. R. 1 Mad. 69 (1876), and Bachoo Harkisondas v. Mankorebai, L. R. 34 I. A. 107 : s. c. I. L. R. 31 Bom. 373 ; 11 C. W. N. 769 (1907), referred to. PRATAPSING SHIVSING v. THAKOR SHRI AGARSINGHJI RAISINGHJI . . . . 24 C. W. N. 57

56. ———— By widow who has no authority from her husband—Mitakshara law as administered in the Dravada district of the Madras Presidency—Consent of sapindas. Under the law of adoption as administered in the Dravada district a Hindu widow, in the absence of any authority from her husband to adopt a son to him, may make such an adoption with the consent of his sapindas. The Collector of Madura v. Mootoo Ramalinga Sathupathy (1868) 12 M. I. A., 397. There should be such proof of assent on the part of the sapindas as should be sufficient to support the inference that the adoption was made by the widow not from capricious or corrupt motives in order to defeat the interest of this or that sapinda, but on a fair consideration by what may be called a family council of the expediency of substituting an heir by adoption to the deceased husband; Vellanki Venkata Krishna Rao v. Venkata Rama Lakshmi (1876) I. L. R. 1 Mad. 174 ; L. R. 4 I. A. 1. The absence of consent on the part of the nearest sapindas cannot be made good by the authorization of distant relations whose assent is likely to be influenced by improper motives. Veera Basavaraju v. Balasurya Prasada Rao (1918) I. L. R. 41 Mad. 998 (P. C.) ; L. R. 45 I. A. 265. The consent required is that of a substantial majority of those agnates nearest in relationship who are capable of forming an intelligent and honest judgment on the matter. But save in what are obviously exceptional cases the nearest sapindas must be asked, and if not asked it is no excuse to say they would certainly have refused. Venkamma v. Subrahamanyam (1907) I. L. R. 30 Mad. 50, 53 ; L. R. 34 I. A. 22, 26. It is the duty of the Court to keep the power strictly within the limits which the law has assigned to it; Sri Virada Pratapa Raghunatha Deo v. Sri Brozo Kishono Patta Deo (1876) I. L. R. 1 Mad. 69 (P. C.). In this case, on a consideration of the evidence, the widow was proved to have applied for the consent of the third plaintiff, but not of the other four plaintiffs, and that none of these five nearest sapindas is proved to have withheld his consent for any malicious or corrupt reason. The necessary consent of sapindas was not obtained, and the adoption was invalid. KRISTNAYYA v. LAKSHMIPATHI (1920) . . I. L. R. 43 Mad. 650

57. ———— Of daughter's son or sister's son—Validity of—Custom among Brahmans of Andhra or Telugu portion of Madras Presidency—Adoption by widow—Consent of sapindas—Gnatis—Bhinnagotra sapindas—Consent of daughter's son whether necessary—Invalid adoption—Upanayanam in adopted family after an invalid adoption subsequent adoption, whether barred—Subsequent upanayanam, whether competent. Adoption of a daughter's son is valid by custom among

HINDU LAW—ADOPTION—contd.

the Brahmans of the Andhra or Telugu portion of the Madras Presidency as it is in the southern districts. Consent of the sapindors to an adoption by the widow is material as guaranteeing the propriety of the widow's action in making the adoption. Where such consent has not been shown to have been obtained by fraud, coercion or corruption, it is sufficient authority for the adoption, and the Court's right to scrutinize the sapindas' reasons extends only to cases in which consent is refused, and not to cases where it is granted. A daughter's son is not entitled to be consulted regarding an adoption by a widow who has obtained the consent of the nearest sapindas, as he is not a gnati, and Bhinnagotra sapindas are not included under the term sapindas in the texts which require their consent to an adoption. An upanayanam is not valid unless performed by the father or, in his absence, by another kinsman in the family to which the boy concerned actually belongs. The performance of the upanayanam in a family, into which the boy is wrongly believed to have entered by an invalid adoption, is nullity and is no bar to his subsequent adoption. VISWASUNDARA RAO v. SOMASUNDARA RAO (1920)

I. L. R. 43 Mad. 876

58. ———— By junior daughter-in-law of a son with the consent of her father-in-law—Validity of the adoption. P, a Hindu, had a son living in union with him. The son died during P's life-time leaving him surviving two widows. Of the two widows, the junior had a son, who also died a minor without attaining ceremonial competence. P adopted the plaintiff as his son. Later, the junior widow adopted defendant No. 11 with the consent of P. The plaintiff sued contending that the adoption of defendant No. 11 was invalid: Held, that the adoption of defendant No. 11 was valid under Hindu law. The preferential right of the senior widow to make an adoption exists when the widows inherit the property of their husband, that is, when the husband is a separated member of the family. Even then it is subject to any authority given by the husband to the junior widow to adopt or any express or implied prohibition by the husband against the senior widow. The doctrine of the preferential right of the senior widow to adopt is not extended to a case where the husband dies in union with his father, and where the widow can adopt if at all with the consent of her father-in-law. Vithoba v. Bapu (1890) 15 Bom. 110, referred to. DNANU v. TANU (1919)

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 508

59. ————Putrishta Jag—Whether essential among twice born castes—Suit for declaration of the twice-born castes where the adoptor and the adoptee belong to the same gotra. A suit by an adopted son against his adoptive father and the latter's natural sons for a declaration of the fact of plaintiff's adoption is not maintainable under s. 42, of the Specific Relief Act, in the absence of a prayer for recovery of joint possession or for confirmation of possession jointly with the defendants. The plaintiff cannot, however, be compelled to ask for partition. SHEOLOTAN RAY v. BHIGUN RAY . . . 2 Pat. L. J. 481

HINDU LAW—ADOPTION—contd.

60. ———— Kshatriyas—brother's son—Adoption of —Doctrine of pollution whether applicable to adoption among twice-born castes. There where a Hindu of one of the twice-born castes adopts a boy of the same gotra as himself, the omission of such rites cannot affect the validity of the adoption and, therefore, the fact of pollution, which only affects, the degree of merit attached to the religious rights, is also immaterial to the validity of the adoption. SREEMATY LAKSHIMMALI JEMAMANI BAHURIA v. UDIT PRATAP SINGH

3 Pat. L. J. 499

61. ————customs—Proof of special —adoption—Baisi Chowrasi gaddidars, origin of, and inheritence among—marriage within gotra, applicability of rule—plaint, amendment of, at what state not permissible—Res judicata—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908), s. 11, Explanation 4—Limitation (Act IX of 1908), Articles 118 and 141—. In dealing with the custom of an entire community it is of more importance to have regard to the history of the main body then to the history of less important branches. The Baisi-Chowrasi Gaddidars are a recognised community. Probably the community was non-Hindu in origin but the members have all now accepted Hinduism to such a degree as to raise a presumption that the whole community has assimilated the law of adoption. SHAHDEO NARAIN DEO v. KUSUM KUMARI . . . . 5 Pat. L. J. 164

61(a). ———— By widow—under authority in Will—Bombay School—Terms whether mandatory or give widow a discretion. By his Will, a Hindu governed by the Bombay School directed that "if I did not adopt a son during my life-time my wife should, as far as possible, adopt S, the second son of my elder brother T. If the boy cannot be obtained any other boy should be adopted, etc.:" Held—That this means that unless there were conditions outside the Will, preventing the possibility of the adoption, the widow, when she does adopt, is to exercise her power in favour. S. SITABAI v. BAPU ANNA PALIL. (P. C.)

25 C. W. N. 97

62. ———— Amongst Sitambari sect of Jains—Sitambari sect—Adoption—Application of Hindu Law—Giving and taking only necessary—The person adopted may be of age and married— for the dead. But though the due performance of the shradhs or religious ceremony for the dead is at the base of the religious theory of adoption the Jains have so generally adopted the Hindu law that the Hindu rules of adoption are applied to them in the absence of some contrary usage. It was common ground in this case that in the Sitambari sect of Jains, to which the parties belonged, the only ceremony necessary to the validity of an adoption was the giving and taking of the adopted son. In this sect of Jains the widow of a sonless Jain can legally adopt to him a son without any express or implied authority from her deceased husband to make an adoption and the adopted son may at the time of his adoption be a grown up and married man. Where it was proved that the natural mother did in fact give her son as an adopted son to the adopting widow and the latter did in fact accept him as an adopted son to her deceased husband, the adoption was valid though the adopted son was not placed on the lap of the widow as was unnecessarily alleged on behalf of the adopted son SHEOKUARBAI v. JEORAJ (P. C.) . . . . 25 C. W. N. 273

HINDU LAW—ADOPTION—contd.

63. ———————Proof of—Mere acknowledgement whether would make one an adopted son—Widow—Maintenance, assessment of. Under Hindu law, if giving and taking of an alleged adopted son is not established as a fact, no amount of acknowledgment would make him an adopted son. But where direct evidence of such giving and taking was given, evidence of such acknowledgment was relied on in proof of the adoption. As regards the amount of maintenance no hard and fast rule can be laid down that a Hindu widow is entitled to a particular fraction of the income. The circumstances of each case must be considered, such as the value of the estate and its income, the position and the status of the deceased husband and his widow, the expense involved by the religious and other duties which she has to discharge and so forth, and where the widow has been given separate property for her maintenance, the fact that such separate property has been given to her. KRISHNA BHAMINI DASI v. BROJA MOHINI DASI.

25 C. W. N. 403

64. ——————— Sudra—Adoption of a person of one sub-division of the Sudra castes into another sub-division of the Sudra caste, if valid—Law as to inter-marriage and inter-caste adoption, if identical. The question of inter-marriage between two classes of Sudras and the question of adoption from one of these classes to the other is practically the same question. Semble :—Adoption by a person belonging to one sub-division of the Sudra caste of another person belonging to another sub-division of the same caste is valid. GIRISH CHANDRA ROY v. MUHAMED SHAJED CHOWDHRY.

25 C. W. N. 625

65. ——————— By Widow on condition—that the adopted son should not claim property in which she has life-interest under her father's will—The agreement does not enlarge widow's estate—Reversioner has only contingent interest during widow's lifetime. A Hindu widow inherited property under the will of her father, which gave her only a life-interest in it, and her son, who was then in existence, was given full interest after her death. The son having died shortly after the testator, the widow adopted the defendant on condition that he would not claim any right to the property. The widow having sued for a declaration that she had become absolute owner of the property and for an injunction to restrain the defendant from interfering with her possession and enjoyment : Held, that the widow was not entitled to the declaration but only to the injunction, since it was quite clear that though as soon as the defendant was adopted he would be the nearest reversioner on the death of the plaintiff, he w[illegible]

HINDU LAW—ADOPTION—contd.

have no right to surrender the reversion in favour of the life-tenant and so block out the interests of any one who might at the date of the widow's death be the nearest reversioner. During the life of a Hindu widow the reversion remains contingent, and there is no one who possesses a vested interest in the remainder which can be disposed of by any means known to the law. GANGABAI v. HARI GANESH . . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1167

66. ——————— By unchaste widow—Shudras. In the Presidency of Bombay, a Shudra widow though unchaste can make a valid adoption. Sayamalal Dutt v. Saudamini Dasi (1870) 5 Beng. L. R. 362 and Dnyancba v. Radhabai (1894) P. J. 22, distinguished. BASVANT MUSHAPPA v. MALLAPPA KALLAPPA . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 459

67. ——————— Of orphan.—Adoption of an orphan—"Factum valet," applicability of. The adoption of an orphan is invalid under the Hindu Law and the doctrine of "factum valet" cannot be invoked to validate it. Lakshmappa v. Ramava, (1875) 12 Bom. H. C. R., 364, at 398 and Ganga Sahai v. Lakhraj Singh, (1887) I. L. R., 9 All., 253 at 297, followed. MAREYYA v. RAMALAKSHMI.

I. L. R. 44 Mad. 260

68. ———————Husband's Directions.—The duty of a Hindu widow to obey her husband's commands compels her to act upon any mandatory direction he may give her as to the way in which she should exercise the power of adoption which she has under the Bombay School of Law. SITABAI v. BAPU ANNA PALIL . . L. R. 47 I. A. 202

69. ———————Mahratta School— Widow's power to adopt without husband's authority and without consent of kindered—Authority by husband—Particular boy named—Direction if so operates as prohibition to adopt another boy on his death. The rule laid down in Rakhmabai v. Radhabai that in the Marhatta Country, a Hindu widow may, without the permission of her husband and without the consent of his kindred, adopt a son to him, if the act is done by her in the proper and bona fide performance of a religious duty and neither capriciously nor from a corrupt motive, is equally applicable whether her husband at the time of his death was joint or separate and whether his property was or was not vested in her as his heir at the time when she made the adoption. Where the most that could be said was that the husband directed his wife to adopt a particular boy, but said nothing as to what should be done if the boy named should be unavailable or should die after he was adopted, and the boy who was adopted after the husband's death died in childhood and unmarried : Held—That there was no explicit or clearly expressed intention to prohibit the widow against adopting any boy other than the boy named, and a second adoption by the widow to her husband subsequently to his death was validly made. YADAO v. NAMDEO. L.R. 48 I. A. P. 513.
26 C. W. N. 394.

70. ——————— Sudras—Partition—Respective shares of adopted and after-born aurasa son—Dattaka Chandrika—Joint Family property—Accountability of managing member. In the case of Sudras in the Madras Presidency an adopted son on partition of the family property shares equally with a son or sons of [illegible]ptive father born after the [illegible]ption. So [illegible]unds that the rule [illegible] in the [illegible] (section 5, para-

HINDU LAW—ADOPTION—concld.

…29, 32) as to the share of an adopted son

…

supported by the … is not inconsistent with them. Semble, that the same rule applies among Sudras in Bengal. Judgment of the High Court reversed and the abovementioned decision disapproved. In the absence of proof of di… and improper … family estate, is liable to account … has received, not for what he ought or might have received if the family moneys had been profitably dealt with. ARUMILLI PERRAZU v SUBBARAYADU.

I. L. R. 44 Mad (P.C.), 656

71 …

Hindu without co-parceners authorizing, by his …

41 Mad., 301 (P.C.) and … Agarsingji Rajasangji, (1919) I. L. R., 43 Bom., 778 (P.C.), distinguished. JAGANNADHA RAO v RAMAYAMMA.

I. L. R. 44 Mad. 1189

72. ———— Jains—Custom—Adoption of an orphan boy among Jains in the Idar State—Onus of proof of Custom. In a suit between Jains residing in the Idar State, in the Mahikantha Agency in the presidency of Bombay, for a declaration that … was … uced … rties and those claiming under them, to entitle the Court to dismiss the suit. Principles applicable discussed. Bhagvandas Tejmal v. Rajmal (1873) 10 Bom. H. C. 241 : Rupchand v. Jambu Prasad (1910) 32 All. 247 and Chiman Lal v. Harichand (1913) 40 Cal. 879, referred to. PARSHOTTAM GANPAT v. VENICHAND GANPAT.

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 754

73. ———— By widow of predeceased nephew—Adopting with the consent of the widow of the last co-parcener—Subsequent adoption by the latter widow not legal—Effect of invalid adoption—Status of a person in the natural family, when his adoption is invalid. K, a Hindu, died leaving him surviving his widow G and A the widow of his pre-deceased nephew. A adopted a son with the consent of G. Afterwards G adopted defendant No. 1 to her husband. A question having arisen as to the validity of the defendant No. 1's adoption and whether he lost his rights in his natural family: Held, that on the adoption by A with the consent of G, the whole estate vested in the adopted son and the right of G to adopt to her husband came to …

in by any person in the family of K. VAMAN VITHAL v. VENKAJI KHANDO.

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 829

HINDU LAW—ALIENATION.

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW. AND LEGAL NECESSITY.

See HINDU LAW— JOINT FAMILY AND JOINT FAMILY PROPERTY.

See TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT 1882, s. 10.

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 867

s. 99. I. L. R. 36 All. 516

1. ———— Alienation for marriage expenses—Joint Hindu family—Alienation by father—Lawful family necessity—Second marriage of member of the family—Marriage in the Asura form. The first marriage of a member of Hindu joint family is a lawful family necessity for which an alienation of family property will be justified. Sundrabai v. Shivnarayana, I. L. R. 32 Bom. …

… property. Held, that the alienation under the circumstances was for lawful necessity and was binding on the son. Per RICHARDS, J.—Bearing in mind that this (asura) form of marriage is quite common and that the purchase of a bride in this sense is quite common, it cannot be held that the money which was raised was not part of the expenses of a legal marriage. BHAGIRATHI v. JOKHU RAM UPADHYA (1910) . I. L. R. 32 All. 575

2. ———— Absolute estate cut down to … estate. By a razinama filed in Court it …

… event of it becoming … should belong to P. R having subsequently sold the properties to L, died issueless; Held, that the alienation by R in favour of L was invalid beyond the lifetime of R. Bhoobun Mohini Debya v. Hurrish Chunder Choudhry, L. R. 5 I. A. 138, relied on. Kristromoney Dossee v. Maharajah Nerendro Krishna Bahadur, L R. 16 I. A. 40, relied on. LAKSHMINARAYANA NAINAR v. VALLIAMMAL (1910) . . . I. L. R. 34 Mad. 250

3. ———— Legal necessity—how to be made out—Onus of proof of legal necessity as affected by lapse of time—Court of Appeal, power of, to make any order to meet justice. Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. XLI, r. 33. A property known as taluk C belonged to G, a Hindu. After G's death there was litigation regarding the succession. D, the father of the plaintiff, T C, …

… in favour of M G. The Judicial Committee held finally in that suit that D's suit was barred by res judicata, and refused to make any declaration regarding the alienation in the life-time of G's mother. Before her death, G's mother sold the entire estate C to M G. After her death, T C, the son of D, and two other persons sued M G for setting aside the alienations on the allegation that T C was the eldest male member in the eldest line, and as such, was entitled to the property by virtue of the rule of lineal primogeniture governing succession in the family. The plaintiffs prayed therein for a decree in favour of T C or, in the alternative, in … iffs The …

HINDU LAW—ALIENATION—contd.

On appeal to the High Court by the defendant. Held, that, if one or other of the plaintiffs were entitled to succeed the suit should not be dismissed simply, because the first of the plaintiffs alone had failed to make out a title, particularly when by so dismissing the suit, the right of the co-plaintiffs (who, if the first plaintiff were not joint with the last male holder would, on failure of the first plaintiff's case, be entitled) would be thereby barred; and that, in such a case, the Appellate Court could exercise the power provided for in the Code of Civil Procedure. O. XLI, r. 33. Held, also that lapse of time did not affect the question of onus of proof regarding legal necessity, except in so far as it might give rise to a presumption of acquiescence or save the alienee from adverse inference arising from the scanty proof which might be offered. Held, further, that in order to justify legal necessity, it must be shown that the expenses could not have been met from the income of the property in the widow's hands, and that they were reasonable. Held, lastly, that payment of full value for the property did not of itself justify a sale by a Hindu widow in the absence of legal necessity. RAVANESHWAR PRASAD SINGH v. CHANDI PRASAD SINGH (1911)

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 721

4. ———————— Without the consent of a co-parcener—Legal necessity—Right of subsequently born co-parcener to impugn the transaction. Where an alienation of ancestral property is invalid as having been made without legal necessity by one member of the co-parcenary without the consent of the rest, it is open to co-parceners to object to such alienation notwithstanding that they were born subsequently thereto. Kali Shanker v. Nawab Singh, I. L. R. 31 All. 507, referred to. Chuttan Lal v. Kallu, I. L. R 33 All. 283, distinguished. TULSHI RAM v BABU (1911) . . I. L. R. 33 All. 654

5. ———————— Trustees of temple—power of, to grant permanent lease of trust property. The grant of a permanent lease of temple property by the trustee is prima facie in excess of the powers of such trustee. Special circumstances of necessity may justify such alienation. Maharanee Shibessouree Debia v. Mothooranath Acharjo, 13 Moo. I. A. 270, followed. Narasimhachari v. Gopala Iyengar, I. L. R. 28 Mad. 391, referred to. There is no distinction in this respect between a religious institution like a temple and a charitable foundation. The powers of the trustee of a temple are analogous to those of the manager of an infant heir. Hanuman Pershad's Case referred to in Konwar Doorga Nath Roy v. Ramachunder Sen, L. R. 4 I. A. 52, referred to. The requirements of daily worship, of buildings suitable for the carrying out of such worship, and of performance of festivals are among the purposes for which the trustees of a temple may alienate the corpus, in the absence of other reasonable means of providing for such needs. In the case of such alienations, the alienee will be protected, if after proper enquiries he is satisfied of the existence of such necessity. SREEMUTH DEVASIKAMONEY PANDARASANNADHI v. PALANIAPPA CHETTIAR (1910)

I. L. R. 34 Mad. 535

6. ———————— Widow—Enquiry to be made by purchaser as to necessity of transaction—What is sufficient enquiry. Where it appeared that the purchaser of immoveable properties from a Hindu widow did not enquire from the creditors mentioned in the sale-deed as those who were to be paid off out of the consideration-money as to the necessities of the transaction, but satisfied himself with an enquiry merely from the widow herself, and it was found that the statement regarding the payment to the alleged creditors was false: Held, that the purchaser had not made the necessary enquiries as laid down in Hunooman Pershad v. Mussumat Babooee Munraj Koonweree, 6 Moo. I. A. 393, and the sale could not be supported. JANHABI v. BULBHADRA SUAR (1911) . 15 C. W. N. 793

7. ———————— Suit by alienee of a co-parcener in family property—Time when the share is ascertained. In Hindu Law the alienee of the interest of a co-parcener is entitled to enforce his claim against the share to which the vendor was entitled to at the time of the alienation. The mortgagee of a Hindu father is therefore entitled to proceed against the share of a son subsequently born in family property mortgaged by the father. Rangasami v. Krishnayyan, I. L. R. 14 Mad. 408, dissented from. Ayyagari Vekataramayya v. Ayyagari Ramayya, I. L. R. 25 Mad. 690, followed. Hardi Narayan Sahu v. Ruder Perkash Misser, I. L. R. 10 Calc. 626, followed. CHINNU PILLAI v. KALIMUTHU CHETTY (1911) I. L. R. 35 Mad. 47

8. ———————— Alienation by manager—Undivided family—Manager, position of—Effect of subsequent assent of co-parceners. The Manager of a joint Hindu family is not, in the exercise of his powers, the agent of the family in the strict sense of the term and consequently no ratification of his act by the other members of the co-parcenary is possible. The assent of the other members of the family to an alienation by the manager is only evidence of justifiable family necessity. Where, therefore, it is found that there was no such necessity, such assent is no evidence for that purpose. As, however, the property vests in the undivided family, the manager with the assent of the other members may give a good title to an alienee even though the alienation is not for any family necessity. Such assent is not that of a principal to the acts of an agent but supplies the want of capacity on the part of the manager to alienate family property. An alienation by a manager without justifiable necessity is void as regards the shares of the other members of the family and where such necessity exists it is valid in its entirety. An assent by all the members at the time of alienation without taking part in it, will pass the property. An assent by some only, though evidence of necessity will not, in the face of positive evidence of the impropriety of such alienation, suffice to pass their interests. The subsequent assent if all the members will not apart from any question of estoppel, validate an alienation by the manager, which is void in its inception for want of justifiable necessity. Annamalai Chetty v. Murugesa Chetty, I. L. R. 26 Mad. 544, referred to. Unni v. Kunchi Amma, I. L. R. 14 Mad. 26, 28, referred to. KANDASAMI ASARI v. SOMASKANDA ELA NIDHI, LTD. (1910) . . . I. L. R. 35 Mad. 177

9. ———————— Custom of agriculturists in the Punjab—Ancestral land—Power of father to alienate—Necessity—"Just debts"—Burden of proof—Debts of proprietor incurred by reckless extravagance and for illegal or immoral pruposes. In a suit by the respondents to have set aside an alienation of part of the family property made by their father in favour of the appellant, alleging that by the custom of agriculturists in the Punjab he was not competent to sell ancestral land without necessity, that there had been no necessity for the sale, that their father was a debauchee and an extravagant person, and that the debts for which the sale was made were incurred for immoral and illegal purposes, the appellant did not deny the custom though he traversed all the other allegations in the plaint, and contended that, the alienation having been made for their father's antecedent debts, it was for the respondents to show that the debts were contracted for illegal or immoral purposes. There were concurrent findings by the Courts below that the respondents' father was recklessly extravagant and did not know how to manage his affairs properly, and that certain specific debts were "just debts," and others were not: Held (affirming the decision of the Chief appellant of such part of the purchase money as both Courts concurrently found to be just debts, the payment of which was a necessity. The ruling in Devi Ditta v. Saudagar Singh, (1900) Punjab Rec. No. 65, that a "just debt" means "a debt which is actually due, and is not immoral, illegal or opposed to public policy, and has not been contracted as an act of reckless extravagance or of wanton waste, or with the intention of destroying the interests of the reversioners," was approved of by their Lordships of the Judicial Committee. KIRPAL SINGH v. BALWANT SINGH (1912)

HINDU LAW—ALIENATION—contd.

[illegible]

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 238

10. ——————— Mortgage by widow of part of the estate——Legal necessity—Presumption—Reversioner. Alienation by way of mortgage by Hindu widow as heiress, of a portion of the estate of her deceased husband without proof either of legal necessity or of reasonable enquiry and

[illegible]

enquiry and honest belief raised by such consent

Nobokishore

[illegible] , I. L. R. 10

[illegible] ngh v. Mano-

[illegible] All. I. L. R.

[illegible] D CHOWDHURY

[illegible] I. L. R. 40 Calc. 721

11. ——————— By father in favour of adopted son whose adoption alleged to be illegal—Form of suit—Suit for partition in case of stranger in Hindu family—Inaction and acquie-

[illegible] -ding on

[illegible] In a

[illegible] lu joint

[illegible] law to set aside their father's alienation of ancestral property, against the assignee, the first respondent, the father being made a pro formâ defendant, the appellants alleged that their father improperly made in 1898 a disposition of a specific portion of the property to the respondent who had been adopted by the widow of one or two brothers (with the consent of the other) from whom their father, (the adopted son of the other brother) inherited the family property and they contended that the adoption of the first respondent was invalid for various reasons, and that they were entitled to recover the property alienated. The defence so far as material, was that the appellants were bound by the acquiescence of their father in admitting the first respondent to the family, and that the suit was barred by limitation. The respondents also objected to the form of the suit which they contended should have been for partition. At the settlement of issues, the appellants' pleader admitted "that their father had actually given possession in 1898 of the property in suit to the first respondent to enjoy it exclusively: previously, since 1837, he was living as a joint member of the family, and jointly enjoying the profits by reason of the inaction and acquiescence of the appellants' father in that mode of enjoyment." The suit was decided without evidence on that admission, and on the allegations in the plaint and written statements, and was dismissed, and that decree was affirmed on appeal. Held, as to the form of suit, that to deny any relief except in a suit for partition would be to deny the right to relief altogether, since the basis of the claim was that the appellants were entitled to the estate as a joint and undivided estate, and desired to enjoy it as such. Also it might be that the first respondent was entitled to stand in the shoes of the appellants' father as to the share which would come to the latter on a partition; and if he established such a position, the Court would at the instance of the respondent decree a partition between the appellants and their father. Without therefore expressing any opinion as to its validity in law or fact, their Lordships thought that, on the pleadings, it was open to the first respondent to set up such a case. Held, also, that though a partition made by a Hindu father may under some circumstances bind his minor sons (as in Balkishen Das v. Ram Narain Sahu, I. L. R. 30

[illegible]

unless it can be supported as a bonâ fide compromise of a disputed claim. If, therefore, the adoption of the first respondent were wholly invalid, the appellants were entitled to succeed in the absence of any other defence. The Appellate Court as to limitation had decided that the suit was not barred as against the first appellant, but only as against the rest of the appellants who were minors, and had not been born at the time (1837) when it was alleged the adverse possession began to run. Held, that if the first appellant was entitled to relief the other appellants would also be so entitled. Under the circumstances, their Lordships, in allowing the appeal, were of opinion that they could not, on the materials before them, finally determine the rights of the parties, and remanded the case for trial with a declaration that it was competent to the Court, in the event of the first respondent failing in his other defences to make the whole or any part of the relief granted to the appellant conditional on their assenting to a partition so far as regarded the father's interest in the estate, so as to give effect to any right to which the first respondent might be entitled claiming through his assignor. RAMKISHORE KEDARNATH v. JAINARAYAN RAMRACHHPAL (1913)

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 983

HINDU LAW—ALIENATION—contd.

12. ———— By widow—Arrangement come to by the widow with consent of their reversioners—Alienation beyond life of widow—Acquiescence in arrangement by persons afterwards suing to set it aside—Ijara, beneficial to estate. The question in this case was as to the validity of an ijara for 60 years, dated 7th September 1863, which had been executed by a Hindu widow, a pardanashin lady aged 42, with the consent of the then reversioners, and which was part of an arrangement of settlement in which all the branches of her husband's family shared. In a suit brought after the death of the widow by the reversionary heirs of her husband to set aside the ijara on the ground that it was an unauthorized interference by the widow with the reversionary interest which she had no power to make: Held (affirming the decision of the High Court), that under the circumstances the arrangement was one dictated by the necessities of the case, and the choice of the term of 60 years was for the benefit of the estate. In accordance with the practice of the Board their Lordships attached great weight to the sanction by expectant reversioners of an alienation of property by a Hindu woman as affording evidence that the alienation was made under circumstances which rendered it lawful and valid. In this case, from 1882 to 1893 when the widow died, the persons who now sought to set the ijara aside acquiesced in and took the benefit of the arrangement which it might therefore be inferred from their conduct had in their opinion been made in good faith and under such circumstances of necessity as would give it validity according to Hindu law; and the conduct of the appellants themselves during those years afforded evidence on which the respondents were entitled to rely. BIJOY GOPAL MUKERJI v. GIRINDRA NATH MUKERJI (1914) . . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 793

13. ———————— Evidence of legal necessity—In mortgages or sale-deeds. The onus of supporting a sale from a Hindu widow is on a purchaser. Recitals in mortgages or deeds of sale with regard to the existence of legal necessity for an alienation by a Hindu widow are not of themselves evidence of such necessity without substantiation by evidence aliunde. BRIJ LAL v. INDA KUNWAR (1914) . I. L. R. 36 All. 187

14. ———————— Legal necessity—Spiritual welfare of her husband—To what extent alienation permissible—Recital in a deed, by itself not conclusive evidence. Where a deed, by a limited owner with qualified power of alienation, is impeached, the test is whether the purpose for which the alienation was made was proper or legitimate. Collector of Masulipatam v. Cavaly Vencata, 8 Mco. I. A. 529, referred to. Necessity is only one of the phases of the test of propriety. Raj Lukhee v. Gokool Chunder, 13 Moo. I. A. 209, Sham Sunder Lal v. Achhan Kunwar, I. L. R. 21 All. 71 ; L. R. 25 I. A. 183, Bejoy Gopal Mukerji v. Girindra Nath Mukerji, I. L. R. 41 Calc. 793, referred to. The widow has a larger power of disposition for religious or charitable purposes or for purposes which are supposed to conduce to the spiritual welfare of her husband than what she possesses for purely worldly purposes. An exhaustive enumeration of these religious or charitable purposes is neither possible nor necessary. Cossinant Bysack v. Hurrosoondry Dossee, 2 Morley's Digest 198, referred to. This being a question purely of Hindu law, great care must be taken in coming to a decision upon that subject in order to prevent English Judges being warped by impressions made upon their minds in consequence of their habitual application of English law and the nature of English decision to which they are accustomed and to consider in what way a Hindu Court of Justice would have decided the point. The true rule appears to be that there is a distinction between legal necessity for worldly purposes on the one hand, and the promotion of the spiritual welfare of the deceased on the other hand, and that, within proper limits, the widow may alienate her husband's property for the performance of religious acts which are supposed to conduce to his spiritual benefit. Mukhoda v. Kulliani, 1 Mac. Sel. Rep. 82, Ram Chunder Surma v. Gungagovind, 4 Mac. Sel. Rep. 147, Kartick Chunder v. Gour Mohun, 1 W. R. 48, Runjeet Ram v. Mohamed Waris, 21 W. R. 49, Ram Kawal Singh v. Ram Kishore Das, I. L. R. 22 Calc. 506, Churaman Sahu v. Gopi Sahu, I. L. R. 37 Calc. 1, Harmange v. Ram Gopal, 17 C. W. N. 782, Rama v. Ranga, I. L. R. 8 Mad. 552 Lakhsminarayana v. Dasu, I. L. R. 11 Mad. 288, Vuppuluri v. Garimilla, I. L. R. 34 Mad. 288, Puran Dai v. Jai Narain, I. L. R. 4 All. 481, Kupur v. Sebak Ram, 1, Bor. 405, Jogjiban v. Deoshankar, 1 Bor. 394, Chunilala v. Jussoo, 1 Bor. 55, referred to. A gift of a moderate portion of the property of her husband by the widow with a view to his spiritual benefit is valid. whether the alienation covers a reasonable portion of the property of the husband of the lady is a question which must be determined with reference to the circumstances of each particular disposition. Ram Chunder Surma v. Gungagovind, 4 Mac. Sel. Rep. 147, Churaman v. Gopi Sahu, I. L. R. 37 Calc. 1. referred to. Recitals in a deed are not by themselves conclusive evidence of their truth and the facts alleged should be proved aliunde. Brij Lal v. India Kunwar, I. L. R. 36 All. 187, referred to. KHUB LAL SINGH v. AJODHYA MISSER (1915) I. L. R. 43 Calc. 574

15. ———————— Legal necessity—Onus of proof of legal necessity as affected by lapse of time—Proof of custom of succession to estate—Limitation—Adverse possession—Res judicata. On this appeal their Lordships of the Judicial Committee affirmed the decision of the High Court which is reported in I. L. R. 38 Calc. at page 725. RAVANESHWAR PRASAD SINGH v. CHANDI PRASAD SINGH (1915) . . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 417

16. ———— Mortgages executed with alleged consent of reversioners—Nature of proof required of consent which must be established by positive evidence—Absence of proof of legal necessity—Presumption afforded by consent of reversioner. In this appeal which arose out of suits to recover property mortgaged by a Hindu widow it was held (affirming the decisions of the Courts in India), that the part taken by the reversioners with respect to the mortgages in question did not, under the circumstances, amount to a consent to bind their interests. When a "stringent equity" arising out of an alleged consent by reversioners is sought to be enforced against them, such consent must be established by positive evidence that upon an intelligent understanding of the nature of the dealings they concurred in binding their interests ; and that such consent should not be inferred from ambiguous acts, or be supported by dubious oral testimony such as appeared to have been relied upon in this case. Jiwan Singh v. Misri Lal, I. L. R. 18 All. 146 ; L. R. 23 I. A. 1, per LORD

HINDU LAW—ALIENATION—contd.

HOBHOUSE, referred to. HARI KISHEN BHAGAT v. KASHI PERSHAD SINGH (1914)
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 376

17. ——————— Construction of deed of sale executed by widow—Whether it conveyed an absolute interest in the property or only a limited interest—Legal necessity—Evidence of intention of parties—Construction of deeds executed by natives of India—Recitals in deed as showing necessity and intention of executants. In this appeal their Lordships of the Judicial Committee held (reversing the decree of the High Court and restoring that of the Subordinate Judge) that on the construction of a deed of sale executed by a Hindu widow of property held by her as heir of her husband in favour of the appellant, she conveyed her absolute interest in such property, and not only the limited interest of a Hindu widow. Recitals to the effect, (a) that the husband did not leave property the produce of which was sufficient to meet her necessary expenses, (b) that she had been obliged to borrow money to provide the ordinary necessaries of life, (c) that there were ancestral debts still unpaid, and creditors pressing for payment, and (d) that the only way to discharge them was to sell a portion of the property of her deceased husband, recitals which were necessary if the executant were disposing of her absolute interest, but serving no purpose if the object was to convey merely the limited interest of a widow, were held to show that the circumstances were such as to give her power to dispose of her absolute interest, and from which the inference could reasonably be drawn that it was her intention so to dispose of it. Referring to the case of Hunooman natives of India, their Lordships were of opinion that an examination in detail of the provisions of the deed in this case left no doubt in their minds that all the parties to it meant that the absolute interest in the property should be conveyed to the purchaser, and thought that it had by the deed been effectually conveyed to him. That interest might well be construed as meaning the right to and interest in the property which the widow had, in the particular circumstances of the case, powers, for the purpose indicated, to sell and dispose of, that is, the absolute interest, and not (as held by the High Court) as merely meaning the right and interest which a widow normally takes in the immoveable property which her husband owned at his death and leaves after him. Any other construction their Lordships thought would plainly defeat the object and intention of the contracting parties. VASONJI MORARJI v. CHANDA BIBI (1915)

I. L. R. 37 All. 369

18. ——————— Contract by father to sell family lands—Suit for specific performance against father—Son added subsequently as defendant—No necessity for contract—Contract not binding on son—Plaintiff's right to conveyance from father of his share only—Partial performance, meaning of —Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), s. 15 —Contract by a co-parcener to sell his share in family property, and contract to sell specific family property, distinction between. The plaintiff sued for specific performance of a contract or sale of certain lands and for possession. The contract was entered into by the first defendant, the undivided father of the second defendant who was subsequently added as a party to the suit. The first defendant pleaded that the contract was vitiated by undue influence and was a hard bargain that ought not to be enforced against him. The second defendant pleaded that the contract was entered into by the first without any legal necessity and was not enforceable in law. It was found that there was no undue influence or hard bargain and that there was no necessity to enter into the contract. The plaintiff offered to pay the full consideration for a conveyance of the lands which were the separate property of the first defendant and of his interest in the family lands. Held, that the plaintiff was not entitled to a decree for specific performance of the contract against the first defendant or the second defendant. Per SANKARAN NAIR, J.—A person is entitled to specific performance of a contract by a member of a Hindu family to sell his share of the family property. If a junior member of a Hindu family agrees to sell any specific property belonging to his family, a decree cannot be passed against him to sell his share of that specific property. Kosuri Ramaraju v. Ivaluri Ramalingam, I. L. R. 26 Mad. 74, Srinivasa Reddi v. Sivarama Reddi, I. L. R. 32 Mad. 320, and Poraka Subbarami Reddi v. Vadlamudi Seshachalam Chetti, I. L R. 33 Mad. 359, referred to. Nagiah v. Venkatarama Sastrulu, I. L. R. 37 Mad. 387, dissented from. Nanjaya Mudali v. Shanmuga Mudali, 15 Mad. L. T. 186, followed. Maharaja of Bobbili v Venkataramanjulu Naidu, 16 Mad L T. 181, referred to. SUBBA v. VENKATRAMI (1914)
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1187

19. ——————— Onus of proof of legal necessity—Recitals in deeds as to necessity—Evidence of representation to purchasers—Value of recital after lapse of time when actual proof of enquiry has become impossible—Attestation of deed, effect of, as evidence of knowledge of contents, or of consent by reversioner—Unexplained delay in prosecution of appeals—Costs disallowed if delay due to appellant. In a suit for property alienated by a Hindu widow in possession of her husband's estate the burden of proving legal necessity for the alienations lies on the purchasers. Maheshar Baksh Singh v. Ratan Singh, I. L. R. 23 Calc. 766 ; L. R. 23 I. A. 57, followed. Recitals in deeds cannot by themselves be relied upon for the purposes of proving the assertions of fact which they contain. They can only be evidence as between the parties to the conveyances and those who claim under them. After a long period, however, has elapsed between the alienation and the suit to set it aside when all those who could have given evidence on the relevant points have grown old or have passed away, a recital consistent with the probabilities and circumstances of the case assumes greater importance and cannot lightly be set aside. The recital is clear evidence of the representation, and if the circumstances are such as to justify a resonable belief that an enquiry would have confirmed its truth, then when proof of actual enquiry has become impossible the recital coupled with such circumstances would be sufficient evidence to support the deed. Where the total value of the estate was small and there were expenses like the husband's shradh and any debts against his estate which [illegible] be paid, besi[illegible] the necessity for the [illegible] which need not be

HINDU LAW—ALIENATION—contd

sum to support existence, the periods at which, between 1848 and 1865, the properties were sold the small sums for which the sales were made, and the disposition of the property piece by piece with fair regularity for 16 years all went to support the view that the widows found themselves unable to provide sufficient maintenance out of the income of the estate, until their means came to an end in 1865, and the circumstances were such as would be sufficient to justify the assumption that proper enquiry would have disclosed that necessity existed. There was only the one fund for payment and if money was needed to pay debts, the amount of money available for maintenance would to that extent be reduced, and if the debts had been paid by the widows out of borrowed money it would make no difference whether the necessity to pay debts, or to maintain themselves was stated in the recitals as reason for the sale. Attestation of a deed proves no more than that the signature of an executing party has been attached to a document in the presence of a witness. It does not involve the witness in any knowledge of the contents of the deed, nor affect him with notice of its provisions. If it had been quite impossible for either of the widows lawfully to dispose of any interest in the properties, and it was shown that the witness knew the nature of the deed, more value might be given to his attestation, but by itself it would neither create an estoppel nor imply consent. Hari Kishen Bhagat v. Kashi Prasad Singh, I. L. R. 42 Calc. 876 ; L. R. 42 I. A. 64, referred to. Comments were made by their Lordships on the delay that had occurred between the decrees of the High Court in August 1909 and the setting down of the appeals for hearing in April 1916, for which no sufficient reason appeared. Unexplained, it constituted a grave reproach to the administration of justice. All the respondents had been unjustly attacked in the lawful possession of property, and for seven years had been subject to the anxiety and distress of knowing that the judgment of the High Court in their favour was subject to the inevitable uncertainties of the law. Their Lordships said that had the appeals succeeded they would have refused the appellants any costs of the appeals unless they could have cleared themselves of the imputation of having needlessly protracted the proceedings ; and that course would be taken in similar cases in the future, if occasion arose. BANGA CHANDRA DHUR BISWAS v. JAGAT KISHORE ACHARJYA CHOWDHURI (1916)
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 186

20. ———— By father not for necessity— Mitakshara school—Joint family property—Alienation by father not for necessity and not for antecedent debt, son if bound by. Joint property of a Mitakshara Hindu family cannot be alienated as against co-shares by way of mortgage or otherwise, except for necessity, or for the payment of an antecedent debt quite distinct from the debt incurred in the mortgage itself, and the sons of the mortgagors are not bound by any such alienation by reason of any pious obligation to pay their father's debt. JOGI DAS v. GANGA RAM (1917)
21 C. W. N. 957

21. ———————— Joint Hindu family —Sale of ancestral property by father without legal necessity—Sale set aside at instance of sons—Vendee not entitled to refund of consideration by sons. A sale of the property of a joint Hindu family made by the father for an antecedent debt or for the payment of an antecedent debt is binding on the sons; but if the consideration for such sale is not for any of the purposes mentioned above, the sons are entitled to recover the property. But in such case the sons are not liable to refund the purchase money to the vendee. Ram Dayal v. Suraj Mal. 23 Indian Cases 891, Manbahal Rai v. Gopal Misra, All. Weekly Notes, 1901, p. 57, and Chandra Deo Singh v Mata Prasad, I. L. R. 31 All. 176, referred to. Koer Hashmat Rai v. Sundar Das, I. L. R. 11 Calc. 396, dissented from. MADAN GOPAL v. SATI PRASAD (1917) . . I. L. R. 39 All. 485

22. ———————— Sale by father of joint family property without legal necessity—Suit by sons to repudiate the sale—Mesne profits payable by purchase from date of such repudiation. Where the father as manager alienates joint Hindu family property without legal necessity and the sons repudiate the sale, a purchaser who had no notice that the father was incompetent to sell the property is in equity only liable to pay mesne profits from the date of such repudiation. Mugnu Chunder Chuttoraj v. Surbessur Chuckerbutty, 3 W. R. 479, Dakhina Mohan Roy v. Saroda Mohan Roy, I. L. R. 21 Calc. 142, and Grish Chander Lahiri v. Soshi Sikhareswar Roy, I. L. R. 27 Calc. 95 ; L. R. 27 I. A. 100, referred to. BHIRGU NATH CHAUBE v. NARSINGH TIWARI, (1916)
I. L. R. 39 All. 61

23. ———— By some members of joint Hindu family—Alienation of joint property of family governed by Mitakshara law—Mortgage not for family necessity or to pay antecedent debt—Suit on mortgage—Non-liability of sons and grandsons of mortgagors. Where a mortgage had been made by some of the members of a Hindu joint family governed by the Mitakshara law who joined in borrowing Rs. 1,200 on the security of the property of the joint family of which they were the heads without the consent of their co-partners, and it was found that the mortgage was primâ facie invalid as against the family property as being neither for an antecedent debt, nor for any proved necessity of the joint family : Held, that the mortgage could not be upheld on the doctrine laid down in the case of Mahabeer Prasad v. Ramyad Singh, 1 B. L. R. 190 ; 20 W. R. 192, which was distinguishable on the ground that there were special circumstances in that case which did not exist in the present case, and it therefore did not lay down the general law. The general law was laid down in Madho Parshad v. Mehrban Singh, I. L. R. 18 Calc. 157, 163 : L. R. 17 I. A. 194, 196, which governed this and all other cases of the kind, and according to those principles the mortgage in suit was invalid as against the sons and grandsons of the mortgagors. LACHMAN PRASAD v. SARNAM SINGH (1917) I. L. R. 39 All. 500

24. ———— By manager when benefits result to minors' estate—Of estate as justifying alienation—Speculative development of minor's estate, if for benefit. The rule laid down by the Judicial Committee in Hanooman Pershad Pandey v. Munraj Koonwar, 5 Moo. I. A. 373, 423, is not restricted to cases of mortgage or other forms of partial alienation, nor is it restricted in its application to cases of necessity alone, for a " benefit " of the estate is there differentiated from the " need ".

HINDU LAW—ALIENATION—contd.

of the estate as a circumstance justifying alienation. But mere increase in the immediate income of the minor or of his estate does not necessarily justify the inference that the particular transaction is for the benefit of the estate within the meaning of the rule which could not have been intended to include cases of speculative development of estates of minors. KRISHNA CHANDRA CHOUDHURY v. RATAN RAM PAL (1915)

20 C. W. N. 645

25. —— [illegible] family—[illegible] Burden of proof of legal necessity [illegible] Where no necessity proved the interest of such mortgagor not saleable in enforcement of mortgage—Mortgage only operative to the extent to which the mortgage money was proved to be necessary. The mortgage of joint estate made by the manager of a joint family who is not the father of the other members of the family can only be justified so far as it is wanted for the joint family purposes. If the necessity cannot be established by direct evidence, it may be assumed if it can be shown that reasonable care was taken to ascertain if such circumstances [illegible] gage. Bhaga Chandra Dhar ... Buree v. Jogal Kishore Acharjya Chaudhuri, I. L. R. 44 Calc. 186 : L. R. 43 I. A. 249, followed. There was no difference between the burden of proof when [illegible] who has only a similar limited power of disposi[illegible] Lachman Prasad v. Sarnam Singh, I. L. R. 39 All. 500 ; L. R. 44 I. A. 163, referred to. In the [illegible] to the limited extent proved. ANANT RAM v. COLLECTOR OF ETAH (1917 I. L. R. 40 All. 171

26. ———— By Widow—Subsequent adoption—Right of adopted son to set aside alienation and recover alienated property. A Hindu widow alienated certain properties for a purpose not binding on the inheritance, and thereafter adopted a son. Held by the FULL BENCH, that the alienation was not binding on the adopted son and that he could sue, during the life time of the widow, to set aside the alienation and recover the properties so alienated, his cause of action arising from the time of his adoption. Sreeramulu v. Krishtamma, I. L. R. 26 Mad. 143, overruled. Bonomali Roy v. Jagat Chandra Bhowmick, I. L. R. 32 Calc. 669, and dictum in The Collector of Madura v. Mootoo Ramalinga Sathupathy, 12 Moo. I. A. 397, 443, followed. VAIDYANATHA SASTRI v. SAVITHRI AMMAL (1917)

I. L. R. 41 Mad. 75

27.———— ———— Circumstances justifying alienation—Spiritual benefit of husband—To what extent alienation permissible. For religious or charitable purposes or those which are supposed to conduce to the spiritual welfare of her husband, a Hindu widow has a larger power of disposition than that which she possesses for purely worldly purposes. [illegible] between legal necessity [illegible] on the one hand and the [illegible] on the other hand. A [illegible] welfare of the [illegible] of a moderate portion of the property [illegible] husband by the widow [illegible] benefit is valid. Whether an alienation [illegible] reasonable portion of the property [illegible] is a question which must be determined [illegible] reference to the circumstances of each [illegible] dependent. [illegible] Lal Singh v. [illegible] Calc. [illegible] Mad. [illegible] I. L. R. [illegible] Kishore [illegible] Chand [illegible] and [illegible] Weekly [illegible] BIHARI LAL v. [illegible]

HINDU LAW—ALIENATION—contd.

I. L. R. 40 All. [illegible]

28. ———— Lease granted by a Hindu widow to her manager 40 years before suit—Value of recitals of legal necessity [illegible] alienation, if may hold [illegible] necessity—Alienation of the widow [illegible] of part of the corpus of the estate. [illegible] legal necessity in an alienation by a Hindu widow made more than 40 years before suit [illegible] be given the weight attached to similar [illegible] in Banga Chandra v. Jagat Kishore, L. R. 43 I. A. 249 ; s. c. I. L. R. 44 Calc. 186 ; 21 C. W. N. [illegible] inasmuch as in this case evidence was [illegible] as to the pecuniary condition of the widow at the time of the alienation and it was made to a person who in fact managed the estate for the widow : Held, on the evidence, that the alienation in this case, a permanent ijara, was not [illegible] for legal necessity, nor was it binding on the reversioners apart from legal necessity as being for the "benefit of the estate." Held, also, that the reversioners did not by getting themselves substituted as the legal representatives of the widow in a suit for arrears of ijara rent [illegible] had fallen due in her lifetime did not ratify the ijara. Property acquired by the widow out of the income of the estate became part of the corpus of the estate where it appeared that her intention was to treat the purchased property as part of the original estate. [illegible] v. [illegible] (1916),

22 C. W. N. 66

29. ———————— Power to alienate husband's estate—Surrender or relinquishment by widow—Consent of reversioners—Whether [illegible] is binding on a [illegible] As to the power of a Hindu widow to deal with the property of her husband to which she has succeeded [illegible] on his death, there is a distinction between the power of surrender or renunciation which is the first head of the subject and the power of alienation for certain specified purposes, as necessity, which is the second. The result of the consideration of the decided cases may be summarised as follows [illegible]

HINDU LAW—ALIENATION—contd.

by a widow of her deceased husband's estate held by her may be validated if it can be shown to be a surrender of her whole interest in the whole estate in favour of the nearest reversioner or reversioners at the time of the alienation. In such circumstances the question of necessity does not fall to be considered. But the surrender must be a bonâ fide surrender, and not a device to divide the estate with the reversioner. (ii) When the alienation of the whole or part of the estate is to be supported on the ground of necessity, then, if such necessity is not proved aliunde, and the alienee does not prove enquiry on his part, and honest belief in the necessity, the consent of such reversioners as might fairly be expected to be interested to quarrel with the transaction, will be held to afford a presumptive proof which if not rebutted by contrary proof will validate the transaction as a right and proper one. Where property was transferred by the widow to an alienee from whom a prospective reversioner takes a mortgage of a portion of it, he is not estopped on the death of the widow, from disputing the validity of the alienation. RANGASAMI GOUNDEN v. NACHIAPPA GOUNDEN (1919)

I. L. R. 42 Mad. 523
L. R. 46 I. A. 72

30. ———— By daughter—Of entire house inherited by her to discharge debt of father—House not saleable piecemeal —Legal necessity—Suit by reversioner to recover house from vendees. To pay off an antecedent debt of her father, the daughter of a separated Hindu sold a house which had been the property of her father in his life-time and had been previously mortgaged by herself and her mother jointly as security for the same debt. The debt at the time of the sale amounted to Rs. 7,775, and the house was sold for Rs. 19,500. On the other hand, it was found that the house was not one which could have been divided and sold piecemeal. Held, that the reversioner to the last male owner was not in the circumstances entitled to recover the house from the vendees. BAL KRISHNA DAS v. HIRA LAL (1918) . I. L. R. 41 All. 338

30(a). ———— By father—A suit was instituted against a Hindu father and his sons on a mortgage bond executed by the father alone. The Court found that it was not for any purpose binding upon the sons. Held, that the mortgagee was entitled to a conditional decree under O. XXXIV, r. 6 against the father personally and against the Joint Family property of himself and his undivided sons for the recovery of the balance in case the sale-proceeds of the father's share of the mortgaged property was insufficient. KANDASAMI GOUNDAN v. KUPPU MOOPPAN.

I. L. R. 43 Mad. 421

31.———— By widow—Onus of proof of legal necessity—Suit to set aside an alienation after long lapse of time—Presumptions to complete proof. The suit which gave rise to this appeal was one by a reversioner to set aside an alienation by a widow made in 1830 on the ground that it was made without legal necessity. The widow died on the 15th December 1900, and the suit was instituted on 12th December 1912 involving an inquiry into the circumstances of a transaction more than 82 years after it took place. The District Court found that there was no legal necessity for the sale and decreed the suit. The High Court held that legal necessity had been proved and reversed the judgment of the Trial Judge.

HINDU LAW—ALIENATION—contd.

In the course of their judgment they said, "It is not disputed that the onus lay upon the defendant to prove the necessity for the sale, but having regard to the great lapse of time since the transaction took place, perhaps, the highest on record, it will not be reasonable to expect such full and detailed evidence as to the state of things which gave rise to the sale in question as in the case of alienations made at more recent dates. In such circumstances presumptions are permissible to fill in the details which have been obliterated by time." Their Lordships of the Judicial Committee in affirming the decision of the High Court cited the above with approval as being in their opinion a correct statement of the law. VENKATA REDDI v. RANI SAHEBA OF WADHAVAN (1920)

I. L. R. 43 Mad. 541
L. R. 47 I. A. 6.

32.———— By widow—proof of necessity debt paid to third person. Held, that under Hindu Law a widow cannot alienate immoveable property inherited by her from her husband except for special purposes. For religious and charitable purposes or for those which are supposed to conduce to the spiritual welfare of her husband she has a larger power of disposition than that which she possesses for purely worldly purposes, and to support such an alienation she must show necessity. Held, also, that the payment of a debt contracted by the widow from a third person does not of itself justify an alienation by her of immoveable property. GOWARDHAN DAS v. VIRU MAL

I. L. R. 1 Lah. 48

33.———— By widows in accordance with a decree for maintenance obtained against them —Suit by reversioners to challenge alienation— Res judicata—Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1895), s. 22. Where S, the daughter of a deceased Hindu by a wife who had predeceased him sued his two surviving widows on the ground that they declined to deliver a certain pattah and had also dispossessed her from a part of the property covered by the pattah, the said pattah having been executed by them in accordance with a custom prevalent in the family by which married daughters who resided in the family dwelling-house were entitled to receive a certain amount by way of maintenance for themselves, their husbands and their children, to be enjoyed after their death by their descendants, and it was found that the alleged custom did exist in the family, and the suit was accordingly decreed: Held, in a suit by the reversioners against the son of S for recovery of joint possession with the defendant of the land covered by the pattah, that the suit against the widows was not a suit to enforce an alienation made in their personal capacity, and that the decree obtained in that suit was binding on the reversioners inasmuch as in that suit the widows represented the estate of their deceased husband. ATUL CHANDRA METRA v. MIRTUNJOY BOSE . . . . . 3 Pat. L. J. 426

34.———— By widow before birth of son—Whether after-born son divests his mother's estate as a widow from the date of his birth or from the date of his father's death. The house and site in dispute belonged to the plaintiff's father T, a Hindu, who died in May 1911. On the following July the property was sold by T's widow R. The plaintiff who was born to R five days after the sale, sued to contest its validity. This first Court decreed the claim, holding that the plaint[illegible]

HINDU LAW—ALIENATION—contd.

in contemplation of law actually existing at the time of his father's death, that at the time of the sale he, and not his mother, was the owner of the property, and that, therefore, the sale by the latter was void. This decree was upheld by the District Judge on appeal. Held, on second appeal that the rights of a son under Hindu Law in the estate by his father commence at birth and not before, and that R was consequently at the date of the sale competent to alienate the property for necessity. Bamundoss Mookerjea v. Mussammat Tarinee (7 Moo. I. A. 169 P. C.), followed. Mayne's Hindu Law, 8th Edition, page 499, and West and Buhler's Digests of Hindu Law, 3rd Edition, volume I, page 803, referred to. Jatindra Mohan v. Ganendra Mohan (9 Beng. L. R. 377, P. C.), Mussammat Mangli v. Sobha Singh (20 Indian Cases 272), Minakshi v. Virappa (I. L. R. 8 Mad. 89) and Ramakrishna v. Tripurabai (I. L. R. 33 Bom. 88), distinguished; Sabapathi v. Somasundaram (I. L. R. 16 Mad. 76) and Hanmant Ramachandra v. Bhimacharya I. L. R. 12 Bom. 105), not followed. HIRA v. BUTA

I. L. R. 1 Lah. 128

35. ———— By way of Compromise——By Limited owner—whether binds reversioners. An alienation by way of compromise entered into who had no time of the

oners. ANUP NARAIN SINGH v. MAHABIR PRASAD SINGH

3 Pat. L. J. 83

36. ———— Alienation of occupancy right by father, whether binding on minor sons—Central Provinces Tenancy Act (XI of 1898), S. 46 (1) An alienation by the father of a Hindu joint family of his interest in an occupancy holding appertaining to the ancestral property of the family is not binding on a minor except in those cases in which an alienation of the family property would ordinarily bind the son. SUKRU MALI v. SRI BRAHMAPURA BALBHADRA MAHAPARBHU . . 4 Pat. L. J. 354

37. ———— Decree against father—joint family property sold in execution—whether sons are bound. Where the name of the father of a Hindu joint family was entered in the Record-of-Rights, as being in possession and he unsuccessfully defended a suit brought against him, held, that the sons were bound by an attachment of joint family property made at the instance of the successful plaintiff in execution of the decree which awarded him recovery of possession, mesne-profits and costs. The rule of Hindu Law under which a son is not liable for debts of his father incurred for an illegal or immoral purpose does not apply when the debt has merged in a decree. GANESH LALL v. DEO SARAN AHIR

4 Pat. L. J. 692

38. ———— Antecedent debt—loan

[illegible]

finding that he is not able to repay the loan, executes a mortgage bond as security, the bond is one, for an antecedent debt. In a suit on a bond by the mortgagee the onus of proving that the debt is an antecedent one lies on the plaintiff. SUKHDEO JHA v. JHAPAT KAMAT 5 Pat. L. J. 120

HINDU LAW—ALIENATION—contd.

39. ———— Interest, necessity for high rate of—burden of proving. The principle that it is incumbent on those who support a mortgage made by the manager of a joint Hindu family to shew not only that there was a necessity to borrow but that it was not unreasonable to borrow at a high rate of interest applies to a case of a mortgage by a Hindu widow. In the absence, however, of a specific plea in the written statement that there was no necessity to borrow at a high rate of interest the burden of establishing that necessity does not lie on the mortgagee. JAG SAHU v. RAI RADHA KISHUN

5 Pat. L. J. 287

40. ———— Mortgage by member of the family, validity of—whether mortgagor's share liable—Evidence Act (I of 1872). S. 32, Illustration (1)—horoscope, admissibility of. A mortgage by an individual member of a Mitakshara family of the whole or a share of the joint family property, where no family necessity or antecedent debt is proved, is void and inoperative as against the property hypothecated

even against

Where, howeve., [illegible] separated from that of the other members of the family, actual partition by metes and bounds not being essential for this purpose, or where the share has by legal process been attached or sold at the instance of the creditor, it may become available as security for the mortgage debt. In special circumstances where the property has already passed into the hands of the mortgagee the court, if satisfied that the equities of the case require it, may in its discretion set aside the alienation upon the terms that the property when restored shall be held in separate shares, the share of the mortgagor being subject to a lien for the mortgage debt and interest. In a suit to enforce a mortgage against the joint family property, the mortgagors being in possession, no equities can arise as in a case where the property has been sold in execution of a decree or has otherwise passed into the hands of the mortgagees. An intention to separate from the rest of the joint family cannot be inferred from the fact that the member of the family executing the mortgage purported to hypothecate only his own share out of the whole property. A horoscope drawn up by a person who has since died is admissible in evidence to prove the age of the person mentioned in the horoscope by reason of Illustration (1) to s. 32 of the Evidence Act, 1872, but the horoscope is not conclusive of the age of the person. AMAR DAYAL SINGH v. HAR PERSHAD SAHU

4 Pat. L. J. 605

41. ———— By manager—Mitakshara—Joint family—karta, power of, to deal with family property—alienations of joint property in order to purchase other property, validity of—enjoyment of proceeds by members of the family, whether amounts to ratifications—whether mortgagor's share liable—Contract Act (IX of 1872), s. 65-Burden of proof. The power of the karta of a joint family to deal with the joint family property is the same as that of the manager for an infant heir under the Hindu Law as defined in 6 M. I. A. 393. Actual compelling necessity is not the sole test of the validity of an alienation by the manager acting without the express consent of the other members. When it can be shewn that the transaction was one which was clearly beneficial to the interest of the family as a whole the transaction is valid and the consent of the other members will be implied although not expressly given. Where the karta of a family has executed a mortgage which is not justified either as being necessary or as being for the benefit of the family the mortgagee is not entitled to proceed against the joint family property nor against the undivided share of the mortgagor. S. 65 of the Contract Act does not apply to a case in which the mortgagee has lost his remedy against the mortgagor personally, not on the ground that the mortgage was void, but by reason of the operation of the law of limitation. Where it is open to both parties to produce evidence concerning the existence or non-existence of a particular fact the party upon whom the onus of proving the fact lies does not discharge that burden by showing that the other side could equally well have proved the contrary. The mere fact that the manager borrowed money in order to purchase immoveable property on behalf of the family does not in itself create any presumption that the transaction was beneficial to the family so as to authorize the manager to hypothecate existing family property by way of security for the loan. Some necessity for the transaction or some benefit resulting to the family therefrom must in all cases be shewn. The mere fact that the members of the family have enjoyed the produce of the property purchased with the loan does not amount to their assent to, or ratification of the mortgage. Nor can it be said that the question as to whether the transaction has resulted in a benefit to the family is a matter which is specially within the knowledge of the family so as to shift the onus of proof to them. RAM BILAS SINGH v. RAMYAD SINGH 5 Pat. L. J. 622

HINDU LAW—ALIENATION—contd.

42. ———— Temple property, permanent lease of, questioned after 100 years—Presumption that alienation was lawfully made. The disability of a shebait of a Hindu Deity to make a permanent grant of endowed property is not absolute. Although the shebait for the time being has no power to make a permanent alienation of such property in the absence of proved necessity for the alienation, yet the long lapse of time between the alienation and the challenge of its validity is a circumstance which enables the Court to assume that the original grant was made in exercise of that extended power. The above principle was applied in the present case of a permanent lease of temple property which was challenged after the lapse of 100 years, when it had become completely impossible to ascertain the circumstances which caused the grant to be made. The importance to parties to litigation in India of defining at the earliest moment and in the simplest terms the exact character and extent of the dispute which is going to be made the subject of litigation adverted to. BAWA MAGNIRAM SITARAM v. SHETH KESTURBHAI MANIBHAI (P. C.).

26 C. W. N. 474

43. ———— Gift by a Hindu widow—Alienation voidable, not void—Mortgagee cannot dispute the validity of alienation—Reversioners alone can dispute the validity of grant. The plaintiffs who were the donees from a Hindu widow sued to redeem the land in the possession of the defendants as mortgagees. The defendants contended that the alienation in favour of the plaintiffs was void after the widow's death. Held, that the alienation was only voidable, not void and the mortgagee had no locus standi to resist the claim of the person who on the face of it had a perfectly good title to equity of redemption granted by a Hindu widow, and the only person who could dispute the validity of such a grant was the reversioner. Raja Modhu Sudan Singh v. Rooke (1897) L. R. 24 I. A. 164, referred to. Jagannath Vithal v. Appaji Vishnu (1868) 5 Bom. H. C. (A. C. J.) 217, considered. SITARAM v. KHANDU.

HINDU LAW—ALIENATION—concld.

I. L. R. 45 Bom. 105

44. ———— By Hindu mother—Succeeding to her son's estate for payment of her husband's debts—Legal necessity. Although a Hindu son may be under a pious obligation to pay his father's debts, there is no authority which lays down that a mother is bound to satisfy that obligation on her son's death and can validly alienate for that purpose the estate which has come to her by inheritance from her son, unless such estate has been charged by the father with the payment of his debts. Udai Chunder Chuckerbutty v. Ashutosh Das Mozumdar, I. L. R., 21 Calc., 190, and Bhala Nahana v. Parbhu Hari, I. L. R., 2 Bom., 67, distinguished. Per curiam. The transferee comes here in second appeal. The argument put forward on his behalf to support the transfer for this account is that the son was under a pious obligation to pay certain debts contracted by his father and uncle respectively, and as the son died without paying those debts, his mother who succeeded to the estate which originally belonged to her husband her husband's brother, was justified in making the transfer of the family property to pay off those debts. The utmost extent to which the Hindu law has gone in this matter is that a son is under a pious duty to pay his father's debt, and also that a sonless widow can alienate her husband's estate to pay off her husband's debt. The Hindu law makes no difference between a time-barred debt and a debt which is not so barred, but there is no warranty or reason for holding that a nephew is bound to pay his uncle's debt and there is no authority which lays down that a mother is bound to pay his son's debt and can validly alienate the estate which has come to by inheritance from her son at her death. SHEO RAM PANDE v. SHEO RATAN PANDE.

I. L. R. 43 All. 604

HINDU LAW—BANDHUS.

See Hindu Law—SUCCESSION.

———————— Mitakshara—Bandhu—Grandfather's great-grandson's daughter's son not a bandhu under the Mitakshara law. Held, that for bandhu relationship to exist it is essential that the person claiming to be bandhu and the last male owner must have been sapindas of each other. The rule of sapinda relationship under the Mitakshara law extends to seven degrees on the father's side and five degrees on the mother's side including the last owner. Therefore a grandfather's great-grandson's daughter's son is not a bandhu under the Mitakshara law. SHIB SAHAI v. SARASWATI (1915) . . I. L. R. 37 All. 583

HINDU LAW—BOND.

———————— Suit on bond executed by deceased Hindu against his widow and brothers—Form of decree. Plaintiff, after the death of the obligor, a Hindu, sued his widow and brothers

HINDU LAW—BOND—concld.

to recover the amount due on a bond. It was found that the obligor and his brothers were joint. Held, that the plaintiff was still entitled to a decree against the widow which might be executed against any self-acquired property of the deceased obligor in her hands. PAHALWAN SINGH v. JANKI (1917) . . . . I. L. R. 40 All. 17

———————— Bond held in the name of a member—Separate private transactions by individual members—Presumption of jointness, if rebutted. The presumption is that a bond held in the name of the managing member of a joint Mitakshara Hindu family is joint property and it is for those who assert the contrary to make good their case. Proof that some of the members of the joint family had some private transactions by no means proves that the particular bond in question was the private property of the member in whose name it was held. Held, that while the evidence on both sides was somewhat meagre the presumption in favour of joint ownership was not displaced. BANDHU RAM v. CHINTAMAN SINGH . . . . . 26 C. W. N. 407

HINDU LAW—CONVERSION.

See CASTE DISABILITIES REMOVAL ACT, 1850.

See HINDU LAW (JOINT FAMILY)

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 407

1. ———————— Change of religion —Effect of conversion of a member of Joint Hindu family to Muhammadanism—Regulation VII of 1832, s. 9—Act XXI of 1850—Compromise—Effect of compromise entered into by members of family in settlement of disputes as to rights to property—Act XIV of 1859, s. 1, cl. 12—Act No. IX of 1871, Sch. II, Art. 141—Act No. XV of 1877, Sch. II, Art. 141—Suit by reversioner. By Bengal Regulation VII of 1832, s. 9, and Act XXI of 1850 the Legislature virtually set aside the provisions of the Hindu Law which penalize the renunciation of religion, or exclusion from caste. Where, therefore, in a joint Hindu family consisting of a father and son, the father was converted to Muhammadanism in 1845. Held (reversing the decision of the High Court), that by the father's abandonment of Hinduism the son did not acquire any enforcible right to his father's share in the joint family property which he could either assert himself, or transmit to his heirs for enforcement, in a British Court of justice. Semble: Whatever right the son acquired under the Hindu law to the share of his father came into existence on the conversion of the latter in 1845; and no suit could have been brought (even if Regulation VII of 1832 and Act XXI of 1850 had permitted it) to enforce that right after the lapse of 12 years from the time the cause of action arose (s. 1, cl. 12 of Act XIV of 1859): and nothing in Art. 142 of Act IX of 1871, or in Art. 141 of Act XV of 1877 could revive a right which had already become barred. Hari Nath Chatterjee v. Mothur Mohum Goswami, I. L. R. 21 Calc. 8: L. R. 20 I. A. 183, referred to. After the death of the father (who survived the son) and their widows a compromise was in 1860 effected between the two daughters of the son on the one side and the grandson of the father on the other, under which an 8½-anna share was allotted to the daughters and a 7½-anna share to the grandson. The 8½-anna share eventually on the death of the survivor of the two daughters in 1899, devolved upon the respondents, her sons. In a suit by them in 1904 for possession of the 7½-anna share allotted to the grandson, by the members then claiming title to the property in settlement of their disputes, "each one relinquishing all claim in respect of all property in dispute other than that falling to his share, and recognising the right of the others as they had previously asserted it to the portion allotted to them respectively." (See Lalla Oudh Beharee Lall v. Ranee Mewa Koonwar, 3 Agra H C. 82, 84. The compromise was therefore binding on the respondents. The true test to apply to a transaction which is challenged by reversioners as an alienation is whether the alienee derives title from the holder of the limited interest or life-tenant, which in this case the predecessor in title of the appellants did not do: for the compromise have was "based on the assumption that there was an antecedent title of some kind in the parties and the agreement acknowledges and defines what that title is." (See Rani Mewa Kunwar v. Rani Hulas Kunwar, L. R. 1 I. A. 167, KHUNNI LAL v. GOBIND KRISHNA NARAIN (1911)

[illegible]

I. L. R. 33 All. 356
15 C. W. N. 545

2. ———————— Conversion of a Hindu widow to Muhammadan and marriage with a Muhammadan—S. 2 of Hindu Widow's Re-Marriage Act (XV of 1856)—Forfeiture of Hindu husband's estate. Held. By the Full Bench (SHESHAGIRI AYYAR, J., dissenting), that a Hindu widow, who becomes a Muhammadan, forfeits under the Hindu Law, by her re-marriage, her interest in her Hindu husband's estate. Murugai v. Viramakali, I. L. R. 1 Mad 226, followed Moniram Kolita v. Kery Kolitani, I. L. R. 5 Calc. 776, distinguished; Chowdappa v. Narasamma, 23 Mad. L. T. 81, overruled. Held, further, by WALLIS, C.J. (OLDFIELD, J., and SESHAGIRI AYYAR, J., contra)—She forfeits also under s. 2 of Act XV of 1856, which only embodied the existing law on the subject. Per SESHAGIRI AYYAR, J.—Neither by Hindu Law nor by s 2 of Act XV of 1856, which is only an enabling Act, does she forfeit her interest. VITTA TAYARAMMA v. CHATAKONDU SIVAYYA (1918) .I. L. R. 41 Mad. 1078

HINDU LAW—COPARCENER.

1. ———————— Decree against one coparcener—Right to attach and sell the interest of another co-parcener—Declaration, suit for. The plaintiff sued for a declaration that the property of the defendant was liable to attachment and sale in execution of a decree obtained by the plaintiff in another suit (to which this defendant was not a party) against the defendant's undivided brother for money borrowed on the defendant's account. The declaration having been granted, the defendant appealed: Held, that where the stage of sale had not been reached, there was no reason for assuming jurisdiction to dispose of property belonging to one who was no party to the suit and was not a representative of the judgment-debtor. LAXMAN NILKANT v. VINAYAK KESHAV (1915) . . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 3

HINDU LAW—COPARCENER—concld.

2. ———————— Co-parceners—Junior member of a joint Hindu family—Bond in the name of manager—Payment to a junior member during lifetime of manager—Liability of promisor—Discharge—Rule, as to co-heirs and co-promisees—English Law. Payment made to a junior member of a joint Hindu family during the lifetime of its manager in whose favour a bond has been executed, will not discharge the promisor from his liability under the bond. Rule as to co-heirs applied, and the rulings as to co-promisees considered, and cases reviewed. ANKALAMMA v. CHENCHAYYA (1917). . I. L. R. 41 Mad. 637

3. ———————— Mitakshara joint family—Power of adult co-parcener to appoint by will a guardian for minor co-parcener's property. Held by the Full Bench, that the only adult coparcener of a Mitakshara family consisting of himself and his minor co-parceners, is not competent to appoint a testamentary guardian to the co-parcenary properties of the minor co-parceners. Cases on the subject reviewed. CHINDAMBARA PILLAI v. RANGASWAMI NAICKER (1918) I. L. R. 41 Mad. 561

4. ———————— Sale by a co-parcener of specific lands—Sale by vendee to another, pending suit for partition in vendor's family—Allotment of different lands by the decree to the vendor—Co-parcener—Right of vendee's vendee to get lands of same value out of the lands allotted to vendor—Right to damages—Measure of damages. Even though a vendee of specific lands from a co-parcener of a Hindu family may be entitled to recover lands of equal value out of the lands allotted to his vendor in a subsequent partition in the family, a vendee from the first vendee has no such right his only remedy being to get damages from his vendor. In assessing damages the vendee is entitled to ask that they should be assessed at the present enhanced value of the lands. DHADHA SAHIB v. MUHAMMAD SULTAN SAHIB. (1921) I. L. R. 44 Mad. 167

HINDU LAW—CUSTOM.

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION (AMONG JAINS) . . I. L. R. 32 All. 247

1. ———————— Right to officiate at cremation ceremony—Moriporah Brahmin—Right to religious office, suit for, if maintainable in Civil Court—Exclusive right of a priest to officiate at ceremonies, if enforceable at law—Customary exclusive right to officiate at cremation if valid—Bengal Municipal Act (III B. C., of 1884), s. 259—Grant of exclusive license for sale of firewood, if ultra vires. Suits in which the principal question relates to the right to an office are suits of a civil nature and not the less so because the right claimed may depend upon the decision of questions as to religious rites and ceremonies. Krishnama v. Krishnasami, I. L. R. 2 Mad. 62 : s. c. L. R. 6 I. A. 120 ; Krishnaswami v. Krishnamacharyar, I. L. R. 5 Mad. 313, referred to. Where the plaintiff claimed a hereditary right to officiate exclusively as priest on the occasion of the cremation ceremony of all dead bodies brought for funeral to a particular place, the priest being paid for such service by a gratuity regulated by contract or custom : Held, that the suit could not be thrown out as not maintainable in a Civil Court. Muhammad v. Sayad Ahmed, 1 Bom. H. C. R. Appx. 18 ; Mamat Ram v. Bapu Ram,

HINDU LAW—CUSTOM—contd.

I. L. R. 15 Calc. 159 ; Kali v. Gouri, I. L. R. 17 Calc. 906 ; Dinanath v. Protap Chandra, 4 C. W. N. 79 : c. s. I. L. R. 27 Calc. 30 ; Tholoppala v. Venkata, I. L. R. 19 Mad. 62 ; Subbaraya v. Vedantachariar, I. L. R. 28 Mad. 23 ; Limba v. Rama, I. L. R. 13 Bom. 548 ; Gursangaya v. Tamana, I. L. R. 16 Bom. 281 ; Murari v. Suba, I. L. R. 6 Bom. 725 ; Sayad Hashim v. Husein Sha, I. L. R. 13 Bom. 429 ; Barsati v. Chamru, 4 All. L. J. R. 715 ; Chumma v. Babu, 7 All. L. J. R. 529, discussed. Under Hindu law, the exclusive right claimed by a priest to officiate at ceremonies of a family because his ancestors had before him performed similar ceremonies is not enforceable at law. Radha Kishen v. Sham Kissen, 2 Mac. Sel. Rep. 259 ; Chaurast v. Dewan Chand, 6 Mac. Sel. Rep. 182 ; Kali Churn v. Hurree Kisto, (1848) Beng. S. D. A. 532 ; Hurgobind v. Bhowanee, (1850) Beng. S. D. A. 296 ; Gour Dass v. Annund, (1849) Beng. S. D. A. 428 ; Rama Kant v. Gobind, (1852) Beng. S. D. A. 398, Roodurmun v. Damodar, 1 Hay 365 ; Madhub v. Mobeen, 5 W. R. 224 ; Becha Ram v. Thakurmani, 10 W. R. 114 ; 8 B. L. R. 58 ; Magju v. Ram, 15 W. R. 531, 8 B. L. R. 50 ; Lala v. Ganeshi, (1856) ; Agra S.D. A. 509 ; Hur Lall v. Jeo Rakhun, (1862) ; Agra S. D. A. 314 ; Beharee v. Baboo, 2 Agra H. C. R. 80 ; Chunnu v. Babu, 7 All. L. J. R. 529 ; Rama Krishna v. Ranga, I. L. R. 7 Mad. 424 ; Mooljee v. Nagmy, (1834) Bom. Sel. Rep. 116 ; Muncharam v. Amba, (1831) Bom. Sel. Rep. 159 ; Vithal v. Babablut, 1 Bom Pr. Jud. 471 ; Sitarambhat v. Sitaram, 6 Bom. H. C. R. 257 ; Vithal v. Anant, 11 Bom. H. C R. 6 ; Dino Nath v. Sadashiv, I. L. R. 3 Bom. 9 ; Waman v. Balaji, I. L. R. 14 Bom. 167, referred to. Where the plaintiff, a degraded Brahmin of the moriporah class, claimed the right to officiate at the cremation ceremony of all dead bodies brought to a particular ghat and proved that she and her father had officiated as such : Held, that the custom pleaded could not be recognised because, in the first place, it was not immemorial ; in the second place, it was not reasonable inasmuch as it tended to create a monopoly ; in the third place, because it was shown not to have continued without interruption since its origin ; and, fourthly, because it was uncertain in respect of the locality in which it was alleged to obtain and in respect of the persons whom it was alleged to affect. Tyson v. Smith, 9 A. & E. 406 ; 48 R. R. 539 ; Mercer v. Denne, (1904) 2 Ch. 534, 557 ; Johnson v. Clark, (1908), 1 Ch. 303, 311 ; Salisbury v. Gladstone, 9 H. L. C. 692, 701, Darcy v. Allen, 11 Coke 84 ; Hammerton v. Honey, 24, W. R. (Eng.) 603 ; Fitch v. Rawling, 2 H. Bl. 393, 399 ; 3 R. R. 425 ; Gell v. Mayor of Birmingham, 10 L. T. N. S. 497 ; Burial Board v. Thomson, 19 W. R. (Eng.) 892 ; Wood v. Burial Board, (1892) 1 Q. B. 713, referred to. GOURMANI DEBI v. CHAIRMAN OF PANIHATI MUNICIPALITY (1910) . . . . 14 C. W. N. 1057

2. ———————— Succession—Family custom in derogation of ordinary Mitakshara law governing the parties—Proof of custom—Wajib-ul-arzes—Entries in case in which there was no instance of custom ever having been observed—Entries showing contradictory views and wishes of individuals rather than fact of existence of a custom. In a family of Ahban Thakurs in Oudh, the respondent took possession on the death of his full brother of a share of an estate called Deokalia. The appellant, step-brother of the respondent and of the deceased,

HINDU LAW—CUSTOM—contd.

sued for a moiety of the share of the estate which had belonged to the deceased on the ground that by a custom in the family a step-brother was entitled to succeed equally with the full brother, supporting his case wholly by wajib-ul-arzes made 30 years before suit, the entries in which were admittedly made by the settlement officials after inquiries from the members of the family then living, and were duly attested and signed. The Court of the Judicial Commissioners found that, though there was no rebutting evidence, no instance was adduced in which the alleged custom had ever governed the devolution of the property and that besides the entries as to the custom the wajib-ul-arzes contained other entries in which contradictory views of the parties who attested them were expressed, and which afforded internal evidence against the existence of the alleged custom, and held that the entries in the wajib-ul-arzes were not, although unrebutted, sufficient proof of a custom in derogation of the ordinary Mitakshara law. Held, affirming the decision of the Judicial Commissioner, that no class of evidence was more likely to vary in value than that of wajib-ul-arzes—Muhammad Imam Ali Khan v. Husain Khan, I. L. R. 26 Calc. 81 : L. R. 25 I. A. 161, and Parbati Kunwar v. Chandarpal Kunwar, I. L. R. 31 All. 457 ; L. R. 36 I. A. 125,—and whereas here it seemed probable that the entries recorded connoted the views of individuals as to the practice they would wish to see prevailing, rather than the ascertained fact of a well-established custom, the Judicial Commissioners rightly attached weight to the fact that no evidence at all was forthcoming of any instance in which the alleged custom had been observed. ANANT SINGH v. DURGA SINGH (1910)

I. L. R. 32 All. 363

3. ———— Babuana and Sohag grants—Proof of Custom—Custom excluding females from succession in Darbhanga Raj family estate—Custom of exclusion not only from succession to Raj, but extending to succession in collateral branches of family—Custom effective notwithstanding partition had taken place in family branch. In a suit by one of two brothers in a junior branch of the family of the Darbhanga Raj (an estate governed by the rule of male lineal primogeniture) against the widow of the other brother for possession of her deceased husband's property, on the ground that widows were by the custom of the family wholly excluded from succession, not only to the Raj itself, but also in the collateral branches of the family :—Held, that there was on the evidence a valid custom established in the junior branch of the family to which the parties belonged that widows did not inherit babuana properties, and that the succession in the case of sohag grants was governed by the same custom as governed the succession in the case of babuana grants. The custom applied in this case notwithstanding a separation and partition of the property which had been effected between the plaintiff and his brother; and consequently on his brother's death the plaintiff became entitled to such of the estate of his deceased brother as consisted of babuana and sohag properties, together with accretions which had been made to the former property. Held, also, that the custom was strongly supported by instances in the family of widows, who would otherwise have been entitled to a Hindu widow's interest, having been excluded from, or not having claimed possession of property on the death of the husbands; and that the custom being proved to be well-established could not, under the circumstances, be defeated by the fact that in one instance as the evidence showed, it was not enforced. Words used in the babuana and sohag grants, "auras putra poutradi," were held not to be words of general inheritance which would include female as well as male heirs, but words of limitation consistent with the custom which excluded females from succession under babuana and sohag grants which could not be made under the ordinary Hindu (in this case the Mithila) law. Ram Lall Mookerjee v. Secretary of State for India, I. L. R. 7 Calc. 304 ; L. R 8 I. A. 46. EKRADESHWAR SINGH v. JANESHWARI BAHUASIN (1914) . . . . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 582

4. ———— Right to perform festival in a temple—Ubayakar—Right of married daughter. ... of proof. ... mple is a ... the holder ... ayakar or ... ne absence of proof of a special custom excluding females, entitled to exercise such right, although she has been married into another family. Tangirala Chiranjivi v. Raja Manikya Rao, 27 Mad L. J. 179, Raja Rajesuari Ammal v. Subramania Archakar, 30 Mad. L. J. 222, and Vengamuthu v. Pandavesuara, I. L. R. 6 Mad. 151, referred to. PANKAJAMMAL v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1916) . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 1108

5. ———— Forfeiture of maintenance right by widow not residing in the family dwelling-house—If applies when absence due to just and reasonable cause. Where the plea set up in defence to a suit for maintenance by a widow who had ceased to reside in the family dwelling-house was a family custom under which, it was alleged, a widow, unless she resided at the place appointed for her residence, forfeited her right to maintenance : Held, that such a custom, even if established, does not deal with the question of an absence from the appointed residence due to just and reasonable causes. BRAJA SUNDAR DEB v. SWARNA MANJARI DEI (1917)

22 C. W. N. 433

... properties, the principal Defendant claimed that succession in the family was governed by the rule ...

... the parties belonged were Chohan Rajpoots who had migrated from their original homes into the Nimar District in the Central Provinces : Held—That the presumption was that they carried with them to their new homes the customs and institutions to which they were subject in the land of their birth. That the evidence showed that the custom of primogeniture which the family brought with them continued to govern the family under the Mahomedan, the Marhatta and the British rules up to the present time, and that the existence of the family as an entity through so many centuries was mainly owing to this custom, and the theory favoured in the Judicial Commissioner's Court that after the head of the family ceased to be the holder of a hereditary fiscal office, the junior members must naturally assert themselves as share-holders according to the ordinary Hindu law which in consequence would displace the custom was based on a priori reasoning of a speculative character. The mere cessation of services to which watan lands are attached which are by custom impartible does not ordinarily destroy that custom. RANA MAHATAB SINGH v. BADAN SINGH.

HINDU LAW—CUSTOM—concld.

26 C. W. N. 226

6. ———————— Hindu law, customary law at variance with, if enforceable—Dhusars of Gurgaon, emigrating to the Central Provinces—Adoption of orphan, if valid. It is beyond question that, according to the law of the Mitakshara, as recognised by the School of Benares, an orphan cannot be adopted. It is also beyond doubt that in some parts of Northern India particularly in Districts now in the Punjab or adjacent to the Punjab, the strict rules of the Mitakshara, as recognised by the School of Benares, have not been followed by some castes, tribes and families of Hindus, and that customs which are at variance with that law have for long been consistently followed and acted upon and that when such customs are established, they, and not the strict rules of the Mitakshara with which they are at variance, are to be applied. They are found principally amongst the agricultural classes, but they are also to be found among classes which are not agricultural. The Dhusars of Gurgaon are governed in matters of adoption not by the orthodox Hidu law but by customary law: and the adoption of orphans by Dhusars being consistent with that customary law is valid. RAM KISHORE v. JAINARAYAN . . . 26 C. W. N. 882

7. ———————— Where a family is governed by the rule under which succession to an impartiable estate does not go to females. So long as the family remains united the burden of proving the family has ceased to be united lies on the person alleging it. RANI JAGADAMBA KUMARI v. THAKUR WAZIR N. SINGH. 2 Pat. L. J. 239

8. ———————— In dealing with the custom of an entire community it is more important to have regard to the history of the main body than to the history of the less important branches. Position of Baisi Chowrasi Gaddidas discussed. SHAHDEO NARAIN DAS v. KUSUM KUMARI . . . 5 Pat. L. J. 164

HINDU LAW—DAUGHTER'S ESTATE.

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE.

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 510

1. ———————— Decree for possession of father's estate obtained by daughter—Right of daughter's sons to execute such decree. The daughter of a separated Hindu obtained a decree for possession of her father's estate against certain trespassers. Before, however, she could obtain possession, she died and her sons applied for execution. Held, that the daughter represented her father's estate when she brought her suit for possession and that the persons who succeeded to the estate were entitled to execute the decree which she had obtained. MAHADEO SINGH v. SHEO KARAN SINGH (1913)

I. L. R. 35 All. 481

HINDU LAW—DAUGHTER'S ESTATE—concld.

2. ———————— Suit by unmarried daughter for possession of her father's property—Death of plaintiff—Right of married daughters to continue the litigation. A separated Hindu died leaving him surviving a widow and four daughters, three married and one unmarried. After the death of her mother, the unmarried daughter sued to recover possession of her father's estate, naming her three married sisters as pro formâ defendants. The plaintiff, however, died during the pendency of the suit. The three married daughters were then on their application transferred from the array of defendants to that of plaintiffs. Nevertheless the suit was dismissed upon the ground that it had abated by reason of the death of the original plaintiff. Held, that the suit should not have been dismissed. The original plaintiff represented the estate, and her sisters were entitled to continue the litigation which she had commenced. Mahadeo Singh v. Sheo Karan Singh, I. L. R. 35 All. 481, and Venkata Narayana Pillai v. Subbammal, I. L. R. 38 Mad. 406, referred to. Balak Puri v. Durga, I. L. R. 30 All. 49, not followed. JADUBANSI KUNWAR v. MAHPAL SINGH (1915)

I. L. R. 38 All. 111

HINDU LAW—DEBT.

See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION.

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY.

See HINDU LAW—MORTGAGE.

See HINDU LAW—SURETY.

1. ———————— Father's debts—Mitakshara—Son's obligation to pay costs awarded against father in litigation—"Danda"—"Not byavaharika." Certain persons who had applied for a succession certificate in respect of debts due to a deceased relative were successfully resisted in these proceedings by one L. They then sued L for a declaration of their right of heirship and the suit was decreed with costs against L. L who was living with his son and grandson as members of a joint Mitakshara family having died, the decree-holders sought to recover the amount of the decree from L's son and grandson: Held, on a review of the authorities, that L's son and grandson were bound to satisfy this decree. Per CHATTERJEE, J. Costs awarded by Court against a defeated litigant is not "danda" within the meaning of the text of Yajnavalkya quoted in Mitakshara, Ch. VI, s. 3, verse 47. Nor are they covered by the description "not vyavaharika" in the text of Ushanas referred to in Durbar Khachar v. Khachar Harsur, I. L. R. 32 Bom. 348. PARYAG SAHU v. KASI SAHU (1910)

14 C. W. N. 659

2. ———————— Limitation—Son not liable for Father's debt when barred—Contract Act, ss. 134, 151—Surety not discharged if claim against principal debtor allowed to become barred—Limitation Act, 1877, Sch. II, Art. 98. Undivided family property devolving on the son by survivorship is not 'the general estate' of the father within the meaning of Art. 98 of Sch. II, Limitation Act.

HINDU LAW—DEBT—contd.

1877, and a suit to recover from the son out of such estate the loss occasioned by his father's breach of trust is not governed by Art. 98. A son is not, under the Hindu Law, liable to pay a debt of the father which was barred against him. A debt, the recovery of which is barred by limitation, is not extinguished and the debtor is not, by reason of the bar of limitation discharged therefrom. The omission of the creditor to sue the debtor within the period of limitation is not an act, the legal consequence of which is the discharge of the debtor and such omission has not the effect of discharging the surety under ss. 134 and 137 of the Indian Contract Act. Carter v. White, 25 Ch. D. 666, referred to. Ranjit Singh v. Naubat, I. L. R. 24 All. 504, dissented from. SUBRAMANIA AIYAR v. GOPALA AIYAR (1909) . . . . I. L. R. 33 Mad. 308

3. ——— Defamation suit costs—Debts—Son's liability for father's debt—Money borrowed to defend a suit for defamation not an immoral debt. Held, that under the Hindu Law money borrowed by the father to defend a suit for defamation is a debt for which a Hindu son and grandson are liable. SUMER SINGH v. LILADHAR (1911) I. L. R. 33 All. 472

4. ——— Damages—Execution of decree—Decree against father for damages—Liability of son—Mitakshara Law—Immoral or illegal debt. A decree obtained by a person for damages on account of injury done to his crops, by the obstruction of a channel through which he was entitled to irrigate his lands, against one B, who was governed by the Mitakshara school of Hindu Law, could be executed on his death against his son, where it could not be said that the decree obtained was due to an act of the judgment-debtor, which was a wanton interference with the rights of the decree-holder, and that the liability imposed thereby on the judgment-debtor was an illegal or immoral debt. CHHAKAURI MAHTON v. GANGA PRASAD (1911)

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 862

5. ——— Unsecured debt, contracted by limited owner, when binding on estate——Will bind if made after due enquiry—Proof of due inquiry—Nature of right liable to be devested by adoption—Transfer of Property Act, s. 38. Unsecured debts contracted by a limited owner

[illegible]

to validate a claim against the estate in the hands of a manager applies in the case of all loans whether secured or unsecured. Representations by the borrower are evidence of the existence of such necessity but are not generally in themselves sufficient to discharge the burden which rests upon the creditor of showing a reasonable inquiry as to the binding nature of the purpose for which the loan is contracted. In particular circumstances, however, they may suffice to shift the burden of proof to the person impeaching the debt or alienation. If s. 38 of the Transfer of Property Act is deemed to enact a rule as to reasonable inquiry in excess of what is required by the Privy Council in Hanuman Persad's case.

HINDU LAW—DEBT—contd.

it cannot override the Hindu Law settled by the Privy Council. The estate of a person whose right is liable to be devested by an adoption is not analogous to a life estate. It is that of a limited owner who represents the estate. MAHARAJA OF BOBBILI v. ZAMINDAR OF CHUNDI (1910) I. L. R. 35 Mad. 108

6. ——— Widow's debts—Debt contracted by widow for necessary purposes binding, though no formal charge created. A debt contracted by a widow as representative of the estate, for the purposes of the estate will be binding on the estate in the hands of the reversioners, though no formal charge on the estate is created; when the creditor looks not to the personal credit of the widow but to her as representative of the estate and relies on the credit of such estate. Ramasamy Mudaliar v. Sellattammal, I. L. R. 4 Mad. 375, referred to. REGELLA JOGAYYA v. NIMUSHAKAVI VENKATARATNAMMA (1910)

I. L. R. 33 Mad. 492

7. ——— Buildings—Debt contracted by widow for constructing buildings not binding on estate—Compromise by widow not binding on reversioners, when advantage is secured at serious risk to estate—Decree on such compromise stands on no higher footing than the compromise—Dealing by

[illegible]

the debt will not be binding on the reversion. The question whether the holder of a woman's estate will be justified in building a house so as to bind her reversioners, assuming that she could do so at all, will depend on the income of the estate and her means of repaying the debt so as not to injure the reversion. A compromise by a widow of a valid claim against the estate will not bind the reversioners when a larger amount than is due is agreed to be paid in instalments, the whole of the larger amount however being payable on default of any instalment. An adjudication against a widow after a fair contest with respect to a matter relating to the estate represented by her, will be binding on those who succeed her as owners: but a decree passed on a compromise into which she enters will have no higher effect against her successors than a contract entered into by her. The reversioner, during the life of the female heir, has only a spes successionis or chance of succeeding if he survive her. Any transfer by him of such interest, is invalid. The power of a guardian is restricted, to the management of the minor's property and he cannot bind the minor by admissions which have no connection with the present management of the property, especially when made without receipt of any consideration on behalf of the minor. It cannot be assumed that a Court in sanctioning a compromise and passing a decree in pursuance of it, intended to do what was unlawful. Where such a decree directs the sale of a minor's property in which the minor had only a spes successionis as reversioner, it must be assumed that it directed the sale only of such interest as the minor then possessed in the pro-

HINDU LAW—DEBT—concld.

by father after partition—Son's liability on such note—Pious obligation to discharge father's debts, extent of. A Hindu son is not liable during his father's life-time on a promissory note executed by his father after partition in renewal of a note executed by the father before partition. The recent decision of the Judicial Committee in Sahu Ram Chandra v. Bhup Sing, L. R. 44 I. A. 126, does not overrule the long line of decisions as to the right of the creditor of a Hindu father to sue the father and the sons for an antecedent debt incurred by the father for purposes neither illegal nor immoral and to attach and to bring to sale the interest of the sons as well as of the father in execution of the decree in such a suit. Per KUMARASWAMI SASTRIYAR, J. The decision in Sahu Ram Chandra v. Bhup Sing, L. R. 44 I. A. 126, makes it clear that it is the primary duty of the father to pay debts incurred by him not for any family necessity but for his own purposes and that the pious duty of the son assuming that it arises at all during the life-time of the father, arises only if the father's share or his self-acquisitions are insufficient to meet the debts. PEDA VENKANNA v. SREENIVASA DEEKSHATULU (1917) . . . I. L. R. 41 Mad. 136

16. ———— Sale of family property—Under decree against father personally—Validity of such sale where debt not proved to be illegal or immoral—"the Antecedent debt." Where a Hindu father, in a Mitakshara family, contracted debts

)
e s
)

ing to which a creditor who has obtained a personal decree for money against a Mitakshara father is entitled to irety of the joint Das Mohant v.

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 341

17. ———— B, a Hindu ies, he .int mess with his brothers up to the age of 25 when the share of each would fully belong to him in title after vesting absolutely "in his sons and grandsons, etc." during the minority of his I the eldest son and B borrowed, from his brothers represented by the guardian with the permission of the District Judge for purchasing a residence,

I executed a security bond charging his property including his share of Tankhas. Held, that the or ligitimate be executed ...ALA MUKTI PROKASH NANDE v. SRIMATI ISWARI DEI DEBI. 24 C. W. N. 938

HINDU LAW—DEBUTTER.

———— Debutter absolute—Dasnami Gossain—Succession—Custom and usages of the community—Removal and appointment by punch—Punchnama—Stamp Act (II of 1899), Sch. I, Art. 7—Alienation by shebait without legal necessity—Permission of the District Judge obtained under s. 90 of Probate and Administration Act (V of 1881), by fraudulent misrepresentation, effect of—Purchasers no privy to the fraud but purchase with knowledge of such fraudulent misrepresentation. A, who belonged to the sect of "Giri" Dasnami Gossains, dedicated, by his will, the properties acquired by him to two deities. The will stated that all the properties, moveable and immoveable and the profits of the said properties would be deemed as the debutter properties of the two deities. It then provided for the succession to the office of the shebait who would carry on the sheba and perform other acts according to the customs and usages of the family, that none of the properties left by A would be liable to be sold or be subject to any charge for any debts contracted by the shebait or any that if any su be liable to be ing to law and that if any shebait became extravagant or were found guilty of any grave offence by the punch of the community he would be removed from office After A's death probate was obtained by his chela who on his death was succeded by his chela B. B made a will by which he appointed defendant No. 1 shebait after his death On B's death defendant No. 1 obtained probate of his will, contracted debts and obtained permission under s. 90 of the Probate Act to sell certain properties which B sold to several purchasers. Other Gossains of the same community assembled and having found defendant No. 1 guilty of misconduct excommunicated him and by a punchanama removed him from shebaitship and appointed the plaintiff as shebait. The plaintiff brought this suit for recovery of possession of the properties alleged to be debutter after setting aside the alienations thereof: Held, that the will of A created an absolute debutter. Ashutosh Dutt v. Doorga Charan Chatterji, I. L. R. 5 Calc. 438, distinguished. Held, that the parties belonged to the order of sanyasis governed by the rules of the community to which they belonged. The ordinary rules of inheritance in their entirety could not apply to such persons, for, although the succession was through chelas, any question as to preference between chelas (when it was not provided for by the guru) might be decided by the customs and usages of the community and the representatives of the community were the proper persons to decide such ty of a roperties ... absolute debutter and the succession to the office of shebait would be governed by the rules laid down by the creator of the endowment and in their absence by the punch of the community, who would naturally be the proper persons to decide the question what constituted grave offence or acts contrary to custom or usages of the family. Held, that when a member of the punch was unable to attend on account of his illness or being on pilgrimage the other members of the punch could act. MOHESH CHANDRA ROY v. GOSSAIN GANPAT GIR (1916) 23 C. W. N. 401

———— Debutter—Transfer of pala apart from debutter; Transfer of pala inter vivos to two persons—Validity. A custom authori-

HINDU LAW—DEBUTTER—concld.

sing the transfer by a shebait of his pala only and with it the right to the offerings without at the same time transferring the interest in the debutter property appertaining to the pala is not established by evidence of transfers which passed both the pala and the property. A transfer of the pala apart from the property is not beneficial to the deity. The severance of a pala of worship by transfer by the shebait inter vivos to two persons is not beneficial to the trust. NITYA GOPAL BANERJI v. NONILAL MUKHERJI

24 C. W. N. 309

HINDU LAW—ENDOWMENT.

See HINDU LAW—RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT

See LAND ACQUISITION.

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 33

1. ———— Limitation—Adverse possession—Dispute between senior and junior chelas as to succession to Hindu maths—Ekrarnama alloting one math to senior chela in perpetuity and the other to junior chela as adhikari—Suit instituted within twelve years from senior chela's death, but 27 years from date of ekrarnama—Hindu Law—Endowment. The Mohant of the temple of a Hindu idol who was in possession of two maths, one at Bhadrak and the other at Bibisarai, died leaving two chelas, or disciples, between whom a controversy arose as to the right of succession to the maths and the property annexed to them. The dispute was settled by an arrangement embodied in an ekrarnama, dated 3rd of November 1874, executed by the senior chela in favour of the junior chela, by which the math at Bhadrak was allotted in perpetuity to the senior chela and his successors, while the math at Bibisarai and the properties annexed to it were allotted to the junior chela (described therein as an adhikari) and his successors for the purposes connected with his math, subject to an annual payment of Rs. 15 towards the expenses of the Bhadrak math. Less than twelve years after the death of the senior chela, but considerably more than that period after the date of the ekrarnama, the appellant, the successor of the senior chela, brought a suit against the junior chela to recover possession of the properties annexed to the Bibisarai math, on the allegation that they were debutter property dedicated to the worship and service of the plaintiff's idol, and held by the respondent (representing the junior chela) as an adhikari in charge of the Bibisarai math and asserting it to be a math subordinate to the Bhadrak math :—Held (affirming the decision of the High Court) that the property dealt with by the ekrarnama was, prior to its date, to be regarded as vested not in the Mohant, but in the idol, the Mohant being only its representative and manager, and consequently that from the date of the ekrarnama the possession of the junior chela, by virtue of its terms, was adverse to the right of the idol, and of the senior chela as representing that idol, and that the suit was barred by limitation. DAMODAR DAS v. LAKHAN DAS (1910)

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 885

2. ———— Alienation of endowed property—Power of shebait to grant lease in perpetuity at a fixed rent—Limitation Acts (XV of 1877), Sch. II, Art. 134 and (IX of 1908), Sch. I, Art. 134—Bonâ fide Purchaser—Purchaser of ab-

HINDU LAW—ENDOWMENT—contd.

solute title—Privy Council, practice of—Review of former decision. In a suit brought by the Raja of Panchakote as the shebait of certain Hindu deities to recover possession of debutter property, which had been alienated, more than 12 years before the institution of the suit, by the plaintiff's predecessor in title, who had granted a mokurari lease of the property in consideration of a fixed lent, and payment of a fine equal to two years' rent. Held (reversing the decision of the High Court), that the suit was not barred by limitation under Art. 134 of Sch. II of Act XV of 1877, the lessees (defendants) not being the purchasers of an absolute title, and therefore not "purchasers" within the meaning of that article. Abhiram Goswami v. Shyama Charan Nandi, I. L. R. 36 Calc. 1003 : L. R. 36 I. A. 148, followed. The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council are averse from reviewing, on an ex parte application, a considered decision in a former case delivered after full argument. ISHWAR SHYAM CHAND JIU v. RAM KANAI GHOSE (1911) . . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 526

3. ———— Proof that grant was for bonâ fide public religious purpose—Debutter—Dealings with the property and income—Separate collection by persons jointly interested as shebaits—Bequest of properties both endowed and secular—Breaches of trust—Alienation of property and diversion of income—Evidence—Admissibility—Copy of sanad—Decision of revenue authorities in lakheraj resumption proceeding under Reg. II of 1819—Rent decrees recovered on behalf of Thakur—Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 13—Shebait's line, failure of—Reverter of office to donor. In order to prove that certain lands form the subject of a valid public endowment it must be established that an absolute grant was made with the intention that the profits should be applied for the services of the idol, and to establish the bonâ fide character of the endowment, it must be proved that the profits have since been so applied, and the members of the family of the founder have not treated property as one, the profits of which were mainly intended to be applied for their benefit. Keshe-shuree Dassee v. Krishna Kaminee Debia, 2 Hay's Report 557 ; Gunga Narain Sircar v. Brindabun Chandra Kur Chowdhry, 3 W. R. 142 ; Ram Pershad Das Adhikaree v. Sri Huree Dass Adhikari 18 W. R. 399 ; Sonatun Bysack v. Srimati Jugut Soondari Dassi, 8 Moo. I. A. 66 ; Ashutosh Dutt v. Doorga Charan Chatterjee, I. L. R. 5 Calc. 438 referred to. A document which was found to be a copy of a sanad of 1775 which itself did not purport to be the deed of grant by which the endowment was constituted, but merely referred to the fact that the grant had been made and was recognised by the executive authorised was properly admitted in evidence on proof of proper custody. The statement in Budh Singh Dhudhuria v. Niradbaran Roy, 2 C. L. J. 431, that the question whether the lands had been absolutely dedicated for a public charitable purpose was wholly foreign to the enquiry and indeed beyond the jurisdiction of the revenue authorities, in a proceeding under Reg. II of 1819, goes too far. Where the decision in such a proceeding that certain lands are rent-free proceeded on grounds based on allegations that the lands were dedicated as public debutter, the decision would not be conclusive evidence of the validity of the grant, but would at all events be evidence to show that a claim to hold the land rent-free on that ground was put forward at that time by the shebait and was on that account admitted by the revenue authorities. When the family of the shebait appointed by the founder died out, the shebaitship would, in the natural course, revert to a member of the family of the original grantor. Sital Das Babaji v. Protap Chandra Sarma, 11 C. L. J. 2, referred to. The mere fact that two branches of the family of the shebait each collected a half

HINDU LAW—ENDOWMENT—contd.

[illegible] rty did

[illegible] secular

[illegible] of such half shares of the rent from the tenants on behalf of the Thakur were properly admitted in evidence under s. 13 of the Evidence Act. The fact that a shebait devised the endowed property along with his secular properties went no further than to indicate that he purported to bequeath his right

[illegible]

sions of the profits [illegible] to other purposes in recent years also did not affect the validity of the grant as debutter. Held, on the entire evidence, that the endowment in this case was not of a private character and that the members of the family of the original grantor had not resumed the property endowed and converted it into secular property. MADHUB CHANDRA BERA v. SARAT KUMARI DEBI (1910)

15 C. W. N. 126

4. ———— Gift in favour of an idol which is to be subsequently consecrated—Possession given to manager. By a deed of gift certain zamindari property was expressed to be given to the idol, which was not at the time of execution in existence, and possession of the property was made over to a certain person as pujari. Held, that the deed was valid and created a trust in favour of the idol. Mohar Singh v. Het Singh, I. L. R. 32 All. 337, and Bhupati Nath Smrititirtha v. Ram Lal Moitra, I. L. R. 37 Calc. 128, referred to. CHATARBHUJ v. CHATARJIT (1911)

I. L. R. 33 All. 253

5. ———— Gift void for uncertainty—Gift in favour of "the Thakurji in his Thakurdwara"—No temple built or idol installed. Held that a dedication, not to any particular deity which was subsequently to be installed in a temple, but to "the Thakurji in his Thakurdwara" without mentioning the particular Thakurji to whom the property was dedicated, was void for uncertainty. Bhupati Nath Smrithitirtha v. Ram Lal Moitra, I. L. R. 37 Calc. 128, Mohar Singh v. Het Singh, I. L. R. 32 All. 337 and Chaturbhuj v. Chatarjit, I. L. R. 33 All. 253, distinguished. PHUNDAN LAL v. ARYA PRITHI NIDHI SABHA (1911) . I. L. R. 33 All. 793

6. ———— Debutter,—private consensus of co-sharers—If may change character of treatment of property as secular, effect of—Partition of property by shebait if converts property into secular—Legal conversion, proof of. Where a private debutter had been partitioned between members of the family for the better enjoyment thereof and there had been sales and mortgages of portions of the property by some members but there was nothing to show that there was a consensus to give the property a different turn: Held, that the original debutter character of the property being established these facts did not operate to destroy its debutter character. Doorga Nath v. Ramo Chandra, I. L. R. 2 Calc. 341, referred to. Per CHATTERJEE, J.—A partition of debutter property for the purpose of convenience of the user for the sheba is not a violation of the trust for the sheba of the property. Per JENKINS, C. J.—Where the original debutter character of a property is found in a suit to establish such character against one who claims under an original shebait, lies upon the defendants to show the subsequent legal conversion of the land to the ordinary user of the property. Juggut Mohecnee v. Rajendra Nath, 10 B. L. R. 19, 81, referred to. DHARMA DAS MANDOL v. GOSTA BEHARY MANDOL (1911) . . . . . 16 C. W. N. 29

7. ———— Shebait, office of—Succession

[illegible]

ing disciple): Held, that upon a proper construction of the document there was nothing to prevent one disciple from succeeding a co-disciple in the line of the original shebait. GOPAL CHANDRA CHAKRABARTY v. RADHARAMAN DAS BABAJI (1911) . . . . . 16 C. W. N. 108

8. ———— Right of succession to shebaitship of temple belonging to Ballavacharya Gossains—Evidence of dedication—Claim of persons incompetent to be sebaits (as being Bhats) of Ballav temple disallowed as defeating the purpose for which the founder established the worship—Title—Proof of independent title to succession as shebait. In a suit for possession and the right of sebaitship of a temple belonging to the Ballavcharya Gossains founded by one Muttuji, the maternal grandfather of the plaintiffs (appellants),

[illegible] hat the [illegible] alleged

[illegible] ns were

[illegible] ld, that, apart from positive testimony on the point, the performance of the worship of the idol in accordance with the rites of the sect for whose benefit it was held, might be treated as good evidence of dedication, and the ordinary rule of Hindu law relating to the descent of private property was not applicable. Held, also, that the rule that the heirs of the founder succeed to the sebaitship laid down in Gossamee Sree Greedhareejee v. Romanlalljee Gossamee, I. L. R. 17 Calc. 3; L. R. 16 I. A. 137, was, as there implied, subject to the condition that the devolution in the ordinary line of descent is not inconsistent with or opposed to the purpose the founder had in view in establishing the worship. In the present case the appellants being Bhats, and not belonging to the Gossain kul, were not competent to be shebaits of a Ballav temple where the rites were performed according to the Ballav ritual, which, it was clearly established, they could not perform. To allow their claim would defeat the purpose for which the worship was established. Held, further, that the respondent had established an independent title of his own to the temple as being the nearest male relative of Muttuji, both being descendants of two full brothers. The idol in the temple was brought from his temple at Nathdwara, and the worship founded by Muttuji was an off-shoot of the worship at Nathdwara. The temple was also built on land belonging to the Tekait respondent with the permission of his ancestor, who held the office of Tekait at the time. He had therefore a clear title according to the customs and usages of the Ballav kul to the sebaitship of the temple. MOHAN LALJI v. GORDHAN LALJI MAHARAJ (1913)

I. L. R. 35 All. 283

9. ———— Idol, mutilation of—If terminates endowment—Consecration of new idol, effect of—Land given for worship of idol—Grantee if bound to apply proceeds for service of new idol—Statement partly against one's interest and partly self-regarding—Admissibility. When an image is mutilated or destroyed the religious purpose does not come to an end, and a new image may be established and consecrated in order that it may be worshipped as intended by the original founder. Where the site where an image which was established by an ancester of the plaintiff was forty years before the suit washed away and the image itself was broken to pieces, but continued to be worshipped in that condition out of the profits of some land made over by the ancestor of the plaintiff to an ancestor of the defendant for that purpose, and the plaintiff having now established and consecrated a new image under the same name in a new temple in the same village, called upon the defendant to perform the worship of the image out of the profits of the land, and the defendant having refused, plaintiff brought this suit to compel the defendant to perform the worship and in the alternative for ejectment: Held, that upon these facts the plaintiff was entitled to a decree for ejectment. A statement by a predecessor of the defendant that the land had been given in order that the income might be applied for the worship of the grantee's family idols and also of the image established by the plaintiff's ancestor, was admissible against the defendant to prove that the land was given for the purpose of the image, but not in his favour to prove that it was given for the worship of the defendant's family idols. BIJOY CHAND MAHATAP v. KALI PADA CHATTERJEE (1913) . 17 C. W. N. 1013

10. ———— Endowment for worship of an image—Destruction of image, how it affects endowment. An endowment of land, the income of which is meant to be applied for the purposes of the service of an image of Shiva, is not affected by the destruction or mutilation of the image. The religious purpose survives the destruction or mutilation. A new image may be established and consecrated in order that it may be worshipped as intended by the original founder. Purna Chandra Bysack v. Gopal Lal Sett, 8 C. L. J. 369, and Bhupati Nath Smrititirtha v. Ram Lal Maitra, I. L. R. 37 Calc. 128, referred to. A tenure dedicated to the service of an image of an idol comes to an end if the person entrusted with the worship repudiates his obligation in that behalf. Hurrogobind Raha v. Ramratno Dey, I. L. R. 4 Calc. 67, and Ansar Ali Jemadar v. Grey, 2 L. J. C. 403, followed in principle. BIJOYCHAND MAHATAB v. KALIPADA CHATTERJEE (1913)

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 57

11. ———— Mahant of a Temple—Mahant appointing a married man and father of children to be Mahant—Abdication by Mahant of his functions—Right of his senior chela to succeed him. In this appeal the question was whether the appellant who claimed to the senior chela of the first respondent, the late mahant who had retired, or the second respondent who claimed to have been appointed by him, was entitled to succeed him as the mahant of the Patepur asthal or muth. On this question their Lordships of the Judicial Committee held (reversing on the evidence the decision of the High Court) in favour of the appellant, mainly on the ground that the second respondent was a married man who had not on initiation renounced his worldly ties and the begetting of children, and was not an ascetic or bairagi chela, but was disqualified from holding the office of mahant. As to the nature, object, custom, and practice of such a religious institution. Sammantha Pandara v. Sellapa Chetti, I. L. R. 2 Mad. 175, was referred to. The question as to who had the right to succeed to the office of mahant depended according to the well-known rule in India, not on the general customery law, but upon the custom and usage of the particular muth. Mahant Ramanooj Doss v. Mahant Debraj Doss, 6 S. D. A. (Beng.) 262, Greedharee Doss v. Nundkissore Doss, 11 Moo. I. A. 405, Muttu Ramalinga Setupati v. Perianayagum Pillai, L. R. 1 I. A. 209, and Raja Vurmah Valia v. Ravi Vurmah Kunhi Kutti, I. L. R. 1 Mad. 235; L. R. 4 I. A. 76, referred to. On the question as to the second respondent being a married man, on which the Courts below had differed, their Lordships were of opinion that the verdict given by the Subordinate Judge who had the advantage of seeing and hearing the witnesses, could not be lightly set aside, especially as that Judge was also presumably acquainted with the manners and customs of the people among whom such a transaction was alleged to have occurred. There were, moreover, no sufficient grounds stated by the High Court for disturbing that verdict. Having themselves investigated the facts, their Lordships held that the rule—of attaching weight to the opinion of the Judge of first instance —could not safely be departed from in the present case. Though the deeds appointing the second and third respondents to be successively mahants were ineffective the former being not competent to hold the office, and the latter having died, the first respondent, could not, in their Lordships' opinion, be considered to be still the mahant. He had abdicated all his functions, and had himself retired from the office. A mahant was not only a spiritual preceptor, but a trustee in respect of the asthal. He had by appointing a married man and father of children to the office consented to a violation of those vows of asceticism and celibacy which it was his duty as a trustee to maintain and protect. His abdication must therefore be accepted as a fact in the case. A vacancy in the office had therefore been created which under the circumstances would devolve upon the appellant who was found to be senior chela and was not alleged to be incompetent to be mahant. RAM PRAKASH DAS v. ANAND DAS (1916)

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 707

12. ———— Sadhak or disciple of deceased mahant—Election by a majority of

HINDU LAW—ENDOWMENT—contd.

the dasnam bhik (ten classes of mendicants) assembled for purpose of such election—Separate election by faction of dasnam bhik. An election of a mahant of ten classes of and effectual · of the dasnam bhik assembled for that purpose. A separate election by a faction of the dasnam bhik is not a valid and effectual election. In this case which related to the election of a mahant to a temple at Hardwar, called Akhara Baba Sarwan Nath, both the appellant (plaintiff) and respondent (defendant in possession of the math property) claimed to have been duly elected on the same day, the 24th of February, 1905 (being the terwin, the 13th day ceremony after the death of the late mahant) their Lordships of the Judicial Committee (affirming the decision of the High Court, which had reserved that of the Subordinate Judge), Held that on the evidence and under the circumstances of the case, the appellant, who claimed to be the sadhak (disciple) of the deceased mahant, had failed to prove that he had been duly elected mahant of the temple. On the other hand there was large body of evidence in support of the respondent (the sadhak of a former mahant) whose election and also the bhandara or feast usual on the occasion had taken place within the temple which was customary, whereas the election of, and the feast given by, the appellant took place outside the temple; that a majority of the persons present at the election of the respondent who were qualified to elect a mahant voted in favour of the respondent; that in point of numbers and influence the respondent received more support than the appellant; and that there was no attempt on the part of the respondent to conceal (as the appellant alleged he had done) the arrangements he had made for the occasion. As it had not been shown that these points had been wrongly decided by the High Court, their Lordships dismissed the appeal. LAHAR PURI v. PURAN NATH (1915) . I. L. R. 37 All. 298

13. ——— Shebait—Nature of debutter grants, where grantee is to enjoy properties from generation to generation on performance of sheba of the goddess—Permanent leases by grantee, validity of—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 99—Ambiguity—Evidence. In the construction of ancient grants and deeds, evidence is admissible as to the manner in which the thing granted has always been possessed and used, for so the parties thereto must be supposed to have intended. Weld v. Hornby, 7 East 197; 8 R. R. 608. Rex v. Osbourne, 4 East 32, followed. The Court may call in aid acts under the deed as a clue to the intention. Doe v. Ries, 8 Bing. 181, followed. This principle does not apply unless there is an ambiguity. Attorney-General v. The Corporation of Rochester, 5 DeG. M. & G, 832, followed. Consequently, while in a case of ambiguity the Court will uphold that construction of a deed which justifies a long usage as to the application of trust funds, the Court will not, where there is no ambiguity, accept an erroneous interpretation though consistent with usage, so as to sanction a manifest breach of trust. Drummond v. Attorney-General, 2 H. L. C. 837, followed. If there is a deed which says, according to its true construction, one thing you cannot say that the deed means something else, merely because the parties have gone on for a long time so understanding it. Sadlier v. Biggs, 4 H. L. C. 435, followed. Where two ancient debutter grants by one of the Maharajas of Pachete were held to be ambiguous, the properties having been given to the grantee who was to enjoy them from generation to generation on performance of the sheba of the goddess, and in 1829 the successors of the grantee gave two permanent leases to the predecessors in interest of the plaintiffs: Held, that in those circumstances the Court might determine the true character of the endowment from the manner in which the dedicated properties had been held and enjoyed. That the properties in dispute were not absolute debutter properties of the goddess, but were the personal properties of the grantees subject to the charge of the worship of the goddess. Ganga v. Brindaban, 3 W. R. 142, Madan v. Kamal, 8 W. R. 42, referred to. That the permanent leases had become indefeasible by lapse of time. Jagamba Goswamini v. Ram Chandra Goswami, I. L. R. 31 Calc. 314, Damodar Das v. Lakhan Das, I. L. R. 37 Calc. 885; L. R. 37 I. A. 147, as explained in the case of Madhu Sudan Mandal v. Radhika Prosad Das, 16 C. L. J. 349, followed. KULADA PROSAD DEGHORIA v. KALI DAS NAIK (1914) . . . . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 536

14. ——— Construction of deed of endowment—Deed contended to be invalid as being not a real dedication to idol—Appointment of members of donor's family as mutawallis—Deed held valid as creating an endowment. The question in this appeal was as to the construction of a deed of endowment executed and registered by a Hindu on the 20th of July, 1898. In a suit after his death to set aside the deed, the appellants, as next reversioners, claimed that no valid endowment had been created, or was intended to be created by it. Their Lordships in dismissing the appeal distinguished the cases of Sonatan Bysack v. Juggutsoondree Dossee, 8 Moo. I. A. 66, and Ashutosh Dutt v. Doorga Churn Chatterji, I. L. R. 5 Calc. 438; L. R. 6 I. A. 182, cited in support of the appellants' contention, on the ground that, although nominally there was a gift to the idol, that gift was so cut down by subsequent disposition that there was no gift to the idol such as to make the property pass as an absolute and entire interest in his favour. Held, that there was no such cutting down in the present case. There was in the beginning a clear expression of an intention to apply the whole estate for the benefit of the idol and the temple, and the rest of the disposition was only a gift to the idol by a direction that of the whole estate which had already been given, one half was to be applied for the upkeep of the idol itself, and the repair of the temple, and the other half was to go for the upkeep of the mutawallis. There was no reason why the donor should not nominate the members of his family as the mutawallis of the temple, and he had done so. And there was nothing in that which militated against the property of his earmarking a certain part of the money to remunerate them as managers so long as they should so continue. By the registration of the deed the executant showed that it represented an intention which he desired to treat as carried into execution. JADU NATH SINGH v. THAKUR SITA RAMJI (1917) . . I. L. R. 39 All. 553

15. ——— Debt, contracted by head of adinam—Onus of proof of necessity—Suit to recover

HINDU LAW—ENDOWMENT—contd.

money, borrowed on mortgage of endowed property—Recognition of debt binding the property by successive heads of institution—Account books not produced. The appellant sued to recover money advanced on a mortgage bond dated 4th November 1897 to the head of an adinam or mutt, and to enforce the mortgage against the property of the mutt which was hypothecated as security for the loan. The deed was for Rs. 20,000, the balance of principal and interest due on a former bond of 24th June 1883, and it stated that "the bond is granted as was the former one over the lands belonging to the adinam." The bond of 1883 had been executed for the sum of Rs. 14,946 for the balance due on a promissory note, and recited that it was "for the expenses of the aforesaid adinam." And the promissory note for the original loan stated that "the sum received by us to-day in cash for the expenses of our adinam is Rs. 14,000." That was taken in December 1881 shortly after the termination of some litigation necessary in the interests of the adinam. The binding nature of the debt was recognized by successive managers of the mutt who paid from time to time interest on the money and other amounts towards the discharge of the debt over a period of 26 years. Held, that though the onus was on the lender to show that the loan was made for the purposes of the mutt and was a necessary expense of the institution itself, yet where the debt had been so recognized as binding, and dealt with on that basis, their Lordships were of opinion that there was a sufficient body of evidence that the loan was made for purposes binding on the mutt: and there was no evidence to the contrary. In favour of this view, it was an important fact that the account books of the mutt were not produced in which it is the habit of the head or manager to make entries with much detail and elaboration forming a current record on the financial side of the history of the institution. The parties to a suit should bring before the Court their best evidence; and when it is not produced the Court is justified in concluding that it would, if brought into Court, not support the case of the party omitting to produce it. MURUGESAM PILLAI v. MANICKAVASAKA PANDARA SANNADHI (1917)

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 402

16. ——— Power of shebait to grant permanent lease of endowed property—Necessity—"Benefit to estate"—Lease at fixed rent—Some principles apply to building site in village street as to agricultural lands—Question as to existence of ancient custom—Question of mixed law and fact—Concurrent findings—Privy Council, practice of—Error in form of finding of custom. In this appeal it was held by their Lordships of the Judicial Committee that the grant, at a fixed rent, and on payment of a premium of a permanent lease by a shebait of a portion of the lands dedicated to the worship of the idol of which he is a trustee, was invalid as against his successor in the shebaitship, as in their Lordships' opinion, the evidence did not establish that the shebait was constrained by any necessity to make such a lease, or that any benefit accrued to the estate from it. Devosikamony Pandara Sannadhi v. Palaniappa Chettiar, I. L. R. 34 Mad. 535, affirmed. Where, as in this case, there is no deed of endowment forthcoming, the rules, according to which the endowed property and its income are to be dealt with in order to carry out the intention of the original endower, can only be ascertained by inference from the practice proved by evidence to have been followed in the particular case: Ram Parkash Das v. Anand Das, I. L. R. 43 Calc. 707, 716 ; L. R. 43 I. A. 73, 78, referred to. The rules must not be inconsistent with or repugnant to the very nature and purpose of the endowment. Both the worship of the idol and the preservation and use of the dedicated property to support and maintain that worship must be assumed to have been intended to be perpetual. A rule therefore which authorized the shebait arbitrarily at his own wish and pleasure to alienate any of the dedicated property would be so repugnant to the whole purpose and objects of the endowment that it could not be held to embody the original endower's intention. A debutter estate may be mortgaged to secure the repayment of money borrowed and applied to prevent its own extinction by sequestration. Hunooman Persad Panday v. Babooee Munraj Koonweree, 6 Moo. I. A. 398, 423, 424, Prosunno Kumari Debya v. Golab Chand Baboo, L. R. 2 I. A. 145, 151, 152 ; 14 B. L. R. 450, 469, and Konwar Doorganath Roy v. Ram Chunder Sen, I. L. R. 2 Calc. 341, 352, 353 ; L. R. 4 I. A. 52, 62, 64, referred to. In these cases there was to be found no indication as to what was in this connection, the precise nature of the things to be included under the description "benefit to the estate": and no definition of it applicable to all cases can be given. It is a breach of duty on the part of a shebait, unless constrained by an unavoidable necessity, to grant a lease in perpetuity of debutter lands at a fixed rent however adequate that rent may at the time of granting, by reason of the fact that by this means the debutter estate is deprived of the chance it would have, if the rent were variable, of deriving benefit from the enhancement in value, in the future, of the lands leased. Maharanee Shibessouree Devia v. Mothooranath Acharjo, 13 Moo. I. A. 270, 275, Mayandi Chettiar v. Chokalingam Pillay, I. L. R. 27 Mad. 291, 299 ; L. R. 31 I. A. 83, 88, and Abhiram Gossami v. Shyama Charan Nandi, I. L. R. 36 Calc. 1003, 1013 ; L. R. 36 I. A. 148, 165, referred to. These cases dealt with agricultural lands, but there was no reason why the principles they establish, should not apply to a building site in the street of a village as in the present case. No authority had been cited to show that a shebait is entitled to sell debutter lands solely for the purpose of investing the price of it so as to bring in an income larger than that derived from the debutter land itself. Questions of the existence of an ancient custom are questions of mixed law and fact. Although therefore the two Courts had purported to find that a local custom modifying the law had been proved, there were no such concurrent findings of fact as according to the practice of the Board it was bound to accept. Neither of the Courts below, moreover, had stated its conclusion in a form which amounted to a finding that any ancient custom such as modified the law existed in the locality. PALANIAPPA CHETTY v. DEVASIKAMONY PANDARA SANNADHI (1917) . . . . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 709

17. ——— Power of head of mutt to grant permanent lease—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Art. 134—Permanent lease, a transfer within the article. Although the head of a mutt is entitled to appropriate part of the income of the properties of the mutt to his own maintenance, he is only a trustee in respect of those properties, and he is ordinarily incompetent to grant a permanent lease of the mutt properties. A permanent lease for an annual rent is a transfer for a valuable consideration within Art. 134 of the Limitation Act (IX of 1908) and the transferee acquires an indefeasible title to the permanent lease by possession for 12 years as provided by the article. Knowledge that the title of the transferor is only a limited one cannot by itself disentitle the transferee to the benefits of Art. 134. Ram Parkash Das v. Anand Das, I. L. R. 43 Calc. 707, Subbaiya Pandaram v. Mahammad Musthapa Maracayar, Appeal No. 13 of 1916, and Ram Kani Ghose v. Raja Sri Hari Narayan Singh Deo Bahadur, 2 C. L. J. 546, followed. BALASWAMY AYYAR v. VENKATASWAMY NAICKEN (1916) . . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 745

HINDU LAW—ENDOWMENT—contd.

18. ———— Guardian of minor Mahant of Math—Power of disposition over Asthal property and acquisitions thereout and income thereof—Debts of Mahant when binds Math—Suit to set aside sale by successor. The whole assets of an Asthal or Math are vested in the Mohant as the owner in trust for the institution; and although large administrative powers are undoubtedly vested in the reigning Mahant, the trust does exist and must be respected. Held, that in this case a village L, attached to the Asthal, was endowed property subject to the trust set out in the grant, and all acquisitions with the income thereof were subject to the same trust A guardian of a minor Mahant has no larger powers of disposition over endowed property than the actual Mahant. In the absence of a necessity which would make the debts contracted by him binding on the institution, the Mahant has no power to alienate its properties for the purpose of discharging those debts, and if the Asthal was not liable for such debts his successor would be clearly entitled to have the sales set aside. A fortiori the same considerations apply to the dealings of the guardian of a minor Mahant, and the latter can sue to have the guardians' sales set aside on the same grounds. BASUDEO ROY v. MAHANT JUGAL KISHWAR DAS (1918) 22 C. W. N. 841

19. ———— Dedication for worship of God without naming the deity—Uncertainty. Under the Hindu system of law, a general endowment for the worship of God without giving the name of the deity for whose benefit the endowment is to take effect, is void for uncertainty. Phundan Lal v. Arya Prithinidhi Sabha, I. L. R 33 All. 793, followed. Bhupati Nath Smritiirtha v. Ram Lal Maitra, I. L. R. 37 Calc. 128, Mohar Singh v. Het Singh, I. L. R. 3 All. 337, and Chatarbhuj v. Chatarjit, I. L. R. 33 All. 253, distinguished. CHANDI CHARAN MITRA v. HARIBOLA DAS (1919) . . . I. L. R. 46 Calc. 951

gious institution may by the usage and custom of the institution vest in trustees other than its spiritual head. In any case the property is held solely in trust for the purposes of the institution; surplus income must be added to the endowment and not applied for the personal enjoyment of the trustee or trustees. The respondent, the head of a math, sued the appellants for possession of a village forming part of its endowment. The evidence showed that for a period of eighty years trustees, represented by the appellants had had possession and management of the village and had applied the income to the purposes of the institution: they were recorded as trustees in an Inam Register of 1864, which mentioned the assent of the zamindar, for whose predecessors the original title to the land had flowed:—Held, that the respondent had no title to the village, further, that the appellants' possession was adverse to him and that the suit was barred by limitation. In the absence of actual and authentic evidence asto the history of a math, the utmost importance attaches to information set forth in an Inam Register. ARUNACHELLAM CHETTY v. VENKATACHALAPATHI GURUSWAMIGAL (1919)

L. R. 46 I. A. 204

21. ———— Custom and usage of mutt—Adverse possession—Limitation. This appeal arose from a suit brought by the respondent "to declare that the defendants" (appellants) "have no right to the village of Patharakudi, and that the plaintiff as head of the mutt is entitled to the possession of the village, and to receive the income of the same from the hands of the receiver." The village was part of the property of the mutt, and had been for a long time in the possession of, and under administration by, the defendants, who were Nagara Chetties, as hukdars, trustees and managers, though the head of the mutt appointed in 1867 was the plaintiff, who made his claim by virtue of that office, and alleged that the defendants held the position of trustees as his agents. The defence was that the defendants and their predecessors, who had held the village for about 80 years, not for their own advantage but for the benefit of the mutt, were entitled to be continued in possession and management of it; and that the suit was barred by limitation. The respondent proved no management by the defendants as his agents. On the contrary, there was documentary evidence strongly in favour of the defendants which the Judicial Committee accepted as proof of their long possession and proper management. Held, that the plaintiff was not entitled to the village in suit On the evidence he had entirely failed to prove his right to possession either by himself or the defendants as his agents; nor was his right to possession supported by the history of the land. The general state of the law with regard to religious institutions in India is that the nature of the ownership is an ownership in trust for the institution itself. The settled rule of administration is that it must be not for personal use but entirely for and on behalf of the interests of the mutt; and that while the ownership is generally with the spiritual head of the institution, such property may be held by the usage and custom of the mutt by the trustees and managers, and that by the usage and custom in this case as disclosed by the evidence the ownership of the village was in the defendants. Ram Parkash Das v. Anand Das (1916) I. L. R. 43 Calc. 707 (P. C.); L. R. 45 I. A. 73; Sethuramaswamiar v. Meruswamiar (1918) I. L. R. 41 Mad. 296 (P. C.), L. 45 I. A. 1: and Sammantha Pandara v. Sellappa Chetti (1879) I. L. R. 2 Mad 175, approved. Held, further, that the possession of the defendants therefore in their own right was adverse to the plaintiff, and the suit was consequently barred by limitation. Balwant

HINDU LAW—ENDOWMENT—concld.

Rao v. Puran Mal (1883) I. L. R. 6 All. 1; L. R. 10 I. A. 20, referred to. As to the surplus income it is the duty of a trustee to refrain from personal enjoyment of it, and to add it to the capital of the estate administered and this law applies also to the property of a mutt or asthal, whether the title is in the gurukkal as spiritual head, or in the trustees according to the custom and usage of the institution. ARUNACHELLAM CHETTY v. VENKATA-CHALAPATHI GURUSWAMIGAL (1920)

I. L. R. 43 Mad. 253

22. ———— Right of Trustee of Hindu Religious endowment to possession—Of endowed property—Madras Regulation VII of 1817, s. 12—Religious Endowments Act (XX of 1863), ss. 3 and 4—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Sch. I, Art. 141—Possession adverse to Trustee. The property of an endowment may consist partly or wholly in the right to enjoy the revenues of property which is in the possession of persons who have the right and the duty to manage the property, collect the revenue and hand it over when collected to be used in the proper manner for the purposes of the endowment. Such persons may even have certain rights of apportionment of the revenue so handed over by them among the several purposes of the endowment. All this is compatible with there being a general trustee of the whole endowment including the revenues when so collected and handed over. But in such a case the general trustee would not be entitled to the possession of the properties out of which this portion of the refenue comes. His rights do not commence until after the collection of the revenues by and under the management of those who hold possession. Possession would be in the hands of those entitled to manage these special properties and their pospossession would be adverse to his. The appellant in this case claimed to be hukdar or trustee of the Thanappa Mudali Kattalai, an endowment for the performance of certain ceremonies in a temple at Madura, and to be entitled to the possession of four villages forming part of the endowment. The villages came into the possession of the East India Company in 1801 and remained in their possession until 1849, when the general manager of the temple, was placed by the Company in possession. Since 1849 the villages were in the hands of the said manager and his successors, the respondents, the whole of the revenue had been used for the purposes of the endowment (including the expenses of the temple) according to the directions of the temple manager, and the temple committee. Held, in a suit brought in 1908 by the appellant for possession of the villages, that the possession of those who had held the villages from 1849 was possession adverse to the appellant and his predecessors in title and that the suit was barred by limitation. AMBALAVANA PANDARA SANNIDHI v. MEENAKSHI SUNDARESWARAL DEVASTANAM OF MADURA (1920

I. L. R. 43 Mad. 665

HINDU LAW—EXECUTION OF DECREE.

—————————— Daughters in possession of their father's estate—Payment made by one daughter out of income of property—Decree obtained for recovery of money so paid—Death of decree-holder before execution—Who entitled to execute the decree. Whilst two sisters, daughters of a separated Hindu, were in possession of their father's property, one of them made certain payments out of the income of that property in order to save from sale for arrears of Government revenue other property, which belonged to the sons of the other sister and to certain cousins of theirs. Subsequently she obtained a decree against the persons on whose behalf she had made by payments above-mentioned, but died before she executed it : Held, that the person entitled to execute this decree was not the surviving sitster, but the legal representative (or representatives) of the decree-holder. Isri Dut Koer v. Hansbutti Koerain, I. L. R. 10 Calc. 324, referred to. SITA RAM v. DULAM KUNWAR (1918) I. L. R. 41 All. 350

HINDU LAW—FAMILY SETTLEMENTS.

See FAMILY SETTLEMENT.

——————————One D. R. on the death of his wife laid claim to certain property formerly the property of his wife's father and which had been given to the wife by her mother. The mother and surviving sister in order to avoid litigation relinquished a substantial portion of the property to D. R. Held, on a suit by the Reversioners entitled to succeed on the death of the survivor of the two ladies that there had been no valid family settlement. HIMMAT BAHADUR v. DHANPAT RAI.

I. L. R. 38 All. 335

HINDU LAW—GIFT.

See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION.

1. ———— Gift by Hindu widow to daughter—Gift of immoveable property to daughter at "gowna" or "dwiragaman" ceremony—Post-nuptial gifts—Reversionary heirs. It is competent to a Hindu widow governed by the Mitakshara law to make a valid gift of a reasonable portion of the immoveable property of her husband to her daughter on the occasion of the daughter's gowna ceremony : and such a gift is binding upon the reversionary heirs of her husband. CHURAMAN SAHU v. GOPI SAHU(1909) I. L. R. 37 Calc. 1

2. —————————— Gift made by Hindu widow with consent of next reversioners—Suit by more remote reversioners to set aside the gift—A gift by Hindu widow, who succeeded to the separate estate of her deceased husband, of such estate is not valid and does not create a title which cannot be impeached by the remoter reversioner because it has been made with the consent of the next reversioner. Ramphal v. Tula Kuari, I. L. R 6 All. 116, followed. Bajrangi v. Manokarnika Bakhsh Singh, I. L. R. 30 All. 1, distinguished. Rani Anund Koeri v. The Court of Wards, L. R. 8 I. A. 14, referred to. BAKHTAWAR v. BHAGAWANA (1910) I. L. R. 32 All. 176

3. —————————— Widows' estate—Gift by a female to her daughter—Right of daughter's heir—Acceleration of estate. The widow of a sonless separated Hindu, in possession as such of her husband's property made a gift thereof in favour of her daughter. The donee predeceased the donor, and the donor remained in possession of the property the subject of the gift. Held, that no action by the donee's heir to recover possession would lie during the donor's life-time. Bhupal Ram v. Lachma Kuar, I. L. R. 11 All. 253, referred to. RUP RAM v. REWATI (1910)

I. L. R. 32 All. 582

4. ———— Gift of land by daughter for deceased father's spiritual benefit—When valid

HINDU LAW—GIFT—contd.

Held, that the gift was in accordance with Hindu ideas as regards the daughter's duty in connection with the performance of a father's sraddha on such an occasion and cannot be impeached by the reversioners. It cannot be laid down as a rule that to justify the alienation the expenditure should be for a spiritual necessity. It is sufficient if the gift or expenditure have reference to the spiritual needs of the father or husband whose property is taken. VUPPULURI TATAYYA v. GARI MILLA RAMAKRISHNAMMA (1910)

I. L. R. 34 Mad. 288

5. ———— Gift to daughter by father—Gift valid whether made at or after marriage. There is a moral obligation on a Hindu father to make a gift to his daughter on the occasion of her marriage. A gift by a father to his daughter of a small portion of ancestral immoveable property is binding on the undivided family, whether such gift is made at or after the daughter's marriage. SUNDARARAMAYYA v. SITAMMA (1912)

I. L. R. 35 Mad. 628

[illegible] sister's son. Held, that a gift of her deceased husband's estate made by a Hindu widow in poss[illegible] sister's son [illegible] opera-tive [illegible] Baj-rang. [illegible] I. L. R. 30 All. 1, discussed. ABDULLA v. RAM LAL (1911) . . . . I. L. R. 34 All. 129

7. ———— Gift to the illegitimate son of an undivided collateral co-parcener—Not ancestral property as between the donee and his son. Property given for maintenance to the illegitimate son of an undivided deceased collateral co-parcener is not "ancestral property" of the illegitimate son in which the son of that illegitimate son gets a right by birth. Nagalinga Pillai v. Ramachendra Teven, I. L. R. 24 Mad. 429, and Hazarimal Babu v. Abaninath, 17 C. L. J. 38, distinguished. KRISHNASWAMI NAIDU v. SEETHALAKSHMI AMMAL

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 1029

8. ———— Gift to unborn person—Validity of—Settlement deed in 1889—Gift to daughter for life, then to her unborn children, effect of—Alienation by daughter—Suit by adopted son of settlor—Right of reversioner to sue—Hindu Transfers and Bequests Act (Mad. Act I of 1914)—Suit decided before the Act—Act passed pending appeal—Act, if applicable to the appeal—Power of Appellate Court in passing decrees on appeal—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. XLI, r. 33—Declaratory decree, nature of—Discretion of the Court in such cases. A Hindu executed a deed of settlement in 1889 by which he demised some properties to his daughter, "in order that she may enjoy them during her lifetime and that after her they should be enjoyed with all rights by her sons and daughters who may be alive"; the daughter alienated some of the properties in 1907; the plaintiff, the adopted son of the settlor, claiming to be the nearest reversioner filed a suit in 1912 for a declaration that the alienations were without necessity and not binding on the reversioners. He impleaded the settlor's daughter as the first defendant, and her daughter, born in 1889, as the second defendant, and the alienees as the other defendants. The Hindu Transfers and Bequests Act (Madras Act I of 1914) came into operation during the pendency of the appeal in the lower Appellate Court. Both the Lower Courts dismissed the suit. Held, on second appeal, (i) that the Hindu Transfers and Bequests Act (I of 1914) was retrospective in its operation and was applicable to this case; (ii) that the gift in favour of unborn children of the daughter of the settlor was valid; (iii) that consequently the plaintiff was not the nearest reversioner entitled to maintain the suit; (iv) that the rule that a remote reversioner can sue if the nearest reversioner is a female is inapplicable when the latter is entitled to an absolute estate; (v) that there was no collusion between the first and the second defendant by reason of the fact that the latter's guardian put forward an alternative contention on a point of law setting up an absolute title in favour of the first defendant; (vi) that the authority of an Appellate Court is not limited to determining the question whether the original Court was right according to the law in force at the date of its judgment, but was entitled to pass such decree or order as was in accordance with any later enactment which came into operation subsequent to such date. Kanakayya v. Janardhana Padhi, I. L. R. 36 Mad. 439, and Govinda Parama Guruvu v. Dandusi Prudhanu, 20 Mad. L. J. 528, referred to; and (vii) that a declaratory decree is a matter of discretion and when there was already one and there might be more than one preferential heir before the plaintiff, the discretionary relief could be properly refused. MUTHUSWAMI AYYAR v. KALYANI AMMAL (1916)

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 818

9. ———— Gift for religious purposes by Hindu widow—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. XXVI, r. 1—Commission to examine witnesses. It is not competent to a Hindu widow to make a religious gift of the whole or practically the whole of her husband's property for the religious benefit of her husband. The Courts should not allow witnesses to be examined on commission without adequate reasons. Per SHAH J.—In view of the accepted doctrine that the widow's powers to disposition are restricted as regards the property particularly immoveable property inherited from the husband in cases governed by the Mitakshara, I do not think that Vijnaneshvara's silence on this point can be properly used as an argument in favour of the unlimited powers of the widow to make a gift of the immoveable property of her husband for a religious or a spiritual purpose. The rule of this point is not a special rule of any particular school of Hindu Law, but is one of general application, and must be accepted as applicable to cases under the Vijavahara Mayukha.

PANACHAND CHHOTALAL v. MANOHARLAL NANDLAL (1917) . . . . I. L. R. 42 Bom. 136

10. ———— Gift to Hindu female—Construction of document—"Malik mustaqil." A Hindu being the full owner of certain property, made a gift thereof to his widowed daughter-in-law, describing the donee in the deed as malik mustaqil. There was no circumstance to counter-indicate that the donor intended that the donee should take less than the full estate in the property comprised in the deed. Held, that the donee took all the estate of the donor. Surajmani v. Rabi Nath Ojha, I. L. R. 30 All. 84, referred to. NAULAKHI KUNWAR v. JAI KISHAN SINGH

HINDU LAW—GIFT—contd.

I. L. R. 40 All. 575

11. ———— Gift of lands to an idol—By a Hindu for 'pious purposes' without a deed, validity of—Binding nature of the gift on members of a joint Hindu family. A dedication of a small portion of the joint Hindu family lands to an idol of a temple by the father or manager of the family on the occasion of the funeral of a deceased member, is not by the law of India required to be in writing and is valid and binding on the other members of the family as a gift ordained 'for pious purposes.' RAMALINGA CHETTY v. SIVACHIDAMBARA CHETTY (1918)

I. L. R. 42 Mad. 440

12. ———— Gift to Agradani Brahmins—position of—Gift to—Title to offerings to the dead at a sradh when vests in Agradani Brahmin—Acceptor of such gifts if liable for damages. Agradanis are a class of degraded Brahmins who accept gifts of certain prohibited things at sradh ceremonies. Held, on a consideration of the texts, that Agradani Brahmins have no vested interest in things given away at a sradh ceremony. Before they acquire any title, the things must be given and accepted. Where an Agradani Brahmin was invited to a sradh and accepted the offerings of food meant for disembodied spirits, but at the time of the distribution of valuable offerings a third party interfered and under his advice the things were made over to the defendants who were other Agradani Brahmins who had not officiated as such at the sradh but who were not themselves alleged to have interfered in the distribution: Held, that the defendants acquired a valid title in the things by the gifts of the person performing the sradh and the plaintiff had no legally enforcible claim against him. Assuming that the plaintiff had any claim for remuneration on account of the religious services performed by him as against the person inviting him, they had no cause of action against defendants. HARI CHURN AGRADANI v. SASTI CHURN AGRADANI (1910)

14 C. W. N. 1005

13. ———— Agrahar gift—Private religious gift to Brahmins—Condition necessitating residence treated as recommendatory and not enforceable at law—Alienation by a donee not residing in the village—Validity of the alienation—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), ss. 10 and 11. An Agrahar gift of certain lands and a house was made to a donee and his descendants entitling him to enjoy the lands, reside in the house, and perform the six-fold religious duties. It was further enjoined that the donee should not abandon his house and go to another place and enjoy his Vritti given to him in connection with the Agrahar from that place. If the donee acted in contravention of the above provision, his conduct should be considered an act of irreligiousness; and the gift should be revoked and granted to another fit person. The donee complied with the above conditions for some years but eventually went to another village to live and sold the lands, and the house. In a suit by the alienee to recover arrears of rent for the lands, a question having arisen whether the alienation was valid. Held, that the Agrahar gift was a private gift to the

HINDU LAW—GIFT—contd.

donee and an absolute gift according to law; that the further provision as regards residence in the same village was only a recommendation and an appeal to the religious conscience of the donee and his descendants; and that as a condition it was not valid and enforceable in law. Held, accordingly, that the alienation was valid. Anantha Tirtha Chariar v. Nagamuthu Ambalagaren (1881) 4 Mad. 200, referred to. RUKHMINIBAI v. LAXMIBAI (1919) . . . . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 304

14. ———— Deed of gift by widow and next reversioner—Transfer of a spes successionis—Gift challenged by the reversioner after widow's death—Invalidity of gift so far as reversioner's interest concerned—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 6. One K died leaving a widow G, a son B and two daughters P and J. On B's death G became his heir. In 1891 G and one of the daughters P gifted away two properties to defendants Nos. 1 to 4, sons of the deceased daughter J, purporting to convey these properties by G as the life tenant and by P as the next reversioner. In 1911 G having died, P filed a suit to recover the property from the donees under the gift of 1891, on the ground that the deed against her was invalid as it conveyed her chance of surviving G and succeeding to the property as reversioner. Both the lower Courts dismissed the suit. On appeal to the High Court. Held, that the deed of gift to defendants Nos. 1 to 4 was good only as regards the life interest of G and was bad as regards the transfer of P's chance of succession, under s. 6 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. BAI PARVATI v. DAYABHAI MANCHHARAM (1919).

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 488

15. ———— "Appointed daughter"—Description of daughter as putrika in deed of gift by father, whether amounts to appointment—Liability of appointed daughter for father's debts. Where, by a deed of gift inter vivos, a sonless Hindu father conveyed an absolute interest in his property to one of his daughters and the donee was described in the deed as putrika and her descendants as putrika putra, held, that the deed did not operate as an appointment of the donee as a son to the donor. Held, also, that even if the Mitakshara Law did apply to the donee as putrika she would only become joint with the farher during his lifetime if the property was ancestral and then only would the joint property be available to discharge his debts. The custom of appointing a daughter to raise issue to a sonless father is obsolete. Even though such a custom should be established it is doubtful whether all the duties and obligations imposed on a Hindu son, under the Mitakshara Law to discharge the debts of his father would apply or attach to a daughter appointed as putrika. Quære: whether she would have been liable, has she acquired othe property from her father. BABUI RITA KUAR v. BABU PURAN . 1 Pat. L. J. 581

16. ———— Joint ancestral property—Mitakshara, ch. 1, ss. 27, 28 and 29—Gift of portion by one member for pious purposes—Circumstances in which such gift is valid. The second and third of the circumstances stated in para. 28 of Ch.1 of the Mitakshara as justifying a transfer of joint ancestral property by one member of the family are not governed by the preceding words "in a time of distress"; but there are three separate and distinct exceptions. Thus the gift of a portion of the joint ancestral property made by one member of the family for pious purposes is valid, though not made in a time of distress. The term "pious purposes" as used in para. 28 does not necessarily mean indispensable duties, such as the obsequies of the father, etc., mentioned in para. 29. Gopal Chund Pande v. Babu Kunwar Singh, 5 S. D. A., L. P., 24, and Raghunath Prasad v. Govind Prasad, I. L. R. 8 All., 76, referred to. SRI THAKURJI v. NANDA AHIR . . I. L. R. 43 All. 560

HINDU LAW—GIFT——contd.

HINDU LAW—GRANT.

———————— Property granted to owner of office when partible—Conduct of parties in determining nature of property—Acquisition of property by holder of office—Charities, devolution of holder, the grant will be deemed to be a personal grant and will be ordinary partible property. The conduct of a person who deals with property as if it belonged to himself and his undivided co-parceners will be strong and cogent evidence that the property belongs to the co-parcenary. The recognition by Government and public officers of such property as ordinary partible property will be strong evidence of its partibility. It is competent to holders of offices to acquire properties for the benefit of themselves and their descendants and there is no presumption that such acquisitions are for the benefit of the office, where it is not shown that such properties were treated as attached to the office. The right of management of family properties devoted to charities ordinarily descends to the heirs of the donor except in the few cases where the office is descendible to a single heir. According to well-established usage and custom, the enjoyment of the office of manager is divided between the different mebmers or branches of the divided family. Ramanathan Chetty v. Murugappa Chetty. I. L. R. 27 Mad. 192, referred to. SETHURAMASWAMIAR v. MERUSWAMIAR (1909) I. L. R. 34 Mad. 470

———————— Grants made of properties for non-religious and for religious and charitable liable to partition—Charities not liable.—Grants of the property in suit had been made by the Raja of Tanjore from time to time to the ancestor of the parties a holy man whom the Raja brought to Tanjore as his guru. Some of the grants were for non-religious purposes and others for religious and charitable purposes in connexion with a trust founded when the guru came to Tanjore; and the propert

membe eldest of the a suit b

to have partition of the non-religious properties, and as to the religious and charitable properties Courts in India), that there was nothing in the HINDU LAW—GRANT—contd.

documentary evidence (the original grants, and confirmatory inam grants made by the Government after the escheat of the Tanjore Raj) or in any of the other circumstances of the case to take the descent of the properties out of the ordinary rule of inheritance, and they were therefore liable to partition. The objects for which the religious and charitable properties were given were described in the grants as being for the purpose "of perpetually conducting a food chatram near the tomb of a holy man, and in one case of making an agrahar by building houses round the holy place." Held (reversing the decision appealed from), that there was sufficient indication in the grants and in the surrounding circumstances of the case that a devolution of the management to the heirs of the original donee was inconsistent the subject of partition, but being indivisible among the members of the family, and the principles to be applied being those laid down in Jafar v. Aji, 2 Mad. H. C. R. 19 and Trimbak v.

in question. SETHURAMA-MIAR (1917) . . . I. L. R. 41 Mad. 296

HINDU LAW—GUARDIAN.

See PENAL CODE, s. 361 I. L. R. 42 All. 146

———— Right of Hindu Mother to select daughter's Bridegroom—

See GUARDIANSHIP. I. L. R. 1 Lah. 164

1. ———————— Guardian of a minor's person and property—Natural guardians, who are —Rights of parents, elder brother and direct male and female ancestors—Paternal aunt, not a natural guardian—King's rights, paramount—Recourse to Court, necessary, if no natural guardian alive—Alienation by de facto guardian—Setting aside, if necessary—Suit or possession—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Art. 44 or 144, applicability of. Under the Hindu law, nobody else than the father and the mother of a minor (with probable exceptions in favour of the elder brother and the direct male and female ancestors) is entitled as a matter of natural right to be and to act as a guardian of a minor's person and property; consequently a paternal aunt is not a natural guardian of a minor. Where there is no natural guardian alive, recourse must be had to the Court as representing the rights of the King which are paramount to even the rights of the parents, for the appointment of a guardian. Alienations without necessity, made by a de facto guardian, need not be set aside. Art. 44 of the Limitation Act (IX of 1908) does not apply to alienations by unauthorised guardians. THAYAMMAL v. KUPPANNA KOUNDAN (1914) . . . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1125

2. ———————— Mother of infants intending to become and make her boys Christian—Fitness to be Guardian—Bad character not proved—Undertaking not to baptise children—Associating Hindu uncle in guardianship.—D, the uncle of two fatherless Hindu boys aged 7 and 5 years respectively, applied to be appointed their guardian, alleging that their Mother S, was a woman of bad moral character and had made up her mind to adopt the Christian religion and to get her sons baptised. The first allegation was not established. Held, that he charge of immorality though not proved, made it impossible for S, to live with the family who made the charge must be taken into consideration in passing orders on the petition. That S's expressing a desire to become a Christian or even becoming one would in itself be no ground for removing her from the guardianship, provided she was in a position to satisfy the Court that she was able to carry out the obligations which the law imposed upon her of bringing up her children in the faith of her husband, whatever the faith she herself might adopt. It was proved that she had expressed her intention to convert her sons to Christianity, but her counsel having given an undertaking that she would not baptise her children, the Court passed order appointing her guardian of the minors' person and property, associating in the guardianship the uncle D, who would as such guardian be in a position to set that S's undertaking to bring up the children in the Hindu faith was properly carried out. The older boy was ordered to be placed at once as a boarder in a Hindu hostel which, though attached to the Church Missionary Society, was conducted in conformity with Hindu religious views, the younger boy being also ordered to be similarly placed when he should attain the age of 7 years until which time he was to live with S, liberty being given to D to apply to the District Judge whenever a breach of the undertaking was apprehended. DWIJAPADA KARMAKAR v. MISS BAILEAU (1915)

HINDU LAW—GUARDIAN—contd.

20 C. W. N. 608

3. ———————— Guardian and minor—Alienation by guardian not compelled by necessity but dictated by prudence, if binding. The guardian of a minor is not limited only to making such disposition of the latter's property as he is compelled to make by necessity. Whether what he did was or was not for the benefit of the minor and as such binding on the latter was determined in this case by asking what would have been the probable result if the guardian had not taken the steps he did take; and as it appeared that bigger sacrifices would have become inevitable if the steps in question had not been taken, the transaction was upheld as that of a prudent administrator. ISHANI DASI v. GANESH CHANDRA RAKSHIT (1918) . . . 23 C. W. N. 858

4. ———————— Person to be appointed. No person other than the father or mother has an absolute right to the guardianship of a Hindu minor. In the absence of father and mother the relation who is nearer in the view of the Hindu Law should be preferred. LACHMI NARAIN v. BALARAM SAHAI . . . 2 Pat. L. J. 190

5. ———————— Will—Father's power to appoint guardian by will. A Hindu father can by word or writing nominate a guardian for his children, the nomination taking effect after his death. He is unrestricted in the choice of a guardian, and may exclude even the mother from the guardianship. Soobah Doorgah Lal Jha v. Raja Neelanund Singh, 7 W. R., C. R., 74, and Albrecht v. Bathee Jellamma, 22 M. L. J., 247, referred to. DEBA NAND v. ANANDMANI.

I. L. R. 43 All. 213

HINDU LAW—HEREDITARY PRIEST.

———————— Office of hereditary priest—Yajman vritti—Nibandha—Caste can appoint a priest—Grant from King not necessary—Removal of priest not allowed except on valid ground—Caste—Caste question—Bombay Regulation II of 1827—Civil Court—Jurisdiction. Under Hindu Law, the office of hereditary priest (yajman vritti) is a nibandha and is ranked among the hereditary rights of immoveable property. The office of hereditary priest, where it is held in relation to a family, owes its origin, continuance, and binding character to custom and not to a grant from the King or agreement between the parties. Where the office is one of hereditary family priest, the mere fact that in any individual case it has been created originally by the caste for the purposes of families belonging to it cannot affect it, because the office carries with it a hereditary right in the nature of property, and the incumbent cannot be deprived of it by anyone, unless he has becom e a patita (outcaste) or has declined to officiate. The caste in such a case makes the selection for the families of its members; and when any family accepts the officiator as its hereditary family priest, custom annexes to the office certain incidents in the nature of civil rights as against the family, which neither the family nor the caste has power to annul except on the ground of some offence under the Hindu Law, committed by the officiator, or of refusal by the officiator to discharge his duty as family priest. Where a caste has appointed a man to a mere priestly office, there is doubtless no right of property conferred. His continuance or removal is exclusively within the competence of the caste and it is a caste question. But it is difficult where the office of hereditary priest is created for the performance of religious ceremonies in certain familes, provided, according to Hindu Law, either the caste or the families have power to create such an office and give it the character of immoveable property. GHELABHAI GAVRISHANKAR v. HARGOWAN RAMJI (1911) . . . . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 94

HINDU LAW—HUSBAND AND WIFE.

———————— Acquisition of property by husband and wife—Joint-trade—Property, joint—Wife's interest—Stridhanam—Power of disposition—Death of wife—No survivorship to husband—Devolution on her heirs—Suit in ejectment—Decree for joint possession, if, can be given. Where certain properties were acquired with the profits earned by a husband and his wife (who were Hindus) in a trade which was carried on by both of them: Held, that the properties were under the Hindu law the joint properties of the husband and the wife, and her interest therein was her stridhanam which on her death did not survive to her husband but devolved on the heirs to her stridhanam property. Property acquired by a woman by her own exertions during converture is her own property which she is entitled to hold independently of her husband and it devolves on her heirs on her death. Though the suit be one in ejectment, a decree for joint possession may be passed in favour of the plaintiff. MUTHU RAMAKRISHNA NAICKEN v. MARIMUTHU GOUNDAN (1914)

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1036

HINDU LAW—ILLEGITIMACY.

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE.

———————— Illegitimate son, Mitak-

HINDU LAW—ILLEGITIMACY—contd.

shara, Chap. I, s. 12—Dasi-putra, meaning of—Illegitimate son of a Sudra, share taken by him in father's property. The word dasi-putra as used in Mitakshara, Chap. I, s. 12, which provides for the illegitimate son of a Sudra getting half of the share of a legitimate son in father's property, has a much wider meaning than a son begotten on a female slave, and if a Sudra governed by the Mitakshara law has a permanent, continuous and exclusive concubine who lives as a member of his family, she is a dasi and his illegitimate son by her who is himself brought up as a member of the family is a dasi-putra within the meaning of the rule laid down in the Mitakshara. Jogendra Bhupati v. Nityananda Man Singh, I. L. R. 17 A. 128 : I. L. R. 18 Calc. 151, Rahi v. Gavinda, I. L. R. 1 Bom. 97, Sadu v. Baiza, I. L. R. 4 Bom. 37, Krishnayyan v. Muttuswami, I. L. R. 7 Mad. 407, Har Govinda v. Dharam, I. L. R. 6 All. 329, Karuppannan v. Bulokan, I. L. R. 23 Mad. 16, Seshgiri v. Girewa, I. L. R. 14 Bom. 282, Ramkali v. Jamba, I. L. R. 30 All. 508, Sarasuti v. Mannu, I. L. R. 2 All. 134, Inderan v. Ramswami, 3 B. L. R. P. C. 1 ; 13 Moo. I. A. 141, Meenakshi v. Appakuti, I. L. R. 33 Mad. 226, Annaayyan v. Chinnan, I. L. R. 33 Mad. 366, referred to. Ram Saran v. Tek Chand, I. L. R. 28 Calc. 194, distinguished. CHATTURBHUJ PATNAIK v. KRISHNA CHANDRA PATNAIK (1912) . . . 17 C. W. N. 442

———————— The illegitimate son of a Kshatriya by a Sudra woman is not a Sudra but a higher caste called Ugra Brindarana v. Radhamani I. L. R. 12, Mad. 72, followed. JWALA SINGH v. SARDAR . I. L. R. 41 All. 631 ———————— Among Sudras illegitimate sons divide the property with ligitimate sons and the mother is entitled to a share. MANOHARAM BHIKU PATIL v. DATTU.

I. L. R. 44 Bom. 166

HINDU LAW—IMPARTIBLE ESTATE.

See CUSTOM. . . 1 Pat. L. J. 109

See IMPARTIBLE ZAMINDARI.

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE.

1. ———————— Hindu Law—Impartible estate—Question whether an estate alleged to be a raj was partible or impartible—Question of fact whether estate was a raj—Concurrent decisions of Courts in India—Privy Council, practice of—adoption—joint power to two widows to adopt—Power exercised by surviving widow—Construction of will—No provision for the death of one or two joint donees—No power in Court construing will to make by its interpretation any addition to testamentary dispositions. In the absence of a sanad under Madras Regulation XXV of 1802, the regulations of that year do not affect the title to any land. Collector of Trichinopoly v. Lekkamani, L. R. 1 I. A. 282, 306, followed. The acceptance

Case, I. L. R. 28 Mad. 508, 515 : s. c. L. R. 32 I. A. 261, 266, followed. Unless there be an existing estate with other incidents which a sanad in common form under Madras Regulation XXV of 1802 can operate to confirm, such sanad will confer on or confirm in the grantee an estate descendible according to the ordinary rules of inheritance of the Hindu Law. Raja Venkata

HINDU LAW—IMPARTIBLE ESTATE—contd.

Rao v. Court of Wards, I. L. R. 2 Mad. 128 : s. c. L. R. 7 I. A. 38, followed. In order to establish that any estate is descendible otherwise than in accordance with the ordinary rules of inheritance of the Hindu Law, it must be proved either that it is from its nature impartible and descendible to a single heir, or that it is so impartible and descendible by virtue of a special family custom. Baboo Ganesh Dutt Singh v. Maharajah Moheshur Singh, 6 Moo. I. A. 164, 187, followed. The nature of the estate, and existence or otherwise of a special family custom are questions of fact to be determined on the evidence in each case, Mallikarajuna v. Durga, I. L. R. 13 Mad. 406 : s. c. L. R. 17 I. A. 134, followed. In a case in which the question was whether the estate of Nidadavole in the Kistna district of the Madras Presidency, which was the subject of a sanad in common form under Madras Regulation XXV of 1802, was partible or impartible, the appellant contended that the grantee had, at and prior to the date of the sanad, an estate of the nature of a raj or principality, and therefore impartible, but he did not rely on any special family custom, Held (on the above principles), that the question whether the prior estate was of the nature of a raj or not was a question of fact to be determined on the evidence, and that where both Courts in India had concurrently found it was not a raj but was partible, those findings ought not, according to the practice of the Board, to be disturbed unless they were shown to be not justified by the evidence. Allen v. Quebec Warehouse Company, L. R. 12 A. C. 101, 104, followed. Their Lordships, after considering the evidence, so far from being so satisfied, were not prepared to say that they should not have come to the same conclusion on that point. The appeal was therefore dismissed A Hindu of the Sudra caste by his will made the day before his death in 1864, after bequeathing his estates to his two widows gave them the following power of adoption ; "You should adopt a boy who is our sannihita (one closely related) whenever it strikes that our samastanam (family) should continue." This power was not exercised whilst both widows were alive, but by the survivor of the two widows in 1890. Held, without deciding the question of the validity or otherwise, under the Hindu law, of a joint power of adoption (for the proper determination of which their Lordships were of opinion that the materials in this case were insufficient) that the will gave to the widows jointly the power to adopt a son should occasion arise which in their opinion made it desirable to do so : but only one of the widows could receive the boy in adoption so as to step into the position of being his adoptive mother. On a conside [illegible]

stances there [illegible]

fied their Lor[illegible] of the will with regard to the adoption in any special way arising from the fact that the testator was a Hindu ; [illegible] ain meaning of th[illegible] of the power was [illegible] joint donees, and it was clearly the law that in such a case the death of one of the donees put an end to the joint power ; not by virtue of any peculiar doctrine of English law, or series of English decisions, but flowing from the nature of a joint power. The case was different when the power vested not in specific persons, but in the occupants for the time being of a specified office, such as executors.

HINDU LAW—IMPARTIBLE ESTATE—contd.

The words of the will, when properly construed, related to choice and adoption by the two widows acting jointly. Hence the words referred only to the period of time when both widows were living. To hold that one of the widows could adopt a son after the death of the other widow, would be providing for a period of time which the testator left unprovided for, and would be making an addition to his testamentary dispositions which no Court construing a will was entitled to do. NARASIMHA v. PARTHASARATHY (1914)

I. L. R. 37 Mad. 199

2. ——————— Impartible estate—Succession—Primogeniture—Estate once in the possession of a family regranted after loss of possession to one member of the same family—Construction of grant. The question whether a certain estate is impartible or not is one of fact in each case. Where an impartible estate is lost to a certain family and on the representation of a member of that family the Government puts him into possession making a grant in his favour without any special term or condition in the grant, the property so restored would be joint family property in the hands of the member of the family to whom the grant is made. When the Government makes a grant of an estate it can determine the nature of the grant; but in the absence of specific terms in the grant the surrounding circumstances must not be ignored. The normal constitution of Hindu family is union. And it is the very essence of an impartible estate that there is no legal right to insist on partition. The estate is enjoyed by the whole family through the occupant of the gaddi. Held, that, when an impartible estate passes by survivorship from one line of descent to another, it devolves not on the co-parcener nearest in blood, but on the nearest co-parcener of the senior line. Held, further, that if the descendants of a junior member of an impartible estate partition the property given to their ancestor for maintenance, it is not conclusive on the point as to whether the estate has ceased to be joint for the purpose of finding out a successor to the gaddi. Kachi Yuva Rangappa Kalakka Thola Udayar v. Kachi Kalayana Rangappa Kalakka Thola Udayar, I. L. R. 28 Mad 508, Katama Natchiar v. The Raja of Shivagunga, 9 Moo. I. A. 543, Doorga Persad Singh v. Doorga Konwari, I. L. R. 4 Calc. 190, Stree Rajah Yanumula Venkayamah v. Stree Rajah Yanumula Boochia, Venkondora, 13 Moo. I. A. 333, Sartaj Kuari v. Deoraj Kuari, I. L. R. 10 All. 272, Tara Kumari, v. Chaturbhuj Narayan Singh, I. L. R. 42 Calc. 1179, Bachoo Harkisondas v. Mankorebai, I. L. R. 29 Bom. 51, Raja Rup Singh v. Rani Baisni, I. L. R. 7 All. 1, and Nayaganti Achammagaru v. Venkatachalapati Nayanivaru, I. L. R. 4 Mad. 250, referred to. Sri Raja Satrucharla Jagannadha Raju v. Sri Raja Satrucharla Ramabhadra Razu, I. L. R. 14 Mad. 237, Venkatarayadu v. Venkataramayya, I. L. R. 15 Mad. 284, Venkata Narasimha Appa Row v. Parthasarathy Appa Row, L. R. 41 I. A. 51, and Brij Indar Bahadur Singh v. Ranee Jankee Koer, L. R. 5 I. A. 1, distinguished. BAIJNATH PRASAD SINGH v. TEJ BALI SINGH (1916)

I. L. R. 38 All. 590

3. ——————— The interest of the holder of an impartible estate is liable for his debts in the hands of his heir. For the purposes of ascertaining the person entitled to succeed resource must be had to the rule which would have governed the succession if the estate had remained partible. SHYAM LAL SINGH v. RAJA BIJOY N. KUNDA BAHADUR . 2 Pat. L. J. 136

4. ——————— Where a family is governed by the rule under which succession to an impartible estate does not go to the females so long as the family remains united, the burden of proving that the family has ceased to be united lies on the person who alleges separation. Per Chapman, J.—The departure of a member of such a family to reside in a village which has been granted to him for maintenance is not sufficient to indicate separation. Per Roe, J.—Where the plaintiff had asserted and was acknowledged to have a right to take part, as a member of the family in the family worship and during visits which were frequent and of long duration had conducted himself as subservient, to the elder branch of the family and received from the elder branch assistance for himself, for his son and for his wife consistent with such subservience, held, that he must be taken to be joint with the elder branch. RANI JAGADAMBA KUMARI v. THAKUR WAZIR N. SINGH . 2 Pat. L. J. 239

HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE.

See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION.

1. ——————— Illegitimate son—Sudras—Mitakshara—Legitimate son—Vatan—Collateal succession—Suit by reversioner for declaration as nearest heir—Widow of the last male holder—Vested right—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), Art. 120. Amongst Sudras governed by the Mitakshara, an illegitimate son cannot inherit a vatan collaterally in preference to legitimate heirs. The right to sue for a declaration of heirship to a vatan does not accrue until the heath of the widow of the last male holder of the vatan, the widow having a vested interest in it as the nearest heir. RAVJI VALAD MAHADU v. SAKUJI VALAD KALOJI (1909)

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 321

2. ——————— Daughters—Mitakshara—Daughters inheriting property from their father—Shares separate and absolute—Tenants-in-common. In the Bombay Presidency a daughter taking property from her father inherits it as stridhan and daughters take their shares separately and absolutely. When the property so inherited is not physically divided, it is held by the daughters as tenents-in-common and not as joint tenants and there is no survivorship between them. In cases affecting inheritance the rule is to adhere to the decisions of the Court to which the district from which the case arose is subject. VITHAPPA v. SAVITRI (1910)

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 510

3. ——————— Kamathis—Mitakshara—Mayukha—Law governing Kamathis who live in Bombay—Succession—Anvadheya Stridhan—Preference between husband and son born of adulterous intercourse—Shudras—Forms of marriage—Presumption as to form. The Kamathis, settled in Bombay, are governed for the purposes of inheritance by the law of the Mitakshara and the Mayukha, where they agree: but where they differ, the Mayukha law must prevail. The stridhan of a female devolves on her death upon her husband in preference to the son born of her by adulterous intercourse. The law will, even among Shudras, presume the marriage to have been according to the approved forms if the parties belonged to a respectable family. JAGGANNATH RAGHUNATH v. NARAYAN (1910) . I. L. R. 34 Bom. 553

HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE—contd.

4. ——— Jains—Inheritance—Competition amongst heirs—Mother's sister's son preferred to maternal uncle's son. Under Hindu Law a mother's sister's son is entitled to succeed to the estate of a deceased Hindu in preference to a maternal uncle's son. APPANDAI VAITHIYAR v. BAGUBALI MUDALIAR (1910) . I. L. R. 33 Mad. 439

5. ——— Scheme of devolution contrary to Hindu Law——Inheritance—Document attempting to alter the mode of succession—Instrument laying down rules to secure succession in direct male line for an indefinite period, and without gift to any person—Succession on failure of direct male issue—Exclusion of female heirs—Dayabhaga Law. Two brothers K and N, subject to the Dayabhaga School of Hindu Law, executed, on 28th March 1866, a document whereby after reciting that "Whereas body is mortal it is impossible to say what may befall at what time, and as ruin may ensue from disputes relating to the shares arising in future among son, daughter, daughter's son and childless widow unless some rules are regularly framed, and it has accordingly become necessary to prescribe a set of rules in that behalf, and hence the rules mentioned below are laid down: these shall become operative and come into force on our death," they purported to provide for the permanent devolution of their respective properties in the direct male line, including adopted sons, with the condition that in case of failure of lineal male heirs in one branch the properties belonging to that branch should go to the other, subject to the same rule, and only in the absence of male descendants in the direct line in either branch were the properties to go to female heirs and their descendants. K died in 1868 leaving a son A, a daughter D, his brother N and their mother C. A died in 1872 without any issue, and C in March 1901. The plaintiffs (appellants), who were the sons of D, instituted this suit on 29th July 1901, against N, claiming as next reversioners to A their maternal uncle, the properties which originally belonged to K and which had since come into the possession of N the defendant. N died shortly after the suit was brought, his sons (the repondents) being substituted for him on the record. Their contention was that under the instrument of 1866 the properties in dispute [illegible] on his death [illegible] the decision [illegible] nion, that in [illegible] happened, A [illegible] the properties in suit, an absolute estate defeasible in case of death without male issue, and as he died without male issue the heirs of K (the respondents) would succeed. Held (reversing that decision), that the clear intention of the instrument of 1866 was to vary the rules of Hindu Law and to control the devolution of the properties until the indefinite failure at some remote period of the male line of K and N; and that such an attempt to alter the mode of succession was, on the principles laid down in the case of Jatindra Mohan Tagore v. Ganendra Mohan Tagore, 9 B. L. R. 377; L. R. I. A. Sup. Vol. 47, illegal and void. Throughout the instrument there was no indication of an intention to make a gift to any person: and there was no warrant for the contention that there was a devise in favour of A with a gift over to N, his uncle. The question was not whether the gift over was good in the event which happened, but whether it was good in its creation. PURNA SHASHI BHATTACHARJI v. KALIDHAN RAI CHOWDHURY (1911) . . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 603

[illegible] 's grandson— [illegible] uncle's widow. [illegible] sidency govern- [illegible], paternal uncle's grandson is to be preferred as an heir to a paternal uncle's widow. KASHIBAI v. MORESHVAR RAGHUNATH (1911) . . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 389

7. ——— Impartible estate governed by rule of primogeniture—Inheritance—Estate devised to widow of owner—Suit by reversioner—Compromise of suit by widow and reversioner—Descent of estate governed by the compromise and not by will. The owner of an impartible estate governed by the rule of primogeniture died leaving a will by which he gave an absolute estate to his widow, against whom S, the next reversioner, brought a suit on the ground that the will was invalid and that he was entitled to possession of the estate. In that suit the parties came to a [illegible] and that after her death S or "any representative of his who may be living at that time will be the absolute owner of all the moveable and immoveable properties and will occupy the gaddi." S predeceased the widow leaving no male issue and without having made any disposition by will or otherwise of his interest in the estate. On the death of the widow in possession, the widow of S sued to recover the estate from members of her husband's family who had possession of it. Held, by the Judicial Committee (affirming the decision of the High Court), that the rights of the parties depended not on the will but on the compromise, the terms of which gave S a vested interest in the estate, which retained its character of impartibility, and on the death of S descended not to his widow (the appellant) but to the respondent, his heir, according to the rule of primogeniture. LEKHRAJ KUNWAR v. HARPAL SINGH (1911)
I. L. R. 34 All. 65

8. ——— Maintenance—Mitakshara—Joint Hindu family—Mother's share on partition of joint family property between her and her sons after father's death—Stridhan. According to the Mitakshara there is no substantial difference in principle between a woman's property acquired by inheritance and that acquired by partition. Held, [illegible] ourts in [illegible] a joint [illegible] e father on partition of the joint family property between the mother and the sons, is not her stridhan, but is given for her maintenance, and on her death it devolves upon the heirs of her husband and not upon her own heirs. Debi Mangal Prasad Singh v. Mahadeo Prasad Singh, I. L. R. 32 All. 253, and Chhiddu v. Naubat, I. L. R. 24 All. 67, overruled. DEBI MANGAL PRASAD SINGH v. MAHADEO PRASAD SINGH (1912) . I. L. R. 34 All. 234

9. ——— Unchastity—Inheritance—Wife—Unchastity during coverture —Condonation by husband—Husband and wife. Under Hindu Law, a widow is not disqualified from inheriting to her husband on the ground of her unchastity during coverture, if it is condoned by her husband.

HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE—contd.

Where the husband and wife have lived together without any open breach of marital relations up to the husband's death, it would be a dangerous principle to allow mere outsiders to come in and impute acts of unchastity to the wife during the period of her coverture. GANGADHAR PARAPPA v. YELLU (1911) . . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 138

10. ———— Paternal grandmother—Inheritance—Estate taken by her is limited estate—Women entering family by marriage take limited estate. Under Hindu Law the paternal grandmother, inheriting to her grandson, takes a limited estate for life. All the women who belong to a family by marriage, not by birth, take a limited estate in the property which they inherit from any male member of that family. DHONDI v. RADHABAI (1912) . . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 546

11. ———— Widow's right to inherit—Inheritance—"Malignant hostility" to husband, if disqualifies a widow from inheriting —Hostility, meaning of. The only qualification necessary for a widow to entitle her to succeed to her husband in physical chastity. Where a wife refused to come to her husband's house when sent for after he had married for a second time: Held, that such conduct was not evidence of such hostility to her husband as dis-entitled her to her inheritance where there was no evidence of any misconduct. KHETTERMONI DASSI v. KADAMBINI DASSI (1912) . . . 16 C. W. N. 964

12. ———— Ascetics—Sudras—Rules relating to ascetic persons of the Sudra caste. A Sudra cannot enter the order of yati or sannyasi, and therefore a Sudra who becomes an ascetic is not excluded from inheritance to his family estate unless some usage is proved to the contrary: Dharampuram v. Virapandiyam, I. L. R. 22 Mad. 302, followed. HARISH CHANDRA ROY v. ATIR MAHMUD (1913) . . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 545

13. ———— Succession to stridhanam—Preference of co-wife's daughter to sapindas of husband. Under the Mitakshara law of inheritance, the daughter of a co-wife of a deceased woman, married in one of the approved forms, is entitled to succeed to her stridhanam property in preference to the sapindas of her husband, such as his father's brother's son. Placitum 11 of s. XI of Chap. II, Mitakshara, applied. Colebrooke's translation of 'sapinda' in that placitum as 'kinsmen allied by funeral oblations' is incorrect; the correct meaning being 'kinsmen allied by affinity' or 'persons allied to each other by possession of particles of the same body.' According to the above text the stridhanam property of a woman married according to an orthodox form, who has left no issue, will devolve on her husband, and on failure of the husband the property will go to his sapindas in the order laid down in the Mitakshara with reference the succession to the property of a male. Venkatasubramaniam Chetti v. Thayaramma, I. L. R. 21 Mad. 263, Gojabai v. Shrimant Shahajirao moloji Raje Bhosle, I. L. R. 17 Bom. 114, 117, Jagannath Prasad Gupta v. Runjit Singh, I. L. R. 25 Calc. 354, 367, Krishnai v. Sripati, I. L. R. 30 Bom. 333, Bai Kesserbai v. Hunsraj Moraji, I. L. R. 30 Bom. 431 Mussamat Thakor Deyhee v. Rai Bauk Ram, 11 Moo. I. A. 139, 175, and Champat v. Shiba, I. L. R. 8 All. 393, applied. West and Buhler, p. 518, T. Krishnasami Aiyar's Translation of Smriti Chandrika Chap. IX, s. III, verse 83, Golab Chandra Sircar Sastri's Hindu Law, 4th edition p. 461 and Bhattacharya's Hindu Law, p. 580, referred to. NANJA PILLAI v. SIVABAGYATHACHI (1913) I. L. R. 36 Mad. 116

14. ———— Exclusion from Dayabhaga—Murder—Transportation—Partition suit by heir of excluded co-parcener—Claim for maintenance not put forward—Claim for maintenance after sentence served out—Claim by his wife and after-born son—Res judicata—Separate causes of action—Multifariousness—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. I, r. 1. Where a son who was excluded from inheritance by reason of his murdering his father has served out the punishment inflicted upon him and claims maintenance from his son the person who has excluded him from inheritance: Held, that under the Hindu Law he is entitled to maintenance on the principle that property in the hands of the co-parcener who has executed another from inheritance, is liable to a claim or charge for the maintenance of the disqualified co-parcener. His wife also, if chaste, is similarly entitled to maintenance out of the property. An after-born son of the disqualified co-parcener is also entitled to maintenance as a dependent member of the family. A single suit by all three is maintainable under O. I, r. 1, Civil Procedure Code. NILMADHAB MITTER v. JOTINDRA NATH MITTER (1913) 17 C. W. N. 341

15. ———— Dayabhaga — Great-grandfather's great-grandson and father's brother's daughter's son—Preferential heir who is—Stare decisis, doctrine of. As between the great-grandson of the great-grandfather of a deceased owner and the latter's father's brother's daughter's son, the latter is, upon the authority of the Full Bench decisions in Gooroo Gobind v. Anund Lal, 5 B. L. R. 15; 13 W. R. (F. B.) 49, Digumbar Ray v. Moti Lal, I. L. R. 9 Calc. 563, the preferential heir. To re-open the question of succession settled by these decisions would not be proper. Young v. Robertson, 4 Macqueen H. L. 314, 345, and Sri Raja Rao Venkata v. Court of Wards, L. R. 26 I. A. 83; 3 C. W. N. 715, referred to. KEDAR NATH RAY v. AMRITA LAL MUKERJEE (1911) 17 C. W. N. 492

16. ———— Babuana and sohag grants—Kulachar—Exclusion of widows—Application of custom after partition. In an impartible raj, descending according to primogeniture, babuana and sohag grants were by custom made to younger sons and to their wives respectively. These grants were subject to a kulachar by which they enured for the benefit of the grantees and their heirs-male in the male line, with reversion to the Raj reasat. The evidence established that the kulachar excluded widows from succession to properties so granted, but there was no evidence of the exclusion of a widow after a partition between members of the family jointly holding properties originally the subject of babuana and sohag grants. Held, (i) that the custom excluding widows applied notwithstanding a partition; (ii) that the words "auras putra poutradik" in sanads for babuana grants must be construed as subject to the custom excluding widows and not as general words of inheritance. Durgadut Singh v. Rameshwar Singh, L. R. 36 I. A. 176, explained. Ram Lal Mookerji v. Secretary of State for India, L. R. 8 I. A. 46, distinguished. EKRADESHWAR SINGH v. JANESHWARI BAHUASIN (1914) I. L. R. 42 Calc. 582 . L. R. 41 I. A. 275

HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE—contd.

17. ———— Mitakshara—Bandhus—Limit of Heritable Bandhus—Bhinna gotra sapindas.

das with the fifth degree from the common ancestor; further, in order to entitle a bandhu to inherit he must be so related to the deceased person that they are mutually sapindas of one another. The right of inheritance, consequently, does not extend to a deceased person's paternal grandfather's son's son's daughter's daughter's sons, since they are bhinna-gotras beyond the fifth degree and the element of mutuality of sapindaship is wanting. RAM CHANDRA MARTAND WAIKAR v. VINAYAK VENKATESH KOTHEKAR (1914)

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 384
L. R. 41 I. A. 290

18. ———— Illegitimate children—Right of, to—Prostitution, not destroying kinship by blood—Mitakshara—"Daughter's," meaning legitimate daughters. Except in the case of Sudras, among whom illegitimate sons have a right of succession, illegitimate children are not heirs under the Hindu law, especially under the Mitakshara system, to succeed to the property of any kind left by either of their parents. Hence, a legitimate son of a Sudra woman, born in lawful wedlock, succeeds to the property acquired by his mother by prostitution after the death of his father and her illegitimate daughter born in prostitution is not an heir to such property. Prostitution does not sever the tie of kinship by blood and does not bring the prostitute within the category of "dancing girls" whose children are allowed by custom and pre-property in certain cases, means only legitimate daughters. MEENAKSHI v. MUNIANDI PANIKKAN (1914) . . . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1144

19. ———— Leprosy—Anæsthetic, not a ground of exclusion from—Incurability, not a safe test—Grounds of exclusion in texts, some obsolete. Under the Hindu Law a person suffering from the anæsthetic form of leprosy though considered incurable by medical men, is not disentitled to inherit. Obiter:—Both the tests of Hindu Law texts and the decided cases fully establish that it is only the agonizing, sanious or ulcerous type of leprosy that is a disqualification to disinherit. Deformity and unfitness for social intercourse arising from the virulent and disgusting nature of the disease would appear to be what has been accepted in both the texts and the decisions as the most satisfactory test. Most of the decisions which have excluded lepers deal only with right and Helan Dasi v. Durga Das Mandal, 4 C. L. J. 323, distinguished. Ranchod v. Ajoobai, 9 Bom. L. R. 1149, referred to. Many of the grounds of exclusion referred to in the texts would not now be enforced by the Courts and are practically obsolete. KAYAROHANA PATHAN v. SUBBARAYA THEVAN (1913) . . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 250

HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE—contd.

20. ———— Benares school of law—Great-grandson of grandfather of deceased male owner—Grandson of great-grandfather of deceased—"Putra," interpretation of—Lineal and collateral descendants—Blood relationship or propinquity among gotrajas—Test is capacity to offer oblations—Introducing into the decision the opinion of another Judge not a party to the judgment—Practice not approved. On this appeal, in which the question for decision related parental stock as the last male owner, who died deceased's great-grandfather. The word "putra," which when used in relation to the last owner signifies and includes, "son, grandson and great-grandson," thus including three degrees in the direct line of descent, is not to be construed in a literal and restricted sense when used in connexion with collateral relatives such as brother, uncle or grand-uncle. The following cases were referred to and discussed:—Rutcheputty Dutt Jha v. Rajunder Narain Rae, 2 Moo. I. A. 132, 153, Bhyah Ram Singh v. Bhyah Ugur Singh, 13 Moo. I. A. 373, Kureem Chand Gurain v. Oodung Gurain, 6 W. R. 158, Kalian Rai v. Ram Chandar, I. L. R. 24 All. 128, Rachava v. Kalingapa, I. L. R. 16 Bom. 716, Parasara Bhattar v. Rangaraja Bhattar, I. L. R. 2 Mad. 202, Suraya Bhukta v. Lakshminarasammo, I. L. R. 5 Mad. 291, and Chinnasami Pillai v. Kunju Pillai, I. L. R. 35 Mad. 152, and the last two cases were dissented from the respondent was also entitled to succeed on the ground that he ... on the de... ...le of making ... In judging of the nearness of blood relationship or propinquity among the gotrajas, the test to discover the preferential heir is the capacity to offer the oblations. Bhayah Ram Singh v. Bhyah Ugur Singh and the principle laid down in the Viramitrodaya, duce the opinion of another Judge not a party to the judgment, for the purpose of enforcing the conclusion arrived at. BUDDHA SINGH v. LALTU SINGH (1915) . . . I. L. R. 37 All. 604

21. ———— Impartible Estate governed by rule of primogeniture—Where no custom excluding females existed—Widow of holder who died without male issue—Evidence of separation in joint family—Junior members leaving family-house and living in separate residence after obtaining grant for maintenance. The succession, on the death of a holder without male issue, to an impartible estate which descended by the rule of primogeniture, the junior members of the family being entitled to grant for maintenance, and where no custom excluding females existed, depended on whether there had been a separation between two brothers, the father and predecessors in title of the deceased holder and the father of the next contingent reversioner. On that question the Courts in India

HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE—contd.

differed, the Subordinate Judge finding that a separation had taken place, and the High Court being of opinion that what had occurred did not in intention and fact, amount to a complete separation. Held (reversing the decision of the High Court), that the evidence clearly proved that there had been a complete separation, and that the widow of the last holder was therefore entitled to succeed to the estate for a Hindu widow's interest in priority to the next male reversioner. TARA KUMARI v. CHATURBHUJ NARAYAN SINGH (1915)

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 1179

22. ———— Bandhus—Atma bandhus—Preferential heir—Atma bandhus ex parte paterna preferential to Atma bandhus ex parte materna—Father's sister's son's son preferable to mother's brother. Under the Mitaksara Law among Atma bandhus of a deceased male owner those that are related to him ex parte paterna are preferential heirs to those that are related to him ex parte materna. The son of the father's sister's son of the deceased male owner is a preferential heir to his mother's brother, Sundrammal v. Rangasami Mudaliar, (1895) I. L. R., 18 Mad., 193; Balusami Pandithar v. Narayana Rau, (1897) I. L R., 20 Mad., 349, followed. SUBRAMANIA MUDALIAR v. RANGA-NATHAN CHETTIAR (1921).

I. L. R. 44 Mad. 114

22(a). ———— Inheritance—Sudra ascetic—Right of sishya (disciple) to inherit—Texts of Hindu Law, whether obsolute—Yajnavalkya—Mitakshara—Escheat to Government—Religious instruction to Sudras—Disciple, meaning of—Spiritual relationship, proof of. The disciple of a Sudra ascetic who dies without leaving any blood relations is an heir of the latter under the Hindu Law and succeeds to his estate so as to prevent its escheat to the Government. The texts relating to succession by preceptors, disciples and fellow-students, enunciated in Yajnavalkya Smriti, Chapter II, verse 137, and in the Mitakshara, section VII, are not obsolete. In determining who is a preceptor, a pupil or a fellow-student under the above texts, we have only to consider the imparting of purely religious instruction. Religious instruction and training are not confined to Brahmans. Gi yana Sambandha Pandara Sannadhi v. Kandasami Tambiran, (1887) I. L. R., 10 Mad., 375, Dharmapuram Pandara Sannadhi v. Virapandiyam Pillai, (1899) I. L. R., 22 Mad., 302, distinguished. Strict proof is required to be given by the claimant regarding his alleged spiritual relationship to the deceased. SAMBASIVAM PILLAI v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (1921)

I. L. R. 44 Mad. 704

22(b). ———— Illegitimate son of a Sudra by a dancing woman kept in continuous and exclusive concubinage is entitled to get his appropriate share in the joint family property after his father's death provided his parents' connection was not incestuous or adulterous. SOUNDARARAJAN, v ARUNACHALAM CHETTY.

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 136

23. ———— Succession of sapindas of same and different degrees—Uncle of half blood opposed as heir to son of uncle of whole blood—Civil Procedure Code (1882), ss. 317 and 231—Execution of mortgage decree by one of several decree-holder—Suit by heirs of the other decree-holders against decree-holder who, after a sale subject to rights of heirs of the others, claimed and obtained sole possession. Held (affirming the decision of the High Court), that under the Mitakshara law the preference of heirs of the whole blood to those of the half blood confined to "sapindas of the same degrees of descent from the common ancestor." Where therefore, the choice of heirs lay between sapindas of different degrees, an uncle of the half blood as being less remote from the common ancestor, is a preferential heir to the sons of an uncle of the whole blood. Suba Singh v. Sarfaraz Kunwar, I. L. R. 19 All. 215, distinguished. The provisions of s. 317 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1882, were designed to create some check on the practice of making so-called benami purchases at execution sales for the benefit of judgment-debtors and in no way affect the title of persons otherwise beneficially interested in the purchase. One of three joint decree-holders of a mortgage decree alone took out execution under s. 231 of the Code, stating that the other decree-holders had died, and praying that execution might be subject to the rights of their heirs and representatives. He obtained leave to bid at the sale, purchased the property in his own name, and, furnished with a certificate of sale, got possession of the property. Held, in a suit by the heirs of the other decree-holders for the shares they were entitled to under the decree, that s. 317 of the Code was not applicable as a defence to the suit, and that the plaintiffs were entitled to recover their shares of the mortgaged property. Bodh Singh Doodhoria v. Gunesh Chunder Sen, 12 B. L. R. 317, followed. GANGA SAHAI v. KESHRI (1915) . I. L. R. 37 All. 545

24. ———— Sudras—Extent of share. Among Sudras an illegitimate son of a concubine stands on the same level as to inheritance as the dasi putra, and the extent of his share in competition with a legitimate daughter would be one-half of the share taken by the daughter, that is, one-third of the whole estate. GANGABAI PEERAPPA v. BANDHU (1915) . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 369

25. ———— "Samanodaka,"—Meaning of—Reversioner, claim by—Onus of proof. According to Mitakshara and the view prevalent in Southern India, samanodaka relationship is confined to such of the gottrajas as are within fourteen degrees from the common ancestor. It is incumbent on a plaintiff seeking to succeed to property as an heir, affirmatively to establish the particular relationship which he puts forward. He is also bound to satisfy the Court that, to the best of his knowledge, there are no nearer heirs. It is for those who claim that their kinship is nearer than that of the plaintiff, to prove that relationship Secretary of State for India v. Subraya Karantha, (1915) Mad. W. N. 962, followed. A gottraja who is unable to trace his descent from a common ancestor, cannot be preferred to a bandhu. RAMA ROW v. KUTTIYA GOUNDAN (1916)

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 654

26. ———— Blindness—Not a disqualification unless congenital. The appellant, as his only child and heir, sued for the property of her father a Hindu who had become blind in the early years of his life, and remained so until his death, and had taken his separate share of the family property under a decree made on a compromise of a suit for partition brought against him by his younger brother, they having lived together as members of a joint family governed by the law of the Mitakshara. The defence by his brother,

HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE—contd.

against whom the suit was brought, was that there had been no partition and that on his brother's death he became entitled to the whole family property by brother's him from was not born blind but became so after birth he was, according to the Mitakshara law of the Benares school, excluded from participation of a share, inasmuch as the blindness occurred before the alleged partition. Held, that blindness to cause exclusion from inheritance must be congenital. Mere loss of sight which has supervened after birth is not a ground for disqualification. Incurable blindness, if not congenital, is not such an affiction as under the Hindu Law excludes a person from inheriting. Sarvadhicari's Hindu Law of Inheritance, page 956, referred to. Mohesh Chunder Roy v. Chunder Mohan Roy, 14 B. L. R. 273 ; 23 Suth. W. R. 78, and Murarji Gokuldas v. Parvatibai, I. L. R. 1 Bom. 177, approved and followed. GUNJESWAR KUNWAR v. DURGA PRASHAD SINGH (1917) . . . . I. L. R. 45 Calc. 17

27. ———— Taluqa in Oudh—Oudh Estates Act (I of 1869), ss. 7, 8, 10, 22—Sanad granting descent by primogeniture—Properties subsequently acquired—'Accretions' and 'properties appurtenant to taluqa'—Property purchased by taluqdar—Intention to vary descent—Substitution of villages by Government—Crown Grants Act (XV of 1895), s. 2—Power of Crown to alter or limit descent—No such power in subject. In British India the Crown has power to grant or transfer lands, and by its grant or on the transfer, to limit in any way the descent of such lands. But a subject has no right to impose upon lands or other property any limitation of descent which is at variance with the ordinary law of descent applicable to the particular lands or property so dealt with. The present appeal related to a taluqa granted in 1861 by the Crown to a Hindu, the grant containing a condition that "in the event of your dying intestate or of your successor dying intestate, the estate should descend to the nearest male heir according to the rule of primogeniture" On the death of one of the holders of the taluqa a suit was brought, which in 1905 came on appeal to the Privy Council for decision as to the succession to the deceased taluqdar's estate, and an Order in Council was made which declared that "the taluqa as constituted at the date of the sanad with accretions (if any) or properties (if any) appurtenant to the taluqa" passed to the appellant as the next male heir according to the rule of primogeniture; but that the residue of the property passed to the respondent, and the suit was remitted to India for determination under the Order in Council. There custom of primoinal decrees of the
, that under the
Order in Council villages substituted by the Government for some of those held under the sanad, and a house granted by the Government after 1861 to the taluqdar, for his use as taluqdar, passed to the appellant as taluqdari property; but that villages purchased after 1861 by the deceased taluqdar passed to the respondent as non-taluqdari property, and it was immaterial whether it was or was not the intention of the deceased taluqdar to incorporate them with the taluqa. RAJINDRA BAHADUR SINGH v. RAGHUBANS KUNWAR (1918) . . . . I. L. R. 40 All. 470

HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE—contd.

28. by a Dayal
'Apar
tiente) that, under the Bengal School of Hindu law correctly interpreted, an illegitimate son of a Sudra is entitled as a dási-pútra to a share of the inheritance, provided that is not subject either to the condition that his mother was a slave woman in the technical sense of the term or to the condition that a marriage cable to a female slave, but includes a Sudra woman kept as a concubine. According to the correct interpretation of para. 29, Chap. IX of the or wife) of aparineeta married (to

Per CHATTERJEA J. Having regard to the fact that, for more than a century, the right of an illegitimate son of a Sudra by a kept woman has not been recognised in Bengal, and having regard to the opinion of writers of Hindu law in Bengal, hana or any other authority. Cases on the subject reviewed. RAJANI NATH DAS v. NITAI CHANDRA DEY (1920). . . I. L. R. 48 Calc. 643

28a. ———— Unchaste female—The rule as it obtains in the Bengal School of Hindu Law is that any female who was unchaste before the succession opened out is excluded from the inheritance. RAJABALA DASI v. SHAYAMA CHARAN BANERJEE (1917) 22 C. W. N. 566

29.———— Illegitimate son—Right of putative to succeed as heir. Held by the Full Bench: —Where an illegitimate son, who if he had survived his putative father, would have inherited his estate either alone or a long with others, dies leaving no issue, widow or mother, his putative father is entitled to succeed as his heir. Jogendro Bhupati Hurrochundra Mahapatru v. Nityanand Man Sing, I. L. R. 18 Calc. 151, and Sadu v. Baiza and Genu, I. L. R. 4 Bom. 37, applied. SUBRAMANIA AYYAR v. RATHNAVELU CHETTY (1917) . . . . I. L. R. 41 Mad. 44

29a. ———— Unchastity, effect of—Dayabhaga—Application to Assam Koches—Unchaste daughter marrying paramour after succession opened out, if may inherit. The daughter of a Koch (in Assam) eloped in her father's lifetime with a Koch and lived with the latter as man and wife, but later, on the father's death, married her paramour and sued to recover her father's properties from the illegitimate daughters of her father who were in possession: Held (in the absence of evidence of local custom and the Dayabhaga law applying)—That the Plaintiff was disqualified when the succession opened out, from

HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE—contd.

inheriting her father's properties by reason of her unchastity and the disability was not removed by subsequent marriage. That failing to prove her title, the Plaintiff could not recover the property even though the Defendants were in possession without title. Quære :—Whether Plaintiff could have inherited her father's estate, if she had married her paramour before the succession opened out. AITA KOCHUNI v. AIDEW KOCHUNI

24 C. W. N. 173

30. ———— Persons born blind—Exclusion from inheritance and joint ownership—Rule of exclusion whether obsolete—Texts—Competency of Courts to declare rule obsolete—Reversioners—Right of suit for declaration—Widow setting up absolute title to husband's properties under a will of another —Right of reversioner to sue for mere declaration—Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), s. 42, ills. (e) and (f), whether exhaustive. The rule of Hindu Law which prevents a person born blind from claiming an interest along with his brothers as a co-owner in ancestral properties, has become obsolete. A reversioner under the Hindu Law is entitled to sue for a mere declaration as to the limited nature of the title of a widow to certain properties, alleged by him to belong to her husband, but to which she sets up an absolute title under the will of another person. Illustrations (e) and (f) to s. 42 of the Specific Relief Act are not exhaustive of the classes of cases in which a reversioner can sue for a declaration under the section. SURAYYA v. SUBBAMMA (1920) . . . I. L. R. 43 Mad. 4

31. ———— By daughter——Benares School, claim of daughter of deceased Hindu to inherit against person who claimed and proved his title as next agnate in Settlement Court, if res judicata Settlement Court, proceedings in, in which claim of the daughter of deceased Hindu to inherit was established as against person who claimed and proved his title as next agnate—Alienation of estate by daughter—Suit by same agnate to declare alienation invalid—Res judicata—Court's discretion to grant declaratory decree—Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), s. 42. In certain proceedings before the Settlement Court which took place in 1867-1868, concerning the right to succession to the estate of J who had died in 1862, questions were raised amongst the several claimants to the estate inter alia as to whether I, the daughter of J, was not excluded from inheritance under a family custom and whether B, who clamied to be the agnatic heir of J, was in fact what he alleged to be, viz., the son of the adopted son of Z, the father's brother of J. The Settlement Court decided that I was entitled to hold the estate in the limited interest of a Hindu daughter as provided by the Benares School of Hindu law, and that B, at the date of the decision, was the reversioner expectant, his relationship to J as alleged by him being established. In 1909, I entered into a compromise with her deceased son's widow under which it was agreed that I should hold the estate for her life and that on her death her son's widow was to be the owner. B then brought the present suit as reversionary heir to J on I's death for a declaration that the agreement between I and her son's widow was invalid : Held, that the status of B as reversionary heir having been established in the Settlement Court proceedings, that question was res judicata as also was the question of the title under which (e.g., in the limited interest of a Hindu daughter) I was to hold the estate and that in the circumstances it was a fit case for the grant of a declaratory decree as prayed for in the plaint. RANI INDAR KUAR v. THAKUR BALDEO BAKSH SINGH (P. C.)

HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE—contd.

25 C. W. N. 170

32. ———— Impartible zamindari—Rule of succession—Heirs of the same degree but of different branches—Preference of senior line—Right of zamindar to incorporate self-acqusitions and income from zamin with zamin—Rule of descent thereto, when not incorporated. The devolution of an impartible estate held by a single person depends upon whether the last holder was undivided or divided from the other members of the family. If he was undivided, then for the purposes of succession, the property must be treated as if it had been partible, and the successor found among those who would have been in that event his coparceners. If he was separated, the estate devolves, in the absence of any special custom, on the next-of-kin who is nearest in blood to the deceased, as, for instance, his mother, and if there be several collaterals of the same degree but of different branches, the senior representative of the senior line takes. Tara Kumari v. Chathurbhuj Narayan Singh (1915) I. L. R., 42 Calc., 1179 (P. C.), and Bhai Narindar Bahadur Singh v. Achal Ram (1893) I. L. R., 20 Calc., 649 (P. C.), followed. It is open to the holder of an impartible zamindari to incorporate with his zamin, his self-acquisitions such as those made from the income of the zamin or to keep them distinct. If incorporated, the devolution thereof follows that of the zamin; if not, his own heirs succeed to them : Murtaza Husain Khan v. Muhammad Yasin Ali Khan (1916) I. L. R., 38 All., 552 (P. C.) at 567 and Janki Prasad Singh v. Dwarka Prasad Singh (1913) I. L. R., 35 All., 391 (P. C.) at 401, followed; Rajindra Bahadur Singh v. Raghubans Kunwar (1918) I. L. R., 40 All., 470 (P. C.), distinguished. GURUSAMI PANDIYAN v. PANDIA CHINNA THAMBIAR (1921) . . . I. L. R. 44 Mad. 1

33. ———— Bandhus—Heritability, test of—Sapinda relationship—Mutuality—Paternal grandfather's sister's great-grandson, whether heritable bandhu. Under the Mitakshara Law, the great-grandson of the paternal grand-aunt of the last male owner is not a heritable bandhu of the latter. Umaid Bahadur v. Udoi Chand, (1881) I. L. R., 6 Calc., 119 (F. B.) and Babu Lal v. Noulla Ram, (1895) I. L. R., 22 Calc., 339, followed; Budda Singh v. Laltu Singh, (1915) I. L. R., 37 All. 604 (P. C.), distinguished; Subramania Mudalia v. Ranganathan Chettiar (1921) I. L. R., 44 Mad. 114, referred to. CHINNA PICHU IYENGAR v PADMANABHA IYENGAR (1921)

I. L. R. 44 Mad. 121

34. ———— Non-congenital insanity—Whether a ground of deprivation of right of survivorship. Insanity, as a ground of exclusion from inheritance under Hindu Law, need not be congenital. De Kishen v. Budh Prakash, (1883) I. L. R. 5 All. 509 (F. B.), and Murarji Gokuldas v. Parvatibai, (1876) I. L. R. 1 Bom. 177, followed. Sanku v. Puttamma, (1891) I. L. R. 14 Mad. 289, dissented from. The right of a member of a Hindu joint family to share in ancestral property comes into existence at birth, and is not lost but is only in abeyance by reason of a disqualification. It subsists all through, although it is incapable of enforcement at the time of partition, if the disqualification then exists. Hence, if on the death of all the other members the disqualified member becomes the sole surviving member of the family, he takes the whole property by survivorship. MUTHUSWAMI GURUKKAL v. MEENAMMAL (1920)

HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE—contd.

I. L. R. 43 Mad. 464

[illegible]

takes an absolute right; in other parts of India the Courts have held that she takes only a limited interest such as is taken by a Hindu widow. see Pranjivandas Tulsidas v. Devkuarbhai, 1 Bom. H C. 130; 9 Moo. I. A. 533 (note) and Bhan v. Raghunath, I. L. R. 30 Bom. 229, and the cases and authorities there cited. It is established that the law of succession is, in any given case, to be determined according to the personal law of the individual whose succession is in question. Primâ facie any which is governed by it: consequently, where any such family migrates to another province governed by another law, it carries its own law with it: Mayne's Hindu Law, 8th Ed. para. 48. On migration there may be renunciation of the law of the province migrated from in favour of that of the province migrated to; but unless such renunciation is proved (and the mere change of domicile is not of itself sufficient to prove it), original law continues to govern the migrating family. But the law must be the family law as it was when they left. A judgment declaratory of law as having always been would be binding on the migrated family; but subsequent customs introduced into the law would not affect them. Surendra Nath Roy v. Heeramonee Burmoneah, 12 Moo. I. A. 81, and Parbati Kumari Debi v. Jagadis Chunder Dhabal, I. L. R. 29 Calc. 433; L. R. 29 I. A. 82, followed. A Maharashtra Brahmin whose ancestors and afterwards himself were domiciled in the Bombay Presidency died in 1868 while on a pilgrimage, leaving immovable property in the Wardha District of the Central Provinces. On his death his daughter succeeded to that property. She died in 1889 leaving three sons who on her death sued to set aside alienation of portions of the property made by her during her possession of it. The question arose whether she took an absolute or a limited estate in the property, which depended on what was the law of succession by which her father and his ancestors were governed. The Judicial Commissioner (reversing the decision of the first Court to the effect that he and his ancestors were originally domiciled at Berar in the Bombay Presidency of the latter where the property was situated

[illegible]

[illegible]

HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE—concld.

and the daughter had taken only a limited estate. Held, that the family of her father and his ancestors were domiciled in Berar and there was no renunciation of the law of that province when they or he migrated from it and that the daughter took an absolute estate under the law of the Bombay Presidency. BALWANT RAO v. BAJI RAO (1920).

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 30

36. ——— Division amongst sons by Patnibhag—A provable as custom—Custom proved as prevailing amongst Chettis of certain villages

[illegible]

may be proved to exist as a territorial, family or caste custom, specially in Southern India, where it is possible that the matriarchal theories of the earlier inhabitants may have led to the [illegible] custom and caused difficulties

[illegible]

tom of patnibhag proved in the case was one of the particular class of Chettis who happened to dwell in, and probably were at the moment the only dwellers in, an area of seven villages; and such a custom could not rightly be described as a local custom, which it would be unreasonable to impose upon all persons dwelling in the area. PAHANIAPPA CHETTIAR v. ALAYN CHETTI

26 C. W. N. 417

HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY—

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT, 1885, s. 48.
3 Pat. L. J. 578

See CENTRAL PROVINCES GOVERNMENT WARDS ACT, s. 18.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 784

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE (ACT V OF 1908), O. I, R. 3. I. L. R. 40 Mad. 365

See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION.

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY.

See HINDU LAW—LEGAL NECESSITY.

See HINDU LAW—MINOR.

See HINDU LAW—MITAKSHARA.

See HINDU LAW—PARTITION.

See MORTGAGE . . 23 C. W. N. 634

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, 1887, s. 42.
2 Pat. L. J. 221

——— Elder brother selling as Manager—

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 7.
I. L. R. 45 Bom 446

——— Status of Females in—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, s. 66.
I. L. R. 43 All. 711

——— Joint acts of Insolvency—

See INSOLVENCY ACT, 1907, s. 5.
I. L. R. 44 Mad. 810

HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY—contd.

1. ——— Effect of partition—Profits from investment of joint family property if joint family property—Suit against karta for partition and accounts—Limitation—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), Sch. II, Arts. 62, 127. A family may be joint with reference to certain properties though divided in respect of others. Gauri Shankar Parabhuram v. Atmaram Rajaram, I. L. R. 18 Bom. 611 ; Purushottam v. Atmaram, I. L. R. 23 Bom. 597, 601, referred to. Where plaintiff sued for partition and account of profits of joint family property in the hands of the karta, Art. 127 and not Art. 62 of Sch. II of the Limitation Act (XV of 1877) applied. Muthusami Mudaliar v. Nallakulantha Mudaliar, I. L. R. 18 Mad. 418, followed. Banoo Tewary v. Dooma Tewary, I. L. R. 24 Calc. 309 ; Thakur Prasad v. Partab, I. L. R. 6 All. 442, distinguished. Profits derived from the investment of joint family capital in business or from immoveable properties belonging to the joint family, are joint family property. A suit for account in respect of such money, being incidental to the suit for ascertainment of share on partition, comes under Art. 127 of the Limitation Act. Pirthi Pal v. Jowahir Singh, I. L. R. 14 Calc. 483, referred to. AJODHYA PURSHAD v. MAHADEO PURSHAD (1909)
14 C. W. N. 221

2. ——— Order Restoring Member—*Mitakshara joint family—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. XXI, r. 101—Order restoring member of joint Mitakshara family to a share—Validity—Suit brought after claim-case dismissed for default—Decision if binding—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), ss. 278, 102, 103—Dismissal of suit for default—Effect—*Res judicata or not—Mitakshara son's right to resist execution against family property of decree against father and after suit for injunction dismissed for non-prosecution. A member of a joint Mitakshara family has no definable share in the joint property previous to partition. An order under O. XXI, r. 101, Civil Procedure Code, 1908, restoring such member to a specific share of such property on the ground that he is in possession of such property is therefore bad. Where a suit for injunction to restrain the sale of joint Mitakshara family property in execution of a decree against the father on the ground that the debts of the father did not bind the son's interest in the property was dismissed for non-prosecution: Held, that the son was no longer entitled to contend in execution proceedings that the entire property was not liable to be sold. Cooverjee v. Dewsey, I. L. R. 17 Bom. 718, followed. A decree-holder against Mitakshara father can proceed against the entire joint property. Muddun Thakur v. Kantoolall, L. R. 1 I. A. 321 ; Nanomi Babasin v. Modan Mahan, L. R. 13 I. A. 1 : s. c. I. L. R. 13 Calc. 21, Juhur Mal v. Eknath, I. L. R. 24, Bom. 843 : s.c. 5 Bom. : L. R. 322, followed. Kallapa v. Venkatesh Vinayak, I. L. R. 25 Bom. 676 ; Duguppa v. Venkatramnaya, I. L. R. Bom. 493 ; Patil Hari v. Hakam Chand, I. L. R. 18 Bom. 363, distinguished. SANKAR NATH PUNDIT v. MADAN MOHAN DAS (1909) 14 C. W. N. 298

3. ——— Mortgage—Joint family property, mortgage of share in, by co-parcener—Procedure for enforcement. Where a member of a joint Mitakshara family represented to mortgagees of a portion of that property, that he had the power to charge the property, he was bound to make good his representation by exercising such proprietary right over it as he possessed, viz., by partition. Mohabeer Pershad v. Ramyad Singh, 20 W. R. 192 : 12 B. L. R. 90, followed. Madho Pershad v. Mehrban Singh, I. L. R. 18 Calc. 157 ; Jamuna Prasad v. Ganga Prasad, I. L. R. 19 Calc. 401 ; Bunwari Lal v. Daya Sankar, 13 C. W. N. 815, referred to. Such mortgage, so far as the specific shares of the mortgagors were concerned, was void, but the Court may direct that the joint property be held in specified shares and in such case the lien of the mortgage will be fixed to the share of the mortgagors thus specified. MAHANATH RAM SUNDAR DAS v. NATHUNI SINGH (1909)
14 C. W. N. 552

4. ——— Joint family business—Mitakshara—Agreement entered into with one member of the family—Such member competent to sue without joining other members. Where a contract is entered into on behalf of a joint family business by a member of the family in his own name, it is not necessary that any members of the joint family other than those who entered into the contract should be parties to the suit brought thereon. Gopal Das v. Badri Nath, I. L. R. 27 All. 361, followed. Agucio v. Forbes, 14 Moo. P. C. 160 ; Bungsee Singh v. Soodist Lall, I. L. R. 7 Calc. 739, and Hari Vasudeo Kamat v. Mahadu Dad Gavda, I. L. R. 20 Bom. 435, referred to. Shamrathi Singh v. Kishan Prasad, I. L. R. 29 All. 311, distinguished. DURGA PRASAD v. DAMODAR DAS (1909)
I. L. R. 37 All. 183

5. ——— Mother's share on partition—Mitakshara—Joint Hindu family—Stridhan—Succession. Held, that according to the Mitakshara, the share which the mother in a joint Hindu family obtains after the death of the father, on partition of the joint family property between the mother and the sons, becomes the mother's stridhan, which devolves on her death upon her own heirs and not upon the heirs of her husband. Chhiddu v. Naubat, I. L. R. 24 All. 67, and Gambhir Singh v. Makraddhuj, All. L. J. 673, followed. Sheo Shankar v. Devi Sahai, I. L. R. 25 All. 468, distinguished. DEBI MANGAL PRASAD SINGH v. MAHADEO PRASAD SINGH (1909)
I. L. R. 32 All. 253

6. ——— Grant by Government—Family joint before annexation of Oudh—Confiscation of and grant by Government to person who had been a member of joint family—Whether subject of grant is self-acquired or joint—Separation by one member, effect of—Burden of proof. Before the annexation of Oudh, two estates Bohra and Sherpur (the latter being about one-third of the two together) belonged to an undivided Hindu family consisting of three brothers. The estates were confiscated on the annexation of the province, but shortly afterwards the Sherpur estate was granted by the Government to the eldest of the three brothers (the other two being minors) who was the head and manager of the family, the grant being expressed to be " by way of favour and award and not in consideration of proprietary right." In this appeal, the appellant's (plaintiffs') case in a suit for a half share of the self-acquired property held by the eldest brother at his death, whether it was two-thirds or one-third of Sherpur, depended on whether the estate granted was the self-acquired property of the grantee, or the joint property of the three brothers. The appellants represented the second of the three brothers (who had separated himself in 1865 after a quarrel with his elder bro-brother, taking a third share of the property), and the respondent was the third brother. The Court in making the grant and from its terms and the conduct of the parties, that the estate granted was the joint property of the three brothers up to the time when the second brother separated; that the other two brothers remained joint until the death of the eldest brother in 1869, when the respondent became entitled by survivorship to two-thirds of the property; and that the appellants had altogether failed to prove that the eldest brother died entitled to either two-thirds or one-third of the Sherpur estate as separate property. That court consequently dismissed the suit, and the Judicial Committee on appeal affirmed that decision. KEDAR NATH v. RATAN SINGH (1910)

HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY—contd.

I. L. R. 32 All. 415

7. ———— Son's liabilities for father's debts—Mortgage—Suit for sale—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 85—Property sold in execution of decree for sale—Purchase by mortgagee decree-holder. In execution of a decree for sale upon a mortgage of joint family property executed by the head of a Hindu joint family certain property was brought to sale and purchased by the mortgagees. A member of the family (great grands mortg the m aware Held, ground by the fact that the mortgagee had himself purchased the mortgaged property. Devi Singh v. Jia Ram, I. L. R. 25 All. 214, followed. Ram Prasad v. Mon Mohan, I. L. R. 30 All. 256, dissented from. Lal Singh v. Pulandar Singh, I. L. R. 28 All. 182, referred to. BALWANT SINGH v. AMAN SINGH (1910) . . I. L. R. 33 All. 7

8. ———— Joint family, manager of——For what purposes managing, member may contract debts binding on co-parceners—Family necessity—Marri- manager to borrow money for such purpose, the transaction will bind the co-parceners whether they an alienation by the manager is not to be itely in-tions of asonable Devara

ad. 206, perform-

is the penalty. KAMESWARA SASTRI v. VEERACHARLU (1910) . . I. L. R. 34 Mad. 422

9. ———— Joint family property—Mortgage by father alone—Subsequent sale by father to a third party—Suit by mortgagees for sale—Competence of purchaser to rely on invalidity of mortgage The head of a joint Hindu family mortgaged in 1886 property belonging to the joint family, but neither for legal necessity not to pay an antecedent debt. In 1888 the mortgagor sold the same property to a third person. The purchaser remained in possession for more than twelve years, when the mortgagees instituted a suit for sale on their mortgage. Held, by RICHARDS, C.J, and BANERJI, J., that in view of the fact that the purchaser had acquired a title to the property by adverse possession as against all the members of the family, it was open to him, notwithstanding that his title was originally acquired from the mortgagor alone, to set up as a defence the invalidity of the mortgage. Per CHAMIER, J., that according to the ruling of the majority of the Full Bench in Chandradeo v. Mata Prasad, I. L. R. 31 All. 176, the mortgage made by the father alone was void, and, this being so, it was open to the purchaser, who was in possession of the property to rely upon its invalidity, whatever, the weaknes of his own title might be. Chandradeo v. Mata Prasad, I. L R. 31 All. 176; Balgobind Das v. Narain Lal, I. L R. 15 All 339; Brijbasi Lal v. Gopal Das, All. Weekly Notes (1908) 200; Kali Shankar v Nawab Singh, I. L. R. 31 All. 507, and Bhagirathi Misr v. Sheobhik, I. L. R. 20 All. 325, referred to. MUHAMMAD MUZAMIL-ULLAH v. MITHU LAL (1911) . I. L. R. 33 All. 783

10. ———— Mortgage by managing member—Suit by other members for redemption—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 85—Parties—Representative capacity of managing member. Although the manager of a Joint Hindu family is not as a rule entitled to sue or liable to be sued on behalf of the family—Padmakar Vinayak Joshi v. Mahadev Krishna Joshi, I. L. R 10 Bom. 21 and Kashi Nath Chimnaji v. Chimnaji Sadashiv, I. L. R. 30 Bom. 477—nevertheless in certain circumstances the whole family may be bound by the result of suits brought by or against the manager, notwithstanding that some members of the family were not made parties thereto. Balwant Singh v. Aman Singh, I. L. R. 33 All. 71; Debi Singh v. Jia Ram, I. L. R. 25 All. 214; Sundar Lal v. Chhitar Mal, 3 All. L. J. 644: 4 All. L. J. 17; Dhurm Dass Pandey v. Mussamat Shama Soondri Dibiah, 3 Moo. I. A. 229; Hari Saran Moitra v. Bhubaneswari Debi, I. L. R. 16 Calc. 40; Narayan Gop Habbu v. Pandurang Ganu, I. L. R. 5 Bom. 685; Jogendro Deb Roy Kut v. Funindro Deb Roy Kut, 14 Moo. I. A. 367; Bissessur Lal Sahoo v. Maharajah Luchmessur Singh, L. R. 6 I. A. 233: 5 C. L. R. 477; Ram Krishna Narayan v. Vinayak Narayan, 12 Bom. L. R. 219, and Gan Savant Ba Savant v. Narayan Dhond Savant, I. L. R. 7 Bom. 467, referred to. JADDO KUNWAR v. SHEO SHANKAR RAM (1910) . . I. L. R. 33 All. 71

11. ———— Mortgage by father—Sons not made parties to suit for sale on mortgage—Sale under decree—Suit by sons to redeem their interests. Where ancestral property belonging to a joint Hindu family has been sold in execution of a decree for sale on a mortgage executed by the father, the sons cannot maintain a suit for redemption of their interests in the property sold upon the ground solely that they had not been made parties to the suit of the mortgagee, nor is their position affected by the fact that the auction-purchaser is the mortgagee. Debi Singh v. Jia Ram, I. L. R. 25 All. 214; Lal Singh v. Pulandar Singh, I. L. R.

HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY—contd.

28 All. 182, and Balwant Singh v. Aman Singh, I. L. R. 33 All. 7, followed. Ram Prasad v. Man Mohan, I. L. R. 30 All. 256, dissented from. Ram Nath Rai v. Lachman Rai, All. Weekly Notes (1899) 27, referred to. KEHRI SINGH v. CHUNNI LAL (1911) . . . . I. L. R. 33 All. 436

12. ——— Alienation of family property—Right of subsequently born member of family to object—Held, that a member of a joint Hindu family who was born after the alienation of the family property by another member of that family cannot question the validity of that alienation. Chattarpal Singh v. Natha, All. Weekly Notes (1906), 26, followed. Hurodoot Narain Singh v. Beer Narain Singh, 11 W. R. 480, and Bunwari Lal v. Daya Shunkar, 13 C. W. N. 815, distinguished. CHUTTAN LAL v. KALLU (1910)

I. L. R. 33 All. 283

13. ——— Burden of proof—Nucleus—Presumption. It is necessary to establish the existence of a nucleus of joint family property before the property in the possession of any one member can be presumed to be joint family property. There is no presumption that a Hindu family has any joint property. Taruck Chunder Totaddar v. Joodhesteer Chunder Koondoo, 19 W. R. C. R. 178, dissented from. Moolji Lila v. Gokuldas Vulla, I. L. R. 8 Bom. 154, Toolseydas Ludha v. Premji Tricumdas, I. L. R. 13 Bom. 61, Dwarka Prasad v. Jamna Das, 13 Bom. L. R. 133, followed. Lal Bahadur v. Kanhaiya Lal, I. L. R. 29 All. 244, referred to. RAM KISHAN DAS v. TUNDA MAL (1911) . . . I. L. R. 33 All. 677

14. ——— Legal necessity—Mitakshara—Joint Hindu family—Father committed to the Court of Session—Loan taken for his defence. Held, that the necessity of raising money to pay for the defence of the head of a joint Hindu family committed to the Court of Session on a serious criminal charge was a valid legal necessity such as would support a mortgage of the family property executed by the father and one of his sons for such purpose. Thandradeo v. Mata Prasad, I. L. R. 31 All. 176; Luchmun Koour v. Mudaree Lall, 5 S. D. A. N.-W. P. 327, and Duleep Singh v. Sree Kishoon Panday, 4 N.-W. P. H. C. Rep. 83, referred to. BENI RAM v. MAN SINGH (1911) . I. L. R. 34 All. 4

15. ——— Money borrowed by father at a high rate of interest—Legal necessity—Burden of proof. When money is borrowed by the father of a joint Hindu family on the security of the family property at a very high rate of interest, it is for the lender seeking to enforce his claim to prove not only that there was necessity for borrowing the money, but also that there was necessity for borrowing it at an exorbitant rate of interest. Chandradeo v. Mata Prasad, I. L. R. 31 All. 176; Hurro Nath Rai Chaudhuri v. Randhar Singh, I. L. R. 18 Calc. 311, and Kameswar Pershad v. Run Bahadur Singh, I. L. R. 6 Calc. 843, referred to. NAND RAM v. BHUPAL SINGH (1911)

I. L. R. 34 All. 126

16. ——— Debt incurred by managing member of family—Presumption as to family benefit—Burden of proof. There is no presumption that a debt contracted by the manager of a Hindu firm or family is contracted for the benefit of the firm or family, and the plaintiff who seeks to bind the other members of the joint family will have to prove that it was a debt contracted for their benefit or with their consent, or that there was an urgent family necessity therefor. Soiru Padmanabh Rangappa v. Naryanrao bin Vithalrao, I. L. R. 18 Bom. 520; Sunkar Pershad v. Goury Pershad, I. L. R. 5 Calc. 321; Nagendra Chandra Dey v. Amar Chandra Kundu, 7 C. W. N. 725, and Krishna Ramaya Naik v. Vasudeo Venkatesh Pai, I. L. R. 21 Bom. 1808, referred to. Sheo Pershad Singh v. Saheb Lal, I. L. R. 20 Calc. 453, distinguished. GANPAT RAI v. MUNNI LAL (1911) I. L. R. 34 All. 135

17. ——— Purchase of mortgaged property by managing members—Suit for sale against managing members only—Civil Procedure Code (1908), O. XXXIV, r. 1. Where in a suit for sale on a mortgage the defendants mortgagors were the managing members of a joint Hindu family who in that capacity had purchased the mortgaged property, it was held that the family was sufficiently represented by the managing members and that the suit would not fail by reason of the non-joinder of the other members of the family. HORI LAL v. MUNMAN KUNWAR (1912) . . . I. L. R. 34 All. 549

18. ——— Mortgage for the benefit of joint family—Suit for sale by managing member alone—Parties—Civil Procedure Code, 1908, Order XXXIV, r. 1. Where in a suit for sale on a mortgage executed in favour of the manager of a joint Hindu family the plaintiff was the then managing member of the family, it was held that he was entitled in that capacity to maintain the suit and that it would not fail by reason of the non-joinder of the plaintiff's son, who was joint with him. Hori Lal v. Munman Kunwar, I. L. R. 34 All. 549, referred to. MADAN LAL v. KISHAN SINGH (1912) . . I. L. R. 34 All. 572

19. ——— Mortgage of property given to father and son—Subsequent purchase of portion of property by grandson who was separate in mess and business out of his self-acquisition—Adverse possession—Purchase as of remaining share by mortgagee at execution sale had by another creditor—Extinction of mortgagor's title. Some time after a mortgage had been executed of immoveable properties in favour of R and S, father and son, members of a joint Hindu family governed by the Mitakshara, a widow of the mortgagor sold such right and title, if any, as she had in half of the property of the mortgagor to B, son of S, who was joint with R and S at the time of the mortgage, but who prior to his purchase had ceased to be joint in food and business with S though there was no partition, and having received a present of a considerable sum of money from his grandmother, had been carrying on money-lending business on his own account and had found the purchase-money out of his separate self-acquired property. B got possession after his purchase and continued in possession for considerably over 12 years. Held, that the possession of the property by B was not that of a mortgagee but adverse to that of the mortgagee and the title of the mortgagor's representatives to redeem was lost by adverse possession. The remaining half share was sold in execution of a decree obtained by another creditor of the mortgagor in a suit brought against his representatives and purchased by S and passed by succession to B's heirs. Held, that the plaintiffs who claimed through the mortgagee had failed to establish any title by way of redemption or otherwise to any interest in the mortgaged property and his suit should be dismissed. PARBATI v. SAIYID MUHAMMAD MUZAFFAR ALI KHAN (1912)

HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY—contd.

16 C. W. N. 913

20. ———— Payment to one member of joint family, effect of—Joint family—Right of manager of undivided family to sue on behalf of the family. Payment to one member of an undivided Hindu family or to one of several joint creditors will not operate as a payment to all the members or creditors if the payment is fraudulently made to one and not for the benefit of all. The manager of a joint family has, as such manager the right to represent the family in suits. A suit by him as such manager on behalf of the joint family will be maintainable without making the other members parties to the suits. Kishen Prasad v. Har Narain Singh, 15 C. W. N. 321, followed. SHEIK IBRAHIM THARAGAN v. RAMA AIYAR (1912)
I. L. R. 35 Mad. 685

21. ———— Partition—Mitakshara—Joint family property—Acquisition by joint labour of co-parceners—Exclusion of a member —Suit for partition—Limitation. Where plaintiff sued as a co-parcener for partition of his share in joint family property and the defence was that the plaintiff's father was expelled from the family for misconduct, and that his share in the family property was given to him in 1874, and it was proved that the plaintiff who in 1874 was a child and left the family with his father and mother, re-appeared in the village in 1889 on his father's death and was then recognised as a member of the family and was not excluded till within five or six years of the suit when there was exclusion from commensality but no partition of the family property: Held, that the defence failed and the plaintiff's suit should succeed. JEOLAL MAHTON v. LOKE NARAYAN MAHTON (1912) . 16 C. W. N. 466

22. ———— Rights to well and water—Indivisible rights—Presumption—Partition of property which is joint. Under Hindu Law, rights to water and wells belonging to a joint family are indivisible, if they are numerically unequal; and after partition, these must be enjoyed by the separated co-parceners by turns. GOVIND ANNAJI v. TRIMBAK GOVIND (1910)
I. L. R. 36 Bom. 275

23. ———— Co-partnership—Presumption as to law governing family settling in province other than that of its origin—Transfer of the ancestral property—Liability of sons to pay the debts of their father—Conversion of some of the sons to Christianity, effect of—Status—Limitation—Removal of Caste Disabilities Act (XXI of 1850). The plaintiffs and the defendants Nos. 5 to 7 and the husbands of properties and continued to live jointly with his family. The defendants Nos. 1 to 4 were the transferees of the ancestral property which formed the subject-matter of this suit. On the 19th March 1900, Amrita Lal Pandey executed a deed of conveyance, whereby he transferred his ancestral property to the defendants Nos. 1 to 4, in satisfaction of certain debts incurred by him in 1892 and 1895. He was joined in this conveyance by the defendants Nos. 5 to 7. On the 26th December 1900, Amrita Lal Pandey died, leaving him surviving six sons, viz., the plaintiffs and the defendants Nos. 5 to 7, as also the widows of his two sons who had predeceased him in 1880 and 1883, respectively. Of the six sons, the plaintiffs Nos. 1 and 2 had been converted to Christianity in 1890 and 1896 respectively, the defendant No. 5 became a convert to the same faith in 1904, and the plaintiff No. 3 attained his majority in 1902. On the 19th March 1907, the plaintiffs filed their suit against the defendants Nos. 1 to 4 for a declaration of the plaintiffs' title to a three-seventh share of the ancestral property and for recovery of khas possession and mesne profits, and made the defendants Nos. 5 to 9 pro formâ defendants: Held, that when the grandfather of the plaintiffs migrated from Oudh to Bengal, the presumption was that he carried with him the laws and customs as to succession and family relations prevailing in the province from which he came. Such a presump- by proof ad usages Held, also, to Christianity, the first plaintiff ceased to be a member of the joint Hindu family, but that thenceforward he continued to hold the ancestral property as joint owner, and was entitled to recover possession of one-seventh share of the property on the basis that in 1890, upon the dissolution of the family, he became entitled to such share: Jalbhai Ardeshir Shet v. Louis Manoel, I. L. R 19 Bom. 680, and Lastings v. Gonasalves, I. L. R. 23 Bom. 539, distinguished. Held, further, that the second plaintiff, upon his conversion to Christianity in 1896, ceased to be a member of the joint family, and was not bound by the conveyance of the 19th March 1900, but that he was liable to satisfy the debts of his father incurred and charged upon the ancestral property prior to the date of his conversion: Ram Prasad Singh v. Lakhpati Koer, I. L. R. 30 Calc. 231, Balabux v. Rukhmabai, I. L. R. 30 Calc. 725, and Balkishen Das v. Ram Narain Sahu, I. L. R. 30 Calc. 738, distinguished. Held, further, that Amrita Lal Pandey was competent in 1900 to alienate the ancestral property in his hands, not merely in respect of his own interest, but also that of the third plaintiff. KULADA PRASAD PANDEY v. HARIPADA CHATTERJEE (1912)

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 407

24. ———— Allegation of separation in suit by some members for separate share—Expression of intention to hold share separately not proved—Right to mesne profits on separation—Exclusion from joint family, allegation—of Non-receipt of share of profits of joint property—Voluntary residence not [illegible] allowance as being [illegible] member of a joint [illegible] a suit in 1905 against the respondents, the other members of the family, alleging a separation by him in 1901, when he had expressed his intention to hold his share separately, and claiming possession of his share, with mesne profits. Held, that what may amount to a separation, or what conduct on the part of some of the members may lead to separation of a joint undivided Hindu family, and convert a joint tenancy into a tenancy-in-common, must depend on the facts of each case. A definite and unambiguous indication by one member of intention to separate himself and to enjoy his share in severalty may amount to separation but to have effect the intention must be unequivocal and clearly expressed. Separation from commensality does not as a necessary consequence effect a division (Rewun Persad v. Radha Beeby, 4 Moo. I. A. 137). A separation in mess and worship may be due to various casuses, and yet the family may continue joint in estate. In this appeal it was held (affirming the decision of the Court of the Judicial Commissioner), that on the evidence in, and under the circumstances of, the case and the conduct of the party alleging division of the family there had been no separation in 1901, and the appellant was consequently not entitled to mesne profits on that ground. He also claimed mesne profits on the ground of exclusion from the joint family, as he had not since 1901 received any share of the profits of the joint property. Held, that, although he had not received any of the profits of the joint estate, the evidence was clear that the appellant was offered an allowance from the profits of the joint property which he refused to accept as being inadequate, and that would not amount to exclusion. SURAJ NARAIN v. IQBAL NARAIN (1912) . . I. L. R. 35 All. 80

HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY—contd.

25. ———— Father, no power to revive time-barred debt. Held, that the father and manager of a joint Hindu family cannot legally revive a time-barred debt and bind the family property to secure its payment. Chandra Deo v. Mata Prasad, I. L. R. 31 All. 176, and Indar Singh v. Surja Singh, 8 All. L. J. 1009, followed. DALIP SINGH v. KUNDAN LAL (1913)
I. L. R. 35 All. 207

26. ———— Liability of sons in respect of a mortgage executed by father—Exemption of son's interests—Subsequent suit against the sons —What plaintiff's are entitled to recover. In 1892, a decree was passed on appeal for sale on a mortgage of joint family property against the father of the family. In 1896, the sons, who were not made parties to the original suit, obtained a decree exempting their shares in the family property. In 1897, the share of the father was sold and realized less than half the amount of the decree. In 1910, the mortgagees brought a suit against the sons to recover the balance of the mortgage debt after giving credit for the amount realized by sale in execution of the decree of 1892. Held, that the suit was not barred, but that the plaintiffs could only recover the unsatisfied portion of the decree of 1892 together with future interest as allowed by that decree. They could not treat the suit as an ordinary mortgage suit, merely giving credit for the amount realized under the decree of 1892, nor could they claim interest at the contractual rate on the unpaid amount of the decree. Lachman Das v. Dalu, All. Weekly Notes (1900), 125, followed. Dharam Singh v. Angan Lal, I. L. R. 21 All. 301 and Ran Singh v. Sobha Ram, I. L. R. 29 All. 544, referred to. JALESHAR RAI v. ANRUT RAI (1913) I. L. R. 35 All. 302

27. ———— Execution of decree—Power of managing member to enter up satisfaction of decree on behalf of the family. Held, that the managing member of a joint Hindu family can execute decrees on behalf of the family, and can receive payment and give good receipts on behalf of the family, which will be binding on the family. Hori Lal v. Munman Kunwar, I. L. R. 34 All. 549, followed. Ganga Dayal v. Mani Ram, I. L. R. 31 All. 156, distinguished. ACHHAIBAR SINGH v. RAM SARUP SAHU (1913) I. L. R. 35 All. 380

HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY—contd.

28. ———— Compromise, Mortgage—Suit for cancellation of mortgage executed by managing member—Compromise—Liability of sons. One K, as head of a joint Hindu family, executed in 1905 a usufructuary mortgage of the family property, in which the widow of his deceased brother joined as a co-mortgagor. In 1907 the mortgagors sued for cancellation of this deed, but entered into a compromise with the mortgagee, upon which a decree was passed maintaining the mortgage, but in a modified form. The mortgagee thereafter instituted a suit for enforcement of the mortgage as settled by the compromise decree. Held, that, in view of the fact that the courts below found that the compromise was genuine and for the benefit of the family, it was not open to the defendants to raise the question of the genuineness of the original mortgage, and that, whether or not the original mortgage was a genuine transaction, the compromise decree gave rise to a debt which was binding on the descendants of the original mortgagor K. Madan Lal v. Kishen Singh, I. L. R. 34 All. 572, referred to. RAM KUBER PANDE v. RAM DASI (1913) . . I. L. R. 35 All. 428

29. ———— Mortgage by two brothers of undivided shares, each assenting—Partition—Entire mortgaged property falling to the share of one brother—Effect of partition on rights of mortgagee. Two brothers constituting a joint Hindu family jointly mortgaged in 1819 a ten hiswa share in village Chauwar. In 1881, in substitution for this mortgage, each brother mortgaged to the same mortgagee a five hiswa undivided share in Chauwar, and each brother also signed the mortgage executed by the other. In 1888, the family property was partitioned and the whole ten hiswa of Chauwar fell to the share of one brother. Held, on suit by the son of the mortgagee for sale, that the plaintiff was entitled to bring to sale a five hiswa share in Chauwar under the mortgage executed by the brother who had lost possession of the village, and not merely to have recourse against such portion of the family property as he had taken in exchange therefor. Byjnath Lall v. Ramoodeen Chowdry, L. R. 1 I. A. 106, distinguished. SUNDAR LAL v. BRIJ LALL (1913)
I. L. R. 35 All. 543

30. ———— Presumptions as to property in the possession of. Property in the possession of a joint Hindu family should be presumed to be joint family property until the contrary is shown, even though it may have been acquired in the name of a particular member of the family. The fact that property stands in the individual name of one or other member of a joint Hindu family does not of itself give rise to the presumption that it is the separate property of that member. Gurumurthi Reddi v. Gurummal, I. L. R. 32 Mad. 88, Shiv Gulam Singh v. Baran Singh, 1 B. L. R. 164, and Taruck Chandra Totadar v. Joodheshteer Chunder Koondoo 19 W. R. 178, referred to. Ram Kishen Das v. Tunda Mal, I. L. R. 33 All. 677, discussed. KUNDAN LAL v. SHANKAR LAL (1913)
I. L. R. 35 All. 564

31. ———— Mortgage—Guardian ad litem —Suit on mortgage executed by father prior to birth of son—Father appointed son's guardian ad litem. Held, that, inasmuch as an after-born son cannot in a suit on a mortgage made by his father set up the defence of the immoral nature of the debt on account of which mortgage was executed, it cannot be said that the appointment of the father

HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY—contd.

as guardian ad litem in such suit would be necessarily prejudicial to the interests of the son. NARAIN DAS v. HAR DAYAL (1913) I. L. R. 35 All. 571

32. ———— Position of an infant member with regard to business contracts—Joinder of parties—Necessary parties to a suit on a business contract entered into by certain members of a joint Hindu family carrying on an ancestral business on who by birth or inheritance, becomes entitled to an interest in a joint family business, becomes at the same time a member of the trading corporation which carries on the business. Accordingly, it is not necessary in the case of a Hindu family to join in a suit upon a business contract minor members of the family who in fact take no share in the business which is carried on on behalf of the family. Those who actually were the contracting parties with the defendant must in the case of a suit by members of a Hindu family all be joined, but minor members of the family who take no part in the family business should not be joined in suing for business debts. LALJI NENSEY v. KESHOWJI PUNJA (1912) I. L. R. 37 Bom. 340

33. ———— Co-owners treating near relations as joint owners of property—Title if tered deed. Where, therefore, upon the death of a Hindu widow, the actual reversionary heirs of her husband treated two other relations, one degree entitled by their purchase to the share which he had been enjoying jointly with the actual reversioners. GIRIJI RANI MISRANI v. CHANDRA LAL KANTH (1912) . . . 17 C. W. N. 62

34. ———— Father's debt—Son's liability to pay, Mitakshara—Proof of immoral habits if enough. A sale of joint family property for a father's debt cannot, under the Mitakshara school of Hindu Law, be avoided by the sons merely proving that the father was a man of immoral habits. They must prove that the particular debt was incurred for an immoral purpose. SRI NARAIN v. LALA RAGHUBANS RAI (1912) 17 C. W. N. 124

35. ———— Fathers alienation—After-born son if precluded from questioning alienation—Mortgage if distinguishable from sale. It is well-settled that where a Mitakshara father has made an alienation without necessity and without the consent of sons then living, it would not only be invalid against them but also against any son born before they had ratified the transaction, and no consent given by them after his birth would render it binding upon him. Hrodoot v. Beer Narayan, 11 W. R. 48, Bunwari Lal v. Daya Sunkar, 13 C. W. N. 815, relied on. The rule applies with greater force in the case of a mortgage than in the case of an absolute alienation. Kissen Prasad v. Tippan Prasad, I. L. R. 34 Calc. 735, referred to. HAZARI MALL BABU v. ADANINATH ADHURJYA (1912) . . 17 C. W. N. 280

36. ———— Joint or self-acquired property—Self-acquisition of co-parcener thrown into common stock, if may be disposed of by will—Consent of other co-parceners, if necessary. Where the head of a joint Mitakshara Hindu family kept one account of the income of his ancestral and self-acquired property and used to treat the income of both kinds of property as one amalgamated fund: Held, that the property which had been acquired by him as his self-acquired property became the property of the joint family, which he was not competent to dispose of by will without the consent of his co-parceners. INDAR SAHAI v. SHIAM BAHADUR (1912) 17 C. W. N. 509

37. ———— Father's mortgage of immoveable property by—Mitakshara—Suit against sons—Limitation—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), Sch. I, Art. 132. A suit to enforce a mortgage of ancestral property executed by a Mitakshara father against his sons, is a suit to enforce payment of money charged upon immoveable property and is governed by Art. 132 of Sch. II of the Limitation Act of 1877. Maheshur Dutt v. Kishen Singh, I. L. R. 31 Calc. 184; 11 C. W. N. 294, followed Lachmun v. Giridhar, I. L. R. 5 Calc. 855 and Surja Prasad v. Golab Chand, I. L. R. 27 Calc. 762, not followed. Bhagabat Prasad v. Suba Lal, 7 C. L. J. 195, referred to. SHEO NARAIN RAY v. MOKSHODA DAS MITTRA (1913) 17 C. W. N. 1022 & 1025

perty nevertheless remaining with the purchaser. An auction-purchaser of immoveable property paid in the amount required by law as a preliminary deposit, but, being unable to find the remainder of the auction price, borrowed it on the security of a mortgage comprising the property purchased at the auction sale and also some property of the joint family of which the auction purchaser was the head. This mortgage was, however, executed after the expiry of the time fixed by law for payment of the balance of the auction price. The executing Court refused to accept payment of the balance, but the property remained with the purchaser, apparently in virtue of some arrangements with the judgment-debtor by whom ostensibly the decree was satisfied. Held, in the circum- ... mortgagee was ... and that the ... heard to plead that the mortgage money was not borrowed to pay an antecedent debt, within the meaning of the Hindu law. KAPILDEO v. THAKUR PRASAD (1913) . . . . I. L. R. 36 All. 17

39. ———— Sale of family property by managing member—For the benefit of the family—Sale binding on minor members of the family. The managing member of a joint Hindu family sold certain joint family property for the purpose members of the family, although the vendor was not in the circumstances of the case their natural guardian. Hunoomanpersaud Panday v. Munraj Koonweree, 6 Moo. I. A. 393, 412, and Mohanund Mondul v. Nafur Mondul, I. L. R. 26 Calc. 820, referred to. RAM CHARAN v. MIHIN LAL (1914)

HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY—contd.

I. L. R. 36 All. 158

40. ———— Parties to suits on mortgages —Members of Joint Hindu family represented by managing members of the family—Suit by members not made parties to suit to redeem property sold in execution of mortgage executed by managing members—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 85. In this appeal their Lordships of the Judicial Committee affirmed the decision of the High Court in Jaddo Kunwar v. Sheo Shankar Ram, I. L. R. 33 All. 71, on the ground that the plaintiffs (appellants) who sued to redeem a mortgage after foreclosure on the plea that they had not been parties to the mortgage suit, were properly and effectively represented in the suit by the managing members of the Hindu joint family of which the plaintiffs were also members, and that in such a case the Court was not bound to set aside the execution proceedings where substantial Justice had been done merely because every existing member of the family was not formally a party to the suit. Their Lordships saw no reason to dissent from the Indian decisions which showed that there were occasions, including foreclosure actions, when the managers of a Hindu joint family so effectively represented all the other members that the family as whole was bound and were of opinion that it was clear on the facts of this case, and on the findings of the Court upon them, that it was a case where that principle ought to be applied. There was not the slightest ground for suggesting that the managers of the joint family did not act in every way in the interests of the family itself, and no question arose under s. 85 of the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), because the mortgagee had no notice of the plaintiff's interests. SHEO SHANKAR RAM v. JADDO KUNWAR (1914)
I. L. R. 36 All. 383

41. ———— Twice-born caste—Debt—Marriage expenses of male member—Binding on the family. Marriage is obligatory on Hindus who do not desire to adopt the life of a perpetual Brahmachari or of a Sanayasi and debt reasonably incurred for the marriage of a twice-born Hindu male are binding on the joint family properties. Govindarazulu Narasimham v. Devarabhotla Venkatanarasayya, I. L. R. 27 Mad. 206, overruled. Kameswara Sastri Veeracharlu, I. L. R. 34 Mad. 422, approved. GOPALAKRISHNAM v. VENKATANARASA (1914) . I. L. R. 37 Mad. 273

42. ———— Alienation by managing member in part for necessity—Co-parcener's suit to set it aside—Form of decree—Practice. Where the managing member of a joint Hindu family consisting of himself and his nephew sold family property for a consideration of which part was found to be binding on the family, and the nephew sued to recover his share of the property from the alienee: Held, that according to equitable principles, in the absence of anything appearing to the contrary, the whole of the consideration for the sale, the valid as well as the invalid portion thereof, must be distributed over the whole of the property sold in proportion to the value of each part. Marappa Gaundan v. Rangasami Gaundan, I. L. R. 23 Mad. 80, dissented from. The proper decree in such a case is to decree to the plaintiff his share of the property sold after division by metes and bounds, on condition that he pays to the defendant a proportionate share of the consideration found binding, together with mesne profits from the day that he deposits the amount into Court, and gives notice thereof, to the defendant. VADIVELAM v. NATESAM (1914)
I. L. R. 37 Mad. 435

43. ———— Purchase from a co-parcener Its effect on family co-parcenary—Alienee, not a tenant-in-common —One member becoming out-caste excluded from the family—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Art. 142. When a co-parcener alienates his share in certain specific family property, the alienee does not acquire any interest in that property but only an equity to enforce his rights in a suit for partition and to have the property alienated set apart for the alienor's share if possible. Hem Chunder Ghose v. Thako Moni Debi, I. L. R. 20 Calc. 533, Amolak Ram v. Chandan Singh, I. L. R. 24 All. 483, Narayan bin Babaji v. Nathaji Durgaji, I. L. R. 28 Bom. 201, Pandurang v. Bhasker, 11 Bom. H. C. R. 72 and Udaram v. Ranu, 11 Bom. H. C. R. 76, approved. The alienee cannot therefore sue for partition and allotment to him of his share of the property alienated. Venkatarama v. Meera Labai, I. L. R. 13 Mad. 275, Palani Konan v. Masakonan, I. L. R. 201 Mad. 243, and Ramkishore Kedarnath v. Jainarayan Ramrachhpal, 14 Mad. L. T. 163, referred to. Such an alienee has no right to possession and no status as a tenant-in-common, although he might have obtained possession of the property in execution of the decree against one of the co-parceners. Deendyal Lal v. Jugdeep Narain Singh, L. R. 4 I. A. 247, Suraj Bunsi Koer v. Sheo Persad Singh, I. L. R. 5 Calc. 148, Hardi Narain Sahu v. Ruder Perkash Misser, I. L. R. 10 Calc. 626, followed. When a co-parcenor became an out-caste and was driven out of the family, and did not enjoy family property for over 12 years, it amounted to exclusion and the right to recover his share is barred. Per BAKEWELL, J.—The transferee only acquires an equity and it is only a right in personam and not a right in rem and the transferor remains a member of the co-parcenary until partition is effected. The question whether a general or partial partition will lie is not one relating to the law of procedure but must be decided according to the principles of Hindu Law. Subba Row v. Ananthanarayana Aiyar, 23 Mad. L. J. 64, 70, and Iburamsa Rowthan v. Theruvangadasami Naick, I. L. R. 34 Mad. 269 at p. 270, dissented from. A purchaser of the interest of a co-parcener must sue for a general partition of the entire family property. Iburamsa Rowthan v. Theruvengadasami Naick, I. L. R. 34 Mad. 269, 274, applied. When such purchaser fails to apply for amendment of his plaint, after an issue is raised questioning the frame of the suit, his suit is liable to be dismissed. Subba Row v. Ananthanarayana Aiyar, 23 Mad. L. J. 64, 70; referred to. MANJAYA v. SHANMUGA (1913) . . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 684

44. ———— Father's alienation—Son conceived but not born at the date of the alienation, Held, that a Hindu son is competent to contest an alienation made by the father at a time when the son was in his mother's womb. Sabapathi v. Somasundram, I. L. R. 16 Mad. 76, followed. Mussamut Goura Chowdhrain v. Chummun Chowdry, W. R. Gap. No. 340, not followed. Kalidas

HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY—contd.

Das v. Krishan Chandra Das, 2 B. L. R. 103, F. B., Hanmant Ramchandra v. Bhimacharya, I. L. R. 12 Bom. 105, Minakshi v. Virappa, I. L. R. 8 Mad. 89, referred to. DEO NARAIN SINGH v. GANGA SINGH (1914) . . . I. L. R. 37 All. 162

45. ———— Suit against father—Son's position and rights in execution proceedings. A creditor who has obtained a decree against the father of a joint Hindu family is entitled to put to sale the family property. The son whose interests are threatened is entitled to an opportunity of contesting both the factum and the nature of the debt, and there is nothing in law to prevent him from coming into court in the execution department and preventing, if possible on those two grounds the passing of his interest to the auction purchaser. If the points are decided against him, the Court in execution can put the property to sale. Shiam Lal v. Goneshi Lal, I. L. R. 28 All. 288, and Channu Tewari v. Dwarka, 3 All. L J. 423, followed. Nanomi Babuasin v. Modhun Mohun, I. L. R. 13 Calc. 21, referred to. Per PIGGOTT, J.—A creditor who at first made the sons of his debtor parties to a suit against the latter, but subsequently withdrew the suit as against them, would be in no worse position as regards the execution of his decree than he would have occupied if the sons had been impleaded. INDAR PAL v. THE IMPERIAL BANK (1915)
I. L. R. 37 All. 114

46. ———— Liability of the joint family for contracts entered into by managing members. A joint Hindu family firm must be regarded like any other joint family asset if it in fact, belongs of the family who do not actively participate in the conduct of the business, particularly if such business has been originally established to the detriment of the family property and handed down hereditarily, then the resultant liability of all the members of the family would be referable to the notion of managership by one or more members for the benefit of the rest in the usual sense in which the relations of the manager and other members of the family have often been accepted and defined in all the Courts and the liability of those members of the family not actively engaged in the conduct of the business would probably be restricted to the share of each such member in the joint Hindu family property. In a case where one or more members of a joint Hindu family start a business of their own not at the expense of the joint Hindu family nor with the intention of sharing its profits, and losses with the other members, the position of the members so carrying on a joint family business and their liabilities to the other members have to be regulated to the extent to which the conduct of such a firm and the resulting profits fall within the legal notion of self-acquisition. JOHARMAL LADHOORAM v. CHETRAM HARSING (1914) . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 715

47. ———— Alienation of a share of a member of a joint Hindu family—No right to alienee for mesne profits from the date of alienation till suit for partition. A purchaser of the undivided share of a member of a joint Hindu family does not thereby become a tenant-in-common with the other members and hence he is not entitled to any mesne profits in respect of his share for the period between the date of his purchase and the date of his suit for partition. Nanjaya Mudali v. Shanmug Mudali, 26 Mad. L. J. 576, followed The obiter dicta in Aiyyagiri Venkataramayya v. Aiyyagiri Ramayya, I. L. R. 25 Mad. 690, Chinnu Pillai v. Kalimuthu Chetti, I. L. R. 35 Mad. 47, and Subba Row v. Ananthanarayana Ayyar, 23 Mad. L. J. 64, disapproved and not followed. MAHARAJA OF BOBBILI v. VENKATARAMANJULU NAIDU (1914) . . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 265

48. ———— Father's debts—Liability of son to pay—Mortgage by father, not proved immoral—Decree against father and sons, form of—Consideration proved—Lender if bound to prove application of money as stated in bond. If the consideration for the mortgage was received by the mortgagor, the mortgage cannot be held inoperative merely be- I. L. R. 34 Calc. 735 : s. c. 11 C. W. N. 613, followed. The mortgage being one executed by a Mitakshara father, and the sons having failed to show that the loan was taken for immoral purposes, a decree was passed in the form it was made in Kishun Pershad v. Tipan Pershad, I. L. R. 34 Calc. 735 : s. c. 11 C. W. N. 613, e g., mortgage decree against the share of the father, and if the sale of that share was insufficient to satisfy the debt, interest and costs, balance to be realised by sale of the son's shares and interest in the ancestral property so far as necessary—six months' time being allowed for redemption. KRISHNA PRASAD v. RAMPERSHAD SING (1916) 20 C. W. N. 508

49. ———— Partition suit for, by one member—Whether effects separation. A member of a joint Hindu family becomes separated from the other members by the fact of suing them for partition. Suraj Narain v Iqbal Narain, I. L. R. 35 All. 80, 87, followed. SOUNDARARAJAN v. ARUNACHALAM CHETTY (1915) . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 159

50. ———— Father's debt—Son's liability to pay—Mortgage by Mitakshara father—Son, though of age, not a party to the deed—His liability—Moral obligation to pay father's debts, unless incurred for immoral purposes—Legal proof of immoral purposes. Liability on the part of a son to pay a father's debt arises from moral and religious duty and obligation and this is so even though the debt is not incurred for the benefit of the individual or for the estate. A son can only exempt himself from liability if he can establish that the father was guilty of applying the money for some immoral purpose. Although there need not be any direct proof that the money was raised to be spent on any particular person, yet one must be reasonably satisfied that the father was a man of vicious, extravagant and lustful habits and that he raised the money for the purpose of applying it for the immoral purpose. In some way by reasonable legal proof it must be shewn that there is a connection with the debt and the immoral purpose. Chintamanrav Mehendale v. Kashinath, I. L. R. 14 Bom, 320, and Dattatrayo Vishnu v. Vishnu Narayan, I. L. R. 36 Bom. 68, referred to. To be liable on a mortgage executed by the father for a purpose not proved to be immoral, it is not necessary for the adults sons to be parties to the bond. The case of Upooroop Tewary v. Lalla Bandhjee Sahay, I. L. R. 6 Calc. 749, seems to have been overruled if not distinctly qualified by the latter case, Baso

HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY—contd.

Kooer v. Hurry Das, I. L. R. 9 Calc. 495. BHAGAT MAL SAHU v. ABDUL KARIM (1916)
20 C. W. N. 797

51. ——— Separation—By one member of joint family—Expression of intention to hold share separately followed by suit for partition—Unequivocal and clearly expressed intention—"Separation" as distinct from "division of shares of property." In this case their Lordships of the Judicial Committee held, on the facts, that the conduct of the plaintiff, a member of a joint Hindu family governed by the Mitakshara law, in indicating by a notice in a registered letter his intention to separate himself and enjoy his share in severalty, coupled with a suit for partition was as "unequivocal" and "clearly expressed" an intention as could be made, and that it amounted to a separation with all its legal consequences. The rule of law applicable to cases of separation from the joint undivided family laid down in Suraj Narain v. Iqbal Narain, I. L. R. 35 All. 80 ; L. R. 40 I. A. 40, followed. Nowhere in the Mitakshara is it stated that agreement between all the coparceners is essential to the disruption of the joint status, or that the severance of rights can only be brought about by the actual division and distribution of the property held jointly. On the other hand, numerous authorities on the subject leave no room for doubt that "separation," which means the severance of the status of jointness, is a matter of individual volition. Separation from the joint family involving the severance of the joint status so far as the separating member is concerned with all the legal consequences resulting therefrom, is quite distinct from the de facto division into specific shares of the property held until then jointly. One is a matter of individual decision, the desire on the part of any one member to sever himself from the joint family and to enjoy the hitherto undefined or unspecified share separately from the others without being subject to the obligations which arise from the joint status; whilst the other is the natural resultant from his decision, the division and separation of his share, which may be arrived at either by private agreement among the parties, or on failure of that by the intervention of the Court. Once the decision has been unequivocally expressed and clearly intimated to his co-sharers, his right to obtain and possess the share to which he admittedly has a title is unimpeachable: neither the co-sharers can question it, nor can the Court examine his conscience to find out whether his reasons for separation were well founded or sufficient: the Court has simply to give effect to his right to have his share allocated separately from the others. Madho Parshad v. Mehrban Singh, I. L. R. 18 Calc. 157 ; L. R. 17 I. A. 194, Deo Bunsee Koer v. Dwarkonath, 10 W. R. 273, Appovier v. Rama Subba Aiyan, 11 Moo. I. A. 75, Joy Narayan Giri v. Girish Chunder Myti, I. L. R. 4 Calc. 434, L. R. 5 I. A. 223, and Vato Koer v. Rawshun Singh. 8 W. R. 82, referred to. GIRIJA BAI v. SADASHIV DHUNDIRAJ (1916) . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1031

52. ——— Separate entries in revenue record in the name of brothers and brother's widow—Separate mortgages by some brothers of respective shares—Presumption as to separation or joint possession—Plaintiffs not giving evidence, effect of—Onus and rebutting of inference from documentary evidence. Separate entries in the revenue records of names of members of a Mitakshara Hindu family in regard to specified areas standing by themselves, may be inconclusive to rebut the presumption of Hindu law relating to jointness or to prove separate possession when in its inception the family was admittedly joint, but where half-brothers claimed a deceased brother's share in certain villages and lands against his widow whose name as also those of the half, brothers had been separately recorded in the revenue records and it was in evidence that the half-brothers had executed separate mortgages in respect of their respective shares, and they did not come into the witness box to show that these transactions, although separate, were consistent with jointness: Held, that the acts of the brothers were only consistent with the hypothesis of separation. RAM SINGH v. TURSA KUNWAR (1913)
17 C. W. N. 1085

53. ——— Will by father—Bequeathing some lands to his daughter with consent of major son and of relations interested in his minor son—Validity of disposition. A father in a joint Hindu family can with the consent of his adult son and with the consent of his relations who are interested in a minor son of his, bequeath a portion of his property to his daughter provided the portion is reasonable in extent. Brijraj Singh v. Sheodan Singh, I. L. R. 35 All. 337, Kudutamma v. Narasimhacharyulu, 17 Mad. L. J. 528, Anivillah Sundara Ramayya v. Cherla Seethamma, 21 Mad. L. J. 695, and Arunachela Pillai v. Sampurnathachi, 27 Mad. L. J. 485, applied. PATRA CHARUAR v. SRINIVASA CHARIAR (1917)
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 1122

54. ——— Alienation by father—Suit by sons to set aside alienation—One of the sons born after alienation—Whether his interest bound—Time-barred debt acknowledged by registered deed—Undue influence—Father's interest bound by the deed—Time when the share is ascertained. The plaintiffs A and B and defendant No. 2, their father, constituted a joint Hindu family. On September 19th, 1901, defendant No. 2 sold certain family land to defendant No. 1. Plaintiff B was born subsequently to the date of the alienation and was a minor when the suit was filed. The plaintiffs sued to set aside the sale deed on the ground that it was taken from defendant No. 2 by undue influence and for no consideration. The Subordinate Judge dismissed the plaintiffs' suit holding that the consideration for the deed was an antecedent debt which though barred by time was acknowledged by defendant No. 2 by a registered deed which was binding on the plaintiffs. The lower appellate Court reversed the decree and directed that plaintiffs and defendant No. 2 be restored to possession. On appeal to the High Court by defendant No. 1, the question was raised whether the time-barred debt acknowledged by the registered deed was not good consideration for the alienation of the defendant No. 2's interest in the property. Held, that defendant No. 2's interest was bound by the deed. Held, also, that defendant No. 1 acquired the half share in the alienated property to which defendant No. 2 was entitled at the date of the alienation owing to the fact that the minor plaintiff was not then born. NARO GOPAL v. PARAGAUDA (1916)
I. L. R. 41 Bom. 347

55. ——— Mortgage—Mitakshara—Joint Hindu family—Mortgage of joint Hindu family property by father—Mortgage executed at

FAMILY—contd.

of sons in suit to enforce ...—Burden of proof. The antecedent debts which ...ge or sale by the father ... by the Mitakshara law, ... a general and sound ...contracted by the father ...e joint family estate he ...der of mortgage or sale of ...ebt, is one which should ... be very carefully guar... ...ther on the occasion of a ...e on the family estate ...; to hold otherwise ...nly and improperly the ...ption provided by the ...on of the majority of ...of Chandradeo Singh v. ... All. 176, approved. ...in Nanomi Babuasin v. ...13 Calc. 21, 35; L. R. ...as to the estab... India of "the principle ...up their rights against an antecedent debt, or ...les for their debts if ...," does not give any ...the joint family estate ...ed in such manner ...for except where the ...n order to discharge ...tly incurred, but ...ownership of the ...ed or supposed ... The exception ...father's debts ...e credit ob... ...h did not ...t family ...

HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY

February, 1880, when K came of age. ... book was thereafter kept by or for D ... the property which had come to ... one ...

which had been acquired from the ... or any other sort of revenue, and ... his expenditure of whatsoever kind. ... "a deorh" partition, that is, an ... of the several properties const... mutual exchanges were made ... his share in some ancestral family ... share of K in the property ... brother's estate. In a suit by D's sons (the appellants) after the ... aside deeds of gift made by D ... respondents, on the ground th... made out of the joint ancestral ... therefore invalid. Held (rever... the High Court), that the pro... the brother's estate to the ... as collateral heirs was ... by blending that property w... in the accounts, and by the ... made on the partition, D ... common stock, and the ... ancestral family estate, ... porting to be conveyed to ... deeds of gift were joint ... which D had no power ... appellants were entitled ... Narain v. Ratan Lal, ... 11, I. A. 201, f... NAZMA BEGUM (...

57. ... individual ... Mitakshara ... personally, ... by a ... ordinary ... men...

HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY—contd.

entitled to maintenance out of the impartible estate in the hands of his successor. This follows from the fact that in an impartible zemindari there is no co-parcenary. Sartaj Kuari v. Deoraj Kuari, I. L. R. 10 All. 272 ; L. R. 15 I. A. 15 ; and Venkata Surya Mahipati Rama Krishna Rao v. Court of Wards, I. L. R. 22 Mad. 393 ; L. R. 26 I. A. 83, followed. Bachoo v. Mankorebai, I. L. R. 29 Bom. 51, 58, approved. The view taken in the Madras Courts prior to the cases above cited that there was joint property in an impartible zemindari which only fell short of co-parcenary because by custom there was no right to partition is no longer tenable. The right of sons to maintenance in an impartible zemindari had been so often recognized that it is not necessary in each case to prove a custom. There are other persons entitled to maintenance either by reason of their exclusion from the succession owing to personal disqualification or by reason of personal relationship to one of the line of zemindars, but the latter class does not include grandsons. Yarlagadda Malikarjuna Prasada Nayudu v. Yarlagadda Durga Prasada Nayudu, I. L. R. 24 Mad. 147, (155) ; L. R. 27 I. A. 151, 157 and Nilmony Singh Deo v. Hingoo Lall Singh Deo, I. L. R. 5 Calc. 256, 259, approved. In the present case no special custom had been proved or even alleged; and the claim was not based on personal relationship. Rama Rao v. Rajah of Pittapur (1918)

I. L. R. 41 Mad. 778

59. ———— Partition in ignorance of rights by the widows of the family—Gift by one widow with the consent of the widow of the last male holder—Suit by the latter to recall gift for breach of conditions—Subsequent suit by reversioner to recover possession of the property gifted away—Whether the suit barred by res judicata —Widow's power of representation, extent of—Adverse possession—The Indian Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Sch. I, Arts. 141, 142, 144. Three brothers S, P and M constituted a joint Hindu family. M survived S and P and died in the year 1878. Each of the brothers left a widow. T... widows of S and P persuaded V, the widow ... make a partition of the entire propert... each widow were entitled of her own ... This having been done, in th... widow of S acting as the agent ... con- sent made a gift of the p... defendants. The widow of ... that gift. In 1904, V broug... property gifted away alleging ... sented to and approved of th... conditions which were not com... donees. The defendants resiste... ground that they were not done... had received the property from ... and held it adversely to V and to ... represented. The suit was dismiss... limitation. In 1911 V died and a ... stituted by the plaintiff, her daughter, ... reversioner of the estate of her father ... tion having arisen whether the suit was ... res judicata. Held, that the suit was n... by res judicata as V did not fully repr... estate in her suit of 1904. The decision ... suit was not inter partes nor was it a deci... ... and moreover the ground of V's claim in ... suit had nothing in common with the plain... suit. The plaintiff also claimed not throug... but in her own right as the reversioner of father M. Katama Natchiar v. The Rajah of Shivagunga, 9 Moo. I. A. 539, discussed. During the continuance of a widow's life estate, adverse possession which begins in and runs its course before that life estate terminates, will be no bar to reversioners. Nor will litigation by the widow in the enjoyment of such a life estate, whether she be plaintiff or defendant, represent the estate fully so as to give rise to a bar of res judicata against reversioners if such litigation is qualified and personal to the widow or has arisen out of acts of her own affecting the estate during her own life estate therein. Subbi v. Ramkrishnabhatta (1917) . . I. L. R. 42 Bom. 69

60. ———— Blending accounts by managing member, joint funds and of his own self-acquired property in same account book—Entries in such book evidence of intention to make self-acquired property joint—Purchases made in name of son-in-law out of funds so blended to provide for son-in-law—Statement to that effect made by manager admissible as being against his own interest—Benami deeds—Civil Procedure Code (1882), s. 317. With respect to a Hindu joint family the law is that while it is possible that a member of the joint family can make separate acquisitions, and keep moneys and property so acquired as his separate property, yet the question whether he has done so is to be judged by all the circumstances of the case. Where a member of a joint Hindu family at Lucknow, who had made considerable savings from his earnings as a pleader at Hardoi, where he was entrusted with the management of the joint family property at that place, eventually became ... member of the joint family at Luckno... accounts of the joint property and of ... ear... in one account book an... pr... the name of his so... the ... in the account ... his private ... on joint acc... ke them join... to be join... chases ent... family. A of his son- made to p... ment agains... admissible i... ther with th... cient to give of such purc... ...ily. Su...

de payment of the sum of ... with interest. But they were not liable to refund that part of the consideration which was paid in cash, inasmuch as, so long as their fathers were alive, the pious duty to pay the debts of their grandfather did not devolve upon them. RAM SINGH v. CHET RAM (1919) I. L. R. 41 All. 529

62. ———— Father debts—Father debts—Execution against joint property—Whether son's interest pass... joint family ... partition of ... not including all the family properties, whether bad in law. The plaintiff was the son of defendant No. 5. They constituted an undivided Hindu family. Defendants Nos. 6 and 7 obtained a money decree against the 5th defendant and in execution of the decree, the defendants Nos. 1 to 4 became purchasers at the Court-sale of two of the properties belonging to the joint family. The plaintiff, a minor, thereupon, brought a suit against his father (defendant No. 5) and the decree-holders as well as the auction-purchasers for a declaration that the plaintiff's half share in the two properties did not pass to the auction-purchasers and for possession of his half share on equitable partition. The lower Court decreed the plaintiff's claim. On appeal to the High Court it was contended: (i) that the son's interest in the property did pass at the Court-sale, and (ii) that the suit for a partial partition of the family properties was bad: Held, that the son's interest did not pass to the purchasers at the Court-sale. Timmappa v. Narsinha Timaya, I. L. R. 37 Bom. 631, followed. Held, also, that when a coparcener was suing an auction-purchaser it was not a valid objection to the suit that the co parcener claimed only a partial partition. Subramanya Chettyar v. Padmanabha Chettyar, I. L. R. 19 Mad. 267, and Ram Charan v. Ajudhia Prasad, I. L. R. 28 All. 50, followed. Held, further, that the auction-purchasers should be allowed to file a suit against the plaintiff for a general partition of the entire family properties. Deendyal Lal v. Jugdeep Narain Singh, L. R. 4 I. A. 247, and Baboo Hurdey Narain Sahu v. Pundit Baboo Rooder Perkash Misser, L. R. 11 I. A. 26, followed. HANMANDAS RAMDAYAL v. VALABHDAS (1918) . I. L. R. 43 Bom. 17

62(a) ———— Sale—To pay off an antecedent debt of her father a daughter of a separate Hindu sold a house which had been the property of her father in his life-time and had been previously mortgaged by her and her mother jointly as security for the same debt. The debt at the time of the sale amounted to Rs. 7,775 and the house was sold for Rs. 10,500. It was found that the house was not one that had been divided and sold piecemeal. Held that the reversioner of the last male owner was not in the circumstances entitled to recover the house from the vendees. BAL KRISHNA DASS v. HIRA LAL.

I. L. R. 41 All. 338

... of mem- ... some portion of ... in law as to other portions. Where a member of a Hindu family who is divided in status from other is in enjoyment of some portion of the family properties, while others enjoy other portions, he is not in law excluded or ousted from those other portions, so as to disentitle him to his share of those portions, however long their enjoyment by others. Vishnu Ramachandra v. Ganesh, I. L. R. 21 Bom. 325, not followed. Lakshman Dada Naik v. Ramachandra Dada Naik, I. L. R. 5 Bom. 48, followed. KUMARAPPA CHETTIAR v. SAMINATHA CHETTIAR (1918) I. L. R. 42 Mad. 431

64. ———— Trading family, Loan by manager—Onus as to binding nature of loan—Account books not produced—Presumption against party—Onus of proof in cases of joint family business. Where the members of a devastanam committee sued the members of a Hindu joint trading family to recover a debt borrowed from the plaintiffs by the managing member of the family, and the defendants failed to produce their account books though summoned by the plaintiffs. Held, that, assuming that the onus of proving the binding nature of the debt lay on the plaintiffs even in the case of a trade carried on as joint family business it was shifted to the defendants on account of the presumption arising against them by their omission to produce their accounts called for by the plaintiffs, a presumption which arises against them whether the plaintiffs have any evidence or not. Murugesam Pillai v. Manickavasaka Desika Gnana Sambanda Pandara Sannadhi, I. L. R. 40 Mad. 402, applied. Quære: Whether, in a joint trading family, the onus of proof as to the nature of the debt is not on the family. Raghunathji Tarachand v. The Bank of Bombay, I. L. R. 34 Bom. 72, referred to. GURUSWAMI NADAR v. GOPALASAMI ODAYAR (1919)

I. L. R. 42 Mad. 629

65. ———— Karta—If can start new business so as to make minor member liable—Karta as certificated guardian, powers of—Minor receiving benefit of such business and not repudiating on being major, liability of—Guardians and Wards Act (VIII of 1890), s. 27—Contract Act (IX of 1872), ss. 247, 248. The powers of the karta of a joint Hindu family in respect of a trade started after the death of the ancestor are not the same as those in respect of a trade started by the ancestor and carried on after his death by the karta, and the minor members of the family are not liable for the debts incurred by the karta in respect of such business.

... under the control of the Court and can no longer exercise the powers of a karta. A certificated guardian cannot start a new trade for the benefit of his ward, at any rate, without the sanction of the Court. S. 27 of the Act deals with the power of a guardian with respect to the property of a minor of which he assumes charge and it cannot be said that the starting of a new trade is reasonable and proper for the benefit of the property with... liabil... qure... tion ... not repudiate the act of the guardian on being major: Held, that s. 247 of the Contract Act provides that a minor may be admitted to the benefit of a partnership and though he cannot be made personally liable for any obligation of the firm the share of such minor in the property of the firm is liable for the obligations of the firm. The liability under s. 247 does not depend on the powers of the karta or guardian but on the question whether the minor was admitted to the benefits of the partnership and his liability is limited to his share of the properties. The liability under s. 248 depends upon the fact of his not having repudiated the partnership on attaining the age of majority. The question of the minor's personal responsibility depends on his having retained the properties with the knowledge that it was on account of the new business and not the ancestral one and in the absence of a finding on this point it was inequitable to hold that the minor made himself personally liable for all the obligations of the firm merely because on attaining majority he retained some property acquired out of it. KRISHNADHAN BANERJI v. SANYASI CHARAN MANDAL (1919) . . . . 23 C. W. N. 500

HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY—contd.

66. ——————Separation of one member only —The rest of the family remaining joint—Reunion. The filing of a suit by a member of a joint Hindu family in which the plaintiff declares that he wishes for partition and specifies his share amounts to a separation. But from this it does not follow that where, without any suit, one member of a family separates himself from the others and relinquishes his rights in the family estate taking either no share in the family estate or perhaps a less share of a greater share, the surviving members cannot remain united. Where such a separation of one member of a joint family takes place, it is not the necessary result in law that the other members must be taken to have separated inter se and then to have reunited. Balabux v. Rukhmabai, I. L. R. 30 Calc. 725, and Kawal Nain v. Parbhu Lal, L. R. 44 I. A. 159 ; I. L. R. 39 All. 496, distinguished. PARSOTAM DAS v. JAGAN NATH (1919) I. L. R. 41 All. 361

67. —————— Father's debt—Mitakshara—Joint Hindu family—Money borrowed by father at high rate of interest—Legal necessity—Burden of proof—Indian Contract Act (IX of 1872), s. 16. When money is borrowed by the father of a joint Hindu family on the security of the family property at a very high rate of interest, it is for the lender seeking to enforce his claim to prove not only that there was necessity for borrowing the money, but that there was necessity for borrowing it at an exorbitant rate of interest. Nand Ram v. Bhupal Singh I. L. R. 34 All. 126 Gaya Prosad Tewari v. Ram Phal, Misir, 13 A. L. J. 246, and Rao Raghunath Singh v. Nazar Begam, 19 Indian Cases 639, followed. The argument that a Court has no power to reduce the contract rate of interest otherwise than in cases which fall within the provisions of s. 16 of the Contract Act applies to cases where the parties to the suit are the parties to the contract. BHIKHI SAHU v. KODAI PANDE (1919) . . . . I. L. R. 41 All. 523

68. —————— Legal necessity—Mitakshara —Joint Hindu family—Money borrowed by manager at high rate of interest—Burden of proof. When money is borrowed by the manager of a joint Hindu family on the security of the family property at a very high rate of interest, it is for the lender seeking to enforce his claim to prove not only that there was necessity for borrowing the money, but also that there was necessity for borrowing it at an exorbitant rate of interest.

HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY—contd.

Failing such proof as regards the rate of interest. it is competent to the Court to reduce the rate, Nazir Begam v. Rao Raghunath Singh, I. L. R. 41 All. 571, Hurro Nath Rai Chowdhri v. Randhi Singh, I. L. R. 18 Calc. 311, L. R. 18, I. A. 1, and Nand Ram v. Bhupat Singh, I. L. R. 34 All. 126, referred to. RAM KHELAWAN KASAUNDHAN v. RAM NARESH SINGH (1919) I. L. R. 41 All. 609

69. —————— Antecedent debt—Mortgage of joint family property—Liability of sons—Family necessity—Burden of proof—Disputed mortgage executed to pay off earlier mortgages. The joint ancestral estate of a Hindu family cannot be effectively sold or charged in such a manner as to bind the issue of the father, except where the sale or charge has been made in order to discharge an obligation not only antecedently incurred, but incurred wholly apart from the ownership of the joint estate or the security afforded or supposed to be available by such joint estate. Hence where it was sought by the sons to invalidate a decree for sale obtained by the mortgagee upon a mortgage of joint family property executed by the father, and it appeared that the mortgage in question had been executed to pay off two earlier mortgages of joint family property also executed by the father, it was held that it was for the defendant mortgagee to show that these earlier mortgages fell within the exception recognized by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in the case of Sahu Ram Chandra v. Bhup Singh, I. L. R. 39 All. 437. BRIJ NARAIN RAI v MANGAL PRASAD (1918)
I. L. R. 41 All. 235

70. ——————Legal necessity.—The father of a joint family mortgaged some of the joint property. He then died having two sons. Then one of the sons died leaving 2 sons. Their uncle then sold the property as managing member. The purchasers brought a suit for redemption. Held that it was not open to mortgagee in that suit to set up a defence that there was no legal necessity for the sale. DURGA PRASAD v. BHAJAN.
I. L. R. 43 All. 50

70(a)———— Father's Simple Money debt— [Sons not liable during father's life-time.] The pious obligation of a Hindu son to pay his father's debts can only be enforced after the death of the father.

Hence, where on a promissory note executed by the father a simple money decree was obtained against him and in execution thereof a part of the family property was attached, and the sons brought a suit for a declaration that their shares in the property were not liable to satisfy the decree against their father, who was alive, it was held, that the sons were entitled to the declaration sought. Sahu Ram Chandra v. Bhup Singh, I. L. R., 39 All., 437 ; L. R., 44 I. A., 126 and Bharath Singh, v. Prag Singh, 43 Indian Cases, 291, referred to. SHEODAN SINGH v BHAGWAN SINGH, I. L. R. 43 All. 496

71. —————— Mortgage by Father—Representation in proceedings—When a Hindu father the head of a joint family consisting of himself or minor son executed a mortgage of the entire ancestral estate in order to secure a loan for the purpose of preventing the property being sold for arrears of Government Revenue and the mortgagees obtained a decree on the mortgage without making the son (who was still a minor) a party to the suit and purchased the property in execution of that decree. Held that the son was not entitled to redeem whether the mortgagees had notice of his interest or not. In such a suit the interest of the son is sufficiently represented by the father unless it can be shewn age suit for the redeem. RAGHU-. DAYAL SINGH.

HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY—contd.

2 Pat. L. J. 306

71. . . . en- term mily not nem-
bers of a joint Hindu family must not be treated as necessarily or ipso facto partners in any partnership into which a member of the family, or even the manager of the joint family, may see fit to enter. Gangayya v. Venkataramiah I. L. R., 41 Mad., 454, and Ramanathan Chetty v. Yegappa Chetty 30 M. L. J., 241, referred to. Narain Das v. Ralli Brothers 31 Indian Cases, 45, doubted. KHARIDAR KAPRA COMPANY, LIMITED v. DAYA KISHAN I. L. R. 43 All. 116

72. ———— Will by a father bequeathing and inoperative as against the son, although it would have been a proper provision if made by the father during his lifetime. Patra Chariar v. Srinivasa Chariar, (1917), I. L. R. 40 Mad. 1122, and Kudutamma v. Narasimha Charyulu (1908), 17 M. L. J. 528, distinguished. SUBBARAMI REDDI v. RAMAMMA (1920)

I. L. R. 43 Mad. 824

73.
—Wh
share charge, is bound. A member of a joint Hindu family governed by the Mitakshara, cannot deal with his share in the property of the joint family so as to create a charge which will survive him. Held, further, that a suit by the holder of the bond to enforce his security against the sons of the surety (he having died and the principal debtor having defaulted) was governed by Art. 120 of the Limitation Act, 1908, and not by Art. 132. JWALA PRASAD v. MAHARAJAH PROTAP UDAINATH SAHI DEO . . . . . 1 Pat. L. J. 497

74. ———— Money borrowed by manager—Duty of lender. A person who lends money to the manager of a joint Hindu family is bound to satisfy himself, by enquiry, honestly made, that the advance is required by the manager as borrower, for a valid family necessity and for the benefit of the estate. It is for him to show that the borrowing was the act of a prudent manager or that enquiry into the prudence of the act was made. It is not enough merely to show that the manager stated that the money was required for certain specified purposes MANDIL DAS v. MEGH NARAIN DUBEY
1 Pat. L. J. 39

75. ———— Primogeniture—Partition suit by younger sons compromised, presumption from. The fact that the younger sons have in various contested suits, invariably failed to establish that they were entitled to a share by partition and that in each case they compromised their claim by accepting a mere grant by way of maintenance, is some evidence of the right of the eldest son to take the entire property by primogeniture. CHOUDHARY BALVADRU SAMANT SINGH v. BIMBADHAR ROY . . . . 1 Pat. L. J. 509

75(a) ———— Manager's contract.—A contract entered into by the manager of a Hindu joint family can be specifically enforced even, though some of the members of the joint family were minors. HARI CHARAN KUAR v. KAMLA RAI
2 Pat. L. J. 513

good Rela-a loan by a some mis-
. BENARES
BANK v JAGDIP NARAYAN PANDEY
6 Pat. L. J. 198

77. ———— Separation, though property
ounds—Profits
one Member specific share.
Although a member of a joint Hindu family may not, so long as the family remains joint, be able to say what his share in the joint family property is, the situation is altered as soon as the family separates, though the property is not actually defined from suing the other members for joint possession of it. SHEODAN KURMI v. BALKARAN KURMI . . . I. L. R. 43 All. 193

78. ———— Suit by son for a declara- of the purchase money to the vendees. Plaintiff, the son of a Hindu, sued for a declaration that three sales of joint family property effected by his father should not affect his (plaintiff's) rights as a co-parcener. The lower Courts decreed plaintiff's claim. The defendants vendees presented a second appeal to the High Court and urged that the decree should be made conditional on plaintiff refunding to the vendees his share of the purchase money. Held, that it would be opposed to principles to observe in the majority of the rulings cited to make the decree conditional

I. L. R. 2 Lah. 333

79. ———— Kasta-position of it that of Trustee in strict sense—Misapplication artition—manager position of
of for received had the money been profitably dealt with. The rule of Dattaka Chandrika that on a partition of joint family property of a Sudra family an adopted son is entitled to share equally with the legitimate son born to the adopted father subsequently is applicable in Madras. Karuturi Gopalam v. Karuturi Venkataraghavalu. I. L. R. 40 Mad., 632 over ruled. ARUMILLI PERRAZU & ORS. v. ARUMILLI SUBBARAYADU & ORS.
26 C. W. N. 1

HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY—concld.

no right individual .
partition -- - it may become available for the mortgage debt. A horoscope drawn up by a person since deceased is admissible to prove the age of the person therein mentioned but is not conclusive proof. AMAR DAYAL SINGH v. HAR PARSHAD SAHU

5 Pat. L. J. 605

85. ——— Partition—A suit for partition under Hindu law was filed in 1909. At the actual division of the property, the lower court allowed the plaintiffs their share of the mesne profits of certain family lands cultivated by the defendant manager personally for the years 1905 to 1909. The defendant having raised objection to this part of the decree Held upholding the defendant's objection, for the mesne p
A manager of a j to keep accounts while the family remains joint, and when a partition is asked for, partition takes place of the property as it exists in the hands of the manager. Under Hindu Law, as far as the joint family is concerned, it is considered as one entity until the moment comes for division, and then each party gets his actual share. In the meantime if there are any expenses which should properly be incurred by the joint family purse, those expenses are taken out of the family property, and they cannot be debited to a particular co-parcener. CHATURAM v. GOTURAM RADHAKISAM (1920) I. L. R. 44 Bom. 179

HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY PROPERTY.

See, HINDU LAW JOINT FAMILY.

1.

Art. 126. A Hindu who at the time had a minor son, sold certain joint property in 1887. The sale was pre-empted and part of the property was subsequently transferred by one of the pre-emptors. The vendor's son attained majority in 1895. More than three years after 1895 three sons were born to him and in 1913 the father and the sons sued for cancellation of the sale-deed of 1881. Held, that the suit was barred by limitation, inasmuch as the title of the son of the original vendor became barred in 1898. The property ceased to be joint family property and the subsequently born grandsons were not in a position to dispute the sale. LACHMI NARAIN v. KISHAN KISHORE CHAND (1915) . . . . I. L. R. 38 All. 126

2. ——— Self-acquisition property—In name of co-parcener when—Test, source of purchase-money. Where there is a dispute whether a property standing in the name of a junior member of a Hindu family is his self-acquisition, the criterion is from what source the money comes with which the purchase-money is paid. Dhurm Das Pandey v. Shama Soondri Dibiah, 3 Moo. I. A. 299, Gopi Krist Gosain v. Gungapersaud Gosain, 6 Moo. I. A. 53, followed. Where there was no evidence that the son in whose name the property was purchased had any separate fund or that the properties in dispute were purchased with money belonging to him: Held, that the presumption was clear and decisive that the property was acquired by the father in the name of the son and it was not the latter's self-acquired property.

HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY PROPERTY—contd.

PARBATI DASI v. RAJA BAIKUNTHA NATH DEY (1913) . . . . . 18 C. W. N. 428

3. ——— Gift by Karta—Statement against interest—Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 32, sub-s. (3)—Civil Procedure Code (XIV of 1882), s. 317. Where the Karta of a Mitakshara joint family has habitually mixed his professional earnings in account with receipts from the joint property, and the circumstances are such that purchases by him in the name of himself or his brother, are to be regarded as joint family property, it is still competent to him to make a gift out of his earnings, though they have been brought into the account. A statement made by the Karta, since deceased, in a former suit that he bought properties as a provision for his son-in-law is admissible in the joint family.

at sales in execution, and as to which the son-in-law was the certified purchaser, the claim by the joint family was held to be barred by s. 317 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1882. SURAJ NARAIN v. RATAN LAL (1917) . . L. R. 44 I. A. 201
I. L. R. 40 All. 159

4. ——— Mortgage by Karta—No rights against Karta. A mortgage of the joint family property of a Mitakshara family by its karta, unless necessity or an antecedent debt is proved, is void; the transaction itself gives to the mortgagee no rights against the karta's interest in the joint family property. Madho Parshad v. Mehrban Singh, L. R. 17 I. A. 194, applied. Mahabeer Persad v. Ramyad Singh, 12 B. L. R. 90, discussed. NARAIN PRASAD v. SARNAM SINGH (1917)
L. R. 44 I. A. 163
I. L. R. 39 All. 500

5. ——— Sale of entire property by one co-parcener—Sale operates only upon the co-parcener's share in the property—Purchaser cannot get joint possession of the share but is only entitled to declaration of his rights. Under the Mitakshara as interpreted in the Bombay Presidency, a co-parcener can sell his own interest in joint family property provided there is valuable consideration for the sale. The sale is valid, even though the sale deed takes the form, not of a sale of his interest but of a sale of the whole property. In such a case, joint possession cannot be given to the purchaser, but merely a declaration that he has acquired the interest of the vendor, whatever that may be in the particular property, and a direction that he be left to recover that interest by separate suit for partition in which all necessary parties and properties should be joined. PANDU VITHOJI v. GOMA RAMJI (1918)
I. L. R. 43 Bom. 472

6. ——— Co-sharers—Minor reversioner—Suit for recovery of possession by, on attaining majority—Limitation—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Sch. I, Art. 141. Where a Hindu plaintiff within 3 years of attaining majority sued to recover possession of a two annas share in an alleged joint-family property claiming through his mother and grandfather: Held, that the first thing the Court had to decide was whether the properties were joint and whether the plaintiff's grandfather or mother had been in possession as a co-sharer. Art. 141 of the Limitation Act would apply only if the plaintiff's mother was dispossessed; in that case the plaintiff as the reversioner would have, 12 years from the date of the death of his mother and the question whether the suit was brought within 3 years of his attaining majority would then arise. If the property, as stated, was a joint property, it would be a case between co-sharers and in such a case it must be shown that there was exclusion or ouster of the plaintiff's grandfather or mother more than 12 years before the suit. "In order to establish adverse possession by one tenant-in-common against his co-tenants there must be exclusion or ouster and the possession subsequent to that must be for the statutory period. . . . . What is sufficient evidence of exclusion must depend upon the circumstances of each case. Mere non-participation in rents and profits would not necessarily of itself amount to an adverse possession; but such non-participation or non-possession may, in the circumstances of a particular case, amount to an adverse possession. Regard must be had to all the circumstances and a most important element is the length of time." Ayeenunnisa Bibi v. Sheikh Isaj, 16 C. W. N. 819, followed. GOBINDA CHANDRA BHATTACHARJEE v. UPENDRA CHANDRA BHATTACHARJEE (1919) . . . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 274

HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY PROPERTY —contd.

7. ———— Antecedent debts binding on the sons—Debts must be antecedent to the transaction—Joint family property—Alienation of his share for consideration by a co-parcener. The defendant's father passed a mortgage of ancestral property to plaintiffs' father for Rs. 1,499, out of which Rs. 700 were due by the mortgagor to the mortgagee, and the sum of Rs. 799 was received in cash by the former to pay off debts which he owed to others. The mortgagee having sued to recover the mortgage amount, the defendants contended that the debt not having been an antecedent debt of their father they were not bound under Hindu law to pay it: Held, that the defendants were liable to pay the mortgage debt contracted by their father, inasmuch as the object of the mortgage was to pay off the antecedent debts created by him prior to the mortgage. There is nothing in the judgment of Sahu Ramchandra v. Bhup Singh (1917), L. R. 44 I. A. 126, which supports the contention that the antecedent debts must be due to the mortgagee himself, and that the object of the alienation must be to satisfy the antecedent debts due to the alienee. In the Bombay Presidency the rule is well established that a co-parcener can alienate his share in the joint family property for consideration. PANDURANG NARAYAN v. BHAGWANDAS ATMARAMSHET (1919) I. L. R. 44 Bom. 341

8. ———— Contract for sale of his interest by a co-parcener—Death of, before completion of the sale—Suit for specific performance against sons—Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), s. 27, cl. (c) and illustration. One B and his three sons jointly owned one anna share in a Khoti village. B agreed to sell his three pies share to the plaintiff. Before the sale could be completed B died and a suit for specific performance was brought against his sons. Held, that the plaintiff could enforce the contract for sale of B's interest by a suit for specific performance against B's sons. The second illustration to cl. (c) of s. 27 of the Specific Relief Act applies to the case of all joint tenants, whether members of a joint Hindu family or not. BHAGWAN BHAU v. KRISHNAJI JANOJI (1920) I. L. R. 44 Bom. 967

9. ———— Sale by managing member—Of family of property subject to a mortgage executed by his father since deceased—Suit by purchaser for redemption—Mortgagee not competent to set up manager's alleged incapacity to sell. The father of a joint Hindu family mortgaged some of the joint family property. He then died, leaving two sons. Subsequently one of the sons died and the family then consisted of the surviving brother and his nephews, sons of the deceased brother. The uncle then, as managing member, sold the mortgaged property, and the purchasers of it brought a suit for redemption of the mortgage. Held, that it was not open to the mortgagee in that suit to set up as a defence that there was no legal necessity for the sale and therefore the uncle was not competent to convey a good title to the plaintiff. DURGA PRASAD v BHAJAN . . . I. L. R. 42 All. 50

10. ———— Sale of ancestral property under decree on promissory note executed by father—Sale of ancestral property by Civil Court instead of by Collector. The holder of a decree in a suit on a promissory note executed by the father of a joint Hindu family caused the ancestral property of the family to be sold. The sons sued to have the sale set aside as to two-thirds of the property upon the ground that the debt in respect of which the note in suit had been given was tainted with immorality. This, however, they failed to prove. Held, that the sale was valid. Sripat Singh Dugar v. Prodyot Kumar Tagore, I. L. R. 44 Calc. 524, followed. Held, also, that the fact that a sale of ancestral property has been conducted by a Civil Court when it ought to have been conducted by the Collector, does not render the sale invalid. Behari Singh v. Mukat Singh, I. L. R. 21 All. 273, referred to. Fatmat-ul-Kubra v. Achchi-Begam, I. L. R. 36 All. 33, distinguished. DALIP NARAIN SINGH v. PARMAOTI BIBI I. L. R. 42 All. 58

11. ———— Right of residence—Unmarried sister's right—Decree against mother of last male owner on her personal debt—Sale of house in execution—Auction purchasers' right to oust unmarried sisters in possession—Right of residence of other females against purchasers. An auction purchaser of an ancestral house, sold in execution of a money-decree passed on a personal debt of the mother who inherited the property as heir to her son, is not entitled to oust the unmarried sisters of the latter, who reside in the house. P. SURIYANARAYANA RAO NAIDU v. P. BALASUBRAMANIA MUDALI (1920) . . . . I. L. R. 43 Mad. 635

12. ———— Loan by Manager to meet expenses of criminal charge—Liability of family property hypothecated for. The Manager of a Hindu joint family is not entitled to spend the family funds in his own defence to a criminal charge, nor is he entitled to hypothecate the family property in order to raise money to meet the expenses of such a defence, except upon the ground of consent of the members of the joint family or upon the ground that from the circumstances it could be inferred that the other members of the family had consented. NATHU RAI v. DINDAYAL RAI 2 Pat. L. J. 166

13. ———— Mortgage by father—Right of minor son to redeem. Where a Hindu father, the head of a joint family consisting of himself and his minor son, executed a mortgage of the entire ancestral property in order to secure a loan for the purpose of preventing the property from being sold for arrears of Government revenue, and the mortgages obtained a decree on the mortgage without making the son (who was still a minor when the suit was instituted) a party to the suit, and purchased the property in execution of that decree, held, that the son was not entitled to redeem whether the mortgagees had notice of his interest or not. In such a case the interest of the son is sufficiently represented by his father unless it can be shown that he was omitted from the mortgage suit for the purpose of defeating his right to redeem. RAGHUNANDAN SINGH v. PARMESHWAR DAYAL SINGH . . . 2 Pat. L. J. 306

HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY PROPERTY— contd.

14. ———— Agreement to sell family property—Specific performance, whether can be granted when some of the members of the family are minors. A contract entered into by the manager of a Hindu joint family can be specifically enforced even though some of the members of the joint family were minors at the time when the contract was entered into. Where a person entered into an agreement for the purchase of certain land, of a part of which he was in actual possession as mortgagee, held, in the circumstances of the case, that possession did not amount to constructive notice to a subsequent purchasers of the contract for sale between the vendor and the mortgagee. HARI CHARAN KUAR v. RAULA RAI . 2 Pat. L. J. 513

15. ———————— Mitakshara father's —Security bond executed to get stay of execution of such decree if enforceable against entire property—Self-acquired property of Mitakshara father devised by will if ancestral property in the hands of the son —Permission of District Judge sanctioning loan for family purp [illegible] protection to creditor —"Tankha [illegible] dwan of assignabl [illegible] Mitak-shara law, [illegible] self-acquired by [illegible] each of his sons was to live in joint mess with his [illegible] to the age of twenty-five when the

[illegible]

obtained against J for the money and in order to get a stay of the execution of the decree in terms of the order of the High Court J executed a security bond charging his properties including his share of Tankhas [illegible] Held (per [illegible] dubitante). [illegible] for a legitimate family purpose and the decree could be executed against the entire co-parcenary interest in the property. Held (per CURIAM) :— [illegible] was not required [illegible] entitled [illegible] bona fide creditors. They were not affected directly or indirectly by the antecedent or subsequent mismanagement of his estate by J. That when the creditor lends his money on a representation made by the father that the course which he proposes to take, a course not unreasonable or irrational in itself, is calculated in the circumstances to promote the interests of his family, the creditor ought not to suffer because owing to the subsequent misconduct of the father things in fact turn out badly. That the decision of the Judicial Committee in Sahu Ram Chandra's case, L. R. 44 I. A. 126 : s. c. 21 C. W. N. 698 (1917), does not prevent a creditor levying execution on the family property to satisfy a decree for money against the father personally. That the decree against J. being for an antecedent debt not incurred for an illegal or immoral purpose, there was nothing to prevent the security bond from being enforced against the whole co-parcenary interest. That it is open to a Mitakshara father to devise self-acquired property to a son so that it will be ancestral in the hands of the son. That the testator intended each of his sons to take his share as ancestral property and the properties in the present case must be regarded as ancestral properties in the hands of J. That "Tankhas" are heritable allowances in the nature of property and therefore assignable LALA MUKTI PROKASH NANDE v. SRIMATI ISWARI DEI DEBI . . . I. L. R. 33 All. 64

16. ———— Money-decree against father. if can be executed against the entire joint property—"Antecedent debt," meaning of. The decision of the Privy Council in Sahu Ram Chandra's case, L. R. 44 I. A. 126 : s. c. 21 C. W. N. 698 (1917), has not overruled the long line of cases according to which a creditor who has obtained a personal decree for money against a Mitakshara father is entitled to levy execution against the entirety of the joint family property. "Antecedent debt" does not mean a debt incurred by the father before the birth of a son. MADHUSUDAN DAS MOHANT v. ISWARI DAYI DEBI . . . . . . 24 C. W. N. 949

17. ———— Family arrangement. Arrangement between widow and daughters and daughters' sons to divide the property, widow claiming absolute title—Rights in doubt—Sole surviving daughter on death of her sisters if can recover property alienated by another daughter. N, a Hindu, died leaving a widow and three daughters, some of whom had sons. The widow claiming absolute title to certain properties, which the evidence pointed to as belonging to N, entered into an arrangement with her daughters and grandsons for dividing up the properties between them in absolute right, and one of the daughters M, conveyed one item of property which fell to her share to a predecessor of the Defendant. The Plaintiff, another daughter, after the death of her other sisters sued to recover this property: Held, that the Plaintiff who was a party to the arrangement made to divide the property at a time when the rights of the widow and the daughters were in doubt could not be allowed to repudiate the same and to impeach a sale made on the faith of it. MUSAMMAT HARDEI v. BHAGWAN SINGH 24 C. W. N. 105

18. ———— Mortgage to meet criminal charge—Whether binding on sons.* The sons of a Hindu are liable on a mortgage executed by their father, the karta of the family, to meet the expenses of defending himself against a charge-

HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY PROPERTY— contd.

under the Cattle Trespass Act, 1871. HANUMAT MAHTON v. SONADHARI SINGH 4 Pat. L. J. 653

19. ———— Suretyship debt— Mitakshara—joint family—liability of sons for Suretyship debts of father. It is unlawful for the father of a joint family governed by the Mitakshara to stand surety against embezzlement, and a debt incurred by him in so standing surety is an illegal debt for which his sons are not liable. SATYA CHARAN CHANDRA v. SATPIR MAHANTY. 4 Pat. L. J. 309

20. ————Earninges of I. C. S. member of joint family—Held, that personal earnings may remain partible throughout the life of an unseparated member of a joint family if originally equipped for the career from which the gains were made by special training at the expense of the patrimony. AMAR NATH v. The Firm of HUKAM CHAND NATHU MAL 25 C.W.N. 534

21. ———— Property acquired by karta in the benami of a third party, character of the property—Suit for accounts, son if liable for the period of his father's management—Lim itation Act (IX of 1908), s. 10 and Art. 120, period of limitation for such a suit. Property acquired in the benami of a third person by the karta of a joint Hindu family with the income of ijmali properties. partakes of the nature of a joint family estate. In a suit for accounts, the son is not liable for the period of his father's management. S. 18, of the Limitation Act does not govern suits for accounts against a karta. The section requires that the property must be vested in the trustee for a specific purpose but in no sense can it be said that a karta of a Hindu family is vested with the property belonging to a joint family. Art. 120 of the Limitation Act which provides six years' limitation applies to such suits. Annamalal Chetty v. Murugasa Chetty, 7 C. W.N. 754 (P. C.) (1903). distinguished. BISWAMBAR HALDAR v. GIRIBALA DASI 25 C. W. N. 356

22. ———— Antecedent debt—Liability of collaterals. The principle relating to the liability for payment of antecedent debts applies only to sons and grandsons. Where a mortgage is executed in order to raise money to pay off an antecedent debt hypothicating family property the debt not having been incurred for necessity it is not binding on collateral relations and if only executed by some members of a joint family the mortgage not being binding on the whole estate is now even as against the undivided shares of the executant MATHURA MISRA v. RAJKUMAR MISRA. 6 Pat. L. J. 526

23. ———— Joint business—Powers of a manager to bind other co-parceners—extent of their liability. Held, that the manager of a joint family business has an implied authority to contract debts for the ordinary purposes of the family business . Where such debts have been incurred the other co-parceners, whether they be adults or minors, are liable to the extent only of their interest in the joint family property. They are not liable personally unless, in the case of adult co-parceners, the contract sued upon, through purporting to have been entered into by the manager alone is in reality one to which they are actual contracting parties, or one to which they can be treated as being contracting parties by reason of their conduct or one which they have subsequently ratified; and in the case of minor co-parceners, unless the contract has been ratified by them on attaining majority. Bishambhar Nath, v. Sheo Narain (I.L. R. 29, All. 166) and Mulla on Hindu Law, 3rd Edition, pages 219 and 211, referred to BISHAN SINGH v. KIDAR NATH. I. L. R. 2 Lah. 159

24. ———— Cost of Education met out of Joint Family Property—Mitakshara—Indian Civil servant—Gains of Science—Special Training —Detriment to Patrimony—Onus of Proof. The appellant, who held a salaried appointment in the Indian Civil Service, was an unseparated member of a joint Hindu family governed by the Mitakshara. The family carried on a joint ancestral business as money-lenders in the course of which they gave hundis to the respondents in respect of a debt. The appellant was not privy to the business. The respondents sued upon the hundies making the appellant a defendant. It appeared that the appellant had passed by examination into the Indian Civil Service after seven year's special educational training in England no evidence was given as to the source of the funds used for that training. Held (1) that the appellant's official salary was partible property of the joint family, since it resulted from a special educational training, and the appellant had not discharged the onus, which was upon him, of proving that that training was not at the expense of the joint family; (2) that the appellant was liable upon the hundis to the extent of his share in the joint family property, including his official earnings, and that questions which might arise with regard to property, not partible on any ground, and also as to statutory rules restricting the alienability of an official's emoluments should be dealt with in execution proceedings. In considering whether gains are partible there is no valid distinction between a direct use of the joint family funds and a use which qualified the member to make the gains by his own efforts. GOKAL CHAND v. HUKAM CHAND NATH MAL . . I. L. R. 2 Lah. 40

25. ———— Sale by father—without legal necessity—Suit by son to set aside sale—Purchaser not entitled to a lien on the father's share for return of the purchase money. The father in a joint Hindu family, consisting of himself and one son, sold some of the joint ancestral property. The son sued to have the sale set aside. It was found that there existed legal necessity to support the sale only in respect of Rs. 350 out of a total consideration of Rs. 1,500, and the plaintiff was given a decree for possession of the property subject to the payment of that sum. Held that, whatever relief the defendants vendees might be entitled to against the father, they were not entitled to any charge against the undivided share of the father in the joint family property in respect of the balance of the purchase money. Kali Shankar v. Nawab Singh, I. L. R., 31 All., 507, Suraj Bunsi Koer v. Sheo Pershad Singh, I. L. R., 5 Calc., 148, Bulgobind Das v. Narain Lal, I. L. R. 15 All., 339, Anant Ram v. Collector of Etah, I. L. R., 40 All., 171, Madho Parshad v. Mehrban Singh, I. L. R., 18 Calc., 157, and Lachhman Prasad v. Sarnam Singh, I. L. R., 39 All., 500, referred to. RAM SAHAI v. PARBHU DAYAL I. L. R. 43 All. 655

26. ———— Pious obligation—Unascertained debt of father— Money collected by father as an agent and subsequently misappropriated by him—

HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY—PROPERTY contd.

Liability of sons for such sums—Principal and ho died pending inst his sons as in their hands, although the amount of his indebtedness had not been ascertained; that it was no answer to a claim based on an antecedent civil liability to plead a subsequent criminal act, and that consequently, the sons were liable, under the Hindu Law, to pay moneys collected by their father as an agent and subsequently misappropriated by him. Held, also, that the

LU v. MOHANA PANDA (1921) I. L. R. 44 Mad. 214

27. ———— Losses in management—Agreement providing for surrender of share——Subsequent letter affirming agreement, not registered—Registration Act (XVI of 1908), ss. 17 (b) and 49—Mere attestation, if operates as estoppel—Indian Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 115. Where the manager of a Hindu joint family estate entered into an agreement with his co-sharers that on proof of losses in the management of the estate they should pay their share of such losses and in case the losses be not paid when demanded, their shares in the estate would pass to the former: Held, that the agreement by itself was sufficient to transfer the shares upon the event happening as contemplated, and that a subsequent letter to the manager admitting the loss and surrender was not an operative conveyance which required registration. Held also, that the fact that the manager had been an attesting witness to a conveyance by which his co-sharers subsequently purported to transfer the property did not estop him from denying their title. Attestation of a deed by itself estops a man from denying nothing whatever excepting that he has witnessed the execution of the deed. It conveys, neither directly nor by implication, any knowledge of the contents of the documents. To operate as estoppel, the signature must be shown by independent evidence to have been meant to involve consent to the transaction. PANDURANG KRISHANAJI v. MARKANDEYA TUKARAM (P. C.) 26 C. W. N. 201

the managing member of a joint Hindu family, for himself and as guardian of his minor son G, after obtaining a decree for money against T, by compromise surrendered all his rights and those of G, the consideration mentioned being that T would not prosecute an appeal he had preferred against that decree. Two more sons were born to R subsequently to the compromise. G on attaining majority having sued to set aside the compromise, it was held that the compromise did not bind G. Held, that as the decree was a portion of the joint family property R could deal with it only with the consent of G or as manager for a justifying necessity; and therefore the compromise failed as a whole and did not bind even the then existing share of R in the undivided property. That the compromise having been set aside T. was entitled to proceed with his appeal. T. R. VENKATA ROW v. T. V. TULJARAM ROW (P. C.) 26 C. W. N. 646

HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY PROPERTY— concld.

HINDU LAW—LEGAL NECESSITY.

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW ALIENATION AND JOINT FAMILY.

———————— Widow—Alienation—Legal necessity—Performance of pilgrimage—Betrothal of daughter. Under Hindu Law, the expenses incurred by a Hindu widow in performing pilgrimage or in the betrothal of her daughter constitute legal necessity. As regards pilgrimage the question in every case must be whether it was for the spiritual benefit of her husband, in the performance of her duty to his soul, and whether the expenses incurred are reasonable or were made honestly having regard to the estate, the status of the family, and other considerations which it is customary for Hindus to take into account in accordance with their religious beliefs and usages. GANPAT VALAD DHAKU v. TULSIRAM (1911) I. L. R. 36 Bom. 88

————————A property known as to succeed D then brought a suit claiming the ...nation by ... in favour ... eld finally ... rejudicata

the alienations on the allegation that T. C. was the eldest male member in the eldest line, and as such, was entitled to the property by virtue of the rule of lineal primogeniture governing succession in the family. The plaintiffs prayed therein for a decree in favour of T. C or, in the alternative, in favour of one or more of the plaintiffs. The first court decreed the claim of T. C. On appeal, to the High Court by the defendant. Held, that, if one or other of the plaintiffs was entitled to succeed, the suit should not be dismissed simply, because the first of the plaintiffs alone had failed to make out a title, particularly when, by so dismissing the suit, the right of the co-plaintiffs (who, if the first plaintiff were not joint with the last male holder would, on failure of the first plaintiff's case, be entitled) would be thereby barred; and that in such a case the Appellate Court could exercise the power provided for in the Code of Civil Procedure, OXLI, r. 33. Held, also, that lapse of time did not affect the question of onus of proof regarding legal necessity, except in so far as it might give rise to a presumption of acquire acquiescence or save the alienee from adverse inferences arising from the scanty proof which might be offered. Held, further, that in order to justify legal necessity, it must be shown that the expenses could not have been met from the income of the property in the widow's hands, and that they were reasonable. Held, lastly, that payment of full value for the property did not of itself justify a sale by a Hindu widow in the absence of legal necessity. RAVANESHWAR PRASAD SINGH v. CHANDI PRASAD SINGH

HINDU LAW—LEGAL NECESSITY—contd.

I. L. R. 38 Calc. 721

———— Duty of lender to make inquiries. Where a mortgagee advanced money on a mortgage of joint Hindu family property the ostensible reason for the loan being to pay for certain zamindari property which the family was purchasing, and it was found that the purchase of the zamindari was beneficial to the family and that the mortgagee, when he advanced the money, had made such inquiries as he could and believed that the money was in fact required for the purpose aforesaid, it was held that the fact that, unknown to the mortgagee, the purchase money for the zamindari property had already been paid from some other source would not invalidate the mortgage. Hunoomanpersaud Panday v. Mussumat Babooee Moonraj Koonweree, 6 Moo. I. A. 393, referred to. TULA RAM v. TULSI RAM

I. L. R. 42 All. 559

———— Joint family—loan by member of one branch, whether binding in the whole family. Where a Hindu joint family, consisted of two branches, and a member of one of such branches borrowed money on a mortgage for the purposes of the family, held, that the presumption was that such member had authority to borrow the money for the joint family necessity and that the mortgage was, therefore, binding on the joint family. INDER CHAND v. BIDYADHAR PANDEY

5 Pat. L. J. 745

———— liability of son and grandsons—agreement to maintain son-in-law, whether binds ancestral property. Where a Hindu agrees to make an allowance to his son-in-law for the latter's maintenance the sons and grandsons of the grantor are liable to discharge the debt out of the ancestral property which devolves on them. MADHUSUDAN PRASAD SINGH v. RAMJI DAS . . . . . . 5 Pat. L. J. 516

———— Under Hindu Law the illegitimate daughter of a Sudra succeeds to her mother in the absence of a nearer heir. DUNDAPPA v. BHIMAWA I. L. R. 45 Bom. 559 ———— Held, that there is a presumption in favour of marriage and against concubinage but such presumption may be rebutted. INDAR SINGH v. THAKAR SINGH

I. L. R. 2 Lah. 207

HINDU LAW—LEPROSY.

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE.

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 250

———— Development of leprosy not a disqualification as regards capacity to deal with property. There is no principle of Hindu Law under which a person who contracts the disease of leprosy is thereby disqualified from dealing with his own property or from dealing with joint family property so as to bind his sons, provided the alienation is made for legal necessity. MAN SINGH v. MUSAMMAT GAINI (1917 . I. L. R. 40 All. 77

HINDU LAW—LIMITED OWNER.

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW.

———— An alienation by way of compromise entered into between a limited owner and persons who had no bondfide claim to the property at the time of the compromise is not binding on Reversioners. ANUP NARAYAN SINGH v. MAHABIR PRASAD SINGH

3 Pat. L. J. 83.

HINDU LAW MAINTENANCE.

1. ———— Wife's maintenance—Maintenance allowed by will of husband to wife—Unchastity of wife after husband's death—Maintenance not affected—Widow—Unchastity—Starving maintenance. A Hindu widow was entitled to maintenance at the rate of Rs. 24 a year under her husband's will. After the husband's death, the widow led for some time an unchaste life and gave birth to a child; but since then she remained chaste. She sued to recover maintenance allowed to her under her husband's will. It was contended in reply that the plaintiff, on account of the unchaste life which she had led for some time after her husband's death, had forfeited her right even to bare or starving maintenance. Held, negativing the contentions, that though the annuity was granted by the will as "maintenance" that word could not be understood as imposing any condition or restriction so as to cut down or extinguish the right to Rs. 24 a year given by the will. The rule that the will of a Hindu must be construed with due regard to Hindu habits and notions applies only where there is ambiguity. Caution must be used in applying that rule and it must be adopted only where a suggested construction of doubtful language leads to manifest absurdity or hardship. The general rule to be gathered from the texts is that a Hindu wife cannot be absolutely abandoned by her husband. If she is living an unchaste life, he is bound to keep her in the house under restraint and provide her with food and raiment just sufficient to support life; she is not entitled to any other right. If, however, she repents, returns to purity and performs expiratory rights, she becomes entitled to all conjugal and social rights, unless her adultery was with a man of a lower caste, in which case, after expiation, she can claim no more than bare maintenance and residence. Honamma v. Timannabhat, I. L. R. 1 Bom. 559 ; Valu v. Ganga, I. L. R. 7 Bom. 84; and Vishnu Shambhog v. Manjamma, I. L. R. 9 Bom. 108, discussed. PARAMI v. MAHADEVI (1909) I. L. R. 34 Bom. 278

2. ———— Gharjamai, if may claim maintenance—Separate maintenance, when may be allowed—Implied agreement to maintain son-in-law—Pleadings and proof difference between, if fatal—Express contract set up and circumstances stated and only implied contract proved—Cross-objections, if may be received out of time—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. XLI, r. 2.—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), s. 5. Where a plaintiff claimed maintenance as a gharjamai stating the circumstances under which the claim arose and also set up an express contract, the Court below, while disbelieving the story of express contract, gave a decree on the ground of implied contract inferred from facts proved :—Held, that there was no such variance between pleading and proof as to contravene the rule that the plaintiff shall not succeed on a case not made in his plaint. The institution of gharjamai is of recent origin and may have owed its origin to the system of Putrika-putra, and the mere fact that there is no provision in the texts of Hindu Law relating thereto does not imply that the gharjamai is not entitled to maintenance. Although an ante-nuptial agreement on the part of the husband not to remove his wife from her father's house may not be enforceable as opposed to the rules of Hindu Law and to public policy, if the son-in-law is willing to abide by the arrangement, there is nothing in Hindu Law or in public policy to render an agreement on the part of the father-in-law to maintain him unenforceable, Semble: A gharjamai may be included in the term "poor dependent" declared by Manu to be entitled to maintenance. Held, that in the circumstances of the case where it was evident that an order directing the son-in-law to reside as a member of the mother-in-law's family might lead to constant disputes and prove a source of unhappiness to all parties, the Court properly decreed separate maintenance to the son-in-law. Govind Rani Dasi v. Radha Ballabh Das (1910)

HINDU LAW MAINTENANCE—contd.

15 C. W. N. 205

3. ———— Of widow in undivided family —Enforceable against the whole family and not only against the branch to which the husband belonged. Where a member of an undivided family comprising several branches dies, his widow's rights to maintenance is enforceable against the whole family and not only against the branch to which her husband belonged and which took by survivorship his undivided share. A suit for partition, subsequent to the widow's suit for maintenance will not affect her right as aforesaid. Subbarayalu Chetti v Kamalavallithayaramma (1911)

I. L. R. 35 Mad. 147

[illegible]

that a Hindu widow is able to maintain herself out of other property is no ground for not giving her some maintenance out of her husband's estate, but it is a factor to be taken into account in determining the quantum of maintenance to be decreed her. The right of a widow of a co-parcener in a Hindu family to maintenance is an absolute right due to her membership in the family and does not depend on any necessity arising from her want of other means to support herself. Ramawati Koer v. Manjhari Koer, 4 C. L. J. 74, dissented from Lingayya v Kanakamma (1913)

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 153

5. ———— Of Daughter-in-law—Whether entitled to be maintained, in the absence of ancestral property—Rules of Hindu Law, when binding on Courts—Rule of equity, justice and good conscience. A Hindu is under no legal obligation to maintain [illegible] when he has no [illegible] he rules on Hindu [illegible] only where it is [illegible] regarding succession, inheritance, marriage or caste or any religious usage or institution. Where maintenance is claimed against a person not on the ground that the property coming by inheritance to him is burdened with the maintenance of the person claiming it, but on the ground that the Hindu Law-givers have placed such a duty on him, the Hindu Law, as such, has no obligatory force, and the Court would have to decide the question in accordance with equity, justice and good conscience. Though the rules and precepts of Hindu Law-givers might often be entitled to great respect in deciding the rule of justice in such cases, the weight du[illegible] cumstance[illegible] of modern [illegible] and justic[illegible] give effec[illegible] circumstar[illegible] just in a [illegible] maintenan[illegible] Khetramani Dasi v. Kashinath Das, 2 B. L. R. (A. C. J.) 15, applied. Rangammal v. Echammal, I. L. R. 22 Mad. 304, explained. Meenakshi Ammal v. Rama Aiyar (1914)

HINDU LAW MAINTENANCE—contd.

I. L. R. 37 Mad. 396

6. ———— Impartible zamindari—Maintenance of junior members—Basis of the right—Coparcenary right or community of interest by birth not the basis—Relationship to holder of the zamindari, necessary—Provision for maintenance—Agreement with junior member, construction of—Adoption by zamindar—Subsequent bequest of [illegible] against legatee— [illegible] —Suit, not main- [illegible] was adopted by [illegible] ed in 1890 leaving a will bequeathing all his properties including the zamindari which is an impartible estate, to the defendant who claimed also to be the natural son of the testator. The late zamindar had entered into an agreement with the plaintiff's father in 1882 whereby he agreed to pay him Rs. 1,500 a month and a lump sum of Rs. 6,000 a year. The [illegible]

1902 when he ceased to be maintained by his father. The plaintiff did not admit that the defendant was the natural son of the late zamindar or that he and the defendant were members of an undivided family. The defendant contended that a junior member of the family of the holder of an impartible zamrindari was not entitled to claim maintenance from the holder, and that the suit was not maintainable by reason of the agreement with plaintiff's father and the will of the late zamindar and on the ground that the plaintiff did not claim any maintenance as a member of the defendant's family. Held, that the arrangement made by the late zamindar with the plaintiff's father was not a provision for the maintenance of the latter and all his descendants, and did not operate to bar the plaintiff's claim. A junior [illegible] n impar- [illegible] only on [illegible] and not [illegible] the pro- [illegible] acquired by birth. Held (on the facts of the case), that as the plaintiff did not advance any claim based on relationship but refused to admit any relationship with the defendant, his claim for maintenance could not be sustained. That, as there was no community of interest in the property, it was not burdened with his claims in the hands of the defendant who was the legatee under the will SRI RAJAH RAMA ROW v. RAJAH OF PITTAPUR (1915) . . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 396

HINDU LAW MAINTENANCE—contd.

7. ———— Wife's right forfeited by unchastity—Under the Hindu law a wife is not entitled to maintenance from her husband, if at the time of the suit she is living in adultery and persists in her vicious course of life. Subhayya, v. Bhavani, 24 Ind. Cas 370, followed. DEBI SARAN SHUKUL v. DAULATA SHUKLAIN (1916) I. L. R. 39 All. 234

8. ———— Custom impartible estate—Claim of maintenance by grandson of last holder as of right—Claim as inherent in co-parcenary right inadmissible—Right not allowed by special texts—Right may be established by proof of special custom —Custom repeatedly recognised assuming the character of a legal right in the case of son, but not in case of grandson. In an ordinary joint Hindu family ruled by the Mitakshara law, the junior members down to three generations from the head of the family have a co-parcenary interest accruing by birth in the ancestral property; and this co-parcenary interest carries with it the inchoate right to raise an action of partition and until partition is de facto accomplished these same persons have a right to maintenance. This right which is an inherent quality of the right of co-parcenary (that is, of common property) cannot however attach to impartible properties in which it is settled law that there is no co-parcenary. Apart from the right to maintenance which is inherent in the right of co-parcenary, certain persons can claim maintenance under express texts, e.g., (i) persons who are not allowed to inherit by reason of personal disqualification and (ii) others whose right lies in personal relationship not depending on the fact of there being ancestral or joint family property and which is limited to the widow, the parent and the infant child, the grandson not coming within such relationship. Further, impartibility being itself the creation of custom, custom may affirm the right of maintenance in certain members of the family, and failure to prove such a special custom is not necessarily fatal to their claim; for when a custom or usuage, whether in regard to a tenure or a contract or a family right is repeatedly brought to the notice of the Courts of a country, the Courts may hold that custom or usage to be introduced into the law without the necessity of proof in each individual case. Thus the right of sons to maintenance in an impartible zemindari has been so often recognised that it would not be necessary to prove the custom in each case. But no such invariable or certain custom has been established that any below the first generation from the last holder can claim maintenance as of right. GANGADHARA RAMA RAO v. SURYA RAO BAHADUR GARU (1919) 23 C. W. N. 173

9. ———— Decree for creating a charge on family properties—Subsequent purchaser of such properties under money decree binding on family—Priority of charge. A charge on joint family properties created by a decree for maintenance payable to the widow of a member of a joint Hindu family takes precedence over the right of a subsequent purchaser of the same properties in execution of a money decree binding on the family. SOMASUNDARAM CHETTY v. UNNAMALAI AMMAL (1920) . . . I. L. R. 43 Mad. 800

HINDU LAW MAINTENANCE—concld.

10. ———— Junior member of family—right of, to maintenance—Onus on Plaintiff to prove custom in support of claim and no ton Zamindar to prove custom taking away right—Change in the law. In a suit for maintenance by a brother's son of the late Maharajah of Jeypore out of impartible estate of which the latter was and the present Maharaja is now the holder, the defence assumed that the Plaintiff had primâ facie the right to be maintained but pleaded a special custom taking away such right. The Courts below being of opinion that the defence had failed to prove the alleged custom decreed the suit: Held, that in view of the decision of the Privy Council in Raja Rama Rao v. Raja of Pittapur, L. R. 45 I. A. 148 : s. c. 23 C. W. N. 173 (1918), the burden was on the Plaintiff to prove a custom entitling him to maintenance and not upon the Defendants to prove a custom negativing the ordinary law. Apart from custom and from certain near relationships to the holder the junior members of the family of the Zamindars entitled to an impatrible Zamindari have no right of maintenance out of it, and there is no invariable custom by which any member of the family beyond the first generation from the last holder can claim maintenance as of right. VIKARAMA DEO MAHARAJULUM GARU, MAHARAJAH OF JEYPORE v. VIKRAMA DEO GARU 24 C. W. N. 226

———— Arrears—Description of Court—A Court dealing with claims for arrears of maintenance has a very large discretion to grant or withhold those arrears with special reference to the necessities of the widow. KARBASAPPA v. KALLAVA I. L. R. 43 Bom. 66

HINDU LAW—MANAGER.

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY.
See HINDU LAW—MINOR.
26 C. W. N. 954

See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, s. 7, SCH. ART. 44 . I. L. R. 38 Bom. 9

———— Accountability of—

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY.
26 C. W. N. 1

———— Suit by on behalf of Joint Family—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908. O 1, R. 9 and 34. 1 Pat. L. J. 463

———— Manager, suit by, for trespass. The head of a joint Hindu family governed by the Mitakshara is competent to sue as managing member of the family, a person who has trespassed on the lands of the family. Query :—Whether such a manager can sue, as representing the whole f amily, in a suit under the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885 ? MUHAMMAD SADIK v. KHEDAN LALL . . . 1 Pat. L. J. 154

————Held, not to be in the position of a Trustee in strict sense. ARUMILLI PERRAZU v. ARUMILLI SUBBARAYADAU 26 C. W. N. 1

HINDU LAW—MARRIAGE.

See HINDU LAW . PARTITION.
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 587

See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860) s. 498 . . I. L. R. 34 All. 589

HINDU LAW—MARRIAGE—contd.

——— Hindu with Christian Woman—

See MADRAS CIVIL COURTS ACT, 1873, s. 16. I. L. R. 33 Mad. 342

——— In Kanti Form—

See MARRIAGE . . 24 C. W. N. 958

——— Whether void of without consent of Legal Guardian—

See PENAL CODE, s. 494. I. L. R. 2 Lah. 288

1. ——— Validity of marriage—Evidence and recognition of marriage—Marriage of insane person whether valid—Presumption as to performance of alleged marriage—Degrees of Insanity—Rites and ceremonies of marriage. The respondent's claim (as opposed to that of the appellants who were distant agnates) to letters of administration depended upon whether the deceased was her father, and whether he was legally married to her mother. The Courts in mother had been recognised by all persons concerned as man and wife, and so described in important documents, and on important occasions.

its validity was attacked), afforded an extremely strong presumption in favour of the validity of the marriage, and the legitimacy of its offspring. Held, also, that the objection to a marriage on the ground of the mental incapacity of one of the parties must depend (as held by the High Court) on a question of decree; and that in this case the evidence of mental infirmity was wholly insufficient to establish such a degree of that defect as to rebut the very strong presumption in favour of the validity of the marriage. The established presumption in favour of the marriage applied to the forms and ceremonies necessary to constitute it a valid marriage; and such forms and ceremonies had been rightly held by the High Court to have been presumably properly performed. MOUJI LAL v. CHANDRABATI KUMARI (1911) I. L. R. 38 Calc. 700 L. R. 38 I. A. 122

2. ——— Marriage of a daughter of deceased Hindu may be performed by his widow—Reasonable marriage expenses recoverable from joint family property. The widow of a deceased member of an undivided Hindu family is entitled to perform the marriage of a daughter of the deceased even when the father of the deceased and the other male members of the family have not wrongly or improperly refused to perform such marriage, and she is entitled to recover the reasonable expenses of such marriage out of the joint family property. RANGANAIKI AMMAL v. RAMANUJA AIYANGAR (1912) .. I. L. R. 35 Mad. 728

3. ——— Marriage of a Hindu girl without force or fraud but without consent of legal guardians—Maxim "factum valet." The marriage of a Hindu girl of some 16 years of age was effected by the maternal uncle of the girl. There was no evidence of force or fraud; but the marriage was against the wishes of the paternal relatives of the girl, who desired to make a profit marriage was declared to be valid. Ghazi v. Sukru, I. L. R. 19 All. 515, Venkatacharyulu v. Rangacharyulu, I. L. R. 14 Mad. 316, Surjyamoni Dasi v. Kali Kanta Das, I. L. R. 28 Calc. 37, Mulchand v. Budhia, I. L. R. 22 Bom. 812, and Khushalchand Lalchand v. Bai Mani, I. L. R. 11 Bom. 247, referred to. KASTURI v. CHIRANJI LAL (1913) .. . . . I. L. R. 35 All. 265

4. ——— Koli caste—Marriage between a divorced woman and a man—Approved form of marriage—Asura form of marriage—Test of asura form. A marriage between a man and a divorced woman belonging to the Koli gives away the bride in consideration of the marriage. HIRA v. HANSJI PEMA (1912) I. L. R. 37 Bom. 295

5. ——— Dissolution of marriage—Custom of caste—custom authorising either spouse to divorce the other on payment of a sum of money fixed by the caste—Custom immoral and cannot be recognised by the Court—Indian Contract Act (IX of 1872), s. 23. A custom, stated to exist among Hindus of the Pakhali caste by which the marriage tie can be dissolved by either husband or wife against the wish of the divorced party, the sole condition attached being the payment of a sum of money fixed by the caste, cannot be recognised by the Court. It must be regarded as immoral or opposed to public policy within the meaning of s. 23 of the Indian Contract Act (IX of 1872) and is equally repugnant to Hindu Law, which regards the marriage tie as so sacred that the possibility of divorce on the best of grounds is permitted only as a reluctant concession Reg. v. Karsan Goja and Reg. v. Bai Rupa, 2 Bom. H. C. R. 124, followed. KESHAV HARGOVAN v. BAI GANDI (1915) . . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 538

6. ——— Marriage of Hindu girl contracted by maternal uncle in the presence of paternal relatives—Injunction obtained but in cases where the paternal relative refuse to act or have disqualified themselves from acting, the maternal relatives acquire authority to contract marriage on behalf of the girl. A Hindu girl who was living with her paternal aunt and paternal uncle was made over to her maternal uncle as the result of an agreement come to between the parties. Subsequently the paternal aunt applied to be appointed guardian of the person of the minor, which application was dismissed. After this the maternal uncle of the ... rl with a ... obtained ... lding put off. The marriage, however, was accomplished with the person selected by the maternal uncle. The maternal uncle brought a ... to rec... damages for the loss caused to ...

HINDU LAW—MARRIAGE—contd.

ful issue of the injunction and the postponement of the wedding. Held, that under the circumstances of the case the maternal uncle was competent to enter into a contract of marriage on behalf of the girl, and a suit for damages lay. Kasturi v. Chiranji Lal, I. L. R. 35 All. 265, referred to. KASTURI v. PANNA LAL (1916)

I. L. R. 38 All. 520

7. ———————— Marriage between a Telugu Sudra and his wife's sister's daughter, legality of. The marriage of a Hindu with his wife's sister's daughter is valid, as well among Sudras as among Brâhmans, and among the Telugus of the north as among the Tamils of the south. RAMAKRISHNA ROW v. SUBBAMMA ROW (1920)

I. L. R. 43 Mad. 830

8. ———— Kanets, Sudras—legitimacy of son by wife of another man who is alive at the time—Res Judicata—previous decision by Mandi Court not dealing with the question of legitimacy of plaintiff or his claim of succession under Hindu Law—whether conclusive adjudication on the matter of plaintiff's legitimacy under Hindu Law. Plaimtiff claimed his half share in property left by his father U. S. in British India. He had previously made a similar claim in regard to his father's property in the Mandi State and this was decreed in his favour, but the question of plaintiff's legitimacy, although raised, was not decided by the Mandi Court nor was his title of succession under Hindu Law. The facts found by the High Court on appeal were that when plaintiffs' father U. S. took Mst. M. (plaintiff's mother) into his house her husband was alive and was still alive when the plaintiff was born, and that it had not been shown that her husband divorced her or turned her out or acquiesced in her leaving him. Held, that there is in law a presumption in favour of marriage and against concubinage when a man and woman have cohabited continuously for a number of years and this presumption of law can be repelled only by strong, distinct and conclusive evidence. The mere fact that the direct evidence of the marriage which took place many years ago is unsatisfactory cannot displace this presumption. Imambandi v. Matasaddi 13 Indian Cases 678, Bepin Behari v. Atul Krishna 15 Indian Cases 328, Ibrahim Ali v. Mst. Mubarak Begum, 20 P. W. R. 1920, Sastry Valaidar v. Sembecutty, L. R. 6 Ap. C. 364, Piers v. Piers 81 R. R. 180 ; De Thoren v. Attorney-General, 1 A. C. 676, Mouji Lal v. Chandarbati Kumari, I. L. R. 38 Calc. 700 P. C., Dularey Singh v. Suraj Bali Singh, 43 Indian Cases 478, and Har Dial v. Kali Ram, 65 P. R. 1911, followed. Held, however, that marriage is not constituted, but evidenced, by habit and repute. Though the presumption in cases of cohabitation is in favour of marriage, it is otherwise if the connection is known to have been in its origin illicit. Campbell v. Campbell (The Breadalbane case) L. R. 1 H. L. Scotch and Divorce A. C. 182, followed. Held, consequently, that J, the husband of Mst. M, being alive, when she was enticed away by U. S., the connection between U. S. and Mst. M, the plaintiff's parents, was adulterous, not only in its origin but continued to be so up to the time of J's death, when alone a valid marriage was possible, and that plaintiff was therefore not a legitimate son of U. S. Campbell v. Campbell (The Breadalbane case) L. R. 1 H. L. Scotch and Divorce A. C. 182, followed.

HINDU LAW—MARRIAGE—concld.

Virasangappa v. Rudrappa, I. L. R. 8. Mad. 440 distinguished. Gour's Hindu Code, page 246, and West and Bühler's Hindu Law, pages 394-403, referred to. Held, further, that the question, which was raised in this Court, i.e., that the plaintiff was illegitimate because he was the issue of an adulterous connection, was never considered and never adjudicated upon in the Mandi Court although it was raised by the defendant's pleas. The decision, moreover, proceeded on the ground of custom and no adjudication as to the plaintiff's right to succeed to the property of his father under Hindu Law was come to. A marriage may be valid in one country and at the same time void in another. Similarly a man may be entitled to inherit land in one country and yet not be entitled to inherit land in another. The judgment of the Mandi Court was therefore not a conclusive adjudication on the matter of plaintiff's legitimacy or on his title to succeed to his father's property under Hindu Law. Halsbury's Laws of England, Volume 6, page 297, Ballentyne v. Mackinnon, 2 Q. B. 455 C. A., Hay v. Northcote, L. R. 2 Ch. 52, Dicey's Conflict of Laws, page 486, and Birtwhistle v. Vardill, 2 Cl. and F. 571, followed. Sinaraman Chetti v. Iburam, 19 L. R. 18 Mad. 327, Viswandha v. Keymer, I. L. R. 39 Mad. 95, Keymer v. Visvanatham, I. L. R. 40 Mad. 112, P. C., Srechurce Bukshe v. Gopal Chunde, 15 W. R. 500, Pirthi Singh v. Bhola, 29 P. R. 1883, Inder v. Jiwa, 49 P. R. 1890, Dina v. Karam Chand, 52 P. R. 1899, Rahi v. Gavinda, I. L. R. 1 Bom. 97, and Narayan v. Laving, I. L. R. 2 Bom. 140, referred to. INDRA SINGH v. THAKAR SINGH

I. L. R. 2 Lah. 207

9. ———————— Breach of contract of marriage—Out-of-pocket expenses incurred during betrothal, liability to pay Plaintiffs who were father and son sued to recover a certain amount as damages for a breach of contract of betrothal. Defendants contended that the retraction was necessitated on account of ill-health of the bridegroom. Both the plaintiffs having died during the pendency of the proceedings, their representatives in interest sought to recover from the defendants the out-of-pocket expenses which the plaintiffs had incurred while the betrothal was in existence. The Subordinate Judge held that there being a sufficient reason for retracting the engagement the out-of-pocket expenses could not be recovered from the defendants. On appeal to the High Court. Held, that though the defendants could not be fined if there was a good cause for retraction, yet they were liable to pay expenses incurred by the bridegroom or his father during the betrothal. BALUBHAI HIRALAL v. NANABHAI BHAGUBHAI (1919) . . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 446

10. ————————Legitimacy—Castes—Inter-marriage between sub-castes. J, a Kayestha married C, a Tanti. B, a son of that marriage sued, inter alia, for a declaration that he was entitled to his father's property. Held, that the marriage between J and C was valid under the Hindu Law and B was entitled to the declaration. BISWANATH DAS GHOSE v. SHO—RASHIBALA DASI (1921.) . . . . I. L. R. 48 Calc. 926

See HINDU LAW—CUSTOM.

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY.

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 407

HINDU LAW—MIGRATION.

——————— Mitakshara or Mithila law, presumption as to applicability of. Where a person governed by the Mitakshara law removed to a district governed by the Mithila law the presumption was that he took his personal law with him, and where he inherited property from his maternal grandfather who was governed by the Mithila law, this property equally with his paternal property would be governed by the Mitakshara law and not by Mithila law. BHAGABATI KOER v. SAHUDRA KOER (1911) . . 16 C. W. N. 834

——————— From one province to another—Onus to prove adherence to law of place of origin—Proof of adherence to religious and social rites of the place of origin, effect of. In the matter of succession, the contest was between the sister's son (plaintiff) and the great-great grandfather's great-great grandson (defendant.) the former alleging that the family was governed by the Dayabhaga School and the latter, that it migrated from Behar and adhered to the Mitakshara law prevailing there: Held, that it is well settled that a Hindu family residing in a particular province of India is presumed to be governed by the law of the place where it resides but where a Hindu family is shown to have migrated from one place to another the presumption is that it carried with it the laws, and customs as to succession and family relation prevailing in the province from which it came. This presumption however, is rebuttable by proof that the family has adopted the law and usages of the place to which it has migrated. That it is a historical fact that the Brahmins and Kayasthas of Bengal migrated from Kanauj; and originally brought with them the Mithila law; it was after their settlement in this province that the Dayabhaga School of Hindu Law was founded by Jimutavahana about the 14th century and that is the law which now governs the Hindu population of this Presidency even though they may have originally migrated from North Behar, and the defendant would have to establish not merely that the family migrated from Behar but that the migration took place after the foundation of the Bengal School of Hindu Law by the author of the Dayabhaga. This fundamental fact which if proved, would have shifted the burden of proof from the defendant, remained unestablished and the burden consequently lay upon the defendant to prove that the family was governed in matters of succession by the Mitakshara law. This burden might be discharged by proof of instances of succession consistent with the Mitakshara and inconsistent with the Dayabhaga law and to that end evidence might also be given that the family had conformed to religious and social rites and usages consistent with the Mitakshara and inconsistent with the Dayabhaga law. A Hindu family which has migrated into Bengal and has retained some of its former religious rites and ceremonies may yet be shown to have acquired a course of devolution of property in accordance with the Dayabhaga law. PITTAMBAR CHANDRA SAHA v. NISHIKANTO SAHA . . 24 C. W. N. 215

——————— Succession to immovable property from father—Different law in different Provinces of India—Quality of estate taken, whether absolute or limited—Mahratta Brahmin in Central Provinces—Bombay school of law—Family

HINDU LAW—MIGRATION—contd.

emigrating taking law of original domicile with it. The quality of the right which is taken by a daughter who inherits immovable property from her father has been differently determined in different parts of India. In accordance with the view of the High Court of Bombay, the Courts of Western India have decided that she takes an absolute right; in other parts of India the Courts have held that she takes only a limited interest such as is taken by a Hindu widow; see Pranjivandas Tulsidas v. Devkuarbhai, 1, Bom. H. C. 130; 9 Moo. I. A. 533 (note) and Bhan v. Raghunath, I. L. R. 30 Bom. 229, and the cases and authorities there cited. It is established that the law of succession is, in any given case to [illegible] determined according to the personal law of [illegible] Pr[illegible] [illegible] of every family which is governed by it; consequently, where any such family migrates to another province governed by another law, it carries its own law with it: Mayne's Hindu Law, 8th Ed. para. 48. On migration there may be renunciation of the law of the province migrated from in favour of that of the province migrated to; but unless such renunciation is proved (and the mere change of domicile is not of itself sufficient to prove it), original law continues to govern the migrating family. But the law must be the family law as it was when they left. A judgment declaratory of law as having always been would be binding on the migrated family; but subsequent customs introduced into the law would not affect them. Surendra Nath Roy v. Heeramonee Burmoneah, 12 Moo. I A. 81, and Purbati K[illegible] R. 29 [illegible] A [illegible] wards himself were domiciled in the Bombay Presidency died in 1868 while on a pilgrimage, leaving immovable property in the Wardha District of the [illegible] Provinces. On his death his daughter [illegible] died in 1889 le[illegible] sued to set as[illegible] property made [illegible] The question a[illegible] [illegible] which depended [illegible] by which her [illegible] verned. The [illegible] decision of [illegible] and his an[illegible] [illegible] Berar in the Bombay Presidency and therefore the law gave the daughter an absolute estate), held that the father had no exclusive domicile either in Berar or in the Central Provinces and that the succession was governed by the law of the latter where the property was situated and the daughter had taken only a limited estate. Held, that the family of her father and his ancestors were domiciled in Berar and there was no renunciation of the law of that province when they or he migrated from it and that the daughter took an absolute estate under the law of the Bombay Presidency. BALWANT RAO v. BAJI RAO (1920)

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 30

HINDU LAW—MINOR.

See CONTRACT (9).

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 390

See HINDU LAW—GUARDIANSHIPS.

2 Pat. L. J. 190

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY.

2 Pat. L. J. 300 & 513

1. ———— Hindu family-firm—Trade—Manager passing promissory notes in the firm's name without any advantage to the firm—Minor co-parcener—Liability of minor co-parcener in suit on promissory notes. One H persuaded N who was the only adult male member of a joint Hindu firm carrying on an ancestral trade to sign certain promissory notes in the name of his ancestral firm. N signed the notes without the knowledge of the other member of the firm and without any advantage to the firm. The notes were subsequently endorsed by H to B who advanced monies on them to H. On a suit by B to recover the amounts due on the notes from N's firm, K, a minor co-parcener, pleaded that he was not liable. Held, varying the decree of HEATON, J., that the minor's share in the firm was liable. Per CHANDAVARKAR, J.—Under Hindu law a joint family, which carries on a trade handed down from its ancestors becomes a trading family; trade being one of its kulacharas (duty or practice) it attracts to itself all the necessary incidents of trade. The rule of Hindu law that debts contracted by a managing member of a joint family are binding on the other members only when they are for a family purpose, is subject to at least one important exception. Where a family carries on a business or profession, and maintains itself by means of it, the member who manages it for the family has an implied authority to contract debts for its purposes, and the creditor is not bound to inquire into the purpose of the debt in order to bind the whole family thereby, because that power is necessary for the very existence of the family. Where a minor is a co-parcener in a joint family his share in the family property is liable for debts contracted by his managing co-parcener for any family purpose or any purpose incidental to it. If the family is a trading firm, the same rule must apply with this difference that the terms family purpose or purposes incidental to it must have given way for the expression trading purpose or purpose incidental to it having regard to the nature and objects of the family business. The circulating of a negotiable instrument is in the case of a joint family, trading as a firm, necessary for its existence and its purposes. The minor's share is therefore bound by it since it constitutes an obligation of the firm. Per BATCHELOR, J.—In establishing the legal relations of a joint firm the Courts treat it as a kind of partnership and apply the principles of that law. The test to be applied in cases of this kind is rather the apparent authority of the manager than the actual necessity of the family, for while there is no absolute necessity for the family to trade at all, when once the family trade is admitted, all usual acts done in the normal course of carrying it on may be considered necessary to the trade. RAGHUNATHJI TARACHAND v. THE BANK OF BOMBAY (1919)

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 72

2. ———— Will—Minor—Capacity to make will—Indian Majority Act (IX of 1875), s. 3. A Hindu minor, who has not attained majority as provided in the Indian Majority Act, 1875, is not competent to make a will of his or her property. BAI GULAB v. THAKORELAL (1912)

I. L. R. 36 Bom. 622

3. ———— Liability of minor for debts contracted by agent of guardian—Guardian of minor who is sole owner of trading firm. A minor member of a joint Hindu trading family is liable on a bill drawn by the manager, his liability being limited to his share in the business on the analogy of s. 247 of the Contract Act (IX of 1872). This rule, however, is applicable to minors who are sole owners of a business only subject to the general principles regulating the relationship between guardian and ward. In India, a guardian has no power to bind his ward by a personal covenant. Although a widow and natural guardian may, in India, carry on a family business belonging to a minor son by a manager, such guardian and not the minor is the person personally liable on contracts entered in the course of business. Creditors of the business have no right of direct recourse against the minor; but as the guardian will be entitled to indemnity for liabilities properly incurred out of the assets of such business, creditors of the business can proceed directly against such assets for liabilities properly incurred by the guardian. A guardian cannot invest an agent with powers larger than are reasonably proper for carrying on the business; and where as a consequence of giving such powers the guardian has become involved in liability for the fraud of the agent, the guardian has no right of indemnity against the assets of the minor nor are the creditors entitled to claim such right through the guardian. SANKA KRISHNAMURTHI v. THE BANK OF BURMA (1912)

I. L. R. 35 Mad. 692

4. ———— Will—Incapacity to make—Contract, incapacity to make—Majority, age of, for making a will—Indian Majority Act (IX of 1875), s. 3, effect of—Onus of proving minority, on propounder of a will—Onus of proof, immaterial, where whole evidence recorded—Indian Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 32 (5) and (6)—Recital in a father's will as to son's age, admissibility of—Indian Evidence Act (I of 1872), ss. 35 and 82—Register of births and deaths, admissibility of, under—Indian Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 145—Document, intended to contradict witness, not put to witness, inadmissibility of—Horoscope, when admissible. A Hindu minor though not governed by the Hindu Wills Act or the Indian Succession Act cannot make a will and the age of majority for the purposes of making a will is determined by the Indian Majority Act. Subbayya v. Kondayya, 16 Mad. L. J. 135, Deheram Bulliya v. Somanchi, Seetharamayya, 2 Mad. W. N. 383, Bhagirathi Bai v. Vishwanath 7 Bom. L. R. 92, Baigulalb v. Thakorelal, I. L. R. 36 Bom. 622, and Hardwari Lal v. Gomi, I. L. R. 33 All. 525, followed. Per TYABJI, J. (WHITE, C. J. Obiter). When the defence of minority of the testator is raised to invalidate a will, the onus is on the party setting up the will to show that the testator was of full age when he made it and in the matter of onus, minority and testamentary incapacity, stand on the same footing; Smee v. Smee, 5 P. D. 84, and Bhagirathi Bai v. Vishwanath, 7 Bom. L. R. 92, followed. A horoscope which is not spoken to either by its writer or by one who had special means of knowledge as to its correctness is inadmissible in evidence. Per WHITE, C.J. —The question on whom the onus of proof lies is not of much importance when the whole evidence has been recorded. Chaudhry Mohammad Mehdi Hasan Khan v. Sri Mandir Das, 17 C. W. N. 49, followed. A recital in a testator's father's will mentioning the to prove the age

HINDU LAW—MINOR—contd.

(5) and (6) of the
to that section.
Assurance Company, Limited v. Narasimha Chari, I. L. R. 25 Mad. 183, at p. 207, Ram Chandra Dutt v. Jogeswar Narain Deo, I. L. R. 20 Calc. 758, Deheram Bulleyya v. Somanchi Seetharamayya, 2 Mad. W. N. 383, and Subramanian Chetti v. Doraisinga, 24 Mad. L J. 49, followed. A register of births and deaths kept under Madras Act III of 1899 is a public document and a certified copy thereof is admissible under ss. 35 and 82 of the Evidence Act. A document by which it is intended to contradict a witness will not be admissible in evidence under s. 145, Evidence Act, unless it is put to the witness or unless it is otherwise admissible under the Act. Per CURIAM: Under the Hindu Common Law a minor cannot make any disposition of property during his lifetime, e.g., a gift; and consequently he cannot make any disposition of his property to take effect after his death. KRISHNAMACHARIAR v. KRISHNAMACHARIAR (1913) . . . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 166

5. ———— Liability of minor son for father's debts—Whether separate property liable. The minor sons of a Hindu may be liable for the debts of their father even though the debts were not effect to a contract merely because the rate of interest is hard and unconscionable. In order to obtain relief in such a case the debtor must show that he comes within the terms of s. 16 of the Contract Act, 1872. NATHUNI SAHU v. BAIJNATH PRASAD . . . . . 2 Pat. L. J. 212

6. ———— Dayabhaga family with a minor co-parcener—Loan by Karta—for new business started after father's death—Liability of minor—Adult brothers adjudicated insolvent and Receiver appointed of their share—Partition between Receiver and minor and share of all properties including minor ceiver
of 187
directi appeal against—Order, if "final"—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), ss. 109, 97. The defendant a minor and his brothers were members of a Dayabhaga family. The ancestral businesses which their father had were carried on after the father's death by the ties. A partition took place between the Receiver and the infant's guardian and the infant was given his proportionate share in all properties ancestral and after-acquired. The dividend received by the plaintiffs in the insolvency falling short of the amount due they sued to recover from the share of the defendant, the minor, who disclaimed all interest in the new business. Held, that the suits to which the Receiver was not a party were any part of it got improperly into the possession of the minor the right to recover it was in the Receiver. The distinction between an ancestral business and one started after the death of the ancestor as a source of partnership relations is patent. In the one case these relations result by operation of law from a succession on the death of an ancestor to an established business with its benefits and obligations. In the other they rest ultimately on contractual arrangement between the parties. Under s. 247 of the Contract Act a minor may be admitted to the benefits of partnership but cannot be made personally liable for any obligations if the firm, but the share of such minor in the property of the firm is liable for the obligations of the firm. This share is no more than right to participate in the property of the firm after its obligations have been satisfied. The High Court in reversing a decree dismissing the suits against the minor defendant directed certain accounts against the defendant, not because his liability was established but for the purpose of determining whether or not he was liable. On appeal to the Judicial Committee a preliminary objection that the order was not "final" and therefore not appealable was overruled. SANYASI CHARAN MANDAL v. KRISHNANDAN

HINDU LAW—MINOR—concld.

26 C. W. N. 954

HINDU LAW—MITAKSHARA.

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION, ALIENATION AND JOINT FAMILY.

———— Vyavahara Mayukha—Hindus in Mahad governed by Mitakshara. In the town of Mahad in the Kolaba District Hindus are governed by the Mitakshara and not by the Vyavahara Mayukha. NARHAR DAMODAR v. BHAU MORESHWAR (1916) . . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 621

———— Ancestral property——Whether property inherited from maternal grandfather is—Liability of such property in execution of a decree
—
of
of.
an fro of the father the property so inherited is part of his assets in the hands of the sons and can be proceeded against in execution of a decree obtained against him on a mortgage. In such a case it is not open to the sons to oppose execution on the ground that the debt for which the mortgage was executed was illegal and illusory or tainted with immorality. Query—Whether a member of a joint family can impugn a mortgage made before he was born by the managing member? A daughter's son, being the equivalent of a son according to the Mitakshara, he is, therefore, a member of his mother's father's family, but a daughter's son's son is not a member of any family but his own. BISHWANATH PRASAD SAHU v. GANJADHAR PRASAD 3 Pat. L. J. 168

HINDU LAW—MITAKSHARA—contd.

——— Liability of sons—and grandsons for father's and grandfather's debts—liability for contracts of surety and indemnity—Contract Act (IX of 1872), ss. 124, 126 and 132—Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1918), s. 53. A Hindu son or grandson governed by the Mitakshara law is liable for the debt of his father or grandfather due on account of a contract of suretyship for the payment of money, but they are not liable for money due on a contract of indemnity unless the transaction comes within the meaning of the term Vyavarika, i.e., lawful, useful or customary. MAHABIR PRASAD v. SIRI NARAYUN 3 Pat. L. J. 396.

——— Joint family—liability of sons for father's debts—distinction between criminal and civil liability of father. Mitakshara sons are bound by a sale of their property held in execution of a decree against their father even where it is not shown that the debt was not incurred for legal necessity, unless they succeed in proving that the debt was an immoral debt. But every civil liability does not necessarily involve a moral stigma. Where a Hindu father, who had acted as an agent, failed to deliver accounts to his principal, and by reason of his failure a decree was obtained against him and the ancestral property was sold in execution of that decree: held, that there being nothing in the circumstances of the case to show a criminal misappropriation on his part, or to show that there was any dishonesty which could constitute an immoral act within the meaning of the Hindu Law, the sons were bound by the sale. MAHANTA GADADHAR RAMANUJ DAS v. GHANA SYAM DAS . . 3 Pat. L. J. 533

——— Chapter I, ss. 27, 28 and 29—Joint ancestral property—Gift of portion by one member or pious purposes—circumstances in which such gift is valid. The second and third of the circumstances stated in paragraph 28 of Chapter 1 of the Mitakshara as justifying a transfer of joint ancestral property by one member of the family are not governed by the preceding words " in a time of distress"; but there are three separate and distinct exceptions. Thus the gift of a portion of the joint ancestral property made by one member of the family for pious purposes is valid, though not made in a time of distress. The term " pious purposes " as used in paragraph 28 does not necessarily mean indispensable duties, such as the obsequies of the father, etc., mentioned in paragraph 29. Gopal Chund Pande v. Babu Kunwar Singh, 5 S. D. A., L. P., 24, and Raghunath Prasad v. Govind Prasad, I. L. R., 8 All. 76, referred to. SRI THAKURJI v. NANDA AHIR I. L. R. 43 All. 560.

——— Joint ancestral property—Sale by father without legal necessity—Suit by son to set aside sale—Purchaser not entitled to a lien on the father's share for return of the purchase money. The father in a joint Hindu family, consisting of himself and one son, sold some of the joint ancestral property. The son sued to have the sale set aside. It was found that there existed legal necessity to support the sale only in respect of Rs. 350 out of a total consideration of Rs. 1,500, and the plaintiff was given a decree for possession of the property subject to the payment of that sum. Held that, whatever relief the defendants vendees might be entitled to against the father, they were not entitled to any charge against the undivided share of the father in the joint family property in respect of the balance of the purchase money. Kali Shankar v. Nawab Singh, I. L. R. 31 All. 507, Suraj Bunsikoer v. Sheo Pershad Singh, I. L. R., 5 Calc., 148, Balgobind Das v. Narain Lal, I. L. R., 15 All., 339, Anant Ram v. Collector of Etah, I. L. R., 40 All. 171. Madho Parshad v. Mehrban Singh, I. L. R. 18 Calc. 157, and Lachman Prasad v. Sarnam Singh, I. L. R. 39 All. 590, referred to. RAM SAHAI v. PARBHU DAYAL I. L. R. 43 All. 655.

HINDU LAW—MITAKSHARA—concld.

HINDU LAW—MORTGAGE.

See HINDU LAW (ALIENATION—JOINT FAMILY AND WIDOW).

See MORTGAGE . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 722

——— Mortgage—Mitakshara—Mortgage by father to secure personal debt—Neither antecedent, nor for family purposes, nor immoral—Suit brought after his death—Limitation—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), Sch. II, Arts. 120, 132—Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 85, Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. XXXIV, r. 1. The Full Bench decision in the case of Luchmun Dass v. Giridhur Chowdhry, I. L. R. 5 Calc. 855, is still binding on this Court as no contrary rule has yet been laid down by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council [either in Nanomi Babuasin v. Modhun Mohun, I. L. R. 13 Calc. 21 ; L. R. 13 I. A. 1, or Bhagbut Pershad v. Girja Kœr, I. L. R. 15 Calc. 717 ; L. R. 15 I. A. 99] nor has it been superseded by subsequent legislation as s. 85 of the Transfer of Property Act (now replaced by O. XXXIV, r. 1 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1808) cannot touch the question. Where a suit upon a mortgage effected by a father governed by the Mitakshara Law for a debt, which is neither antecedent nor for family purposes and not proved to be immoral, had been brought (more than six years) after the death of the father against the sons, some of whom were adult and some minors at the time of the mortgage :—Held (without deciding when the right to sue accrues), that Art. 132 of the Schedule to the Indian Limitation Act had no application as there was no charge on immoveable property enforceable against the sons : consequently, Art. 120 governed the case. Luchmun Dass v. Giridhur Chowdhry, I. L. R. 5 Calc. 855, affirmed. Kishun Pershad Chowdhry v. Tipan Pershad Singh, I. L. R. 34 Calc. 735, approved. Mahsewar Dutt Tewari v. Kishun Singh, I. L. R. 34 Calc. 184, Biswanath Pershad Mahata v. Jagdip Narain Singh, I. L. R. 40 Calc. 342 ; 17 C. W. N. 1025, Sheo Narain Ray v. Mokshoda Das Mittra, 17 C. W. N. 1022, overruled. BRIJNANDAN SINGH v. BIDYA PRASAD SINGH (1915) I. L. R. 42 Calc. 1068

——— Mortgage by Hindu widow and then next reversioner and decree against both, if binds actual reversioner—Right of latter to attack decree on ground of fraud. Per MOOKERJEE, J.—When a mortgagee from a Hindu widow seeks to obtain a decree which would bind not merely the qualified interest of the widow, but the entire inheritance itself, the then next reversioner is a proper party to the suit. A remote reversioner is not a necessary party in such a suit. A reversioner so impleaded may well be deemed a party in a representative capacity and a decree fairly made in his presence, so long as it stands, binds the inheritance, whether he or some one else ultimately becomes the actual reversioner when the succession opens out on the death of the widow. But the fact only that the parties to the mortgage-deed (where it included the presumptive reversioner) had gone through the form of a suit and a decree cannot preclude the actual reversioner from attacking the decree on the ground of fraud; though the title of the purchaser in such a case can be defeated by the actual reversioner only after the decree has been successfully impeached for fraud, collusion or other like reason. Held, per CURIAM, that the decree in this case in which both the widow and then next reversioner were defendants must be taken to bind the whole estate GANGA NARAIN DUTT v. INDRA NARAIN SHAHA (1916) . . . 22 C. W. N. 350

HINDU LAW—MORTGAGE—contd.

———————— Mortgage of joint family property by manager—Proof of legal necessit —Exorbitant rate of interest—Onus of showing it was a reasonable rate—Power of High Court to reduce rate. It is incumbent on those who support a mortgage made by the manager of a joint Hindu family to show not only that there was necessity to borrow but that it was not unreasonable to borrow at some such high rate, and upon some such terms; and if it is not shown that there was necessity to borrow at the rate and upon the terms contained in the mortgage, that rate and those terms cannot stand A plea taken in written statement filed on behalf of the defendants that the property mortgaged was ancestral property, and that there was no legal necessity to execute the document sued on was held to make it open to the defendants to contend that, though the necessity for borrowing the principal sum was accepted, there was no necessity to borrow on the very onerous terms of this mortgage. Hurro Nath Rai Chowdhri v Randhir Singh, I. L. R. 18 Calc. 311 : L. R. 18 I. A. 1, and Nand Ram v. Bhupat Ram, I. L. R. 34 All. 126, referred to. Held, also, that on the above principle the High Court was justified in finding that a mortgage upon such terms as those contained in the document sued on, the lands being of such value as to make the security ample, was an unnecessary extravagance. NAZIR BEGUM v. RAO RAGHUNATH SINGH (1919) . . . I. L. R. 41 All. 571

———————— Mortgage suit—Reversioner made party to the mortgage suit not precluded from questioning surrender by Hindu widow in favour of Mortgagor—Manager appointed by mortgagor on the nomination of mortgagee whether agent of the mortgagee—Rate of interest liable to reduction in case of punctual payment whether penal—Purdanashin lady, deed executed by— —Circumstances to be carefully examined. A Hindu mother inheriting the one-fifth share on subsequently mortgaged. In a suit to enforce the mortgages instituted against the mother who had inherited the shares of the mortgagors, in which M, the sole surviving son, was joined as a party as reversioner, the mother dying during the pendency of the suits: Held—That the fact that M the sole reversionary heir to S, was a party

c him render

share of S as he might have as a reversioner entitled to possession. Where in an English mortgage it was agreed between the mortgagor and the mortgagees that certain nominees of the mortgagees should be appointed managers and be liable to furnish accounts to the mortgagees and a separate deed of management was contemporaneously executed by the mortgagor in favour of the nominees to which the mortgagees were not parties and by which such nominees were appointed managers: Held—That the managers of interest the mortgagees shall accept the same in lieu of and in satisfaction for interest at nine and a half per cent Held—That the stipulation for payment of interest at the rate of nine and a half per cent. was not penal The circumstances under which a purdanashin woman agrees to sell or mortgage property in which she is interested must be carefully examined in order to ascertain that she had independent advice, that she had sufficient intelligence to understand the relevant and important matters, that she did understand them as they were explained to her, that nothing was concealed and that there was no undue influence or misrepresentation Sunitabala v. Dhara Sundari, L. R. 46 I A. 272 : s c I. L. R. 47 Calc. 175 ; 24 C. W. N. 297 (1919), referred to. MOTILAL DAS v. THE EASTERN MORTGAGE AND AGENCY COY, LTD. (P C.) 25 C. W. N. 265

———————— Mortgage by widow with sanction of Court which granted her letters of administration—Lender, if under any obligation to enquire as to necessity for loan and the truth of the allegations on which sanction obtained—Grant of administration, if can be collaterally attacked in reversioner's suit challenging the mortgage—Fraud, necessity for specific allegations in plaint. A Hindu widow who was granted letters of administration to the estate of her husband mortgaged certain properties with the sanction of the Probate Court: Held, in a suit by the reversioner challenging the transaction on the ground, amongst others, of non-existence of legal necessity, that this was not a case of advancing money having regard to the legal necessity of a Hindu widow but merely upon the leave granted by the Court which permitted her to mortgage the property. It is incorrect to suppose that having regard to the sanction granted by a Probate Court a person has still to enquire as regards the necessity for such advance. If he bonâ fide relied upon the order and made the advance, there is no onus on him to go and make enquiries about the truth of the allegations on which sanction was given. To challenge such a transaction it has to be shown that the person who got the sanction knew that the facts were false or that he was instrumental in getting the order from the Court upon false representation: Held, as to the contention that the letters of administration were granted improperly and on insufficient materials, that the Civil Court had no jurisdiction to declare the order granting the letters of administration null and void The only proper Court to set it aside was the Probate Court: Held, further, that allegations of fraud have to be particularised in the plaint and unless this is done the question of fraud cannot be dealt with. ANNADA CHARAN MONDAL v. ATUL CHANDRA MALIK (1919) . . . 23 C. W. N. 1045

HINDU LAW—MORTGAGE—concld.

——— Mortgage by father, not for necessary purpose—Conditional decree—Personal decree against father and against ancestral properties of father and sons—Civil Procedure Code (V of 1908), O. XXXIV, r. 6. A suit was instituted against a Hindu father and his sons on a mortgage bond executed by the father alone. The Courts found that it was not for any purpose binding upon the sons; held, that the mortgage was entitled to a conditional decree, under O. XXXIV, r. 6, Civil Procedure Code, against the father personally, and against the joint family property of himself and his undivided sons, for the recovery of the balance, in case the sale-proceeds of the father's share of the mortgaged property was insufficient. KANDASAMI GOUNDAN v. KUPPU MOOPPAN (1920) I. L. R. 43 Mad. 421

HINDU LAW—PARTITION.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1882, s. 244. I. L. R. 1 Lah. 134

——— By Manager—
See LIMITATION ACT, 1908, ACT. 62. I. L. R. 45 Bom. 313

——— Oral Evidence Admissible to prove—
See EVIDENCE ACT, s. 91. I. L. R. 41 Bom. 466

——— Representation of Minors, regarding—
See HINDU LAW, JOINT FAMILY. I. L. R. 44 Bom. 166, 179
See U. P. LAND REVENUE ACT, 1901, s. 111. . . I. L. R. 35 All. 126

1. ——— Reunion after partition—Whether, after separation in estate, a minor member continuing to live jointly with an adult member, becomes a reunited member of the family—Survivorship. When after partition in district shares amongst Hindu brothers, some of whom were minors, the minor brothers continued to live jointly with one of the adult brothers, that fact alone did not constitute a reunion with him after partition. In order to constitute a reunion there must be a junction of estate with an intention to reunite. RUSI MENDLI v. SUNDAR MENDLI (1910) I. L. R. 37 Calc. 703

2. ——— Self-acquisition—Certain family property allotted to one branch of the family—Subsequent purchase of the allotted property by a member of another branch with his own money—Exclusion by the purchaser of the other member of his branch. Certain family property was allotted to a member of one branch of the family in virtue of a compromise. It was subsequently purchased by a member of the other branch with his own money which was not part of the joint family money. The purchaser did not intend by the purchase to merge the property in the joint family property, and excluded his brother from it. Subsequently, the brother having brought a suit for partition claimed a share in the property purchased by the defendant along with a share in the other joint property: Held, that the plaintiff was not entitled to claim a partition subject to the right of the defendant to retain an additional quarter share for himself, but that the property purchased by the defendant became his self-acquisition. BAJABA v. TRIMBAK VISHVANATH (1909) I. L. R. 32 All. 106

2 (a) ——— In a joint Hindu family governed by Mitakshara one of the sons obtained certain elementary education in astrology from his father but no family money was expended. He ceased to live with the family and later made a lot of money at astrology. Held that the money was self acquired. DURGA DUT JOSHI v. GANESH DUT JOSHI I. L. R. 34 Bom. 305

3. ——— Temporary partition—Temporary partition, to be followed by final partition, does not destroy the tenancy-in-common—Purchaser of part from one parcener entitled to enforce his right by partition—Alienee of portion—Necessary party to such suit. An award, which purported to effect a division between several individual co-parceners, allotted each co-parcener a share and provided that each should enjoy the share allotted to him for a time and that at the end of such period, a re-partition according to profit and loss should be effected of all the properties. One of the co-parceners sold a portion of the share allotted to him to A and a portion was sold in execution of a decree for rent obtained by the landlord against all the co-parceners and purchased by B. A brought a suit for partition against all the co-parceners without making B a party. B was subsequently added more than twelve years after the date when the re-partition was directed by the award: Held, (i) that the partition was not final and the co-parceners, till the final partition, continued to be joint-tenants or tenants-in-common, subject to the separate enjoyment of the portions allotted to each. (ii) That the proper remedy of A was by a suit for partition of the whole under the terms of the award. (iii) That B was a necessary party and as he was joined after the suit as against him was barred, the suit ought to be dismissed. DURI BHAGAVANLU v. TADEPATRI VEERAVADHANULU (1909) . . I. L. R. 33 Mad. 246

4. ——— Alienee's share—Alienee from co-parcener may sue for partition of that co-parcener's share only. When certain items of family properties are conveyed by one of two co-parceners of an Hindu family to a stranger for purposes not binding on the family, the alienee from the other co-parcener of his share in the said properties may, without instituting a general suit for partition of the entire family property, maintain an action for the partition of his share in the said items. IBURAMSA ROWTHAN v. THIRUMALAI MUTHUVEERA THERUVENKATASAMI NAICK (1910) I. L. R. 34 Mad. 269

5. ——— Mother's share—Mitakshara—Partition—Mother's share, son partition between sons—Mother's right to share where merely legal severance of interest between sons without partition by metes and bounds. Under the Mitakshara law upon a partition being made by sons, after the death of their father the mother is entitled to a share equal to that of a son; but she would obtain such a share only if an actual partition took place between the sons. A mere severance of interest where no actual division of the property takes place does not confer on the mother a right to a share. Ganesh Dutt v. Jewach, I. L. R. 31 Calc. 262, distinguished. BETI KUNWAR v. JANKI KUNWAR . . . . I. L. R. 33 All. 118

HINDU LAW—PARTITION—contd.

6. ———— Illegitimate son, share of—Partition with legitimate sons after death of father—Illegitimate son takes one-half of the share of the legitimate son—Marriage, proof necessary to establish. The fact that a woman was living under the control and protection of a man, who generally lived with her and acknowledged her children as his will raise a strong presumption that she is the wife of that man. This presumption will however, be rebutted by proof of facts which show that no marriage could have taken place. Where relations and castemen who would have been present at the marriage if it had taken place are not called as witnesses, and persons who would have been invited have received no invitation the presumption will be that no marriage has taken place. When after a man's death, a partition of his property is effected between his legitimate and illegitimate sons, the illegitimate son takes one-half of what the legitimate son actually takes and not one-half of what a legitimate son in his place will get. Kasaree v. Samardhan, 5 N. W. P. H. C., 94, followed. CHELLAMMAL v. RANGANATHAM PILLAI (1910) . . . I. L. R. 34 Mad. 277

7. ———— Partial partition—Re-union. Out of six co-parceners in a joint Hindu family, three separated under a deed of partition from the rest who continued joint as before. The Court found on these facts that the last three persons either continued as before to be co-parceners or they must be held as having immediately re-united with each other after executing the deed of partiwas that the co-parceners agreed to effect not a complete but partial disruption of the co-parcenery, that, in other words, three of them separated from the rest and also inter se and that the latter agreed to continue joint. ANANDIBAI v. HARI SUBA PAI (1911) . . . . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 293

8. ———— Grandmother—Mitakshara—Whether grandmother entitled to share in the case of a partition between father and sons. Held, that upon a partition between a father and his sons, the grandmother, that is, the father's mother, does not get a share in the case of a family governed by the Benares school of the Mitakshara law. Radha Kishen Man v. Bachchaman, I. L. R. 3 All. 118, followed. Sheo Dayal Tewaree v. Judoo Nath Tewaree, 9 W. R. 61; Badri Ray v. Bhagwat Narain Dobey, I. L. R. 8 Calc. 649, and Shibbosoondery Dabia v. Bussomutty Dabia, I. L. R. 7 Calc. 191 distinguished. SHEO NARAIN v. JANKI PRASAD (1912) . . . . I. L. R. 34 All. 505

9. ———— Father's debts—Suit for partition—Decree for father's personal debt not illegal or immoral—Decree to be enforced by sale in execution of the entire family estate during father's lifetime—Debt antecedent to the institution of the suit. A son brought a suit against his father and the father's creditors for partition of his half share in certain ancestral properties and for a declaration tha created against suit was to enforce their mortgages. Held, that a decree ot illegal or execution in
Meenakshi Naidu v. Immudi Kanaka, L. R. 16 I. A. 1, followed. DATTATRAYA VISHNU v. VISHNU NARAYAN (1911) . . . . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 68

10. ———— Right of way—Impartible property—Presumption of law—Implied reservation of right of way on partition of estate—Mitakshara—Mayukha. Under Hindu Law in the absence of anything to show that at the partition the passage was allotted to either one party or the other exclusively, the presumption is that it continued joint and undivided even after the partition. That presumption must be rebutted by clear proof by the party who alleges that the passage was not reserved as joint but was divided and allotted to him exclusively as his share. According to the Mitakshara and the Vyavahara Mayukha, rights of way and rights to wells and water belonging to a joint family are indivisible: and if there is no evidence that at the partition of the family estate they were divided, the law will hold that they continued to retain the character of indivisibility attached to them by law having regard to the nature of the rights in question. NATHUBHAI DHIRAJRAM v. BAI HANSGAVRI, (1912) . . . . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 379

11. ———— Decree for partition, preliminary—Effect of appeal against such decree—Decree effects severance, which is not affected by the subsequent appeal. A preliminary decree directing a partition effects severance of the joint family and the divided status is not affected by filing an appeal against such decree. Subsequent births or deaths cannot deprive any of the parties or their representatives of their shares allotted to them by such decree. Subraya Mudali v. Manicka Mudali, I. L. R. 19 Mad. 345, followed. Sakharam Mahadev Dange v. Hari Krishna Dange, I. L. R. 6 Bom. 113, dissented from. Joy Narain Giri v. Girish Chunder Myti, I. L. R. 4 Calc. 434, referred to. Such a decree, like other decrees, if right at the time it was passed, cannot be varied by reason of events subsequently happening. THANDAYUTHAPANI KANGIAR v. RAGUNATHA KANGIAR (1911) I. L. R. 35 Mad. 239

12. ———— Requisites for—Partition—Agreement to hold property in certain specific and defined shares, effect of—Re-union, failure to prove as alleged. The members of a joint Hindu family came to the following agreement:—"Now we have already come to terms, and according to the shares given below we have been in possession and enjoyment of our respective shares. As regards it we have with our mutual consent entered into an agreement according to the terms given below. The same share in the property which is in the possession of a particular person as given below shall be considered to be the property of that very person who is in possession thereof. If any of us brings any suit in the Civil or Revenue Court to the effect that his share is less or he is a loser it shall be considered to be false in every Court. By virtue of this agreement no person shall be competent to bring any claim in any Court in respect of any portion of the property other than the property detailed below." Then followed a specification of the villages belonging to the family and the shares in which those villages were thereafter to be held. From that time the property had been entered in the register in accordance with the arrangement contained in the agreement, and the agreement had been acted upon up to the time of suit. Held by the Judicial Committee (affirming the decision of the High Court), that on the evidence and circumstances of the case, the agreement was one which operated as a partition of shares, and the family thenceforth ceased to be joint in accordance with the principle laid down in Appovier v. Rama Subba Aiyan, 11 Moo. I. A. 75, Balkishen Das v. Ram Narain Sahu, I. L. R. 30 Calc. 738; L. R. 30 I. A. 139, and Parbati v. Naunihal Singh, I. L. R. 31 All. 412; L. R. 36 I. A. 71. There was no re-union. That was a question of fact, and there was no evidence to show that any of the members of the family re-united, or even contemplated re-union. RAGHUBIR SINGH v. MOTI KUNWAR (1912)

HINDU LAW—PARTITION—contd.

I. L. R. 35 All. 41

13. ——————————— Requisites for partition—Partition created by so-called will in life-time of father dividing family property among his sons and taking no share himself—Double share to eldest son—Unequal partition under alleged custom—Provision for forfeiture on mismanagement or bad behaviour—Conduct of parties after execution of document of partition. By a document called a "Will" dated the 26th of November, 1895, the father and head of a Hindu joint family governed by the Mitakshara law recorded a division of the ancestral family property amongst his three sons (giving himself no share but allotting a double share to his eldest son). The document recited that, "my three sons are at present fully qualified to conduct the business. Therefore in order to avoid a dispute after my death I have at present, while in a sound state of body and mind and of my own free will and accord, divided the property among my sons, heirs, as follows." Then followed the details of the division. There was provision that, "If I at any time come back from pilgrimage and find mismanagement or character of any one bad, then I shall have power to cancel this will which shall be enforced from the date of its execution" and the document concluded as follows:—"All the three sons were put in separate possession of the estate in the beginning of the year 1303 Fasli" (September 1885) "I have no other heir having a right besides those mentioned in this will. I have therefore executed this will in order that it may serve as evidence." Mutations of the various shares were subsequently made into the names of those to whom they were separately allotted, and the evidence showed that the division had been assented to, acquiesced in, and acted upon by the sons up to 1905. In a suit brought in September 1905, four years after the father's death, by the two younger sons for partition of the property which they alleged to be joint and undivided, and of which they claimed to be entitled to two one-third shares. Held (reversing the decision of the High Court), that the document of the 26th of November, 1895, was not a will but was intended to operate from its date and was in fact, a family arrangement contemporaneously made and acted upon by all parties, the effect of which was, under the circumstances of the case, to create a partition of the joint ancestral property. There was nothing in the fact that the document was called a will doubtedly made in fact, and which was acted upon for ten years without any dispute or misunderstanding as to the respective rights of the parties under it. Held, also, that the provision in the will giving the father power to cancel it in certain events, evidenced a contractual condition which the sons accepted in order to obtain the partition, which gave them immediate possession of the property, and viewed thus, the contractual acceptance of a power of forfeiture in case of bad behaviour would not be sufficient to prevent the partition operating in praesenti. BRIJRAJ SINGH v. SHEODAN SINGH (1913)

I. L. R. 35 All. 337

14. ——————— Res judicata—Estoppel—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 13. A decree for partition made in a suit instituted by a member of a joint Hindu family is res judicata as between all co-sharers who are parties to the suit. Where, therefore, in a series of suits all the co-sharers except one have obtained decrees partitioning to them their respective shares by metes and bounds, a co-sharer, who was a party to the suits, is estopped from alleging that the property left unpartitioned is less than the share to which he is entitled. NALINI KANTA LAHIRI v. SARNAMOYI DEBYA (1914) I. L. R. 41 I. A. 247

15. ——————— Partition by grandsons—Paternal step-grand-mother entitled to a share. According to the Mitakshara, the paternal step-grandmother is entitled to a share in the family estate when it is partitioned among her grandsons. VITHAL RAMKRISHNA v. PRAHLAD RAMKRISHNA (1915). I. L. R. 39 Bom. 373

16. ———————Property to be partitioned should be taken as existing at the date of the suit—Shares taken away by some of the co-parceners before the suit not to be taken into account. The plaintiff, as representing one branch of the family sued the defendants who represented other two branches, to recover by partition his share in the property which he alleged was one-third. The plaintiff had two brothers, one of whom had separated from the family by receiving his share (which then was 1-12th) some years before the suit. The defendants contended that the 1-12th share should go in reduction of the plaintiff's share at the partition, that is, he was entitled to 1-3rd minus 1-12th-¼th share. The lower Court having awarded a ⅓rd share to the plaintiff, some of the defendants appealed :—Held, that the share to which the plaintiff was entitled in the family property was ⅓rd and not ¼th, for partition should be made rebus sic stantibus as on the date of the suit. PRANJIVANDAS SHIVLAL v. ICHHARAM (1915)

I. L. R. 39 Bom. 734

17. ——————— By a minor co-parcener—Right to mesne profits—No exclusion—Separate living of minor co-parcener—Same rule as in the case of major co-parceners suit for account—Principle different—Provision for expenses of Upanayanam and marriage of co-parceners in a partition suit—Setting apart of funds—Whether Upanayana and marriage of male co-parceners are obligatory ceremonies—Provision for marriage of unmarried sisters

HINDU LAW—PARTITION—contd.

whether obligatory—Whether expenses of marriage of a male co-parcener is a reasonable expense—Right to maintenance of mother—Whether only son's share liable or share of step-sons also liable—Doctrine of Mitakshara as to right by birth examined—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), O. XLI, r. 3. In a suit for partition by a minor co-parcener against his step-brother who was a major, the plaintiff is not entitled to recover mesne profits in the absence of proof of exclusion by the manager. The question of the right of a minor co-parcener to an

v. Subbanna, I. L. R. 7 Mad. 564, and Abhayachandra Roy Choudhury v. Pyari Mohan Guho, 5 B. L. R. 364, referred to and explained. Where the mother of the plaintiff was joined as a defendant in the suit for partition, but a separate provision for maintenance was refused by the Court of First Instance on the ground that her maintenance should come out of the plaintiff's own share only, and she had appealed to the lower

it was held that the plaintiff who was a respondent in the Second Appeal was competent to prefer a memorandum of objections in the High Court objecting to the lower court's refusal to make a provision for her maintenance, as he is with the rights of all parties before it. Per SUNDARA AYAR, J.—In a suit for partitions provision must be made in the decree for expenses of the Upanayanam and marriage of male coparceners as well as for the expenses of the marriage of the unmarried sisters out of the family property whether it is ancestral or separate or self-acquired property of the father of the parties. Marriage is a proper ceremony for a Brahmin and an obligatory ceremony for all Hindus with extremely few exceptions. Modern custom is undoubtedly in favour of allowing the provision. In deciding what ceremonies are regarded as pro-

Ammal, 5 Mad. H. C. R. 377, Kumaravelu v. Virana Goundan, I. L. R. 5 Mad. 29, Subbarayalu Chitti v. Kamalavalli Thayramma, I. L. R. 35 Mad. 147, referred to and followed. Hemangini Dasi v. Kedarnath Kundu Chowdhury, I. L. R. 16 Calc. 758, distinguished. Per SADASIVA AYYAR, J.—Initiated brothers must set apart from the paternal estate the expenses of the initiation of the uninitiated brothers and sisters before dividing the paternal property whether it is ancestral or self-acquired property of the father. Upanayana or the ceremony of investiture of thread, in the case of a male member of a co-parcenary, and marriage in the case of a female are obligatory samskaras which the initiated brothers are bound to perform for their uninitiated brothers and sisters, and the initiated brothers are bound to make a provision for the expenses of performing the same out of the paternal estate before it is divided. Marriage in the case of a male member of a coparcenary is not an obligatory samskara for the performance of which the initiated brother is bound to make a provision out of the paternal property at the partition. Kameswarasastri v. Veeracharlu, I. L. R. 34 Mad. 433, referred to. Per SPENCER, J., on reference—Marriage is an obligatory ceremony on Hindus who do not desire to adopt the life of a Sanyasi, and a fund for the expenses of the marriage of unmarried co-sharers should be set apart at the partition of the paternal estate. SRINIVASA IYENGAR v. THIRUVENGADATHA AIYANGAR (1914) in the absence of fraud or other improper conduct, the only account the karta is liable for is as to the existing state of the property divisible, and the enquiry directed by the Court must be in the manner usually adopted to discover what in fact, the property now consists of. Chuckun Lall Singh v. Pooran Chunder Singh, 9 W. R. 483, Konerrav v. Gurrav, I. L. R. 5 Bom. 589, Raja Setrucherla Ramabhadra v. Raja Setrucherla Virabhadra Suryanarayana, I. L. R. 22 Mad. 470, L. R. 26 I. A. 167, Narayan bin Babaji v. Nathaji Durgaji Marwadi, I. L. R. 28 Bom. 201, Balakrishna Iyer v. Muthusami Iyer, I. L. R. 32 Mad. 271, and Shookmoy Chandra Das v. Monoharri Dassi, I. L. R. 11 Calc. 684; L. R. 12 I. A. 103, referred to. Obhoy Chundra Roy Choudhury v. Pearce Mohun Gooho, 13 W. R. (F. B.) 75; 5 B. L. R. 347, and Damodardas Maneklal v. Uttamram Maneklal, I. L. R. 17 Bom. 271, explained. PARMESHWAR DUBE v. GOBIND DUBE (1915)

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 556

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 459

18 (a) ———— Separation—Suit by one member.—A member of a joint family become separated from the others by the fact of suing them for partition. SOUNDARARAJAN v. ARUNACHALAM CHETTY I. L. R. 39 Mad. 159

sion of certain property with the defendants as co-sharers under leases which purported to be permanent leases granted to them under an arrangement sanctioned by the Court, and where the only person at the time of the suit interested in challenging the plaintiffs' right was a party to the suit and did not contest the suit:—Held, that the plaintiffs were entitled to partition and the fact that the partition would have to be set aside if the reversioner on coming into possession of the property succeeded in a suit for setting aside the leases, was not sufficient ground for refusing the plaintiffs the right to partition. Sundar v. Parbati, I. L. R. 12 All. 51; L. R. 16 I. A. 186, and Bhagwat Sahai v. Bipin Behari Mitter, I. L. R. 37 Calc.

HINDU LAW—PARTITION—contd.

913; L. R. 37, I. A. 198, followed. SAIMIULLAH v. PROBHAT CHANDRA SEN (1916)

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1118

20. ——— Share of step-mother. Under the Mitakshara law a step-mother is entitled, upon partition of the joint family property, to share equal to that of a son. Hemangini Dassi v. Kedarnath Kundu Chowdhry, I. L. R. 16 Calc. 758, distinguished, Mathura Prasad v. Dooka, (1890) All. Weekly Notes, 124, followed. HAR NARAIN v. BISHAMBHAR NATH (1915)

I. L. R. 38 All. 83

21. ——— Marriage of co-parcener—Provision for expenses of Marriage at partition—Expenses incurred subsequent to suit but before decree—Anticipatory provision for future marriage, right for—Decree in partition suit—Gift by co-parcener of lands, less than his share—Validity of—Estoppel. An unmarried co-parcener is not entitled to have an anticipatory provision made for the expenses of his future marriage at partition Srinivasa v. Thiruvengathiengar, I. L. R. 38 Mad. 556, dissented from. Where the expenses of marriage of a co-parcener were incurred subsequent to the institution of a suit for partition but prior to the decree of the Court of first instance: Held, that the severance of the joint family was effected only by the decree, and that the expenses should be credited to him in the account to be taken in the suit. Where a member of a joint Hindu family made a gift of some immoveable property, which was not unreasonable regard being had to the extent of his share in all the joint family properties, and his undivided son did not impeach the gift during his father's lifetime: Held, that neither the son nor the grandson could question the validity of the same after the donor's death. NARAYANA v. RAMALINGA (1915)

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 587

22. ——— Shares of adopted son and natural born son of another father—Construction of Dattaka Chandrika, s. 5, paragraphs 24 and 25—Position of adopted son in joint Hindu family. A Hindu joint family in Bombay governed by the Mitakshara law as altered or interpreted by the Vyavahara Mayukha, consisted of two sons H and B. H died in September 1900 leaving a widow who was then pregnant. B died on 17th December of the same year leaving a widow to whom he gave authority to adopt. On 18th December the widow of H gave birth to a son, the respondent; and in February 1901 the widow of B adopted the appellant as a son to her husband. In a suit for partition by the appellant against the respondent. Held (reversing the decision of the Appellate High Court, and restoring that of the Trial Judge of the same Court), that, on the construction of paragraphs 24 and 25 of s. 5 of the Dattaka Chandrika, the adopted son was entitled to a share equal to the share of the natural born son. The doctrine according to which an adopted son on partition takes only a reduced share in the family property applies only to cases in which the competition is between an adopted son and a subsequently born natural son of the same father. Raghubanund Doss v. Sadhu Churn Doss, I. L. R. 4 Calc. 425, dissented from. Tara Mohun Bhuttacharjee v. Kripa Moyee Dabia, 9 W. R. 423, and Dinonath Mukerji v. Gopal Churn Mukerji, 8 C. L. R. 57, followed. As so construed, paragraphs 24 and 25 of s. 5 of the Dattaka Chandrika are not in conflict with any principle of the Mitakshara or of the Vyavahara Mayukha, and they are consistent with the reference to the text of Vasistha in paragraph 1, s. 10 of the Dattaka Mimansa. An adopted son occupies the same position in the family of the adopter as a natural born son, except in a few instances which are accurately defined in the Dattaka Chandrika and the Dattaka Mimansa and relate to marriage and to competition between an adopted son and a subsequently born legitimate son to the same father. Sumboo Chunder Chowdry v. Naraini Dibeh, 3 Knapp 55, Padma Coomari Debi v. Court of Wards, L. R. 8 I. A. 229, and Kali Komul Mozumdar v. Uma Sunker Moitra, L. R. 10 I. A. 138, followed. The position of an adopted son in the family cannot now be decided by reference to the place which was assigned by Manu to the twelve then possible sons of a Hindu, who, whatever their rights may have been then, are long since obsolete. GAGINDAS BHAGWANDAS v. BACHU HURKISSONDAS (1915) . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 270

23. ——— Blindness—Compromise by Pardanishin Guardian—Dishonest claim—Invalidity. An incurably blind man, unless he was born blind, is not excluded by Hindu law from inheriting nor from participating upon a partition Mohesh Chunder Ray v. Chunder Mohun Ray, 14 B. L. R. 273, and Murarji Gokuldas v. Parvatibai, I. L. R. 1 Bom. 177, approved. A plaintiff having instituted against a pardanishin woman and her infant daughter a suit based in substance upon an allegation which was untrue and in which he had no honest belief, induced the mother to enter into a compromise on behalf of herself and her daughter. The compromise was assented to by the Court and a decree made in pursuance of it. Held, that the daughter was entitled in a subsequent suit to have the compromise and decree set aside. GUNJESHWAR KUNWAR v. DURGA PRASAD SINGH (1917) . . . L. R. 44 I. A. 229

24. ——— Between an adopted son and a subsequently born aurasa son of a Sudra—Share of adopted son—Marriage expenses of unmarried members—Provision for, in partition-decree. Among Sudras, on a division of the family properties between an adopted son and a subsequently born aurasa son, the adopted son is only entitled to one-fifth of the estate. The obiter dictum to the contrary in Raja v. Subbaraya, I. L. R. 7 Mad. 253, 263, not followed. The Dattaka Chandrika is not an authority on Inheritance or Partition. In partition-decrees, provision should be made for the marriage expenses of the unmarried members of the family. But such a provision should be made only for persons who are of the same degree of relationship as those who have been married at the expense of the family. The decision of the majority in Srinivasa Ayengar v. Thiruvengadathaiyangar, I. L. R. 38 Mad. 556, followed. Narayana v. Ramalinga, I. L. R. 39 Mad. 587, not followed. GOPALAM v. VENKATARAGHAVULU (1915) . . . . I. L. R. 40 Mad. 632

25. ——— Evidence of separation—Institution of suit for partition by members of joint family—Unequivocal expression of intention to separate—Dismissal of suit for partition on technical grounds. Held, that the institution of a suit for partition by one of the members of a Hindu joint family governed by the Mitakshara law amounted to an unequivocal desire of the plaintiff for separation, and effected his separation from the joint family. It was immaterial in such a case whether the co-sharers assented. Girja Bai v. Sadashiv Dhundhiraj, I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1031; L. R. 43 I. A. 151. Their Lordships said:—"A decree may be necessary for working out the result of the severance, and for allotting definite shares, but the status of the plaintiff as separate in estate is brought about by his assertion of his right to separate whether he obtains a consequential judgment or not." KAWAL NAIN v. BUDH SINGH (1917) . I. L. R. 39 All. 496

HINDU LAW—PARTITION—contd.

26. ——— On behalf of minor—Death of minor before the filing of written statement—Severance of the joint status, if effected—Legal representative of minor, right of, to continue the suit. The rule that the institution of a suit for partition of joint family property effects a severance of the joint status is not applicable to a suit instituted on behalf of a minor; for in such a suit it is for the Court to determine whether a decree for partition will be beneficial to the minor. Where a minor plaintiff dies during the pendency of the suit his legal representatives are not entitled to continue the suit. Girja Bai v. Sadashiv Dhundiraj, I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1031; Sundara Rajan v. Arunachalam Chetti, I. L. R. 39 Mad. 159, referred to. CHELIMI CHETTY v. SUBBAMMA (1917)

I. L. R. 41 Mad. 442

27. ——— Agreement for partition of property of their husbands executed by two Hindu widows—Circumstances invalidating such agreement. Two brothers, constituting a joint Hindu family, died within a year of each other, each leaving a widow surviving him. The two widows executed a deed of partition of the property of their husbands, in which it was recited that the husbands had died on certain dates; that they had been joint "in food, business and everything," but also, nevertheless, that the executants "became the owners of the property left by their husbands in equal shares." The pro- [illegible]

[illegible] last) for possession of the whole estate: Held, that the latter was entitled to succeed. Either the gratuitous alienation by her of one half of the property to which she was entitled was the result of deception practised upon her by some one better acquainted with the facts, or else both parties to the deed of partition were under a common mistake regarding their respective rights. LACHMI KUNWAR v. DURGA KUNWAR (1918)

I. L. R. 40 All. 619

28. ——— Preliminary decree—Mother's share determined—Decree for plaintiff for his share—Mother's death before the final decree—No [illegible]

[illegible] joining Y and R as defendants. A preliminary decree was passed holding that Y was entitled to one-third share and decreeing to the plaintiff a third share in the estate. Before any final decree could be passed, however, Y died and an application was made by A praying that owing to the removal of Y by death, his share should be held to have increased to one moiety and the decree should be amended accordingly. The Subordinate Judge granted the application. On appeal to the High Court, it was contended: (1) that the [illegible] rate suit and [illegible] suit. Held, (i) [illegible] effected no share [illegible] ship of Y and therefore the share assigned to her remained an integral part of the estate available for division among the heirs of her husband. Sheo Dayal Tewaree v. Judoonath Tewaree, 9 W. R. 61, Debi Mangal Prasad Singh v. Mahadeo Prasad Singh, I. L. R. 34 All. 231, followed. (ii) That there was no necessity to bring a separate suit as when Y died the cause of action survived and her heirs had to be brought on the record; the Court was bound under O. XXII, r. 5 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908, to make inquiry as to who those heirs were in case any dispute arose upon the subject. RAOJI BHIKAJI v. ANANTA LAXMAN (1918) . . . . I. L. R. 42 Bom. 535

HINDU LAW—PARTITION—contd.

29. ——— Right of a third party to—Half of the property partitioned subsequently established by suit—Right of original parties to reparti- [illegible] ed the other for [illegible] to be the joint [illegible] compromised, and [illegible] was embodied in a decree. Subsequently, however, a cousin of the parties established by suit his title to one half of the family property which had been already divided between the two brothers. Held, that it was open to the two brothers—if not eo nomine to re-open the partition already effected—at any rate to ask the Court to adjust as between them the loss occasioned by the success of their cousin's suit. Marauti v. Rama, I. L. R. 21 Bom. 333 referred to. GANESHI LAL v. BABU LAL (1918)

I. L. R. 40 All. 374

30. ——— Birth of natural son after adoption—Suit for partition by adoptive father and natural son against adopted son—Shares. In a suit for partition during the lifetime of a Hindu father, the father and a natural born son are entitled to eight shares of the property and the adopted son to one share. Narasimhappa v. Chinna Kenchappa, (1917) 38 I. C., 241 (Mad.) and Subbarayudu v. Perarazu, Appeal No. 101 of 1914 (unreported) followed. BALAKRISHNAYYA v. VENKATA TRIAMBAKAM (1920)

I. L. R. 43 Mad. 398

[illegible] and bounds— [illegible] to account for [illegible] suit for partition but before the date of actual division to be taken out of joint family property. A suit for partition under Hindu law was filed in 1909. At the actual divi- [illegible] wed the [illegible] certain [illegible] manager personally for the years 1905 to 1909. The defendant having raised objection to this part of the decree. Held, upholding the defendants' objection, that he was not liable to account for the mesne profits of the joint family lands. A manager of a joint Hindu family is not obliged to keep accounts while the family remains joint, and when a partition is asked for, partition takes place of the property as it exists in the hands of the manager. Under Hindu law, as far as the joint family is concerned, it is considered as one entity until the moment comes for division, and then each party gets his actual share. In the meantime if there are any expenses which should properly be incurred by the joint family purse, those expenses are taken out of the family property, and they cannot be debited to a particular co-parcener. RAMNATH CHHOTURAM v. GOTURAM RADHAKISAN (1919) . . . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 179

HINDU LAW—PARTITION—contd.

32. ———— Sale of his share by a co-parcener —Suit by purchaser for partition—and for past mesne profits—Past profits cannot be allowed. In a joint Hindu family consisting of five brothers, two of the brothers sold their shares to the plaintiff. The plaintiff sued for partition of his two-fifths share in the family property and for three years' mesne profits. Both the lower Courts decreed partition and allowed the plaintiff Rs. 63 for past profits. The defendants having objected to the part of the decree awarding past mesne profits. Held, that the past mesne profits were wrongly awarded. TRIMBAK GANESH v. PANDURANG GHAROJEE (1919) . . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 621

33. ———— By a brother against mother and seven brothers referred to arbitrator. Ganesh died in 1885 leaving his widow and eight sons, in 1885 his second son Gour brought a suit for partition. It was referred to arbitration and in 1887 award was given by which estate was divided into nine equal parts and allotted to the mother and eight sons. As the five infant sons desired to live with their mother jointly the arbitrator declared their shares to be Rs. 9,890 each but did not divide by metes and bounds. On the mother's death the question having arisen as to the nature of the right of persons to take her share among them at her decease: Held, that the share in question was an interest in lieu of the mother's right to maintenance which upon partition amongst the sons was carried out of the sons' shares and at the death of the mother went back to and became part of the shares out of which it came. SASHI BHUSAN SHAW v. HARI NARAYAN SHAW. 25 C. W. N. 993.

33a. ———— Evidence of—Revenue and village records—Decree made at Regular Settlement—Decree for widows of "superior proprietary right" —Rights subjects to those of the other share-holders. In this case the plaintiffs (respondents) sued for possession of a village by cancellation of a sale-deed of it executed on the 30th of December, 1871, in favour of the predecessor in title of the defendant appellant, by three Hindu pardanashin ladies whose husbands had been lineal descendants of the proprietor. The main question raised by the defendant was whether the property (joint, ancestral and undivided property) was or was not joint and undivided at the date of the sale. The appellant alleged that a partition of it had been made; there was no evidence of any deed for the purpose, but he founded his contention chiefly on the terms of the khewat and wajib-ul-arz and of a settlement decree of the 6th of December, 1869, which was for superior rights in favour of the widows, "subject to the rights of the other share-holders." Held, that "a definition of shares in revenue and village papers affords by itself but a very slight indication of an actual separation in a Hindu family, and certainly in no case that has come before us could we have regarded such a definition of shares standing alone, as sufficient evidence on which to find, contrary to the presumption of Hindu law, that the family to which such definition referred had separated." Their Lordships adopted with approval the above citation from the decision of EDGE, C. G., in Gajendar Singh v. Sardar Singh, I. L. R. 18 All. 176, as being a correct decision of the law. Held as to the decree when on the one hand it declared for superior proprietary rights in favour of the widows, and on the other that these are to be given subject to the rights of the other share-holders, it completely conserved such reversioners' and other ownership rights as are inherent in the succession to a joint family property, and negatived the idea that partition or separation had been effectuated by law in such a manner as to extinguish other proprietary rights. The decree was not equivalent to an affirmation of a partition or separation having taken place, but was entirely consistent with the existence of the property as joint and, undivided, and therefore with no prejudice being effected to the right of the reversioner therein, in this case represented by the respondent (plaintiff). The presumption, therefore, against partition of this ancestral property had not been overcome, and the property remained joint. NAGESHAR BAKHSH SINGH v. GANESHA I. L. R. 42 All. 368

34. ———— Competence of member of a joint family to bind himself not to claim partition. The members of a joint undivided Hindu family can bind themselves for their own life-time not to claim partition of the joint family property. A fortiori a similar agreement can be entered into by the remaining members of the family after one member has demanded a partition and separated his share, whether such remaining members be considered as still joint or as tenants in common. And what may be effected by an agreement may be effected equally by means of a submission to arbitration followed by an award. RUP SINGH v. BHABHUTI SINGH . . I. L. R. 42 All. 30

35. ———— Suit instituted by minor member of family— Difference in effect of, as compared with suit instituted by adult members—Power of manager to dedicate family property for religious purposes. Held, that the institution of a suit by a minor member through his next friend for partition of joint family property has not the same effect as the institution of a similar suit by an adult member of the family, that is to say, the mere institution of the suit does not effect a separation of the family, but separation only takes place when the suit is decreed. Girja Bai v. Sadashiv Dhundiraj, I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1031, distinguished. Chelimi Chetty v. Subbamma, I. L. R. 41 Mad. 442, followed. Held, also, that, although the managing member of a joint Hindu family may be competent to dedicate some portion of the family property to religious uses during his life-time, he cannot make such a dedication by will. Vitla Butten v. Yamenamma, 8 Mad. H. C. Rep. 6, Suraj Bunsi Koer v. Sheo Persad Singh, I. L. R. 5 Calc. 148, Rathnam v. Sivasubramania, I. L. R. 16 Mad. 353, and Lakshman Dada Naik v. Ramchandra Dada Naik, I. L. R. 5 Bom. 48, followed. LALTA PRASAD v. SRI MAHADEOJI BIRAJMAN TEMPLE I. L. R. 42 All. 461

HINDU LAW—PARTITION—contd.

36.———— Part of property omitted from plaint—Amendment of plaint. In a suit for partition of the property of a joint Hindu family all the properties which are known, at the time of the institution of the suit, to be joint family properties, must be included in the suit. If, however, by inadvertence or mistake or by fraud of any of the parties, some of the joint family properties are not included in the suit, further proceedings may be taken to obtain a partition of them. But it is the duty of the Court to allow an amendment ... longing ... Under ... either ... such amendments as are necessary for the purpose of determining the real question or issues raised in the suit. MUKUNDA LAL CHAKERBARTY v. JOGESH CHANDRA CHAKERBARTY . 1 Pat. L. J. 398

37.———— Mithila—joint family—Suit for partition between father and son, whether father's mother, son's mother and son's step-mother entitled to share. Under the Mithila school of Hindu law, in a partition between a father and son at the instance of the son, both the latter's mother and his paternal grandmother are entitled to share equally with him and his father. The share taken by the grandmother is not her stridhan and on her death does not devolve upon the heirs to her stridhan but goes back to the estate from which it came. Such a share is in lieu of maintenance and does not cease to be ancestral property. The institution of a suit for partition is an unequivocal declaration on the part of the plaintiff (even though he be a minor) of his intention to separate himself from the defendants and his share cannot be diminished by the birth of another member of the family subsequent to such date (in this case subsequent to the date of the preliminary decree) KRISHNA LAL JHA v. NANDESHWAR JHA . . . 4 Pat. L. J. 38

37a. ———— Clear expression of intention to separate, if effects—After notice expressing intention to separate, joint family if liable for marriage expenses of members—Father's right to give money to daughter. Under the Hindu law, it is open to the members of a joint family to make a division and a severance of interest in respect of a part of the joint estate whilst retaining their status as a joint family and holding the rest as ... member of the family to separate himself and to enjoy his share in severalty has the effect of creating a division of the interest which until then he had held in jointness. No obligation therefore lay on the joint family to provide for the expenses of the marriage of some of the Plaintiffs which took place after the latter had given to their co-parceners a notice clearly expressing such an intention but before a decree for partition was made in their suit in the Court of first instance. The father has undoubtedly the power under the Hindu law of making, within reasonable limits, gifts of moveable property to a daughter and in one case the Judicial Committee upheld the gift of a small share of immoveable property on the ground that it was not shown to be unreasonable. K. KAMALINGA ANNARI v. NARAYANA, ANARI P. C) . . . 26 C. W. N. 929

HINDU LAW—PARTITION—contd.

38. ———— Bengal ... Award—... record order— ... of 1908), O. XXIII, r. 2.—Registration Act (XVI of 1908), s. 17 (1)—Estoppel—Res Judicata—Widow's share, right to release—Succession at death. In an award in a partition suit brought by an adult son, the minor sons' shares were declared and allotted collectively with the widowed mother's share. Subsequently on one of the minors attaining age and instituting a partition suit for dividing his share, from the others and the mother's share, there was a consent decree incorporating ... minor sons) in favour of the minor sons whose shares had been declared and allotted collectively as aforesaid. This was supported by a petition and an affidavit in the suit, which was signed by the adult brothers agreeing to the arrangement but they had not been made parties to the suit. In the present partition suit by an adult brother claiming a right to the mother's share on her death, the question arose (i) whether the consent order operated as an estoppel by record or res judicata, and (ii) as to the nature of the sons' rights to take their mother's share during her lifetime: Held, that the decree was outside the scope of O. XXXIII, r. 2 of the Civil Procedure Code and was beyond jurisdiction The adult brothers were not estopped from claiming their share on the death of their widowed mother. The decree did not operate as res judicata, inasmuch as the second partition suit was for purposes of dividing up a given collective share left undivided by the award in the first partition On her death, the widow's share which was in lieu of maintenance, went back to the shares out of which it was carved out and the adult sons were entitled to a share. The mother's share as heiress of the deceased minor son went back to the heirs of the last male owner. Bindesri Naik v. Ganga Ram Shahu, I. L. R. 20 All. 171, Pranal Anni v Lakshmi Anni, I. L. R. 22 Mad 508, Birbhadra Rath v. Kalpataru Panda, 1 C. L. J. 388, Gurdeo Singh v. Chandrikah Singh, I L. R. 36 Calc. 193, Gobinda Chandra Pal v. Dwarka Nath Pal, I. L. R. 35 Calc. 837, Sorolah Dasee v. Bhooban Mohan Neogi, I. L. R. 15 Calc. 292, and Balabux v. Rrukhmabai, I. L. R. 30 Calc. 725, referred to SHASHI BHUSAN SHAW v. HARI NARAIN SHAW (1921) I. L. R. 48 Calc. 1059

39. ———— Property left undivided—At the time of partition—Presumption that there has been a complete partition both as to parties and property—Members hold the family property as tenants-in-common—Fact that a portion of family property is held by them as joint tenants must be proved like any other fact. When once anything has occurred which effects a separation of the members of a joint Hindu family, they are to be considered as holding the joint family property ... and not tenants-in-common that fact must be proved like any other fact. Gavrishankar Parabhuram v. Atmaram Rajaram (1893) 18 Bom. 611, discussed. Anandibai v. Hari Suba P... (1911) 35 Bom. 293; Balabux Ladhuram v.

HINDU LAW—PARTITION—contd.

(1903) L. R 30 I. A. 130, relied on. RAMCHANDRA v. TUKARAM I. L. R. 45 Bom. 914

40. ———— Service-inam lands—Enfranchisement subsequent to partition in name of a member—Right of a divided member to share in enfranchised lands—Onus of proof. If a divided member of a Hindu family claims to share in service-inam lands, which belonged to the family but were subsequent to a partition in the family, enfranchised in the name of a member who was the office-holder at the time of the enfranchisement, the onus lies on the claimant of proving not only that he is a member of the original service family but also that the inam was excluded from the partition as undivided property in which the sharers retained their joint rights. Pyrappa v. Syama Rao, (1918) M. W. N., 819, considered. VENKATASUBBA RAO v. SATYANARAYANAMURTI (1921) . . . I. L. R. 44 Mad. 179

41. ———— Customs—Patnibhaga—Moopu A custom was found to exist among the Nattukottai Chetties inhabiting seven villages in the Madura district of the Madras Presidency, whereby when a Chetti during the life of his wife married another wife he appropriated out of his property a portion, called moopu, for the first wife's maintenance, that portion descending to her son if she had one, and the rest of the property was notionally divided, one moiety going to the son or sons by the first wife and the other moiety to the son or sons by the second wife. In a suit for partition brought by the only son of a first wife against his father and the sons by the second wife, the Judicial Committee applied the custom, without, however, determining what the father's share would be in the circumstances, as the question did not arise before their Lordships. The authorities as to the custom of patnibhaga, or the division according to wives, considered. [Judgment of the High Court reversed.] PALANIAPPA CHETTIAR v. ALAGAN CHETTI (1921)

I. L. R. 44M ad., (P. C.) 740

42. ———————— Suit by son for partition against father and father's alienee—Alienation held not binding on son—Form of decree to be given to the son. If in a suit for partition by a son against his father and an alienee from the father, the Court holds the alienation not to be binding on the son, the son is entitled to get a decree for his share in the family properties without any condition being imposed on him to refund the consideration paid by the alienee to the father. Sahu Ram Chandar v. Bhup Singh, (1917) I. L. R., 39 All. 37 (P. C.); L. R., 44 I. A, 126, applied. The dictum of MITTER, J., in Koer Hasmat Bai v. Sunder Das, (1885) I. L. 11 Calc., 396, not followed. Held, further by SESHAGIRI AYYAR, J. a son is bound to pay only such debts of his father as exist while they are joint; and a son getting a decree for partition becomes divided from his father as from the date of suit for partition. Any liability of the father to refund the consideration to the alienee arising as the result of the decree for partition is a liability for unliquidated damages and not debt and even if it becomes a judgment-debt it is not a debt existing on the date of suit for partition. SRINIVASA AIYANGAR v. KUPPUSWAMI AIYANGAR (1921)

I. L. R. 44 Mad. 801

HINDU LAW—PROSTITUTE'S PROPERTY.

———————— Stridhan—Prostitute's property, succession to. The mere fact that a Hindu woman has adopted the life of a prostitute does not sever the tie which connects her to her kindred by blood, and, consequently, her stridhan property passes upon her death, in the absence of nearer heirs, to her brother's son as an heir under the Bengal school of Hindu law. Tara Munnee Dossea v. Motee Buneanee, 7 Mac. Sel. Rep. 325; 8 I. D. (O. S.) 217, Ramnath Tolapattro v. Durga Sundri Debi, I. L. R. 4 Calc. 550, In the goods of Kaminymoney Bewah, I. L. R. 21 Calc. 697, Ramananda v. Raikishori Barmani, I. L. R. 22 Calc. 347, Sarna Moyee Bewa v. Secretary of State for India, I. L. R. 25 Calc. 254, and Sundari Letani v. Pitambari Letani, I. L. R. 32 Calc. 871, overruled so far as they hold that tie of blood is destroyed by unchastity or, in the case of a Hindu woman, by her adopting the life of a prostitute. Bisheshur v. Mata Gholam, 2 All. H. C. 300, Musammat Ganga Jati v. Ghasita, I. L. R. 1 All. 46, Advyapa v. Rudrava, I. L. R. 4 Bom. 104, Kojiyadu v. Lakkshmi, I. L. R. 5 Mad. 149, Subbaraya Pillai v. Ramasami Pillai, I. L. R. 23 Mad. 171, Bhutnath Mondol v. Secretary of State for India, 10 C. W. N. 1085, Sundari Dosee v. Nemye Charan Daw, 6 C. L. J. 372, and Tripura Charan Bannerjee v. Harimati Dassi, I. L. R. 38 Calc. 493, approved. Sivasangu v. Minal, I. L. R. 12 Mad. 277, and Narasanna v. Gangu, I. L. R. 13 Mad. 133, distinguished and dissented from. HIRALAL SINGHA v. TRIPURA CHARAN RAY (1913)

I. L. R. 40 Calc. 650

HINDU LAW—RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT.

See HINDU LAW—ENDOWMENT.

1. ———————— Mourashi Muth, succession to—Onus of proof—Indian Succession Act (X of 1865), s. 187—Will not probated, if can be used in evidence and for what purpose—Indian Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 32, (5)—Relationship between Mohunt and Chela, if relationship by adoption—Existence of relationship, statement relating to. One R was the Mohunt of a muth known as the Khumbakul Muth. He was succeeded by his chela S. After the death of S the plaintiff claimed to be his lawful successor as his gurubhai. The defendant resisted the claim on the allegation that he had been adopted by S as a chela. The muth in question was admittedly a maurasi muth, and the Court found that in maurasi muth the chela succeeds and in default of a chela the gurubhai succeeds and when there are more chelas than one the eldest generally succeeds but a junior chela may succeed if he be found more capable and if he be selected by the last Mohunt as his successor. Held, that it was for the plaintiff to prove that he was the chela of R and that the defendant was not the chela of S, as he must succeed on the strength of his own title and not on the infirmity, if any, in the title of the defendant. In the course of the evidence in the case two wills alleged to have been executed by R and S respectively neither of which was proved in the Probate Court were produced, the former of which only was found to be genuine. Held, that notwithstanding s. 187 of the Indian Succession Act which is incorporated in the Hindu Wills Act, a will not proved in the Probate Court may be used in evidence for a purpose other than the establishment of a right as executor or legatee and in the present case the recital in the will of R which was found to be genuine, that he had no one else as his chela except S was admissible in evidence under s. 32 cl. (5) of the Evidence Act inasmuch as the [illegible] and his chela is a [illegible] statement that A [illegible] chela is a statement relating to the existence of a relationship. ACHYUTANANDA DAS v. JAGANNATH DAS (1914) . . . . 20 C. W. N. 122

HINDU LAW—RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT— contd.

2. ——————— Proof that property has been endowed as debutter—Permanent image if essential to valid dedication. A permanent image is not absolutely essential for dedication to a Thakur. Where the intention of the donor appeared to have been to dedicate the property absolutely to deva sheva, the fact that the income of the property exceeded the expenses of the sheba and the shebaits frequently dealt with the property or the income as personal property would not make the property secular subject to a charge for the deva sheva. ASITA MOHON GHOSE MOULIK v. NIRODE MOHON GHOSE MOULIK (1916) . . . . . 20 C. W. N. 901

3. ——————— Shebaitship, devolution of, to heirs in the absence of directions by founder on the death of last shebait duly appointed by him—Will giving estate to idol and appointing successive executors—De facto appointment of shebait—Vested interest, principle of—Shebait's office and rights, nature of. A Hindu testator had two sons by his first wife and four sons by his second wife. In his will he provided that all his properties would devolve on his family Deity and his second wife and two of her sons J and B would successively be executrix and executors and that his two sons by his first wife would not be appointed executors. After the death of the second wife and her sons J and B, her other two sons died, one leaving a widow defendant No 1. Of the two sons of the testator by his first wife one (defendant No. 2) was living and the other had died [illegible] ought the pre- [illegible] he had a four [illegible] Deity. Held, that the effect of the will was to constitute the second wife and her sons J and B successive shebaits of the endowments though they were described as executors in respect of the endowed property That the testator did not prescribe how the shebaitship would devolve after the death of his son B. In the circumstances the devolution of the office of shebait follows the line of inheritance from the founder, in other words, it passes to his heirs unless there has been some usage or course of dealing which points to a different mode of devolution. That on the death of B the last shebait named by [illegible] of [illegible] bro[illegible] his [illegible] that the founder intended to exclude his sons by [illegible] Tagore, L. R. I. A. (Sup. Vol.) 47, 66. That the plaintiff had a four annas share in the shebaitship. That t[illegible]e the actual [illegible] post-poned [illegible] has no application to cases of the present description. That a shebait holds his office for life but this does not signify that he has a life-interest in the office with the remainder presently vested in the next taker. The entire office is vested in him, though his powers of alienation are qualified and restricted. The position of a shebait is analogous to that of a Hindu female in possession of the estate of the last full owner rather than to that of the holder of a life-estate and when a founder has given valid directions as to the devolution of the shebaitship as in the present case upon the death of the last shebait the office vests in persons who at the time constituted the heirs of the founder provided the last shebait has not taken it absolutely; when the office has so vested in them upon the death of each member of the group it passes by succession to his heir subject to the important qualification that the rule—that when a worship of thakoor has been founded the shebaitship is vested in the heirs of the founder in default of evidence that he has disposed of it otherwise or of there being some evidence of usage, course of dealing or some circumstances to show a different mode of devolution—cannot be applied so as to vest the shebaitship in persons who according to the usages of the worship cannot perform the rights of the office KUNJAMANI DASSI v NIKUNJA BIHARI DAS (1915) . 20 C. W. N. 314

4. —— [illegible] endowmen[illegible] illusory—[illegible] of the descendants of the settlor. By a deed of endowment, so-called, executed not long prior to his death, a Hindu professed to dedicate practically the whole of his property in favour of an idol It was provided in this deed that the settlor should apply for mutation of names in favour of the idol, and that he should use the income of the property for the expenses puja and rajbhog and for the repair of the temple, and that he should keep regular accounts of the income and expenditure. The settlor himself was to be the first manager, after him his wife, and thereafter his daughter's sons and their descendants Some sixteen months after the execution of this deed, the settlor died and was succeeded as manager by his wife. The widow brought a suit for a declaration that the property was endowed property, in the cou[illegible] no attempt had [illegible] names in favour [illegible] were forthcoming [illegible] the property by [illegible] on the idol did not amount to more than one-tenth of the income, and that the widow was unable to account for her own dealings with property, the subject matter of the suit. Held, that in these circumstances there had been no real dedication of the property to religious purposes, but only an attempt to create a perpetuity in favour of the descendants of the settlor's daughter SRI THAKURJI v. SUKHDEO SINGH

I. L. R. 42 All. 395

5. ——————— Public charitable trust, management of—Devolution—right of female heirs. Th[illegible] ses[illegible] in [illegible] the heirs including females in the same manner as ordinary family property. A claim that the most senior male member alone amongst the heirs is entitled to manage or that female heirs are excluded from management should be proved as a special custom. Ramanathan Chetti v. Murugappa Chetti, (1906) I. L. R., 29 Mad. 283 (P. C), followed. Purappavanelingam Chetti v. Nullasivan Che i, (1863) 1 M. H. C. R., 415, and Chenna Kesavaraya v Vaidelinga, (1877) I. L. R., 1 Mad., 343, not followed. MEENAKSHI ACHI v. SOMASUNDARAM PILLAI (1921)

3

HINDU LAW—RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT— concld.

I. L. R. 44 Mad. 205

6. ——— Requirements for the completion of a valid Gift—Registered deed alone not sufficient without delivery of possession. The mere execution of a deed of endowment is not sufficient under the Hindu law to create a valid endowment but to complete the gift there must be a transfer of the apparent evidences of ownership from the donor to the donee. Dagai Dabee v. Mathura Nath Chattopadhya, I. L. R., 9 Calc., 854, Kalidas Mullick v. Kanhaya Lal Pandit, I. L. R., 11 Calc., 121, and Watson and Company v. Ram Chand Dutt, I. L. R.., 18 Calc., 10, referred to. RAM DHAN v. PRAYAG NARAIN

I. L. R. 43 All. 503

7. ——— In the construction of ancient grants and deeds evidence is admissible as to the manner in which the thing granted has always been possessed and used for so the parties thereto must be supposed to have intended but the principle does not apply unless there is an ambiguity. KULADA PROSAD DEGHORIA v. KALI DAS NAIK . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 536

8. ——— The manager of a public temple has no right to remove the image from the old temple and instal it in a new one especially when the removal is objected to by the majority of the worshippers. HARI RAGHUNATH v. ANANTJI BHIKAJI . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 46

HINDU LAW—RELIGIOUS OFFICE.

——— Religious office and emoluments—Hindu females, right of, to inherit. Held by the Full Bench (SADASIVA AYYAR, J., dissenting), that according to the practice and precedents obtaining in the Madras Presidency, a Hindu female is not incompetent by reason of her sex to succeed to the office of archaka in a temple and to the emoluments attached thereto. Sundarambal Ammal v. Yogavana Gurukkal, I. L. R. 38 Mad. 850, overruled. Mohan Lalji v. Gordhan Lalji Maharaj, I. L. R. 35 All. 283, distinguished. ANNAYA TANTRI v. AMMAKKA HENGSU (1918)

I. L. R. 41 Mad. 886

——— ——— Held, that the office of hereditary Priest is a Nibandha and ranked among the hereditary rights of immovable property but where a caste has appointed Priest no right of property is conferred. GHELABHAI GOURISHANKAR v. HARGOWAN RAMJI

I. L. R. 37 Bom. 95

——— Shebait, agreement with pujaris of thakur that latter to forfeit office on misconduct to be determined by tribunal of private persons. Pujaris of thakur—Condition that Pujaris should forfeit office upon misconduct or neglect to be found by tribunal of private persons if valid, and en orceable by Civil Court—Condition, if valid on ground of remoteness—Rule of perpetuities, if applies to personal contracts—Private tribunal, decision of, when valid. By an agreement between the shebaits of a thakur and a family of Chatterjees, the latter were appointed pujaris and some land was placed in their possession in order that the income might be applied for the purpose of worship and maintenance of the sheba and it was stipulated that the Chatterjees should be pujaris from generation to generation but, in case they were found guilty of misconduct or neglect by a tribunal constituted by the agreement, they were to forfeit their office of pujaris: Held—That personal contracts like that in the present case were not affected by the rule against perpetuities. That the conditions of forfeiture annexed to the office were lawful and as soon as the Defendants were disqualified for the religious office by reason of their misconduct, they became disentitled to retain possession of the land which was intended to be applied by the pujaris for the maintenance and worship of the thakur. That the decision of the tribunal constituted by the agreement was operative if their proceedings were as they were in this case, regularily conducted. There is nothing wrong in principle that the holder of a spiritual office should be subject to discipline and should be liable to deprivation for what may be called misconduct from an ecclesiastical point of view or for flagrant and continued neglect of duty. So far as Hindus are concerned, there is now no State church and no Ecclesiastical Court and there is nothing to prevent Civil Courts from determining questions such as those raised in the present case and from holding that a pujari has been removed from his office on valid grounds. NAFAR CHANDRA CHATTERJEE v. KAILASH CHANDRA MONDOL . 25 C. W. N. 201

HINDU LAW—REVERSIONER.

See HINDU LAW—SURRENDER.

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW

See RES JUDICATA.

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 69

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, S. 42

I. L. R. 42 Mad. 219

1. ——— Alienation by female heir—Reversioner, suit by—Suit by next male reversioner maintainable without proof of collusion of nearer female reversioner. The rule that suits to set aside alienations by a female heir having a limited interest should be brought by the next reversioner and that a remote reversioner cannot sue without showing collusion between the female heir and the next reversioner, does not apply where the next reversioner is a female and the suit is brought by the nearest male reversioner. Where a widow having daughters makes an alienation, the nearest male reversioner may sue without proving collusion between the widow and daughter. CHIDAMBARA REDDIAR v. NALLAMMAL (1909)

I. L. R. 33 Mad. 410

2.——— Legal representative—Hindu Widow Reversionary heirs—Civil Procedure Code, 1908 s.2 (11)—Agra Tenancy Act (Local II of 1901), s. 202. One S K filed a suit for possession of certain lands and for cancellation of a perpetual lease executed by her mother, but died during the pendency of the suit. Held, that the reversionary heir of the last male owner of the property in suit was the proper legal representative of the plaintiff. Held, also, that where the defendant simply alleged that he was in possession of the land in suit as a tenant but did not allege that he was a tenant of the plaintiff, the Civil Court need not require the defendant to institute a suit in the Revenue Court as directed by s. 202 of the Agra Tenancy Act, 1910. RIKHAI RAI v. SHEO PUJAN SINGH (1910)

HINDU LAW—REVERSIONER—contd.

I. L. R. 33 All. 15

3. ——— Suit for declaration by reversioner that deed of gift by holder of life-interest inoperative and for possession and other reliefs—Prayer in appeal confined to deed of gift only—Propriety of declaration—Court fee stamp. The plaintiffs claimed to be the reversionary heirs exp

anc tha

of

after the death of D's widow and daughter. Court-fees were paid upon these prayers in the lower Court which dismissed the suit as premature appeal the latter prayer also was given up Rupees twenty only in court-fees was paid on the appeal.

ment in question. JAGDEEP NARAIN SINGH v. JAIBASI KOER (1914). 19 C. W. N. 1191 to prove charges—Right of reversioner to sue for protection of the husband's estate. A plaintiff who brought a suit as presumptive reversionary heir against a widow in possession of her husband's estate, in order to protect the property, and made claim have failed, any greater right to obtain such a declaration than he would have had if it had been asked for directly, and unaccompanied by other and unfounded claims. Jaipal Kunwar v. Indar Bahadur Singh, I. L. R. 26 All. 238, L. R. 31 I. A. 67, and Venkatanarayana Pillai v. Subbammal, I. L. R. 38 Mad. 406; L. R. 42 I. A. 129, distinguished. JANAKI AMMAL v. NARAYANASAMI AIYAR (1916) . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 634

5. ——— Reversioner consenting party to sale by widow and inducing purchaser to believe and act on false recitals in deed of sale purporting to show legal necessity—Subsequent suit by such reversioner challenging sale on account of absence of legal necessity, if lies—Estoppel by conduct. The plaintiffs, reversioners on the death of a Hindu widow, sued to recover certain lands which had been purchased from the widow by the defendants. It was found that the recitals in the deed of sale were not true and there was no legal necessity, but that the plaintiffs who were consenting parties to the sale induced the defendants to believe the recitals to be true and to act on them and themselves supervised the erection of buildings on the land at defendants' cost. Held, that it was a clear case of estoppel by conduct. No person who is a party to the

HARADHAN BHATTACHARYA (1916)

21 C. W. N. 728

—Court of Wards Act (Mad. Act I of 1902), s. 35—Suit by reversioners for declaration—Alienations, held good—Declaration as to title of plaintiff, as reversioner, if can be given—Conversion of rent in the plaintiff, claiming to be the nearest reversioner to the last male owner of a zamindari, sued for a declaration that certain alienations, made by the Court of Wards during their management of the estate on behalf of the adoptive mother of the late zamindar on her succeeding to the estate as his heiress on his death, were not b

Held,

s. 35

the

that iena-

tion in respect of the property taken under its charge, although the person on whose behalf the management was taken up was only a limited owner of the property like a widow; that consequently the alienations in the case were valid, without proof of necessity such as would support an alienation by a Hindu widow; and that the

are the nearest reversioners to an estate unless the decision of that question is incidental to the grant of some other relief to which they may be entitled; dar and his replies thereto, made in registers or official correspondence kept for reference and record are admissible in evidence under s. 35 of the Indian Evidence Act, and are entitled to great consideration. Rajah Muttu Ramalinga Seupati v. Perianayagam Pillai, L. R. 1 I. A. 209, 238, referred to. NAVANEETHA KRISHNA THEVAR v. RAMASWAMI PANDIA THALAVAR (1916)

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 871

HINDU LAW—REVERSIONER—contd.

7. ———————— —Rights of reversioner—Suit to recover property of grandfather alienated during infancy of next reversioner to agnates of deceased—Compromise by female owner and her husband—Awards in terms of compromise—Award made decree of Court under Act VIII of 1859, s. 327—Limitation Act, 1877, Sch. II, Arts. 95, 141—Guardian of minor. A Hindu reversioner has no right or interest in proesenti in the property which the female owner holds for her life. Until it vests in him on her death, should he survive her, he has nothing to assign, or to relinquish, or even to transmit to his heirs. His right becomes concrete only on her demise; until then it is a mere "spes successionis." His guardian, if he happens to be a minor, cannot bargain with it on his behalf, or bind him by any contractual engagement in respect thereto. On the death without issue of a Hindu governed by the Mitakshara law, and admittedly separated from his agnatic relations (respondents) leaving a widow, a daughter K, and the daughter's son, a minor (appellant), the widow though opposed by the agnates obtained possession of her husband's property for her life estate. On her death in 1864, a dispute arose with the agnates as to K's right to succeed, in which her husband R took part as representing K, though there was nothing to show that he had any authority to act as her agent. The matter was referred to arbitration, but before the arbitrators had taken any action a compromise was come to in which R purported to act for K and her infant son, the effect of which was to completely extinguish the reversionary interest of the appellant in his grandfather's estate. The arbitrators made an award in accordance with the terms of the compromise. It was not shown that the proceedings before the arbitrators ever came to the knowledge of K, but it appeared that she did not acquiesce in the award and the agnates had to apply to have it made a decree of Court under s. 327 of Act VIII of 1859, the then Code of Civil Procedure; and notwithstanding K's continued opposition such a decree was made and enforced, and the respondents were put into possession of the properties in 1865. K died in 1905, and in 1908 the appellant brought a suit to set aside the arbitration proceedings together with the compromise and award as being fraudulent and taken and entered into without knowledge or authority of K, and for a declaration that he was not bound by them. Held (reversing the decision of the High Court), that until K's death the appellant had no right or interest in the properties which could be the subject of bargain: R's action in referring to arbitration any matter connected with the appellant's reversionary right was, therefore, null and void. The award was based on the compromise, and even if the appellant had had an existing right, R would have had no power to enter into an arrangement which extinguished his interest practically without consideration. The compromise too was not for the benefit of the minor. The decree enforcing the award was based on the finding that K had, by her husband R, acquiesced in the reference to arbitration, and that she had consented to the compromise, and was therefore bound by the award: the order of the District Judge which was affirmed by the High Court affected K's interest and hers only. The minor was not a party to the appeal to the High Court, and the Civil Courts did not in any way purport to deal with or adjudicate upon his reversionary right. The proceedings therefore culminating in the decree by which the appellant was sought to be bound, were entirely devoid of the conditions on which alone a reversioner can be shut out from the assertion of his right which comes to him altogether independently of the female owner. Katama Natchiar v. Rajah of Shibagunga, 9 Moo. I. A. 539, distinguished. AMRIT NARAYAN SINGH v. GAYA SINGH (1917)

I. L. R. 45 Calc. 590

8. ———————— Reversioners—Compromise of disputes between the widow of the last male owner who took the whole estate of a Hindu joint family by survivorship and other widows of family entitled only to maintenance and person who claimed to have been adopted by one of the widows—Division of the property between them—Claims inducing widow of sole male owner to agree to take less than she is entitled to and alter her position to her detriment—Future claim by alleged adopted son for possession of whole estate—Estoppel of claim as reversioner by compromise proceedings. At the time of his death in 1883 B, one of three brothers, was by survivorship the sole owner of the estate of a Hindu joint family, and his widow became entitled to that estate for life. Her title was, however, disputed by the present appellant and by P and K, the widows of the predeceased brothers of B. The appellant set up a claim to the entire family estate based on the allegation that he had been adopted by P to her deceased husband, and was entitled as such adopted son to the whole property. P supported his claim, and together with K alleged that the three brothers had separated and that their three widows were each entitled to a one-third share of the estate. To protect her own interests and those of her daughter, the widow of B brought two suits: one of the 20th of January, 1891, against the appellant and P for a declaration that the appellant's alleged adoption was null and void. That suit was dismissed on a technical ground, and an appeal against the decree dismissing it was preferred to the High Court at Allahabad. The other suit was brought on the 4th of February 1892, against P and K claiming a declaration that B, her late husband, had been the sole owner and possessor of the entire family property, that on his death she was herself in possession of and entitled to, that property according to Hindu law, and that P and K had no rights in it except to maintenance. Before the second suit came on for hearing, B's widow, her daughter P, K, and the appellant had, on the 1st of August 1892, entered into a compromise referring their disputes to arbitration, the result of which was that B's widow, her daughter, P and K, each obtained possession of a one-fourth share of the property in dispute. The appellant, though allotted no share of the family property, obtained the share allotted to his adoptive mother P, who relinquished it to him by executing a deed on the 22nd of August 1898, in his favour. In the award it was stated that the appellant had been adopted by P, but that he had nothing to do as such adopted son with the shares allotted to the other ladies. He obtained in accordance with P's deed of relinquishment mutation of names in his favour. The appeal in B's widow's first suit was not supported and was dismissed, and the second suit was withdrawn. In suits filed respectively on the 15th of July 1912, and the 28th of August 1913, by the appellant for possession, as reversioner to the estate of B, of the properties allotted in January 1893, to B's widow, her daughter, and K respectively: Held (affirming the decision of the High Court), that the appellant was precluded from claiming as a reversioner by his having been a party to the he had the mere expectancy of being reversioner on the death of B's widow. Sumusuddin Goolam Husein v. Abdul Husein Kalimuddin, I. L. R. 31 Bom. 165, distinguished. The claim of the appellant influenced B's widow, who was induced mainly by that claim, but also by the claim of P and K, to consent to a division of the family property in which she only obtained a one-fourth share. By those claims she was induced to agree to a compromise against her own interests and those of her daughter and to alter her position greatly to her own detriment. The appellant was a party to it, and under it he obtained a substantial benefit which he has ever since enjoyed. He was consequently bound by the compromise, and could not now claim as a reversioner. KANHAI LAL v. BRIJ LAL (1918) . . . . I. L. R. 40 All. 487

HINDU LAW—REVERSIONER—contd.

9. ——————— Reversioners, consent of. The consent given by the reversioners would certainly raise a presumption of the existence of legal necessity SHYAMPEARY DASYA v. EASTERN MORTGAGE CO. (1917) 22 C. W. N. 226

10. ——————— Mortgage by widow —Suit for redemption filed by the widow —Dismissal of the suit on an admission made by the widow in a previous suit—Appeal filed but withdrawn—Subsequent suit by reversioner for redemption—Widow's suit did not involve a trial of the right of reversioner—Fair trial—Res Judicata—Limitation. The plaintiffs sued to redeem a possessory mortgage, dated the 22nd December 1857. It was executed by the widow of the last male holder and contained a "Gahan Lahan" clause that if the money was not paid within a year the mortgagee should become the owner. In 1865 a suit was filed by the widow to redeem the mortgage. It was dismissed by the Munsiff on the ground that the widow had admitted on 21st October 1859, in proceedings between the mortgagee and the tenants, that the mortgagee had under the "Gahan Lahan" provision become the owner of the property. Against the decision an appeal was filed but it was withdrawn. The widow died in 1902 and in 1911 a suit was filed by the reversioner for the redemption of the mortgage of 1857 The defendants pleaded limitation and contended that the suit was barred was no fair trial of the right of the reversioner (ii) that the suit was not barred either by Art. 141 or by Art. 148 of the Limitation Act, 1908, as it was brought within 12 years of the death of the widow and within 60 years of the mortgage. Per HAYWARD, J. The rule laid down in Katama Natchiar v. The Rajah of Shivagunga, 9 Moo. I. A. 539, is a special rule applicable to the peculiar position of limited holders under Hindu law, and not the general and strict rule of res judicata pre-country to prevent the exercise of pressure over limited female holders to the prejudice of the rights of reversioners. The rule has therefore not to be interpreted with reference to the strict rules regarding fraud and irregularities required to invalidate decrees otherwise binding under the general law of procedure. BAI KANKU v. BAI JADAV (1919) I. L. R. 43 Bom. 869

HINDU LAW—REVERSIONER—contd.

11. ——————— Reversioner—Widow's estate—Acceleration—Deed of gift by widow in favour of a daughter—Stipulation for maintenance of the widow for her life time—Nature of the transaction, whether acceleration or alienation. One S made a gift of her widow's estate to her daughter L, with a condition attached that L was to maintain S till her death. The lower Court held that the gift amounted to a valid acceleration of S's estate. On appeal to the High Court. Held, that there was no acceleration of S's estate, for any consideration was sufficient to change the nature of the transaction from an acceleration to an alienation. ADIVEPPA v. TONTAPPA (1919) I. L. R. 44 Bom. 255

12. ——— Compromise—between two persons claiming absolute estate, whether binding on reversioners. Where D, who claimed certain property as the sole survivor of a Hindu joint family, and J, who claimed the property under the Will of her deceased husband, settled their dispute by a compromise, held, that the reversionary heirs to the estate of the last male owner were not bound by the compromise because J could not be said to have represented the interests of the reversioners JANAK KESHORI KUAR v. BABU DEBI PRASAD SINGH . . 2 Pat. L. J. 370

13. ——————— Reversioner, right of, to sue during lifetime of intermediate female holders of the estat
reversion
sioner is ...
the invalidity of transfers made by the widow of the last male owner notwithstanding that there may be other female lives between him and the estate. There is no legal necessity for a widow to mortgage the estate to secure funds for the marriage of a daughter until the marriage has been finally settled. RAMYAD PANDAY v. RAMBIHARI PANDE . . . . . 4 Pat. L. J. 734

14. ——— Alienation by widow—Declaratory suit by the then next reversioner—Subsequent suit by reversioner surviving at death of widow—Res judicata. Held, that a decree obtained against a Hindu widow by the then next presumptive reversioner declaring that a sale made by the widow would not be valid after her death will not operate as res judicata in respect of a claim preferred by the next reversioner subsisting at the time of the widow's death. Bhagwanta v. Sukhi, I. L. R. 22 All. 33, Venkatanarayana Pillai v. Subbammal, I. L. R., 38 Mad., 406, and Isri Dut Koer v. Mussamat Hansbutti Koerain, L. R., 10 I. A., 150, referred to. DARBARI LAL v. GOVIND RAM . I. L. R., 43 All. 558

15. ——————— Alienation—Interest of a reversioner—"Property"—Transfer of property (Act IV of 1882) s. 6. So long as an estate is vested in a female heiress, the interest of the reversioner is a mere chance of succession and cannot form the subject of any contract, surrender or disposal. Sham Sundar v. Achhan Kunwar, I. L. R. 21 All. 71, Nand Kishore Lal v. Kanee Ram Tewary, I. L. R. 29 Calc. 355, followed. ANNADA MOHAN ROY v. GOUR MOHAN MALLIK (1921)

HINDU LAW—REVERSIONER—concld.

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 536

HINDU LAW—SELF-ACQUISITION.

See HINDU LAW—JOINT FAMILY.

See HINDU LAW.—PARTITION

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 106
I. L. R. 32 All. 305

———— Gains of science—Mitakshara—Partition—Self-acquired property—Astrology—Earnings made by unaided efforts without detriment to the family property. In a joint Hindu family governed by the Mitakshara one of the sons obtained certain elementary education in astrology from his father, but no money of the family was expended on that education. While still quite young this son ceased to live with the rest of the family; continued his studies in astrology on his own account, and ultimately managed, by the exercise of his skill as an astrologer, to acquire a consideranle sum of money without detriment to the family property. Held, that this money was his self-acquisition and could not properly be regarded as belonging to the joint family. Katyayana's definition of "acquisition through learning which is not participable" cited in the Mitakshara [I., 4, 8] is not exhaustive, but illustrative merely. Lachmin Kuar v. Debi Prasad, I. L. R. 20 All. 435, and Pauliem Valoo Chetty v. Pauliem Sooryab Chetty, I. L. R. 1 Mad. 252, referred to. DURGA DAT JOSHI v. GANESH DAT JOSHI (1910)

I. L. R. 32 All. 305

———— Ancestral or self-acquired property—Mitakshara School—Gift by owner of impartible estate of portion of property to younger son for maintenance of himself and his descendants—Property if ancestral or self-acquired in grantee's hands. Where a Hindu instead of allowing his self-acquired or separate property to go by descent, makes a gift of it to his son or bequeaths it to him by will such property has been treated by the Calcutta High Court as ancestral property in the hands of the son as if he had inherited it from his father. Muddun Gopal v. Ram Buksh 6 W. R. 71, followed. Authorities reviewed and the views taken by the other High Courts discussed. The decision of the Privy Council in Sartaj Kuari v. Deoraj Kuari, L. R. 15 I. A. 51; I. L. R. 10 All. 272, and Sri Raja Rao Venkata v. Court of Wards L. R. 26 I. A. 83; I. L. R. 22 Mad. 383, recognise that the holder of an impartible estate has the right to alienate the estate without the consent of the next taker, but they do not by necessary implication involve the conclusion that if the holder of the impartible estate by a testamentary disposition or otherwise carves out a portion thereof and grants it to his younger son for the maintenance of the son and his descendants, such property becomes the self-acquired property of the grantee, liable to be capriciously alienated by him to the detriment of the grandsons of the grantor. Such property has all the incidents of ancestral property in the grantee's hands. Durga Dutt v. Rameshwar, I. L. R. 36 Calc. 943; 13 C. W. N. 1013, referred to. HAZARI MALL BABU v. ABANINATH ADHURJYA (1912) . . 17 C. W. N. 280

HINDU LAW—SELF-ACQUISITION—contd.

———— What constitutes an intention to convert self-acquired property into joint property. The mere fact that a Hindu and his adopted son lived together and that the latter assisted in the management of the adoptive father's property is not sufficient to warrant the presumption that the adoptive father had thrown his self-acquired property into the common stock for the benefit of both himself and the adopted son. MOULVI SYED TAJMUL ALI v. JAGA MOHAN DASS.

1 Pat. L. J. 524

———— Self-acquisition of father—Undivided son—Suit on promissory-note after death of father—Whether succession certificate necessary. An undivided Hindu son acquires the self-acquired properties of his deceased father by inheritance and not by survivorship. Observation in Nanna Tawker v. Rama Chandra Tawker, (1909) I. L. R., 32 Mad., 377, dissented from. In a suit by the son for the recovery of money which was the self-acquired property of the deceased father a succession certificate must be produced before a decree can be given in his favour. Venkataramanna v. Venkayya, (1891) I. L. R., 14 Mad., 377, followed. VAIRAVAN CHETTIAR v. SRINIVASA CHARIOR (1921.)

I. L. R., 44 (F. B.), 499

HINDU LAW—SETTLEMENT.

———— Settlement of a portion of joint family properties on foster-daughter in consideration of her marriage—Validity of settlement. A settlement of portion of joint family property by a Hindu in favour of his foster-daughter in pursuance of a promise made by him in consideration of her marriage with another who offered to marry her on such a condition is not a gift but is valid and binding on the alienor's son to the extent of the alienor's share as an alienation for consideration. NANJUNDASWAMI CHETTI v. KANAGARAJU (1918) . . I. L. R. 42 Mad. 154

HINDU LAW—SHEBAIT.

See HINDU LAW—ENDOWMENT
—RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT.

———— Shebait's right to take a share of surplus income from offerings—Hindu widow succeeding to shebaitship—Sale of right to take surplus offerings by creditor of widow in execution and purchase by himself—Suit by widow to set aside decree and sale as fraudulent—Dismissal of suit as barred under s. 244, Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882) if legal—Suit by reversioner for declaration of his right to surplus income—Limitation—Appropriation of income if amounts to dispossession of office, or is act of ordinary trespass only.—Res judicata. One of several co-shebaits of a temple who was entitled to receive a $3\frac{1}{2}$ as. share of the daily surplus income from the offerings to the temple having died, his widow succeeded to the shebaitship. A creditor of the widow, G, obtained a decree against her and caused the $3\frac{1}{2}$ as. share of the surplus daily offerings to be put up for sale, and himself purchased it, and from 1892 onwards went on appropriating the same. The widow's suit to set aside the sale on the ground that both the decree and the sale were fraudulent was dismissed in the view that her remedy was by application under s. 244 of Act XIV of 1882 and not by a suit. The widow died in 1890, and the plaintiff, her husband's reversionary heir, brought this suit in 1910 for a declaration that he was entitled to receive the said 3½ as share of the surplus income. The office of the shebait was a hereditary one which could not be held by any one who was not a Brahmin Panda, and the purchaser was not a Brahmin Panda but a man of inferior caste who was not competent to hold the shebait's office or to provide for the performance of the duties of that office: Held, that the appropriation from time to time by the purchaser of the income derivable from the 3½ as. share did not deprive G or the plaintiff of the possession of the office of the shebait, although that income was receivable by them in right of the shebaitship, and Art. 124 of the Limitation Act had no application to the case By adversely taking and appropriating to his own use a share of the surplus daily income from the offerings, the purchaser acquired no title and no right to a share of that income. On each occasion upon which he appropriated the share of the surplus income, he committed a fresh actionable wrong in respect of which a suit could be brought against the shebait. The right to the office of the shebait did not arise from or depend upon the receipt of a share of the surplus daily income from the offerings, although the right to receive it was attached to and dependent on the possession of the right to the shebaitship, Held, also, that the defendant's further plea that the suit was barred by res judicata was untenable. BHAIAJI THAKUR v JHARULA DAS (1914).

HINDU LAW—SHEBAIT—contd.

I. L. R. 42 Calc. 244.
13 C. W. N. 1029

HINDU LAW—STRIDHAN.

See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION.

I. L. R. 37 Calc. 863
I. L. R. 34 Bom. 385
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 319

effect of—Partition—Permanent improvements—Enquiry. A Hindu governed by the Bengal school of Hindu Law, died in 1886 leaving a will, whereby he devised certain immoveable property to his daughter A, subject to certain charges by way of maintenance. Probate was granted to the executors, B and others, in 1887. A died in 1891 intestate, leaving her surviving five sons, B and four others, a married daughter, and two unmarried daughters, the plaintiff and another. In 1900 a conveyance of the property was executed by B and his surviving brothers in favour of the defendants. This deed proceeded on the assumption that B and his brothers were absolutely and beneficially entitled to the property; they, however, purported to convey "all the estate, right, title, interest, claim and demand whatsoever of the vendors unto and upon the said property." On a suit instituted by the plaintiff for the declaration of her title to a moiety in the property and for partition:—Held, that, inasmuch as on A's death the property devolved as her stridhan property on her unmarried daughters, and as B did not purport to sell and convey as executor, the plaintiff was entitled to a moiety in the property as against the defendants, and that a decree for partition should be passed. Inasmuch as by a decree, dated the 10th December 1903, the defendants became absolutely entitled to the moiety which had devolved on plaintiff's unmarried sister, and as the defendant had expended moneys in improving the property:—Held, that there must be an account of the money expended by the defendants in permanent inmprovements since the 10th December 1903, and an enquiry as to the extent to which the pesent value of the property had been increased by the expenditure. PURA SUNDARI DASI v. BIJRAJ NOPANI (1910).

HINDU LAW—STRIDHAN—contd.

L. R. 37 Calc. 362

2. ——————— Kamathis—Mitakshara—Mayukha—Law governing Kamathis who live in Bombay—Succession—Anvadheya Stridhan—Preference between husband and son born of adulterous intercourse—Shudras—Forms of marriage—Presumption as to form. The Kamathis, settled in Bombay, are governed for the purposes of inheritance by the law of the Mitakshara and the Mayukha, where they agree; but where they differ, the Mayukha law must prevail. The stridhan of a female devolves on her death upon her husband in preference to the son born of her by adulterous intercourse. The law will, even [illegible] RAGHUNATH v. NARAYAN (1910)

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 553

3 ——————— Succession—Stridhan—Property acquired by adverse possession. Where a Hindu female acquires a title to property by means of adverse possession, such property becomes her stridhan and descends as such to her heirs. Brij Indar Bahadur Singh v. Ranee Jankir Koer, L. R. 5 I. A. 1, and Mohim Chunder Sanyal v. Kashi Kant Sanyal, 2 C W. N. 161, followed. KANHAI RAM v. MUSAMMAT AMRI (1910).

I. L. R. 32 All. 189

4. ——————— When certain property was acquired from earnings of husband and wife by trading jointly. Held, her interest therein was her Stridhan. MUTHU RAMA KRISHNA NARCHEN v. MASIMUTHER GOUNDAN

I. L. R. 38 Mad., 1036

5. ——————— Maiden's stridhan—Succession—Mitakshara—Father's brother's son—Sister—Sister's son. Under the Mitakshara school of Hindu law, a sister (father's daughter) and a sister's son (father's daughter's son) are entitled to succeed to a maiden's stridhan in preference to a father's brother's son. Per N. R. CHATTERJEA, J—Under the Mitakshara law, in the absence of any rule determining the nearness among relations of the father in case of succession to a maiden's stridhan, the question should be decided by analogy to the order of succession to the stridhan of a childless woman married in a disapproved form, so far as it is applicable, for in both cases the succession is confined to the father's family. The stridhan of a childless woman married in a disapproved form devolves, after the father, in the same manner as if it had belonged to the father himself, and the succession follows the order laid down in the text of Yajnavalkya regulating obstructed succession. Quære: Whether the son or grandson of the father in such a case takes before the father or after him and before the other heirs mentioned in the said text. DWARKA NATH ROY v. SARAT CHANDRA SINGH ROY (1911)

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 319
15 C. W. N. 1036

HINDU LAW—STRIDHAN—contd.

6. ——————————— . Deceased Hindu maiden—Stridhan—Competing heirs—Father's sister—Father's male gotraja sapindas five or six degrees removed—Preference to father's sister. In the case of a deceased Hindu maiden leaving surviving her father's sister and her father's male gotraja sapindas five or six degrees removed, her stridhan goes to her father's sister in preference to his said male gotraja sapindas. TUKARAM v NARAYAN RAMCHANDRA (1912) . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 339

7. ——————— Devolution—Mitakshara—Mayukha—Stridhan—Daughter's sons take severally and not jointly—Co-parcenary—Basic notion of co-parcenary—Obstructed and unobstructed succession—Estate by partition—Estate by birth—Dayada—Rikhta—Interpretation—Self-acquired property. Property inherited by sons from their mother is not a joint estate but a tenancy-in-common, according to both the Vyavahara Mayukha and the Mitakshara. The basic principle of a joint tenancy or co-parcenary under Hindu law explained. A joint tenancy is property inherited as an unobstructed succession and is called rikhta. It devolves on the heirs as a co-parcenary. A tenancy-in-common is property inherited as an obstruction and is called samavibhaga, because when the inheritance falls in, it devolves on the heirs as a divided estate. The terms self-acquired property, as distinguished from joint property, explained. Property originally self-acquired, because acquired without detriment to joint ancestral estate, becomes joint when it has been mixed with and treated as part of the said joint estate by the co-parceners. BAI PARSON v. BAI SOMLI (1912) . . . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 424

——————————— Stridhanan—Maiden's property—Sapindas, right of inheritance of—Father's sister—Father's paternal uncle's son—Preferential heir—Texts of Baudhayana and Brihaspati—Mitakshara and Smriti Chandrika. Under the Mitakshara Law the heirs to the stridhanam property of a maiden, who died leaving neither uterine brothers, nor mother, nor father, are the sapindas of her father; and, as between her father's paternal uncle's son and her father's sister, the former is the preferential heir. Text of Brihaspati, held inapplicable; text of Baudhayana and commentaries of Mitakshara and Smriti Chandrika discussed. Kamala v. Bhagirathi, (1915) I. L. R. 38 Mad. 45, followed. SUNDARAM PILLAI v. RAMASAMIA PILLAI (1920) . I. L. R. 43 Mad. 32

8. ——————— Half-sister's son of Hindu widow—Probate, application for—Daughter's son of the great-grandson of the great-great-grandfather of the testatrix' husband whether preferential heir to half sister's son. Under the Dayabhaga School of Hindu law a half-sister's son of a widow is heir to her stridhan property, in preference to the daughter's son of the great-grandson of the great-great-grandfather of her husband, and that therefore the latter has no locus standi to oppose an application for probate by the former, of a will alleged to have been executed by the said widow in regard to such property. Dasharathi Kundu v. Bipin Behary Kundu, I. L. R. 32 Calc. 261, and Bholanath Roy v. Rakhal Dass Mukharji, I. L. R. 11 Calc. 69, referred to. Chatoo Kurmi v. Rajaram Tewari, 11 C. L. J. 124, distinguished. SHASHI BHUSHAN LAHIRI v. RAJENDRA NATH JOARDAR (1912) . . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 82

HINDU LAW—STRIDHAN—contd.

9. ——————— Prostitute's property—Succession to. The mere fact that a Hindu woman has adopted the life of a prostitute does not sever the tie which connects her to her kindred by blood; and, consequently, her stridhan property passes, upon her death, in the absence of nearer heirs, to her brother's son as an heir under the Bengal school of Hindu law. Tara Munee Dossea v. Motee Buneanee, 7 Mac. Sel. Rep. 325; 8 I. D. (O. S.) 247, Ramnath Talapattro v. Durga Sundri Devi, I. L. R. 4 Calc. 550, In the goods of Kamineymoney Bewah, I. L. R. 21 Calc. 697, Ramananda v. Raikishori Barmani, I. L. R. 22 Calc. 347, Sarna Moyee Bewa v. Secretary of State for India, I. L. R. 25 Calc. 254, and Sundari Letani v. Pitambari Letani, I. L. R. 32 Calc. 871, overruled so far as they hold that tie of blood is destroyed by unchastity or, in the case of a Hindu woman, by her adopting the life of a prostitute. Bisheshur v. Mata Gholam 2 All. H. C. 300, Musammat Ganga Jati v. Ghasita, I. L. R. 1 All. 46, Advyapa v. Rudrava, I. L. R. 4 Bom. 104, Kojiyadu v. Lakshmi, I. L. R. 5 Mad. 149 Subbaroy Pillai v. Ramasami Pillai, I. L. R. 23 Mad. 171, Bhutnath Mondol v. Secretary of State for India, 10 C. W. N. 1085, Sundari Dasse v. Nemye Charan Daw, 6 C. L. J. 372, and Tripura Charan Bannerjee v. Harimati Dassi, I. L. R. 38 Calc. 493, approved. Sivasangu v. Minal, I. L. R. 12 Mad. 277, and Narasanna v. Ganga, I. L. R. 13 Mad. 133, distinguished and dissented from. HIRALAL SINGHA v. TRIPURA CHARAN RAY (1913) . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 650

10. ——————— (Mitakshara),—Preference of co-wife's daughter to sapindas of husband. Under the Mitakshara law of inheritance, the daughter of a co-wife of a deceased woman married in one of the approved forms is entitled to succeed to her stridhanam property in preference to the sapindas of her husband, such as his father's brother's son. Placitum 11 of section XI of Chapter II, Mitakshara, applied. Colebrooke's translation of 'sapinda' in that placitum as 'kinsmen allied by funeral oblations' is incorrect; the correct meaning being 'kinsmen allied by affinity' or 'persons allied to each other by possession of particles of the same body.' According to the above text the stridhanam property of a woman married according to an orthodox form, who has left no issue, will devolve on her husband, and on failure of the husband the property will go to his sapindas in the order laid down in the Mitakshara with reference to the succession to the property of a male. Venkatasubramaniam Chetti v. Thayaramma, I. L. R. 21 Mad. 263, Gojabai v. Shrimant Shahajirao Maloji Raje Bhosle, I. L. R. 17 Bom. 114, 117, Jagannath Prosad Gupta v. Runjit Singh, I. L. R. 25 Calc. 354, 367, Krishnai v. Sripati, I. L. R. 30 Bom. 333, Bai Kesserbai v. Hunsraj Morarji, I. L. R. 30 Bom. 31, Thakoor Deyhee v. Rai Bauk Ram, 11 Moo. I. A. 139, 175, and Champat v. Shiba, I. L. R. 8 All. 393, applied. West and Buhler, p. 518, T. Krishnasami Aiyar's translation of Smriti Chandrika, Chapter IX, section III, verse 83, Golab Chandra Sircar Sastri's Hindu Law, 4th edition, p. 461, and Bhattacharya's Hindu Law, p. 580, referred to. NANJA PILLAI v SIVABAGYATHACHI (1913).
I. L. R. 36 Mad. 116

11. ——————— Widow's estate—Alienation—Property acquired by Hindu widow with accumulations of income of husband's estate. Property acquired by a Hindu widow, with accumulations of the income of her husband's estate, does not constitute her stridhan but forms part of the corpus of the estate and as such as inalienable except for purposes that would justify alienation of the original estate. Bhagbutti Deyi v. Bholanath Thakoor, I. L. R. 1 Calc 104 ; L. R. 2 I. A. 256, and Ishri Dutt Kor v. Hansbutti Koerain, I. L. R. 10 Calc. 324 ; L. R. 10 I. A. 150, referred to. KULA CHANDRA CHAKRAVARTI v. BAMA SUNDARI DASEE (1914)

HINDU LAW—STRIDHAN—contd.

I. L. R. 41 Calc. 870

12. ———— Mitakshara Brother's widow not an heir—Burden of proof in suit for possession. The stridhanam property of a Hindu female devolves on her death on her husband, and failing the husband, on his sapindas in the order laid down in the Mitakshara with reference to the succession to the property of a male. Marya Pillai v. Sivabagyathachi, 2 Mad. W. N. 168, followed A brother's widow is a gotraja sapinda but is not entitled to succeed as an heir under the Madras system of inheritance. Balamma v. Pullayya, I. L. R. 18 Mad. 168, followed. Mari v Chinnammal, I. L. R. 8 Mad. 107, and Venkatasubramaniam Chetti v. Thayarammah, I L. R. 21 Mad. 263, referred to. On failure of the husband's sapindas, the blood relations of the propositus are entitled to succeed to the exclusion of the Crown. A plaintiff seeking to recover possession from a defendant in possession though as a trespasser, must prove his own title. KANAKAMMAL v. ANANTHAMATHI AMMAL (1914)

I. L. R. 37 Mad. 293

13. ———— Promise to give dowry at marriage—Land given years afterwards, if jautuka —Ajautuka properties, succession to—Preferential heir—Husband or brother. On the death of a Hindu married woman, governed by the Dayabhaga Law, her ajautuka stridhan properties will always be inherited by the brother in preference to the husband, irrespective, of the form in which the marriage was celebrated. Prope y given by a brother to his sister, 7 years after the latter's marriage, in apparent fulfilment of a promise made at the time of marriage to give a quantity of land as dowry, is nevertheless ajautuka, as the promise could not have been specifically enforced in respect of the land given, which in fact was given after marriage. MAHENDRA NATH MAITY v, GIRIS CHANDRA MAITY (1915)

19 C. W. N. 1287

14. ———— Female heirs—Stridhan inherited by female heirs does not become the latter's stridhan. The female heirs take only a Hindu woman's estate in the property. Sheo Shankar Lal v. Devi Sahai, I. L. R. 25 All. 468 ; L. R. 30 I. A. 202, Prankissen Laha v. Noyanmoney Dassee, I. L. R. 6 Calc. 222, and Hari Doyal Singh Sarmana v. Grish Chunder Mukerjee, I. L. R. 17 Calc. 911, referred to. JOGENDRA CHANDRA BANERJEE v PHANI BHUSAN MOOKERJEE (1915)

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 64

1. .

if

str

principle in Bengal is that women can only inherit under some express text, and a daughter's daughter is not included in the text-books in the special line of heirs to stridhan, whether the stridhan is of the class known as yautaka or ayautaka. A woman inheriting stridhan property takes only the limited estate of a Hindu woman in such property and on her death it passes to the heir of the woman whose stridhan it was. MADHUMALA DASSI v. LAKSHAN CHANDRA PAL (1913) 20 C. W. N. 627

HINDU LAW—STRIDHAN—contd.

16. ———— Saudayika—Gift of property by a father to his daughter before her marriage—Power of alienation. A gift of property by a father to his daughter before her marriage is saudayika stridhanam which is at her absolute disposal. Per SESHAGIRI AYYAR, J—Saudayika stridhanam is gifts from affectionate kindred and includes both yautaka and ayautaka not received from strangers. Hindu Law texts examined. Ponnusowmy Moodelly v. Subbaroya Moodely (1859) 6 Selwin's S. D. A. Rep. 7, referred to. Judoo Nath Sircar v. Busunt Coomar Roy Chowdhry, 19 W. R. 264, applied. Bhau v. Raghunath I. L. R 30 Bom. 229, referred to Dantuluri Rayapparaz v. Mallapudi Rayudu, 2 Mad. H. C R. 360, distinguished. Quære · Whether immoveable property received from the husband should be excluded from this species of disposable property. MUTHUKARUPPA PILLAI v SELLATHAMMAL (1914.)

I L. R. 39 Mad. 298

17. ———— Mitakshara Succession—Adoption—Rights of adopted son—Competition between adopted son and natural son of co-wives —Sapindas—Co-wife's natural son, if "son"—Texts, construction of—Mitakshara, Ch. II, s. XI, paras 9, 11, 25—"Without issue' meaning of—Manu, Ch. IX, verse 183—Yajnavalkya Ch. II, verses 117, 145. S, a Hindu governed by the Mitakshara school of Hindu Law, married four wives in succession. In conjunction with his first wife, by whom he had no issue, he adopted a son H. By his second wife, S had a son G born to him. S predeceased his fourth wife M, having had no issue by her M died intestate. On a suit brought by H :—Held, that both H and G were entitled to succeed to M's stridhan property as sapindas of S, and in the absence of any express text curtailing the rights of the adopted son in the circumstances of the present case, H was entitled to share equally with G on the general principle that the adopted son occupies the same position as a natural son and his rights are in every respect similar to those of a natural son. Joykishore Choudhury v. Panchoo Baboo, 4 C. L. R. 302, Padmakumari Devi v. Court of Wards, I. L. R. 8 Calc. 500, L. R. 8 I. A. 229, followed. Nagindas Bhagwandas v. Bachoo Hurkissendas, I. L. R. 40 Bom 270, referred to. The expression "without issue" in Mitakshara, Chap. II, s. XI, para. 9, must be construed in its ordinary sense, and M must be deemed to have died "without issue." Quære : Whether Manu, Chap. IX, verse 183 has any reference to questions of inheritance. Annapurni Nachiar v. Forbes, I. L. R. 23 Mad. 1, Bhimacharya v Ramacharya, I. L. R. 33 Bom. 452, referred to. Per MOOKERJEE, J. A , special text forming an exception to a general text should be construed strictly and applied only to cases falling clearly within it. Gangu v. Chandrabhagabai, I. L. R. 32 Bom. 275, and Anandi v. Hari Suba, I. L. R. 33 Bom. 401, referred to. GANGADHAR BOGLA v. HIRA LAL BOGLA (1916)

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 944

18. ———— Vyavahara Mayukha—Succession—Non-technical stridhana—Sons take precedence over sons' sons. The non-technical stridhana of a Hindu female governed by the Vyavahara Mayukha descends to her son in priority to her

HINDU LAW—STRIDHAN—contd.

son's son. BAI RAMAN v. JAGJIVANDAS KASHIDAS (1917) . . I. L. R. 41 Bom. 618

19. ———— Ajautuka—Stridhan, succession to—Son or married daughter—Property whether jautuka or ajautuka—Onus. The commonly accepted view of the succession of ajautuka property of a Dayabhaga Hindu woman is that the sons and the maiden daughters are entitled to it in equal shares, but the married daughters are postponed to the sons. DELANNEY v. PRAN HARI GUHA (1918) . . . 22 C. W. N. 990

20. ———— Husband's younger brother or son adopted—By father after mother's death and marrying a second wife—Succession Act (X of 1865), s. 111. A, a daughter of D by his first wife, to whom D by his will had bequeathed an annuity which in the event of her death was to pass to her heirs, having died a widow without issue, the question was whether her husband's younger brother or a boy adopted by D after the death of his first wife and marriage of a second wife was the preferential heir: Held, that the husband's younger brother was entitled to the annuity in preference to the adopted son of D. That s. 111 of the Succession Act did not apply, and A's heirs were not precluded from claiming the annuity by reason of A having survived the testator. GUNAMONI DASI v. DEBI PROSANNA ROY (1919) . . . 23 C. W. N. 1038

HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION.

See AGRA TENANCY ACT, 1901, s. 22.
I. L. R. 32 All. 314
I. L. R. 37 All. 558
I. L. R. 41 All. 629

See HINDU LAW—CO-PARCENER.

See HINDU LAW—CUSTOM.
I. L. R. 32 All. 363

See HINDU LAW—SURVIVORSHIP.
I. L. R. 33 Mad. 165

———— grandfather's daughter's son—
See WILL. 24 C. W. N. 316

1. ———— Stridhan—Dayabhaga—Ayautuka stridhan—Succession—Property of childless widow—Step-brother—Husband's younger brother. Under the Dayabhaga law, the younger brother of the husband of a childless widow is entitled to succeed to her ayautuka stridhan property in preference to her step-brother. DEBIPRASANNA ROY CHOWDHRY v. HARENDRA NATH GHOSE (1910)
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 863

2. ———— Anvadheya stridhan—Sons and daughters succeed equally—Among daughters unmarried have preference—Mayukha. A Hindu female, governed by the Mayukha, died leaving property which she inherited from her father, under a deed of gift subsequent to her marriage. She left her surviving three daughters and one son. A dispute as to succession having arisen:—Held, that the property being anvadheya stridhan, should be divided equally among her son and daughters: with this difference, however, as to the latter, that the unmarried should have preference over the married. Ashabai v. Haji Tyeb Haji Rahimtulla, I. L. R. 9 Bom. 115, and Sitjabai v. Wasantrao, 3 Bom. L. R. 201, followed. DAYALDAS LALDAS v. SAVITRIBAI (1909)
I. L. R. 34 Bom. 385

HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION—contd.

3. ———— Step-mother—Mitakshara—Father's sister's son—Gotraja-sapinda—Letters of Administration. In the Bengal Presidency, under the interpretation of the Mitakshara law as accepted in the districts governed by that law, a step-mother is not entitled to succeed to the estate of her step-son either as a gotraja-sapinda or in preference to the father's sister's sons. Joti Lal v. Durani Kower, B. L. R. Sup. Vol. 67, Kumaravelu v. Virana Goundan, I. L. R. 5 Mad. 29 Muttammal v. Vengalakshmi Ammal, I. L. R. 5 Mad. 32, and Rana Nand v. Surgiani, I. L. R. 16 All. 221, referred to. Kesserbai v. Valab Raoji, I. L. R. 4 Bom. 188, Lallubhai Bapubhai v. Cassibai, I. L. R. 5 Bom. 110, and Russoobai v. Zoolekhabai, I. L. R. 19 Bom. 707, not followed, having regard to the principle laid down in Collector of Madura v. Moottoo Ramalinga Sathupathy, 12 Moo. I. A. 397, TAHALDAI KUMRI v. GAYA PERSHAD SAHU (1909)
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 214

4. ———— Uncle of half blood—Mitakshara—Competition between uncle of the half blood and the son of an uncle of the whole blood. Held, that according to the Hindu law of the Mitakshara school, an uncle of the half blood succeeds in preference to the son of an uncle of the whole blood, the former being nearer in propinquity than the latter. Suba Singh v. Sarafraz Kunwar, I. L. R. 19 All. 215, distinguished. KESRI v. GANGA SAHAI (1910) . I. L. R. 32 All. 541

5. ———— Step-brother—Mitakshara—Ahban Thakurs—Step-brother if may succeed equally with brother of whole blood—Special family custom contrary to Mitakshara—Proof—Wajib-ul-arz, entries in—Value as evidence of custom. Under the Mitakshara law a brother of the whole blood is entitled to succeed to estate of a deceased brother in preference to a step-brother, and in the absence of evidence sufficient to establish such a special custom in the family as to rebut the ordinary presumption that the Mitakshara law prevailed the claim of the step-brother to an equal share was properly rejected. There is no class of evidence which is more likely to vary in value according to circumstances than that of Wajib-ul-arzes. Muhammad Imam Ali Khan v. Sardar Husain Khan, L. R. 25 I. A. 161, 169 : s. c. 2 C. W. N. 737 ; Musammat Parbati Kunwar v. Rani Chandrapal Kunwar, L. R. 36 I. A. 125 : s. c. 13 C. W. N. 1073, followed. Where from an internal evidence it seemed probable that the entries recorded connoted the views of individuals as to the practice they would wish to see prevailing rather than the ascertained fact of a well-established custom: Held, that the Court in India had properly attached weight to the fact that no evidence at all was forthcoming of any instance in which the alleged custom had been observed. THAKUR ANANT SINGH v. THAKUR DURGA SINGH (1910)
I. L. R. 32 All. 362
14 C. W. N. 770

6. ———— Daughter's daughter's son—Mitakshara—Bandhus—Alienation by Hindu widow—Legal necessity. Held, that under the Mitakshara law a daughter's daughter's son is a bandhu, and in the absence of any other heir is entitled to succeed to the estate of the last owner. Ajudhia v. Ram Sumer Misir, I. L. R. 31 All. 454, followed. RAM PHAL THAKUR v. PAN MATI PADAIN (1910)
I. L. R. 32 All. 640

HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION—contd.

7. ———— Samanodakas—Mitakshara—Succession—Bandhus—Cause of action. Samonodanas are those who participate in the same oblations of water and include descendants from a common ancestor more remotely related than the thirteenth degree from propositus. A sister's son is only a bandhu. A samanodaka is a nearer heir to a deceased Hindu than a bandhu and will exclude the latter. Where therefore B was in the thirteenth degree from the common ancestor L and D was in the fourteenth degree from him, and B's widow executed a deed of compromise declaring that after her death D would become entitled t(. Held, that this sister's son for a ancellation of the deed. Bai Devkore v. Amritram Jamiatram, I. L. R. 10 Bom. 372, referred to. RAM BARAN RAI v. KAMLA PRASAD (1910)

I. L. R. 32 All. 594

8. ———— Illegitimate son—Illegitimate son succeeds as a co-heir with the widow. The illegitimate son of a separated Hindu, who dies without legitimate male issue, succeeds as a co-heir with the widow, daughter or daughter's son. Ramalinga Muppan v. Pavadai Goundan, I L. R. 25 Mad. 519, 521, approved. Chinnammal v. Varadarajulu, I. L. R. 15 Mad. 307, followed. MEENAKSHI ANNI v. APPAKUTTI (1909)

I. L. R. 33 Mad. 226

9. ———— Illegitimate son, by widow whose re-marriage is prohibited, has no right of succession—Adverse possession—Right of true owner to recover possession by inducing tenant to attorn. An illegitimate son by a Sudra widow, whose re-marriage is forbidden, has no right of inheritance. Venkatachela Chetty v. Parvatham, 8 Mad. H. C. 134, referred to. To entitle the illegitimate son to succeed, the connection must not be adulterous or forbidden by law. Where persons, holding adversely to the true owner, enjoy the lands through a tenant who, however, has not been let into possession by them or their predecessors in title, the true owner is not estopped from recovering possession by inducing such tenant to attorn to him. ANNAYYAN v. CHINNAN (1909)

I. L. R. 33 Mad. 366

10. ———— Religious endowment—Ballavacharya Gosains. Held, that where there is a dedication of property by a private individual for religious purposes, in the absence of any proof of disposal or direction by the dedicator, the trusteeship will vest in the latter's heirs. Held, also, that as regards temples belonging to the Ballavacharya Gosain sect the ordinary rule of the Hindu law does not apply; but the succession is regulated by special customs. In the present case a custom set up by the plaintiffs by which a daughter's sons were entitled to the succession was held not to have been established Gossami Sri Gridhariji v. Romanlalji Gossami, I. L. R. 17 Calc. 3, Rajah Mutta Ramalinga Setupati v. Perianayagum Pillai, L. R. 1 I. A. 209, and Srimati Janoki Debi v. Sri Gopal Acharjia, L. R. 10 I. A. 32: I. L. R. 9 Calc. 766, referred to. MOHAN LALJI v. MADHUSUDAN LALA (1910)

I. L. R. 32 All. 461

11. ———— Sanyasis—Property left by—Succession—Dasnami sanyasis—Chela's right to succeed—Biraja Home ceremony, if essential to valid appointment of chela—How and at what age performed—Period of probation—Mulmantras—"Yati," mohunt if—Nomination of chela as successor or election by neighbouring mohunts, if indispensable—Subordinate muth, if must be governed by rules of parent muth—Lapse of mohunt's property on death to monastery, custom of—Proof. The inadequacy or untrue recital of the consideration is a question between the assignor and the assignee, and would not of itself be sufficient to invalidate the transaction. Lal Achal Ram v. Kazim Husain Khan, L. R. 32 I. A. 113: s c. 9 C. W. N. 477; Kunwar Ram Lal v. Nilkanth, L. R. 20 I. A. 112; Rajah Mokham Singh v. Rajah Rup Singh, L. R. 20 I. A. 127; Bhagwat Dayal v. Devi Dayal, L. R. 35 I. A. 48: s.c. I. L. R. 35 Calc. 420, 12 C. W. N. 393, followed. Held, on the evidence, that according to the custom of the dasnami sanyasis, every aspirant for entrance into the order has to pass through a period of probation which may extend to months or even years and during which period it is open to the chela to revert to his natural family. It is not till the performance of the final ceremony or the biraja home, that the aspirant is irrevocably attached to the sect and completely severed from his family. It is, therefore, essential to entitle a chela to claim by inheritance the estate of his guru that the biraja home should have been duly performed. It is not usual to whisper the mulmantras into the ears of the novice at the time of the first initiation when it is still uncertain whether he will or will not return to the enjoyments of worldly life, though some mantras may be recited on such an occasion. Quære: Whether biraja home ceremony can be performed when the chela is under sixteen years of age; but unquestionably the rule is that the chela must have reached years of discretion so as to be able to realise for himself the full significance of the final act of the renunciation of the world. Mahunt Ramji Das v. Lachhu Dass, 7 C. W. N. 145; Giyana Sambandha Pandara Sannadhi v. Kandasami Tambiran, I. L. R. 10 Mad. 375; Rangachariar v. Yegna Dikshatur, I. L. R. 13 Mad. 524, referred to. The chela of a mohunt cannot claim to be the latter's heir under the rule which allows a "virtuous pupil" to succeed to a "yati." The ordinary rule is that among the sanyasis generally no chela has right as such to succeed to the property of his deceased guru, he must be nominated by his guru, such nomination being generally confirmed by the mohunts of the order, or in default of such appointment, he must be elected by the mohunts and principal persons of the sect in the neighbourhood But this is not a universal rule, and in some cases, according to custom, the principal chela succeeds as of right even without such appointment or formal election; but apparently an election or recognition by members of the sect is necessary. Nirunjun Barthee v. Padaruth Barthee, 1 S D. A. N. W. P. 512; Madho Das v. Kamta Das, I. L. R. 1 All. 539; Jugunnath Paul v. Bidianund Dutt, 10 W. R. 172; Chhajju Gir v. Diwan, I. L. R. 29 All. 109, referred to. When one muth is the offshoot of another, there is no fixed rule which regulates the relation between the two, and it cannot be said that the subordinate muth necessarily follows the customs of the parent one. Kashibashi v. Chitumbernath, 20 W. R. 217; Giyana Sambandha Pandara Sannadhi v. Kandasami Tambiran, I. L. R. 10 Mad. 375, Prayad Das v. Mohunth Kriparam, 8 C. L. J. 409, relied on. In order to establish a custom that on the death of the mohunt his properties lapse to the

HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION—contd.

muth and devolve on the spiritual head thereof, it is necessary to show, not only that in some instances the properties had so passed to the spiritual head, but also that this had taken place in the presence of a chela who would otherwise have been competent to take by inheritance. GOSSAIN RAMDHAN PURI v. GOSSAIN DALMIR PURI (1909) 14 C. W. N. 191

12. ———— Unchaste widow—Unchastity of widow no bar to her right of succession to her son. There is no authority for holding that a Hindu lady, who after her husband's death has waited and then gone to live with another man, is thereby excluded from inheritance to the estate left by her son. DAL SINGH v. MUSAMMAT DINI (1909) . . . . I. L. R. 32 All. 155

13. ———— Ayautuka stridhan—Succession. Under the Dayabhaga, the husband's younger brother is entitled to succeed to the ayautuku stridhan property of a childless woman in preference to a step-brother. DEBI PRASANNA ROY v. HARENDRA NATH GHOSE (1910) 15 C. W. N. 383

14. ———— Mother's unchastity—Mitakshara—Unchastity of mother no bar to her inheriting son's estate. Held, that unchastity does not preclude a Hindu mother from succeeding to her son's property. Ganga Jati v. Ghasita, I. L. R. 1 All. 46 ; Dal Singh v. Dini, I. L. R. 32 All. 155, and Vedammal v. Vedanayaga Mudaliar, I. L. R. 31 Mad. 100, followed. BALDEO SINGH v. MATHURA KUNWAR (1911) . . I. L. R. 33 All. 702

15. ———— Nambudris in Malabar—Self-acquired property of Nambudri Brahman does not pass to the undivided family, but to his heirs under Hindu Law. Nambudri Brahmans are governed by Hindu Law, except in so far as it is shown to have been modified by usage or custom having the force of law, the probable origin of the special usage being either some doctrine of Hindu Law as it stood at the date of their settlement in Malabar, though now obsolete or some Marumakmakkatayam usage. The Hindu Law applicable is that laid down in the Mitakshara. The self-acquisition of a Nambudri Brahman passes to his heirs under the Mitakshara Law, and not to the undivided family to which he belongs. No Marumakkatayam usage has influenced the family law of Nambudris in this respect, and no doctrine of ancient Hindu Law denied the right of the son to succeed to the separate property of father. VISHNU NAMBUDRI v. AKKAMMA (1910) I. L. R. 34 Mad. 496

16. ———— Prostitute's estate—Stridhan—Severance as effect of degradation—Succession to property of degraded woman. The absolute property of a Hindu prostitute is to be treated as her stridhan for the purposes of succession. So far as succession is concerned, the degradation suffered by prostitution severs a woman from her natural relations at the moment she becomes degraded, but not from her sons or chaste daughters born after degradation. In the goods of Kamineymoney Bewah, I. L. R. 21 Calc. 697, Sarnamoyee Bewa v. Secretary of State for India, I. L. R. 25 Calc. 254, Bhutnath Mondol v. Secretary of State for India, 10 C. W. N. 1085, Narasanna v. Gangu, I. L. R. 13 Mad. 133, followed. Taramunnee Dassee v. Motee Buneeanee, (1846) S. D. A. 297, Sivasangu v. Minal, I. L. R. 12 Mad. 277, approved but distinguished. Sundari Dassi v. Nemye Charan Daw, 6 C. L. J. 372, Subbaraya Pillai v. Ramasami Pillai, I. L. R. 23 Mad. 171, Narain Das v. Trilok Tiwari, I. L. R. 29 All. 4, not followed. TRIPURA CHARAN BANNERJEE v. HARIMATI DASSI (1911) I. L. R. 38 Calc. 493

17. ———— Impartible property—Mitakshara—Succession—Impartible property governed by the rule of primogeniture nevertheless joint property. Where ancestral property is impartible and is held by a single member of the family, all the members of the family must be deemed to be joint in estate and the rule of succession to the property is the same as that which governs the case of partible property, so that a junior member of the family, who gets maintenance from the person holding the impartible estate, succeeds upon his death to the estate by right of survivorship. Whatever may be the powers of alienation of the holder of an impartible estate, the succession to it is governed not by the rule which applies to separate property but by the rule of survivorship. Therefore the person who succeeds to the estate does not do so as the heir or legal representatives of his predecessor and the estate cannot be regarded as the assets of the last previous holder. Harpal Singh v. Bishan Singh, 6 A. L. J. 753, followed. Raja of Kalahasti v. Achigadu, I. L. R. 31 Mad. 454, and Zamindar of Karvetnagar v. Trustee of Tirumalai, I. L. R. 32 Mad. 429, dissented from. INDAR SEN SINGH v. HARPAL SINGH (1911) I. L. R. 34 All. 79

18. ———— Great-grandmson of the grandfather—Mitakshara—Succession—Grand son of the great-grandfather. According to the Mitakshara law the three immediate descendants of the grandfather succeed in preference to the great-grandfather and his descendants, and the great-grandson of the grandfather is a perferential heir as against the grandson of the great-grandfather. The following cases were referred to in the judgments delivered :—Kalian Rai v. Ram Chander, I. L. R. 24 All. 128, Rutcheputty Dutt Iha v. Rajunder Narain Rae, 2 Moo. I. A. 133, Kashibai Ganesh v. Sitabai Raghunath Shivram, 13 Bom. L. R. 552 ; Rachava v. Kalingapa, I. L. R. 16 Bom. 716, Kureem Chand Gurain v. Oodung Gurain, 6 W. R. 158, Chinnasami Pillai v. Kunju Pillai, I. L. R. 35 Mad. 152 ; Bhyah Ram Singh v. Bhyah Ugur Singh, 13 Moo. I. A. 373 ; and Suraya Bhukta v. Laksaminarasamma I. L. R. 5 Mad. 291. BUDDHA SINGH v. LALTU SINGH (1912) I. L. R. 34 All. 663

19. ———— Step-sister—Vyavahara Mayukha—Succession—Paternal uncle—Priority. According to Hindu Law, as administered under the Vyavahara Mayukha, the half-sister of the propositus is entitled to succeed in preference to his paternal uncle. TRIKAM PURSHOTTAM v. NATHA DAJI (1911) . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 120

20. ———— Maiden's stridhan—Mitakshara—Stridhan—Father's brother's son—Sister—Sister's son. Under the Mitakshara school of Hindu Law, a sister (father's daughter) and a sister's son (father's daughter's son) are entitled to succeed to a maiden's stridhan in preference to a father's brother's son. Per N. R. CHATTERJEA, J. Under the Mitakshara law, in the absence of any rule determining the nearness among relations of the father in case of succession to a maiden's stridhan, the question should be decided by analogy to the order of succession to the stridhan of a childless woman married in a disapproved form, so far as it is applicable, for in both cases' succession is confined to the father's family. The stridhan of a childless woman married in a disapproved form devolves, after the father, in the same manner as if it had belonged to the father himself, and the succession follows the order laid down in the text of Yajnavalkya regulating obstructed succession. Quære : Whether the son or grandson of the father in such a case takes before the father or after him and before the other heirs mentioned in the said text. DWARKA NATH ROY v. SARAT CHANDRA SINGH ROY (1911)

HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION—contd.

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 319
15 C. W. N. 1036

21. ———— Succession among collateral sapindas—Mitakshara. Law—'Brother's son,' in Mitakshara does not include brother's grandson—Under Mitakshara Law, test in determining priority among unenumerated heirs is not spiritual efficacy but nearness of relationship—Brother's great-grandson succeeds in preference to uncle's grandson. The word 'sons' in the text of the Mitakshara Chap. II, s. I, verse 2, s IV, verses 7 and 8, and in s. V, verse 1, should not be given an extended

'sons' the grandsons as well whether of the brother, the paternal uncle or the great-uncle Such grandsons cannot claim rights of inheritance as heirs enumerated in the above texts. Lakshmi Narasamma v. Jagannadham, I. L. R 5 Mad 291, approved. Kalian Rai v. Ramachandra, I. L. R. 24 All. 128, not followed In the case of competition between sapindas not enumerated in the above texts, the nearest sapinda entitled to succeed must be determined not by considerations of superior religious efficacy but by nearness of relationship and preference should be given to the sapinda belonging to the nearer line The great principle pervading the law of inheritance under the Mitakshara system is that the nearer line excludes the more remote. The brother's great grandson succeeds in preference to the uncle's grandson. CHINNASAMI PILLAI v. KUNJU PILLAI (1911) . . . I. L. R. 35 Mad. 152

22. ———— Stridhan, succession to—Step-sister's son as heir. A step-sister's son is a preferential heir to a woman's stridhan to the daughter's son of the great-grandson of the great-grandfather of the woman's husband. SASI BHUSAN LAHIRI v. RAJENDRA NATH JOARDAR (1912) . . . . 16 C. W. N. 1094

23. ———— Mitakshara—Succession—Priority—Full sister—Son of a separated half-brother—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 11—Res judicata between co-defendants. Under the Mitakshara, the son of a separated half-brother is entitled to succeed in preference to a full sister of the propositus. Bhagwan v. Warubai, I. L. R. 32 Bom. 300, followed. Per SHAH, J.—In order that any decision between co-defendants might operate as res judicata in any subsequent suit between them, it is necessary to establish that there was a dants, and real rights

HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION—contd.

sc. Ramchandra Narayan v. Narayan Mahadev, I. L R 11 Bom. 216, followed. HARI ANNAJI v. VASUDEV JANARDAN (1914) .

I. L. R. 38 Bom. 438

24. ———— Step-mother cannot inherit under Mitakshara law—But may inherit according to a special caste custom. A step-mother is not to be allowed to inherit to her step-son as a gotraja sapinda. Mari v. Chinnammal, I. L R. 8 Mad. 107, explained. The Mitakshara law (apart from usage) does not recognise a step-mother as in the line of heirs at all. Property should go to the Crown in preference to her. This case was remanded on the following additional issue (inter alia), "whether according to the usage of the caste to which she and the first defendant belong, the step-mother is entitled to inherit to her step-son?" SEETHAI v. NACHIAR 1914)

I. L. R. 37 Mad. 286

25. ———— Custom of primogeniture—Allegation of family or local custom—What must be proved—Continuity and immemorial user—Onus—Finding that custom proved, if finding of fact—Record of-rights pending suit—Judgment of revenue officer in settlement proceedings, if evidence in suit—Attestation proceeding, finding in favour of custom recorded at, and based upon, hearsay Whether certain facts found by the lower Appellate Court (and as such binding on the High Court) do or do not establish an alleged custom of primogeniture, is a question of law Where a party relies upon a special custom of a family to take the succession out of the ordinary Hindu Law such custom must be proved to be ancient and continuous The alleged custom must be very satisfactorily proved by evidence of particular instances so numerous as to justify the Court in finding in favour of the custom Where subsequently to the institution of the suit, and at the attestation stage of proceedings for preparation of record-of-rights, an Assistant Settlement Officer found upon information gathered from the tehsildar of the Raja's estate that the custom of primogeniture prevailed among Kurmi Mahtos in 82 out of 84 of the villages within the estate and the lower Appellate Court relying upon this judgment found the custom established in the village in suit, the parties being Kurmi Mahtos · Held, that, apart from the circumstance that the fact of the record-of-rights having been completed since the institution of the suit affected the value and importance of the decision of the Settlement Officer, his judgment had been used for a purpose for which it was not admissible in law. That reliance might possibly have been placed upon it to show that the custom was recognised by the revenue authorities, but the findings of the Settlement Officer could not be incorporated into the evidence in the case and treated as practically conclusive between the parties That whether the Assistant Settlement Officer was competent or not to act upon information gathered from the Raja's tehsildar (which was clearly not legal evidence), that statement of the tehsildar was inadmissible in evidence in the Civil Court. DURGA CHARAN MAHTO v. RAGHUNATH MAHTO (1913) . . . 18 C. W. N. 55

26. ———— Succession to a yati (religious ascetic)—Chela or sisya (disciple or pupil) of Hindu religious ascetic or mendicant—Heirs natural and special under rules of Hindu Law. A Brahmin who had left his home in early life and settled in Burrabazar in Calcutta, where he lived the life of a Hindu mendicant and practised religious austerities but dressed himself in ordinary cloths and deposited monies with firms in Burrabazar on interest, and had also acquired property in the Punjab, cannot be taken to have renounced the world and was not a yati or a religious ascetic in the sense of the Hindu Law and on his death his natural heirs under the ordinary rules of the Hindu Law are entitled to succeed to his property. Nor was the plaintiff who claimed to be the heir of the deceased Brahmin as his chela, his satsisya or virtuous pupil in the sense of the Hindu Law and was not entitled to succeed against his natural heirs, who have proved themselves to be his legal heirs. GOURI SUNKER BYAS v. NIADER SINGH (1913) . . . 18 C. W. N. 59

HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION—contd.

27. ———— Dayabhaga School—Doctrine of spiritual benefit—Paternal great-grand-father's son's daughter's son and maternal uncle, who is preferable. Under the Dayabhaga School of Hindu Law, the paternal great-grand-father's son's daughter's son of a deceased Hindu is preferable to his mother's brother as heir, even though the latter is specifically mentioned in the Dayabhaga as an heir and the former is not, and his precise position in the category of heirs is not laid down in the case of Guru Govind v. Ananda Lal, 13 W. R. F. B. 49, c Braja Lal v. Jiban Krishna, I. L. R. 26 Cal. 285, referred to. KAILASH CHUNDER ADHIKARI v. KARUNA NATH CHOWDHRY (1913) 18 C. W. N. 477

28. ———— Daughters inheriting father's estate jointly—Death of one—The other if succeeds to deceased's interest as reversionary heir—Adverse possession for more than twelve years during both daughters' lifetime—Surviving daughter's right to recover moiety share belonging to deceased, if arises from her death—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Sch. I, Art. 141. Where one of two daughters of a Hindu who inherited his properties, died, the survivor did not acquire in the interest enjoyed by the deceased a title of the nature described in Art. 141 of Sch. I, of the Limitation Act. Where after both daughters had been kept out of possession for more than 12 years one of them died, and the other by some means or other got back possession: Held, that she could not maintain her possession against the person who by 12 years' adverse possession had acquired title in the entire property, including the interest of the deceased daughter, to which she succeeded by survivorship and not by inheritance. SACHINDRA KISHORE DEY v. RAJANI KANT CHUCKERBUTTY (1914) . . 18 C. W. N. 904

28 (a). ———— Held, that under the Mitakshara Law the preference of heirs of the whole blood to those of the half blood is confined to "Sapindas of the same degree of descent from the common ancestor" where therefore the choice of heirs lay between Sapindas of different degrees an uncle of the half blood as being less remote from the common ancestor is a preferential heir to the sons of an uncle of the whole blood. The Provisions of s. 317 of the Civil Procedure Code 1882 were designed to create some check on the practice of making so called benami purchases at execution sales for the benefit of Judgment debtors and in no way affects the title of persons otherwise beneficially interested in the purchase. GANGA SAHAI v. KESRI. I. L. R. 37 All. 545

HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION—contd.

29. ———— Mitakshara—"Sapindaship," definition of, if governs inheritance or marriage only—Bhinnagotra sapindas or bandhus who may succeed as—Limit of five degrees and mutuality to be satisfied—Classes of bandhus enumerated in Mitakshara, if to be extended—Interpretation of rules of Hindu Law—Suit in ejectment—Plaintiff to strictly prove title. Sapinda relationship, according to the Mitakshara, is based not on the presentation of funeral oblations, but on descent from a common ancestor, and in the case of females, also on marriage with descendants from a common ancestor, this relationship ceasing—not merely for purposes of marriage, but generally and therefore for purposes of inheritance also—after the seventh degree from the common ancestor on the father's side and fifth on the mother's. The word "bandhu" in the system of the Mitakshara bears a distinct and technical meaning signfying the bhinna-gotra sapindas, and the limitation of the five degrees clearly applies and can only apply to the bhinna-gotra sapindas. Besides being within the fifth degree from the common ancestor, a bandhu to be entitled to succeed to the inheritance must be so related to the propositus that they are sapindas to each other. Held, accordingly, that the plaintiffs who were the paternal grand-father's son's son's daughter's daughter's sons of the propositus were not his heirs, both because they were his bhinna-gotra beyond the fifth degree and also because the element of mutuality was wanting between them and the propositus. The ruling in Gridari Lal v. The Bengal Government, 12 Moo. I. A. 448, that the enumeration of bandhus who were entitled to succeed is not exhaustive but merely illustrative, hardly warrants the conclusion that the classes specified by Vijnaneswar, viz., atma-bandhus, pitri-bandhus, matri-bandhus, can be added to. Lallubhai v. Mankuvarbai, I. L. R. 2 Bom. 588, Umaid Bahadur v. Udai Chand, 4 C. W. N. 866 : s. c. I. L. R. 25 Mad. 61, Babu Lal v. Nanku Ram, I. L. R. 22 Calc. 339, referred to. The Hindu Law contains its own principles of exposition, and questions arising under it cannot be determined on abstract reasoning or analogies borrowed from other systems of law, but must depend for their decisions on the rules and doctrines enunciated by its own law-givers and recognised expounders. RAMCHANDRA MARTAND WAIKAR v. VINAYAK VENKATESH KOTHEKAR (1914) . . . . 18 C. W. N. 1154
L. R. 41 I. A. 290

30. ———— Mitakshara—Ch. II, s. 5, pl. 4 and 5—Mayukha, Ch. VIII, pl. 18—Compact series of heirs—Brother's widow—Sapinda—Uncle's sons—Brother's widow nearer heir. The widow of a brother of the deceased is, as a sapinda, a nearer heir of the deceased than his paternal uncle's sons. BASANGAVDA v. BASANGAVDA (1914)
I. L. R. 39 Bom. 87

31. ———— Mitakshara, Chapter II, s. 8, para. 2—Claim by plaintiff as Pitrai Chela to recover the property of a deceased Bairagi—Claim not maintainable on the ground of custom and Hindu Law—Bairagis—Sanyasis—Hermit, ascetic, student in theology—Heirs—Preceptor, virtuous pupil and spiritual brother in reverse order. The plaintiff claiming as Petrai Chela of a deceased Bairagi sued to recover the property of the deceased. Held, dismissing the suit, that both on the ground of custom and on the ground of Hindu Law the plaintiff had failed to make out his case. The declared heir of a Sanyasi under the Mitakshara is a virtuous pupil. According to the Mitakshara, Chap. II, s. 8, para. 2, the heirs of the property of a hermit, of an ascetic and of a student in theology are the preceptor, the virtuous pupil and the spiritual brother belonging to the same hermitage in the inverse order. Quære: Whether Bairagis can be classed as Sanyasis because the order of Bairagis is not confined to the members of the twice born castes. RAMDAS GOPALDAS v. BALDEVDASJI KAUSHALYADASJI (1914)

HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION—contd.

I. L. R. 39 Bom. 168

32. ———— Maiden's property—Preferential heir. One Sitabai who became entitled to Rs. 3,000, under an insurance policy on the death of her father, died unmarried; and the plaintiff, the sister of her mother, sued for a declaration that the defendant who was the step-mother of the deceased Sitabai was not her heir under the Hindu Law and that she as the maternal aunt of the deceased was her lawful heir and entitled to the amount that was held in deposit in Court. Held, that the plaintiff was not entitled to succeed in preference to the defendant. The sapindas, both of the father and the mother, must refer to the same persons as the mother becomes a member of the father's family on her marriage. Tukaram v. Narayan Ramchandra, I. L. R. 36 Bom. 339, Janglubai v. Jetha Appaji, I. L. R. 32 Bom. 409, and Dwarka Nath Roy v. Sarat Chandra Singh Roy, I. L. R. 39 Calc. 319, followed. The rule that female gotraja sapindas do not inherit as agnate relations taking the rank which they would be entitled to if their claims were based on sapinda relationship has been applied to the succession of male's property. Balamma v. Pullayya, I. L. R. 18 Mad. 168, and Thayammal v. Annamalai Mudali, I. L. R. 19 Mad. 35, referred to. The rule that in the case of succession to sridhanam property, a daughter inherits as sapinda where the succession has to be traced through the father or the husband applies also to the case of a wife or widow. Manja Pillai v. Sivabhagiathachi, 21 Mad. L. J. 551, applied. KAMALA v. BHAGIRATHI (1912)

I. L. R. 38 Mad. 45

33. ———— Dayabhaga School—Whether great-grandfather's son's daughter's son or maternal uncle preferential heir—Stare decisis. In a Dayabhaga family the great-grandfather's son's daughter's son is entitled to succeed as heir in preference to the maternal uncle. Kailash Chandra Adhikari v. Karuna Nath Choudhry, 18 C. W. N. 477, followed. 13 W. R. (F. B.) 49; 5 B. L. R. 15, cannot be questioned now. KEDAR NATH BANERJEE v. HARI DAS GHOSE (1915) . . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 1

34. ———— Illegitimate son—of a Sudra by a dancing woman kept in continuous and exclusive concubinage—Right to succeed to joint family property. The illegitimate son of a Sudra by a dancing woman who was by profession a prostitute before she came into his keeping but who was kept by him in continuous and exclusive concubinage thereafter, is entitled to get his appropriate share in the joint family property after his father's death provided the connection between his father and mother was not incestuous or adulterous. This right is not subject to a further condition that a marriage could have taken place between the father and the mother according to the custom of the caste to which the mother belonged. SOUNDARARAJAN v. ARUNACHALAM CHETTY (1915) . . . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 136

HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION—contd.

35. ———— Lunacy—Effect on the devolution of immovable property of lunacy of next heir—Suit to recover possession from daughters of lunatic—Limitation—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Sch. I, Art. 141. A person is disqualified under the Hindu Law from succeeding to property if he is insane when the succession opens, whether his insanity is curable or incurable. Deo Kishen v. Budh Prakash, I. L. R. 5 All. 509, and Tirbeni Sahai v. Muhammad Umar, I. L. R. 28 All. 247, referred to. The daughter, therefore, of such person would derive no legal title through her father. The legitimate wife of a lunatic Hindu took possession during his life-time of certain immovable property which had belonged to his father and subsequently transferred part of it to her daughters and to the husband of one of them. She retained a portion herself, which after her death came into the possession of one of the daughters. Held, that a suit to recover the property of which possession had been so obtained and held was governed by Art. 141 of the first Schedule to the Indian Limitation Act, 1908. Legge v. Ram Baran Singh, I. L. R. 20 All. 35, distinguished. RAM SINGH v. MUSSAMMAT BHANI (1915) . . . . I. L. R. 38 All. 117

36. ———— Bandhu—Mother's brother's son preferred to mother's sister's son. According to Hindu Law of the Mitakshara School, the mother's brother's son takes precedence as an heir over the mother's sister's son. Appandai Vathiyar v. Bagubali Mudaliyar, I. L. R. 33 Mad. 439, dissented from. Buddha Singh v. Laltu Singh, I. L. R. 37 All. 604, referred to. RAM CHARAN LAL v. RAHIM BAKSH (1916) . I. L. R. 38 All. 416

37. ———— Religious office—Right of females to inherit and do duty by proxy. A female is not under the Hindu Law or custom disqualified from succeeding to a hereditary religious office (such as the office of archaka in a temple) and getting such duties as she may be disqualified by reason of her sex from performing, performed by proxy. Ramasundaram Pillai v Savandrathammal 16 Mad. L. T. 423, and Tangirala Chiranjivi v. Raja Manikya Rao, 27 Mad. L. J. 179, followed. Sundarambal Ammal v. Yogavana Gurukkal, I. L. R. 38 Mad. 850, not followed. RAJA RAJESWARI AMMAL v. SUBRAMANIA ARCHAKAR (1916)

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 105

38. ———— Unchastity—in husband's life-time—Condonation by husband. Under the Hindu Law, a widow is not debarred from inheriting to her husband on the ground that she had become unchaste in her husband's life-time, if the husband had condoned her unchastity. Gangadhar Parappa Alur v. Yellu kom Virasvami Shiravale, I. L. R. 36 Bom. 138, followed. Mutunginee Dabee v. Joykallee Dabee, 14 W. R. A. O. J. 23, and Moniram Kolita v. Keri Kolitani, I. L. R. 5 Calc. 776, referred to. RADHE LAL v. BHAWANI RAM (1917)

I. L. R. 40 All. 178

39. ———— Full sister entitled to priority. According to the Mitakshara School of Hindu Law, a full sister is entitled to succeed in priority to the half-sister. JANA v. RAKHMA (1918)

I. L. R. 43 Bom. 461

HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION—contd.

40. ———— Sudra—Illegitimate son not allowed collateral succession. On the death of a Sudra, his property was claimed by two persons, one of whom was his divided brother, and the other was the illegitimate son of his father:—Held, that the former was entitled to succeed, since the illegitimate son was, under Hindu Law, excluded from all collateral succession. Ravji valad Mahadu v. Sakuji valad Kaloji, (1909) 34 Bom. 321 ; Shome Shankar Rajendra Varere v. Rajesarswami Jangam (1898) 21 All. 99 and Ramalinga Muppan v. Paradai Goundan (1901) 25 Mad. 519, followed. DHARMA LAKSHMAN v. SAKHARAM RAMJIRAO (1919) . . . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 185

41. ———— Sudras—Leva Kunbis of Changdeo in the East Khandesh District, whether Sudras—Illegitimate sons dividing property with legitimate sons, mother entitled to a share. Leva Kunbis residing at Changdev in the East Khandesh District are Sudras. Under Hindu Law, even when, among the Sudras, the illegitimate sons divide the property with the legitimate sons, the mother is entitled to a share. MANCHHARAM BHIKU v. DATTU (1919) . . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 166

42. ———— Brahmans of tahsil, Kharar District, Ambala—father's sister's sons or village proprietors—Limitation—presumption in favour of continuance of life—onus of proving death. Plaintiffs, the father's sister's sons of one Sardha, deceased, sued for possession of the latter's land which had been taken possession of by the village proprietors on the death of Mussammat Atri, the widow of Mula, father of Sardha. The deceased was a Brahman and the village proprietors (defendants) are Rajputs. The suit was instituted on the 5th May 1914 and the only evidence as to the date of Mussammat Atri's death was a report of the Patwari in September 1902 to the effect that she died in May 1902. The Lower Appellate Court held that the plaintiffs were heirs by Hindu Law and that the claim was within time. The defendants appealed to the High Court. Held, that by the Mitakshara system of Hindu Law the father's sister's sons are heirs. Tahaldai Kumari v. Gaya Pershad (I. L. R. 37 Calc. 214) and Mayne's Hindu Law, 8th Edition, Chap. XVI, p. 704, and Trevelyan's Hindu Law, 2nd Edition, p. 402, referred to. Held, also, that there is a presumption in favour of continuance of life and that in the absence of proof by the defendants that Mussammat Atri died before the 4th of May 1902 she must be presumed to have died after that date and the suit was consequently within time. AMEER Ali and Woodroffe's Law of Evidence, 5th Edition, p. 682, referred to. TANI v. RIKHI RAM

I. L. R. 1 Lah. 554

43. ———— Khatris—Sister of father's father's son's daughter's son—Adoption not in Dattaka form—whether adopted son entitled to collateral succession—Will by widow—validity of—possessory title. Plaintiff claimed a house and some moveable property as heir to her deceased brother Harnam Das, son of Jai Ram. Plaintiff alleged also that she had got possession of the property on the death of Mussammat Ind Kaur, the widow of Harnam Das, and had been forcibly dispossessed by the defendant. The latter was the daughter's son of Ram Chand, brother of Jai Ram and was adopted by his maternal grandfather. He also claimed under a will made by Mussammat Ind Kaur in his favour. It was found as a fact that the adoption of defendant was not made in the

HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION—contd.

Dattaka form; also that the plaintiff never got peaceful and exclusive possession of the property after the death of Mussammat Ind Kaur. Held, that the adoption of the defendant, not being in accordance with the Dattaka form, the latter was not entitled under the Mitakshara School of Hindu Law to succeed collaterally. Jiwan Mal v. Jamna Das (67 P. L. R. 1911), followed. Held also, that by Hindu Law a widow's powers of alienation are restricted to religious purposes, and the fact that there are no heirs capable of taking at her death does not affect these powers, and consequently the will of Mussammat Ind Kaur conferred no title on defendant. The Collector of Masulipatam v. Cavali Vencata Narrainapah (8 Moo. I. A. 529, 551 P. C.) and Pandharinath Vishvanath v Govind Shivram (I. L. R. 32 Bom. 59, 71), followed. Alla Ditta v. Gauhra (3 P. R. 1914), distinguished. Held further, that by Mitakshara Law the plaintiff as a sister is not entitled to succeed against the defendant who cannot be said to be a total stranger being the daughter's son of the deceased's uncle. Shambu Nath v. Mussammat Ralli (52 Indian Cases 591) and Mayne's Hindu Law, 8th Edition, p. 744, para. 534, followed. Nanak Gir v. Mussammat Kishen Kaur (161 P. R. 1919), distinguished. Held moreover, that defendant as a father's father's son's daughter's son is a bandhu and has a better title than the plaintiff. Mulla's Hindu Law, 3rd Edition, pp. 58 and 59, referred to, also Abdul Hamid v. Surbuland Khan (78 P. R. 1902). Held finally, that the fact that there was a scramble for possession on the death of the widow Mussammat Ind Kaur and plaintiff as well as defendant put a lock on the door of the house is not sufficient to establish plaintiff's peaceful and exclusive possession, so as to entitle her to a decree for possession on the basis of her possessory title. In a suit on possessory title a plaintiff must prove more than what is necessary for him to do in a suit under the Specific Relief Act. Abdul Hamid v. Surbuland Khan (78 P. R. 1902), referred to. TIRTH RAM v. MUSSAMMAT KAHAN DEVI . . . . I. L. R. 1 Lah. 588

44. ———— Bengal and Benares Schools—Succession—brother's daughter—whether a bandhu. The plaintiff, the brother's daughter of one Mani Ram, deceased, sued for a declaration that Jagiri Mal had not been adopted by Mani Ram or his widow. The Lower Court dismissed the suit on the ground of limitation. The plaintiff appealed to the Chief Court and it was contended by the defendants-respondents that even if the suit was not barred by limitation the plaintiff not being a bandhu with rights of inheritance had no locus standi, to bring the suit. Held, that by the Bengal and Benares Schools of Hindu Law the only females entitled to inherit are the widow, the daughter, the mother, the father's mother and the father's father's mother and that consequently plaintiff as a brother's daughter had no locus standi to bring the present suit. Gauri Sahai v. Rukko (I. L. R. 3 All. 45), Jagat Narain v. Sheo Das (I. L. R. 5 All. 311), Nanhi v. Gauri Shankar (I. L. R. 28 All. 187), Jagan Nath v. Champa (I. L. R. 28 All. 307), Jogdamba Koer v. Secretary of State (I. L. R. 16 Calc. 367, 370), Mussammat Bibi Sodhan v. Harsa Singh (51 P. R. 1916) and Shambhu Nath v. Mussammat Ralli (52 Indian Cases 591), followed. Mulla's Hindu Law, 3rd Edition, p. 68, Ghose's principle of Hindu Law, Vol. I, 3rd Ed., p. 156, Rama Krishna's Hindu Law, Vol.

HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION—contd.

distinguished. ... MAL . . . . . I. L. R. 1 Lah. 608

44(a) ———— Mother's Sister's Son's Son—is to be preferred to mother's paternal aunt's son—Atma bandhus to be preferred irrespective of question of propinquity and religious efficacy—"Son" includes "son's son"—"Sapindas" who are. Under the Mitakshara law, the mother's sister's son's son of the deceased propositus is preferred as heir to his mother's paternal aunt's son. In families governed by the law of the Mitakshara, the right of succession amongst the three classes of bandhus mentioned in the Mitakshara, Chap. 15, sec. 6, is governed by the propinquity of the class; and a pitri-bandhus does not succeed until the class of atma bandhus is exhausted and a matri-bandhu does not succeed until the classes of atma bandhus and pitri-bandhus are exhausted. The rule in preferring the nearer to the more remote class of bandhus is not dependent on individual propinquity or on the efficacy of offerings to the deceased person. A bandhu must in order to be heritable in a female line fall within the fifth degree from the common male ancestor and must be so related to the deceased person that they are mutually sapindas of one another, that is, persons connected by particles of one body. The grandson of a mother's sister falls within the general description of an atma-bandhu, a person related to the propositus himself, and is not to be excluded only because he is not mentioned among the illustrations in the text of the Mitakshara. Muthuswami Mudaliyar v. Simambedu Muthukumaraswami Mudaliyar, L. R. 23 I. A. 83: s.c. I. L. R. 19 Mad. 405 (1896). Buddha Singh v. Laltu Singh. L. R. 42 I. A. 208: s.c. 20 C. W. N. 1 (1915). Ramchandra Martand Waikar v. Vinayak Venkatesh Kothekar, L. R. 41 I. A. 290 s. c. I. L. R. 42 Calc. 384; 18 C. W. N. 1154 (1914). ... na Ayyangar, ... Vili v. Bai ... 1907) referred to. ADIT NARAYAN SINGH v. MAHABIR PRASAD TEWARI (P.C.) . . 25 C. W. N. 842

44(b) ———— Family Law, Renounced, if Governs succession—To persons immigrated from another place—Succession to Hindu whose family immigrated from another place—Mahratta Brahmin emigrating and settling in the Central Provinces—No proof that he renounced his old family law—Daughter inherits absolutely under Mayukha, the personal law of the individual whose succession is in question—Influence of commentaries upon Hindu Law—Effect of domicile—Judicial decision operates retrospectively. Amongst Hindus, the law of succession in any given case is to be determined according to the personal law of the individual whose succession is in question. If nothing is known about a man but his place of residence, it will be assumed that his personal law is the law which prevails in that place. ... re- ... at ... of personal law prevailed, in which case the law must be the family law as it was when the family emigrated. It is open to proof that he has renounced the law prevailing in his place of origin and accepted that prevailing in his place of domicile. The personal law of a Mahratta Brahmin whose ancestors had at one time lived in Maharashtra in the Bombay Presidency, is that prevailing in Bombay, and accordingly on his death his daughter takes an absolute interest in his property. The difference in the law existing in Bombay and the other Courts is due to the dominating influence of the different commentaries. But commentaries do not enact. They explain and are evidence of the congeries of customs which form the law. Bombay Courts relying on the Mayukha has arrived at totally different resul... othe... with... kha Bhau v. Raghunath I. L. R. 30 Bom. 229 at p. 236 (1905), approved. Narayan Vithal v. Govind Narayan, 1 Nag. L.R. 154 (1905), commented on. A decision of a Court of law is not to be regarded as a statute. It is declaratory of the law as it has existed. BALWANT RAO v. BAJI RAO (P.C.) . . 25 C. W. N. 243

45 ———— Custom of Remarriage—Whethere a childless widowed daughter of child-bearing age free to remarry, by custom, and heir of her father. In the caste in which widow remarriage is a custom, a childless widowed daughter of child-bearing age is not entitled to succeed to her father's property along with the married daughter having a son, in the absence of any proof of custom entitling her to succeed under such circumstances. BINODINI HAZRANI v. SUSTHEE HAZRANI. (1920)
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 300

46. ———— Impartible estate—Mitakshara—Joint ancestral estate—Survivorship. The successor to an impartible estate which is ances-... member of the senior branch of the family, therefore succeeds in preference to the direct lineal senior descendant of the common ancestor if the latter i... Natchiar ... I. A., 54 ... chalapati ... Rup Sin ... L. R, ... I. L. R., 28 Mad., 508; L. R., 32 I. A., 261, approved and followed. Neelkisto Deb Burmono v. Beerchunder Thakoor, 12, Moo.,I. A., 523, and Sartaj Kuari v. Deoraj Kuari, I. L. R., 10 All., 272; L. R., 15 I. A., 51, explained and distinguished. The terms "co-parceners" and "co-pa... in all ... joint ... family property. Judgment of the High Court affirmed. BAIJNATH PRASAD SINGH v. TEJ BALI SINGH . . I. L. R. 43 All. 228

... not apply to it save so far as it was not inconsistent

HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION—concld.

with the custom. Such a custom may, if observed and acted upon, survive the primitive conditon of things out of which it originally, from the very necessity of the case, sprung; and the head of the family for the time being cannot, by accepting from the Government of India a sanad containing clauses inconsistent with the custom, destroy it or render it inoperative. RAO KISHORE SINGH v. MUSSAMMAT GAHENABAI . 24 C. W. N. 601

48. ———— Bhinna gotra sapindas—Mother's sister's son and mother's paternal aunt's son. Under the Mitakshara School of Hindu Law the mother's paternal aunt's son succeeds in preference to the mother's sister's son's son. ADIT NARAYAN SINGH v. MAHABIR PD. TEWARI 1 Pat. L. J. 324

49. ———— Property jointly acquired and thrown into common stock—Succession to. Under the Hindu Law, property jointly acquired and thrown into the common stock is subject to succession by survivorship as between the parties who acquired the property. GOBARDHAN SAHU v. BULKHAN MAHTON . . 1 Pat. L. J. 195

49(a) ———— Widow's Remarrage—Right of succession in the family of her first husband—Succession as a gotraja sapinda. Under Hindu Law, the father's sister is entitled to succeed in preference to the remarried widow of the paternal uncle. Rasappa v. Rayava (1904) 29 Bom. 91, distinguished. PRANJIVAN HARGOVAN v. BAI BHIKHI (1921)
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1247

50. ———— Maternal uncle of last male owner and sister's daughter's son. Held, by the Full Bench (DAWSON MILLER, C. J., and IMAM, J., dissenting) that in a family governed by the Mitakshara the maternal uncle of the last male owner is preferred to the sister's daughter's son as heir to the estate. UMASHANKER PRASAD PRASARI v. MUSSAMMAT NAGESWARI KOERS
3 Pat. L. J. 663

HINDU LAW—SUDRA.

See HINDU LAW LEGITIMACY.

1. ———— Custom of family—Primogentiure—Rajput family—Evidence—Long continuance of family. In a Rajput family settled for many centuries in the Nimar district (Central Provinces) a custom of succession by primogeniture was alleged, the eldest son succeeding to the gaddi and the title of Rana, and the younger sons being entitled only to maintenance. The oral evidence showed that the practice during the last four generations had been in accordance with that custom, and the documentary evidence confirmed it showing the existence of a gaddi and the title Rana from a very early period. Under Mahomedan rule the head of the family was the holder of a hereditary fiscal office. The Appellate Court (reversing the trial Judge) held that the custom alleged was not proved as existing as of right. The view of the Court was that since the abolition of the fiscal office the subsistence which the younger sons had formerly received as a favour had become a share claimed as of right and increasing in quantity to the equality favoured by ordinary Hindu law from which circumstances had diverted the enjoyment of the family property. Held, that the evidence established the custom, the view of the Appellate Court being based on a theory of a speculative character, and omitting to give weight to the survival of the family as an entity during many centuries, which survival could have occurred only with the help of a family custom of the kind alleged. Mere cessation of services to which uatan lands are attached, which are by custom impartible, does not ordinarily destroy the custom. Judgment of the Court of the Judicial Commissioner reversed. RANA MAHATAB SINGH v. BADAN SINGH, (1921)

HINDU LAW—SUDRA—contd.

I. L. R. 48 Calc. 997

2. ———— Bandhus—Male bandhu entitled to preference over a female bandhu though the latter be nearer in degree. Under the Mitakshara Hindu Law a male bandhu is entitled to preference over a female bandhu even though the latter is nearer in degree. Held, accordingly, a mother's sister's son is entitled to succeed in preference to a brother's daughter. Rajah Venkata Narasinha v. Raja Surenani (1908) 31 Mad. 321, followed. BALKRISHNA v. RAMKRISHNA. (1920) . . . . I. L. R. 45 Bom. 353

3. ———— Succession—First cousins take per capita and not per stirpes. Under Hindu Law, first cousins of the propositus take per capita and not per stirpes. Nagesh v. Gururao (1892) 17 Bom. 303, referred to. NARSAPPA v. BHARMAPPA. (1920)
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 296

4. ————Murder as a disqualification—to inherit—Public policy precluding a person from benefiting by his crime—Succession among Bandhus—Priority between father's sister's son and father's brother's daughter. Among Hindus, a murderer is disqualified from inheriting the estate of the person murdered. (Applicability to Hindu Law of the rule of public policy which precludes a person from benefiting by his own crime, discussed.) According to the Bombay School of Hindu Law, father's sister's son is entitled to succeed in preference to the father's brother's daughter. Under the Mitakshara, a male bandhu is entitled to preference over a female bandhu even though the latter is nearer in degree. Balkrishna (1920) 45 Bom. 353 v. Ramkrishna and Rajah Venkata v. Rajah Surenani (1908) 31 Mad. 321, followed. GIRIMALLAPPA CHANNAPPA v. KENCHAVA (1920)
I. L. R. 45 Bom. 768

5. ———— Right of succession of widowed daughter when remarriage permitted. A Hindu was succeeded by his widow and on her death the contest for succession was between a childless widow daughter aged about 16 and a married daughter having a son. In the caste to which the parties belonged widow remarriage was permitted. Held, that although widow remarriage is a custom in the caste that does not by itself predicate the further custom that the widow daughter is entitled to succeed equally with the married daughter. There must be clear proof of such a custom. BINODINI HAZRANI v. SUSTHEE HAZRANI
26 C. W. N. 29

6. ———— Bandhus—Maternal uncle—Father's sister's grandson—Preference among atma-bandhus. Under the Mitakshara law a maternal uncle succeeds in preference to a son of the paternal aunt's son. So held on the ground that both claimants being

HINDU LAW—SUDRA—contd.

atma-bandhus, the maternal uncle and the deceased were sapindas to each other, whereas the other claimant offered no pinda to the ancestors of the deceased, and the maternal uncle was the nearer in degree; a contention that the claimant who was ex parte paterna should be preferred to the claimant who was ex parte materna being rejected. Four propositions as to bandhu's enunciated by the Madras High Court in Muthusami v. Muttukumarasami (1883) I. L. R. 16 Mad. 23, 30, approved, as furnishing a safe guide in the absence of any express authority varying the rule. Sundarammal v. Rangasami Mudaliar, (1895) I. L. R. 18 Mad. 193, and Balusami Pandithar v. Narayana Rau, (1897) I. L. R. 20 Mad. 342, so far as they held that among bandhus of the same class those ex parte paterna are to be preferred to those ex parte materna, disapproved. Judgment of the High Court reversed. VEDACHELA MUDALIAR v SUBRAMANIA MUDLIAR (1921) . . I. L. R., 44 Mad. 753

7. ———————— Hindu Law—Right of succession of young widowed daughter in a caste where widow remarriage is permitted—Necessity of proof of custom entitling the widowed daughter to succeed equally with a married daughter. A Hindu was succeeded by his widow, and on her death, the contest for succession was between a childless widowed daughter aged 16 or 17 and a married daughter having a son. In the caste to which the parties belonged widow remarriage is permitted. Held, that though widow remarriage is a custom in the caste, that does not by itself predicate the further custom that the widowed daughter, because it is open to her to remarry, is entitled to succeed equally with the married daughter. There must be clear proof of custom entitling the widowed daughter to succeed equally with the married daughter. BINODINI HAZRANI v. SUSTHEE HAZRANI . . . . 26 C. W. N. 29

8. ———————— MITAKSHARA (SOUTHERN S[illegible] succession, order of, amongst atma- [illegible] mines preference—[illegible] of preference—The rule in Mitakshara, if open to question as spurious or as incomplete—Enumeration of heirs, illustrative—Viramitrodaya, authority of, in Southern India—Maternal uncle's place in the order of succession. The passage in the Mitakshara, Chap. II, sec. 6, para. 1, laying down the order of succession amongst the bandhus has been accepted by a series of Commentators and by eminent Hindu Judges in the British Indian Courts and any doubt at this stage as to its [illegible] ...ly to perple... ...on of bandhus ...in the passage... ...way of illustration only, the rule is not open to objection on the ground of incompleteness. The question being whether according to the law of the Mitakshara as recognised in the Dravira Country, the maternal uncle or the son of the paternal aunt's son (both of whom are atma-bandhus) should succeed as the preferential heir. Held, that there is nothing in para. 598 of the Sarasvati Vilasa, to justify the division of the atma-bandhus in two sub-classes, viz., ex parte paterna and ex parte materna or the preference of the former to the latter. That, in the absence of express authority varying the rule, the propositions enunciated in Muttusami v. Muttukumarasami (3), furnish a safe guide, and the maternal uncle, ... degree and ... and grandson of the ... the preferential heir. The place assigned by Sarbadhikary and Mayne to the maternal uncle in their tables of succession questioned. Although the Smriti Chandrika in the Southern Presidency is regarded as the most authoritative commentary on Vijnaneswara's work, the Viramitrodaya holds as in Western India, a high position. V. A. S. VEDECHELLA MUDALIAR v. R. I. RANGANATH CHETTIER . . . . 26 C. W. N. 161

HINDU LAW—SURETY.

1. ———————— Father's liability as surety—Whether son is liable to pay debt incurred by father as surety. Under the Hindu Law, a son is liable for a debt incurred by his father as a surety. Tukarambhat v. Gangaram Mulchand Gujar, I. L. R. 23 Bom. 454, and Maharaja of Benares v. Ramkumar Misir, I. L. R. 26 All 611, referred to. RASIK LAL MANDAL v. SINGHESWAR RAI (1912) . . . I. L. R. 39 Calc. 843

[illegible] surety-bond—Effect on son's liability. Where a Hindu executed a surety-bond stating that he would make the debtor pay within two months the amount due on a promissory note already executed by the latter and that, in default of payment by the debtor, he would pay: Held, that the surety was one for payment; that the sons of the surety were liable under Hindu Law for the payment and that it made no difference that the money had already been lent to the creditor before the surety-bond was executed. Suretyship, according to the texts of Yajnavalkya, is of three kinds, viz., for appearance, for assurance and for payment: in the last case the surety's sons are also liable to pay his surety-debts. According to the Mitakshara commentary, the suretyship by way of assurance consists of a general warranty of credit, but a surety for payment is one who says, "If he does not pay, then I myself will pay." Tukaram Bhat v. Gangaram, I. L. R. 23 Bom. 454; Rasik Lal Mandal v. Singhesuar Rai, I. L. R 39 Calc 843, referred to. THANGATHAMMAL v. ARUNACHALAM CHETTIAR (1918) I. L. R. 41 Mad. 1071

3. ———————— Surety-debt of father—Son's liability for—Order in execution against father as surety—Subsequent partition between father and son—Attachment of property allotted to son's share—Non-liability of such property—Claim petition [illegible] —Subsequent suit by son ... execution— ... 2), ss. 253, ... V of 1908), s. 53—Inapplicable where father is living. The second defendant obtained a decree for maintenance against the third defendant. Pending an appeal against the decree, the former recovered the amount in execution on the first defendant standing surety for the second defendant. The decree was reversed on appeal; the third defendant applied in execution proceedings for restitution against the first defendant as surety; an order was passed in execution for recovery of the amount against the first defendant and certain lands were attached. The plaintiff, who was the son of the first defendant, filed a claim petition objecting to the attachment on the ground that under a partition between his father and himself made subsequent to the order against the first defendant but before the attachment, the properties in question had fallen to his (plaintiff's) share and consequently were not liable to attachment. The petition was dismissed. The plaintiff thereupon brought the present suit for a declaration that the suit properties were not liable to be attached under the order passed against the first defendant. Held, that, under ss. 253 and 583 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), an order can be passed against a surety for recovering in execution proceedings the amount due from him. Held, further, that a Hindu son is liable for the surety-debt of his father, to the extent of the joint family property which came to his hands at partition. Ramachandra Padayachi v. Kondayya Chetti, I. L. R. 24 Mad. 555, followed. But a decree for such a debt obtained against the father before partition is not executable after partition against the son and the joint family property allotted to him. Krishnasami Konan v. Ramasami Ayyar, I. L. R. 22 Mad. 519, followed. S. 53 of the Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908), which provides that property, in the hands of a son, which under the Hindu Law is liable for the payment of a debt of his deceased father in respect of which a decree has been passed, shall be deemed to be assets in the hands of the legal representative only applies to the case of a deceased father; the principle of the section cannot be extended to a case where the father is living. KAMESWARAMMA v. VENKATA SUBBA ROW (1914) . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1120

HINDU LAW—SURETY—contd.

HINDU LAW—SURRENDER.

See HINDU LAW—REVERSIONER—

1. ———————— Surrender by widow—Essentials of a valid surrender—Provision for maintenance and residence of widow, whether invalidates surrender—Surrender, to be bonâ fide of entire interest in whole property and to nearest reversioner. A reasonable provision for maintenance and residence in favour of a Hindu widow, does not affect the validity of a surrender by her of her husband's estate to the nearest reversioner, provided it is a bonâ fide surrender of the entire interest of the widow in the whole estate and is not a mere device to divide the estate with the nearest reversioner. Rangasami Goundan v. Nachiappa Goundan, I. L. R. 42 Mad. 523, explained. Mussammat Bhagwat Koer v. Dhanukdhari Prasad Singh, 37 M. L. J. 513, relied on. ANGAMUTHU CHETTI v. VARATHARAJULU CHETTI (1919) . . . . I. L. R. 42 Mad. 854

2. ———————— Surrender by widow and daughter in favour of daughter's son—Deed executed by both—Stipulation for maintenance of both for their lives—Surrender, whether valid—Title of daughter's son—Title of reversioners. Where the widow and the only daughter of a deceased Hindu surrendered their interests in the estate of the deceased in favour of the daughter's son under a deed executed by them both, stipulating therein that he should maintain them during their lifetime, and, on the death of them all, the reversioners of the deceased sued to recover the estate from the father of the deceased daughter's son. Held, that the surrender was valid under the Hindu Law and operated to vest the estate in the daughter's son, and that the reversioners had no title to the property Sriramulu Naidu v. Andalammal, I. L. R. 30 Mad. 145, and Challa Subbiah Sastry v. Paluri Pattabhiramayya, I. L. R. 31 Mad. 446, referred to. CHINNASWAMI PILLAI v. APPASWAMI PILLAI (1918) . I. L. R. 42 Mad. 25

3. ———————— Essentials for validity of —Mithila Law—Two conditions must be fulfilled to make a surrender by a widow with consent of the next heir (necessity being out of the question) valid. The first is that the surrender must be total not partial. The second is that the surrender must be a bonâ fide surrender, not a device to divide the estate with the reversioners. To make an arrangement such a device, it is not necessary that the lady surrendering should take part of the property directly. CHOWDHURY SURESHWAR MISSER v. MUSAMMAT MAHESHRANI MISRAIN . . 25 C. W. N. 194

HINDU LAW—SURVIVORSHIP.

———— Reunited family, succession in—Mitakshara—Law of survivorship. Succession in a reunited family governed by Mitakshara law is by survivorship. This mode of succession is not confined to the members who actually reunited and the son of a reunited member born after the reunion is reunited and takes by survivorship. Krishtraya v. Venkatramayya, Appeal No. 170 of 1901 (unreported), followed. Ramasamy v. Venkatasan, I. L. R. 16 Mad. 440, distinguished. SAMUDRALA VARAHA NARASIMHA CHARLU v. SAMUDRALA VENKATA SINGARAMMA (1909)
I. L. R. 33 Mad. 165

HINDU LAW—TEMPLE.

See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION.

See HINDU LAW—RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT.

HINDU LAW—TRUST.

———— Trust created by will—Trust coming into being at a future date—Duty of heirs to carry out the trust—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), s. 539—Trust for public religious purpose—Dedication of property as shivarpana—Ejectment of trespassers from the trust property—Court—Jurisdiction. Where a Hindu who had directed a trust of his property for a religious purpose dies before giving effect to it, the Hindu Law authorises his heir to take steps for carrying out his directions after recovering the property from a trespasser. Where the testator merely directs that his property should be endowed for a certain purpose at a certain time by certain persons after his death, then until the arrival of the time and the complete dedication of it in the manner and for the object pointed out by the testator, the property must be regarded, in the eye of law, as part of his estate but impressed with a trust or an obligation on the part of those taking that estate as heirs to carry out his directions at the appointed time. He who succeeds him as heir has the right to do what the owner himself would have done or has directed to be done so as to complete the trust with the sanc-

HINDU LAW—TRUST—contd.

tion of the Court, if necessary. Before he can do that, he must first secure the property from the wrong-doer into whose possession it has passed. GHELABHAI GAVRISHANKAR v. UDERAM ICHARAM (1911) . . . . . I. L. R. 36 Bom. 29

HINDU LAW—WIDOW.

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT.
S. 86 . . . 4 Pat. L. J. 548

See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION JOINT FAMILY REVERSIONER "STRIDHAN".

See HINDU WIDOW.

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908, s. 11.
I. L. R. 37 Bom. 172

———— nature of possession of—

See LIMITATION ACT, 1877, SCH. II ART. 144 . I. L. R. 42 All. 152

1. ———— Alienation—Alienation by Hindu widow for legal necessity—Property sold for more than the amount needed—Reversioner if may recover on paying amount needed. Where a Hindu widow bonâ fide executed a permanent lease upon taking a selami of Rs. 125 in order to pay off a debt of her husband's amounting to Rs. 100: Held, that this was not a case in which the reversioners should be allowed to recover possession upon payment of the amount actually needed to pay off the loan. Chatra Narayan v. Uba Kunuari, 11 C. W. N. 474, and Sugeeram v. Juddoobuns, 1 B. L. R. 201, relied on. The Privy Council in the Deputy Commissioner of Kheri v. Khanjan Singh, 11 C. W. N. 474, did not intend to lay down the rule that a Hindu widow is in every instance bound to sell property for payment of a debt due from her husband for exactly the sum due to the creditor. FELARAM ROY v. BAGALANAND BANERJEE (1910) . . . . . 14 C. W. N. 895

2. ———————— Alienation by general principle which prohibits a Hindu widow's alienation of immoveable property otherwise than for legal necessity is relaxed in cases where the consent of the whole body of persons constituting the next reversion has been obtained. The reason that is, for legal necessity. Bajrangi Singh v. Manokarnika Bakhsh Singh, I. L. R. 30 All, 1, and Vinayak v. Govind, I. L. R. 25 Bom. 129, followed. The operation of the principle is ordinarily limited to transfers for consideration and cannot be ex-has made only a partial relinquishment of the estate. PILU v. BABAJI (1909)

I. L. R. 34 Bom. 165

3. ———————— Sale by widow to next reversioner of a portion of property—Validity—Conveyance of whole estate to reversioner in consideration of latter conveying back half absolutely—Validity. A Hindu widow can transfer by sale a portion of the property left to her to the then reversioner so as to confer on the latter an absolute

HINDU LAW—WIDOW—contd.

estate in such portion. Hem Chunder Sanyal v. Surnomoyi Debi, I. L. R. 22 Calc. 354; Nobo Kishore Sarma Roy v. Hari Nath Sarma Roy, I. L. R. 10 Calc. 1102; Behari Lal v. Mudho Lal Ahir Gayawal, I. L. R. 19 Calc. 236, referred to. Where it was alleged that a lady possessing the limited estate of a Hindu daughter sold the properties back absolutely to the lady, and that in pursuance of the agreement the reversioner reconveyed half the properties to the lady: Held, that the conveyances must be shown to have formed parts of one and the same transaction to be open to attack on that ground. KANURAM DEB v. KASHI CHANDRA SHARMA CHOWDHURI (1909)
14 C. W. N. 226

4. ———————— Hindu widow, transfer by, without legal necessity, whether becomes void on widow's death—Transferee's suit to eject transferee of non-transferable occupancy holding. The transfer by a Hindu widow of properties inherited from her husband when neither legal necessity justifying the sale nor consent of the reversioners has been established, does not become void, on the death of the widow. Bhagwat Doyal Singh v. Debi Doyal Sahu, 12 C. W. N. 393; s.c. I. L. R. 35 Calc. 420; Bejoy Gopal Mukherjee v. Krishna Mahishi, 1 C. W. N 424; s.c. L. R. 34 I. A. 87; I. L. R. 34 Calc 329, considered. Such a transferee can maintain a suit for ejectment against the transferee of an occupancy holding which is not transferable by custom. KISHORI PAL v. SHEIKH BHUSAL BHUIYA (1909)
14 C.W.N. 106

5. ———— Compromise by—When such compromise tantamount to alienation—Possession when adverse to reversioner. Where a widow, whose right to property is disputed, enters into a compromise with the disputant by which she merely undertakes to make no further claim to the property, such compromise does not amount to an alienation by the widow and the disputant does not hold the property under any title derived from her. Sheo Narain Sing v. Khurgo Koery and Sheo Narain Singh v. Bishen Prosad Singh, 10 C. L. R. 337, dissented from. Radha

ssession e seen widow
as representative of the separate estate or on one which leaves no separate estate to be represented. KAMBINAYANI TIMMAJI v. KAMBINAYANI SUBBARAJU (1910) . . I. L. R. 33 Mad. 473

6. ———— Debt—Debt contracted by widow for necessary purposes binding, though no formal charge created. A debt contracted by a widow as representative of the estate, for the purposes of the estate will be binding on it in the hands of the reversioners, though no formal charge on the estate is created when the creditor looks not to the personal credit of the widow but to her as representative of the estate and relies on the credit of such estate. Ramasamy Mudaliar v. Sellattammal, I. L. R. 4 Mad. 375, referred to. REGELLA JOGAYYA v. NIMUSHAKAVI VENKATARATNAMMA (1910) . . I. L. R. 33 Mad. 492

7. ———— Gift—Mitakshara—Gift by Hindu widow to daughter—Gift of immoveable property to daughter at "gowna" or "dwiragaman"

HINDU LAW—WIDOW—contd.

ceremony—Post-nuptial gifts—Reversionary heirs. It is competent to a Hindu widow governed by the Mitakshara law to make a valid gift of a reasonable portion of the immoveable property of her husband to her daughter on the occasion of the daughter's gowna ceremony; and such a gift is binding upon the reversionary heirs of her husband. CHURAMAN SAHU v. GOPI SAHU (1909) I. L. R. 37 Calc. 1

8. ——————— Gift made by Hindu widow with consent of next reversioners—Suit by more remote reversioners to set aside the gift. A gift by Hindu widow, who succeeded to the separate estate of her deceased husband of such estate, is not valid and does not create a title which cannot be impeached by the remoter reversioner because it has been made with the consent of the next reversioner. Ramphal v. Tula Kuari, I. L. R. 6 All. 116, followed. Bajrangi v. Manokarnika Bakhsh Singh, I. L. R. 30 All. 1, distinguished. Rani Anund Koeri v. The Court of Wards, L. R. 8 I. A. 14, referred to. BAKHTAWAR v. BHAGWANA (1910) . I. L. R. 32 All. 176

9. ——————— Re-marriage—Hindu Widow's Re-marriage Act, s. 2—Hindu widow—Re-marriage permitted by rules of caste—Widow not deprived of property of first husband. Where the rules of her caste recognize the right of a Hindu widow to re-marry, a second marriage has not the result of divesting her of the property of her first husband. MULA v. PARTAB (1910) I. L. R. 32 All. 489

10. ——————— Unchaste widow—Unchastity of widow no bar to her right of succession to her son. There is no authority for holding that a Hindu lady, who after her husband's death has waited and then gone to live with another man, is thereby excluded from inheritance to the estate left by her son. DAL SINGH v. MUSAWMAT DINI (1909) . . . . I. L. R. 32 All. 155

11. ——————— Family debt incurred by Hindu widow—Sale of absolute estate in satisfaction of—Legality of sale—Registration Act XVI of 1864—Interest, reasonableness of. A simple money decree was passed when the Registration Act XVI of 1864 was in force for a debt incurred by Hindu widow on account of legal necessity:—Held, the absolute estate in the properties was liable to be sold in satisfaction of the decree. If the foundation of the decree be a debt of the character, for which the widow could have bound the entire interest, it is sufficiently clear, as the result of Privy Council decisions, that even if the decree is based on the widow's contract, and does not give a charge on the husband's estate, and the reversioners had not been made parties to the suit or execution proceedings the decree-holder would be entitled to have the entire estate sold, and if in fact the entire estate was sold and bought by the purchaser, the reversioners could not defeat the purchaser's title to the property. It must depend on the circumstances in which a loan is incurred whether a provision for compound interest agreed to be paid by a Hindu widow is reasonable or not. VEERABADRA AIYAR v. MARUDAGA NACHIAR (1910) I. L. R. 34 Mad. 188

12. ——————— Payment by wife of husband's debts during his life-time—Hindu widow—Voluntary payment—Absence of proof of obligation to repay—Burden of proof. In this case which was an appeal from the decision of the High Court in the case of Himmat Bahadur v. Bhawani Kunwar, I. L. R. 30 All. 352, the Judicial Committee merely affirmed that decision on the ground that the appellant on whom the onus lay had not proved that there was any obligation on the part of the husband or his estate to pay the moneys which were paid by his wife, and dismissed the appeal. BHAWANI KUNWAR v. HIMMAT BAHADUR (1911) . . . . I. L. R. 33 All. 342

13. ——————— Power to partition—Hindu widow—Nature of estate held by two widows succeeding jointly. Whatever limitations there may be upon the power of alienation of one of two Hindu widows succeeding as such to a life interest in their husband's estate, so long as the property remains undivided, there is nothing to prevent them effecting a partition of such estate. Mussammat Sundar v. Mussammat Parbati, L. R. 16 I. A. 186 : I. L. R. 12 All. 51, and Kanni Ammal v. Ammakannu Ammal, I. L. R. 23 Mad. 504, followed. Ram Piyari v. Mulchand, I. L. R. 7 All. 114, distinguished. Bhugwandeen Doobey v. Myna Baee, 11 Moo. I. A. 487, and Gajapathi Nilamani v. Gajapathi Radhamani, I. L. R. 1 Mad. 291, referred to. DURGA DAT v. GITA (1911) I. L. R. 33 All. 443

14. ——————— Mesne profits—Mesne profits decree for, against Hindu widow—Execution if may be had against estate—Subrogation—Acts necessary or beneficial to estate—Wrongful acts. The mere fact that a decree for mesne profits has been obtained against a Hindu widow does not entitle the decree-holder to execute such decree against the estate of her husband. It is not open to a Hindu widow to commit an act of trespass and by that fact alone to impose a liability upon the estate of her husband. That estate cannot be bound by acts of the widow which are neither necessary nor beneficial to the estate. Harmanoje v. Ram Prasad, 6 C. L. J. 462, relied on. Pramada Nath v. Purna Chandra, I. L. R. 35 Calc. 691 : s.c. 12 C. W. N. 550, doubted. Giribala v. Srinath, 12 C. W. N. 769 ; Kallu v. Fyazali, I. L. R. 30 All. 394, referred to. SADASI KOER v. RAMGOBIND SINGH (1911) 15 C. W. N. 857

15. ——————— Mesne profits—Decree against Hindu widow for—Husband's estate when bound. Where a Hindu widow in good faith and for the benefit of her husband's estate took possession of property from which she was subsequently ejected, the estate of the husband is liable for mesne profits due by the widow. LALJI SAHAY v. GOBERDHONE JHA (1909) . 15 C. W. N. 859

16. ——————— Partition—Widow—Co-widow—Right to enforce partition when joint enjoyment impossible. Although Hindu widows taking a joint interest in the inheritance of their husband have no right to enforce an absolute partition of the joint estate between them, yet where the widows cannot go on peaceably in the enjoyment of the property, they can by mutual agreement or otherwise separately hold the property, although they have no right to partition in the proper sense of the term, and the share of one will go by right of survivorship to the other notwithstanding the separation. Gajapathi Nilamani v. Gajapathi Radhamani, I. L. R. 1 Mad. 290 : Kathaperumal v. Venkabai, I. L. R. 2 Mad. 194. and Bhagwandeen Dubey v. Myna Baee, 11 Moo. I. A. 487, referred to. CHHITTAR KUNWAR v. GAURA KUNWAR (1911) I. L. R. 34 All. 189

HINDU LAW—WIDOW—contd.

17. ———— Gift—Hindu widow—Suit by remote reversioner to set aside alienation by widow—Immediate reversioner a female having a life estate only—Acceleration of estate. N died leaving a widow W, a daughter R D, and a daughter's son K S. W during the life-time of R D, made a gift of the property to K S Held, on suit by other reversioners more remote than K S for a declaration that the gift was not binding on them, that the suit would lie The question of acceleration of K S's estate would not arise because at the date of the gift the donee was not the next reversioner. Bal Gobind v. Ram Kumar I. L. R. 6 All. 431; Hanuman Pandit v Jota Kunwar, All. Weekly Notes, 1908, 907, and Abinash Chandra Mazumdar v. Harinath Shaha, I. L. R. 32 Calc. 62, followed. Madari v. Malki I. L. R. 6 All. 428, and Ishwar Narain v Janki, I. L. R. 15 All. 132, dissented from. Rani Anand Koer v. The Court of Wards L. R. 8 I. A., 14; I. L. R. 6 Calc. 764, referred to. RAJA DEI v. UMED SINGH (1912) I. L. R. 34 All. 207

18. ———— Reversioners—Hindu widow—Decree fairly obtained against widow binding on reversioners, although the widow did not contest the suit. A decree in a suit against a Hindu widow, respecting property of her husband, of which she is in possession as such widow, may be binding on the reversioners notwithstanding that the widow did not contest the suit, provided that the plaintiff's case was properly and fairly stated and the widow had reasonable opportunities, of which she did not choose to avail herself, of defending the suit. GUR NANAK PRASAD v. JAI NARAIN LAL (1912)

I. L. R. 34 All. 385

19. ———— Maintenance—Widow—Arrears of maintenance—Demand and refusal—Residence in deceased husband's family house—Residence elsewhere for improper purpose. Arrears of maintenance cannot be refused to a Hindu widow in consequence of failure to prove demand and refusal. A Hindu widow is not bound to reside in her deceased husband's family house and does not forfeit her right to maintenance by residing elsewhere, unless she leaves the house for an improper purpose. Ambabai kom Balaji Vinayak Kale v. Ramchandra Balaji Kale, (1895), P. J. 41, followed. Girianna Murkundi Naik v. Honama, I. L. R. 15 Bom. 236, referred to. PARWATIBAI v. CHATRU LIMBAJI (1911) I. L. R. 36 Bom. 131

20. ———— Right to maintenance—Grant of arrears—Exigencies of the case. By Hindu Common Law, the right of a widow to maintenance is one accruing from time to time according to her wants and exigencies. The grant of arrears of maintenance depends on the wants and exigencies of the widow as proved in each particular case. RANGUBAI v. SUBAJI RAMCHANDRA (1912)

I. L. R. 36 Bom. 383

21. ———— Alienation by—Transfer to reversioner—Condition that properties should not be transferred during widow's life and maintenance paid out of income—Deed of settlement—Restraint on alienation—Transfer by reversioners valid but subject to widow's right to maintenance—Notice. Where a Hindu widow by a deed of family settlement transferred properties inherited from her husband to the latter's reversionary heirs subject to the conditions: (i) that a fixed monthly allowance should be paid to her out of the income of the estate transferred, and (ii) that the reversionary heirs should have no right to transfer any in which such interests was to be applied or enjoyed by him within the meaning of s 11 of the Transfer of Property Act. Quære: Whether the doctrine of English law that a condition or conditional limitation upon alienation, limited in time, is bad when attached to a vested interest is applicable in view of s. 10 of the Transfer of Property Act. Held, as to the other condition, that persons in whose favour the reversionary heirs executed mortgages must be taken to have had notice of all the covenants in the deed of settlement and that the widow was entitled to a declaration that her right to receive maintenance under that deed was in no way affected by the mortgages. CHAMARU SAHU v. SONA KOER (1911) . 16 C. W. N. 99

22. ———— Widow's estate—Widow, agent appointed by—Profits, realised but not paid, accountability for, to reversioner—Widow's savings. An agent appointed by a Hindu widow is bound to account to the reversioner for profits realised by him in the widow's life-time and not paid to her. Such profits cannot be presumed to be the widow's stridhan but must be treated as her savings which not having been disposed of followed the estate. Soorjemoney v. Dinobundoo, 9 Moo I. A. 123; Revett Carnac v. Jusbai, I. L. R. 10 Bom. 428; Paddo Monee v. Dwarka Nath, 25 W. R. 335, referred to. Isri Dut v. Hansbutti, I. L. R. 10 Calc. 324, followed. SRIDHAR CHATTOPADHYA v. KALIPADA CHUCKERBUTTY (1911)

16 C. W. N. 106

23. ———— Widow's estate—Accumulations, rights of a Hindu widow to—Husband's property repurchased out of income, if absolute property of the widow—Unrealised rents, if absolute estate of the widow and assets liable for her personal debts. The true test to determine whether accumulations in the hands of a Hindu widow were her absolute property or an accretion to the husband's estate, is the intention of the widow, i.e., whether she intended to treat them as part of her husband's estate or as temporary savings to be spent by her subsequently. Where a howda which was part of the husband's estate had passed into the hands of a stranger and had been recovered by the widow out of the savings of the estate, the inference was that she intended to treat it as part of her husband's estate. Unrealised rents in the hands of tenants cannot be treated as temporary savings by the widow on her own account, but should be looked upon as an accretion to her husband's estate. Rivett Carnac

16 C. W. N. 834

24. ———— Widow's estate—Rent-decree against Hindu widow and her co-sharers, paid off by latter—Decree for contribution by latter against widow—Sale in execution of decree if affects reversionary interest—Personal liability

HINDU LAW—WIDOW—contd.

his widow and other co-sharers and the decree obtained in the suit was discharged by the other co-sharers: Held, that a sale of the share of the taluk held by the widow in execution of a decree obtained by her co-sharers in a contribution suit against her, did not affect the title of the reversionary heir. The liability of the widow for the rent in question should be regarded as a personal liability which ought not to be held to attach to the reversion unless and until the landlord proceeded to bring the tenure to sale under the special provisions of the rent law. Brojo Lal Sen v. Jiban Krishna Roy, I. L. R. 26 Calc. 200; Baijun, Doobey v. Brij Bhookun Lall, I. L. R. 1 Calc. 133 s. c. 24 W. R. 306; L. R. 2 I. A. 275. relied on. MAHOMED SADAT ALI MILKI v. HARA SUNDARI DEBYA (1912) . . . 16 C. W. N. 1070

25. ———— Mortgage by—Widow of part of the estate—Legal necessity—Presumption— Reversioner. Alienation by way of mortgage by a Hindu widow, as heiress, of a portion of the estate of her deceased husband without proof either of legal necessity or of reasonable enquiry and honest belief as to its existence, but with the consent of the next reversioner for the time being, will be valid and binding on the actual reversioner, if the presumption of legal necessity or of reasonable enquiry and honest belief raised by such consent is not rebutted by more cogent proof. Nobokishore Sarma Roy v. Hari Nath Sarma Roy, I. L. R. 10 Calc. 1102, considered. Bajrangi Singh v. Manokarnika Baksh Singh, I. L. R. 30 All. 1; L. R. 35 I. A. 1, referred to. DEBI PROSAD CHOWDHURY v. GOLAP BHAGAT (1913) I. L. R. 40 Calc. 721

26. ———— Compromise—Followed by an award settling disputes as to the property of various members of the family—Effect of such award on reversionary interests. Where the widow of one and the son of the other of two brothers, Hindus separated in estate, entered into a compromise, which was found to be reasonable in its nature, concerning the partition of the property of the two brothers, and an award was made on the basis of such compromise, it was held that it was not open to the reversioner to dispute the validity of the compromise and award, specially when a considerable time had elapsed and most of the property had changed hands meanwhile. Khunni Lal v. Gobind Krishna Narain, I. L. R. 33 All. 356, and Mohan Lal v. Chuttan Singh, 10 All. L. J. 101, followed. BIHARI LAL v. DAUD HUSSAIN (1913) . . I. L. R. 35 All. 240

27. ———— Alienation by—In respect of the property of her husband—Transfer of debt secured by a mortgage. A Hindu widow in possession as such of property which had been the property of her husband in his life-time can always alienate her life interest in such property and a transfer by her of the corpus of the property without legal necessity and not for a pious purpose, is not void but only viodable at the instance of the reversioners. A Hindu widow, without legal necessity, transferred a mortgage debt and the security therefore which had been the property of her late husband, to D who thereafter sued to recover the debt by sale of the mortgaged property: Held, that the transferee acquired all the rights which the widow had and could exercise during her life-time in respect of the mortgage, one of these being to recover the debt. Bijoy Gopal Mukerji v. Krishna Mahishi Debi, I. L. R. 34 Calc. 329, referred to. DURGA KUNWAR v. MATU MAL (1913) . . I. L. R. 35 All. 311

28. ———— Mortgage by—Suit for declaration that mortgage by widow did not effect plaintiff's reversionary rights—Plaintiffs not nearest reversioners—Pleadings. Where plaintiffs sued as next reversioners for a declaration that a mortgage executed by a Hindu widow was not binding on them, and it was found that as a matter of fact even the nearest of the plaintiffs could only succeed to the estate if four males and one female died in his life-time: Held, that the plantiffs ought not to have a decree. MEGHU RAI v. RAM KHELAWAN RAI (1913) . I. L. R. 35 All. 326

29. ———— Conversion—Caste Disabilities Removal Act, s. 1—Hindu Widow's Remarriage Act (XV of 1856), s. 2—Hindu widow—subsequent remarriage—Widow's estate not divested—Hindu law. The widow of a separated Hindu became a convert to Mahomedanism and married a Mahomedan: Held, that the widow did not thereby lose her interest in the property of her late husband in view of the provisions of Act XXI of 1850 nor did s. 2 of the Act XV of 1856 affect the situation inasmuch as that section applied to Hindu widows only. Khunni Lal v. Gobind Krishna Narain, I. L. R. 33 All. 356, followed. Matungini Gupta v. Ram Rutton Roy I. L. R. 19 Calc. 289, dissented from. ABDUL AZIZ KHAN v. NIRMA (1913) . . I. L. R. 35 All. 466

30. ———— Estate—Investments by widow from income of husband's estate—Whether or not such investments become accretions to the husband's estate. Where immoveable property is purchased by a Hindu widow in possession as such of the estate of her late husband out of the income of that estate, such property does not necessarily become an accretion to the husband's estate. The widow has full power to dispose of it during her life-time, and it is only when she manifests during her life-time a clear intention to treat it as an accretion to her husband's estate, or allows it at her death to remain undisposed of, that such property will become part of that estate. WAHID ALI KHAN v. TORI RAM (1913) . . . . I. L. R. 35 All. 551

31. ———— Widow's estate—Nature of interest arising out of contract with surviving co-parceners. P and C were undivided brothers of a joint Hindu family. P died. C entered into an agreement with L, the widow of P, whereby P was to receive a younger son of C (if such should be born) in adoption or in default a half share in the family properties. No adoption took place. C died leaving his widow B. B and L effected a partition of the properties in equal shares. The plaintiff was a daughter of P by another wife. Held, that the half share taken by L was a widow's interest and that it would pass on her death to her husband's reversioners and the plaintiff being the nearest reversioner was entitled to succeed. A woman's estate can be obtained by a Hindu female not only by inheritance but also by contract of parties, by a grant, or by prescription. VENGAMMA v. CHELAMAYYA (1913) I. L. R. 36 Mad. 484

32. ———— Alienation by—with consent of reversioner of part of estate—Effect—Presumption of necessity when defeated—Several limited owners, arrangement between, how long effective—

HINDU LAW—WIDOW—contd.

Alienation of her separated share for legal necessity—Legal necessity, if to be determined with reference to whole estate or the share. The Full Bench in Debi Prasad Choudhuri v. Golap Bhagat, I. L. R. 40 Calc. 721; 17 C. W. N. 701, has decided that the doctrine of relinquishment and acceleration cannot apply to partial transfers by a limited owner, which can be supported only by legal necessity. The consent of the next reversioner is merely strong presumptive evidence of the necessity. The propriety of an alienation with the consent of the next reversioner may come in question not only with reference to the conduct of the widow, whether or not she was justified by necessity, but also with reference to the conduct of the next reversioner, whether or not his conduct was honest. If, in the absence of legal necessity, he engineered the transaction to suit his own ends and for his own immediate gain, his consent would lose all its virtue. The transaction would stand no higher than a partial alienation in his favour and would have to be judged from that standpoint. Nevertheless, whatever might be said of the conduct of the widow or the next reversioner, the transferee, if he made due enquiry and acted bonâ fide, would still be entitled to the benefit of the equitable rule laid down by the Privy Council in Huncomanpershad v Babooee Munraj, 6 Moo. I. A. 393, and now enacted in s. 38 of the Transfer of Property Act. Nor would the antecedent mismanagement of the estate affect him unless he was in some way a contributory party thereto. If two widows or two daughters taking jointly the estate of their deceased husband or father make an arrangement for separate possession and enjoyment. the arrangement will [illegible]

[illegible] of a portion [illegible] sion should be determined with reference to the estate as a whole and not with reference to the separated portion in her possession. SHYAMA DAS ROY CHOWDHURY v. RADHIKA PRASAD CHATTERJI (1918) . . . . 22 C. W. N. 846

[illegible]

[illegible] in 1872 his nephew obtained a [illegible] Act XXVII of 1860 as sole survivor of his joint family; the widow of the deceased opposed the application and alleged a partition in 1864. By agreements made in 1874 the widow accepted the decision, recognized the nephew's title, and was granted by him a maintenance allowance which she continued to receive until her death in 1904. The nephew died in 1894 and the estate passed under his will to the first appellant. In 1907 the respondent sued to recover the estate as heir to the holder who died in 1872 upon his widow's death, and proved that a partition had taken place in 1864: Held,—that the widow's agreement of 1874, in conjunction with her acceptance of maintenance till 1904, amounted to a complete relinquishment of the estate to the nephew, then the next reversioner, and that the respondant's claim accordingly failed. Rangasami Gounden v. Nachiappa Gounden L. R. 46 I. A. 72, applied. (ii) A Hindu by his will authorized his widow to adopt a son if no male or female child should be born to him. He died without issue, but had a posthumous daughter. After the death of the posthumous daughter, the testator's widow purported to adopt a son to him: Held, that in construing the will effect could not be given to a presumption that the testator desired that a son should be adopted to him, since authority to adopt in the events which happened was clearly excluded by the language used. BHAGWAT KOER v. DHANUKDHARI PRASHAD SINGH (1919)

HINDU LAW—WIDOW—contd.

L. R. 46 I. A. 259

34. ———— Alienation—Consent of next reversioner—Validity of alienation—Legal necessity need not be proved—Registration Act (XVI of 1908), s. 17, cl. (d)—Document showing assent—Spes successionis—Registration not compulsory. A Hindu widow who had inherited property from her husband alienated a portion of it. Her only daughter assented to the alienation a few days after by a writing which was not registered. After the deaths of the widow and the daughter, an heir of the daughter sued to set aside the alienation on the ground that it was not made for legal necessity The Court found the legal necessity not proved, and decreed the claim. The defendant having appealed —Held, that the [illegible]

[illegible] its date no more than spes successionis [illegible] MALLIK SAHIB v. MALLIKARJUNAPPA (1913)

I. L. R. 38 Bom. 224

35. ———— Alienation—Settlement of dispute by compromise—Hindu widow who is party if thereby alienates property in excess [illegible] the daughters [illegible] claiming to be solely entitled to the estate, [illegible] settled by a compromise, each party getting thereunder a share in the family property. In a suit by a daughter of the alleged adopted son (as one of the [illegible] expectant on her mother's [illegible] word an alienation by a limited owner of the family property, but a family settlement in which each party takes a share of the family property by virtue of the independent title which is, to that extent, and by way of compromise, admitted by the other parties. Lala Khunni Lal v. Kunwar Gobind Krishna Narain, L. R. 38 I. A. 87: s. c. 15 C. W. N. 545, followed. HIRAN BIBI v. SOHAN BIBI (1914) . . . 18 C. W. N. 929

36. ———— Alienation by Hindu widow—Suit by vendee to recover property after widow's death from stranger—Proof of legal necessity, if necessary. An alienation by a Hindu widow without legal necessity is voidable but not void, ar[illegible] that term th[illegible] sioner) [illegible] it stands good, and the alienee is entitled to recover possession from a stranger without being required to prove legal necessity. Bejoy Gopal v. Krishna Mahishi, I. L. R. 25 Calc. 1, Madhusudan

HINDU LAW—WIDOW—contd.

v. Rooke, 11 C. W. N. 424, referred to. DEONANDAN PERSHAD v. UDIT NARAIN SINGH (1914)
18 C. W. N. 940

37. ——————— Alienation—Legal necessity—Pilgrimage to Gaya—Feast given after return from Gaya, whether legal necessity—Reversioner—Suit for declaration that alienation was without legal necessity—No offer to reimburse money spent on legal necessity—Suit whether maintainable. A Hindu widow is competent to alienate her husband's estate for expenses in connection with a feast given to Brahmins, etc., after return from pilgrimage to Gaya. Makhan Lal v. Gyan Singh, I. L. R. 33 All. 255, not followed. Quœre: Whether a declaratory suit can be maintained by a reversioner who does not offer in the plaint to reimburse the purchaser to the extent that the sale was for necessity. DINANATH GHOSH v. HRISHIKESH PAL (1914) . . 18 C. W. N. 1303

38. ——————— Alienation in part for necessity—Reversioner suing for declaration as to invalidity of sale, on payment of binding portion of the consideration—Absence of offer to pay, if fatal to suit—Conditional declaration—Form of decree. When a reversioner, during the life-time of the widow, sues for a declaration that an alienation in part for necessity, is invalid beyond the life-time of the widow, on payment of the binding portion of the consideration: Held, that the suit should not fail on the mere ground of the absence of an offer in the plaint to pay the amount that was binding on the reversioner. Singham Setti Sanjivi Kondayya v. Draupadi Boyamma, I. L. R. 31 Mad. 153, not followed. Bhagwat Dayal Singh v. Bebi Dayal Sahu, I. L. R. 35 Calc. 420, applied. Held, also, that a conditional decree may be passed. Mahomed Shumshool v. Shewukram, L. R. 2 I. A. 7, referred to. Per SUNDRA AYYAR J.—The uncertainty regarding the person who would be entitled to succeed the widow is no ground for refusing a declaration regarding the character of the alienation, and a declaration may be made that the alienation is invalid as a whole, but that on equitable grounds the alienee should have a charge dec'ared in his favour for the binding portion of the consideration. Isri Dutt Koer v. Hansbutti Koerain, L. R. 10 I. A. 150, applied. Semble: The proper form of the decree in such suits is merely to make a declaration that the alienee has a charge for a certain sum of money. PAPARAYUDU v. RATTAMMA (1914) . I. L. R. 37 Mad. 275

39. ——————— Right of reversioner to sue—Suit to set aside alienation and for possession—Nearest reversionary heir alleged to be precluded from suing In this case it was held (affirming the decision of the High Court at Allahabad that the appellant could not maintain the suit (to set aside an alienation by a widow and for possession) because a nearer reversionary heir was in existence whom he had failed to prove to be precluded from suing. The general rules laid down in Rani Anund Koer v. The Court of Wards, I. L. R. 6 Calc. 764; L. R. 8 I. A. 14, followed. JHANDU v. TARIF (1914)
I. L. R. 37 All. 45

40. ——————— Rights of widow in respect of the property of her deceased husband.—A Hindu widow in possession as such of her husband's estate is not liable to account to anyone but is at liberty to do what she pleased with the property during her life-time, provided only that she does not injure the reversion. RENKA v. BHOLA NATH (1915) . I. L. R. 37 All. 177

HINDU LAW—WIDOW—contd.

41. ——————— Alienation—by widow of her husband's estate—Surrender by widow to nearest reversioner, subsequent to alienation—Effect of surrender on alienations. A surrender by a Hindu widow of her interest in her husband's estate in favour of the nearest male reversioner cannot affect alienations, which were made by her prior to the surrender and which though not binding on the reversioners were binding on her for her life. Sreeramulu v. Kristamma, I. L. R. 26 Mad. 143, followed. Singaram Chetty v. Kalianasundaram Pillai (1914), Mad. W. N. 735, referred to. Ramakrishna v. Tripura Bai I. L. R. 33 Bom. 88, dissented from. SUBAMMA v. SUBBRAMANYAM (1915) . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 1035

42. ——————— Decree against for husband's debt—Attachment of property—Previous alienation by widow for no justfiable cause—Attachment and sale thereupon, effective to convey reversionary interest. A plaintiff who had obtained a decree against a Hindu widow in respect of a debt due by her late husband attached a certain property as belonging to her husband which she had sold to a stranger several years before the attachment, for no purpose binding on the reversioner. Held, that the decree holder was entitled to attach and bring to sale the reversionary interest in the property, subject to the enjoyment thereof by the alienee during the widow's life-time. CHIAMBARAMMA v. HUSSAINNAMMA (1915) . . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 565

43. ——————— Compromise—Rights of reversioners. A Hindu widow in possession as such of her husband's estate brought a suit for possession of two shops on the allegation that they formed part of her husband's estate. The suit was compromised, the effect of which was that the widow recognized the defendants as full proprietors and they, on the other hand, had to pay a certain sum of money. To raise this money they mortgaged the two shops. The mortgagee brought a suit for sale and the shops were purchased by one H, at the auction sale. After the death of the widow the reversioners of her deceased husband brought a suit to recover possession of the aforesaid shops. Held, that a compromise entered into by a Hindu widow, with a limited estate, resulting in the alienation of property forming part of her husband's estate cannot bind the reversioners, unless it is shown that it was for such purposes as would justify a sale by a Hindu widow. —Imrit Konwar v. Roop Narain Singh, 6 C. L. R. 76, Musammat Raj Kunwar alias Sheo Murat Koer v. Musammat Inderjit Kunwar, 5 B. L. R. 585, Rajlakhshmi Dasee v. Katyayani Dassee, I. L. R. 38 Calc. 639, Khunni Lal v. Gobind Krishna Narain, I. L. R. 33 All. 356, Mahadei v. Baldeo, I. L. R. 30 All. 75, and Behari Lal v. Daud Husain, I. L. R. 35 All. 240, referred to. KANHAIYA LAL v. KISHORI LAL (1916) . I. L. R. 38 All. 679

44. ——————— Maintenance—Secured by deed—Subsequent unchastity—Living chaste at the time of suit, effect of. Where in a suit by a Hindu widow against her deceased husband's brother for maintenance at the rate fixed by agreement, it was found that the plaintiff had since lived an immoral life but reformed her ways at the time of the suit: Held, that she lost her right to the rate fixed in the deed but was entitled to a

HINDU LAW—WIDOW—contd.

starving allowance. Texts and case law reviewed. SATHYABHAMA v. KESAVA CHARYA (1915)

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 658

45. ———— Gift by widow in favour of the next presumptive reversioner—Of entire property of husband. It is competent to the widow of a separated Hindu, being in possession as such widow of her husband's property, to make a gift of the whole of it in favour of the next presumptive reversioner. Bajrangi Sing v. Manokarnika Bakhsh Singh, I. L. R. 30 All. 1, and Bhupal Ram v. Lachma Kuar, I. L. R. 11 All. 253, referred to. Bakhtawar v. Bhagwanta, I. L. R. 32 All, 176, distinguished. SHAM RATHI RAI v. JAICHHA KUNWAR (1917) . . I. L. R. 39 All. 520

46. ———— Sale of husband's property by one of two widows—Right of succession of the other—Purchaser not entitled to refund of money spent on improvements. A Hindu died leaving two widows. The widows, as a matter of convenience, divided the property of their deceased husband between them. One of the widows sold a house which had fallen to her share. She then died, and her co-widow sued to recover possession of the house. Held, that the purchaser could not claim a refund of money spent in improving the property so purchased. NANDI v. SARUP LAL (1917) . . . I. L. R. 39 All. 463

47. ———— Transfer by widow to reversioner—Acceleration of succession. Where a Hindu widow transfers an estate to the nearest reversioner, such transfer, in order to have the legal effect of accelerating the succession, must be of the whole estate which the widow possesses. The doctrine does not apply to the transfer of a portion of the estate, though it be of the widow's entire interest in that portion. Behari Lal v. Madho Lal Ahir Gayawal, I. L. R. 19 Calc. 236, Pilu v. Babaji, I. L. R. 34 Bom. 165, and Marudamuthu Nadan v. Srinivasa Pillai, I. L. R. 21 Mad. 128, referred to. The rule laid down by the Privy Council in Bajrangi Singh v. Manokarniku Bakhsh Singh, I. L. R. 30 All. 1, that a transfer made by a Hindu widow with the consent of the nearest reversioner will take effect as against the more remote reversioner, is applicable to cases of transfer for consideration. It has not been extended to a case where a transfer has been made by way of gift. If the transfer be with the consent of the nearest reversioner, it takes effect because it affords evidence of the propriety of the transaction, in other words, it justifies the transaction on the ground of legal necessity. KHAWANI SINGH v. CHET RAM (1916). . I. L. R. 39 All. 1

48. ———— Acceleration of estate by the [illegible] to next reversioners—Entire int [illegible] Al [illegible] tion—Divesting of estate by adoption—[illegible] cannot take advantage of his own fraud—Maxim. A Hindu widow, who was in possession of her husband's property, mortgaged it with defendant No. 1 in 1893. The plaintiffs, who were next reversioners, sued to set aside the alienation on the ground that it was not supported by consideration. The suit ended in an award by arbitrators, which provided: (i) that the plaintiffs were entitled to redeem the mortgage; (ii) that defendant No. 1 was thereupon to reconvey the property to the plaintiffs; (iii) that the widow was to surrender to the plaintiffs her right, title and interest in the property and (iv) that out of the property so reconveyed the plaintiffs were to give to the widow a house and eighteen bighas of land for her life as maintenance. No decree was passed in terms of the award; and parties took no action under the award. In 1906, defendant No. 1 created a sub-mortgage on the property; and executed a rent-note to the sub-mortgagee. Sometime afterwards, the plaintiffs took a reconveyance of the property from the defendant No. 1 but without making any payment to him; they paid off the sub-mortgage; and they took an assignment from the sub-mortgagee of his rights under the sub-mortgage. In 1909, the widow adopted defendant No. 2 who was the natural son of defendant No. 1. Defendant No. 2 was placed in possession of the property by his natural father. The plaintiffs filed the present suit to recover possession of the property. Held, dismissing the suit, that the award which was the basis of plaintiffs' claim, could not be supported either as an acceleration by the widow of her interest, which to be valid required the surrender of the whole of her interest in the property, or as an alienation which was not for a legal necessity and which therefore was not binding on defendant No. 2. Held, further, that defendant No. 2 was not precluded from contesting the plaintiffs' claim to possession, inasmuch as he was not guilty of any fraud at all, and as he had not thereby gained any advantage in the special issue to be determined between him and the plaintiffs. An acceleration by a Hindu widow enjoying a life-estate in favour of the next reversioner is valid only if the accelera*tion is of the whole of her interest in the pro*perty. In an alienation by a Hindu widow of her husband's estate, the consent of the reversioners is no more than a factor in the proof of legal necessity. A true acceleration differs from alienation for legal necessity. The two legal notions are not only irreconcilable, but virtually antagonistic. MOTI RAIJI v. LALDAS JEBHAI (1916) . . . . I. L. R. 41 Bom. 93

49. ———— Right of residence in joint family house—Effect of alienation during the life-time of widow's husband. When a right of residence or maintenance comes into existence in favour of the widow of a man who was lately a member of a joint Hindu family, she takes that right in the property as it stands at the time of her husband's death. She cannot set up her right of maintenance or residence as against alienations effected during the life-time of her husband. Amdhia Prasad v. Jasoda, 1887, All [illegible] owed daughter- [illegible] the plea of the [illegible] by the father-in-law during [illegible] time. Sohni v. Mohan Kuer, 9 A. L. J. 23, followed. RAMZAN v. RAM DAIYA (1917) . I. L. R. 40 All. 96

50. ———— Gift—Suit to contest alienation made by widow—Plaintiff not nearest reversioner. In order that a reversioner may be able to maintain a suit to contest an alienation, made by a Hindu widow, of her husband's property he must either be the next presumptive reversioner or he must show that the nearer reversioners are colluding with the widow. Rani Anand Kunwar v. The Court of Wards, I. L. R. 6 Calc. 764, and Meghu Rai v. Ram Khelawan R[illegible]

HINDU LAW—WIDOW—contd.

All, 376, followed. Raja Dei v. Umed Singh, I. L. R. 34 All. 207, distinguished. GUMANAN v. JAHANGIRA (1918) . . I. L. R. 40 All. 518

51. ———— Transfer by assignee from widow—Right of suit of reversioner—Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), s. 42—Limitation—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Sch. I, Arts. 120 and 125. An alienation made by the transferee from a Hindu female in possession with a limited estate, or by a stranger in possession holding under her, may furnish the nearest reversioner with a cause of action for a declaratory suit equally with an alienation made by the Hindu female herself. To such a suit the limitation applicable is not that prescribed by Art. 125, but that prescribed by Art. 120 of the first schedule to the Indian Limitation Act, 1908. BALBHADDAR PRASAD v. PRAG DAT (1919)

I. L. R. 41 All. 492

52. ———— Reversioners—Whether award or compromise decree against widow binds reversioners. The principle that a decree fairly obtained against a Hindu widow binds the reversioners, does not apply to a compromise or an award decree, not shown to have been fairly obtained against the Hindu widow as representing the estate. Jeram v. Veerbai, 5 Bom. L. R. 885, followed. RAMA BIN SANTU v. DAJI BIN NARU (1918) . . . I. L. R. 43 Bom. 249

53. ———— Alienation for religious purposes.—For purposes which are supposed to conduce to the spiritual welfare of her husband a widow has a larger power of disposition than she possesses of a purely worldly purposes. KUNJ BIHARI LAL v. LALTU SINGH

I. L. R. 41 All. 130

53(a). ———————— Whether after-born son divests widow's estate—A sale by a widow was held good notwithstanding the birth of a son after the death of the father as the rights of a son (in Hindu Law) in the estate of his father date from his birth HIRA v. BUTA.

I. L. R. 1 Lah. 128

53(b) ———— Power to make permanent lease—Benefit of estate—Acquisition of tenant's rights—Accretion to husband's estate—Onus on appellant to show error in judgment appealed from. A permanent lease executed by a Hindu widow does not bind the reversioners unless legal necessity and benefit to the estate are proved. The mere fact that the rent and purchase price represent the fair market value does not of itself prove necessity. Tenant's rights acquired by a Hindu widow are, in the absence of proof that they were acquired out of the accumulated savings of her income and were dealt with as her separate property, accretions to her husband's estate and as such cannot be sold by her so as to give a title as against the reversioners. The burden of showing that the judgment appealed from is wrong lies on the appellant. NABAKISHORE MANDAL v. UPENDRA KISHORE MANDAL.

26 C. W. N. 322

54. ———— Alienation by—With consent of immediate reversioner—Actual reversioners, his sons, if estopped from recovering—Presumption of legal necessity, rebuttal of—Proof of legal necessity —Recitals in deeds, value of—What is legal necessity, mere existence of debt, if. Where the conveyance by a Hindu widow covers a portion only of the estate left by her husband, the transferee can successfully resist the claim only on proof of legal necessity or such bonâ fide enquiry as entitles him to protection from a Court of equity. In a suit by the reversionary heir to recover the property from the alienee, the burden of proving that there was legal necessity or bonâ fide inquiry rests in the first instance on the person who claims title from the widow. Recitals in deeds as to the existence of such necessity cannot by themselves be relied upon for the purpose of proving the assertion of fact which they contain. The existence of necessity must be substantiated by evidence aliunde. It is not sufficient for the transferee to prove that there were some debts payable by the deceased full owner or his widow. The true rule is that the creditor to protect himself, where he is not shown to have made a bonâ fide enquiry, must prove that there was an actual pressure on the estate or danger to be averted, such as a threatened suit on a genuine debt, an outstanding decree or an impending sale which the widow had no funds to meet. Where, however, the alienation is made with the concurrence of or jointly with the next reversioner, a presumption arises in favour of the validity of the transaction. The circumstances under which the consent was given must be carefully scrutinised and if it transpires that the transaction was in essence a device to divide the estate with the reversioner his consent will lose its probative value. The actual reversioners are not estopped from suing to recover property alienated by the deceased widow of the full owner by the fact that their father as immediate reversioner had concurred in the alienation and this even when they had after the death of their father and before the death of the widow taken by inheritance land transferred by the widow to their father by way of gift. RAMESH CHANDRA CHAKRAVARTY v. SASHI BHUSAN UPADHYA (1919)

23 C. W. N. 1025

55. ———————— A widow alienated certain property for a purpose not binding on the inheritance and thereafter adopted a son. Held, that the alienation was not binding on the son and he could sue to have the alienation set aside. VAIDYANATHA SASTRI v. SAVITHRI AMMAL . . I. L. R. 41 Mad. 75

56. ———— Co-widows—Relinquishment by one in favour of the other—Predecease of the latter before the former—Male reversioners—Right of inheritance, whether accelerated—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Art. 141—Suit by alienee from male reversioners, more than twelve years from death of latter widow, but within twelve years of the death of surviving widow—Limitation. Where a Hindu widow gave up all her rights in her husband's estate in favour of her co-widow, and the latter predeceased the former, the right of succession of the male reversioners to the estate is not accelerated so as to entitle them to succeed to it immediately on the death of the widow in whose favour the relinquishment was made. A suit by the reversioners to set aside an alienation by the latter widow would be within time, under Art. 141 of the Limitation Act, if brought within twelve years from the death of the last surviving widow. CHANGAPPA v. BURADAGUNTA (1920)

I. L. R. 43 Mad. 855

57. ———— Will, construction of—Adoption excluded by language of will—Acceptance by

HINDU LAW—WIDOW—contd.

widow for long period after recognition of title of the next reversioner. It is settled by long practice and confirmed by a series of decisions that a Hindu widow can renounce the estate of her husband in favour of the nearest reversioner, and by a voluntary act efface herself from the succession as effectively as if she had then died. This voluntary self-effacement is sometimes referred to as a surrender, sometimes as a relinquishment or abandonment of her rights, and it may be effected by any process having that effect, provided that there is a bonâ fide and total renunciation of the widow's right to hold the property. Rangasami Gounden v. Nachiappa Gounden, I. L. R. 42 Mad 523; L R. 46 I. A. 72, followed. Three Hindu brothers, S, B and J, lived as a joint-family governed by Mitakshara law. J died in 1872 without issue leaving a widow A. S died subsequently in 1872 without male issue, leaving a widow and two daughters, and B died on 9th February 1874, leaving a son M. After J's death B applied to the District Court under Act XXVII of 1860 for a certificate to collect his debts alleging that the three brothers had been joint and that he was entitled as survivor to J's estate. J's widow A opposed the application, claiming that a partition between the three brothers had taken place in 1864, and consequently at the date of J's death they were separate and she was entitled to succeed to her husband's estate. The District Judge decided that the partition had not taken place, that the brothers were joint and granted the certificate to M, his father B being then dead. Though not precluded from raising the question of title, A accepted the contest the matter, and M took possession of the estate. M died on 21st June 1894, leaving no issue, but leaving two widows, BK and R, and having made a will, by which he authorised his widows or the survivor of them to adopt a son only "if no male or female child should be borne to him." His widow, R, on 11th October 1894, gave birth to a posthumous daughter, who died in 1895, her mother, R in 1899, and A, widow of J, in 1904, having received maintenance out of the estate up to her death. On 19th February 1906 BK, purporting to act under a power conferred upon her by her husband's will, adopted a son to her husband. In suits brought in 1907 by D, the present respondent, who was the next reversionary heir to the estate of J and M, against BK and the adopted son, the appellants, to recover those estates it was proved that a partition had taken place in 1864. Held, that there was a complete self-effacement by A in 1874, which precluded her from asserting any further claim to the estate. Her agreement of that date, followed by the acceptance for 30 years of maintenance, out of the estate under the terms of the agreement amounted to a complete relinquishment by her of her estate in favour of M, the title of whose representatives was established, and the suit was

I. L. R. 47 Calc. 456

HINDU LAW—WIDOW—contd.

57(a) ———————— Where it is found as a fact on the evidence that a transfer of her husband's property made by a widow is not one for legal necessity the fact that the next reversioner has joined do not make it binding on remote reversioners. GHISIAWAN PANDE v. MUSAMMAT RAJ KUMARI

I. L. R. 43 All. 535

58. ———— Gift—By widow of property of her deceased husband for the spiritual benefit of the deceased. The question whether the gift of a portion of her husband's property made by a Hindu widow was made for the benefit of his soul is a question of fact in each case. Khub Lal Singh v. Ajodhya Misser, I. L. R. 43 Calc., 574, referred to. It is not a necessary condition to the validity of such a gift that the donee should be expected to do something which might be supposed to confer some benefit on the soul of the deceased. GOBIND UPADHYA v. LAKHRANI

I. L. R., 43 All. 515

59. ———— Surrender of her estate to next reversioners—Will of deceased husband inoperative when he was a member of a joint family with infant son—Compromise of suit by nearest reversioner—Widow entitled to moveables under Mithila Law—Compromise not a device to divide estate with reversioner. A Hindu governed by Mithila Law died leaving a widow, four daughters, and a son six years of age, who died very soon after his father. The latter left a will under which on the death of the son without issue the daughters succeeded to the immoveable property, and they, though opposed by a first cousin of the testator, who if the will was inoperative would be by Hindu Law the nearest reversioner, obtained possession of it. The nearest reversioner thereupon brought a suit for a declaration that the property being joint the will was inoperative; that the son inherited the immoveable property; that on his death his mother became entitled to a woman's estate in it; and that on her death it would devolve on the then next reversioner. The suit was opposed by the daughters and by the mother and came on for trial, but before judgment a compromise was come to between the parties in terms of which the suit was decreed. The rights under the will were given up; the moveable property was given absolutely to the widowed mother who by the Mithila Law was entitled to it; and she surrendered all right of succession to the immoveable property, to which the plaintiff in the compromised suit became by such surrender entitled as next reversioner, and of which he gave a moiety to the daughters, and he and the daughters each gave the widow a small portion of the land for her maintenance. In September 1911 the plaintiff in the compromised suit having died, the present appellants, as next reversioners brought the present suit for a declaration that the compromise was invalid and ineffectual as against them as being only a device to divide the property with the reversioner and therefore not bonâ fide, but they abandoned that plea in the Appellate Court. Held, [illegible] as to the moveable property the widowed [illegible] was absolutely entitled to it under the [illegible] Law; the compromise only recognised her [illegible] to it. As regards the immoveable [illegible] surrender was total, not partial [illegible] small portion of land [illegible]

HINDU LAW—WIDOW—contd.

for her maintenance. The compromise was made for good consideration on both sides, and was bonâ fide and valid within the principles laid down by the Board in Rangasami Gounden v. Nachiappa Gounden, I. L. R. 42 Mad., 523; L.R. 46 I. A. 72. SURESHWAR MISSER v. MAHESHRANI MISRAIN 1920 . . I. L. R. 48 Calc. 100

60. ———— Alienation for religious or charitable purposes—Spiritual benefit of husband—Building dharamsala—Succession "Atma-bandhus." Unless it can be established that the alienation of a portion of her husband's estate by a Hindu widow is for the performance to religious acts supposed or intended to be for the spiritual benefit of the deceased the alienation cannot operate to the prejudice of the reversioners, even though the portion of the property alienated be not excessive. Collector of Masulipatam v. Cavaly Vencata Narrainapah, 8 Moo., I. A. 529, Puran Dai v. Jai Narain, I. L. R. 4 All., 482, Khub Lal Singh v. Ajodhya Misser, I. L. R., 43 Calc., 654, and Kunj Behari Lal v. Lalu Singh, I. L. R. 41. All., 156, referred to. Amongst atma-bandhus the paternal grand father's son's son is nearer heir than the sister's daughter's son. SHAM DEI v. BIRBHADRA PRASAD I. L. R., 43 All. 463

61. ———— Escheat—Burden of proof—Crown to prove that property vested in the husband—Stridhan. When the Secretary of State for India in Council seeks to recover possession of property as having escheated to the Crown on the death of a Hindu widow by reason of the failure of the deceased husband's heirs, it lies upon him to show that the property in suit had vested in the husband. Diwan Ran Bijai Bahadur Singh v. Inderpal Singh (1899) L. R. 26 I. A. 226, relied on. On the failure of her husband's heirs, the stridhan of a widow would go to her blood relations in preference to the Crown. Kanakammal v. Ananthamathi Ammal (1912) 37 Mad., 293, approved of. GANPAT RAMA v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1106

62. ———— Right of residence—Transferee for value not affected by the right. Under Hindu Law, a widow cannot assert her right of residence in a house which has been sold by her husband during his life-time, unless a charge is created in her favour prior to the sale. The right which a Hindu wife has during her husband's life-time is a matter of personal obligation arising from the very existence of the relation and quite independent of the possession by the husband of any property, ancestral or self-acquired. Manilal v. Bai Tara (1892) 17 Bom., 398, considered. Joyanti Subbiah v. Alamelu Mangamma (1902) 27 Mad., 45, followed. GANGABAI v. JANKIBAI I. L. R. 45 Bom. 337

63. ———— Competence of widow, carrying on her deceased husband's business, to sell property—Acquired by her in the course of such business—"Legal necessity." The widow of a separated Hindu succeeded as such to the business of her deceased husband and carried it on for a series of years with reasonable prudence on the same lines as it had been conducted in his life-time. The business was that of a banker and money-lender, and involved from time to time the purchase and re-sale of immoveable

HINDU LAW—WIDOW—contd.

property. Held, that, as regards immoveable property not inherited from her husband but purchased in the course of business by her, the widow was competent to sell again outright, without proof of any special legal necessity being requisite, the "legal necessity" being that the property was sold in the course of a business which she was entitled, if she chose to do so, to carry on. Neither was it, in individual instances, a proof of absence of "legal necessity" that the property was sold for less than the widow had paid for it. Sham Sundar Lal v. Acchan Kunwar, I. L. R. 21 All. 71, Sakrabhai Nathubhai v. Maganlal Mulchand, I. L. R. 26 Bom. 206, Radha Kishan v. Janki. Weekly Notes, 1907, p. 155, referred to. PAHALWAN SINGH v. JIWAN DAS (1920) I. L. R. 42 All. 109

———— Re-marriage, effect of. A Hindu widow on re-marriage forfeits the life-interest which she holds as the mother of a deceased son who survived her husband. SHEOBARAN MAHTO v. MUSSAMMAT BHOGEA 3 Pat. L. J. 639

64. ———— Husband's estate—Inheritance—Moveable property—Corpus—Waste of corpus—Reversioners, right of—Suit by reversioners to prevent waste—Suit against widow and her alienees without consideration—Receiver—Right to place property in hands of Receiver—Liability of alienees to replace moveable corpus in their possession—Accountability of widow as to corpus—Nature of accountability—Duty of widow to replace corpus, if in her possession—Right to enjoy income of such property—Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Art. 120. A Hindu widow inheriting moveable property of her husband is not entitled to commit waste of the corpus of such property. Where she commits waste of the corpus of such property, the nearest reversioner is entitled to file a suit praying that such corpus may be reduced into possession and handed over to a receiver appointed in the suit; the transferees from the widow without consideration can be directed to replace any part of the corpus of the moveable property which can be traced to their hands, and the widow herself made accountable for waste in the sense of making her replace the moveable corpus of her husband's estate which she has made away with, if she is in a position to do so, allowing her to enjoy the income of the fund so replaced. Article 120 of the Limitation Act applies to such a suit. Nabin Chunder Chuckerbutty v. Issur Chunder Chuckerbutty (1868) 9 W. R., 505 (F.B.) and Radha Mohan Dhar v. Ram Das Dey (1869) 3 B. L. R., 362, referred to. Sinclair v. Brougham, (1914) A. C., 398, applied. VENKANNA v. NARASIMHAM . I. L. R. (1920), 44 Mad. 984

65. ———— Acceleration of reversion's interest—Relinquishment of property with provision for maintenance, effect of. A and B, two widows of a deceased Hindu, compromised a dispute between them as to who was entitled to succeed to their husband on the terms that A should take one-fourth of the property absolutely and B three-fourths absolutely. Held, that in the circumstances in which the compromise was effected neither widow took an absolute estate in the property. One of the widows made over her share in equal shares to her two daughters and, with the consent of those daughters, to the son of a deceased daughter, but stipulated that she should receive for life the rents of certain villages on account of an agreed maintenance of Rs. 1,200 per annum. Held, that the surrender of the estate by the widow was sufficient to accelerate the estate of the daughters. One of the daughters, (C) died after having made a mortgage of her share in the form of an ijara, and the surviving daughter (D) accepted rent (huqq ajari) from the ijaradar. Held, that D had elected to affirm the ijara. Held, further, on the evidence, that there had been a valid family arrangement whereby each daughter became entitled to deal with her share as she pleased during the life-time of the other. MUSSAMMAT DILTOR KUER v. HARKHU SINGH . . . . . . 2 Pat. L. J. 578

HINDU LAW—WIDOW—contd.

66. ———— Widow alienating her deceased husband's property to save it—From being sacrificed at a forced sale—Part of the purchase money being for personal necessities in anticipation. One G. D. died in 1091 leaving a widow and 2 minor sons, and a house at Amritsar, of which the widow got possession on behalf of her sons. The sons died in 1906 and 1907 respectively. The house had been mortgaged by G.D. in 1892 for Rs. 450 and the mortgagee sued in 1909 and obtained a decree for Rs. 556 and an order for the sale of the house in default of payment. In execution of the decree the house was put up to sale by auction and was purchased by one T. S., the highest bidder, on the 10th February 1913 for Rs. 1,100. T. S., however, failed to deposit ¼th of the price and a fresh warrant was issued for 14th July 1913 and the sale fixed for 20th August 1913. Meanwhile the plaintiff, a son of a brother of G. D., had put in objections to the attachment of the house, but these were eventually disallowed and he took no further action. On 12th August 1913 the widow sold this house for Rs. 1,944 and paid the decretal amount into Court. The consideration included also an item of Rs. 800 for maintenance and customary contributions on the marriages, etc., of her daughter's children. It was found that at the time of the sale the widow had practically no income, and that she had 3 daughters and eleven grandchildren, and that the sale was executed under circumstances which left her no choice and was in reality an act of good management on her part. Held, that a widow is not always bound to sell exactly for the amount for which there is legal necessity and the Courts have to see in each case whether, having regard to circumstances, the alienation was a proper one. Lala Chatranarayan v. Uba Kanuari (1 Beng. L. R. 201), Felaram Roy v. Bagalanand Banerjee (14 Calc. W. N. 895), and Trevelyan's Hindu Law. 2nd Edition, page 512, followed. Gurdit Singh v. Mehr Singh (67 P. R. 1881), and Nihal Singh v. Must. Rajon (11 P. R. 1885), distinguished. Held also, that the proposition that a widow cannot anticipate her personal necessities (Mayne's Hindu Law, VI Edition, paragraph 633) is not an inflexible rule. Moti Singh v. Sobhomal (30 Indian Cases 968), followed. What is to be seen is whether in the particular case the widow has dealt fairly towards the expectant heir. Held further, that as the bulk of the consideration was for legal necessity the sale in question ought to be upheld. Thalugara Ramanna v. Kalagara Gangayya (26 Indian Cases 178) Kannu Chetty v. Amirthammal (26 Indian Cases 418), and Padum Singh v. Must. Badrabai (57 Indian Cases 675), followed. NAMA MAL v. HARBHAGWAN. I. L. R. 2 Lah. 357

67. ———— Husband's Estate— Inheritance—Moveable property—Corpus—Waste of corpus—Reversioners, right of—Suit by reversioners to prevent waste—Suit against widow and her alienees without consideration—Receiver—Right to place property in hands of Receiver—Liability of alienees to replace moveable corpus in their possession—Accountability of widow as to corpus—Nature of accountability—Duty of widow to replace [illegible]

[illegible] property, [illegible] waste of the corpus of such property. [illegible] she commits waste of the corpus of such property, the nearest reversioner is entitled to file a suit praying that such corpus may be reduced into [illegible] receiver appoint- [illegible] from the widow [illegible] replace [illegible] roperty [illegible] widow [illegible] herself made [illegible] e sense of making her replace the moveable corpus of her husband's estate which she has made away with, if she is in a position to do so, allowing her to enjoy the income of the fund so replaced. Article 120 of the Limitation Act applies to such a suit. Nobin Chunder Chuckerbutty v. Guru Persad, (1868) B. L. R. Supp. Vol. 1008 (F. B.) 9 W. R., 505 (F.B.) and Radha Mohan Dhar v. Ram Das Dey, (1869) 3 B. L. R. 362, referred to. Sinclair v. Brougham, (1914) A. C. 398, applied. VENKANNA v. NARASIMHAM. I. L. R., 44 Mad. 984

68. ———————— Hindu widow—Widow's estate—Property acquired by widow without the aid of the husband's estate and without detriment to it—Widow's power of disposition over property so acquired—Widow not trustee for reversioner—Act No. II of 1882 (Indian Trusts Act), section 90. A Hindu widow in possession as such of her husband's estate acquired certain property through the exercise of a right of pre-emption which she had in that capacity. The pre-emptive price was not, however, paid from the [illegible] of a [illegible] Held [illegible] in t[illegible] the [illegible] part of the [illegible] separate property of the widow. Held also, that section 90 of the Indian Trusts Act, 1882, had no application to the facts of the case. SRI RAM JANKIJI BIRAJMAN MANDIR v. JAGDAMBA PRASAD. I. L. R. 43 All. 374

69. ———————— Hindu widow—Alienation by widow—Consent of the then nearest reversioner not sufficient to validate the alienation if there is no legal necessity. Where it is found as a fact upon the evidence that a transfer of her husband's property made by a Hindu widow is not a transfer for valid legal necessity the fact that the next reversioner has joined the widow in making the transfer does not render it valid and binding as against the remoter reversioners. Bajrangi Singh v. Manokarnika Bakhsh

HINDU LAW—WIDOW—concld.

Singh, I. L. R., 30 All. 1, and Rangasami Gounden v. Nachiappa Gounden, I. L R., 42 Mad., 523, referred to. GHISIAWAN PANDE v. MUSAMMAT RAJ KUMARI. I. L. R. 43 All. 531

HINDU LAW—WILL.

See HINDU LAW—ADOPTION. 24 C. W. N. 274

See HINDU LAW MINOR. I. L. R. 38 Mad. 166

See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, s. 42 . I. L. R. 42 Mad. 699

See WILL . . 3 Pat. L. J. 199

1. ——— Bequest for establishment of an idol—"Relinquishment in favour of a sentient person"—Bequest for establishment of an image and worship of a Hindu deity. The principle of Hindu law, which invalidates a gift other than to a sentient being capable of accepting it, does not apply to a bequest to trustees for the establishment of an image and the worship of a Hindu deity after the testator's death, nor does it make such a bequest void. Upendra Lal Boral v Hem Chundra Boral, I. L. R. 25 Calc. 405, Rojomoyee Dassee v. Troylukho Mohiney Dassee, I. L. R. 29 Calc. 260, and Nogendra-Nandini Dassi v. Benoy Krishna Deb, I. L. R. 30 Calc. 521, overruled so far as they conflict with the view of this Full Bench. BHUPATI NATH SMRITITIRTHA v. RAM LAL MAITRA (1909) I. L. R. 37 Calc. 128
14 C. W. N. 18

2. ——— Validity of bequest to complete a temple and instal an idol. Held that a bequest to complete the building of a temple which had been commenced by a testator and to instal and maintain an idol therein is a valid bequest under the Hindu law. Bhupati Nath Smrititirtha v. Ram Lal Moitra, I. L. R. 37 Calc. 128 ; 14 C. W. N. 18, followed. MOHAR SINGH v. HET SINGH (1910) . . . . I. L. R. 32 All. 337

3. ——— Absolute gift— Construction—Bequest to widow—"Malik like myself"—Absolute or limited gift—Limitations over after absolute bequest—Validity. The use of the word malik in a Hindu will does not conclusively show that the donee is intended to take an absolute interest in the property, but the effect of the disposition is to be gathered from all the terms of the will. In spite of the use of the word "malik" the donee may take a limited interest in the property. Shib Lakshan Bhakat v Tarangini Dasi, 8 C. L. J. 20 ; Surajmani v. Rabi Nath Ojha, I. L. R. 30 All. 84 ; and Punchoomoney Dossee v. Troylucko Mohiney Dossee, I. L. R. 10 Calc. 342, referred to. But where the testator uses the expression "malik like myself" the effect is ordinarily to create an absolute interest in the donee. Raj Narain Bhaduri v Katyayni Dabee, I. L. R. 27 Calc. 649, referred to. Where a power of disposition is conferred on the donee, it is an indication that the testator intended to create an absolute interest in favour of the donee. Toolsi Dass Karmokar v. Madan Gopal Dey, I. L. R. 28 Calc. 499, and Jogeswar Narain Deo v. Ram Chandra Dutt, I. L R 23 Calc. 670, referred to. Where the will of a Hindu ran as follows:—"After my death my wife, the said M., will be malik like myself having right to give away, sell, etc., and will manage, look after and possess these properties, and after the death of my wife, the said M., all that property will come under the control of my said son, if he is reformed otherwise, if the said son's character is not reformed up to the death of my said wife, that property, etc., will come after my wife's death on behalf of my grandsons, under the control and management of their mother S." Held, that M, the widow, took an absolute estate, and that the effect of the subsequent clause is not to cut down to a life-estate the full proprietary rights conferred on the widow by the previous clause. AMARENDRA NATH BOSE v. SHURADHANI DASI (1909) . 14 C. W. N. 458

HINDU LAW—WILL—contd.

4. ——— Construction—Bequest in favour of two married daughters—Joint tenancy or tenancy in common. A Hindu died leaving a will whereby he bequeathed the whole of his property to his two married daughters without specification of shares. Held, that the estate taken by the legatees was a tenancy in common and not a joint tenancy. Jogeswar Narain Deo v. Ramchandra Dutt, L. R. 23 I. A. 37, 44, followed. GOPI v. MUSAMMAT JALDHARA (1910) . . . I. L. R. 33 All. 41

5. ——— Construction of Will—Bequest to a Class—Persons not born at death of testator—Intention of testator. The will of a Hindu testator without issue, after giving his wife and his mother possession of his property moveable and immoveable for their lives, contained the following clause: "On the death of my mother and my wife, the sons of my sisters, that is to say, their sons who are now in existence as also those who may be born hereafter shall in equal shares hold the said properties in possession and enjoyment by right of inheritance, and shall maintain intact and continue the service of the established duties and ancestral rites according to the practice heretofore obtaining." The testator died the day following the execution of the will. Held (affirming the decision of the High Court), that the intention was not to declare that the sisters' sons had a "right of inheritance," but to give them under the will a vested interest in their respective shares at the testator's death, though postponing their possession and enjoyment until the deaths of the mother and widow. Assuming that the testator's intention was that all his nephews, whether then in existence or after born should take, there was a valid bequest to such of them as were capable of taking at his death, notwithstanding that others of the class were incapacitated from taking because not then born. Ram Lal Sett v. Kanai Lal Sett, I. L. R. 12 Calc. 663, upheld and approved, as laying down the general rule of construction applicable to Hindu wills in the case of such a bequest where there is no other objection to it. Dias v. De Livera, L. R. 5 A. C. 123, referred to, as stating a convenient rule to apply to wills of Hindus, that a gift to children not in existence at the date of the gift should be limited to those born between the date of the will and the death of the testator. BHAGABATI BARMANYA v. KALICHARAN SINGH (1911) I. L. R. 38 Calc. 468

6. ——— Construction of will—Judgment of Privy Council—"In equal shares for life and with benefit of survivorship between themselves"—Judgment to be limited to the events then happened—Gift to a class valid, although some of class born after testator's death and hence incapable of taking—Hindu Wills Act (XXI of 1870), ss. 2, 3—Indian Succession Act (X of 1865), ss. 85, 98,

HINDU LAW—WILL—contd.

100, 101, 102—Incorporation of statutes—Liberty to apply—Practice. The will of a Hindu directed his executors in certain events (which happened) "to make over and divide the whole of my estate both real and personal unto and between my daughters in equal shares to whom and their respective sons I give advise and bequeath the same but should either of my said daughters die without leaving any male issue surviving but leaving my other daughter her surviving then in such case the surviving daughter and her sons shall be entitled to the share of the deceased daughter or in the case of the death of either daughter leaving sons the share of such daughter is to be paid to such her son or son's share and share alike." The testator died leaving him surviving his widow, two daughters R and P and three sons of P, viz., R P, K P. and J P. At the time of the happening of the events on which the gift in favour of the daughters and their sons came into operation, there were living R and P and four sons of P, viz., R P, K P, P L and B L, the latter two of whom were born subsequent to the testator's death In a suit brought by R for the construction of the will and a declaration of the rights of the parties, the Privy Council held that "in the events that had happened, the daughters R and P were entitled to the testator's estate in equal shares for life and with benefit of survivorship between themselves." The liberty to apply reserved by the High Court to the parties, amongst whom were the sons of P was affirmed. Subsequent to the order in Council, P died leaving her sons R P, K P, P L, and B L her surviving. R P and K P thereupon claimed to be entitled to their mother's share. An application, in this behalf, was made by R P to the High Court:—Held, that the application was properly made under the liberty reserved. The Privy Council in time had happened, and had no intention to decide the rights of sons in reference to a subsequent contingent event, which had now happened in the death of P leaving sons. The canon of construction to be applied to a statute incorporating the provisions of another statute, as defined in In re Wood's Estate, 31 ch. D. 607, approved of. S. 3 of the Hindu Wills Act, which controls both the quantity and quality of the interest created including the capacity of the donee to take, modifies the operation of the incorporated s. 98 of the Succession Act, by the introduction of the rule of Hindu Law, that a bequest to a person not in existence at the time of the testator's death, is void. Alangamonjori Dabee v. Sonamoni Dabee, I. L R. 8 Calc. 637, and Cally Nath Naugh Chowdhry v Chunder Nath Naugh Chowdhry, I. L. R. 8 Calc. 378, followed. Hence P L and B L took no share and P's share devolved on R P, K P and the repre-could be ascertained within the period permitted by law. Leake v. Robinson, 2 Meri, 363, distinguished. Kingsbury v. Walter, [1901] A. C. 187, Dowset v. Sweet, 1 Amb. 175, Young v. Davies, 2 Drew, & Sm. 167, Shaw v. M'Mahon, 4 Dr. & War. 131, Fell v. Biddulph, L. R. 10 C. P. 701, referred to. RADHA PRASAD MALLICK v. RANIMONI DASI (1910) . . . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 188

HINDU LAW—WILL—contd.

7. ———— Will—Use of expression "malik"—Widow's estate—Construction. A Hindu died, leaving a Will by which (inter alia) he appointed his wife as residuary legatee in the

in the Will and certain other restrictions were placed on the management of the property by the wife. Finally provision was made for the further distribution of the property after the wife's death. Held, that the widow took a widow's estate and not an absolute estate. The use of the expression the ordinary notions or customs of Hindus is to be considered in construing a Will. MOTILAL MITHALAL v. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL OF BOMBAY (1910) . . . I. L. R. 35 Bom. 279

8. ———— Trust to accumulate income for marriage expenses of son—Bequest to wife to be married—Wife married, born before testator's death—Bequest if valid—Mortgage suit against legal representative of mortgagor who sets up paramount title—Maintainability. Where the testator by her Will directed the executor to hold certain properties in trust to accumulate the income for the marriage expenses of an unmarried son, and to give the property to the wife of the son if he married ie bequests, to e proceeds for

Held, that the direction to accumulate contained in the will was valid. That the testator's son having married, within the period specified, a lady who had been born before the testator died, the bequest took effect according to Hindu Law Tagore v Tagore, L. R. I. A. Sup. Vol. 47, Bai Malivahoo v. Bai Mamoo Bai, L. R 24 I. A. 93 · s c. 1 C W. N. 366, relied on. NAFAR CHANDRA KUNDOO v. RATAN MALA DEBI (1910) . . . 15 C. W. N. 66

9. ———— Stridhan property—Dayabhaga—Ayautuka—Succession—Husband's younger brother or step-brother, preferential heir—Probate—Practice—Caveat by both—Real successor dismissed from proceeding—Probate in common form upon withdrawal of objection by the other—Revocation on appeal—Proof in common from in presence of right heir directed. On a will being propounded of a childless Hindu woman governed by the Dayabhaga, caveat was entered by her step-brothers as well as by her husband's younger brothers. The Judge held the former to be the preferential heirs upon intestacy and dismissed the objections of the latter on the ground that they had no locus standi. The step-brothers subsequently not contesting the preceedings, probate was granted in common form. Held, on appeal, that the probate must be revoked and the propounder called upon to prove in solemn form in the presence of the husband's younger brothers. DEBI PRASANNA ROY CHOWDHRY v. HARENDRA NATH GHOSH (1910) . . . 15 C. W. N. 383

10. ———— Gift to future wife of son of testator, she being in existence at the time of the testator's death—Succession Act (X of 1865), s. 99, effect of—Hindu Wills Act (XXI of 1870), s. 3, how far controls principles of Hindu law. S. 99 of the Indian Succession Act does not apply to the will of a Hindu and invalidate provisions made in accordance with the principles of the Hindu Law. A bequest made by a father to the would-be wife of his son may be deemed a bequest to a person described as standing in a particular degree of kindred to his son within the meaning of the exception to s. 99 of the said Act. Although by s. 3 of the Hindu Wills Act, the provisions of s. 99 of the Indian Succession Act were made applicable to the Hindus, the intention of the Legislature was to leave unaffected the rules of Hindu Law. According to the principles of Hindu Law, a bequest made by a person to his son's would-be wife, who was in existence at the time of the testator's death, is valid, notwithstanding the provisions of s. 99 of the Indian Succession Act. DINESH CHANDRA ROY CHOWDHURY v. BIRAJ KAMINI DASSEE (1911).

HINDU LAW—WILL—contd.

I. L. R. 39 Calc. 87
15 C. W. N. 945

11. ———— Construction of—Bequest to testator's daughter-in-law after death of wife—Whether it conferred an absolute or only a life-estate in the property. The will of a Hindu testator after reciting that he had no male heir, and had already provided for his widowed daughter, stated:— "I have resolved that after my death my wife legatee No. 1, shall remain in possession and enjoyment of all my property with all powers or authority like myself, and that after the death of my wife my daughter-in-law, widow of Raghuraj Singh, legatee No. 2, shall remain in possession and enjoyment of all the properties aforesaid like myself and legatee No. 1 . . . . I therefore execute a will in favour of my daughter-in-law, so that on the demise of myself and my wife the estate and name of my ancestors may continue as before, and she in place of Raghu raj Singh shall perform my funeral ceremonies and those of my wife according to the shashtras and the custom of the family, and then she shall have power to nominate any one whom she may think fit as 'heir' so that the name of the family" may continue as formerly and now with honour. Held (affirming the decision of the Court of the Judicial Commissioner), that, on the true construction of the will, the word "heir" meant heir to the testator, and the daughter-in-law took (as did the wife) not an absolute interest, but only a life estate in the testator's property, which was therefore on her death not liable to attachment and sale under decrees against her representative. BRIJ LAL v. SURAJ BIKRAM SINGH (1912).

I. L. R. 34 All. 405

12. ———— Construction of will—Period of distribution of property bequethed—Succession Act (X of 1865), s. 111—Hindu Wills Act (XXI of 1870)—Absolute gift to son on attaining majority—Bequest contingent on son's death which did not happen till after period of distribution. The right of the appellant to succeed to the shebaitship of certain debutter properties depended on the construction of his grandfather's will, and on the nature of the right which his father took in those properties. After declaring the properties to be debutter for the maintenance of the family idol, the testator in his will stated that "my present begotten son" (the appellant's father) "will be shebait for performance of the ceremonies." And after making provision for his own death during the minority of his son, in which case his widow was to be the shebait as his son's guardian, the testator continued "and my son on attaining majority will personally conduct the work of the sheba. God forbid, if during my life or after my death, my said son dies, then my widow will be the shebait, and after her my daughters by her" (the respondents) "will be shebaits . . . . . Moreover, for carrying out the directions under this will until my minor begotton son comes of age, my wife" (and two male persons named), "will be executors . . . . and on my said begotten son attaining majority the said executors will be discharged, and the said son by continuing in his present faith will go on performing the sheba, etc., of the said idol": Held (reversing the decision of the High Court), that, on the true construction of the will, there was an absolute gift of the shebaitship to the appellant's father on his attaining his majority, and it was not cut down by anything that followed. There were provisions in case of his death as a minor, but no cutting down of the absolute gift to him. The appellant therefore, and not the respondents, succeeded on the death of the testator's son, who had attained his majority and held the shebaitship until his death. TRIPURARI PAL v. JAGAT TARINI DASI (1912) . . . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 274

13. ———— Testator's direction to his brother to get his daughters married—Betrothal by the brother—Marriage of the daughter by her mother and maternal uncle with another person—Suit by the brother to recover damages which he had to pay to the betrothed husband for breach of contract—The right of the testator's brother to give in marriage no more than the right under the Hindu law and subject to the limitations of that law—Right of the mother as legal guardian. A testator in his will directed that his brother should get his minor daughters married with the testator's money. The brother accordingly got one of the daughters betrothed to H. Subsequently the girl's mother and maternal uncle got the girl married to C. The testator's brother, thereupon, brought a suit against the mother, maternal uncle and C to recover damages which he had to pay to H for breach of contract. Held, that the suit was not maintainable. The plaintiff's right under his brother's will was not absolute and exclusive. The right was no more than the right under the Hindu law, and subject to the limitations under that law. According to the next of Yajnyavalkya the persons entitled to give a girl in marriage were "the father, paternal grandfather, brother, kinsmen (sakulya) and mother" in the order stated. The text only dealt with the bare right to give a girl in marriage. It did not deprive the mother of her right of legal guardianship but only specified who could make a gift in marriage. The paternal male relations of the girl were placed above the mother for the purpose of the gift, because women were dependent and they could not perform certain ceremonies essential to or usual in a marriage. The text did not say that the mother was to have no voice at all and might be altogether set at naught where there were paternal male relations of the girl competent to give her in marriage. BAI RAMKORE v. JAMNADAS MULCHAND (1912) I. L. R. 37 Bom. 18

14. ———— Condition—Life-estate to widow, remainder to another upon condition to be fulfilled—Sale by widow with concurrence of latter before condition fulfilled—Condition made impossi-

HINDU LAW—WILL—contd.

Bequest to husband of unmarried ... married in testator's life-time, if valid. A testator by his will conferred a life-estate in most of his properties to his widow B and provided that if B adopted a son the said properties would on her death pass to him, but that if no son was adopted the properties would pass absolutely to N provided he lived in the testator's ancestral house; but that if N or his son or other descendant failed to live in the ancestral house the properties would pass to other specified relatives of the deceased, subject to the like condition and on the failure of any such relatives to fulfil such condition to ... failing agnates, to any Brahmin

... was not invalid so far as it affected N although it was attached to the gift of an absolute estate. That N's interest being a contingent one which fell into possession on the death of the widow the condition or residence had to be satisfied at the date of the widow's death, and that N not having lived there at that time and having made it impossible for him ... of the house, he ... will. Held, the ... over to agnates ... for uncertainty, the other ... valid and in the absence of proof that there was no other person qualified to take under the succeeding clauses of the will upon N's failure, the plaintiffs who claimed as heirs could not recover. A bequest by a Hindu in favour of the husband of a son's daughter unmarried at the date of the will but married in the testator's life-time would be valid. SHYAMA CHARAN BHUTTACHARYA v. SARUP CHANDRA SEN (1912) . . 17 C. W. N. 39

16. ——————Perpetuities, rule against—Hindu Wills Act (XXI of 1870) ss. 2, 3—Indian Succession Act (X of 1865), ss. 101, 102—Gift to grandsons after all of them have attained majority,—if valid—Primary and secondary intention—Gift, if may be sustained as to grandsons in existence at testator's death. Upon the construction of a ... his execut... my grand... (he having ... to their respective sons, that is to say my grandsons," the High Court had held that the distribution was to take place only after all the sons who might be born to the sons of the testator should have attained their majority, and that such a disposition was invalid under s. 101 read with s. 102 of the Indian Succession Act which by s. 2 of the Hindu Wills Act are applicable to Hindu wills; that s. 3 of the Hindu Wills Act, although it might have the effect of invalidating ... under s. 101 of the ...

... read with s. 102 even if the grandsons referred to in the will meant garndsons who were in existence at the testator's death; that the disposition should not be given effect to in favour of the three grandsons who were in existence at the testator's death on the assumption of a supposed secondary intention on the part of the testator absolutely inconsistent with his intentions as expressed in the will; and that as regards the subject matter of this disposition there was an intestacy. Appeal from this decision was dismissed by the Judicial Committee P. V. SUBRAMANIA PILLAI v. P. V. MURUGESA PILLAI (1912) . 17 C. W. N. 483

17. ——————Construction— Contingent bequest in future of whole estate—Succession Act (X of 1865), s. 107, Part XV. A Hindu governed by the Bengal School of Hindu Law died leaving a will, the material portion whereof was as follows:—"I hereby authorise my said wife to adopt dattaka putra. In case of death of an adopted son my said wife shall adopt one after another five sons in succession. If my said wife dies without adopting a son or if such adopted son predeceases her without leaving any male issue, in such case my estate after the death of my said wife shall pass to the sons of my sister, Sreemati Benodini Dassee, who may be living at the time of my death." There were two sons of the testator's sister living at his death. The widow adopted a son who predeceased her unmarried: she then died. On a suit for a construction of the will:—Held, that there was a valid contingent bequest in favour of the testator's nephews, which came into operation in the events that had occurred. A contingent bequest in future of the whole estate of a testator is valid and operative under Hindu Law. Soorjee Money Dassee v Denobundoo Mullick, 9 Moo. I. A. 123, referred to. BHUPENDRA KRISHNA GHOSE v. AMARENDRA NATH DEY (1913). I. L. R. 41 Calc. 642

18 ——————Construction of ... Sub- ...

In this case their Lordships of the Judicial Committee upheld the decision, on appeal, of the High Court in Radha Prasad Mullick v. Ranimoni Dasi, I. L. R. 38 Calc. 188, to the effect that on the death ... Dassi leaving male issue, the moiety ...

... Their Lordships did not decide the ... whether the High Court was wrong in holding that no grandson of the testator born or adopted after his death could take under his will, but said that their decision in the present appeal was not to prejudice the position of Jugal Kishore Sen, the second appellant, if and when such question came before a Court for decision. RANIMONI DASI v. RADHA PRASAD MULLICK (1914). I. L. R. 41 Calc. 1007

19. ——————Construction of will—Self-acquired property—Bequest dividing pro- ... sons with gift over to ...

... his death—Period of distribution. A ... dent of Surat in the Presidency of Bombay made a will, dated 20th August 1899, by which after appointing his two sons "executors, heirs and owners" of the whole of his property (which was self-acquired) and directing them to divide and take equal shares in it with certain exceptions, gave

HINDU LAW—WILL—contd.

each of them a half share of his estate not specifically disposed of by the will. By clause 9 he made the following bequests: "I have divided between and given to my two sons the whole of my property as mentioned above. But should either of these two sons die without having had (leaving) any male issue, the survivor of the said two sons is duly to take the whole of the property appertaining to the share of the deceased son who may have (leave) no male issue (behind him) after undertaking (to defray) the expenses in connection with the maintenance of his widow and marriage of his minor daughter. But under the circumstances the heirs of my deceased son Surajlal shall not get any right whatever." The testator died on 4th July 1901 leaving him surviving his two sons. The elder son died on 2nd January 1903 leaving a widow and a daughter. In a suit by the surviving son to enforce the provisions of cl. 9 of the will, the High Court held that the period of distribution contemplated by the testator was the period of his death at which his time half of his estate became vested in each of his sons absolutely, and that cl. 9 should be read as if the survivorship there provided was limited to survivorship at the death of the testaor. Held, (reversing that decision) that the words of cl. 9 were not limited to survivorship during the testator's life, but clearly pointed to survivorship whenever it should occur; and that the surviving son was as such survivor entitled to the estate conveyed by the clause, subject to the obligation imposed upon him of maintaining his brother's widow and daughter. CHUNILAL PARVATISHANKAR v. BAI SAMRATH (1914).

I. L. R. 38 Bom. 399

20. ———————— Absolute gift by will to Hindu widow—Property acquired after date of will—Rule of law that will speaks from the death of the testator, before and after the Hindu Wills Act. A Hindu testator executed a will at Benares in which he provided: "Upon my death my wife shall get the lands, jamas, cash money, Government promissory notes, etc., and all other immoveable and moveable properties of which I am in possession and enjoyment save and except the lands and buildings mentioned in the schedule and possess and enjoy the same with the right to transfer by gift or sale, and no one will be entitled to raise any objection regarding any gift or sale to be made by her." The testator after the date of the will purchased a house at Benares of which he was in possession and enjoyment at the time of his death: Held, that the widow did not get merely a widow's estate in the property bequeathed but she took it as an absolute heritable estate. That the Hindu Wills Act did not apply to the property in Benares. That the words "upon my death my wife shall get all my properties which I am in possession" meant that she was to take all the property which the testator would possess at the time of his death and there was no intestacy so far as the house at Benares was concerned. S. 77 of the Succession Act which is incorporated in the Hindu Wills Act enacts in other words that the will speaks from the death of the testator. The Hindu Wills Act did not vary the mode of construction of wills in this respect nor is it correct to hold that in parts of India, where the Act does not apply, the ordinary rule that the will speaks from the death of the testator does not obtain. JITENDRA KUMAR

HINDU LAW—WILL—contd.

CHATTOPADHYA v. NRITYA GOPAL MUKHOPADHYA (1912) . . . . 18 C. W. N. 140

21. ———————— Devise to widow—Gift-over—Life interest—Absolute gift—Power of appointment—Alienation by gift or sale—Administration suit—Cause of action. A Hindu testator by his will provided for the performance of certain religious ceremonies and devised all his moveable and immoveable properties to his wife with power to alienate by gift or sale. He also by the same will made a gift-over to his daughter in the following terms:—"My daughter, Hara Kumari, shall become entitled to and possessor of whatever property will remain after your death and she shall enjoy the same keeping up and maintaining the aforesaid sheba, etc." The will then went on to say:—"the said daughter shall have the same rights as you have and he to whom my said daughter may willingly give away those properties shall while possessing the same and keeping up and maintaining the sheba enjoy them." At his death on the 11th March, 1866, the testator left him surviving his widow and an only daughter, Hara Kumari. The widow having obtained probate of the testator's will, executed on the 19th May, 1898, in favour of her two grand-daughters, Hemangini and Nagendrabala, born some time after the testator's death a deed of gift of certain properties acquired by her under the said will. On the 30th September, 1898, the widow died. In October, 1899, Mahim Chandra Sarkar, the testator's nephew, dispossessed Hemangini and Nagendrabala of these properties and took possession of the same. On the 8th March, 1908, Hara Kumari, in whose favour the High Court had decided a suit brought by Mahim Chandra Sarkar for the construction of the testator's will and for a declaration of the rights of the parties thereunder (11 C. W. N. 412; 7 C. L. J. 540) executed a deed of gift in favour of her daughter Hemangini and, on the 8th April, 1908, she also executed a similar deed in favour of her other daughter, Nagendrabala, and a kobala in favour of Hemangini. In suits brought for administration by Mahim Chandra Sarkar against Hara Kumari, who died during its pendency, for recovery of arrears of rent and cesses in respect of a certain darpatni belonging to the estate of the testator, by Mahim Chandra Sarkar against the darpatnidar and Hemangini and Nagendrabala and for recovery of possession of certain property acquired by virtue of the deed of gift from the testator's widow, by Hemangini and Nagendrabala against Mahim Chandra Sarkar. Held, that Mahim Chandra Sarkar had no cause of action and could not maintain the suit for administration. Held, also, that the testator could make an absolute gift to his daughter who was his reversionary heir in absolute estate and that the gift to her under her father's will was an absolute gift. Held, also, that there was no power of appointment to the daughter enjoining her to nominate an heir or successor to her father's estate. Held, also, that the provision for keeping up the sheba was merely a collateral chargeon the property in whosoever's hands it might be and did not affect the absolute character of the gift. Brij Lal v. Suraj Bikram Singh, I. L. R. 34 All. 405, distinguished. Moulvi Mahomed Shumsool Hooda v. Shewukram, L. R. 2 I. A. 7, Radha Prasad Mullick v. Raneemoni Dassi, I. L. R. 35 Calc. 896; L. R. 35 I. A. 118, Jatindra

HINDU LAW—WILL—contd.

Mohan Tagore v. Ganendra Mohan Tagore, 9 B. L. R. 377, Mussamut Kollany Kooer v. Luchmee Pershad, 24 W. R 395, Thakur Singh v. Nokhe Singh, I. L. R. 23 All. 309, and Ramasami v. Papayya, I. L. R. 16 Mad. 466, referred to. Held, also, that the patni was vested in Hemangini and Nagendrabala by alienation during Hara Kumari's life, that they were Hara Kumari's heirs, the property being stridhan, and that Mahim Chandra Sarkar had no title whatever to any of the properties left by Hara Kumari. Held, also, that the widow had absolute power of alienation in derogation of the rights of the sole reversioner, her daughter, who was only entitled to the residue, that the gift by the widow to Hemangini and Nagendrabala was valid, and that Mahim Chandra Sarkar could not plead his right as reversioner against a suit by the heirs of Hara Kumari to eject him as a trespasser, even though the gift should fail. Hara Kumari Dasi v. Mahim Chandra Sarkar, 12 C. W. N. 412 ; 7 C. L. J. 546, referred to. Held, further that the power of alienation, which, though perhaps analogous to what was known as a power of appointment in English law, could not be goverened by the rules of English law relating to such appointments. Bai Motivahu v. Bai Mamubai, I. L. R. 21 Bom. 709, referred to. MAHIM CHANDRA SARKAR v. HARA KUMARI DASI (1914) . . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 561

22. ———————— Construction of will—Bequest in favour of two brothers—Legatees to take in equal shares—Tenancy in common or joint tenancy. A Hindu who had been adopted made will authorizing his wife to make an adoption, and in case she failed to do so, leaving his property to his two own brothers "in equal shares." Held, that the brothers took as tenants in common and not as joint tenants. Gopi v. Jaldhara, I. L. R. 33 All. 41, followed. Mankamna Kunwar v. Balkishan Das, I. L. R. 28 All. 38, distinguished. Jogesswar Narain Deo v. Ram Chandra Dutt, I. L. R. 23 Calc. 670, referred to. HAR PRASAD v. SUKHDEVI KUNWAR (1915).

I. L. R. 37 All. 241

viving his widow, two daughters and a minor son The testator also left a brother and the two sons of his brother who were the defendants. The son of the testator died having survived his mother by a few days. The eldest daughter died in the lifetime of her mother leaving a daughter who died unmarried. The plaintiffs were the two surviving sons of the other daughter of the testator. The testator by his will had made his minor son the malik of all his properties. The will provided that he should succeed to and enter upon possession and occupation of the whole of his estate and appointed the widow as the manager and legal guardian of the infant son. After providing for the management of the property during the son's minority the will provided—"If after my death the said minor son dies, the mother of the said son shall in his stead become the malik in possession and occupation when like myself the said Musammat shall acquire all the proprietary powers and all kinds of properties, moveable and immoveable, and after the death of the widow the property was to go to the testator's two daughters in equal shares." Held, that the gift-over in favour of the widow in the event of the son dying without having attained majority was not a void gift as being repugnant to the form of the gift that was previously made in favour of the son. The provisions of the Indian Succession Act rendered such a g[illegible]

the Succession [illegible] rules of the Eng[illegible] gift-over shall take effect on the failure of the prior bequest, although the failure may not have occurred in the manner contemplated by the testator. The mere fact that the testator contemplated that if his son died a minor and the [illegible] of the benefit of the legacy given to them by the [illegible] son, had no interest in the estate of the testator. DURGA PERSHAD v. RAGHUNANDAN LAL (1914).

19 C. W. N. 439

24. ———————— Construction—Indian Succession Act (X of 1865)), s. 111, rule of construction in—Legacy with power to sell, make a gift, etc., in respect of properties bequeathed, if absolute gift to legatee. A Hindu in his will provided as follows :—" I bequeath to both of you (the testator's widow and his brother's daughter) the rest of the properties . . . You will [illegible] survive will hold and enjoy the whole of the property as malik." Held, that the case fell within s. 111 of the Indian Succession Act and the widow not having predeceased her husband and having survived the period of distribution took an absolute interest under the will. That the ordinary rule of construction when the testator has given an absolute gift to a legatee and then has made a gift-over simpliciter on a contingency of death is that he was referring to death before the period of distribution. This s clearly provided for in s. 111 of the Indian Succession Act which applies to Hindu wills. The rule in this section is an absolute rule of construction and not a rule of construction which may be contradicted by other evidence appearing on the face of the will. NISTARINI DEBYA v. BEHARY LAL MUKHERJEE (1914) . . 19 C. W. N. 52

25. ———————— Execution of a will by a Hindu widow—Suit for declaration by reversioner—Cause of action—Whether suit maintainable. A Hindu widow executed a will and thereby bequeathed her husband's property in her hands to a certain person purporting to do so under the oral directions of her husband. The next reversioner brought this suit for a declaration that the will in question was void and ineffectual as against his interest. Held, that the mere execution of the will did not afford a sufficient reason for granting a declaratory decree. Ram Bhajan v. Gurcharan, 1 All. L.J. R. 468, followed. Jaipal Kunwar

HINDU LAW—WILL—contd.

v. Indar Bahadur Singh, I. L. R. 26 All. 238, referred to. UMRAO KUNWAR v. BADRI (1915).
I. L. R. 37 All. 422

26. ——————— Will—Birth of a son subsequent to the execution of the will, effect of —Death of the son before the testator—No revocation of the will under the Indian law—Revocation under the old English law prior to Wills Act—Statutory law in India—Indian Succession Act (X of 1865), s. 57—Probate and Administration Act (V of 1881), s. 4. A will, executed by a Hindu testator disposing of his ancestral property, is not revoked in law by reason of the birth subsequent to the execution of the will of a son who died before the testator. The rule of English law that it was essential to the validity of a devise of freehold lands that the testator should be seized thereof at the making of the will, and that he should continue so seized without interruption until his decease, is no longer in force in England in consequence of the enactment of the Wills Act. The principle applicable in India is that adopted in the English Wills Act that a will has the same effect as if it were executed at the time of the testator's death. The statutory law of wills in India has not adopted the principle that a will should be deemed to be revoked in consequence of a change in the circumstances of the testator or a change with respect to his rights to the property disposed of by the will. (See s. 57 of the Indian Succession Act). Survivorship has the effect of rendering a will invalid only with respect to the property which the testator could not dispose of at the time of his death. All other dispositions made by him are valid. Shib Sabitri Prasad v. The Collector of Meerut, I. L. R. 29 All. 82, and Subba Reddi v. Doraisami Bathan, I. L. R. 30 Mad. 369, followed. BODI v. VENKATASAMI NAIDU (1913) . . . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 369

27. ——————— Ancestral moveable property—Will—Bequest—Bequest by Co-parcener. One Pandharinath Ramchandra, a Hindu testator made a will by which he directed that Rs. 2,001 should be paid to each of his three daughters out of the ancestral moveable property. He died leaving a son surviving him. In a suit by one of the daughters to recover amount of the legacy from the estate of the testator: Held, that the legacies were directed to be paid by the testator out of property which he had no power to dispose of by will. Vitla Butten v. Yamenamma, I. L. R. 8 Mad. H. C. R. 6, followed. Hanmantapa v. Jivubai, I. L. R. 24 Bom. 547, distinguished and Bachoo v. Mankorebai, I. L. R. 29 Bom. 51, and I. L. R. 31 Bom. 373, distinguished. PARVATIBAI v. BHAGWANT VISHWANATH PATHAK (1915).
I. L. R. 39 Bom. 593

28. ——————— Will giving power to widow to adopt with consent of trustees where one declines to act. A Hindu testator by his will appointed five trustees of his property and gave power to his widow to adopt a son with their consent and advice; and one of the trustees declined to act. Held, that the consent of the declining trustee was not necessary, and the adoption made with the consent of the other four trustees was valid. BAL GANGADHAR TILAK v. SHRINIVAS PANDIT (1915) I. L. R. 39 Bom. 441

29. ——————— Probate application for —Locus standi to oppose—Mitakshara father, will by, in favour of widowed daughter—

HINDU LAW—WILL—contd.

Widow of predeceased son if may contest will, when no ancestral property—Right to maintenance against devisee—Provision in will, if may be referred to. Where there is no ancestral property, a Hindu governed by the Mitakshara law, is ordinarily under no legal obligation to maintain his predeceased son's widow. His obligation is merely a moral or an imperfect obligation which however ripens into a legal obligation on the part of the heir who gets his estate after his death. Devi Proshad v. Gunwanti Koer, I. L. R. 22 Calc. 410, and Siddeshury Dasi v. Jonardan Sarkar, 6 C. W. N. 530 : s. c. I. L. R. 29 Calc. 557, referred to. Quære: Whether such a right can be enforced against a devisee of the entire estate under a will executed by the father-in-law. Held, that as the daughter-in-law's right to maintenance which could have been enforced in case of intestacy would be taken away by the will, she ought to be allowed to appear and oppose the grant of probate of the will. Where the right to maintenance is enforceable against the devisee. Quære: Whether the claimant of maintenance has sufficient interest to oppose the grant of probate in all cases. In the goods of Sarat Chunder Patro, 2 C. W. N. cclvi (1898) Garabini Dassi v. Protap Chandra, 4 C. W. N. 602, and In the goods of Gobindu Chandra Babajee, 17 C. W. N. 1141, referred to. The provisions of the will may be looked at to see if the will really affects the right to maintenance. Where the will of the father-in-law directed that all the properties should be sold and a certain sum of money paid to the widowed daughter-in-law and after payment of certain legacies, the balance was to be appropriated by his widowed daughter who was not his heir. Held, that in this case the will seriously affected the interest of the daughter-in-law and she had sufficient interest to oppose the grant of probate. Garabini Dassi v. Protap Chandra, 4 C. W. N. 602 referred to. INDUBALA DASI v. PANCHUMANI DASI (1914).
19 C. W. N. 1169

30. ——————— Construction of will—Contingent bequest in future of whole estate —Succession Act (X of 1865), ss. 107, 111—Event on occurrence of which distribution was to take place, specified in will. The will of a Hindu resident in Calcutta and subject to the Dayabhaga School of Law, who died on 10th November 1907, stated, "I appoint my wife Poritoshini Dasi to be the sole executrix of this my will. I hereby authorise my said wife to adopt dattaka putra. In case of death of an adopted son my said wife shall adopt one after another five in sons in succession. If my said wife dies without adopting as son, or if such adopted son predeceases her without leaving any male issue, in such case my estate after the death of my said wife shall pass to the sons of my sister Benodini Dasi who may be living at the time of my death." Two sons of his sister were living at the death of the testator. On his death his widow as executrix duly obtained probate of the will and in August 1909, in pursuance of the authority given her by her deceased husband, she adopted a son who, however died on 10th March 1910, an infant unmarried and leaving no male issue; and a few days afterwards the widow herself died. In a suit by the adoptive mother of the testator, now represented by the appellants, against the two sons (the presen respondents) of his sister, for a declaration that in the events that had happened the devise to them had failed, and that the testator's estate had devolved on her. Held, on the construction of the will (affirming the decisions of the Courts in India), that on the death of the testator the widow took an interest in the estate which by virtue of the probate was not divested on her adoption of a son to her husband, and on her death the executory bequest to the sons of the testator's sister took effect and the estate passed to them. Section III of the Succession Act (X of 1865) was not applicable because the event on the occurrence of which the distribution was to take place was distinctly mentioned as, in the words of the will, "the death of my wife," and the gift to the testator's nephews was therefore not affected by that section. BHUPENDRA KRISHNA GHOSE v. AMARENDRA NATH DEY (1915).

HINDU LAW—WILL—contd.

I. L. R. 43 Calc. 432

31. ——————— Revocation of Will —Will disposing of property and nominating boy for adption to be completed later and giving wife power to complete it if he does not do so—Subsequent completion of adoption by testator—Subsequent will making different disposition of property but not revoking former will—Later will held in former suit illegal as disposing of ancestral property, which testator had no power to do—Dependent relative revocation. A Hindu testator being the sole co-parcener of certain property made a will in 1889 by which he appointed his wife S, and his daughter R executrices, and in which he nominated as his son, one V, a son of his daughter, but stated that he had not completed the adoption, and he directed that if he should die before completing it, S should after his death perform the necessary ceremonies, and take the grandson in adoption, and the will contained the following caluse:—"In case any danger may happen to my grandson V during the lifetime of my wife S who is one of my executrices, my wife may according to her wishes take in adoption one of my aforesaid daughter's sons, and give my properties to that son." The testator completed the adoption of V on 9th February 1890. On 21st March 1890 he executed another will of which a third person was made executor together with S and R and which contained a gift that in case in the former will which gave S a contingent power of adoption. On 4th April 1890 the testator died. The will of 1889 was not admitted to probate, but a grant of probate was made of the will of 1890. V died on 4th June 1891. In 1894 the appellant as reversionary heir of V obtained a decree declaring the will of 1890 void and inoperative according to Hindu law as disposing of ancestral property over which the testator had no power of disposal. On 13th August 1906 S adopted the respondent P in accordance with the authority given her by the will of 1889. In a suit by the appellant against S and P for a declaration that P's adoption was illegal and invalid. Held, that the document executed by the testator in 1889 was a will, and not a mere non-testamentary authority to adopt. It contained the appointment of executors, and was executed by a testator who at his date had power to dispose of the property of which he purported to dispose. Held, also, that after the completion of P's adoption and the consequent admission into the joint family of another co-parcener, the testator had no power to dispose of the property which on his death was ancestral property, and to that extent the will of 1889 became ineffectual. But there was no such inconsistency between the two wills as that the provisions of the earlier will could not stand with the existence of the later will. The will of 1890 no doubt prevailed over the will of 1889, but the contingent power to adopt was unaffected by anything in the later will. Held, further, that the question whether the disposition of the property in the later will revoked the provisions as to its disposal in the earlier will, turned upon the application of the doctrine of dependant relative revocation which was really a question of intention, and that under the circumstances an alternative inconsistent disposition which was not valid or effectual in itself did not revoke an earlier disposition of the same property. Alexander v. Kirkpatrik, L. R. 2 H. L. Sc. & Div. 397, followed in principle. VENKATANARAYANA PILLAY v. SUBBAMMAL (1915).

HINDU LAW—WILL—contd.

I. L. R. 39 Mad. 107

32. ——————— Construction of will—Will of Hindu widow in possession of her husband's estate—Bequest of whole estate to one person on conditions—Conditions containing excep- widow in possession of her husband's estate disposed of it by will as follows:—"Under the will of my husband I am the sole 'owner in possession' of his entire estate and possess all the proprietary powers . . . I bequeath the entire estate of my husband to Fateh Chand . . . . subject to the following conditions. . . (i) So long as I live I shall continue to be the 'owner in possession' of the entire estate. . . and possess all the powers and such as making sales, mortgages, gift, etc. (ii) After my death the said person (the legatee) shall become 'owner in possession' of the entire estate of my husband, and he, too, shall possess all the powers of alienation like myself. (iii) I have bequeathed mauza Khudda with all the property to Musammat Gomi. . . After my death she shall be the 'owner in possession' of the entire property in mauza Khudda aforesaid." Held (affirming the decision of the High Court), that on the construction of the will the words "owner in possession" (Maliq-o-qabiz) in cl. 4, conferred on Musammat Gomi an absolute estate, and that completeness of the ownership and possession was not altered by any other expressions in the will. Surajmani v. Rabi Nath Ojha, I. L. R. 30 All. 84, L. R. 35 I. A. 17. Taking all the clauses of the will together there was no repugnancy in such a construction, for, though the entire estate was conveyed in the first place to Fateh Chand, it was subject to conditions, one of which (cl. 4) bequeathed mauza Khudda as an exception to the conveyance of the entire estate. FATEH CHAND v. RUP CHAND (1916) . I. L. R. 38 All. 446

33. ——————— Will—Co-executors estate by one executor to the other—Renunciation of executorship—Validity of compromise—Action of executor without probate, validity of—Probate and

HINDU LAW—WILL—contd.

Administration Act (V of 1881), ss. 2. 4, 82, 92—Applicability of, to all Hindus—Executor, trustee of charities under the will—Claims of trustee against trust estate—Charge—Limitation Act, Art. 130—Suit for account and for scheme, against trustee—Right of trustee as defendant to equities in such suit—Decree in favour of trustee as defendant—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908), s. 92. It is doubtul if an executor is competent in law to compromise the claims of his co-executor against the testator's estate; but assuming that he has such a power it is essential that the compromise should be entered into bonâ fide and for the benefit of the estate. Per WALLIS, C. J.—The Probate and Administration Act does not say that s. 82 is to apply only to cases of Hindus governed by the Hindu Wills Act, but s. 2 provides that chapters II to XIII, which include s. 82 are to apply to every Hindu. Per SESHAGIRI AYYAR J.—It is not incumbent on an executor of the will of a Hindu to obtain probate before acting as an executor. S. 82 of the Probate and Administration Act is no bar to an executor acting as a representative of a Hindu testator's estate, because a co-executor had alone obtained probate of the will in his name. S. 92 of the said Act should be confined to cases where probate is compulsory before dealing with the property. An executor, who was appointed trustee of a charity under a will and who had claims against the estate in respect of his administration, has no charge on the estate in respect of such claims but should bring his suit within six years under art. 120 of the Limitation Act. But when a suit was brought against him for an account, if he was under a liability to account to the trust at the date of the suit, he would be entitled to all the equities flowing from the taking of the account and a decree could be passed in such suit in her favour for the amount that might be found due to him from the estate, though a suit by the trustee for the same might be barred by limitation. CHIDAMBARA MUDALIAR v. KRISHNASAMI PILLAI (1914) . . . . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 365

34. ——————— Construction—Absolute gift—Rules of construction approved by Courts—Effect of subsequent clauses in will restricting absolute gift created in previous clauses—will of a Hindu, matters which Court may consider in construing—Malik—Nirbyudha malik, meaning of. A Hindu testator left a will the material portions of which were as follows. The second and third clauses of the will appointed the testator's widow as executrix and authorised her to meet the expenses and pay the debts by sale, if necessary, of a portion of the estate. The fourth clause provided that the widow shall obtain as nirbyudha malik whatever moveable and immoveable properties shall be left by the testator and she shall be the absolute owner with the rights of gift, sale and all other kinds of transfer. In the next three clauses the testator authorised the widow to adopt a son and prescribed the devolution of the estate in the event of such adoption and in the last clause he provided that if at the time of the death of his widow there be no adopted son or if no son or wife of the adopted son be alive, then the testator's heir according to the Hindu shastras who shall be alive at the time shall get the properties which shall remain after disposal by the widow by way of gift or sale of the same Held, that under the fourth clause of the will the widow took an absolute interest in the estate devised and the gift-over contained in the last clauses of what might remain undisposed of by her was void and inoperative in law. That the provisions of the will relating to adoption and the devolution of the estate in the event of adoption could not qualify the effect of the fourth clause even though they contained provisions repugnant thereto. That where an absolute interest is given the Court will not cut it down by subsequent words in the will unless they clearly have an effect to restrict it. That where a devisee takes an absolute interest a gift-over on his failure to dispose of the property or whatever part of the property he does not dispose of is void. That the rule of construction applicable to cases of this description is that not only ought the Court to look to the words of a will alone to determine the operation and effect of the devise but the Court ought to disregard altogether the legal consequences which may follow from the nature and qualities of the estate when such estate is once collected from the words of the will itself: Scarborough v. Savile, 3 A. & E. 897, 962. The instrument must receive a construction according to the plain meaning of the words and sentences therein contained, that is, the words are to be first read in their grammatical and ordinary sense unless the context shows otherwise. That in construing the will of a Hindu it is not improper to take into consideration what are known to be the ordinary notions and wishes of Hindus with respect to the devolution of property, namely, that a Hindu generally desires that an estate, specially an ancestral estate, shall be retained in his family and also that a Hindu knows that as a general rule, at all events, women do not take absolute estates of inheritance which they are enabled to alienate out where the terms are perfectly clear the Court cannot assume contrary to the plain meaning thereof that the testator intended to create estates of a particular description and then bend and twist the language in favour of the assumption so made. That the use of the term malik may not by itself necessarily create an absolute interest but the expression nirbyudha malik is the strongest and most unequivocal phrase employed in the vernacular to indicate absolute ownership. SURES CHANDRA PALIT v LALIT MOHAN DUTTA CHOUDHURI (1915) . . . 20 C. W. N. 463

35. ——————— Will, construction of—Bequest of life-estate to widow and remainder to grandsons born and to be born—Madras Hindu Transfers and Bequests Act (I of 1914), s. 2, cl. (2), effect of, on—Period of distribution to future grandsons, happening after the Act—Right of all grandsons born during widow's life, to take—Vested interest of grandson existing on the date of will. A Hindu bequeathed by his will dated 1905 a life-estate to his widow and an absolute estate thereafter to S, a son of his daughter then born, and to other sons of the daughter that might be born thereafter. The testator died in 1906 and S died in 1909. In a suit by S's widow against the testator's widow and another son of the daughter born during the course of the suit for a declaration that the plaintiff was solely entitled to the estate after the death of testator's widow and for an injunction to restrain the widow from wasting the estate, and alienating the same: Held, on a construction of the will, (i) that the testator by interposing a life-estate intended all his grandsons to take his estate, who might be born before the death of the widow, which was the time fixed for distribution; (ii) that by s. 2, cl. (2), of Madras Act I of 1914, the bequest in favour of the unborn grandsons was good as the disposition in their favour was, under the will, to take effect only after the date of the Act; and (iii) that as the plaintiff's deceased husband had a vested interest under the bequest she was entitled to maintain the suit and to a share in the estate along with other grandsons of the testator who might be born before the death of the testator's widow. Bhagabati Barmanya v. Kalicharan Singh, I. L. R. 38 Calc. 468, referred to. VENKAYAMMA v. NARSAMMA (1916).

HINDU LAW—WILL—contd.

I. L. R. 40 Mad. 540

36. ——————— Bequest to widow—Construction. Unless a grant expressly gives only a limited estate or unless there is any uncertainty or ambiguity in the grant as to the extent of interest conveyed, a grant to a Hindu female conveys an absolute estate and there is no presumption of law to the contrary, at least in this Presidency. On the occasion of adopting a son, a Mahratta Brahman of Tanjore executed a will in 1858 by which, after making some small gifts in favour of strangers, he made a grant "in inam" as follows:—"Out of the remaining property my adopted son shall be entitled to enjoy one half of the property. Out of the remaining half my two wives shall take half and half." Held, that the wives took an absolute estate under the bequest. Surajmani v. Rabi Nath Ojha, I. L. R. 30 All. 81, applied. Moulvie Mahomed Shumsool Hooda v. Shewakaram, L. R. 2 I. A. 7, explained. RAMCHANDRA RAO v. RAMACHANDRA RAO (1918)

I. L. R. 42 Mad. 283

37. ——————————— Will executed before the Hindu Wills Act—Gift of life-estate to grandsons, one of whom only in existence remainder to brother and nephew—Bequest if bad for remoteness or as offending against rule of perpetuities—Succession Act (X of 1865), s. 101. The testator, a Hindu who died in 1868, after giving life-estates in succession to his wife and two daughters, directed that "after the [illegible] son or grandso[illegible] alive shall poss[illegible] of inheritance" time, and that all my propertie[illegible] is to say, to my brother R and my nephew H, etc., etc." At the date of his death he had living one grandson N and no other grandson was born during the lives of his widow and daughters: Held, that although N was not mentioned in the will, there was a valid bequest in his favour of a life-estate with a valid remainder in favour of R and H, and the latter bequest was not affected by the rule of remoteness as applied in England and it did not offend against the law as to perpetuities. S. 101 of the Succession Act lays down a special rule which differs from the English law on the subject and there is no reason why it should be invoked for the construction of Hindu Wills made before that section came into operation. DAKSHAYANI DASI v. AMRITA LAL GHOSH (1919) . . . . 23 C. W. N. 825

37(a) ——————————— Gift to idol—Provision for heirs—Construction. In determining whether the Will of a Hindu gives the testator's estate heirs [illegible] the es[illegible] the use of particular terms in the Will. It depends on the construction of the Will as a whole. Sonatun Bysack v. Sreemutty Juggutsoondree Dassee, 8 Moore's Indian Appeals, followed. HAR NARAYAN v. SURJA KUNWARI.

I. L. R. 43 All. 291

38. ————— Will bequeathing husband's estate to her three daughters—Oral partition by daughters—Share taken absolutely by each—Death of one of the daughters, leaving her daughter as heir—Suit by surviving daughters to recover deceased's share as heirs of their father—Estoppel—Oral partition whether valid—Survivorship, whether extinguished—Rights of reversioners. A Hindu widow, inheriting her husband's estate, treated it as her absolute property and bequeathed it absolutely to her three daughters, who divided it into three equal shares by an oral partition and took each one share purporting to take it absolutely under their mother's will. One of the daughters died leaving a daughter as her heir who took possession of the deceased's share. The two surviving daughters sued, as heirs of their father, to recover the share of the deceased daughter from her daughter who was in possession: Held, that the plaintiffs were not estopped from claiming [illegible] as heirs of their father. [illegible] ever value can be effected orally and without a registered instrument, that the partition made between [illegible] operated to extinguish the right [illegible] it might [illegible] reversione[illegible] the plaintiffs were not entitled to recover the properties from the deceased daughter's share. Gyannessa v. Mobarakannessa (1893) I. L. R. 25 Calc. 210, followed and Latchumamammal v. Rangammal (1911) I. L. R. 34 Mad. 72, applied. ALAMELU AMMAL v. BALU AMMAL (1920).

I. L. R. 43 Mad. 849

39. ————— In favour of a female—Proper interpretation—whether same in case of females beneficiary as in a male. A Hindu executed a will bequeathing his moveable and immoveable property in equal shares to his mother and widow [illegible] the words "Kuli ikhtiyar wa milkiat" in [illegible] an absolute estate unless there is something in the context to qualify it. Surajmani v. Rabi Nath Ojha (I. L. R. 30 All. 81 P. C.), Gurmukh Singh v. Malkan Singh (61 P. R. 1911), [illegible] Das v. Mussammat Deoki (214 P. L. R. [illegible]), Nek Muhammad v. Maya Ram (32 Indian Cases 605), Sulochana Debi v. Jagattarini Debi [illegible] L. J. 51) and Deorao v. B[illegible] (33 Indian Cases 195), followed. Moti Lal-Mul[illegible] Lal v. [illegible] General of Bombay (I. L. R. [illegible]), Kedarpa Nath v. Jogendra [illegible] [illegible] 141), distinguished. [illegible]

HINDU LAW—WILL—contd.

Ved Kaur (27 P. R. 1898), dissented from. MUSSAMMAT WAZIR DEVI v. RAM CHAND.

I. L. R. 1 Lah. 415

40. ———— Bequest to woman—Presumption from. Per Mullick, J. A bequest of the income of the property without disposing of the corpus is void under the Hindu Law as offending against the rule against perpetuities. Under the Hindu Law, in the absence of words of limitation, gifts to women, with the exception of a widow, must be presumed to convey an absolute estate. A Hindu woman is competent to alienate immoveable property, for the purpose of discharging the debts incurred by her in carrying on a business which forms part of the estate in which she has the ordinary interests of a Hindu woman. JAGARNATH PRASAD v. JAIKISHUN PD. 1 Pat. L. J. 16

41. ———————— In favour of testator's wife—Proper interpretation—What constitutes a gift with full ownership—gift-over of remainder on death of legatee with full ownership—whether of any legal effect—Indian Succession Act, X of 1865, section 111—Hindu Wills Act, XXI of 1870. One J. D., a Hindu, made a will in which he bequeathed the house in suit to his wife, Musst. U. D., using words to the following effect—"Is ki malik meri zauja Uttam Devi hogi—us ko ikhtiyar hai ke jis tarah chahe ba marzi khud us ko intikal ya saraf kare. Basharat-i-ke mere aurat kisi ko makan na de jawe ya intikal na kare to phir makan mere har do poton Niranjan Das aur Narsingh Das ka mushtarka hoga." After his death his widow, Uttam Devi, along with plaintiffs, Niranjan Das and Narsingh Das, got possession of the house, and when the widow died plaintiffs continued in possession. The defendant Mohan Lal, another grandson of testator by his other son, having dispossessed the plaintiffs they brought the present suit claiming possession of the house under the terms of the will of their grandfather (the testator). The defendant resisted the suit principally on the ground that under clause 3 of the will the house in suit was given absolutely to Musst. Uttam Devi with full powers of alienation, that she had acquired full ownership thereof on the death of the testator, and that the provision in respect of gift-over in favour of the plaintiffs being opposed to law was void and unenforceable. The first Court decreed the claim. The defendant appealed to the High Court. Held, that a will by a Hindu in favour of a female must be interpreted in the same way as if it was in favour of a male and therefore under clause 3 of this will, read as a whole, the testator conferred an absolute and complete ownerships on his wife Musst. Uttam Devi. The use of the word "malik" implies absolute ownership unless there is anything in the context or surrounding circumstances to qualify such meaning. Surajmani v. Rabi Nath Ojha (I. L. R. 30 All., 84 P.C.) Thakur Parshad v. Ram Jumna (I. L. R. 31 All. 301), and Mussammat Wazir Devi v. Ram Chand (I. L. R. 1 Lah. 415), followed. Norendra Nath v. Kamalbasini Dasi (I. L. R. 23 Cal. 563, P.C.) and Lala Ramjewan Lal v. Dal Koer (I. L. R. 24 Cal. 406), referred to. Held also, that the gift-over of what might remain undisposed of by Musst. Uttam Devi at her death was void and inoperative in law. Sures Chandra Palit v. Lalit Mohon (31 Indian Cases 405), Nistarini Debya

HINDU LAW—WILL—contd.

v. Behari Lal (27 Indian Cases 239), Salochana Devi v. Jagattarini Devi (53 Indian Cases 602 and Tripurani Pal v. Jagat Narain Dasi (I.L.R. 40 Cal. 274, P. C.), followed. Lallu v. Jagmohon (I. L. R. 22 Bom. 409), Ram Chand v. Dewan Chand (65 P. R. 1912), and Hara Kumari Dasi v. Mohim Chandra Sarkar (12 Cal. W. N. 412), distinguished. MOHAN LAL v. NIRANJAN DAS.

I. L. R. 2 Lah. 175

42. ———————— Testator, resident in Presidency town of Madras—Bequest to unborn persons, validity of—Rule of Hindu Law, whether abrogated by Hindu Wills Act (XXI of 1870), or by Hindu Transfers and Bequests Act, Madras (I of 1914)—Latter Act whether ultra-vires of provincial legislature—Indian Councils Act, 1861, ss. 22 and 42—Indian High Courts Act, 1861, s. 11—Supreme Court Charter, cl. 22—Rule of perpetuity—Indian Succession Act—(X of 1865), ss. 101, 102, 111 and 126—Bequest to daughters and on their death their shares to be taken by their children who shall attain 21 years—Indian Majority Act (IX of 1875), s. 3—Bequest, whether void for perpetuity—Absolute gift followed by settlement on children—Failure of settlement—Reversion to original donee as absolute estate. A testator, resident in the City of Madras, executed at Madras a will in 1897 disposing of his properties situate mostly therein, and died in 1904. By the will after directing the formation of a fund for the payment of a monthly sum to his widow during her life, the testator provided that "the residuary trust funds are vested in trustees in trust to apportion the fund into as many equal shares as there may be daughters of mine living at the time of my decease or who having predeceased shall have left issues her or them and me surviving, and to pay the income of each equal share to my said daughters respectively during their lives and thereafter to stand possessed of the share in trust for all the children of the deceased daughter who shall attain the age of twenty one in equal shares, etc." Only some of the grandchildren were born before the testator died. On a suit being brought on the Original Side of the High Court by some of the grandsons after the death of testator's widow and his three daughters for a construction of the will and a declaration of the rights of the parties. Held, that the rule of Hindu Law that gifts and bequests in favour of unborn persons are invalid, had not been abrogated, by the Hindu Wills Act (XXI of 1870); and that Madras Act (I of 1914) Hindu Transfers and Bequests Act (1914), which validates such dispositions was ultra vires of the legislative powers of the provincial Legislative Councils in so far as it purports to affect the law administered on the Original Side of the High Court, having regard to the Indian Councils Act, 1861, ss. 22 and 42, and the Indian High Court Act, 1861, s. 11; and that therefore the bequests to the unborn persons in the will were void; that the bequests were void under section 101, Indian Succession Act, made applicable by the Hindu Wills Act to Hindu Wills executed in Presidency Towns, because the vesting of the property under the will in the grandchildren, might be delayed beyond the life-time of the daughters and the minority of the grandchildren by whom the property was to be taken, and the provisions of the Indian Majority Act (IX of 1875)

HINDU LAW—WILL—contd.

extending) events, did 101 of the
of some ...
s. 101 of the Act, the bequest in favour of the whole cases of the grandchildren, including those born in the life-time of testator also failed under s. 102 of the Act; that the bequest to the grandchildren did not fall within the terms of section 111 of the Indian Succession Act and was not affected by its provisions; that under section 126 of the same Act, which embodies the rule laid down in Las-ence v. Tierney, (1849) I Mac. & G. 551; s.c. 41, E.R., 1379, where there is an absolute gift to a legatee and the provisions that follow in the will are in the nature of a settlement of that gift, then the settlement, if it is effectual, will have operation and reduce what appears to be an absolute gift into a life estate; if however the settlement for any reason fails then in so far as it fails there is no intestacy but the person who was the object of the original gift takes the property absolutely; that on the true construction of the provisions of the will, there was a clear intention to confer an absolute estate on each of the daughters followed by a settlement in favour of ... within the meaning of the rule refe...
the failure c...
the original ...
daughters remained good; and the share of each of the daughters passed on her death to her heirs. SOUNDARARAJAN v. NATARAJAN. (1921).

I. L. R., 44 Mad. 446

43. ———— Hindu Law—Construction—Bequest to widows by Mithila Hindu—Interest given whether absolute or limited—"Malik", "Malkiyat," meaning and effect of—Danger of construing one Will by reference to another—Translation of vernacular documents, challenged in the High Court—Proper procedure. The term "malik" when used in a Will or other document as descriptive of the position which a devisee or donee is intended to hold, has been held apt to describe an owner possessed of full proprietary rights including a full right of alienation, unless there is something in the context or in the surrounding circumstances to indicate that such full proprietary rights were not intended to be conferred. But the meaning of every word in an Indian Will must always depend upon the setting in which it is placed, the subject to which it related, and the locality of the testator from which it may receive its true shade of meaning. Where a Hindu governed by the Mithila School of Hindu Law purported by his Will to confer on his wives "full power and all proprietary rights (malkiyat) over all his moveable and immoveable properties." Held, that the rights intended to be conferred included full rights of alienation. It is always dangerous to construe the words of one Will by the construction of more or less similar words in a different Will which was adopted by another Court. Proper procedure where translation challenged indicated. MUSSAMMAT SASIMAN CHOWDHURANI v. SHIB NARAYAN CHOWDHURY.

26 C. W. N. 425

44. ———— "Malik"—If a term of art and imports full ownership—Trust, if valid, when subject-matter uncertain. A Hindu testator gave the whole of his immoveable estate to his wife as "malik" and directed that she should leave the property to his two daughters in such manner as she might like: Held, that the word "malik" taken in conjunction with the context indicated a clear intention to pass an absolute estate, and that even assuming it were intended to create a trust, the subject-matter of such trust was too uncertain. The word "malik" is not a term of art, it does not necessarily define the quality of estate taken but the ownership of whatever that estate may be, but in the context of the present Will, it imported that the estate was absolute. If words are used in a Hindu's Will conferring absolute ownership upon the wife, the wife enjoys the rights of ownership unless the circumstances or context show otherwise. BHAIDAS SHIRDAS v. BAI GULAB.

26 C. W. N. 129

HINDU LAW—WOMAN'S ESTATE.

See HINDU LAW—WILL.　1 Pat. L. J. 16

1. ———— Alienation by Hindu mother—Property inherited from son—Legal necessity—Spiritual benefit—Installation of idol and endowment of temple—Bonâ fide dedication—Disproportion ...
of maintenanc...
est, only a ve... for religious purposes and that only when it would conduce to the spiritual welfare of her deceased husband. The installation of an idol and the endowment of its temple do not come within the category of acts which conduce to the spiritual benefit of the deceased husband. The mother's power of promoting the spiritual benefit of the son whose property she inherits being less than that of a widow to promote the spiritual welfare of her husband, the power of the former to alienate property so inherited for the purpose of installing an idol and endowing its temple may be less but is certainly not greater than the power of the widow to alienate her husband's property for a similar purpose.
her husband, d... for religious purposes ... benefit only. She cannot, as heiress to her son, alienate property inherited from him for her own spiritual benefit Held, on the evidence, that a deed of endowment in favour of family idols did n... fide dedication regard being h... d...
of the ... was allocated to it under the settlement. Kalik... Chandra v. Gour Mohan, 1 W. R. 48, Collector of Masulipatam v. Cavelly Venkata Narayanappa, ... Narain v. Kubali. Bor-...

... 17 C. W. N. 7..

2. ———— Sale of portion with consent of presumptive reversioner, if passes absolute title—Presumption of property. The mere assent of the immediate reversioner to a sale by a Hindu female of a portion of an estate inherited by her, is not sufficient to confer an absolute title on the alienee. Such assent merely raises a presumption of the property of the transaction. Debi Prosad v. Golab Bhagut, 17 C. W. N. 701 : 17 C. L. J. 499, followed Nabo Kishore Sarma v.

HINDU LAW—WOMAN'S ESTATE—contd.

Hari Nath Sarma, I. L. R. 10 Calc. 1102, referred to. Pulin Chandra v. Bolai Mundal, I. L. R. 35 Calc. 939 : 12 C. W. N. 837, overruled. GOPESHWAR MISRA v. DURGAMANI BAISHNABI (1913).

17 C. W. N. 1062

3. ——————— Female heir, wrongful possession of immoveable property by—Mesne profits, decree for, if may be passed against reversionary heirs—Female heir nominal litigant, one of reversionary heirs conducting defence, effect of. Where a darputni in the possession of a Hindu woman as daughter and heir of a former darputni-dar was annulled by an auction-purchaser of the putni right by notification under s. 167, Bengal Tenancy Act, but she refused to vacate the land : Held, that this was a personal tortious act on her part and not an act done by her as representing the estate and for the benefit of that estate, and a decree for mesne profits for the period, she was in wrongful possession, could be made only against her personal estate which passed on her death to her heirs and not against the estate in the hands of the reversionary heirs. Held, further, that the fact that one of her sons who were the reversionary heirs carried on the litigation on her behalf, and that she was merely a nominal defendant was not sufficient to convert the act into anything different from a tortious act for which she was personally liable. Katama Natchiar v. The Raja of Shivagunga, 9 Moo. I. A. 539, Hari Nath Chatterjee v. Muthur Mohan Goswami, I. L. R. 21 Calc. 8, Grish Chunder Lahiri v. Shoshi Sekhareshur Roy, I. L. R. 27 Calc. 951, 957, and Harihar Pershad v. Bholi Pershad, 6 C. L. J. 383, Lalji Sahaya Singh v. Kurki Jha, 11 C. L. J. 90, and Sadasi Koer v. Ram Govind Singh, 14 C. L. J. 91, referred to. NAFAR CHANDRA PAL CHOWDHRY v. KAMINI KUMAR LAHIRI (1912) . . . 18 C. W. N. 542

4. ——————— Woman's Estate—Hindu widow, debts contracted by, for costs of litigation—Binding effect on reversioner—Legal necessity—Facts necessary to be proved by lender—Rate of interest must be proved necessary even when legal necessity for loan exists. The plaintiff, who was an assignee of a mortgage executed by a Hindu widow in respect of her husband's property, of which she was in possession as a Hindu widow, sued to enforce the mortgage against the property in the hands of the reversionary heir, and it appeared that the money was borrowed for meeting the costs of litigation relating to certain suits brought by certain ex-managers of the estate for salary and it appeared that at the time the money was borrowed a portion of the estate was sold in execution of a decree obtained by one of the ex-managers and other properties were going to be sold in execution of another decree obtained by him and there was a heavy claim against the estate by another manager : Held, that the debts contracted by a Hindu widow for meeting the costs of litigation in defending her life-estate in her husband's property or for protecting the estate are binding upon the estate in the hands of the reversioner. That it was not necessary for the lender in the present case to show that the debt, which was in litigation, for meeting the costs of which he lent the money to the widow, was or was not her personal debt. It is sufficient, if it is shewn that there was pressure upon the estate, that there was necessity for borrowing money for the costs of the litigation or that the creditor made reasonable enquiries and was satisfied of the necessity for the loan. That although a loan by a widow may be necessary, the rate of interest at which she borrowed must be proved to be necessary before interest at that rate can be allowed. STEVENS v. JANKI BALLABH (1913) . 19 C. W. N. 80

5. ——————— Woman's Estate—Decree against Hindu widow and next reversioner in respect of obligation personal to widow, if binds reversion—Mortgage by widow and next reversioner, if binds reversion. A sale of property inherited by a Hindu woman in execution of a decree for costs obtained against her personally does not bind the reversioners. Jugal Kishore v. Jotindra Mohan, I. L. R. 10 Calc. 985, 991, followed. The fact that the decree was obtained against her and the next reversionary heir jointly does not give the purchaser anything more than the qualified interest of the woman. A mortgage of a portion of the inheritance in the hands of a Hindu woman executed by her jointly with next reversioner does not necessarily bind the reversionary interest. It merely raises a presumption that the mortgage was entered into for legal necessity. Debi Prosad v. Golap Bhagat, 17 C. W. N. 701, referred to. NABIN CHANDRA SAHA v. HEM CHANDRA RAY (1913).

19 C. W. N. 265

6. ——————— Woman's estate—Hindu widow, alienation by—Rent of superior landlord—Legal necessity—Suit against Hindu widow—Reversioner whether necessary party—What passes at a sale in execution of a decree against Hindu widow—Limitation Act (XV of 1877), Sch. II, Arts. 141, 120—Specific Relief Act (I of 1877), s. 42. The powers of a Hindu widow in respect of alienation of the estate of her husband are similar to those of the guardian of an infant. Hanooman Pershad v. Babooee Moonraj, 6 Moo. I. A. 393; 18 W. R. 81, Kameswar v. Run Bahadur L. R. 8 I. A. 8 : s. c. I. L. R. 6 Calc. 843, Lala Amarnath v. Achhan Kuer, L. R. 19 I. A. 196 : s. c. I. L. R. 14 All. 420, and Bhagwat Dyal v. Debi Dyal, 12 C. W. N. 393 : s. c. L. R. 35 I. A. 48; I. L. R. 35 Calc. 420, followed. The mere fact that money is raised for payment of rent and applied for that purpose is not sufficient to prove legal necessity. The creditor to protect himself where he is not shown to have made a bonâ fide enquiry must prove that there was an actual pressure on the estate, such as an outstanding decree or an impending sale which the widow is not capable of meeting. Lala Amarnath v. Achhan Kuer, L. R. 19 I. A. 196 : s. c. I. L. R. 14 All. 420, Dharamchand v. Bhaoani Misrain, L. R. 24 I. A. 183 : s. c. I. L. R. 25 Calc. 189 ; 1 C. W. N. 697, Sreenath v. Rutunmala, Beng. S. D. A. 421 (1859), Srimohun v. Brij Behary, I. L. R. 36 Calc. 753, Lala Byjnath v. Bissen, 19 W. R. 80, Mata Pershad v. Rhageeruthee, 2 All. H. C. R. 78, Ghanshyam v. Badiyalal, I. L. R. 24 All. 547, and Lakshman v. Radha Bai, I. L. R. 11 Bom. 609, followed. Where a Hindu widow obtains a loan, she is at liberty to bind herself personally or when the purpose for which she borrows is a necessary one, she is at liberty to bind her husband's estate and the intention must be gathered from the statement if any in the deed or from the surrounding circumstances. Damodar v. Jankibai, 5 Bom. L. R. 350, and Prosunna v. Umedar Raja, 13 C. W. N. 353, referred to. A decre for rent which has accrued due after the death of her husband is primâ facie a personal decree against the widow, Jibankrishna v. Brajalal, I. L. R. 30 Calc. 550 : s. c. 7 C. W. N. 425, Kristo Gobind v. Hem Chandra, I. L. R. 16 Calc. 511, Mohammad Sadat Ali v. Harasundari, 16 C. W. N. 1070, and Bireswar v. Kamal Kumar 17 C. W. N. 337, followed. The mere fact that the widow intended to create a liability on the estate is not enough The creditor has also to show that he intended to enforce such liability and the true test is to see whether the proceeding in which the sale was directed was brought against the widow personally or with a view to affect the whole inheritance. Jugal v. Jotendra, L. R 11 I. A 66 · s. c. I. L. R. 10 Calc.

J. 346, Kistomoyee v. Prosunno, 6 W. R. 304, Bisto Beharee v Bynath, 16 W. R. 49, Baijun v. Brij Bhookan, L. R. 2 I. A. 275 : s. c. I. L. R. 1 Calc. 133, Bireswar v. Kamal Kumari, 17 C W. N. 237, Sadat Ali v. Harasundari, 16 C. W. N. 1070, and Trilochan v Bakkeswar, 15 C. L. J. 423, referred to. It is not necessary that a reversioner should be joined as party to the suit, but if he is so joined, the fact would afford clear indication that the creditor intended to make the inheritance liable. Bhagarathi Das v. Baleswar Bagerti, 19. C. L. J. 155 : s. c. 17 C. W. N. 877 ; I. L. R. 41 Calc 69, Mohima Chandra v. Ramkishore, 23 W. R, 174 ; 15 B. L. R. 142, Srinath Dass v Haripada, 3 C. W. N. 637. Nugendra v. Kamini 11 Moo. I. A. 241, 267, and Lloyd v Jones, 9 Ves. 37, 57, referred to. RAMESWAR MONDAL v. PROVABATI DABI (1914) . 19 C. W. N. 313

7. ——————— Woman's Estate—Sradh expenses of widow of last holder, liability of reversioner to contribute. The reasonable expenses of sradh of a widow of a deceased Hindu should be paid out of the estate in the hands of the reversioners and the reversioners who inherit the estate should contribute rateably towards such expenses RAMDHARI SINGH v PERMANUND SINGH (1913) 19 C. W. N. 1183

8. ——————— Legal necessity—Marriage of daughter's daughter when son-in-law gharjamai, if legal necessity—Construction—Mortgage of widow's "right and interest" if covers more than life-interest. Where A, a zemindar's widow, married her only daughter S to a cultivator in order that the son-in-law may come and live in the mother-in-law's house, and the issue of the marriage was a daughter : Held, that though A might be under a moral duty to see that the girl was properly married, the expenses of the marriage could not be charged on her husband's estate as a legal necessity. The fact that a Hindu widow says she is mortgaging "her right and interest" in her husband's estate does not necessarily indicate that she was mortgaging only a life-interest. NARAINBATI v. RAMDHARI SINGH (1916) . . . . 20 C. W. N. 734

9. ——————— Alienation by limited owner—Property, test of—"Legal necessity" if only test—Consent of reversioner—Attestation of deed followed by subsequent ratification—Retrospective operation—Compromise and family arrangement—Compromise by limited owner—Bona fides of claim—Admission in compromise of futility of claim, if negatives bonâ fides—Conveyancing device not intended to express true state of executant's mind, effect if to be given to—Compromise which affirms previous executed registered lease, if requires registration. The test to be applied in determining the validity of an alienation by a limited owner is whether the purpose for which the alienation was made was in the circumstances of the case proper and legitimate, and the existence of "legal necessity" in the narrow sense of actual pressure on the estate or the danger to be averted is not the only test. Held, that in this case a permanent mokurari lease granted by the daughter of a deceased Hindu of some properties belonging to his estate in settlement of a bonâ fide dispute was binding on the reversioner. Khunni Lal v. Gobind Krishna Narain, L. R. 38 I. A. 87 : s. c. I L. R. 33 All. 356 ; 15 C. W. N. 545, applied Where it appeared that the permanent lease was not only attested by the reversioner but that he later on set up the lease in answer to a suit of the grantee claiming the entire estate by survivorship as the undivided co-parcener of the last male owner and ultimately joined in a compromise by which the plaintiff in the suit admitted that he had no title to the estate and the reversioner affirmed the mokurari potta. Held, that if there was doubt as to the efficacy of consent as evidenced by the attestation, there was no question as to his subsequent ratification of the lease which operated retrospectively. That the compromise was not inadmissible in evidence for want of registration as it did not purport to convey, release or otherwise deal with immoveable property Per MOOKERJEE J —It only recorded the approval of the transaction by the reversionary heir and (per Curiam) afforded cogent evidence of its propriety. Collector of Masulipatam v. Cavaly Venkata Narainapah, 8 Moo. I. A. 523, 551, Shamsundar v. Achhan Koer, L R. 25 I. A. 183 s. c I. L R. 25 All. 71 ; 2 C W N. 729, and Bejoy Gopal Mukerjee v Girindranath, I L R. 41 Calc. 793, 805 ; s c. 18 C. W. N. 673, referred to. That the recitals in the mokurari potta depreciatory of the grantee's claim should not be regarded as a correct description of his mind, being only a conveyancing device expressive of his abandonment of the claim for a consideration. Hanooman Prosad v. Babooee Moneraj Kooeri, 6 Moo. I. A. 393, and Lal Achal Ram v. Raja Kazim Hossain, L. R. 32 I A. 113 : s. c. I. L. R. 27 All 271 ; 9 C. W. N. 477, referred to. Authorities dealing with the validity of compromises in settlement of disputed claims and of family arrangements with reference to the question of consideration examined by Mookerjee, J. Per MOOKERJEE J.—A qualified owner like a Hindu widow, daughter, or mother is not bound at her peril to pursue a litigation in respect of the estate in her hands unremittingly to the ultimate Court of Appeal. UPENDRA NATH BOSE v. BINDESRI PROSAD (1915). 20 C. W. N. 210

10. ——————— Relinquishment—Abandonment of claim to Estate—Adoption—Authority to adopt—Will—Construction—Exclusion of Presumption. Upon the death of a Hindu in 1872 his nephew obtained a certificate under Act XXVII of 1860 as sole survivor of his joint family; the widow of the deceased opposed the application and alleged a partition in 1864. By agreements made in 1874 the widow accepted the decision recognized the nephew's title, and was granted by him a maintenance allowance which she continued to receive until her death in 1904. The nephew died in 1894 and the estate passed under his Will to the first appellant. In 1907 the respondent sued to recover the estate as heir to the holder who died in 1872 upon his widow's death and proved that a partition had taken place in 1864. Held, that the widow's agreement of 1874 in conjunction with her acceptance of maintenance till 1904, amounted to a complete relinquishment of the estate to the nephew, then the next reversioner, and that the respondents' claim accordingly failed. RANGASWAMI GOUNDEN v. NACHIAPPA GOUNDEN. L. R. 46 I. A. 72

HINDU LAW—WOMAN'S ESTATE—contd.

11. ———————— A Hindu by his Will authorised his widow to adopt a son if no male or female child should be born to him. He died without issue, but had a posthumous daughter. After the death of the posthumous daughter the testator's widow purported to adopt a son to him. Held, that in construing the Will effect could not be given to a presumption that the testator desired that a son should be adopted to him, since authority to adopt in the events which happened was clearly excluded by the language used. BHAGWAT KOER v. DHANUKHDHARI PRASHAD SINGH. L. R. 46 I. A. 259

12. ———————— Widow, alienation by, when binds reversioner—Relinquishment for a consideration—Relinquishment of whole estate necessary—Widow retaining moveables and getting back some land to hold as life estate—Mithila law—Family arrangement. It may be taken as established without doubt that a Hindu widow may relinquish her estate and this will have the effect of accelerating the estate of the next reversioner. Further, an alienation by a Hindu widow will be valid where there was consent of the next heirs and the alienation is capable of being supported by reference to the theory of relinquishment and consequent acceleration of the interest of the consenting heirs. But the alienation in such a case must be of the whole of the estate. Debi Prosad Chowdhury v Gopal Bhagat, I. L. R. 40 Calc. 721 : s. c. 17 C. W. N. 721, referred to. The widow is not precluded from obtaining a benefit for relinquishing her estate. Nobokishore v. Hari Nath, I. L. R. 10 Calc. 1102, 1108, followed. Bajrangi v. Manokarnika, L. R. 35 I. A. 1 : s. c. I. L. R. 30 All. 1 ; 12 C. W. N. 74, referred to, Where under a compromise made between the mother, the sisters and M the immediate male reversionary heir of a deceased Hindu infant governed by the Mithila school the whole of the immoveable property of the deceased was relinquished by the mother M, and the mother herself was given the whole of the moveable property inclusive of certain mortgage bonds, and M gave half of the immoveable properties to the deceased's sisters and the latter and M respectively gave 50 bighas of land to the deceased's mother with remainder to the respective donors and their heirs. Held, that, under Mithila law, the moveable properties (including the mortgage bonds) had passed by inheritance to the deceased's mother on his father's death. That the life [illegible] which the deceased's mother [illegible] was essentially different from the widow's estate [illegible] and could in no [illegible] of the widow's estate. That under the terms of the compromise the lady had effectively relinquished and destroyed her estate as a Hindu widow and accelerated that of M. Semble: The compromise might be supported as a family arrangement between all the parties competent to deal with the whole of the property (the daughters having claimed under a will of their father which had been probated). SURESSUR MISSER v. MOHESH RANI MESRAIN (1915) . . 20 C. W. N. 142

HINDU LAW—WOMAN'S ESTATE—concld.

———————— K died leaving a widow G, a son B and two daughters P and J. G became the heir and with P, gifted property to defendants 1 to 4 sons of J after G's life. G having died P filed a suit to recover the property from the donors: Held, that the gift was good as regards the life interest to G, but bad as regards the transfer of P's chance of succession under s. 6 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. BAI PARVATI v. DAYABHAI MANCHHAM. I. L. R. 44 Bom. 488

———————— A Woman's estate can be obtained by a Hindu female not only by a heritance but also by contract grant or prescription. VENGAMMA v. CHELAMAYYA. I. L. R. 36 Mad. 485

HINDU SON.

———————— undivided, liability of, for debt of bankrupt—

See BANKRUPTCY I. L. R. 40 Mad. 581

———————— Hindu Testator.

See HINDU LAW—WILL.

See WILL.

———————— Creation of Estates as known to Hindu Law.

See WILL. I. L. R. 45 Bom. 1038

HINDU TEMPLE.

See HINDU LAW—TEMPLE.

1. ———————— Public temple—Manager of the temple—Right to remove the image and instal it in a new building—Worshippers objecting to the removal—Injunction. Under Hindu law, the manager of a public temple has no right to remove the image from the old temple and instal it in another new building, especially when the removal is objected to by a majority of the worshippers. HARI RAGHUNATH v. ANTAJI BHIKAJI (1919). . . . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 446

2. ———————— Sanctuary of the temple—Admission of public to the sanctuary—[illegible]—Dakore temple—Levy of fees for admission not permissible—Gors, rights of. Whilst the Shevaks were managing the affairs of the temple of Shri Ranchhod Raiji at Dakore, they issued in 18[illegible] rules levying fees from devotees and Gors who entered the sanctuary of the temple, known as the Nij Mandir. In a litigation brought to test the validity of those rules, the rules were declared invalid; but they continued to subsist pending the framing of the scheme of management of the temple. When the scheme came to be framed, the rules regarding levying of fees for admission into the Nij Mandir were incorporated in the scheme. The rules having been [illegible] rules under that scheme [illegible] Held, that the rules [illegible] objected to as invalid [illegible]

HINDU TEMPLE—contd.

prescribing the pass system were illegal and ultra vires in so far as they imposed fixed fees in payment for the passes, whether upon the Gors or the general public entitled to worship in the temple at Dakore. ASHARAM GANPATRAM v. THE MANAGER OF THE DAKORE TEMPLE COMMITTEE (1919). I. L. R. 44 Bom. 150

HINDU TRANSFERS AND BEQUESTS ACT (MAD. I OF 1914).

See HINDU LAW—GIFT. I. L. R. 40 Mad. 318
See HINDU LAW—WILL I. L. R. 44 Mad. 446
See WILL. I. L. R. 40 Mad. 540

HINDU WIDOW.

See GUARDIAN . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 862
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 953
See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION.
I. L. R. 36 All. 187
I. L. R. 41 All. 130
See HINDU LAW—BOND.
I. L. R. 40 All. 17
See HINDU LAW—DEBT.
I. L. R. 33 All. 255
See HINDU LAW—GIFT.
I. L. R. 32 All. 582
I. L. R. 34 All. 129
See HINDU LAW—REVERSIONER.
I. L. R. 33 All. 15
I. L. R. 40 All. 487
See HINDU LAW—SUCCESSION.
I. L. R. 32 All. 155
See HINDU LAW—WIDOW.
See HINDU LAW—WOMAN'S ESTATE.
See HINDU WIDOWS' REMARRIAGE ACT.
14 C. W. N. 346
See LAND ACQUISITION ACT (I OF 1894), s. 32 . . 14 C. W. N. 1024
See LIMITATION. . L. R. 46 I. A. 197
See LIMITATION ACT (XV OF 1877), s. 19; SCH. II. ARTS. 120 AND 148.
I. L. R. 32 All. 33
See LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), SCH. I. ART. 91 . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 51
ARTS. 125 AND 120.
I. L. R. 37 All. 195
ARTS. 132, 75 . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 981
See REGISTRATION ACT (XVI OF 1908), s. 17 . . I. L. R. 40 All. 384
See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT (I OF 1877), s. 42.
I. L. R. 41 All. 154
I. L. R. 36 All. 126
See SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE ACT (VII OF 1889), . I. L. R. 35 All. 249
I. L. R. 43 All 150
See UNITED PROVINCES LAND REVENUE ACT (III OF 1901)—
ss. 107, 111 . I. L. R. 35 All. 527
ss. 107, 111, 112.
I. L. R. 35 All. 548

HINDU WIDOW—contd.

——— alienation by—

See HINDU LAW—ALIENATION.
I. L. R. 42 Calc. 876

——— in possession of husband's estate will by—

See HINDU LAW—WILL.
I. L. R. 38 All. 446

——— sale by, of portion of property—

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW.
14 C. W. N. 226

——— surrender by, of whole estate—

See HINDU LAW—(Adoption).
24 C. W. N. 274

I. ——— Alienation—Setting aside alienation—Compensation to defendant for improvements—Evidence of relationship—Statement in will of widow—Conjectural suggestions as to will in argument in lieu of evidence—Suggestions never made in cross-examination of writer of will. The respondent on the death of a Hindu widow brought a suit as the next heir of her husband to set aside an alienation, made by the widow in favour of the appellant, of property consisting of a house and compound at Delhi. The respondent who was the son of the daughter of the husband by a former wife (though this was denied by the appellant), produced a will made by the widow five years before the suit, in which she stated "I have no issue or any near relative. Mathu Mal (the respondent) is related to me as a daughter's son (rishte men nauasa) and Khairati Lal as my husband's younger brother. These are my relatives on my husband's side." The oral evidence as to the respondent's title was found by their Lordships to be meagre and conflicting. Held (affirming the decision of the Chief Court), that the statement in the will was, under the circumstances, conclusive of the respondent's relationship. The widow was the proper person to make such a statement of fact, which was within the scope of her own knowledge; she put forward the respondent in the will as the first person in the order of choice for the performance of the funeral ceremonies; her statement was corroborated by the other relative mentioned in the will, who was a witness in the case, and whose evidence on the matter was against his own interest, and the statement was uncontradicted by any reliable evidence. Mere conjectural suggestions made in argument that the will had been executed for the purpose of such conjectural considerations were suggested to him in cross-examination. In case the respondent succeeding, the appellant claimed the value of improvements made by him to the property while he was in possession of it, which included a temple (Rs. 2,700), a well (Rs. 300), an upper storey to the house (Rs. 2,500), and repairs to the house (Rs. 1,500), the whole amounting to Rs. 7,000. Held (affirming the decision of the Chief Court and for the reasons given by it), that Rs. 1,400, which represented half the expenditure by the appellant, HINDU WILLS ACT (XXI OF 1870).

See HINDU LAW—WILL.
I. L. R. 38 Bom. 188, 399
I. L. R. 44 Mad. 446
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 274

See RECEIVER . I. L. R. 37 Calc. 754

See SUCCESSION ACT.
s. 187 I. L. R. 34 Bom. 506

———— ss. 2 and 3 and 5—

See HINDU LAW—WILL
I. L. R. 38 Calc. 188

———— s. 3—

See HINDU LAW—WILL.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 87

General's certificate. A will made in Bombay is subject to the provisions of the Hindu Wills Act (XXI of 1870) and a person claiming as a legatee under the will is not entitled to sue without taking out probate as he would be bound by s. 187 of the Indian Succession Act (X of 1865) which is incorporated in the Hindu Wills Act (XXI of 1870). The provision of the Administrator-General's Act (II of 1874) is not affected by the incorporation in the Hindu Wills Act (XXI of 1870) of s. 187 of the Indian Succession Act (X of 1865). NARAYAN SHRIDHAR v. PANDURANG BAPUJI (1910).
I. L. R. 34 Bom. 506

2. ———— Construction of will, testator's intention—Succession Act (X of 1865). s. 82, a bequest "to my daughter on attaining majority," whether creates an absolute or limited interest—S. 111, gift over to brother in case daughter dies childless—Whether the gift can take effect if the daughter does not die childless before the estate is distributable—The period of distribution, whether at the date of the daughter's attaining majority or of the death of the daughter childless—Meaning of the word santan, whether limited to male descendants or means issue generally—Reversionary interest, expectant on the happening of a specified uncertain event, if can be sold in execution. Plaintiff had a brother U and a step-brother, and each had one-third share in ancestral property which was the subject-matter of the suit. U made a will bequeathing his share to his daughter and appointing plaintiff as executor, who was to make over the estate to the daughter on her attaining majority. There was a provision in the will that if the daughter died childless then the executor, i.e., the plaintiff, would get the properties in U's share. Before probate had been issued the whole property was sold in execution of a money-decree, under which plaintiff said, he alone was liable. Plaintiff brought the present suit to establish his title to one-third of the property, which he said, he inherited under his brother U's will. Plaintiff alleged that the original share which he inherited from his father alone passed under the sale, but the reversionary interest in the one-third share which he acquired under his brother's will could not pass by the sale: Held, that under the Hindu Wills Act, in which are incorporated some of the provisions of the Indian Succession Act, the property did not pass to the plaintiff. Under s. 82 of the Succession Act, the daughter took an absolute interest, as there was nothing in the

HINDU WILLS ACT (XXI OF 1870)—contd.

———— s. 3—contd.

will to cut down the clear term of the gift "to my daughter on attaining majority." The principle laid down in Bhobotarini Debi v. Peary Lal Sanyal, I. L. R. 24 Calc. 646: s. c. 1 C. W. N. 578, followed. Under s. 111 of the Succession Act, the gift over, in favour of the plaintiff, must unless it could be held that the daughter took less than an absolute interest. As the daughter took an absolute interest, the period of distribution under the terms of the will could not be postponed later than either the date of the death of the testator or the date when the daughter attained majority, whichever event happened later. The gift to the plaintiff could take effect if the daughter died during the testator's life-time or if she died during her minority. The daughter having survived the testator and having attained majority, the plaintiff took no interest in the one-third of the property under the will: Held, further, that if the plaintiff got a reversionary interest expectant on the death of his niece to one-third of the property under U's will, that interest could be sold, dealt with, and taken in execution without the will being proved, and that interest passed by the sale in execution to the defendants. Santan means "issue" generally, and is not limited to male issue. KUMUD KRISHNA MANDAL v. JOGENDRA NATH SARKAR (1917).

21 C. W. N. 854

HINDU WOMAN.

———— settlement by—

See SETTLEMENT BY A HINDU WOMAN ON TRUSTS . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 341

HINDUS IN BIHAR.

See MAHOMEDAN LAW—PRE-EMPTION.
I. L. R. 39 Calc. 915

HIRE-PURCHASE AGREEMENT.

———— Agreement to hire machinery, whether conveyance or agreement—Stamp duty—Stamp Act (II of 1899), s. 2 (10), Sch. I, art. 5, cl. (c). A hire-purchase agreement not being an agreement to purchase but simply an agreement to hire the machinery in question with an option on the part of the hirer to purchase, comes within the meaning of Art. 5, cl. (c) of Sch. I to the Stamp Act, and is, therefore, liable to a stamp duty of eight annas. Helby v. Matthews, [1895] A. C. 471, referred to. LINOTYPE AND MACHINERY, LD., AND THE WINDSOR PRESS OF CALCUTTA, In re (1916) . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 72

HIRE OF ANIMALS.

See LICENSE . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 809

HISTORICAL WORKS.

———— Reference to Historical Works in appeal—Propriety. References to works of history (not given in evidence or referred to in the Court of first instance) at the appellate stage are irregular and to be avoided. Vallabha v. Madusudanan, I. L. R. 12 Mad. 495. TUNI ORAIN v. LEDA ORAON (1916). 20 C. W. N. 1082

HOLDER.

———— not a holder in due course—

See NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS ACT (XXVI OF 1881), ss. 30, 47, 59, 74, 94.
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 965

HOLDING.

———— meaning of—

See BENGAL TENANCY ACT, 1885, s. 3.
24 C. W. N. 1022

———— sale of—

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (MAD. I OF 1908,, s. 111, et seq.
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 1042

———— splitting of—

See MUNICIPALITY.
I. L. R. 46 Calc. 784

———— surrender or abandonment of—

See MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF 1908) s, 8. . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 608

"HOLDING OUT."

———— principle of—

See PRINCIPAL AND AGENT.
14 C. W. N. 381

HOLDING OVER.

See LANDOLRD AND TNEANT.
I. L. R. 35 Bom. 333

HOLIDAYS.

———— judgments pronounced on—

See APPEAL IN FORMA PAUPERIS.
I. L. R., 40 Mad. 687

———— Gazetted, trial of suit consent of parties—High Court Rules, Ch. 1, r. 2, (relating to practice and procedure in the District Courts)—Trial of suits on Gazetted holidays, if vitiates the decree. With the consent of both parties a Civil Court holiday was fixed for the examination of some of the Defendant's witnesses in a suit. Owing to plaintiff's failure to bring any pleader to cross-examine the witnesses on that date the Court adjourned the suit till the next day which too was a holiday. On this date too the Plaintiff could not bring any pleader and two witnesses were examined but were not cross-examined by the Plaintiff. In these circumstances, the suit was ultimately dismissed. Held, that inasmuch as there was no consent by the parties to the adjournment of the case till the next day which was also a close holiday, the proceedings of the trial Court were irregular and the irregularity prejudiced the Plaintiff. The suit must be retried in accordance with law. Ram Das v. Official Liquidator, I. L. R. 9 All. 366 (1887), Sheoram v. Thakur Prasad, I. L. R. 30 All. 136 (1908) Bennett v. Potter, 2 Cr. & J. 622 (1832) and Andrews v. Elliott, 5 El. & Bl. 502 (1855); 6 El. & Bl. 338 (1856), referred to. LAMBO NATH DATTA BARUA v. SARUNATH DATTA BARUA.
25 C. W. N. 300

HOLOGRAPH WILL.

See EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), ss. 38, 45 . . I. L. R. 41 All. 248

HOME GUARANTEE.

See CONTRACT . I. L. R. 43 Calc. 77

HOMESTEAD LAND.

See ADVERSE POSSESSION.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 173

See JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURT.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 402

———— transferability of—

See LANDLORD AND TENANT.
1 Pat. L. J. 502

———— Suit for rent—Jurisdiction—Protected under-tenure—Revenue Sale Act (XI of 1859) s. 37 cl. (4)—Garden—Incumbrances, annulment of, on sale of taluk for arrears of revenue—Provincial Small Cause Courts Act (IX of 1887) Sch. II, Art. 8—Second appeal—Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908) s. 102. S. 102 of the Civil Procedure Code is no bar to second appeals in suits for rent other than house rent although the value thereof does not exceed Rs. 500: vide Art. 8 of Schedule II of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act. Soundaram Ayyar v. Sennia Naickan, I. L. R. 23 Mad. 547, distinguished. When land ceased to be garden-land about a quarter of a century ago, and tenants have been settled on the land since then, the tenure is not protected and does not fall within the 4th exception to s. 37 of the Revenue Sale Act (XI of 1859) and is liable to be annulled. The effect of a sale is not ipso facto to avoid under-tenures; the purchaser has the option of avoiding them or keeping them intact. Titu Bibi v. Mohesh Chander Bagchi, I. L. R. 9 Calc. 683, followed. It is necessary therefore that the purchaser must by some unequivocal act indicate his intention to avoid under-tenures if he desires to do so and the election of the purchaser to avoid must be brought to the knowledge of the under-tenure holder. A formal written notice is not essential. Dursan Singh v. Bhawani Koer, 17 C. W. N. 984, followed and explained. The facts, that the purchaser demanded rents from the tenants to the knowledge of the under-tenure holder, sued the tenants for rent, took out warrants of attachment in execution of decrees and realized rents from the tenants in repudiation of the under-tenure-holder's title, go to show that the under-tenure-holder had not only notice of unequivocal acts on the part of the purchaser indicating his election to avoid the mokarrari but the purchaser had in fact obtained possession of the estate. Mir Waziruddin v. Deoki Nandan, 6 C. L. J. 472, distinguished. Per N. R. CHATTERJEA J. The mere fact that a garden was made on a piece of land a quarter of a century before the sale, would not make it land on which a garden has been made for all time to come. Per BEACHCROFT, J. No particular method of expressing an intention to annul an under-tenure is necessary. There must be established (i) a definite intention to annul, (ii) an indication of that intention to the under-tenure-holder. To afford protection the work must still be in existence or the land be used for the purpose of the work. The perfect tense in "leases of land whereon . . . gardens have been made" denotes a present state. Obiter: If the busti land is covered by the lease of the land on which the mill stands, or if the busti is an integral part of the mill, and exists only for the purposes of the mill, it is possible that it might be protected. SAHADORA MUDIALI v. NABIN CHAND BORAL (1914) . . I. L. R. 42 Calc. 638

HONORARY MAGISTRATE.

See Criminal Procedure Code, ss. 15, 16, 350 . . I. L. R. 41 All. 116

HONORARY SECRETARY.

See Declaratory Suit.
I. L. R. 37 All. 313

HOROSCOPE.

See Evidence . L. R. 45 I. A. 284
I. L. R. 41 All. 63

See Hindu Law Joint Family—
5 Pat. L. J. 605

See Hindu Law—Minor.
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 166

HORSE.

——————— Suit for damages for injury done by vicious horse—Liability of owner —Absence of negligence on owner's part if can exonerate him when he knew of the animal's vice. The plaintiff sought to recover damages for injuries suffered by reason of his having been bitten by the defendant's horse. The finding was that the horse was a vicious animal and it did bite the plaintiff but that the defendant was not guilty of negligence and on this ground the lower Court dismissed the suit. Held, that if the horse was a vicious animal and if that fact was known to the defendant and knowing this he kept the horse and if it injured the plaintiff, then the defendant must be held liable notwithstanding that he was not guilty of negligence. Negligence is not a necessary ingredient in a suit of this nature. Ganda Singh v. Chuni Lal Shaha (1915). 19 C. W. N. 916

HOSTEL OF A COLLEGE.

See Bombay City Municipal Act (Bom. Act III of 1888), ss. 140 (c), 143 (1) (a) and (2) (d) I. L. R. 43 Bom. 281

HOSTILE FIRM.

See Hostile Foreigners Trading Order.

——— contract with—

See Contract Act (IX of 1872), ss. 56 (2), 65 . . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 570

——— status of—

See Contract with alien Enemy.
I. L. R. 41 Bom. 390

HOSTILE FOREIGNER'S TRADING ORDER, 1914.

See Contract Act (IX of 1872), ss. 56 (2), 65 . . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 570

See Contract with alien Enemy.
I. L. R. 41 Bom. 390
I. L. R. 44 Bom. 631

HOSTILE WITNESS.

See Police Diaries . 3 Pat. L. J. 568

See Private Defence. 3 Pat. L. J. 419

HOUSE AND TOWN PLANNING ACT, 1909 (9 EDW. VII, C. 44).

——— s. 58 (3)—

See Recoupment. I. L. R. 45 Calc. 343

HOUSE-BREAKING.

See Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860). ss. 457, 511 . I. L. R. 37 Bom. 553

——— death caused by one of the accused

See Indian Penal Code, s. 460.
I. L. R. 2 Lah. 342

HOUSE-DRAIN.

See Public Drain.
I. L. R. 44 Calc. 689

HOUSE PROPERTY.

See Income Tax Act, VII of 1918 ss. 8, 9, 11.
I. L. R. 43 All. 139

HOUSE SEARCH.

See Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), ss. 332, 323. I. L. R. 37 All. 353

HOUSE-SITES.

See Mirasi Village.
I. L. R. 40 Mad. 410

HUNDI.

See Civil Procedure Code, O. II, r. 2
I. L. R. 136 All. 560

See Contract . I. L. R. 47 Calc. 583

See Evidence Act (I of 1872), s. 91.
I. L. R. 36 All. 259
I. L. R. 2 Lah. 330

See Negotiable Instrument
I. L. R. 1 Lah. 80

See Negotiable Instruments Act (XXVI of 1881)—

s. 22 . . I. L. R. 39 All. 86

s. 26 . I. L. R. 41 Mad. 815

ss. 64 and 76. I. L. R. 39 All. 364
I. L. R. 41 All. 40

s. 98 . . I. L. R. 33 All. 4

s. 118. I. L. R. 1 Lah. 429

See Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), s. 405 . . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 639

——— accepted orally—

See Negotiable Instrument.
I. L. R. 1 Lah. 80

——— insufficiently stamped—

See Evidence Act, 1872, s. 91.
I. L. R. 2 Lah. 330

See Executor . I. L. R. 45 Calc. 538

——— interest payable by oral agreement—

See Evidence Act s. 92. 1 Pat. L. J. 71 ——— material alteration in—

See Negotiable Instrument Act, 1881, ss. 76, 87, 93, 98 I. L. R. 1 Lah. 262

——— payable to bearer—

See Negotiable Instruments Act (XXVI of 1881), ss. 30, 47, 59, 74, 94.
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 965

HUNDI—contd.

——— Suit on hundi—Hundi passed up-country and not made payable in Bombay—Consideration of the hundi being the balance of account between the Bombay merchant and the up-country merchant—Account settled up-country—Jurisdiction of the High Court—Letters Patent cl. 12—Leave of the Court to sue—Cause of action. The plaintiffs carrying on business in Bombay had dealings with the defendant residing and carrying on business at Bassum in Akola. The account between the parties was made up and settled at Bassum, as a result of which the defendant passed at Bassum two hundies drawn on his own firm for Rs. 900 and Rs. 1,000, respectively, in favour of the plaintiffs. On the failure of the defendant to meet the said hundies at the due dates, the plaintiffs brought a suit in the High Court at Bombay to recover the amount due on the same. The defendant pleaded that the Court had no jurisdiction to entertain the suit, as the moneys were not payable in Bombay. The plaintiffs contended that as the consideration of the hundies was the balance of the account due by the defendant to the plaintiffs in respect of the transactions effected in Bombay, the moneys were virtually payable in Bombay, and the material part of the cause of action arose in Bombay. Held, that the cause of action being founded upon the hundies, and the hundies not being made payable in Bombay, the Court had no jurisdiction to entertain the suit. Per MACLEOD J.—In giving leave under cl. 12 of the Letters Patent in suits on promissory notes, or hundies, I have always given leave when the money was payable in Bombay; and, in my opinion, if there are transactions in Bombay, which result in a credit in favour of the Bombay merchant against an up-country merchant, and if the Bombay merchant goes to settle his account up-country and accepts a promissory note or hundi in satisfaction of his account, then if he wants to sue on that note in Bombay he must take the precaution to see that the note is made payable in Bombay. SEWARAM GOKALDAS v. BAJRANGDAT HARDWAR (1916) . . I. L. R. 40 Bom. 473

——— Hundi drawn by second defendant without disclosing the name of any other person liable as principal—Evidence inadmissible either by claim or in defence to show that drawer was acting for an undisclosed principal—Principal must be disclosed by name, on the document to make him liable—Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881, ss. 26, 27 and 28—English Bills of Exchange Act, 1882, s. 23. The name of a person or firm to be charged upon a negotiable document should be clearly stated on the face or on the back of the document so that the responsibility is made plain, and can be instantly recognised as the document passes from hand to hand. It is not sufficient that the name of the principal should be "in some way" disclosed; it must be disclosed in such a way that on any fair interpretation of the instrument his name is the real name of the person liable on the bill. Ss. 26, 27 and 28 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881, contain nothing inconsistent with the above principles, and nothing to support the contention, which is contrary to all established rules, that in an action on a bill of exchange or promissory note against a person whose name properly appears as party to the instrument, it is open either by way of claim or defence to show that the signatory was in reality acting for an undisclosed principal. In this case it was held that on the terms of the hundis sued on, it did not appear that the first defendant was a principal, and that the second defendant who drew them was solely liable thereon. SADASUK JANKI DAS v. SIR KISHAN PERSHAD (1918).

I. L. R. 46 Calc. 663

HUNDI SHAH JOG.

——— Payment to the Shah—Fraudulent hundi—Duty of Shah to trace the drawer—Payment of hundi not as Shah but as indorsee for collection of the hundi—Custom of Marwari merchants—In case of fraud, notice, when to be given—Laches. On the 10th June 1912 the defendants presented to the plaintiff for payment a hundi for Rs. 3,000 purporting to be drawn by one R in favour of M on the plaintiff payable at sight to a Shah. The plaintiff having had no advice regarding the said hundi refused to pay the said sum of Rs. 3,000. On the next day the plaintiff received a letter purporting to be written by R from Harpalpur, enclosing a railway receipt for 300 bags of linseed, stated to have been consigned by R from Ranipur Station, and asking the plaintiff to sell the goods and in the meantime to accept and pay on presentment two hundis, each for Rs. 3,000 drawn by R in favour of M on the plaintiff, payable at sight to a Shah. The same day the plaintiff handed over the said railway receipt to one K and received payment of Rs. 5,600. The plaintiff thereupon paid Rs. 3,000 together with one day's interest to the defendants in respect of the hundi which had been presented by the defendants to the plaintiff on the previous day as aforesaid and which was one of the hundies mentioned in the letter. The goods referred to in the railway receipt never arrived and K returned the said receipt to the plaintiff and was repaid the sum of Rs. 5,600. On inquiries being instituted it was found that no such person as R existed and that the hundi and the railway receipt were forged. The plaintiff sued to recover the money from the defendants relying on the custom prevailing among Marwari Merchants that the Shah who obtained payment of a Shah Jog hundi was, in the event of the hundi turning out to be a false, fraudulent, stolen, or forged hundi, bound to refund the amount of the hundi with interest unless he "traced it to its source," i.e., produced the actual drawer or the person who committed the fraud. Held, (i) that the defendants had been paid not as Shah but as indorsee for collection of a hundi purporting to be drawn against the security of a railway receipt. (ii) Assuming that there might be a liability imposed on the defendants by reason of the payment, to refund or to trace the hundi to its source, this would only be the case provided notice was given within reasonable time of the discovery of the forgery, that is provided the plaintiff lost no time in making this communication and claiming the refund. (iii) That the hundi had been "traced to its source" within the meaning of the Marwari Association Rules before the defendants received information of the fraud. R. D. SETHNA v. JWALAPRASAD GAYAPRASAD (1914) . . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 513

HUNTER'S STATISTICAL ACCOUNTS.

——— Admissibility in private litigation. Reference cannot legitimately be made to statements in Hunter's Statistical Accounts for the purpose of establishing the existence of Private rights. AHMODI BEGUM v. TARAKNATH GHOSE (1913) . . . 17 C. W. N. 1173 HURT.

See CHARGE . I. L. R. 40 Calc. 168

See CUMULATIVE SENTENCES.
I. L. R. 40 Calc. 511

See PENAL CODE (ACT XLV OF 1860), ss 337, 338 . I. L. R. 39 Bom. 523

HUSBAND.

——— complaint by—

See COMPLAINT. I. L. R. 41 Calc. 1013

——— liability of—

See WIFE . . I. L. R. 44 Calc. 35

HUSBAND AND WIFE.

See CONTRACT ACT (IX OF 1872), s. 25.
I. L. R. 37 Bom. 280

See DIVORCE

See DIVORCE ACT (IV OF 1869), s. 14.
I. L. R. 41 Bom. 36

See HINDU LAW—HUSBAND AND WIFE.

See HINDU LAW—INHERITANCE.
I. L. R. 36 Bom. 138

See PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURT ACT, 1882. I. L. R. 45 Bom. 318

See RESULTING TRUST.
I. L. R. 48 Calc. 260

——— Concealment of Pregnancy—

See MAHOMADAN LAW.
I. L. R 45 Bom. 151

——— decree for Restitution of Conjugal Rights—

See CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE 1908, O. XXI R.33 . . I. L. R. 44 Bom. 972

See MUHAMMADAN LAW.
I. L. R. 1 Lah. 597

——— Security for Wife's Costs—

See DIVORCE. I. L. R. 41 Calc. 963

1. ——— Suit by husband for divorce on the ground of wife's fault—Allegation of her theft of jewellery belonging to husband—Wife's abandonment of defence and submission to decree for divorce—Decree not by mutual consent—Subsequent suit for partition of property—Civil Procedure Code (Act XIV of 1882), ss. 42, 43—Objection taken for first time on appeal. For the purpose of dealing with and distributing, in accordance with the Burmese Buddhist law, property belonging to a husband and wife, who have been divorced, it was necessary, in a suit brought by the husband for partition, to determine whether the divorce was by mutual consent or was granted on the fault of the wife. It appeared from the husband's claim to a divorce that he set forth the wife's offence that she had by sundry fraudulent devices stolen certain jewels which were his property, and he asked for a decree on that ground alone. The wife in her defence denied the allegations as to her misconduct, and asked for the dismissal of the suit with costs. Witnesses were summoned, but on the day fixed for hearing she abandoned her defence, and, although continuing to deny her guilt, consented to a divorce, and judgment was therefore given for a "decree as prayed." Held (upholding the decision of the District Judge), that the divorce was not made by mutual consent. The proceedings disclosed not an agreement between husband and wife, but a claim by the husband to which the wife submitted. It was objected for the first time on appeal to the Chief Court that the husband had no right to partition of the property unless he asked for it in the suit for divorce. The Chief Court held that the matter being one of procedure must be determined by ss. 42 and 43 of the Civil Procedure Code of 1882, and decided that having failed to include in his suit for divorce a claim for partition he must be taken to have relinquished it, and his subsequent suit for that relief was barred. Held, that it was too late to raise the point for the first of the wife, and the cause of action for the partition was the divorce of the wife founded on that misconduct. The evidence needed in each case was also different, and the ground of divorce must be first and separately proved as a distinct cause of action before any question of partition could properly arise. If the Court found that the plaintiff had unnecessarily served his claim for a partition from that for a divorce, it could punish him by the exercise of its discretion as to costs; but such a severance did not come within the mischief aimed at by ss. 42 and 43 of the Code so as to bar the claim to a partition which may be founded on the decree for divorce itself. MAUNG PE v. MA LON MAGALE (1911) . . I. L. R. 38 Calc. 629

2. ——— Restitution of conjugal rights demanded and refused—Inaction for more than two years—Suit for restitution barred under Limitation Act (XV of 1877), Art. 35—Limitation Act (IX of 1908)—General Clauses Act (X of 1897), s. 6. On 11th July 1906 the plaintiff sent his wife (who had left him) a notice demanding restitution of conjugal rights. The demand was refused on 19th July 1906, but the plaintiff took no further action for more than two years, and eventually on 20th July 1911 filed a suit for restitution. Held, that this particular form of remedy had become barred under Article 35 of the old Limitation Act (XV of 1877). Dhanjibhoy Bomanji v. Hirabai, I. L. R. 25 Bom. 644, followed. Held, further that having become so barred, it could not be revived by the passing of the new Limitation Act (IX of 1908). The provisions of s. 6 of the General Clauses Act (X of 1897), discussed. MAHOMED MEHDI v. SAKINA BAI (1912).
I. L. R. 37 Bom. 393

HUSBAND'S DEBT.

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW.
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 565

——— decree against widow for—

See HINDU LAW—WIDOW.
I. L. R. 39 Mad. 565

HUSBAND'S ESTATE.

——— accumulations of income of—

See HINDU LAW—STRIDHAN.
I. L. R. 41 Calc. 87

HUSBAND'S ESTATE—contd.

———— right to get maintenance from—

See Hindu Law—Maintenance.
I. L. R. 38 Mad. 153

HUSBAND'S PETITION.

See Divorce . I. L. R. 41 Calc. 963

HUSBAND'S YOUNGER BROTHER.

See Hindu Law—Stridhan.
I. L. R. 37 Calc. 863

HYDERABAD STATE.

See Promissory Note.
I. L. R. 42 Bom. 522

HYPOTHECATION.

See Adverse Possession
I. L. R. 36 Mad. 97

See Stamp Act (II of 1899), s. 2 (17), etc . . I. L. R. 38 Mad. 646

HYPOTHECATION—contd.

See Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882), s. 83 . I. L. R. 39 Mad. 579

———— of movable property—

See Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Sch. I, Art. 120 . I. L. R. 40 All. 512

———— property left in possession of debtor and sold by him—See Mortgage.
I. L. R. 1 Lah. 422

———— of movables—Bonâ fide purchaser without notice, from hypothecator, whether affected by hypothecation—Indian Contract Act (IX of 1872), s. 108. A bonâ fide purchaser without notice of the encumbrance, of goods hypothecated but left with the hypothecator, is not affected by the encumbrance and takes them free of it. Narasiah v. Venkataramiah (1918).
I. L. R. 42 Mad. 59

HYPOTHECATION DECREE.

See Limitation Act (IX of 1908), Sch. I, Arts. 120, 132. I. L. R. 39 All. 74

CALCUTTA: PRINTED BY SUPDT. GOVT. PRINTING, INDIA, 8, HASTINGS STREET.